

Above left, a genuine United States Note red seal; Above right, private Federal Reserve Notes green seal

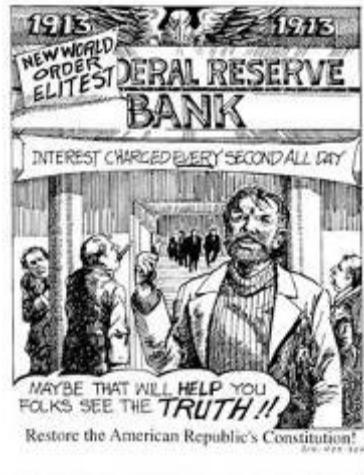

"When the government fears the people, there is liberty. When the people fear the government, there is tyranny." -Thomas Jefferson

Lenin, 1919

Chertoff, 2005

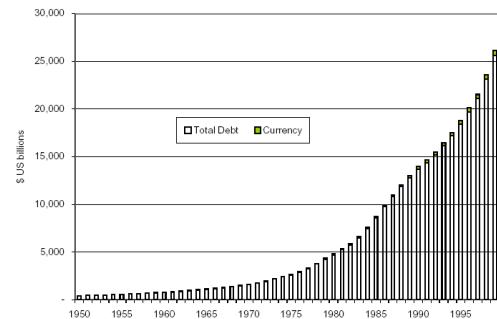

Restore the American Republic's Constitution!

Giant eagle at a Nazi rally referenced as "like a spiked butterfly"

US Total Debt vs. Government Currency

| | |
|--|-----|
| Dedication..... | 9 |
| Summary of This Book..... | 12 |
| Introduction to The History of Money | 23 |
| There Was A Time When Man Was Free, When There Was No Money | 23 |
| Video Documentaries & Books Explain The Fraudulent Monetary System (Wizards of Oz) | 29 |
| Overview of Money..... | 30 |
| Commodity Money..... | 30 |
| Token/Fiat Credit Money | 30 |
| Origins of the Word "MONEY" | 30 |
| First Instances of Money | 31 |
| Credit/Floating/Fiat Money..... | 33 |
| Banking System Fraud Explained with Simple Cartoons: Billions for the Banksters, Debts to the People..... | 34 |
| The Monstrous Fraud of Fractional Reserve Banking: It is not Capitalism! | 41 |
| HOW MORE THAN HALF OF YOUR WAGES IS NOW BEING STOLEN BY CRIMINAL BANKSTERS! | 41 |
| Merger of Corporate Power with State Power, gigantic Fascist Monopoly: No Longer Government By The People | 42 |
| Usury/Debt & Fractional Reserve Banking: Predatory Finance: The New Mode of Global Warfare, the model of expropriation | 44 |
| Feudal Bankers' (Banksters/BankLords) Conspiracy: How They Control The World! If Money Rules The World, Then Who Rules The Money?..... | 48 |
| The Solution: A New Understanding of Money..... | 60 |
| History of Money Details, Part I: UNDERSTANDING THE FRAUD THAT TODAY'S FINANCIAL SYSTEM INCORPORATES | 64 |
| Overview of The Ancient Gigantic Legalized Frauds Against The People | 64 |
| Today's money is just a computer ledger entry..... | 70 |
| Quick Summary with 5 Surprising Questions | 74 |
| What Was Money Back Then? | 81 |
| What Is Money Now? circulating debt/usury bearing fiat commodity created from nothing | 83 |
| Here Comes The FED! | 85 |
| Looking At The Fraud Globally | 87 |
| The Banksters Economic Hitmen | 88 |
| Are The FED / IRS Really "Federal"? | 90 |
| Conclusion..... | 90 |
| Appendix 0: Quotes from Founding Fathers & Others..... | 92 |
| Appendix 1: If This Is True Why Haven't I Heard About This? | 99 |
| Appendix 2: The Mathematics On How Does This Affect Me? | 101 |
| Appendix 3: How Did All Of This Get Started? | 102 |
| Appendix 4: Mark Of The Beast Or Religious Manipulation? | 107 |
| Appendix 5: What Can I Do About It? | 107 |
| Appendix 6: Marketwatch Article Exposes The Goldman-Sachs Banksters Conspiracy | 107 |
| Appendix 7: Explanation on How the Federal Reserve based Banking System is a Usury Ponzy Scheme Set to Fail | 110 |
| Appendix 8: Quotes on How The Bankers own the Earth through their legalized counterfeiting operations | 113 |
| Appendix 9: Who are Monopoly Money and the International Banking Cartel?..... | 130 |
| Appendix 10: Bank For International Settlements (BIS): How The Rothschilds Control And Dictate To The World..... | 133 |
| Appendix 11: The Depository Trust Corporation, an unknown 20 trillion dollar company | 136 |
| The History of Money Details, Part II | 143 |
| Before money, there was CREDIT & enslavement; World mostly ruled by Criminal Feudals..... | 143 |
| How is Wealth Created? Can it be stored & at what cost? Does it maintain its value while in storage? | 143 |
| What was/is Money? The Forms of Money & the Dahler (Dollar) | 144 |
| The Federal Reserve System is the BankLords' Bank, IT IS A PRIVATE CARTEL (Quit Bono Who Benefits?) | 146 |
| Let's Call The Federal Reserve: Where does money come from? Who gets to Create the Credit Fiat Money! | 147 |
| What Reserves? Private Fed/Commercial Banks CREATE MONEY FROM NOTHING & LEND "I-O-U"s | 149 |
| Who Owns The FED Banks? Same People who own the Commercial Banks=CREDIT MONOPOLY! | 150 |
| The Biggest Problem on Earth: The Privately Owned/Controlled Feudal Credit Money System..... | 150 |
| What is wrong with this system? A hell of a lot including Wars and Currency Hegemony! | 152 |
| Structure and Characteristics of The Families Owning the Major Banks | 163 |
| Where did the word 'BANK' come from? | 168 |
| Private Central banks have not always existed (Fractional Reserve Banking was decentralized) | 169 |
| Banks Licensed to Create (counterfeit) Money (make a killing) from Nothing!..... | 172 |
| The Biggest Problem on Earth: Organized Usury Parasitism explained in Assorted Scriptures: | 177 |

| | |
|--|---------|
| That usury war never ended | 178 |
| The Systemic Usury Parasite | 178 |
| Organized Crime of Usury | 179 |
| Financial Usury Terrorism | 179 |
| Disintegration is a Blessing for the Usurers | 180 |
| The Mechanics of Money | 180 |
| Teachings Against Usury | 183 |
| Biblical Injunctions Against Usury (sample):..... | 184 |
| Quranic Injunctions Against Usury (sample):..... | 184 |
| Why are usury and giving false measure forbidden (productive and unproductive)?..... | 184 |
| What was the messiah Yashua-Joshua-Jesus (Jesus/Issa) talking about?..... | 190 |
| Ancient Rome/Babylon World's Usury Capitals (Bank Of Rome circa 47 AC) | 191 |
| More on Usury: Everything We Need to Know About Usury But Were Afraid to Find Out | 193 |
| Major wars/financial panic/depression/famine traced to insidious influence of usury banking | 194 |
| Interview with Former Belgium Central Bank Economist..... | 195 |
| Inflation (Fed is the root of it), Interest and Goods & Services Production | 201 |
| I (Banklord) Promise To Pay (Nothing To) The Bearer On Demand | 205 |
| Bilderbergers Conspire Secretly | 206 |
| Experts, Economists, Media (THE NEO-PRIESTS) Mislead Us On The Globalized Economy | 207 |
| Brief History of Wars & Crimes Over the Control of The Private Issue Of Money | 209 |
| What are some of the forerunners to the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank? | 209 |
| Income (SLAVE) Tax System to Get Our Private Info & Pay Interest Banksters' Feudal Tithe | 213 |
| Who Controls Our Politicians? JINSA? AIPAC? ADL? B'Nai Brith? Are they working for THE BANKSTERS? | 214 |
| Manipulations of the Masses: Wars, Terrorisms and Myths (Hitler-Bush example) | 216 |
| Planned Scarcity – Going Without In The Midst Of Plenty | 218 |
| More on Fiat Money Fraud and the Mechanics of Money | 226 |
| Rothschild Realizes The Immense Power of Being the Issuer of Money | 228 |
| Harvard Economic Research Project 1948-xxxx) World War II Operations Research | 229 |
| Monopoly-capitalism (=communism=feudalism): Everyone Works for the BankLords..... | 230 |
| Fractional Reserve Banking & The Magic Multiplier: Follow the Money | 231 |
| Oil Dollars Fund US Trade Deficit: US Debt Versus Currency Issued | 231 |
| Understanding The Meaning of GDP Gross Domestic Product | 232 |
| How Did The Illuminati Get Us Into This Mess? | 233 |
| We Can Buy Back and Abolish The FED by Law and Get Out of This Mess!..... | 235 |
| How the Banksters Transfer Their Liabilities to TaxPayers! | 237 |
| Jesus-Yashua-Joshua-Issa and the Pharisees Priest-BankLords | 237 |
| It's 2000 Years Later and We're Still Voting for the Criminals!!!..... | 238 |
| Who Will Push the Red Button to Free Us? | 239 |
| Who's Who in Stealing Our Money | 239 |
| Dirty Dozen Major Banksters At the Top of My List | 241 |
| When You Steal From Me, It's Personal | 242 |
| Care to Join Me in Switching Banks? | 242 |
| Your and Your Children's Birth certificate has been Sold to the International BankLords | 243 |
| How Could A DOLLAR MELTDOWN Occur? | 246 |
| How the BankLords Enable Drug Money Laundering | 247 |
| Gambling with the Taxpayers' Money: AIG Insurance, Credit Default Swaps, Derivates, Short Selling... | 248 |
| The CITY OF LONDON (Londonium Square Mile) modeled on Babylonian/Roman times | 249 |
| Summary | 255 |
| Summary Explanatory Diagrams on Federal Reserve System Deception | 258 |
| IRS & CONGRESS, YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED & PUT ON NOTICE THAT: | 263 |
| THE HISTORY OF MONEY: PART III - EXPANDED DETAILS | 272 |
| Learning Financial Control Through Wars and Upheaval from Ancient Greeks..... | 272 |
| The Biggest Problem on Earth (once more) | 275 |
| Why do We Need "Money"? | 277 |
| Understanding FIAT Money (created from nothing; thus an I OWE U) | 278 |
| The US Dollar and World Enslavement..... | 280 |
| Usury in the Babylonian & Roman Empires | 281 |
| More Details on Usury | 282 |
| 8000 B.C. Onwards..... | 287 |
| Ancient Rome "Usury Capital of World" along with Babylon (Bank Of Rome established in 47 AC) | 288 |
| The Babylonian Woe: Slavery, Usury, Economic Darwinism | 289 |
| Babylon (Nimrodian)/Sumeria 3,000 Years Ago: City of Gold | 294 |
| Babylonian Brotherhood and The Commercial Maritime Laws | 294 |
| Abraham Tangles with Nimrod (worshipped by Masons) at Babylon circa 2000 BCE | 296 |
| Moses, the Israelites and their golden calf Apostasy circa1446 BCE | 297 |
| Judaism Corrupted into Babylonian Talmudism circa 586 BCE | 297 |
| Greece 2,500 Years Ago | 297 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| Ancient Greece and Rome 700 B.C..... | 298 |
| Julius Caesar Strips Money Changers of Their Powers & is Murdered by Them (48BC)..... | 299 |
| Yashua-Joshua (Jesus-Issa) Flips (Many Coins) 33 A.C. Or So..... | 299 |
| The Bank Of Rome..... | 300 |
| Arabia 7 th Century A.C. | 301 |
| Khazaria 8 th Century A.C. (Part Phallic & Part Converted to Talmudism) | 302 |
| Fall of The Roman Empire..... | 302 |
| China 10 th Century..... | 303 |
| Medieval England (1000 - 1100 A.C.) | 304 |
| The Masonic Knights Templars Become the International BankLords (Banksters-Gangsters) | 305 |
| Reasons Behind "Crusades": Money, Money, Money | 306 |
| The Tally Sticks (1100 - 1854) And The Bank Of England 1694 | 309 |
| 1300s De Menici, the Florin & Mercenary Wars | 312 |
| Origin Of The U.S. Gold Supply | 312 |
| Rome Has Insatiable Lust For Gold especially from the Americas..... | 313 |
| Stolen Gold Financed The Spanish Inquisition! | 313 |
| The Imperialists under Charles V Sack Rome and The Jesuits Rise..... | 315 |
| King Henry VIII (Relaxes Usury Laws in the early 1500's)..... | 315 |
| Usury is outlawed by English Parliament (1550's) !!..... | 316 |
| "Bank" of Rome opens a branch office in England 1694 and the Stuarts killed..... | 316 |
| The English Civil War caused by the Bank of Rome in England!!..... | 318 |
| The King and Queen of Usury — the inglorious Revolution!! | 318 |
| King William of Orange (1650-1702) & Queen Mary (1662-1694), wife of William of Orange..... | 318 |
| Genocide & Enslavement of Native Americans in the Early 18th Century By Daniel Stirewalt | 319 |
| The Bank of England 1694 History of Banking | 319 |
| Enter The Dragon Rothschilds (1743) | 321 |
| The Rothschild's Colonization of India and Looting its Gold | 324 |
| The Opium Wars With China | 326 |
| The American Revolution (1764 - 1781) | 327 |
| More on The American Revolution, the "Bank" of Rome and Benjamin Franklin | 327 |
| The Bank Of North America (1781-1785) | 329 |
| First Bank Of The United States (1791-1811)..... | 329 |
| 1790: Amshel (Amschel) Mayer Rothschild "Let me issue & control a nation's money..." | 329 |
| Napoleon Cancels Debts and Usury (1803 - 1825) | 330 |
| Demise Of The First Bank Of The United States And The War Of 1812 | 332 |
| The Battle Of Waterloo, 1815 | 332 |
| The Irish Potato Famine (1845) | 333 |
| President Andrew Jackson's Veto of the Bank of the United States; July 10, 1832 | 334 |
| President Abraham Lincoln And The Civil War (1861 - 1865)..... | 341 |
| More on The American Civil War, the "Bank" of Rome and President Abraham Lincoln..... | 342 |
| District of Columbia Act 1871: Enslaved by BankLords "Divine Rights of Kings" Roman Maritime Laws | 343 |
| How the "Bank" of Rome assassinated silver in 1873 | 345 |
| The Return Of The Gold Standard (1866 - 1881)..... | 345 |
| International Bankers' Manifesto Exposed in 1892 by Lindbergh | 346 |
| Free Silver and the Panic of 1893 (1891 - 1912)..... | 347 |
| BankLords use US to Capture More Foreign Lands and Commit War Crimes in Philippines (1900's) | 347 |
| J.P.Morgan And The Crash Of 1907..... | 348 |
| Lincoln' Statue Watches The Fed | 349 |
| The Federal Reserve Act of 1913..... | 350 |
| Don't Try to do a Full Audit on the Fed or else..... | 355 |
| How The Private Fed Creates Money From Thin Air (G. Edward Griffin) | 356 |
| More Details on Who Owns the Federal Reserve Banks (THE INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT) | 357 |
| ISSUING MONEY FROM NOTHING | 357 |
| The Power of Monetary and Credit Creation | 358 |
| THE NATIONAL BANKING ACT OF 1863 | 358 |
| LINCOLN DEFIES THE BANKING PREDATORS & VULTURES! | 359 |
| The Prosperity Of Un-Borrowed Currency and Credit..... | 360 |
| Now, the World is a Corporation Run by the BankLords | 360 |
| Where There's War There's Money, Debt & Dependency | 362 |
| The Don-Meh Sabbatean Jewish Imposters and the Armenian Massacre..... | 364 |
| Financial Elites Destruction of the Tsar of Russia | 365 |
| Sinking of The Lusitania | 365 |
| World War I (1914-1918) | 366 |
| World Domination & Colonization..... | 366 |
| Masonry And The HOAX of COMMUNISM (shades of 1960s Manchurian Candidate!) | 367 |
| Delivering An Independent India To The Soviets | 368 |
| 1920 Henry Ford in "The Dearborn Independent" Magazines Exposes Fraudulent Financial System | 369 |
| 1921 Independent Treasury Act abolishes Public Treasury in favor of BankLords..... | 370 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| Depression In 1929: The Neo-Slavery Debt-Usury Cycle Crash..... | 372 |
| Repeat of 1929? Probability Of Worldwide Economic Collapse Under Insoluble Debt | 374 |
| WORKING MAN TURNED STREET PERSON..... | 375 |
| THE MOST EXTREME MEASURES..... | 375 |
| DIFFICULTY IS THE OPPORTUNITY TO EXPLOIT LABOR..... | 376 |
| MAKING IT IMPOSSIBLE TO MEET DEBT OBLIGATIONS..... | 377 |
| HUMAN ALLIANCES FORMED AT THE BRINK OF DISPOSSESSION | 377 |
| THE PRESIDENT WHO PROMISED PERMANENT PROSPERITY (For Bankers) | 378 |
| FELLOW NEWSMEN REFLECT ON THE TIMES | 379 |
| 1930: The Bankruptcy of the Sovereign United States & Receivership by THE UNITED STATES | 380 |
| UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE EMERGED AS LAW OF THE LAND. Ah, Ha, are you beginning to get the picture?..... | 381 |
| THE INTERNATIONAL BANKERS' CORPORATE PLANTATION OF THE U.S.A. | 383 |
| James Traficant Explains About the Bankruptcy, Hypothecation , Canon & Maritime Law..... | 384 |
| Congressman Louis McFadden's Speech 1933 | 386 |
| The Federal Reserve-A Corrupt Institution | 386 |
| President Jackson's Time | 386 |
| The Great Depression (1929)..... | 387 |
| The Scheme of the Fed..... | 387 |
| Money for the Scottish Distillers | 388 |
| The United States Has Been Ransacked..... | 388 |
| The BankLords' Acceptance Racket | 389 |
| The John Law Swindle | 389 |
| Ivar Kreuger, the Match King! | 389 |
| Thieves Go Scot Free..... | 390 |
| Fiat Money | 390 |
| World Enslavement & Dictatorship Planned | 390 |
| Great Britain, Partner in Blackmail | 391 |
| Roosevelt and the International BankLords Turn Dollar To Fiat Debt Instrument | 391 |
| Roosevelt Seizes the Gold | 392 |
| Enemies of the People They Rob | 393 |
| Conspiracy of War Debts..... | 393 |
| Federal Reserve Pays No Taxes & Preferred Treatment for Foreigners BankLords | 393 |
| Charging the Criminals with the Crimes..... | 394 |
| Stealing America's Gold | 396 |
| The US is Still a British Colony | 398 |
| "Attacks on McFadden's Life Reported" | 399 |
| Fort Knox 1933 & FDR Steals US Citizens' Gold on Behalf of the BankLords who Bankrupted US! | 400 |
| General Smedley Butler Reveals Bush & BankLords' Plot To Overthrow US Gov 1933 | 401 |
| 1933 Headlines Were "Judea Declares War on Germany" | 403 |
| Canada Nationalizes Banking; US Plans to Invade Canada with Poison Gas | 417 |
| Ambassador William E. Todd 1938 Reveals High-Cabal Feudal Conspiracy | 419 |
| HITLER'S SECRET ZIONIST BANKERS & BACKERS (Grandpa Prescott Bush & Zionist Connection) | 419 |
| World War II (1939-1945) and the Vatican-Jesuit-Zionist Hitler Connection | 420 |
| Zionists Offer a Military Alliance with Hitler..... | 422 |
| The Marshall (Morganthau) Plan Deception-Billions for the BankLords & Eternal Enslavement to the US$ | 423 |
| The World Central Bank (1948 - Present) | 427 |
| John F. Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson, Israeili Nukes & The OILY Vietnam War..... | 427 |
| Congress Subcommittee on Finance 1964 Exposes the Federal Reserve! | 432 |
| Congressman Wright Patman Exposes the Fed 1964 | 434 |
| CIA Sponsored Massacre To Plunder Indonesia's Resources 1965 | 436 |
| Day of Infamy, August 15, 1971, Rome Steals US Lands..... | 438 |
| 1984 Grace Commission Report under Ronald Reagan Exposes All Taxes Go To BankLords | 438 |
| The Second Rise of the Private Central Banks Actually began in 1668..... | 439 |
| The Group of Eight | 440 |
| Perpetual Boom-Bust Cycles to Enrich to BankLords per Mike Montagne..... | 440 |
| The Depository Trust Corporation | 442 |
| Bank of International Settlements (B.I.S.) The Mother of All Central Banks..... | 442 |
| Highlights of U.S. Financial History (review) | 444 |
| Real United States Government Notes (not Masonic private Federal Reserve Notes) | 447 |
| Private Federal Reserve Notes FRNs (Just look at the $ bill wih Masonic symbolism in your wallet) | 447 |
| The Coinage Act of 1792 and the Debasing of the Currency Today!! | 448 |
| US Constitution on the Coinage of Money..... | 450 |
| The Fed Is Slowly Destroying America | 452 |
| Why is the Federal Reserve Note NOT WORTH A DOLLAR? | 453 |
| Congressman James Traficant's speech to Congress 1993 on The Fraud of the Federal Reserve | 456 |
| Congressman Ron Paul Introduces Bill to Abolish the Fed Sep 10, 2002..... | 459 |
| The Taxpayer Bailout of Central and Local Banks Continues..... | 460 |
| The Next BankLords' Ruse is to Get Rid of Cash..... | 461 |

| | |
|---|------------|
| The Connection Between Money, Israel & The Oil Collectivists..... | 461 |
| WHAT THE US MEDIA STILL HIDES ABOUT THE 1973 "OIL CRISIS" | 462 |
| THE REAL CROWN IS NOT THE QUEEN BUT THE BANKING DYNASTIES | 463 |
| How the Trillionaires Hide Their Wealth..... | 464 |
| Iran's Planned Euro-Oil Bourse Could Cause Collapse of the Empire of Debt..... | 466 |
| Further Evidence Of Banlords' Approach To World Power | 468 |
| Affidavit That The Bankers Won't Sign (they won't sign it!) | 470 |
| ELEMENTS OF MONETARY REFORM (Who control the creation of CREDIT MONEY control World)..... | 470 |
| What Can We Do By Tibor S. Friedman | 475 |
| A Talk by Edward Griffin Author of The Creature from Jekyll Island | 478 |
| The Mandrake Mechanism: An Overview | 488 |
| THE DISCOUNT WINDOW | 489 |
| FEDERAL RESERVE CHECK (CHEQUE) | 489 |
| BOOMS, BUSTS, AND DEPRESSIONS | 490 |
| EXPANSION LEADS TO CONTRACTION | 491 |
| More on How Money is Created by The Private Banks..... | 492 |
| The Switch From Wealth to Debt..... | 494 |
| Why the BankLords Love the Left By Henry Makow Ph.D. November 23, 2003 | 496 |
| Chart of who "owns" the Federal Reserve | 498 |
| Chart 1: Federal Reserve Directors: A Study of Corporate and Banking Influence Published 1976 | 498 |
| Chart 2: Federal Reserve Directors: A Study of Corporate and Banking Influence..... | 500 |
| Chart 3: Federal Reserve Directors: A Study of Corporate and Banking Influence | 502 |
| Chart 4: Federal Reserve Directors: A Study of Corporate and Banking Influence..... | 503 |
| Chart 5: Federal Reserve Directors: A Study of Corporate and Banking Influence..... | 503 |
| The Federal Reserve was the 3rd attempt at creating a Private Central Bank by the BankLords..... | 504 |
| America's Moloch: The Federal Reserve | 509 |
| J. P. Morgan & Co. Are British Agents | 514 |
| British Duplicity..... | 514 |
| League Of Nations (Forerunner to the United Nations)..... | 514 |
| President Wilson's Peculiarities | 515 |
| Propaganda Curtain..... | 515 |
| British-American Union Urged | 516 |
| Illuminati Banking Dynasties and Their Usury System are the Cause of Humanity's Woes | 517 |
| World Bank Secret Documents To Consume Argentina | 521 |
| The Enron Connection | 527 |
| The Economic Colonization of Iraq..... | 531 |
| Changing Iraq's Laws | 532 |
| Bremer Order #39: Foreign Investment | 532 |
| Failure to Meet International Obligations to Provide for Iraqi Basic Services | 534 |
| Bremer Order #40: Banking | 535 |
| Bremer Order #37: Taxes..... | 535 |
| Bremer Order #12: Trade Liberalization | 536 |
| How to Bring the U.S. in to Accord with International Law and Morality | 536 |
| More on Why Iraq was invaded? Money, Money, Money for the Illuminati and Zionists! | 544 |
| Economic Predators or Hit-Men on Behalf of Feudal Corporate Elite | 546 |
| Current State of Affairs (as of May 2006)..... | 550 |
| Advanced Warning about Money & The New [Under]World Order/Illuminati Mafia Cabal! | 558 |
| The New World Order (N.W.O.) Explained! | 558 |
| The Reign of Emperor George W. Bush | 564 |
| Illuminist Banking Dynasties Trapped By Their Wealth | 564 |
| Layers Of Darkness And The Culture Of Obscene Extremism..... | 564 |
| The War on Terrorism is to Hide the Real Agenda: Total World Tyranny by the BankLords | 565 |
| Illusion of Democracy | 566 |
| The Four Major NWO Interlocked Mafias (New World Order/Disorder) | 567 |
| The Demonic Sabbatean [OC]Cult Rules the World..... | 568 |
| The 9-11 Conspirators & Their Zionist Judges Controlling the 9-11 Litigation | 572 |
| The Real Conspiracy Theorists exposed by the Conspiracy Factualists | 575 |
| Poem About Money | 579 |
| Societal And Mind Control (H.G. Wells Style)..... | 580 |
| Radio, Television and the Hive Mind By Mack White | 581 |
| The Subversion of Culture | 584 |
| There Exists In Our World Today A Powerful And Dangerous Secret Cult | 585 |
| Creating Fake Terror (Illuminati agents stage terror attacks) | 586 |
| The Zionist Protection (Extortion) Racket; Surviving New World Order Tyranny | 588 |
| ITS ALL IN THE FAMILY TREE OF NOBLES | 589 |

| | |
|---|------------|
| Stock Market Money-pulation by them 300 families | 590 |
| The Grand Deception Into Feudal Slavery | 593 |
| Relationship of The Various Illuminati Infiltrated Fronts (diagram above) | 597 |
| The Pyramids Of Slavery | 600 |
| Israel is the Rothschilds' Hexagram State | 602 |
| We are Slaves! Who owns us? Who gets to choose our slave masters? | 603 |
| Slavery Systems | 608 |
| The "Zionist" Conspiracy is British Imperialism | 611 |
| Banksters Use Judaism as a Shield | 613 |
| Notable Quotes On The Immorality and CRIME Of Illuminati Wars | 614 |
| Skull & Bones, Masonry, The KKK And A Fascination With Death And Pirate Symbolism | 623 |
| The Anti-Christ Dajjal Satanists' System | 626 |
| Illuminati Tactics of Deceptions | 627 |
| Our Occultist Elites | 628 |
| Who Owns The Neo-Priests of the Major Media & the Voting Machines Programs? (check out tvnewslies.org) | 630 |
| The Rockefellers invite us to die for Standard Oil Monopoly! | 631 |
| The Temple of Satan | 633 |
| Prisoners Of Their Wealth | 635 |
| Masonic Greed Is A Constant In Human History | 636 |
| Note to Skeptics & Non-skeptics | 640 |
| Resume Of George W. Bush 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue Washington, DC 20520 | 640 |
| Documented Conspiracies..... | 641 |
| The Protocols..... | 642 |
| More Documented Conspiracies: Here is something more for the skeptics (and also non-skeptics)..... | 645 |
| NOW, MORE PROOF OF THE BANKING DYNASTIES' POWER..... | 646 |
| Rockefeller Dynasty Oil Crimes From 1911 to 9-11: The Institutions of Conspiracy..... | 648 |
| A Higher Power, the International BankLords | 661 |
| The Round Table Financial Takeover of Australia and New Zealand | 663 |
| Seven Days in May on April 17, 1995..... | 663 |
| Next a footnote About Donald Rumsfeld Meeting with Saddam: Bait & Switch | 664 |
| Rumsfeld, Searle and Aspartame: Keeping you in poor health | 664 |
| IMPORTANT NOTE: Babylonian Synagogue of Satan Confusion on Zionism & Anti-Semitism?..... | 668 |
| Conflicting Meanings of the Word "Jew" (Iew – Edom) and Confusion on What is Judaism? | 669 |
| Jew, Ashkenazi (Franco-German, Eastern and Central European Jews)..... | 676 |
| Jew, Sephardim (Spanish Jews) | 676 |
| Jew-dah-ism, (modern 'Judaism') | 677 |
| Jewish..... | 677 |
| Adopted Christian Name vs Real Jewish Name While Promoting Noahide Laws | 683 |
| The Corruption of True-Torah Monotheism by the Babylonian Kabbala and Talmud | 685 |
| The Actual Anti-Semites Are The Zionists (Jews have a right to protect themselves against Zionism) | 686 |
| Non-Israelite Jews: Khazar & AshkeNazi Yaphites (the non-Chosen People) | 686 |
| Masonic Map of the Illuminati State of Greater Israel (below) | 687 |
| How the Zionists Changed Biblical Interpretation using Scofield & Oxford Univ. in 1908 | 687 |
| Deceptive Symbolisms | 692 |
| The Pharisees (Priest-Bankers) are Still In Charge Today | 694 |
| The Luciferians Illuminati | 697 |
| The Babylonian Talmud Is The Pharisees' Secret Agenda | 697 |
| Background on the Distortion of Judaism into Babylonian Talmudic Zionism by the Pharisees | 699 |
| Lucifer's Synagogue of Satan and the Cult of Freedom by David Livingstone | 704 |
| Tribulation and Rapture..... | 705 |
| Zionist Collaboration with the Nazis..... | 706 |
| Zionism: A Conspiracy Against Jews By Henry Makow Ph.D. June 27, 2004 | 708 |
| Nazis Made-To-Measure For Zionism | 708 |
| WHO REALLY WAS HITLER (Schicklgruber)? An illegitimate grandson of Baron Rothschild? | 708 |
| The Banksters' (BankLords) Agenda | 710 |
| Zionism And Illuminism and the Black Nobility | 711 |
| Illuminati Fooling The Masses (alliance between Rothschild Zionism and Rome Jesuits)..... | 715 |
| Do Sabbatean/Frankist Jews Rule The World? Are the Illuminati Banking Dynasties Jewish? | 718 |
| Executive Summary of the Situation as Corroborated by Tremendous Research | 722 |

Section Titles on CD

Download the book part for free from: <http://www.lulu.com/content/165077> (30 MB)

On The CD in addition to video and audio documentaries and text documents:

Historical Quotes About Money by The Founding Fathers & Others with Deep Meanings

Russbacher Expose on the Federal Reserve and New World Order
Congressman Larry McDonald Exposed the New World Order Tyranny
Congressman Ron Paul Exposes the Fed and the NWO Neocons
More on the Rothschild Dynasty More on the Rockefeller Dynasty
Leaders behind the New Fascist World Order/Control --- The New World Order Exposed
From The Holy Grail to The Oily Grail: A Slimy Trail! --- Lubavitcher Zionists Control the White House
History of the 13 Major Illuminati Bloodlines & Illuminism --- Obelisks of the Occultists
Bloodlines of the US Presidents \(its all in the family!\) --- History of CIA War Crimes in Brief
Victor Ostrovsky & Others Expose History of Israeli/Mossad War Crimes in Brief
Islam Not Behind The Terror in Brief --- History of News Media Control in Brief
Elections Frauds by Owners of the Voting Machines in Brief
Jack Bernstein Exposes the evils of Zionism/Marxism --- Benjamin Freedman Exposes the evils of Zionism
Harold Wallace Rosenthal Exposes the evils of Zionism --- Stanley Hilton Exposes 9-11 Deception
Excerpts from The Propaganda for the Next War --- Excerpts from Noam Chomsky
The History of Fake Terror --- Some Very Timely Deaths Help The Illuminati Plans
The MENA Affair More on The Waco Massacres --- The Protocols of The Elders of Zion \(Sion\)
Zionist Support of the Nazis --- The Fabian Philosophy of the Illuminati
World Leaders Flashing The Satanic Hand Sign of The Horned God
The Masonic Zionist Plans to Destroy the Al-Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem
History of Illuminati Idolatry & The Occult during the past 5,000 years
The Masonic Seal of The United States --- Masonic Occult Symbols & US Presidency
Masonic Sun god Occult Symbols & The Vatican --- Masonic Infiltration of the Catholic Church in Brief
History of Masonic Covert Activities Since Crusades1 --- History of Masonic Covert Activities Since Crusades2
The Occult War for World Tyranny --- Historical Quotes with Deep Meanings
President John F. Kennedy's Executive Order 11110, Friend or Foe or Red Herring?
Important Documents on the 2nd CD --- References \(check the CD references video/audio/documents\)

Publisher's Note: The theories are presented in this book and on the CD as a free public service. They are opinions for educational & further research purposes only, which may or may not be true or correct, inferring relationships between facts, which may in fact have no relationship, and drawing conclusions without any other proof. The material is presented for educational and research purposes only. The owners and publishers of these pages wish to state that the material presented here is offered with the caveat that the reader ought always to research on their own with the understanding that this book and CD are not rendering legal, financial, political, accounting, medical, religious, marriage or any other professional advice or services. You are encouraged to do your complete due diligence and research before applying any of the principles covered in this educational material. External references are supplied to aid this research. We invite the reader to share in our seeking of Truth by reading with an open but skeptical mind. We encourage the seeking of Knowledge and Awareness in all fields of endeavor as the best way to be able to discern lies from truth. We constantly seek to validate and/or refine what we understand to be either possible or probable or both. We do this with the sincere hope that all of humankind will benefit.  CAVEAT LECTOR ***

Fair Use Note: This free-of-royalty educational book and CD contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We make such material available in an effort to advance awareness and understanding of issues relating to economics, politics, legislation, religion, Satanism, the terrorism of wars, drug trafficking, corporate crimes, murders, alleged suicides, child abduction & abuse, declining moral values, slavery, freedom, liberty, education and propaganda, civil rights, individual rights, international affairs, science & technology, consumer products, etc. We believe this constitutes a 'fair use' of any such copyrighted material as provided for in section 107 of the US Copyright Law. In accordance with Title 17 U.S.C. Section 107, the material in this book and CD are distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving the included information for research and educational purposes. For more information please visit: <http://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/17/107.shtml>. If you wish to use copyrighted material from this book and CD for purposes of your own that go beyond 'fair use', you must obtain permission directly from the copyright owners.

Patriot Act 5 Disclaimer Notice: This book represents parody & satire & are all intended for entertainment and amusement only.

Dedication

This book and CD are dedicated to PRO-TRUTH and ANTI-LIES seekers. It is a product of my desire to understand the invisible forces controlling the World, and to share this knowledge of truth. Without knowing how the World situation got to where it is today, it's not possible to understand the thinking of the current behind-the-scenes ruling dynasties. This book and CD is dedicated to all those great human beings who have worked or are working for freedom, real free enterprise, liberty, truth, peace, justice and towards all good. It is dedicated to uncovering the truth and nothing but the truth, to look beyond the grand deceptions, distortions, lies, red-herrings, diversions, distractions, trojan horses, illusions, frauds, propaganda, half-truths or truths associated with lies, cover-ups, conspiracies and strategies, confusing overt mixed signals, fake-terror and the campaigns to dismiss or ridicule the truth as irrelevant by those who wish to hide the veritas and lead the masses into tunneled visions. This book and CD are also dedicated to the following books: The Torah (not the adulterated version by the Pharisees), The Bible (not the new distorted interpretations by the Zionists) and The Quran (The Read, when interpreted properly). After reading this book and CD, one will obtain a much greater understanding of these Books' verses related to money, usury and false measure, conspiracies & cover-ups, secret counsels and devious plots, occultism and idolatry (and its associated blood sacrifice ancient rituals), and prophecy. This book and CD are a coordinated collection of a lot of good peoples' works and the author cannot claim any credit for it other than for arranging it into an easily understandable sequence with relative simplicity and clarity. The compilation of this enormous information was possible due to the support of family and friends World-wide.

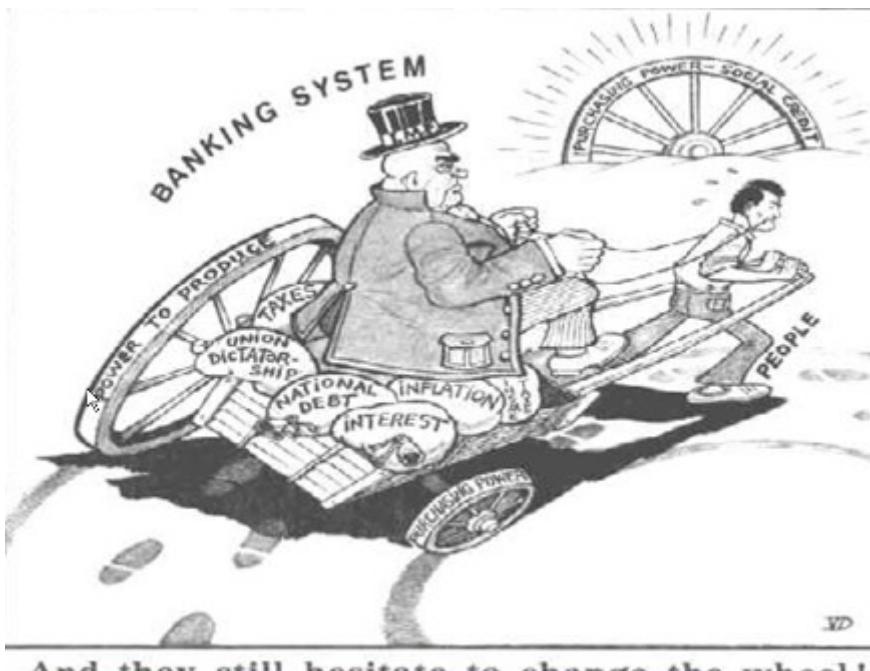

Special thanks to all the researchers listed in the References section, especially the courageous Jewish folks who have exposed many lies and deceptions, including but not limited to: <http://www.themoneymasters.com> (Patrick S. J. Carmack and Bill Still)-- <http://www.justiceplus.org/bankers.htm> (Sheldon Emry) -- <http://www.monetary.org> -- <http://www.lulu.com/content/137150> (The Money Trail by Estanislao Carter) <http://www.xat.org/xat/alternative.html> (Alternative Trading Network and Specialized Direct Democracy XAT4) --
<http://www.norfed.org> (National Org. for the Repeal of the Federal Reserve Act and the Internal Revenue Code) -- <http://www.dal.ca/~rislam/book.htm> (Prof.Dr. Rafiqul Islam Dalhousie University, Canada) --- <http://www.yellowtimes.org> -- <http://www.sfgroup.org> (Richard Benson explains the Federal Reserve System Fraud) -- <http://www.canadianactionparty.ca/PartyInfo/Policies.asp?A=9&B=2&C=0&D=0&Language=English> --
<http://www.cqfreestate.com/> -- <http://www.canadianactionparty.ca/MainPages/Comic.asp?Page=4&Language=English> (Canada Action Party) --
<http://www.altpr.org> -- <http://www.harunyahya.net> -- <http://www.reformation.org> --
<http://www.newmediaexplorer.org/sepp/2005/04/19/canada> class action accuses banks of illegal creation of money.htm --
<http://www.globalresearch.ca> (Michael Chossudovsky, University of Ottawa, Prof. Economics) -- <http://www.whatreallyhappened.com> (Michael Rivero) <http://www.antiwar.com> (Justin Raimondo) -- <http://www.infowars.com> (Alex Jones) -- <http://www.whtt.org> (Chuck Carlson) --
<http://www.fromthewilderness.com> (Michael Ruppert) -- <http://www.copcia.com> <http://www.savethemales.ca> (Dr. Henry Makow) --
<http://www.johnkaminski.com> -- <http://www.williamcooper.com> (killed Nov 2001) -- <http://www.jewsagainstzionism.com/> (True-Torah Jews) --
<http://www.public-action.com> (Carol Valentine) -- <http://www.addicteditwar.com> (Joel Andreas) -- <http://www.thedyinggod.com> (David Livingstone) --
<http://www.skolnicksreport.com> (Sherman Skolnick) -- <http://www.realityzone.com> (G. Edward Griffin) -- <http://www.commondreams.org> --
<http://www.prosperityuk.com/prosperity/prosperity.html> --<http://www.perfecteconomy.com/pg-quotes.html> (Mike Montagne) --
<http://wfhummel.cnhost.com> -- <http://www.uhuh.com> Forest Glen Durland -- The Lost Science of Money: The Mythology of Money-The Story of Power <http://www.sustecweb.co.uk/past/sustec13-2/The%20Lost%20Science.htm> -- <http://www.sfgroup.org> (Richard Benson explains the Federal Reserve System Fraud) -- <http://www.investmentrarities.com/bestofimyers06-11-03.htm> John Myers --
<http://www.financialsense.com/series4/part1.html> James Puplava -- <http://www.maxexchange.com/ybi> -- Charles Carlson whtt.org --
http://www.the7thfire.com/new_World_order/final_warning/federal_reserve_act.htm -- <http://www.libertydollar.org> --
<http://www.apfn.org/apfn/reserve.htm> -- <http://www.americanrevolutionaryparty.us> -- <http://www.economichitman.com> -- Chicago Fed
<http://www.Worldnewsstand.net/money/mmm2.html#MODERN> -- <http://www.barefootsWorld.net/usfraud.html> -- <http://www.wtv-zone.com/Mary/FEDERALRESERVE.HTML> -- <http://www.comer.org/BoC/BoCut.htm> -- <http://www.apfn/APFN/MONEY.HTM> --
<http://www.wealth4freedom.com/truth/2/fed.htm> -- <http://www.michaeljournal.org/myth.htm> -- <http://www.richardhoskins.com> -- <http://www.fdrs.org/> --
<http://www.moneyasdebt.net/> -- <http://www.womensgroup.org/> -- <http://www.mecfilms.com/fiat/>
http://eldoradogold.net/pdf/October_2006/Patman_PrimerOnMoney.pdf -- <http://www.apfn.org/apfn/reserve.htm> --
http://www.tysknews.com/Depts/Taxes/fed_banking_fraud.htm -- Ellen Brown <http://www.webofdebt.com> -- <http://www.monetary.org> Stephen Zarlenga -- <http://www.seanscreenplays.com/BeteNoireCD/Articles1/HIDDEN%20POWER.htm> --
http://www.freedomforceinternational.org/printerfriendly.cfm?pffile=meetflaherty_content.cfm, www.prisonplanet.com
<http://www.informationclearinghouse.info> <http://blogs.albawaba.com/alexanderjames> <http://www.thepowerhour.com>
<http://www.wht.org> (Chuck Carlson) <http://www.commondreams.org> http://www.thetruthseeker.co.uk/
<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/page/page/1518131.htm> <http://www.theinsider.org/mailing/archive.asp>
<http://www.globalresearch.ca> (Michael Chossudovsky, University of Ottawa, Professor of Economics)
<http://www.antiwar.com> (Justin Raimondo) <http://www.counterpunch.org> <http://www.thelawparty.org/>
<http://cloakanddagger.ca> <http://www.cloakanddagger.de> <http://www.almartinraw.com> http://www.red-ice.net/
<http://thehandstand.org/> <http://www.corpwatch.org/index.php> <http://www.robert-fisk.com> <http://www.911-strike.com/>
<http://www.innWorldreport.net/> <http://www.insider-magazine.com/contact.htm> <http://www.911fraud.blogspot.com/>
<http://www.newsnow.co.uk/newsfeed/?name=Behind-the+News> -- <http://question911.com> -- <http://reopen911.org/>
<http://www.physics911.net/nuclearfalseflagdraft.htm> <http://www.physics911.org> <http://www.physics911.net>
<http://www.911truth.org> <http://911research.wtc7.net/> <http://911exposed.com/> Eric Rainbolt <http://www.tvnewslies.org>
<http://www.letsroll911.org> <http://www.plaguepuppy.net/> <http://loosechange911.com/> <http://www.israelshamir.net>
<http://www.freedomunderground.org/memoryhole/pentagon.php#Main> <http://www.moveon.org> http://www.johnpilger.com/
<http://erichufschmid.net/911.swf> <http://69.28.73.17/planesite.html> <http://100777.com/> <http://source.gnn.tv/>
<http://www.serendipity.li> <http://69.28.73.17/> <http://www.wingtv.net> <http://www.rudemacedon.ca/kaminski/kam-index.html>
http://www.Worldnewsstand.net/John_Kaminski_Archives.htm <http://www.truthout.org/multimedia.htm>
<http://www.rense.com/Datapages/kaminski.htm> <http://www.thetruthseeker.co.uk/columnist.asp?ID=11>
<http://www.lewisnews.com/section.asp?ID=104&Name=Greg+Szymanski+of+22The+Arctic+Beacon%22>
<http://www.threeWorldwars.com> <http://www.illuminati-news.com/> <http://www.cooperativeresearch.org/> http://www.theamericanvoice.com/_radio_show -- <http://www.twf.org/> <http://www.yellowtimes.org> -- <http://www.globalnewsmatrix.com/>
<http://www.waynemadsenreport.com/> (Wayne Madsen) <http://www.fearorlove.com/catalog.htm>
<http://www.nologo.org/> (Naomi Klein) <http://joevials.altermedia.info/> (died July 2005) <http://www.rumormillnews.com/>
<http://www.altpr.org> -- <http://www.americanfreepress.net> <http://www.todaysalternativenews.com>
<http://www.freedomforceinternational.org> <http://www.realityzone.com> (G. Edward Griffin) <http://www.fame.org/Publications.asp>
<http://www.conspiracyplanet.com/www.jackblood.com> <http://www.viewfromthewall.com>
<http://www.breakfornews.com/> <http://www.web-tracks.org/www.rbnlive.com> <http://www.solariactionnetwork.com/phpBB2/>
<http://www.karlschwarz.com/> <http://www.michaelmoore.com> <http://www.bilderberg.org>
<http://www.thedyinggod.com> (David Livingstone) <http://198.62.75.1/www2/koestler/> The 13th Tribe
<http://www.mideastfacts.com/resolutions.html> <http://www.informationtimes.com/> <http://www.blogs.albawaba.com/alexanderjames>
<http://groups.msn.com/TotalTruthSciences/messages.msnw> <http://signs-of-the-times.org/signs/signs.htm>
<http://www.assassinationscience.com> <http://www.larouchepub.com> http://www.springola.com/my_articles.htm
<http://www.vaticanassassins.org/> <http://altport.org/altport/index.php> <http://charlesgoyette.com/>
<http://control-alt-delete.ca/v-web/bulletin/bb/index.php?> <http://www.nogw.com/movies.html>
<http://www.linkcrusader.com/anti-bush.htm> <http://www.toostupidtobepresident.com/> <http://zeitgeistmovie.com/>
<http://www.albasrah.net/media/multimedia.htm> <http://www.dailykos.com/> <http://www.supportthetruth.com/>
<http://www.mediamonitor.net/> http://www.mediamonitor.net/ <http://www.revisionisthistory.org/palestine.html>
<http://www.cremationofcare.com/contributions/1000linkstruthpage.html> <http://www.linktoit.com/>

<http://www.whilimena.blogspot.com/> http://www.whilimena.blogspot.com/2004_11_01_whilimena_archive.html http://www.911busters.com/911_new_video_productions/MOV/Painful_Deceptions.html
http://www.apfn.net/Doc-100_bankruptcy.htm <http://www.matthes.freeservers.com/custom3.html>
http://www.lifere patterning.com/SECRETFinancialHistory_of_the_unitedStates.htm <http://eldoradogold.net/>
<http://www.hiddenmysteries.org/conspiracy/facts/runningamerica.html> http://www.v72.org/illuminati_articles.html
<http://www.wealth4freedom.com/truth/banks.htm> <http://www.ojczyna.pl/BOOKS/the-money-changers-ch1.htm>
http://www.time-bomb.org/%20Pages%20Left%20Nav%20Bar/Food_For Thought.htm
The Theory of Money and Credit (<http://www.econlib.org/library/Mises/msTContents.html>) The Mystery of Banking
(<http://www.mises.org/mysteryofbanking/mysteryofbanking.pdf>) History of Money from Ancient Times to the Present Day
(<http://www.ex.ac.uk/~RDavies/arian/llyfr.html>) by Glyn Davies Shelling Out: The Origins of Money (<http://szabo.best.vwh.net/shell.html>) Shell Beads from South African Cave Show Modern Human Behavior 75,000 Years Ago (http://www.nsf.gov/news/news_summ.jsp?cntn_id=100362&org=NSF)
Money Museum at the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond (<http://www.rich.frb.org/econed/museum/>) A large collection of links
(<http://www.ex.ac.uk/~RDavies/arian/money.html>) Money Management (http://www.dmoz.org/Home/Personal_Finance/Money_Management/)
Philosophy of Money (<http://www.bu.edu/wcp/Papers/Econ/EconShep.htm>) by Alla Sheptun Money is a Failed System
(<http://metamind.us/members/s/stevemoyer/email/1075695203.htm>) by Steve Moyer SALT and the Evolution of money (<http://salt.org.il/money.html>)
Community Exchange Systems in Asia, Africa and Latin America (<http://www.appropriate-economics.org>) Rethinking and Transforming Money
(<http://www.seek2know.net/money.html>) How much is that worth today? (<http://www.eh.net/ehresources/howmuch/poundq.php>) - Comparing the purchasing power of money in Britain from 1600 to any other year up to 2002, Monetary Systems and Managed Economies
(<http://www.benbest.com/polecon/monetary.html>) Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago: Modern Money Mechanics - A Workbook on Bank Reserves and Deposit Expansion (<http://landru.i-link-2.net/monques/mmm2.html>) Understanding Capitalism Part II: Personal Property, Money and Finance
(http://www.rationalrevolution.net/articles/capitalism_property.htm) UnitedDiversity Money Page (<http://ud.lir.be/money>) The History of Money
(<http://www.xat.org/xat/moneyhistory.html>) Banking Without Regulation (<http://www.fee.org/vnews.php?nid=2794>) e-hamburgers
(<http://www.kuro5hin.org/story/2003/8/2/203846/0944>) From legal tender to virtual vouchers. Past, present and possible future of money
(<http://www.polyarchy.org/paradigm/english/money.html>) [4] (<http://www.banknotes.com>) Popular History of Money FAQs
(<http://www.galmarley.com>) The official money fanlisting (<http://money.fanatique.net/>) Retrieved from "<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Money>"
Categories: Money | Numismatics <http://www.loveforlife.com.au/flier>
<http://www.freedomdomain.com/linkpage.htm> <http://www.usagold.com/allworkandnopay.html>
http://yamaguchi.netfirms.com/7897401/astle/astle_index.html <http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/article18205.htm>
<http://www.geocities.com/cmcfer/interest.html> <http://www.agoracosmopolitan.com/home/News1/2006/03/06/01146.html>
<http://www.geocities.com/cmcfer/quotes.html>,

Gertrude Coogan born 8 June 1907 died May 1935 after publishing her last book "Money Creators", Who Creates Money? Who Should Create it?Free download: <http://www.archive.org/download/MoneyCreators/Coogan-MoneyCreators-WhoCreatesMoney-WhoShouldCreateIt1935.pdf>

Stefan Molyneux, Pastor Rod Parsley , Fritz Springmeier, Eustache Mullins, Jeff Rense, David Icke, Uri Dowbenko, Gillian Armstrong, Robert at "Etherzone", Murray at "Push Hamburger", Nelson Thall, Rixon Steward, Paul Watson, Lisa Giuliani, Victor Thorn, David Pidcock, Michael Nield, Charley Reese, Robert Fisk, John Pilger, Greg Palast, Laura Knight-Jadczyk, Noam Chomsky, Alfred M. Lilienthal, Fred Eggerton, M. McInnes, Jared Israel, Joe Vials, Michael Moore, Abdelmenem Jamil Addas, Janet Bush, Arundhati Roy, Anthony Hilder, David Allen Rivera, Eric J. Rainbolt, Paul Hein, Henry K. Liu, Monus Aron, Aron Russo, David Astle, Jim Kirwan, Paul Grignon, etc. etc. Apologies to those I've missed listing here or in the References section.

Summary of This Book

In a nutshell, money is a technique to keep track of credits/debts.

All money that is created and tracked in the ledgers of privately controlled central and commercial/retail banks is counterfeit, i.e. "fiat" money created from nothing, backed by nothing owned by the private bankers, a.k.a. fiat money.

Money has gone from being a physical asset medium of exchange to being a debt token to being a medium of expropriation of the nation's productivity by the Bankers or legalized Banksters (Banking Gangsters). This is explained with full detail in "The Hidden History of Money".

Franz Hörmann, Professor at the Economics University in Vienna, has explained the fraudulent workings of the fractional reserve banking system in an interview published in the mainstream Austrian newspaper, Der Standard, (Oct 2010) with extraordinary clarity indicating that information about the fraudulent banking system is now going mainstream:

"Let me explainify the war against Iraq a little bit in Texas terminologracy."

We not Saddam Hussein for his actions.

We will Mobilize to meet this threat in the Persian Gulf until an Amocoable solution is reached.

Our plan is to BPprepared.

Failing that, we ARCOming to kick his ass.

DemocracyMeansYou.com

"If one creates money out of thin air and then passes on what did not exist before, charging interest and using physical assets as collateral, then that is in reality a model for expropriation," he said.

When banks create money that is not backed by any assets of their own, it is referred to as "fiat" money, a.k.a. legalized counterfeiting. The process of creating fiat money by private bankers implies expropriation of everyone's wealth and productivity by the private bankers who issue money against it. The national debt is in fact a record of how much bankers expropriated from The People.

Actually, the entire World banking system is a fraud as recently explained by Austrian Professor of Economics Franz Hörmann, University in Vienna:

"The current crisis stems from the banks. The banks [private central and commercial banks] invent money as part of the credit creation process. But if you create money out of thin air [a.k.a. counterfeiting] and then pass it on to others while adding interest to something that did not exist before, and then also make physical assets the collateral, that is in reality a model for expropriation if the social model goes wrong.

This is also the reason for bank secrecy rules. Banks are not in a position to reveal where the interest for savings books, property saving contracts and such like comes from and so show that it is all a complex pyramid scheme or ponzi game in reality."

Please note:

- all money in circulation, whether in the form of paper notes or in computerized ledger accounts, is created by private central and commercial banks, from nothing of their own as collateral, and is issued as a usury bearing debt to governments, corporations, and individuals
- bankers are not liable for the money they issue, i.e. the whole world cannot come to the bankers and demand assets from the bankers in return for the money that they created from nothing as this money just keep circulating from bank account to bank account ad infinitum
- the unit of currency, e.g. US$ is an undefined measure [up to 1913, a US$ was defined as 1/20th of an ounce of gold]
- in order to pay the interest on the "borrowed" paper notes, governments, corporations, and individuals have to collect such notes, but as interest is paid, less and less money remains in circulation unless the bankers issue more, i.e. unless:
 1. Bankers spend all money collected in interest immediately to buy goods and services
 2. Or governments, corporations, and individuals borrow more from the bankers
 3. or the bankers out of their "goodwill" create money and give it away
 4. or the bankers out of their "goodwill" forgive debts and interest payments
 5. or the bankers buy real assets, most likely at very low deflated prices with money which they create from nothing

In any case, not enough money remains in circulation to pay back the capital plus interest i.e. the Peoples are perpetually working for the bankers and are at the mercy of the bankers, a.k.a. BANKING GANGSTERS BANKENSTEINS.

President Woodrow Wilson, who was originally responsible for creating the federal reserve, later regretted that decision for obvious reasons, saying: "A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is privately concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men ... [W]e have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated, governments in the civilized world—no longer a government by free opinion, no longer a government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a government by the opinion and the duress of small groups of dominant men."

"We are apt to shut our eyes against a painful truth...for my part, I am willing to know the whole truth; to know the worst; and to provide for it." Patrick Henry

"Fear can only prevail when victims are ignorant of the facts." Thomas Jefferson

"The U.S. dollar is a 'faith-based currency' dependent on the credibility of a central bank" --- Dallas Federal Reserve Bank President Richard Fisher

"No one man can terrorize a whole nation unless we are all his accomplices." Edward R Murrow

"Our society is run by insane people for insane objectives. I think we are being run by maniacs for maniacal ends and I think I am liable to be put away as insane for expressing that. That's what's insane about it" -- John Lennon

Everyone has the right...to hold opinions without interference and to seek, receive and impart information and ideas through any media and regardless of frontiers. - Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Article 19.

I have placed the above reminder for those self-anointed alleged guardians of human rights who like to ensure that only the Ruling Elites' voice is heard and everyone else's voice is drowned. We will expose the reality that the World is ruled and controlled by corrupt people also known as elite criminals, and the truth can be found in what is forbidden to say. Follow the money and make no mistake about it, we are all owned by the masters of the banking system who have always criminally ruled humans since ancient times.

"None are more hopelessly enslaved than those who falsely believe they are free." Otherwise, if serfs were made cognisant of their condition of servitude, they would be moved to do something about it which would be problematic to their masters who want eternal power over them with the least trouble as possible, i.e. the ideal tyranny is that which is unknowingly self-administrated by its victims and so the most perfect slaves are those who blissfully and unwittingly enslave themselves. Similarly, those who are hopelessly ignorant of the pernicious—and precarious—nature of the modern financial system are, by their blind obedience to it, slaves to the money-masters who control it. We are the serfs/knaves of the modern banking feudal gangsters (shades of the Sheriff of Nottingham).

Since very ancient times, the ruling elite have kept themselves above the laws and systems they have devised for the common folks, i.e. what is criminal for the average person is not for the World's Ruling Elite, i.e. the World is ruled by a criminals' cabal who have given themselves "the divine right of kings" and who have legislated loopholes for themselves to remain above the common law.

The veteran FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said: "The individual is handicapped by coming face-to-face with a "conspiracy so monstrous (<http://www.savethemales.ca/000166.html>) that he cannot believe it exists.". You will understand why as you read how unimaginably monstrous the feudal bankers' conspiracy really is! Note that 6 or 7 US Presidents (William Henry Harrison, poisoned, in 1841, Zachary Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and John F. Kennedy 1963; 7 if FDR's poisoning is counted) have been murdered over the issue of private banking dynasties having control over the creation of money, alongwith many others including Julius Caesar.

Cherep-Spiritovitch concludes: "According to Bismarck the awful Civil War in America was fomented by a Jewish [Zionist Bankers] Conspiracy, and President Abraham Lincoln the hero and national saint of the United States was killed by the same hidden hand which killed six Romanov Czars, ten kings and scores of Ministers only to easier bleed their nations." [and now 6 more US Presidents after Lincoln]. More on this later.

"Before, whoever had gold could buy out many things and people. The supply or creation of gold was limited and thus whoever had mined or waged war to get or steal the gold had limited powers. Now, whoever controls the issue of the nation's and the World's dollar$ credits can buy out everything and everyone. The supply of $ credits is unlimited as dollar credits are created by the stroke of a pen or keyboard." -- Alex James

Here is a quick shocking summary of how the financial system is rigged:

- Money is a ledger entry created by Bankers. It keeps circulating in the Bankers' computer ledgers.
- All money created by the Bankers is counterfeit, i.e. Bankers simply create money from nothing of their own, a.k.a. fiat money using everyone else as collateral, i.e. a model for expropriation. The amount of money that can be created is infinite.
- The Bank owners such as the Rothschilds, Rockefellers, Goldman Sachs, J.P. Morgan-Chase, etc. have a monopoly on the legalized counterfeiting of money. They usuriously indebt you by usurping a piece of the economic production that was/will be created by everyone else.
- Money actually represents an anonymous debt since the actual debtor's name and the lender's or creditor's name is not written on paper or computer ledger dollars. The actual debtor is the banker and the actual lender/creditor is the taxpayer.
- All profits from the Banks are privatized while all debts are socialized and transferred to the World's taxpayers.
- The usurious debt grows exponentially eventually consuming the producers as the parasites grow.
- The record of the Federal, State, City, Corporate, Private, etc. debts to the Bankers is actually a partial record of the wealth stolen by the Bankers from the World's peoples. To get an accurate figure of how much the Bankers have stolen from The Peoples, you would have to add the interest they charged and adjust for inflation. The total current debts to the Bankers Worldwide is about $90 trillion, so these Bankers have stolen at least that much and are collecting interest on stolen money. Bankers definitely did not have $90 Trillion of wealth to lend us, so they had to steal it from The People to lend it to us.

- Inability to repay a debt is not a crime. However, more people are being locked up for not being able to repay the credit issued by Bankers who created it from nothing, i.e. by counterfeiting.

In addition to the above, these other points will be discussed as you explore the Hidden History of Money & Usury:

- Money or credit is needed by everyone to facilitate exchange of goods and services as bartering is not always practical
- In the past, paper money issued by a money changer used to represent a receipt for some commodity that exists, e.g. gold, silver, etc.
- Today's money is a debt-token "promise to pay" which is "created from nothing" by the issuer at no liability to himself using the people's productivity as collateral without their permission, a.k.a. counterfeiting. The "promise to pay" is a collective liability against the entire country and this token is given value by the people who produce goods and services and not by its issuer or creator
- An infinite amount of credit can be created by those Banksters who have usurped the power to issue credit from The People, thus they are the parasitic Neo-Feudal Lords of the World and can buy-out anything/anyone to tighten their power
- This fiat money then acts like shares whose value gets diluted as new shares are issued
- The ones who are "the creators of money" control the issue of money, control governments, corporations, individuals, i.e. they can create oversupplies and shortages of money, buy-out assets, etc.
- Any new credit created causes a devaluation of the existing currency, thus inflation takes away your current currency based wealth and your earning power as well as your power to pay interest on any existing debt and your power to buy future goods
- All money in circulation represents a debt that is being paid with interest by someone (a government, a corporation, a person). The associated interest is not created into the system thus assuring a shortfall unless more debt is assumed to create additional money with which to pay the interest or the bankers create the money and spend it (i.e. they get something for nothing), i.e. we are perpetually working for the bankers.
- Private Banking Dynastic Families have always had control over the issue of money since ancient times and have usurped our birthright to be free, transferred all liabilities to us as eternal debt and bail-outs for their cronies
- Private Banking Dynasties have used lies, propaganda, education, media control, religious cults, stooges, blackmail, threats, suicidal murders, assassinations, terrorism, wars and currency manipulations to maintain their hegemony over a World currency, control over the issue of money and increase their wealth and power over governments and legislations
- Criminal Private Banking Dynasties/Cabals are the rulers of the World and are the force behind governments, thrones, major corporations, tax-exempt foundations, secretive societies, and legislations
- Currently, the privately owned Federal Reserve Banks' Note (FRNs) US Dollar is the World's currency as it is demanded by all exporting countries in exchange for goods/services they trade internationally
- This allows the Banking Dynasties to use the United States as their muscle around the World to maintain their power and wage currency wars for their hegemony, while they can keep buying anything they want by merely issuing FRNs, giving nothing in return, and forcing the trade deficit into Treasury Bill paper at the point of their big guns
- If there were no debt, there would be no money supply, i.e. we are eternally indebted to the Banksters into an eternally growing production and debt until the system collapses leading us into destitution and slavery at the mercy of the BankLords
- As the Banksters create more and more money, previously issued money as well as newly issued money becomes increasingly worth less. Please note that inflation is a hidden tax on money itself. Taxes go to enrich the BankLords to pay them their usury tribute
- Democracy and freedom are actually a front for the BankLords' economic dictatorship
- This money system loved by the BankLords is dependent on perpetually accelerating growth and therefore is not sustainable. THUS THIS SYSTEM MUST BE REPLACED WITH A FREEDOM-BASED NON-PROFIT SUSTAINABLE SOCIAL CREDIT SYSTEM eventually or with total slavery.

"Taxes are not levied for the benefit of the taxed.... There is no worse tyranny than to force a man to pay for what he does not want merely because you think it would be good for him." -- Robert A. Heinlein

"I think the terror most people are concerned with is the IRS" -- Malcolm Forbes, when asked if he was afraid of terrorism

"In general, the art of government consists in taking as much money as possible from one party of citizens [the middle-class] to give to the other" [the financial Elite, i.e. enslave/tax the people and then bailout anyone?]. -- Voltaire (1764)

"Our forefathers made one mistake. What they should have fought for was representation without taxation." -- Fletcher Knebel, Historian

"Ill fares the land, To hastening ills a prey, Where wealth accumulates And men decay. -- Oliver Goldsmith

First there is money. Then someone gets the idea, "Why not turn the money itself into a commodity?" From its normal use as a medium of exchange, the very money becomes something to be trafficked in and profitable in itself (it's a bit like the Football ticket scalpers).

Aristotle in "On Politics": "Money, being naturally barren, to make it breed money is preposterous and a perversion from the end of its institution, which was only to serve the purpose of exchange and not of increase.....Men called bankers we shall hate, for they enrich themselves while doing nothing".

Usury is most reasonably detested as the increase arises from the money itself, and not by employing it to the purpose for which it was intended. In Rome, 48 B.C., the issuing of money was done privately by a few wealthy Jewish families. "Julius Caesar took this privilege from them and restored it to the government to whom it belonged." For this, Julius Caesar was assassinated.

"Thou shall not lend upon usury to thy brother; usury of money, usury of victuals, usury of anything that is lent upon usury." Deuteronomy 20:19 [note: we are all brothers]

"I am afraid that the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that banks can and do create money.....And they who control the credit of the nation [and its citizens and corporations] direct the policy of Governments and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people"....- Reginald McKenna, a past Chairman of the Board, Midlands Bank of England.

"Thus our national circulating medium [collectivized debt liability] is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend not money, but [false] promises to supply money which they do not possess".....- Irving Fisher, economist & author.

"One thing to realize about our fractional reserve banking system is that like a child's game of musical chairs [i.e. a pyramid ponzi scheme], as long as the music is playing, there are no losers"....- Andrew Gause, Monetary historian.

The Hidden History of Money is the tip of the iceberg of truth with many angles of viewing in an attempt to "follow the money" down to "qui bono who benefits?" Please note that some of the material presented in this book is illustrated in the 4-hour video documentary <http://www.themoneymasters.com> (about money-pulation by the money-monsters). These masters of the modern World are the men of unique wealth and influence who control, by a complete and complex matrix of evil, the banking and financial systems of the World and by that the economic and political spheres in human affairs. These men of fabulously unique wealth and influence are not known to the masses since they conduct their affairs in great secrecy -in dark unions and secret meetings- far away from public scrutiny. Yet their influence in human affairs is massive as we will conclude from the material presented later. The information presented herein will also increase understanding of some of these verses Bible and the Quran.

James Madison, 4th President of the United States: "Knowledge will forever govern ignorance, and a people who mean to be their own governors must arm themselves with the power that knowledge gives. A popular government without [truthful] popular information or the means of acquiring it [thank God for the Internet] is but a prologue to a farce [Bush & the Neocons] or tragedy [financial slavery of the masses, Iraq, Afghanistan] or perhaps both."

Mahatma Gandhi: "Just look at us. Everything is backwards; everything is upside down. Doctors destroy health, lawyers destroy justice, universities destroy knowledge, governments destroy freedom, the major media destroy information and [institutionalized, evangelicals] religions destroy spirituality, etc."

"Our lives begin to end, the day we become silent about things that matter." Martin Luther King

"You don't have to burn books to destroy a culture, just get people to stop reading them." Ray Bradbury

"Who controls the past controls the future: who controls the present controls the past." George Orwell. The winners write falsified history. In this book we aim to dig out the truth from the existing cover-up.

"Name me an emperor who was ever struck by a cannon ball" - Charles V

"These are the days when men of all social disciplines and all political faiths seek the comfortable and the accepted; when the man of controversy is looked upon as a disturbing influence; when originality is taken to be a mark of instability; and when, in minor modification of the original parable, the bland lead the bland." : John Kenneth Galbraith - (1908-) Canadian-born economist, Harvard professor. Source: The Affluent Society, 1976.... "By a continuing process of inflation, Governments can confiscate secretly and unobserved an important part of the wealth of their nation. There is no subtler, no surer means of overthrowing the existing basis of society, than to debauch the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction and does it in a manner which not one man in a million is able to diagnose".

Now you know our politicians represent and serve the Illuminati in their program of spreading "democracy" out of the barrel of a gun. The political propaganda is cast in such a way as to attract the masses who in general have a lower level of intellectual capacity, and fail to see that under party politics there can be no democracy or representation of the will of the majority. Members of a party are required to give their total loyalty to the party which cannot co-exist with their loyalty to the nation as the parties are answerable to the banksters who are themselves bound to the protocols of the Illuminati.

An article in the Bankers Magazine (August 26, 1924) stated, "Capital must protect itself in every possible manner by combination and legislation. Debts must be collected, bonds and mortgages must be foreclosed as rapidly as possible. When through a process of law, the common people lose their homes they will become more docile and more easily governed through the influence of the strong arm of government applied by a central power of wealth under control of leading financiers.....This truth is well known among our principal men now engaged in forming an imperialism of capital to govern the world. By dividing the voters through the political party system we can get them to expend their energies in fighting over questions of no importance. Thus, by discreet action we can secure for ourselves what has been so well planned and so successfully accomplished. . ."

Seeing that the Rothschilds' banking dynasty played in funding both sides of the war between England and France, and manipulating the war to their interests, Napoleon Bonaparte wrote... "When a government is dependent upon bankers for money, they and not the leaders of the government control the situation, since the hand that gives is above the hand that takes. Money has no motherland; financiers are without patriotism and without decency; their sole object is gain."

"Freedom... refer[s] to a social relationship among people -- namely, the absence of force as a prospective instrument of decision making. Freedom is reduced whenever a decision is made under threat of force, whether or not force actually materializes or is evident in retrospect." Thomas Sowell - (1930-) Writer and economist

"You can't hold a man down without staying down with him." - Booker T. Washington - (1856-1915) Author

The Hidden History of Money is an adventure in the true history of World control. I have to warn you. The flood of naked truth in this book is intense, blistering and shocking for the novice and it may take a novice reader several read-throughs to obtain a good level of understanding of the material being presented. Don't expect to catch on during your first read-through. To assist comprehension, stimulate thinking and remove mental blind-spots and tunnels, the information is presented in several different ways and from many varying angles and from hundreds of distinctly diverse sources (all listed in the References section and most are available from Amazon.com and on the Internet).

This book is a big journey into truth! It took over 9 years to collect, comprehend and compile this material. First, as I discovered this material, I couldn't believe it, I was shocked and went into denial (couldn't believe politicians and some other folks were lying even if they told me that they were lying! Guess that's what they call the "dummifying down" effect). However, after studying further and deeper, the big picture behind major World events started to emerge. It is a bit like the structure of the universe not making sense without envisioning an ORGANIZER behind it. If you've come across this book by a stroke of good luck, please read it with a wide open mind (ignorance is having a closed mind) because the mainstream media and the education system have not exposed you to this truth and have in fact presented you with a distorted view of the World resulting in skewed preconceptions and prejudices that this will take time to unravel (also known as de-briefing or de-programming the cognitive dissonance or the Paradigm Effect which blinds/filters us from acknowledging information contrary to the existing Paradigms in our minds). This baggage of misconceptions and distortions will make it a challenge to comprehend the facts stated in this book. You may find revelations in this book shocking and go into denial because of the thinkings inertia to the illusionary World that has been created by the Illuminati owned/controlled mass media. So please read with patience as all stunning statements will be circumstantially factualized as we will expose the private Illuminati Banking Dynasties who get to create money from nothing and that have immense resources to make lies appear deceptively like "truth".!

Its likely that you've picked up this book because instinctively you're thinking that something isn't quite making sense about the horrible conditions of the World, about why the system we live in forces people to hurt each other, about why certain events are happening, their coordination and sequencing, about the mainstream news media's strange explanations of these events, about the insane direction these events are taking us, about why politicians are speaking with forked tongues (politics: 'poli' in Latin means 'many' and 'tics' means 'bloodsucking creatures'), about why we can't get any good people (politicians or union leaders) elected or why good people get assassinated, about why the news media loves war-mongering politicians, about why certain groups are being demonized, about why there are so many child kidnappings and that pedophilic rings lead to top politicians, about why truth leakers are arrested or killed, about why sometimes we see mixed signals that keep us in confusion and directionless (by the way, the tactic of confusion was practiced since ancient Babylon, the word "Babylon" itself means confusion; in Hebrew & Arabic its Babel; i.e. rule the masses by keeping them busy in the paralysis of confusion, keep them barefoot and distracted!"), etc., i.e. you're feeling that there is a big disturbance in "the force" (Star Wars terminology). The elite news media is a weapon of mass distraction and will keep you confused!

Many of the deceptions will be exposed and explained in this research (the mainstream media floods the masses with useless info, or half of the information, or mixes truth with lies to either discredit the truth or to promote lies). Your time will not be spent thinking in the wrong direction.

A lot of quotes from famous leaders have and will be given to substantiate the explanations of events which are leading towards a Financial & Military Babylonian/Roman style "Fourth Reich" that will further concentrate financial and political power into the hands of a few self-anointed nobility or Illuminati a.k.a. Illuminati Bankers, and force the enslaved people to fight with each other. This book will help you understand the history of money & the Illuminati since ancient times to this day; you will get an insight into where these insane geniuses of the New World Order (NWO) are coming from, what they are controlling, how they create CHAOS to bring the "Order of Slavery out of Chaos" that they are trying to trap the masses into and the Occult culture they secretly practice along with the front organizations they have created. You will understand why USURY and giving false measure is forbidden in the true Torah, Bible and the Quran (and other books). Also, the real anti-Semites will be exposed in this book; they are today's Illuminati Zionists! (Quotes from Zionists and ex-Zionists are presented later).

I highly recommend this book as a must for all universities in their studies of all the major components of human activities such as World history, political science, business, journalism, economics, legislation, religion, Satanism, the crime and terrorism of wars, drug trafficking, corporate crimes, murders, alleged suicides, child abuse, declining moral values, slavery, freedom, liberty, education and propaganda, civil rights, individual rights, international affairs, science & technology, consumer products, mafias and secret societies, and sociology. These are interlinked, like the pieces of a complex puzzle, around the controllers of money. This book is about REALITY. It could just as well have been named any of the following possible titles as being "right on the money" about the history of "money-pulation": "The Web of Grand Deception" or "The Web of World Control" or "The Web of The New World Order", "The Matrix of Mass Deception" or "Reality Uncovered" or "The Mother of all Deceptions!", "The Hidden or Secret History" or "How Mankind is being Controlled" or "Descent into Slavery", "How The Masses are Enslaved?" or "The Illusion of Democracy and Freedom!", "Where there's Money there's War!" or "From the Holy Grail to the Oily Grail: a Slimy Trail!", "How the Masses are being Fooled by the Elites!" or "The Matrix of Evil", "Return to Tyranny, Serfdom & Slavery" or "Hidden Pyramids of Tyranny" or "The Pyramid of Manipulation", "From The Synagogue of Satan to The Bank of Satan" or "The New World Order Cultists", "Why Usury is Forbidden?" or "The Forbidden History of Money" or "The Horrible Consequences of Usury", "Everything you wanted to know about Money & Usury but were afraid to find out!", "From the Old World to the New World to the New World Order" or "Illuminati Studies".

Once you have moved past the stunning effects of what you will discover in this book, you may feel a sense of mental freedom and you will realize that you have been a victim of mass-media and educational system brainwashing from which you have been released after reading this book. Many things and people are not what they appear to be; rather, they really are what they appear not to be! You'll also be surprised to learn that the real anti-Semites are the Illuminati Zionists. Many photographs and illustrations and references are provided to satisfy the desire for truth and knowledge. Give yourself a lot of time to read this book in case you are unable to stop reading once you get into it! You may find that some information is repeated in several sections; this is for emphasis and to facilitate our recollections, and also just in case you skipped reading some sections. There are a great variety of topics covered in this book, i.e. from mega-banking dynasties to economic frauds to monopoly-capitalism (= communism = fascism) to secretive societies to power politics to election frauds to Occultism and its associated symbolism to intelligence agencies to war crimes and to the oil-soaked, spy-riddled monopoly press. Why? Because, just like our natural eco-systems, these topics are an interconnected web (that's right, this web was there before Al Gore invented the World Wide Web!). This web is used to control, deceive and fool the masses while holding them in economic slavery so that the mega-rich can keep on toying with & cheating the masses and so that they can go on amassing more and more of the World's resources, i.e. this is a real web or matrix of mass-deception (this web does have an effect on the web formed by our eco-system in terms of massive pollution)!

"There is something behind the Throne greater than the King himself." Sir William Pitt, House of Lords, 1770.

"The World is governed by very different personages from what is imagined by those who are not behind the scenes." Benjamin Disraeli, Jewish English Statesman, 1844.

"The real truth of the matter is that a financial element in the large centers has owned the government since the days of President Andrew Jackson." Franklin D. Roosevelt, US President, 1933, who was part of the cabal as he ordered all gold confiscated at a low price.

"Under the Federal Reserve Act, panics are scientifically created. The present panic is the first scientifically created one, worked out as we figure a mathematical equation." Charles Lindbergh, Congressman, 1929, as US society was reduced to squalor.

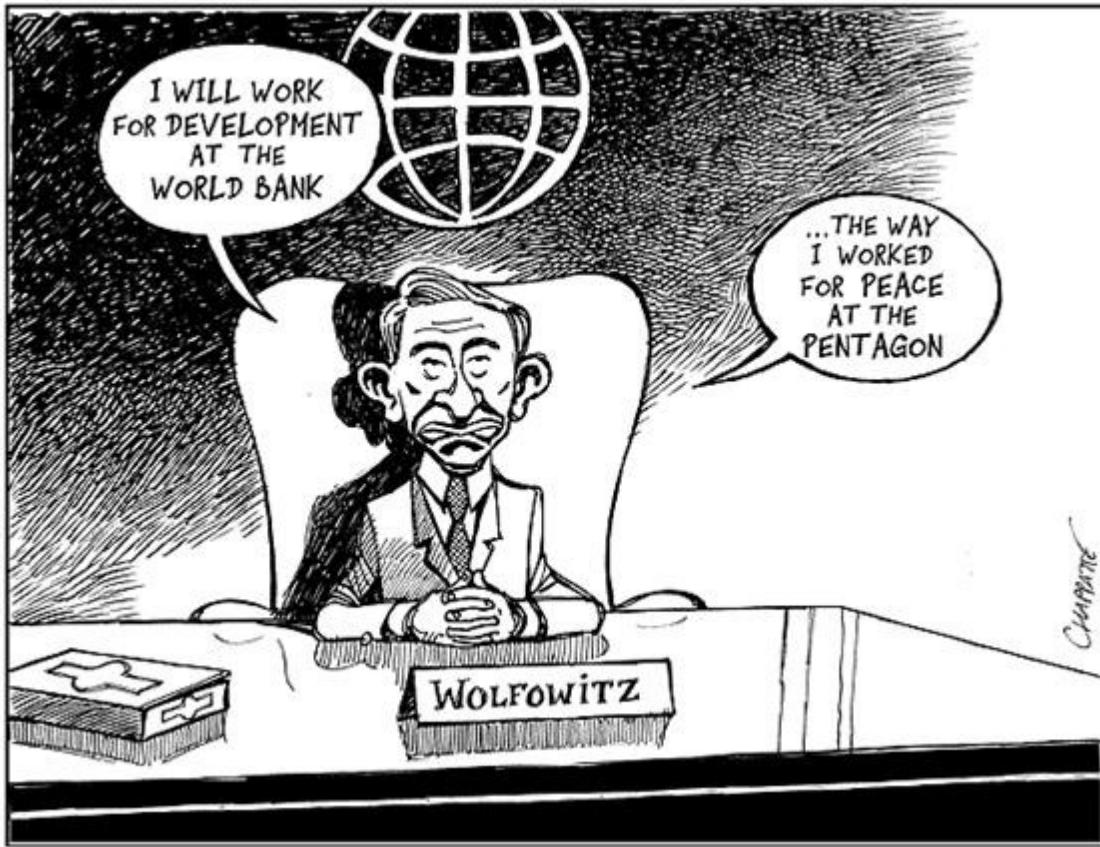

"It was a carefully contrived occurrence. International Banker sought to bring about a condition of despair, so that they might emerge the Rulers of us all." Louis McFadden, Congressman, 1935.

On July 10th, 1832 President Jackson said the following about the danger of a central bank...."It is not our own citizens only who are to receive the bounty of our government. More than eight millions of the stock of this bank are held by foreigners... is there no danger to our liberty and independence in a bank that in its nature has so little to bind it to our country? ... Controlling our currency, receiving our public moneys, and holding thousands of our citizens in dependence... would be more formidable and dangerous than a military power of the enemy."

SARTRE – November 14, 2010

"The Rothschilds, and that class of money-lenders of whom they are the representatives and agents - men who never think of lending a shilling to their next-door neighbors, for purposes of honest industry, unless upon the most ample security, and at the highest rate of interest - stand ready, at all times, to lend money in unlimited amounts to those robbers and murderers, who call themselves governments, to be expended in shooting down those who do not submit quietly to being robbed and enslaved". Lysander Spooner

Global Gulag

Nothing is more destructive on the planet than the insidious enslavement of humanity at the hands of central banks. The concept of debt created money violates every axiom of logic and common sense. Self-interest should be a primordial instinctive drive. Christendom once condemned usury through a papal prohibition that it was a sin to charge interest on a money loan. The Qur'an teaches, "The usury that is practiced to increase some people's wealth, does not gain anything at God". However, the Hebrew Bible makes an exception, Deuteronomy 23:21 "Unto a foreigner thou mayest lend upon interest; but unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon interest".

Where is the self-interest of the masses that accepts the ruthless theft from the ultimate crime? The helplessness of individuals to resist the cabal of greed is obvious. The literal acceptance of rabbinical Talmudic opportunism is the basis of central banking deception. Let's be perfectly clear, When Victims Rule provides the contrast.

Who created the sham of central banking? What is the justification to create money and charge interest for its use? Even more offensive, how were governments swindled into allowing private monopolies the function of loaning fiat money (produced by a ledger entry) to the State? What became of state sovereignty? The notion that a central bank demands an obligation from the government to allow money placed into circulation is not only absurd but is hideous.

The history of central banking is well defined. The refusal to focus on the controllers of the world's money hoax is a requirement to engage in meaningful commerce. Governments serve central banks. The banksters share the iniquity of the Khazari tradition. The rest of us are all foreigners to the cult of the Tempter.

Escalate the deception from the personal level to the community of nations. The recent G 20 fiasco in Seoul illustrates that the scheme to subjugate countries under the bonds of phony debt is getting old. This video explains well the laws of economics.

Asians are blessed from being condemned to the insane victim devotion that Western culture has sunk in the last century. The poor bankers worship in their hedge fund temples. Governments beg for sustenance from the synagogue of quantitative easement.

One can never fault for a lack of creativity, such a nasty trick. Foreigners will pay the highest price and brothers will get relief from the policy benefits that are always a condition for allowing governments to borrow additional phantom money. A nice gig if you can get it for a tribe of respectable merchants from the Venetian heritage.

Enough is enough! The global free trade/transnational economic plague all depends upon rolling over higher levels of debt that accrue more interest for the privately owned banking cartels. This larceny is not natural, but the evil nature of the banksters is genetic. Central banking based upon debt created money must be eliminated. Sounds radical but this requirement is entirely traditional, at least for civilizations that foster a meaningful degree of state and individual sovereignty.

The author Eustace Mullins is the definitive source on the SECRETS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE - The London Connection. His video The Federal Reserve & Central Banking System is a must view. His recent passing does not diminish the force of his analysis. A perceptive article Monetary Gold, SDR's and the BIS explains the following,

A perceptive article Monetary Gold, SDR's and the BIS explains the following, "The official currency unit of the Bank for International Settlements itself is the SDR. The BIS, of course, and its member central banks and private individuals/corporations (until they were bought out in 2001) is the father of the IMF. The BIS also holds "Investment Accounts" or IA's for the IMF since 2005. These are international loans and investments that the IMF pays the BIS to run. The SDR itself took the position as official unit of the BIS from no other than the gold* Swiss franc in 2003 (*more on that shortly). As we know, the SDR's are "a potential claim on the freely usable currencies of IMF members"--55 of which are subject to the central banks that own the BIS.

This is how it works: the BIS is creating up SDR's. The BIS is taking national currency deposits from the 55 member/owner central banks and converting them to SDR's on its own balance sheet. The SDR's are "claims on the freely usable currencies of IMF members," therefore, the deposits of the central banks become claims on those currencies--the deposits of the fiat central banks who can deposit as much as they feel at the BIS in whatever currency they chose--including the SDR's allotted to their "nation," as the central banks are the sole depositories for the national wealth/sellers of the national debt. The BIS is then paying out dividends to these same member CB's in the form of SDR's, which again can be used to claim currencies. By August 2009, they had just made up out of thin air almost twelve times the supposed global supply of SDR's. They are truly acting like the "central bank of the world," complete with printing!"

The significance is that a modified SDR with an unredeemable (for individuals) gold backing component as a substitute for currency recalls is being floated out as an alternative for the failed Federal Reserve IOU Note. All the time the underlying debt obligation would just be rolled over into a new dodge to keep the Ponzi scheme afloat. How is this ploy any different from Shakespeare's quid-essential money-monger?

SHYLOCK: The Merchant of Venice | Act I, Scene III

This kindness will I show:
Go with me to a notary, seal me there
Your single bond; and, in a merry sport,
If you repay me not on such a day,
In such a place, such sum, or sums, as are Express'd in the condition, let the forfeit
Be nominated for an equal pound
Of your fair flesh, to be cut off and taken
In what part of your body pleaseth me. [through wars maybe?]

This is the essence of central banking. It uses debt created money from nothing (i.e. counterfeiting) to rob societies, manipulate economies and maintain perpetual indebtedness. Human bondage is permanent under the reign of loan shark banking dynasties. Apply this same standard against the central banks, but instead of settling for a mere pound, set your sights at repossessing the wealth of generations stolen from the labor and ingenuity of freemen by the cabal of iniquity.

Combating this global gulag demands bold and inventive resistance. Break away from all financial instruments. Get out of debt; everyone is already in a virtual bankruptcy. Convert into real assets that have liquidity outside the banking system. Reduce your expenditures, increase your savings and lower your taxable income, while building up bartered reserves. Hard times are here and will get only worse, prepare as time allows.

Governments are subservient to money dominance as long as they accept the central banking illusion that money can only be issued under a debt obligation paid to bankers. The remaining few thinking individuals are able to understand this basic principle. Politicians dispel this wisdom, economists apologize for fractional reserve banking and the average taxpayer sinks deeper in debt – personally and as a citizen of their country of residence.

War is the favored tool of the oligopoly financial magicians. They set the wheels in motion to detract from economic collapse when the sheeple have no more wool to shear. They build even higher, the debt corridor under the guise of national survival. How quaint! This formula works well and serves to consolidate the money moguls design on planetary serfdom.

Revolution against the financial banking houses combats the enslavers. The House of Rothschild is more than a symbol; it is a curse on civilization. A revolt against central banking masters is the redress mission that humanity requires to unleash individual dignity and economic freedom. Take back national sovereignty with the repudiation of the illicit debt and issue constitutional U.S. Dollar specie. This is a moral war, which needs to be fought ..

.

SARTRE – November 14, 2010

"The central bank is an institution of the most deadly hostility existing against the Principles and form of our Constitution. I am an Enemy to all banks discounting bills or notes for anything but Coin. If the American People allow private banks to control the issuance of their currency, first by inflation and then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around them will deprive the People of all their Property until their Children will wake up homeless on the continent their Fathers conquered". Thomas Jefferson

A 'USURY-FREE' MONETARY SYSTEM IS THE SOLUTION TO AMERICA'S ECONOMIC WOES! By Rocky Montana - Nov. 5, 2010

History is a time-honored teacher. It has shown us that both "charging interest for a loan of money", and "loaning money that does not exist" are unsound financial principles, having led to the ruination of empires and the corruption of men, and have led America to the edge of financial apocalypse. Taking the toys away from the greedy children (the Federal Reserve and its member banks) is the only way this nation and economy will permanently recover and survive its financial woes.

"Greed" and "the love of money" have been selfish and destructive traits of men throughout history. These traits have been amplified, however, by the allowance of the principles of "Usury" and "Fractional Reserve Banking" through the Federal Reserve. "Usury" is the act of lending money at an rate of interest or an exorbitant rate of interest. It was used by the money changers in ancient Babylon and was a major factor leading to the demise of that civilization. Usury is a debt-money system, a "zero-sum game", a "win-lose game" where one gains at another's expense; where the loser is the borrower and usually the one least able to pay the loan back with interest. It is a system where those who have been empowered to loan money (the Federal Reserve, member central banks and other International banks) win, and the people and nations who borrow their money lose. It is a rigged game where the rich get richer and the poor get poorer.

"Fractional Reserve Banking" is the act of lending out several times the amount of money a bank has on deposit. It was also used by the money changers in ancient Babylon and was also a major factor leading to the demise of that civilization.

These two tools have been used by International Bankers (the Federal Reserve Bank, their member central banks, and other banks around the world) to create an unfair advantage over the American people and nations and people of the world, thereby accumulating great wealth for this small group of men at everyone else's expense. The Federal Reserve has burdened the U.S. government and the American people with the greatest amount of debt in all of recorded history for too long! It is insanity to allow this to continue!

America must rid itself of the "Babylon usury system" if we are ever to reclaim our nation from the International Bankers (the present-day money changers). The solution is two-fold:

1. Repeal the Federal Reserve Act and abolish the Federal Reserve Note (the current, usury-based, debt-money instrument we call the dollar). Abolish their two tools ("Usury" and "Fractional Reserve Banking").
2. Restore the U.S. constitutional responsibility of Congress to print "usury-free" U.S. money (thus replacing the "debt-money" system with a "usury-free", "fractional reserve banking-free" U.S. dollar system).

This will restore America's economic system and will reverse 100 years of financial suffering of the people of this country over a period of a few years. It will be the beginning of a "win-win" financial system that benefits every American citizen, not just the few insiders who take advantage of others for financial gain. It will drive the greedy, present-day money changers out of our nation, and provide a positive example to the rest of the world to emulate.

Below are cautionary tales from history; quotations warning man against the use of the "Babylon usury system". We have not heeded these warnings and, therefore, have allowed this adversarial tool and the present-day "money changers" (The Federal Reserve Banking system and International Bankers) to rob us of our prosperity and make debt slaves out of our present and future generations. Will we, now, finally listen and learn the lesson of the ages?

Aristotle (384-322 BC) formulated the classical view against usury. Aristotle understood that money is sterile; it doesn't beget more money the way cows beget more cows. He knew that "Money exists not by nature but by law"..."The most hated sort (of wealth getting) and with the greatest reason, is usury, which makes a gain out of money itself and not from the natural object of it. For money was intended to be used in exchange but not to increase at interest. And this term interest (tokos), which means the birth of money from money is applied to the breeding of money because the offspring resembles the parent. Wherefore of all modes of getting wealth, this is the most unnatural." (1258b POLITICS)

And he especially disliked usurers: "...those who ply sordid trades, pimps and all such people, and those who lend small sums at high rates. For all these take more than they ought, and from the wrong sources. What is common to them is evidently a sordid love of gain..." (1122a, ETHICS)

From the Bible: "Thou shalt not lend upon usury to thy brother; usury of money, usury of victuals, usury of any thing that is lent upon usury."-- Deuteronomy 23:19

"He that hath not given forth upon usury, neither hath taken any increase, that hath withdrawn his hand from iniquity, hath executed true judgment between man and man, Hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my judgments, to deal truly; he is just, he shall surely live, saith the Lord GOD."--Ezekiel 18:8-9

"Thou shalt not give him thy money upon usury, nor lend him thy victuals for increase."--Leviticus 25:37

DANIEL'S VISION: "Daniel was given a vision of the Babylonian succession of world powers. The vision was an image of a man with a head of gold, representing Babylon itself, arms of silver representing Medo-Persia, body of brass representing Greece, and legs of iron representing Rome. The feet were mixed iron and clay. A stone "cut out without hands" was to come out of heaven and destroy this system by striking it at the feet, "at the time of the end" after it secretly gained control of the world, therefore becoming "MYSTERY, Babylon the Great, the whore that sitteth upon many waters (nations) committing fornication with the Kings of the earth." -- (Rev. 18-3)

Archaeological searches have uncovered much evidence of Babylon's social and economic systems which were very similar to ours of today. For instance, the Igibi Bank was found with thousands of clay tablet 'notes' and interest (usury) bearing contracts which served as their money.

Babylon loaned much money at interest (usury) to Persia which, of course, Persia could not repay. Therefore, Persia conquered Babylon to eliminate its debt and acquire Babylon's gold.

Persia adopted the Babylonian usury system and loaned Greece much money at interest (usury). Greece, of course, could not repay the debt and conquered Persia to eliminate its debt and acquire the gold in Persia.

Greece adopted the Babylonian usury system and loaned Rome much money at interest (usury). Rome, of course, could not repay the debt and conquered Greece to eliminate its debt and acquire the gold in Greece.

After the fall of Imperial Rome, the various nations of Europe were kept in bondage and poverty by the ABs (International Bankers) for many centuries, known as the DarkAges."--Phoenix Journal 53, "Tangled Webs - If There Be "Will" There Be "Way"

In interview, Steve Zarlenga of the Monetary Institute tackles the idea of "what is money" ... Aristotle summarizes in one line what money is when he says 'Money exists not by nature, but by law'. Aristotle is differentiating money from wealth – money is not something that is produced on a farm, or the gold and silver that comes out of a mine. Wealth can be made into money, but it is the law that does that. In Aristotle's terminology, money is a legal power of society – and once you understand that, you realize we have the power to overcome very distressful situations. The battle line is always the same, going all the way back through Aristotle's time and throughout American monetary history – will the monetary system be controlled by the society or privately. If it's controlled privately, they will run it for their own benefit, not for society. The key is this – the way that society defines money will determine who controls it. For example, if money is defined as wealth; gold and silver as one case, then who's going to control it?...the wealthy. They will not only control the wealth, they will control the system – which they should not. If it's defined as credit or debt, which is the way our society presently defines money, then those in control of the credits and debts are going to be in control – and that is the bankers. If you use Aristotle's concept of money – that it's a feature of the legal social system, then the society has the potential to control it and benefit the whole society. In the words of our Constitution...to promote the general welfare. I think this is the most important battle we face and may determine if we survive as a species."

The Federal Reserve is out of the control from Congress and has been manipulating the American economy for nearly 100 years. The time has come for Congress to TAKE AMERICA BACK and repeal the Federal Reserve Act, and replace it with America's original "usury-free" monetary system. A "usury-free" monetary system will restore America back to financial prosperity and remove the incentive of the owners [Rothschilds] of the Federal Reserve (the present-day "money-changers") to stay in this country.

The "usury-free" monetary system was used in the original colonies and was the main reason for their financial success. Conversely, the outlawing of this system by the King of England was a [THE] major cause for the American Revolution. The "usury-free" monetary system was also used by both president Abraham Lincoln and John Kennedy administrations for brief periods, cut short by the assassinations of both presidents. After each of these assassinations, the "usury-free" monetary system, initiated, was quickly replaced with the "Babylon usury system" of the "money-changers".

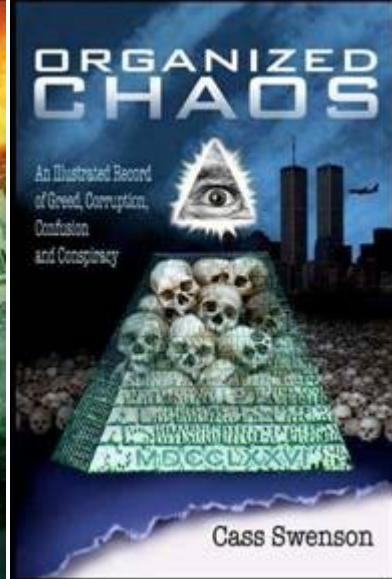

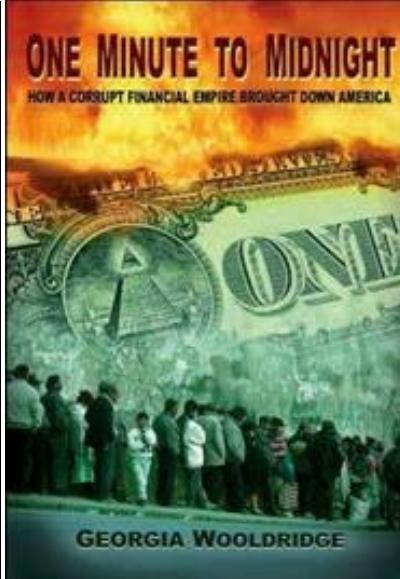

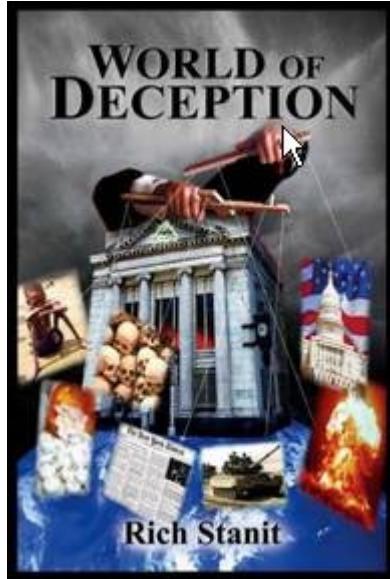

There are no coincidences in politics. But for those brief periods of the "usury-free Lincoln Greenbacks" and "usury-free Kennedy dollars" the American economy recovered and began to flourish. The prosperity achieved by use of the "usury-free" monetary system in America is proof-positive that this system WORKS! So what are we waiting for? Must America wait until it is too late--for financial Armageddon to occur before it takes action? Will all of our presidents be forever intimidated by the "money-changers" to take positive action as did Lincoln and Kennedy? Americans will stand WITH any president and Congress who will take positive action. America needs a "usury-free" monetary system and it needs it NOW!--

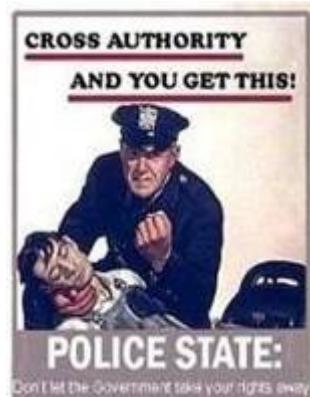

Past governor of Minnesota, Jesse Ventura investigated what caused the financial meltdown and how the rich and powerful continue to manipulate and control what happens to the economy, so they can make billions at the expense of the tax payer. Links to a few 2 minute video clips, or the entire program, provide essential information in an entertaining, easy to understand manner.

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AvaGbb6PNbl&feature=related>

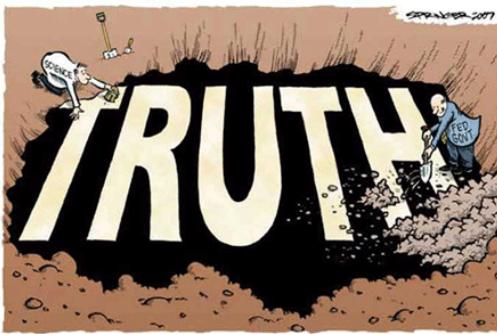

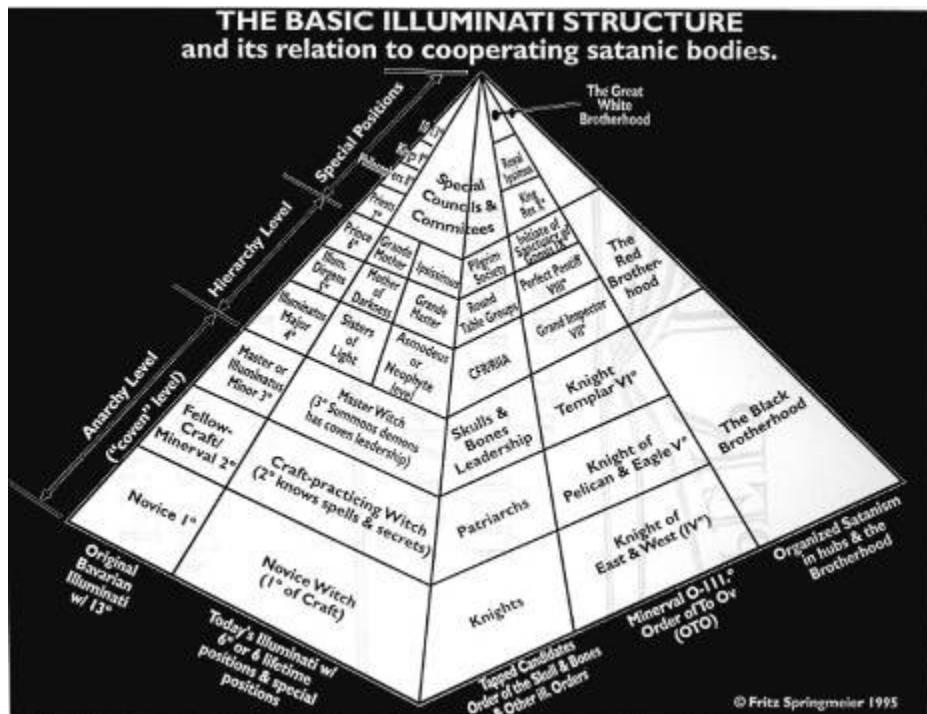

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fuo6Mo1kH28&feature=related>

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8wRfuAUubT0&feature=related>

"Suppose they gave a war, and no one came?" - John Lennon

Frank Zappa Quote "The illusion of freedom [in America] will continue as long as it's profitable to continue the illusion. At the point where the illusion becomes too expensive to maintain, they will just take down the scenery, they will pull back the curtains, they will move the tables and chairs out of the way and you will see the brick wall at the back of the theater."

Introduction to The History of Money

There Was A Time When Man Was Free, When There Was No Money

Before gangsters started monopolizing ownership of the Earth's land and resources, man would be born free and live free. When feudal gangsters monopolized land, they also enslaved the peasants. Then, these feudal gangsters created the only thing that man ever created, i.e. money. Everything other than money is built with labour, ingenuity and materials, but money credits are just created out of thin air by the self-appointed banking gangsters or banksters. When the serfs and knaves were "emancipated", they remained in servitude to these feudal gangsters through usury, taxes and inflation. Now, everyone is born indebted to the banksters. This will be explained in detail throughout the Hidden History of Money and New World Order Usury Secrets. The following videos illustrate the point very well: <http://yannone.blogspot.com/2008/11/most-dangerous-video-on-internet.html>, <http://tinyurl.com/5hqbln> , <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dJqSsrFDISa>.

State capitalism, socialism, communism, fascism, democracy - these are all human livestock management approaches on the plantation called EARTH. Rulers have also recognized that if they prevent you from fleeing the farm, you will become depressed, inert and unproductive. A serf is the most productive when he imagines he is free. Thus your rulers must provide you the illusion of freedom in order to harvest you most effectively.

Thus you are "allowed" to leave - but never to real freedom, only to another farm, because the whole World is a farm. They will prevent you from taking a lot of money, they will bury you in endless paperwork, they will restrict your right to work -- but you are "free" to leave. Due to these difficulties, very few people do leave, but the illusion of mobility is maintained. If only 1 out of 1,000 cows escapes, but the illusion of escaping significantly raises the productivity of the remaining 999, it remains a net gain for the farmer.

You are also kept on the farm through licensing. The most productive livestock are the professionals, so the rulers fit them with an electronic dog collar called a "license," which only allows them to practice their trade on their own farm.

To further create the illusion of freedom, in certain farms, the livestock are allowed to choose between a few farmers that the investors present. At best, they are given minor choices in how they are managed. They are never given the choice to shut down the farm, and be truly free.

Government schools are indoctrination pens for livestock. They train children to "love" the farm, and to fear true freedom and independence, and to attack anyone who questions the brutal reality of human ownership. Furthermore, they create jobs for the intellectuals that state propaganda so relies on.

"I place economy among the first and most important virtues, and public debt as the greatest of dangers. To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt." -- Thomas Jefferson, 1743-1826

"Until the National Debt is paid off, the other problems facing our country will remain unsolved. Compound Interest is the 'Eighth Wonder Of The World' and it can bring a nation to its knees." --- C. Morgan Cofer, 1926-?

Note that most bankruptcies are due to usury and that most frauds are due to the limited liability laws which protect wrongdoers. Taxpayers always bail out the Elite's banks. The Elite criminals are well protected.

"We hang the petty thieves and appoint the great ones to public office." Aesop

"There are none so enslaved than those who falsely believe they are free [due to the Elite's mass propaganda]" – Goethe

The authorities keep playing with interest rates and taxes on behalf of the elite criminal mafia. Interest rates and taxes determine how much of your labor goes to them and what you're left with to spend on your own. The elite enslave you with your own money buying propaganda and legislation. You have to convert real goods and money to their vaporware ledger/paper money to live. You always inherit their eternal collectivized debt. Money always trickles up to them. Their capital is our debt. When they gamble with derivates/short sells/etc., we have to bail them out. Whereas the financial system is meant to safeguard the credit of the nation, their financial system is a giant Las Vegas type of gambling house with the People's Treasury being their slush fund. They create bubbles and pull out before the crashes. They think of you as their slave to do with you as they wish like drafting you as a slave to go fight wars for them to profit. Its socialism for the elite and survival of the fittest for the others. The elite follow the cruel Babylonian philosophies. By their deeds shall you know them.

Remember this statement: "When the government fears the people, you have liberty. When the people fear the government [or the IRS, for that matter], you have Tyranny." (Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence of the United States)

Reason and courage will set us free. You do not have to be livestock. As in the Matrix, take the red pill. Wake up. The truth will set your soul free.

"Is it not obvious that there are serious defects in our banking system and our tax system that deprive most of us of fundamental rights and bestow enormous privileges on others? How many riots must we endure? How many prisons must we build? How many of our rights must we lose? How many of our young people must be sent away to fight in foreign wars before we decide that enough is enough?" -- Robert de Fremery - (1916-2000)

In our exploration of the "Hidden History of Money", we will be exposing the biggest problem facing mankind, i.e. the creeping slavery of the feudal elite-imposed financial system or order (or disorder!) since Ancient Babylon and Roman times in which the BankLords have the power to create money by merely issuing paper credits, using us the people as their collateral or chattel, at no liability to themselves thus transferring their liabilities onto us all while they enjoy the mega-profits, through the central banking cartels and the local banks which they own. The related history of land & natural resources usury/distribution and other fraudulent/dishonest/immoral legislations is not covered in this book and you may refer to <http://www.satangovernment.com/book.php?book=1&chapter=toc> on Satan's Government and The New World Order <http://www.satangovernment.com/book.php?book=2&chapter=toc>.

We will show how seemingly respectable institutions that are bleeding the World dry have been set up, and how they maintain an air of respectability through clever use of dishonest legislation (legalized organized crime), hence the political dimension, and through clever use of distractions, hence the propaganda and news control dimension. The best distraction and the best way to reorganize for an empire is a war; wars are the largest form of premeditated organized crime. Most politicians and major news outlets work for the same Illuminati bosses, i.e. they don't work in the interest of the people! We will also be looking at how the privatization of the production and issuance of currency from nothing at no liability to the issuer, i.e. the masses bear the liability and then the charging of interest on it has been turned into a means of eternally making huge profits, ownership and control for a given parasitical unproductive few at the expense of the rest of us who are thrown into a rat race for the pleasure of the Banksters. We will explain later that issuing money from nothing at interest creates a perpetual debt-loop from generation to generation with the Banking legalized counterfeiting gangsters getting eternally richer and the masses winding up working for the neo-feudal robber baron Banksters.

Let's learn the hidden history of how the current enslaving economic system was created by the secretive forces of the banking dynasties working to bring about a tyrannical New World Order. Well known leaders, Presidents, Senators, Congressman, Supreme Court Justices, journalist, economists, politicians, spiritual prophets, and many others, throughout the World's history, have condemned this bondage. We will see who are behind every Presidential & other assassinations, who are behind the depressions and boom market cycles, behind wars and terrorism, why we have to pay enslaving taxes and why we have to work harder and harder to make ends meet in an imposed cutthroat competitive environment (a bit like where the gladiators have to kill each other for the pleasure of the emperor) while the BankLords and their collaborators get richer and more powerful as the centralized control of their fascist New World Order takes shape.

Who is implementing what Machiavelli described as "rulers who preach might makes right", "order comes from chaos", "good comes from evil", and "the end justifies the means"? Ever wonder why some many interesting and key people get assassinated, disappear or meet mysterious accidental deaths, or supposedly commit suicide in a gruesome way (about 20,000 US murders annually; notice how the witnesses to Ariel Sharon's war crimes at Sabra and Shatila were killed after war crimes tribunal were initiated against Sharon)? Or why some many witnesses have been intimidated by officials? Or why so many criminals are let loose or pardoned? Or why so many innocents are framed? Or why is there so much false testimony? Or why so many children are kidnapped? Why did the British Royal family want to hide their German Zionist bloodline by changing their name from The House of Battenberg to the House of Windsor during WW1? Why have some officials been promoted instead of getting fired after the 1st WTC attack in 1993, after the Waco attack, after the Oklahoma City bombing, after the 2001 WTC attack? Why are so many government documents kept from the public? Why do certain officials admit to doing things that don't add up (have they been threatened into admission? Shades of inquisition where people were tortured into admitting blasphemy!) What are these guys hiding???

Why are lies and deceptions the method of operations for so many politicians and company executives? It serves to confuse the masses, i.e. the rulers pretend to do and support one thing and implement the opposite! Of course, one could be a skeptic, but let's be skeptic about liars such as Bush, Cheney, Powell, Rumsfeld, Wolfowitz, Perle, Bolton, Ashcroft, Rice, Myers, Blair, Sharon, CIA, Mossad, Hitler, Mussolini, Franco, Stalin, Lenin, Karl Mordecai Marx, Engels, Mao, Rothschilds, Rockefellers, etc., and their bosses, the Illuminati dark clan aristocrats and nobility, through whose orders and ideas millions of people have been killed, tortured and rendered refugees during the past two centuries.

"Sound money and free banking are not impossible; they are merely illegal. Freedom of money and freedom of banking ... are the principles that must guide our steps." -- Hans F. Sennholz

One of the most remarkable statements comes from British Lord Sir Josiah (John) Stamp, former director of the Bank of England and 2nd richest man in England in the 1920s said this speaking at the University of Texas in 1927 and repeated it at an address at Central Hall, London 1937, said: "The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented. Banking was started in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the Earth; take it away from them but leave them with the power to create credit, and, with a stroke of the pen, they will create enough money to buy it back again. Take this power away from them and all great fortunes, like mine, would disappear, for then this World would be a happier and better World to live in. But, if you want to be the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then let the Bankers create money and control credit."

Baron Nathan Mayer Rothschild (1777-1836) London financier, one of the founders of the international Rothschild banking dynasty: "I care not what puppet is placed on the throne of England to rule the Empire, ...The man that controls Britain's money supply controls the British Empire. And I control the money supply."

Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild (1744-1812): "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

"Give me control over a man's economic actions, and hence over his means of survival, and except for a few occasional heroes, I'll promise to deliver to you men who think and write and behave as I want them to." -Benjamine A. Rooge

A lot of people have already exposed the Rothschild family as the power behind the thrones, and they continue to exert phenomenal influence over the monetary systems of Europe and America. Here is a timeline about the Rothschilds. It is time for Americans and Europeans to stop behaving like frightened children. http://www.iamthewitness.com/DarylBradfordSmith_Rothschild.htm

As explained in the 1800s by German Chancellor Otto Von Bismarck, the problem is the control of the nation's credit by a small private international group, which has used this advantage to build a monopoly (hence the term "monopoly capitalism" = communism = fascism = imperialism) in every key industry. This international group is behind World imperialism. Its totalitarian occult agenda (a.k.a, globalism) is now corporate policy. The victim paradigm typically purveyed by some is to create divisions and divert attention from the Illuminati Bankers and their cartels. It teaches each new generation to be alienated from their country, its culture and economic system, and to become dysfunctional and impotent. The Bankers want Big Government that they centrally control through debt and credit issues. They need the global police state to ensure that no nation defaults on paying homage to them or rebels against their enslavement. The invasion of Iraq is another step in creating the Bankers' "1984" tyranny as predicted by George Orwell in 1948 (note that the price of oil went from $15 to $75 quintupling the $ purchase requirements, i.e. from over $600 million daily to over $3 billion daily, another boom for the Banksters).

"I am afraid that the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that banks can and do create money.....And they who control the credit of the nation [and its citizens and corporations] direct the policy of Governments and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people"....- Reginald McKenna, a past Chairman of the Board, Midlands Bank of England.

"Thus our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend not money, but [false] promises to supply money which they do not possess".....- Irving Fisher, economist & author.

"One thing to realize about our fractional reserve banking system is that like a child's game of musical chairs [i.e. a pyramid ponzi scheme], as long as the music is playing, there are no losers"....- Andrew Gause, Monetary historian.

A lot of people have already exposed the Rothschild family as the power behind the thrones, and they continue to exert phenomenal influence over the monetary systems of Europe and America. Here is a timeline about the Rothschilds. It is time for Americans and Europeans to stop behaving like frightened children. http://www.iamthewitness.com/DarylBradfordSmith_Rothschild.htm

As explained in the 1800s by German Chancellor Otto Von Bismarck, the problem is the control of the nation's credit by a small private international group, which has used this advantage to build a monopoly (hence the term "monopoly capitalism" = communism = fascism = imperialism) in every key industry. This international group is behind World imperialism. Its totalitarian occult agenda (a.k.a, globalism) is now corporate policy. The victim paradigm typically purveyed by some is to create divisions and divert attention from the Illuminati Bankers and their cartels. It teaches each new generation to be alienated from their country, its culture and economic system, and to become dysfunctional and impotent. The Bankers want Big Government that they centrally control through debt and credit issues. They need the global police state to ensure that no nation defaults on paying homage to them or rebels against their enslavement. The invasion of Iraq is another step in creating the Bankers' "1984" tyranny as predicted by George Orwell in 1948 (note that the price of oil went from $15 to $75 quintupling the $ purchase requirements, i.e. from over $600 million daily to over $3 billion daily, another boom for the Banksters).

US Marine General Smedley Butler wrote in his 1935 classic, "War Is a Racket": "I helped make Mexico safe for American oil interests in 1914," "I helped make Haiti and Cuba a decent place for the National City Bank boys to collect revenues in. I helped in the raping of half a dozen Central American republics for the benefit of Wall Street. I helped purify Nicaragua for the International Banking House of Brown Brothers in 1902-1912. I brought light to the Dominican Republic for the American sugar interests in 1916. I helped make Honduras right for American fruit companies in 1903. In China in 1927 I helped see to it that Standard Oil went its way unmolested." Butler acknowledged that he'd spent most of his thirty-three years in the Marines as "a high class muscle man for Big Business, Wall Street and the bankers. In short, I was a racketeer, a gangster for [monopoly] capitalism[ts]."

Have fun and enjoy this book thoroughly (like an action movie, however, this one is not fiction) even though its contents are very serious!!! I'm sure you will feel a sense of enlightenment and raise your understand of & spirit for freedom after reading it. Enjoy this book thoroughly, learn the history that the Illuminati Elite dynasties don't want you to know and become free from the mental juggernaut of the Illuminati oil-soaked monopoly-capitalism press! Whether you are a common person or an Illuminati agent, liberal or conservative, religious or atheist or Occultist, consider yourself de-briefed after reading this book!!!

"The shepherd always tries to persuade the sheep that their interests and his own are the same." – Stendhal

"Fear them not, therefore; for there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; and hidden, that shall not be known...What I tell you in darkness, that espeak in light; and what ye hear in the ear, that proclaim upon the housetops." Matthew

In summary, the current banking and credit system which evolved from the Babylonian Nimrodi and Pharisac setup is enslaving the masses under the servitude of the Illuminati banking dynasties (Rothschild, Rockefeller, etc.) who have usurped the power of issuing/withholding credit at no liability to themselves by using the born and unborn masses' productivity as collateral and plunging all into eternal debt and tribute/homage payments in the form of usury and inflation losses. Total enslavement is coming soon unless these modern power, control and wealth predators and Pharaohs with their Zionist Luciferian Masonic collaborators in the military-industrial-government complex are stopped.

"Men fight for liberty and win it with hard knocks. Their children, brought up easy, let it slip away again; poor fools. And their grand-children are once more slaves." D. H. Lawrence

One of the most remarkable admissions by a banker concerning the mysteries of his profession was made by Sir Josiah Stamp, president of the Bank of England and the second richest man in Britain in the 1920's. Speaking at the University of Texas in 1927, he revealed: "The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented. Banking was conceived in inequity and born in sin. Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them but leave them the power to create money, and with a flick of a pen, they will create enough money to buy it back again. Take this great power away from them and all great fortunes like mine will disappear, for then this would be a better and happier world to live in. But if you want to continue to be the slaves of bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then let bankers continue to create money and control credit."

"There exists a shadowy government with its own Air Force, its own Navy, its own fundraising mechanism, and the ability to pursue its own ideas of national interest, free from all checks and balances, and free from the law itself." — Senator Daniel K. Inouye at the Iran Contra Hearings.

"Beneath the broad tide of human history there flow the stealthy undercurrents of the secret societies, which frequently determine in the depths the changes that take place upon the surface. These societies have existed in all ages and among all nations..." -- Arthur Edward Waite, The Real History Of The Rosicrucians, 1887.

"The study of money, above all other fields in economics, is one in which complexity is used to disguise truth or to evade truth, not to reveal it." - John Kenneth Galbraith, in his book "Money: Whence It Came, Where It Went", 1975

"The most successful tyranny is not the one that uses force to assure uniformity but the one that removes the awareness of other possibilities that makes it seem inconceivable that other ways are viable, that removes the sense that there is an outside." - Allan Bloom "The Closing of the American Mind"

"It was depressing to think mankind was naturally messed up. I find it liberating to know that we are being deliberately sabotaged." Dr. Henry Makow
<http://www.savethemales.ca/180602.html>

Once Voltaire noted: "So long as the people do not care to exercise their freedom, those who wish to tyrannize will do so; for tyrants are active and ardent, and will devote themselves in the name of any number of gods, religious and otherwise, to put shackles upon sleeping men."

President Harry Truman noted: "Once a government is committed to the principle of silencing the voice of opposition, it has only one way to go, and that is down the path of increasingly repressive measures, until it becomes a source of terror to all its citizens and creates a country where everyone lives in fear."

"There was one only good, namely, knowledge; and one only evil, namely, ignorance." - Socrates

"At a time of universal deceit, telling the truth is a revolutionary act" - George Orwell

"There is a principle which is a bar against all information, which is proof against all arguments and which cannot fail to keep a man in everlasting ignorance – that principle is contempt prior to investigation." – Herbert Spencer

"The biggest part of reporting the truth is the news agenda itself. What we choose to put on the air, what we think is a page one story, what our priorities are. I would not be fooled by the old myth that reporting is about objectivity. Deciding what is news is the most subjective of acts and it is probably the most important thing that we do." – Carl Bernstein

"To do evil a human being must first of all believe that what he's doing is good... Ideology - that is what gives devildoing its long-sought justification and gives the evildoer the necessary steadfastness and determination. That is the social theory which helps to make his acts seem good instead of bad in his own and others' eyes, so that he won't hear reproaches and curses but will receive praise and honors." – Alexander Solzhenitsyn

"That there are men in all countries who get their living by war, and by keeping up the quarrels of nations, is as shocking as it is true; but when those who are concerned in the government of a country, make it their study to sow discord, and cultivate prejudices between nations, it becomes the more unpardonable." – Thomas Paine, "The Rights of Man", circa 1792

"Now I understood for the first time that all these problems are caused by a race asleep and thrashing about in its panicked nightmares. There will be wars and holocausts and genocides as long as God is portrayed and thought of as a tight-minded legislator, a feudal lord, an offended King, a hypersensitive Artisan – even if church managers condescendingly tack onto that ridiculous list the not-very-convincing footnote that He is also loving. As long as people dream that they are insecure and needy in some sort of eternal jeopardy, there will be atrocities. But as the human race grows up spiritually, and as individuals gain a personal experience of the God they have been worshipping in fear, they will recognize that much of their theology and philosophy is built on nightmares. That will be the day of peace. I suddenly found myself unwilling to sit it out in the mountains of Utah. I wanted to play an active role in the process of the World's awakening." – George Fowler, "Dance of a Fallen Monk"

I Timothy 6:10, "But they that will be rich, fall into temptation, and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition. For the love of money is the root of all evil...". Money in and of itself is not evil, rather, it is the unrestrained lust for money that is driving people to unimaginable evils and Satanism. Currency that is representative of some commodity has intrinsic value and acts as an impediment or a natural restraint on the temptation to create money from nothing and therefore manipulate value. Greed and absolute power is the underlying motivation of the owners of the privately held central banks that control the economies of the nations of the World. John 8:32 (Bible): "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall set you free."

After reading this book, you'll understand why we are economic slaves of the Illuminati Banking Dynasties or BankLords! You will learn about the privately owned central/local banks who have the power to create money from nothing and that the elites who own the major central banks/local banks are behind the wars, depression, booms and distractions, i.e. misery for the masses. Debt emasculates the borrower and empowers the lender. "Ignorance is the mother of all ills." This book will free us from ignorance.

Winston Churchill: "Men occasionally stumble on the truth, but most of them pick themselves up and hurry off as if nothing had happened". This book is about truth.

"Whoever controls the money, controls the flow of wealth." Fr. Charles Coughlin (1930's populist)

"The spirit of war has been procured by money lenders." --Thomas Jefferson

"War was[is] largely a matter of money." -- Bernard Baruch (leading war profiteer and power broker of both World wars)

Benjamin Disraeli stood up in the UK House of Commons, on July the 14th, in 1856 and made the following pronouncement on the nature and designs of these secret societies and their subversive anti-religious intentions. He said: 'There is in Italy a power which we seldom mention in this House... I mean the secret societies... It is useless to deny, because it is impossible to conceal that a great part of Europe, the whole of Italy and France, and a great part of Germany, to say nothing of other countries, is covered with a network of these secret societies, just as the superficies of the earth are covered with railroads. And what are their objects? They do not attempt to conceal them. They do not want constitutional government, they do not want ameliorated institutions... they want to change the tenure of the land, to drive out the present owners of the soil [e.g. Palestine] and put an end to ecclesiastical establishments. Some may even go further.'

"Why of course the people don't want war ... But after all it is the leaders of the country who determine the policy, and it is always a simple matter to drag the people along, whether it is a democracy, or a fascist dictatorship, or a parliament, or a communist dictatorship ... Voice or no voice, the people can always be brought to the bidding of the leaders. That is easy. All you have to do is to tell them they are being attacked, and denounce the pacifists for lack of patriotism and exposing the country to danger." - Hermann Goering, at the Nuremberg Trials after World War II.

Israel's first prime minister, David Ben-Gurion, was fond of declaring that there is a "collective obligation of all national Zionist Organizations to aid the Jewish state under all circumstances and conditions even if such an attitude clashes with their respective national authorities."

In 1954, U.S. Sen. William Jenner spoke of a well-orchestrated, carefully timed conspiracy to undermine the American government. Although the Senator alluded to communism and socialism, these red herrings have for decades served as calculated diversions from a larger conspiracy: the Illuminati and its Secret Brotherhood of New World Order planners. Senator Jenner may have suspected this when he spoke of an "established timetable" with "precisely measured parts":

"We have a well organized political action group in this country, determined to destroy our Constitution and establish a one party state... (It has a) foothold within our Government, and its own propaganda apparatus...One may call this group by many names. Some people call it socialism, some communism, some collectivism. I prefer to call it 'democratic centralism.' ... The important point to remember is not its ideology but its organization. It is a dynamic, aggressive, elite corps, forcing its way through every opening, to make a breach for a collectivist one-party state. It operates secretly, silently, continuously to transform our Government without our suspecting the change is under way... This secret revolutionary corps understands well the power to influence the people...by an elegant form of brainwashing... We see this, for example, in the innocent use of words like 'democracy' in place of 'representative government'.... It conducts tactical retreats but only the more surely to advance its own secret goal...I know of the Alger Hisses who planned it that way... Dr. Wirt, of my State, told us in 1934 that the plans were all drawn, The timetable established... the revolutionary cabal and its allies... designated the overall strategy. They broke the whole up into precisely measured parts and carefully timed moves, which appear to be wholly unrelated... They will use every ally, to prevent the American people from guessing how far the transformation had gone..." (20)

On July 14, 1992, during his acceptance speech at the Democratic convention, then candidate Bill Clinton told the American people that he knew there was an "international network" at work in the World, and that "he had no aversion to it." He said that he owed his start in politics to a professor that he had at Georgetown University named Carroll Quigley. Professor Quigley wrote a 1348 page book entitled TRAGEDY AND HOPE while Clinton was a student there (1966) in which he said: "There does exist an international Anglophile [Illuminati] network which operates in the way the radical Right believes the Communists act. In fact, this network has no aversion to cooperating with the Communists and frequently does so. I HAVE NO AVERSION TO IT." We'll explain why we need to have aversion to it because this international network usurps our credit, is looting us and steadily reducing our freedoms.

When a populistic country conquers many other countries, its political system usually becomes very stable and oligarchic. The reason is that any instability or political upheaval could give the country's colonies opportunity to win independence. Great income from colonies makes other citizens of the empire (who participate in that income) more agreeable to a "frozen" political system, and the rule of a very narrow elite of elders (gerontocracy, dark clan/black nobility/feudals, illuminati).

"The individual is handicapped by coming face-to-face with a conspiracy so monstrous he cannot believe it exists." -J. Edgar Hoover, one of the past FBI directors.

The Illuminati conspiracy can be summed up in one sentence: the manipulation of humanity's imagination of itself.

So let's cast off the mental chains from the lifelong propaganda we have been subject to since birth and let's start an unrestrained and free journey into the real history and find the real varmints. This book is only the tip of the iceberg of information and should help you get the picture, but there is a lot more to discover!

Video Documentaries & Books Explain The Fraudulent Monetary System (Wizards of Oz)

I highly recommend viewing the following video documentaries to help you understand The Hidden History of Money:

- <http://video.google.com/videosearch?q=9050474362583451279> Money as Debt
- <http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/article18205.htm> Explaining the banking money fraud
- <http://video.google.com/videosearch?q=money+masters&hl=en> The Money Masters
- <http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-4991544789166784731&q=money+masters&hl=en>
- <http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-2641342891593561909&pl=true> Masters of the Universe - The Secret Birth of the Federal Reserve
- <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RHmfIEATK4E&NR=1> "Cash (Money)" by Prince Charles and the City Beat Band
- <http://video.google.com/videosearch?q=%22monopoly+men%22> Monopoly Men
- <http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-329290799725919064> Collapse of the Federal Reserve: The Second American Revolution
- http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1dp6PuT_eH4 Ring of power"
- <http://www.notjustnotes.ws/howbanksrobyou.htm> Money as debt, how the Banking Dynasties Rob YOU
- <http://www.mecfilms.com/update.htm> <http://www.mecfilms.com/fiat/> FIAT EMPIRE - A Closer Look at the Federal Reserve
- <http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=5232639329002339531&hl=en> FIAT EMPIRE - Why the Federal Reserve Violates the U.S. Constitution
- <http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-1649840529243379722&q=cheney+%2B+rockefeller> Plans of the international bankers to dominate the entire World both economically and politically
- <http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=449294564876413449&q=genre:documentary&total=256924&start=660&num=10&so=0&type=search> The Capitalist Conspiracy: An Inside View ... CFR AND BANKS ... The history.
- <http://www.zeitgeistmovie.com/> THE ANCIENT CONNEXIONS ... WATCH THEM ... THEN CONNECT THE DOTS.
- <http://video.google.ca/videoplay?docid=8667011121551944391&q=eustace+mullins> Eustache Mullins on the Federal Reserve System
- <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=30-WtZTH06o&feature=related> Pastor Rod Parsley – MUST WATCH!
- Edward Griffin interviews 83 year old Norman Dodds in the year 1982 in a rare interview that exposes the New World Orders infiltration by large corporations that are merging the USA into a World government(New World Order). He explains the infiltration of banking and the infiltration of the public education system. Dodd served as an investigator for Congressman Reece's Special Committee on Tax Exempt Foundations (commonly referred to as the Reece Committee). Part 1 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=C8cC21jB9EE>

Books:

- "Currency Wars" is a book by Song Hongbing released recently. http://shanghaiist.com/2007/08/19/books_douban_us.php <http://www.gata.org/node/5562> A new Chinese best-seller, "Currency Wars", claims that disparate events spanning two centuries – from the deaths of six US presidents and the rise of Adolf Hitler to the deflation of Japan's bubble economy and the 1997-98 Asian financial crisis - have a single root cause: the control of money issuance by the Rothschild banking dynasty. Even today, claims author Song Hongbing, the US Fed remains a "puppet" of private banks, which also ultimately owe their allegiance to the ubiquitous Rothschilds. The book is estimated to have sold about 600,000, including 200,000 from the publisher, a unit of state-owned CITIC group, and 400,000 pirated copies.
- An Indictment of The Federal Reserve System and Its BankLords MoneyMasters is the complete document in "Ms Word" format of "Billions for the Bankers, Debts for the People" by American Pastor Sheldon Emry. It can be downloaded by or viewed at: <http://www.justiceplus.org/bankers.htm> . This document on banking is very similar to the one written by J. A. Thauberger of Regina in the mid 90s. J.A. Thauberger's version examines corruption at the core of the Canadian monetary system. <http://www.justiceplus.org/conundrum.htm> Billions for the Banker, Debts for the People Americans and Canadians have lost control of their money. How can we get it back?
- The Money Masters explains how international bankers gained control of America <http://users.cyberone.com.au/myers/money-masters.html>
- The Money Trail by Estanislao Carter <http://www.lulu.com/content/137150>
- The Creature of Jekyll Island by G. Edward Griffin : A Second Look at the Federal Reserve: www.amazon.com/Creature-Jekyll-Island-Federal-Reserve/dp/0912986212 <http://www.financialsense.com/transcriptions/2006/1018griffin.html> <http://www.realityzone.com/>
- A FULL Explanation of the Federal Reserve and IRS SCAMS <http://www.wtv-zone.com/Mary/FEDERALRESERVE.HTML>
- Eustache Mullins on the Secrets of the Federal Reserve System and control by operatives of the BankLords military industrial complex <http://www.apfn.org/apfn/reserve.htm>
- David Astle's THE BABYLONIAN WOE, www.omnicbc.com
- <http://www.cyberclass.net/usuryfree.htm> Usury Free Network
- <http://www.devvy.com/> Devvy Kidd's website
- Congressman Dwight Patman's Primer on Money http://www.devvy.com/pdf/2006_October/Patman_Primer_on_Money.pdf
- 1833 William Gouge (advisor to President Andrew Jackson) Principles of the Banking System http://www.devvy.com/pdf/2006_October/GougeOnPaperMoney.pdf
- Ellen Brown's superb book "WEB OF DEBT" <http://www.webofdebt.com>

Note Ellen Brown's explanation on how the Wizard of OZ was an allegory about defeating the Banking Cartel: "According to later commentators, the [Wizard of Oz] tale was actually written as a monetary allegory, at a time when the "money question" was a key issue in American politics. In the 1890s, politicians were still hotly debating who should create the nation's money and what it should consist of. Should it be created by the government, with full accountability to the people? Or should it be created by private banks behind closed doors, for the banks' own private ends?" Unfortunately, upto now, we are losing our freedoms to the Banking Dynasties.

There are many more which can be found on the still free Internet World library.

Overview of Money

Today's dollar is undefined unlike before, where it was defined as being 1/20th of an ounce of gold. Thus, the measure we use to trade goods and services is elastic and not stable. Keep this in mind as you read further.

Money is an essential element or object required to simplify, facilitate and expedite the exchange or trade of goods and services we produce. Money can be any marketable good or token used by a society as a store of value or credit, a medium of exchange, or a unit of account. It could be gold, silver, a piece of paper, a promissory note, a certificate, etc., i.e. anything as long as it is readily accepted by most people in exchange of goods and services they deliver. Since the need arises to exchange goods and services with ease and simplicity, societies create a money object when none exists. In some cases, a central authority creates a money object; this is more frequently the case in modern societies with paper money. However, that central authority has always been under the control of criminal mafias behind the scene who are known as the Money Changers or Banking Dynasties.

Commodity Money

Commodity money bearing intrinsic value was the first form of money to emerge. Under a commodity money system, the object used as money has inherent value. It is usually adopted to simplify transactions in a barter economy; thus it functions first as a medium of exchange. It quickly begins functioning as a store of value, since holders of perishable goods can easily convert them into durable money. In modern economies, commodity money has also been used as a unit of account. Gold-backed currency notes are a common form of commodity money. The supply of the commodity money object, e.g. gold, silver, etc. must be readily available or major issues can arise. Paper receipts can be issued for stored commodity money.

Commodity Money is usually a scarce good that is in continuous demand. Many items have been used as money, from naturally scarce precious metals, shells, etc. through cigarettes to entirely artificial money such as banknotes. Modern money (and most ancient money too) is essentially a token -- an abstraction. Paper currency is perhaps the most common type of physical money abstraction today. On the other hand, goods such as gold or silver retain many of the essential properties of commodity money. However, commodity money is in limited supply and cannot allow an economy to grow.

Token/Fiat Credit Money

The alternative to Commodity Money is Fiat money which is a credit money financial instrument created from "a promise to pay". A central authority creates a new money object that has no intrinsic value, i.e. a piece of paper or ledger/computer account. The public's use of the money exists only because the central authority mandates the money's acceptance under penalty of law. In cases where the public loses faith in the fiat money, the adoption of other substitute commodity money objects will arise.

Today, most money is actually credit money and is referred to as money. Credit money or fiat money is a money substitute and not commodity money proper because it doesn't represent an existing store of value and its value in terms of purchasing power keeps declining. This distinction between money and credit causes much confusion in discussions of monetary theory. In lay terms, credit and money are frequently used interchangeably. Even in economics, credit is often referred to as money. For example, bank deposits are generally included in summations of the national broad money supply. Any detailed study of monetary theory needs to recognize the proper distinction between money and credit.

To function as money in a modern economy, a good or token should possess a number of features, i.e. it must be cheap to transact with, it must have a stable value, it must be difficult to counterfeit, it must be easily storable in a small space without deteriorating, divisible and transportable, and it must be fungible (one artifact of the token or good must be equivalent to another). When using money anonymously, the most common methods are cash (either coin or banknotes tokens) and stored-value cards. When using money substitutes in such a way as to leave a financial record of the transaction, the most common methods are checks, debit cards, credit cards, and digital cash.

If money is kept in a safe and goes unspent, it reduces economic activity and loses its value due to inflation. If money is kept in a bank account, it allows the bank to create credit money as much as 9 to 10 times the deposit amount. The amount of money in an economy directly affects inflation and interest rates and hence has profound effects. A monetary crisis can have very significant economic effects, particularly if it leads to devaluation of a currency or total monetary failure and the adoption of a much less efficient barter economy. Modern economics also faces a difficulty in deciding what exactly 'is' money or money supply. There have been many historical arguments regarding the combination of money's functions.

Note that a dollar in 2006 is not equivalent to a dollar in 2007 due to inflation which we will explain later. Thus, not all dollars are equal although they are alleged to be by the fraudulent banking system. Note that inflation is not "income".

Origins of the Word "MONEY"

The origin of the word "money" comes from the Latin word "moneta", which comes from the temple of Hera Moneta where the Roman money came from in the early days of Rome. In Greek language, "Hera Mone tas" means the lonely Hera ("Mone tas" in Doric Greek, "Mone tes" in Ionic dialect). In ancient mythology, Zeus punished Hera and tied her with a golden chain between earth and sky. Hera, being alone between sky and earth tied with gold, was called moneres or mone ($\mu\omega\nu\eta$) which means lonely, and this is where the word money comes from. Hera, with the help of Hephaestus, broke the golden chain and released herself. It is said that all gold found on earth (which forms approximately a single cube 20 m a side) originates from the fragments of this golden chain, which fell from the sky and became human's mone(y).

Maybe due to this fable, gold was used in ancient Greece only in temples, graves and jewels, and there was not any ancient Greek golden coin until around 390 BC, when the Greek king Philip II of Macedon coined golden coins. The first golden coins in history were coined by Lydian king Croesus around 560 BC. The first Greek coins were made initially of copper, then of iron and this is because copper and iron were powerful materials used to make weapons. Pheidon king of Argos, around 700 BC, changed the coins from iron to a rather useless and ornamental metal, silver, and, according to Aristotle, dedicated some of the remaining iron coins (which were actually iron sticks) to the temple of Hera[1] (<http://www.metrum.org/money/heraion.htm>). King Pheidon coined the silver coins at Aegina, at the temple of the goddess of wisdom and war Athena the Aphaia (the vanisher), and engraved the coins with a Chelone, which is used until nowdays as a symbol of capitalism. Chelone coins[2] (<http://www.snible.org/coins/hn/aegina.html>) were the first medium of exchange that was not backed by a real value good. They were widely accepted and used as the international medium of exchange until the days of Peloponnesian War when the Athenian Drachma replaced them. According to other fables, inventors of money were Demodike (or Hermodike) of Kyme (the wife of Midas), Lykos (son of Pandion II and ancestor of the Lycians) and Erichthonius, the Lydians or the Naxians.

The word money in Greek language is not μόνη (money), it is νόμισμα (nomisma or numisma) which derives from the word νομίζω (nomizo=putative, I think so, I suppose so) and from the word νόμος (nomos=law). So numisma gives the exact meaning and definition of mone(y). It is something we think has value, or something that someone convinced us it has, but in reality it has not. Also, in case we are not convinced that mone(y) has value and we do not recognize the mone(y) making authority, mone(y) is enforced by law for use as the unique medium of exchange in trades. In case an individual or a community refuses to accept mone(y) as the unique medium of exchange, then the powerful mone(y) maker authority, using its monopoly on violence and enforced taxation, steals the real value goods (home, food, transport, energy, labor) that the individual or the community owns. That's why many individuals or communities hide their goods from mone(y)-making authorities. The crime of hiding goods from a mone(y)-making authority is called tax evasion.

One of the words for money in the Hebrew language is mammon. Mammon does have more than one meaning depending on its linguistic and etymological contexts. The Bible gives the word "mammon" a broader context in terms of its socioeconomic, cultural, and theological usages. Mammon, a word of Aramaic origin, means "riches", but has an unclear etymology; scholars have suggested connections with a word meaning "entrusted", or with the Hebrew word "matmon", meaning "treasure". It is also used in Hebrew as a word for "money" - מַמְонָה. The Greek word for "Mammon", mamonas, occurs in the Sermon on the Mount (Matthew vi 24) and in the parable of the Unjust Steward (Luke xvi 9-13). The Authorised Version keeps the Syriac word. Wycliffe uses "richessis". Other scholars derive Mammon from Phoenician "mommon", benefit. Notice that if you consider the word mammon(as) (μαμωνᾶς) as a Greek word and as a composite one (the majority of Greek words are composites), then the two parts "mam-mon(as)" could be explained (in Greek doric) as "lonely mother", which reminds Hera's myth mentioned above. Other explanations could be mamm (means "mother" or "food") -onas (means "a place where you can find mamm"), also -m (means "with") -on (means "being") -as (with Circumflex, means "owner or seller").

"He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes, I will give some of the hidden manna. I will also give him a white vote with a new name written on it, known only to him who receives it." (Book of Revelation 2:17). According to the Book of Revelation, the mark of the beast seems to be a form of money. "And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads: And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name. Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding vote the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man; and his (its) number is Six hundred threescore and six." (Book of Revelation 13:16-13:18)

First Instances of Money

The use of proto-money may date back to at least 75,000 B.C., when shell necklaces were made in Blombos Cave in South Africa. These necklaces would have provided the basic attributes needed of early money. In cultures where metal working was unknown, shell or ivory jewelry were the most divisible, easily storable and transportable, scarce, and hard to counterfeit objects that could be made. It is highly unlikely that there were formal markets in 75,000 B.C. (any more than there are in recently observed hunter-gatherer cultures). Nevertheless, proto-money would have been useful in reducing the costs of less frequent transactions that were crucial to hunter-gatherer cultures, especially bride purchase, splitting property upon death, tribute, and intertribal trade in hunting ground rights ("starvation insurance") and implements. In the absence of a medium of exchange, all of these transactions suffer from the basic problem of barter -- they require an improbable coincidence of wants or events. Shells of the pea-sized snail Nassarius kraussianus. Blombos Cave, South Africa, 75,000 B.C. wear marks indicate the shells were strung on a necklace.

In cultures of any era that lack money, barter and some system of in-kind "credit" or "gift exchange" would be the only ways to exchange goods. Bartering has several problems on small transactions, most notably timing constraints. If you wish to trade fruit for wheat, you can only do this when the fruit and wheat are both available at the same time and place. That may be a very brief time, or it may be never. With an intermediate commodity (whether it be shells, rum, gold, etc.) you can sell your fruit when it is ripe and take the intermediate commodity. You can then use the intermediate commodity to buy wheat when the wheat harvest comes in. Thus the use of money makes all commodities become more liquid. Where trade is common, barter systems usually lead quite rapidly to the emergence of several key goods with monetary properties. In the early British colony of New South Wales in Australia, rum emerged quite soon after settlement as the most monetary of goods. When a nation is without a fiat currency system, it is quite common for the fiat currency of a neighboring nation to emerge as the dominant monetary good. In some prisons where conventional money is prohibited it is quite common for goods such as cigarettes to take on a monetary quality. Gold has emerged naturally from the World of barter again and again to take on a monetary function. It should be noted that the emergence of monetary goods is not dependent on central authority or government. It is a quite natural market phenomenon.

The first instances of money were objects which were useful for their intrinsic value. This was known as commodity money and included any commonly-available commodity that has intrinsic value; historical examples include pigs, rare seashells, whale's teeth, and (often) cattle. In medieval Iraq, bread was used as an early form of currency. Spices have been used as commodity money for long. Definite indications are available that both black and white pepper have been used as commodity money for hundreds of years before Yashuah-Jesus-Issa, as also several centuries thereafter. Being a valuable commodity, pepper has naturally been used as payment. Attila the Hun reportedly demanded 3,000 pounds in weight of pepper in 408 AD as part of a ransom for the city of Rome. In the Middle Ages, there was a French saying, 'As dear as pepper'. In England, rent could be paid in pounds of pepper, and so a symbolic minimal amount is known as a "peppercorn rent". Even in the industrialized World, in the absence of other types of money, people have occasionally used commodities such as tobacco as money. This last happened on a wide scale after World War II when cigarettes became used unofficially in Europe, in parallel with other currencies, for a short time. Precious metals have been a common form of money, such as this gold from Sveriges Riksbank.

Another example of "commodity money" is shell money in the Solomon Islands. Shells are painstakingly chipped into rough circles, filed down, and threaded onto large necklaces, which are then used during marriage proposals; for instance, a father may charge twenty shell money necklaces for his daughter's hand in marriage. One interesting example of commodity money is the huge limestone coins from the Micronesian island of Yap, quarried at great peril from a source several hundred miles away. The value of the coin was determined by its size — the largest of which could range from nine to twelve feet in diameter and weigh several tons. Displaying a large coin, often outside one's home, was a considerable status symbol and source of prestige in that society. (Due to the great inconvenience, islanders would often trade only promises of ownership of an individual coin instead of actually moving it. In some cases, coins which had been lost at sea were still used for exchange in this way. These agreements could be thought of as a kind of representative money, described below.) An example is the 8-foot "coin" from the village of Gachpar, on Yap.

Once a commodity becomes used as money, it takes on a value that is often a bit different from what the commodity is intrinsically worth or useful for. Being able to use something as money in a society adds an extra use to it, and so adds value to it. This extra use is a convention of society, and how extensive the use of money is within the society will affect the value of the monetary commodity. So although commodity money is real, it should not be seen as having a fixed value in absolute terms. Its value is still socially determined to a large extent. A prime example is gold, which has been valued differently by many different societies, but perhaps none valued it more than those who used it as money. Fluctuations in the value of commodity money can be strongly influenced by supply and demand whether current or predicted (if a local gold mine is about to run out of ore, the relative market value of gold may go up in anticipation of a shortage).

Money can be anything that the parties agree is tradable, but the usability of a particular sort of money varies widely. Desirable features of a good basis for money include being able to be stored for long periods of time, dense so it can be carried around easily, and difficult to find on its own so that it is actually worth something. Again, supply and demand play a key role in determining value. Metals like gold and silver have been used as commodity money for thousands of years, being in the form of metal dust, nuggets, rings, bracelets and assorted pieces. Eventually the Lydians began coining gold and silver around 560 BC. Gold and silver are both quite soft metals, and coins minted from the pure metals suffer from wear or deformation in daily use. Fortunately these metals are also easily alloyed with a less expensive metal, frequently copper, in order to improve the durability of the resulting coins. Typically alloys of coinage metals, such as sterling silver or 22 carat (92%) gold, are used to make coins more durable. These are alloys of 90% or more precious metal as alloys of less than 90% do not improve hardness or durability very much, and so are typically considered to be on the slippery slope into monetary debasement.

It was the discovery of the touchstone that paved the way for metal-based commodity money and coinage. Any soft metal can be tested for purity on a touchstone, allowing one to quickly calculate the total content of a particular metal in a lump. Gold is a soft metal, which is also hard to come by, dense, and storable. For these reasons gold as a money spread very quickly from Asia Minor where it first gained wide use, to the entire World. Using such a system still required several steps and some math. The touchstone allowed you to estimate the amount of gold in an alloy, which was then multiplied by the weight to find the amount of gold alone in a lump. To make this process easier, the concept of standard coinage was introduced. Coins were typically minted by governments in a carefully protected process, and then stamped with an emblem that guaranteed the weight and value of the metal. It was however extremely common for governments to assert that the value of such money lay in its emblem and to subsequently debase the currency by lowering the content of valuable metal. Although gold and silver were commonly used to mint coins, other metals could be used. Ancient Sparta minted coins from iron to discourage its citizens from engaging in foreign trade. In the early seventeenth century Sweden lacked more precious metal and so produced "plate money," which were large slabs of copper approximately 50cm or more in length and width, appropriately stamped with indications of their value.

Metal based coins had the advantage of carrying their value within the coins themselves — they induced on the other hand manipulations: the clipping of coins in attempts to get and recycle the precious metal. The bigger problem was the simple co-existence of gold, silver and copper coins in Europe's nations. English and Spanish traders valued gold coins at a higher rate of silver coins than their neighbors would do, with the effect that the English gold-based guinea coin began to rise against the English silver based crown in the 1670s and 1680s and with the consequence that silver was ultimately pulled out of England for dubious amounts of gold coming into the country at a rate no other European nation would share. The effect was worsened with Asian traders not sharing the European appreciation of gold altogether — gold left Asia and silver left Europe in quantities European observers like [<http://www.pierre-marteau.com/currency/ed/newton-1717-09-25.html>] Isaac Newton, Master of the Royal Mint observed with uneasiness. Stability came into the system with privately owned disguised as national banks guaranteeing to change money into gold at a promised rate. The privately owned Bank of England (whose owners also owned the colonial East-India Company) risked a national financial catastrophe in the 1730s when customers demanded their money to be changed into gold in a moment of crisis. Eventually London's merchants saved the bank and the nation with financial guarantees. See also: Roman currency, coinage metal, for conversions of the European coins before the introduction of paper money: The Marteau Early 18th-Century Currency Converter (<http://www.pierre-marteau.com/currency/converter.html>).

The system of commodity money in many instances evolved into a system of representative money. In this system, the material that constitutes the money itself had very little intrinsic value, but none the less such money achieves significant market value through being scarce as an artifact. Representative money such as paper currency and non-precious coinage was backed by a government or private bank's promise to redeem it for a given weight of precious metal, such as silver. This is the origin of the term "British Pound" for instance; it was a unit of money backed by a Tower pound of sterling silver - hence the currency Pound Sterling. For much of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, many currencies were based on representative money through the use of the gold standard.

Because money is the fruit of power and can be used for wielding or gaining more power, the one who accepts gold as legitimate money gives power to the people who own gold's stocks. Gold has been stable over thousands of years and has survived the test of time. All the other materials have become less important as gold has proved itself the superior unit of account. Basically, price fluctuations of gold are not because the value of gold has changed, but because the value of the currency has changed. The same happens with some other materials, like food or energy or transport or accommodation. A plate of food has always the same value, whatever its price is. It is possible for privately issued money to be backed by any other material, although some people argue about perishables materials. After all, gold, or platinum, or silver, have in some regards less utility than previously (their electrical properties notwithstanding), while currency backed by energy (measured in joules) or by transport (measured in kilogramme*kilometre/hour) or by food [3] (http://www.economist.com/markets/bigmac/displayStory.cfm?story_id=3503641) is also possible and may be accepted by the people, if legalised. It is important to understand though that as long as money is above all an agreement to use something as a medium of exchange, its up to the community (or to the minority elite who hold the power and politicians in their grip) to decide whether money should be backed by whatever material or should be totally virtual.

Credit/Floating/Fiat Money

Fiat money refers to money that is not backed by reserves of another commodity. The money itself is given value by government fiat (Latin for "let it be done") or decree, enforcing legal tender laws, previously known as "forced tender", whereby debtors are legally relieved of the debt if they (offer to) pay it off in the government's money. Note that the Government is controlled by the private Banking Dynasties who actually control the issue of fiat money. By law, the refusal of "legal tender" money in favor of some other form of payment is illegal, and has at times in history (Rome under Diocletian, and post-revolutionary France during the collapse of the assignats) invoked the death penalty.

Governments and private bankers through history have often switched to forms of fiat money in times of need such as war, sometimes by suspending the service they provided of exchanging their money for gold, and other times by simply printing the money that they needed. When governments produce money more rapidly than economic growth, the money supply overtakes economic value. Therefore, the excess money eventually dilutes the market value of all money issued. This is called inflation. In 1971 the US Federal Reserve System private bank finally switched to total fiat money indefinitely. At this point in time many of the economically developed countries' currencies were fixed to the US dollar (see Bretton Woods Conference), and so this single step meant that much of the western World's currencies became fiat money based. [Following the first Gulf War the president of Iraq, Saddam Hussein, repealed the existing Iraqi fiat currency and replaced it with a new currency. However, the old currency continued to be used in the politically isolated Kurdish regions of Iraq. Despite having no backing by a commodity and with no central authority mandating its use or defending its value, it continued to circulate within this Kurdish region. It became known as the Swiss Dinar. This currency remained relatively strong and stable for over a decade. It was formally replaced following the second Gulf War.]

Credit money (created in bank accounts by commercial banks and the Federal Reserve Banks who are owned by the major commercial banks) often exists in parallel with other money such as commodity money, and from the user's point of view is indistinguishable from it. Most of the World's money is credit money derived from national fiat money currencies and represents a collective debt liability. Strictly speaking, a debt is not money, primarily because debt can not act as a unit of account. All debts are denominated in units of something external to the debt. Hence credit money is not strictly money at all. However, credit money certainly acts as a money substitute when it comes to the other functions of money (medium of exchange and store of value). As such, the existence of credit money may dampen demand for the real money and in so doing alter the dynamics of money's market value. Paper money is an IOU and a convenient medium of exchange. Under a rigid gold-standard with convertibility, paper currency is a fixed debt instrument. However, when paper money floats, it becomes known as fiat money and its value is not defined by reference to an external unit of account. It is no longer a debt instrument but rather it becomes purely monetary and its value is a product of the dynamics of supply and demand. Typically, banks force supply and other sectors force demand.

Credit money tends to arise as a byproduct of lending and borrowing. The following example illustrates this. Imagine you have deposited some gold coins in a bank vault. The bank might lend the coins to a second person based on a promise to pay equivalent coins back with a few extra at a time in the future. The second person can in the meantime use the coins normally as money. But you still own the coins, and you also could still use them - you could transfer their ownership to another person to pay for something you have bought by telling the bank to transfer them from your account to the other person's account. You might do this by writing a check. So, in this simple example there are two people using the same coins as money at the same time. It's as if new money has been created by the act of lending. Taking it another step, if the second person spends the coins at a shop, and they end up being deposited back into the bank by the shopkeeper, the bank can lend them again. Now you and the shopkeeper can use the coins in the same way, by writing checks or the equivalent in this example, and whoever borrows the coins a second time can use the coins directly as money. So there are three people with financial use of the coins. This can go on with many people ending up simultaneously using the same coins financially, but for each extra user there is a promise to pay equivalent coins back. These arrangements where many people use the same money simultaneously are in many respects the same as if there was extra money. The extra money that there appears to be is known as credit money. It is in regulating the amount of money that a bank can lend that the controlling authority can set the money supply and change monetary policy.

The credible promises to repay in a reasonable time give the extra money its value. In today's economy, all money is created when someone such as a person, a corporation, a government, etc. issue a promise to pay and the banks monetize this promise to pay into dollars or national currency, i.e. the banksters create currency from nothing and collectivize the debt liability against all citizens of the country. Banks allegedly evaluate the risk involved in each loan, however, they actually transfer all liability to the tax payers. During the Crusades in Europe, precious goods would be entrusted to the Catholic Church's Masonic Knight Templars who effectively created a system of modern credit accounts. Over time this system grew into the credit money that we know today, where banks create money by approving loans - although the risk and reserve policies of each national central bank sets a limit on this, requiring banks to keep reserves of fiat money to back their deposits. Sometimes, as in the U.S. during the Great Depression or the Savings and Loan crisis, trust in bank policies drops very low and government must intervene to keep the industry of credit in operation by bailing the private bankers with taxpayers' earnings.

In many countries, the issue of private paper currencies has been severely restricted by law. In the United States, the Free Banking Era lasted between 1837 and 1866, during which almost anyone could issue their own paper money. States, municipalities, private banks, railroad and construction companies, stores, restaurants, churches and individuals printed an estimated 8,000 different monies by 1860. If the issuer went bankrupt, closed, left town, or otherwise went out of business, the paper money note would be worthless. Such organizations earned the nickname of "wildcat banks" for a reputation of unreliability and that they were often situated in far-off places (e.g. a private $1 note, issued by the "Delaware Bridge unpopulated locales that were said to be more apt to wildcats than Company" of New Jersey 1836-1841). On the other hand, according to Lawrence H. White's article in FEE (<http://www.fee.org/vnews.php?nid=2794>) "it turns out that "wildcat" banking is largely a myth. Although stories about crooked banking practices are entertaining—and for that reason have been repeated endlessly by textbooks—modern economic historians have found that there were in fact very few banks that fit any reasonable definition of wildcat bank." The National Bank Act of 1863 ended the "wildcat bank" period. In Australia, the Notes Act of 1910 basically shut down the circulation of private currencies by imposing a prohibitive tax on the practice. Many other nations have similar such policies that eliminate private sector competition. In Scotland and Northern Ireland private sector banks are licensed to print their own paper money by the government. Today there are several privately issued digital currencies in circulation that function as money. Transactions in these currencies represent an annual turnover value in billions of US dollars. Many of these private currencies are backed by older forms of money such as gold (digital gold currencies).

The money supply is the amount of money available within a specific economy available for purchasing goods or services. The supply is usually considered as four escalating categories M0, M1, M2 and M3. The categories grow in size with M3 representing all forms of money (including credit) and M0 being just base money (coins, bills, and central bank deposits). M0 is also money that can satisfy private banks' reserve requirements. In the United States, the privately owned Federal Reserve is responsible for controlling the money supply (monetary policy). For every dollar in circulation, someone is paying interest on it to the bankers, i.e. bankers get a tithe from everyone.

Historically money was a metal (gold, silver, etc.) or other object that was difficult to duplicate, but easy to transport and divide. Later it consisted of paper notes, now issued by all modern governments. With the rise of modern industrial capitalism it has gone through several phases including but not limited to: 1. Bank notes - paper issued by banks as an interest-bearing loan. (These were common in the 19th century but not seen anymore.) 2. Paper notes, coins with varying amounts of precious metal (usually called legal tender) issued by various governments. There is also a near-money in the form of interest bearing bonds issued by governments with solid credit ratings. 3. Bank credit through the creation of chequable deposits in the granting of various loans to business, government and individuals. It is critical that we understand that when a bank makes a loan, that is new money and when a loan is paid off that money is destroyed. Only the interest paid on it remains. Thus, all debt denominated in dollars -- mortgages, money markets, credit card debt, travelers checks -- causes the creation of money when a financial institution is granting the debt.

Perhaps the most obvious way money can be destroyed is if paper bills are burned or taken out of circulation by the central bank. But, it should be remembered that legal tender FRNs (Federal Reserve Dollar Notes) usually constitutes less than 4% of the broad money supply. Another way money can be destroyed is when any bank loan is paid off or defaulted upon or any government bond is redeemed the money value of the contract or bond is destroyed — taken out of circulation. Money can be destroyed if savers withdraw funds from a bank, in which case that money can no longer be used as the 10% reserve required for creating new money to lend. Bank savings are actually a kind of loans — savers loan their money to a bank at a low interest rate or merely in exchange for the benefit of convenience or its security (accepting that they lose a small amount of value to inflation).

The bank then uses this loan to create (from nothing) upto ten times the amount in loans to other people, at a higher rate of interest.

When this happens the money exists in two (or more) places at once, and so the money supply increases. When a saver withdraws money, the loan is "paid off" and it can no longer exist in more than one place at once, and this "tenfold money" disappears. In extreme forms, a bank run or panic may drive a bank into insolvency and, if uninsured, the savings of all its depositors are lost but the borrowers and bankruptcy lawyers gain it.

Banking System Fraud Explained with Simple Cartoons: Billions for the Banksters, Debts to the People

<http://www.michaeljournal.org/myth.htm> "The Money Myth Exploded" was one of the first articles of Louis Even, and remains one of the most popular to explain how money is created as a debt by private banks. It is available in the form of an 8-page leaflet (tabloid format) that you can order from the "Michael" office, in several languages.

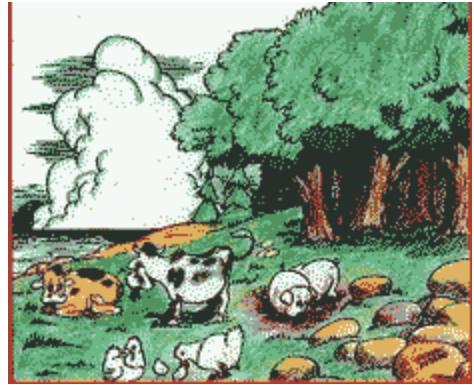

1. Shipwreck survivors

An explosion had blown their ship apart. Suddenly a cry rang out: "Land! Look! Over there, in the direction the waves are carrying us!" And as the vague silhouette proved itself to be, in fact, the outline of a shore, the figures on the raft danced with joy. They were five. There was Frank, the carpenter, big and energetic. It was he who had first cried, "Land!". Then Paul, a farmer. You can see him, front and left in the picture, on his knees, one hand against the floor, the other gripping the mast of the raft. Next is Jim, an animal breeder; he's the one in the striped pants, kneeling and gazing in the direction of land. Then there is Harry, an agriculturist, a little on the stout side, seated on a trunk salvaged from the wreck. And finally Tom, a prospector and a mineralogist; he is the merry fellow standing in the rear of the picture with his hand on the carpenter's shoulder.

2. A providential island

To our five men, setting foot on land was like returning to life from the grave. When they had dried and warmed themselves their first impulse was to explore this little island on to which they had been cast, far from civilization. A quick survey was sufficient to raise their spirit. The island was not a barren rock. True enough, they were the only men on it at the moment. But judging from the herds of semi-domesticated animals they encountered, there must have been men here at some time before them. Jim, the animal breeder, was sure he could completely domesticate them and put them to good service. Paul found the island's soil, for the most part, to be quite suitable for cultivation. Harry discovered some fruit trees which, if properly tended, would give good harvests. Most important were the large stands of timber embracing many types of wood. Frank, without too much difficulty, would be able to build houses for the little community. As for Tom, the prospector, well, the rock formations of the island showed signs of rich mineral deposits. Lacking the tools, Tom still felt his ingenuity and initiative could produce metals from the ores. So each could serve the common good with his special talent. All agreed to call the place Salvation Island. All gave thanks to Providence for the reasonably happy ending to what could have been stark tragedy.

3. True wealth

Here are the men at work. The carpenter builds houses and makes furniture. At first they find their food where they can. But soon the fields are tilled and seeded, and the farmer has his crops. As season followed season this island, this heritage of the five men, Salvation Island, became richer and richer. Its wealth was not that of gold or of paper bank notes, but one of true value; a wealth of food and clothing and shelter, of all the things to meet human needs. Each man worked at his own trade. Whatever surpluses he might have of his own produce, he exchanged for the surplus products of the others. Life wasn't always as smooth and complete as they could have wished it to be. They lacked many of the things to which they had been accustomed in civilization. But their lot could have been a great deal worse. Besides, all had experienced the depression in Canada. They still remembered the empty bellies side by side with stores crammed with food. At least, on Salvation Island, they weren't forced to see the things they needed rot before their eyes. Taxes were unknown here. Nor did they go in constant fear of seizure by the bailiff. They worked hard but at least they could enjoy the fruits of their toil. So they developed the island, thanking God and hoping for the day of reunion with their families, still in possession of life and health, those two greatest of blessings.

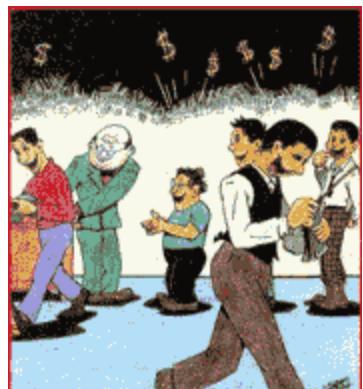

4. A serious inconvenience

Our men often got together to talk over their affairs. Under the simple economic system which had developed, one thing was beginning to bother them more and more; they had no form of money. Barter, the direct exchange of goods for goods, had its drawbacks. The products to be exchanged were not always at hand when a trade was discussed. For example, wood delivered to the farmer in winter could not be paid for in potatoes until six months later. Sometimes one man might have an article of considerable size which he wished to exchange for a number of smaller articles produced by different men at different times. All this complicated business and laid a heavy burden on the memory. With a monetary system, however, each one could sell his products to the others for money. With this money he could buy from the others the things he wanted, when he wished and when they were available. It was agreed that a system of money would indeed be very convenient. But none of them knew how to set up such a system. They knew how to produce true wealth - goods. But how to produce money, the symbol of this wealth, was something quite beyond them. They were ignorant of the origin of money, and needing it they didn't know how to produce it. Certainly, many men of education would have been in the same boat; all our governments were in that predicament during the ten years prior to the war. The only thing the country lacked at that time was money and the governments didn't know what to do to get it.

5. Arrival of a refugee

One evening, when our boys were sitting on the beach going over their problem for the hundredth time, they suddenly saw approaching a small boat with a solitary man at the oars. They learned that he was the only survivor of a wreck. His name: Oliver. Delighted to have a new companion, they provided him with the best that they had, and they took him on an inspection tour of the colony. "Even though we're lost and cut off from the rest of the World," they told him, "we haven't too much to complain about. The earth and the forest are good to us. We lack only one thing — money. That would make it easier for us to exchange our products." "Well, you can thank Providence," replied Oliver, "because I am a banker, and in no time at all, I'll set up a system of money guaranteed to satisfy you. Then you'll have everything that people in civilization have." A banker!... A BANKER!... An angel coming down out of the clouds couldn't have inspired more reverence and respect in our men. For, after all, are we not accustomed, we people in civilization, to genuflect before bankers, those men who control the lifeblood of finance?

6. Civilization's god

"Mr. Oliver, as our banker, your only occupation on this island will be to look after our money; no manual labour." "I shall, like every other banker, carry out to complete satisfaction my task of forging the community's prosperity." "Mr. Oliver, we're going to build you a house that will be in keeping with your dignity as a banker. But in the meantime, do you mind if we lodge you in the building that we use for our get-togethers?" "That will suit me, my friends. But first of all, unload the boat. There's paper and a printing press, complete with ink and type, and there's a little barrel which I exhort you to treat with the greatest care." They unloaded everything. The small barrel aroused intense curiosity in our good fellows. "This barrel," Oliver announced, "contains a treasure beyond dreams. It is full of... gold!" Full of gold! The five all but swooned. The god of civilization here on Salvation Island! The yellow god, always hidden, yet terrible in its power, whose presence or absence or slightest caprice could decide the very fate of all the civilized nations! "Gold! Mr. Oliver, you are indeed a great banker!" "Oh august majesty! Oh honorable Oliver! Great high priest of the god, gold! Accept our humble homage, and receive our oaths of fidelity!" "Yes, my friends, gold enough for a continent. But gold is not for circulation. Gold must be hidden. Gold is the soul of healthy money, and the soul is always invisible. But I'll explain all that when you receive your first supply of money."

7. The secret burial

Before they went their separate ways for the night, Oliver asked them one last question. "How much money will you need to begin with in order to facilitate trading?" They looked at one another, then deferentially towards the banker. After a bit of calculation, and with the advice of the kindly financier, they decided that $200 each would do. The men parted, exchanging enthusiastic comments. And in spite of the late hour, they spent most of the night lying awake, their imaginations excited by the picture of gold. It was morning before they slept. As for Oliver, he wasted not a moment. Fatigue was forgotten in the interests of his future as a banker. By dawn's first light, he dug a pit into which he rolled the barrel. He then filled it in, transplanting a small shrub to the spot about which he carefully arranged sod. It was well hidden. Then he went to work with his little press to turn out a thousand $1 bills. Watching the clean new banknotes come from his press, the refugee turned banker thought to himself: "My! How simple it is to make money. All its value comes from the products it will buy. Without produce, these bills are worthless. My five naive customers don't realize that. They actually think that this new money derives its value from gold! Their very ignorance makes me their master." Thus, Oliver collectivized the debt liability against all island inhabitants for the money that he is printing. And as evening drew on, the five came to Oliver — on the run.

8. Who owns the new money?

Five bundles of new banknotes were sitting on the table. "Before distributing the money," said the banker, "I would like your attention. "Now, the basis of all money is gold. And the gold stored away in the vault of my bank is my gold. Consequently, the money is my money. Oh! Don't look so discouraged. I'm going to lend you this money, and you're going to use it as you see fit. However, you'll have to pay interest. Considering that money is scarce here, I don't think 8% is unreasonable." "Oh, that's quite reasonable, Mr. Oliver." "One last point, my friends. Business is business, even between pals. Before you get the money, each of you is going to sign a paper. By it you will bind yourselves to pay both interest and capital under penalty of confiscation of property by me. Oh! This is a mere formality. Your property is of no interest to me. I'm satisfied with money. And I feel sure that I'll get my money, and that you'll keep your property." "That makes sense, Mr. Oliver. We're going to work harder than ever in order to pay you back." "That's the spirit. And any time you have a problem, you come and see me. Your banker is your best friend. Now here's two hundred dollars for each one of you." And our five brave fellows went away, their hands full of dollar bills, their heads swimming with the ecstasy of having money.

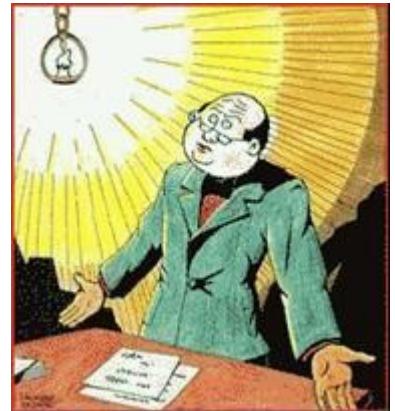

9. A problem in arithmetic

And so Oliver's money went into circulation on the island. Trade, simplified by money, doubled. Everybody was happy. And the banker was always greeted with unfailing respect and gratitude. But now, let's see... Why does Tom, the prospector, look so grave as he sits busily figuring with a pencil and paper? It is because Tom, like the others, has signed an agreement to repay Oliver, in one year's time, the $200 plus $16 interest. But Tom has only a few dollars in his pocket, and the date of payment is near. For a long time he had wrestled with this problem from his own personal point of view, without success. Finally, he looked at it from the angle of the little community as a whole. "Taking into consideration everyone on the island as a whole," he mused, "are we capable of meeting our obligations? Oliver turned out a total of $1000. He's asking in return $1080. But even if we bring him every dollar bill on the island, we'll still be $80 short. Nobody made the extra $80. We turn out produce, not dollar bills. So Oliver can take over the entire island, since all the inhabitants together can't pay him back the total amount of the capital and the interest. "Even if a few, without any thought for the others, were able to do so, those others would fall. And the turn of the first spared would come eventually. The banker will have everything. We'd better hold a meeting right away and decide what to do about it." Tom, with his figures in his hand, had no difficulty in proving the situation. All agreed that they had been duped by the kindly banker. They decided upon a meeting at Oliver's.

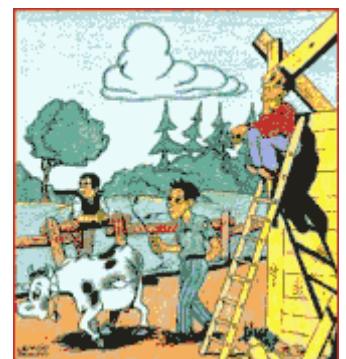

10. The benevolent banker

Oliver guessed what was on their minds, but he put on his best front. While he listened, the impetuous Frank stated the case for the group. "How can we pay you $1080 when there is only $1000 on the entire island?" "That's the interest, my friends. Has not your rate of production increased?" "Sure, but the money hasn't. And it's money you're asking for, not our products. You are the only one who can make money. You've made only $1000, and yet you ask $1080. That's an impossibility!" "Now listen, fellows. Bankers, for the greater good of the community, always adapt themselves to the conditions of the times. I'm going to require only the interest. Only $80. You will go on holding the capital." "Bless you, Mr. Oliver! Are you going to cancel the $200 each of us owes you?" "Oh no! I'm sorry, but a banker never cancels a debt. You still owe me all the money you borrowed. But you'll pay me, each year, only the interest. If you meet the interest payments faithfully each year, I won't push you for the capital. Maybe some won't be able to repay even the interest because of the money changing hands among you. Well, organize yourselves like a nation. Set up a system of money contributions, what we call taxes. Those who have more money will be taxed more; the poor will pay less. See to it that you bring me, in one lump sum, the total of the amount of interest, and I'll be satisfied. And your little nation will thrive." So our boys left, somewhat pacified, but still dubious.

11. Oliver exults

Oliver is alone. He is deep in reflection. His thoughts run thus: "Business is good. These boys are good workers, but stupid. Their ignorance and naivety is my strength. They ask for money, and I give them the chains of bondage. They give me flowers, and I pick their pockets. "True enough, they could mutiny and throw me into the sea. But pshaw! I have their signatures. They're honest. They'll honor their pledges. Honest, hardworking people were put into this World to serve the Financiers. "Oh great Mammon! I feel your banking genius coursing through my entire being! Oh, illustrious master! How right you were when you said: 'Give me control of a nation's money, and I won't mind who makes its laws.' I am the master of Salvation Island because I control its money. "My soul is drunk with enthusiasm and ambition. I feel I could rule the universe. What I, Oliver, have done here, I can do throughout the entire World. Oh! If only I could get off this island! I know how I could govern the World without wearing a crown. "My supreme delight would be to instill my philosophy in the minds of those who lead society: bankers, industrialists, politicians, reformers, teachers, journalists — all would be my servants. The masses are content to live in slavery when the elite from among them are constituted to be their overseers."

12. The cost of living unbearable

Meanwhile, things went from bad to worse on Salvation Island. Production was up, and bartering had dropped to a minimum. Oliver collected his interest regularly. The others had to think of setting money aside for him. Thus, money tended to clot instead of circulating freely. Those who paid the most in taxes complained against those who paid less. They raised the prices of their goods to compensate for this loss. The unfortunate poor who paid no taxes lamented the high cost of living, and bought less. If one took a salaried job with another, he was continually demanding increases in salary in order to meet the mounting cost of living. Morale was low. The joy went out of living. No one took an interest in his work. Why should he? Produce sold poorly. When they would make a sale, they had to pay taxes to Oliver. They went without things. It was a real crisis. And they accused one another of wanting in charity, and of being the cause of the high cost of living. One day, Harry, sitting in his orchard, pondered over the situation. He finally arrived at the conclusion that this "progress", born of a refugee's monetary system, had spoiled everything on the island. Unquestionably, all five had their faults, but Oliver's system seemed to have been specifically designed to bring out the worst in human nature. Harry decided to demonstrate this to his friends and to unite them for action. He started with Jim, who was not hard to convince. "I'm no genius," he said, "but for a long time now there's been a bad smell about this banker's system." One by one they came to the same conclusion, and they ended up by deciding to have another conference with Oliver.

13. Enslaved by Oliver

A veritable tempest burst about the ears of the banker. "Money's scarce on the island, fellow, because you take it away from us! We pay you and pay you, and still we owe you as much as at the beginning. We work our heads off! We've the finest land possible, and yet we're worse off than before the day of your arrival. Debts! Debts! Up to our necks in debts!" "Oh! Now boys, be reasonable! Your affairs are booming, and it's thanks to me. A good banking system is a country's best asset. But if it is to work beneficially, you must have faith in the banker. Come to me as you would to a father... Is it more money that you want? Very well. My barrel of gold is good for many thousands of dollars more. See, I'm going to mortgage your latest acquisitions, and lend you another thousand dollars right now." "So! Now our debt goes up to $2000! We are going to have twice as much interest to pay for the rest of our lives!" "Well, yes — but I'll lend you more whenever the value of your property increases. And you'll never pay anything but the interest. You'll lump all your debts into one — what we call a consolidated debt. And you can add to the debt, year after year." "And raise the taxes, year after year?" "Obviously. But your revenues also increase every year." "So then, the more the country develops each year because of our labor, the more the public debt increases!" "Why, of course! Just as in your country — or in any other part of the civilized World for that matter. The degree of a country's civilization is always gauged by the size of its debt to the bankers."

14. The wolf devours the lambs

"And that's a healthy monetary system, Mr. Oliver?" "Gentlemen, all sound money is based on gold, and it comes from the banks in the form of debts. The national debt is a good thing. It keeps men from becoming too satisfied. It subjugates governments to the supreme and ultimate wisdom, that which is incarnate in bankers. As a banker, I am the torch of civilization here on your little island. I will dictate your politics and regulate your standard of living." "Mr. Oliver, we're simply uneducated folks, but we don't want that kind of civilization here. We'll not borrow another cent off of you. Sound money or not, we don't want any further transactions with you." "Gentlemen, I deeply regret this very ill-advised decision of yours. But if you break with me, remember, I have your signatures. Repay me everything at once — capital and interest." "But that's impossible, sir. Even if we give you all the money on the island, we still won't be square with you." "I can't help that. Did you or did you not sign? Yes? Very well. "By virtue of the sanctity of contracts, I hereby seize your mortgaged property which was what you agreed to at the time you were so happy to have my help. If you don't want to serve willingly the supreme authority of money, then you'll obey by force. You'll continue to exploit the island, but in my interests and under my conditions. Now, get out! You'll get your orders from me tomorrow."

15. Control of the press

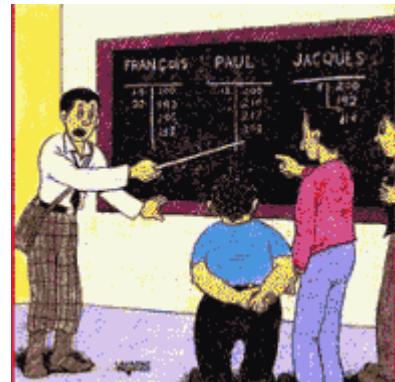

Oliver knew that whoever controlled the nation's money, controlled the nation. But he knew also that to maintain that control, it was necessary to keep the people in a state of ignorance, and to distract them by a variety of means. Oliver had observed that of the five islanders, two were conservatives and three were liberals. That much had evolved from their evening conversations, especially after they had fallen into slavery. And between the conservatives and those who were liberals, there was a constant friction. On occasions, Harry, the most neutral of the five, considering that all had the same needs and aspirations, had suggested the union of the people to put pressure on the authorities. Such a union, Oliver could not tolerate; it would mean the end of his rule. No dictator, financial or otherwise, could stand before a people united and educated. Consequently, Oliver set himself to foment, as much as possible, political strife between them. The refugee put his press to work, turning out two weekly newspapers, "The Sun", for the Liberals, and "The Star", for the Conservatives. The general tenor of "The Sun" was: "If you are no longer master, it is because of those traitorous Conservatives who have sold out to big business." That of "The Star": "The ruinous state of business and the national debt can be traced directly to the political responsibility of those unmentionable Liberals."

16. A priceless bit of floatsam

One day, Tom, the prospector, found on a small beach, hidden by tall grass at one end of the island, a lifeboat, empty except for a trunk in good condition lying in the bottom of it. He opened the trunk. Among the articles within, a sort of album caught his eye: "The First Year of Social Credit". Between the covers he found the first of a Social Credit publication. Curious, Tom sat down and began to read the volume. His interest grew; his face lit up. "Well, just look at this!" he cried out loud. "This is something we should have known a long time ago." "Money gets its value, not from gold, but from the products which that money buys. "Simply put, money should be a sort of accountancy, credits passing from one account to another according to purchases and sales. The sum total of money will depend upon the sum total of production. "Each time production increases, there is a corresponding increase in the amount of money. Never at any time should interest be paid on new money. Progress is marked, not by an increase in the public debt, but by the issuance of an equal dividend to each individual... Prices are adjusted to the general purchasing power by a coefficient of prices. Social Credit..." But Tom could no longer contain himself. He got up and set off at a run, the book in his hands, to share this glorious discovery with his four comrades.

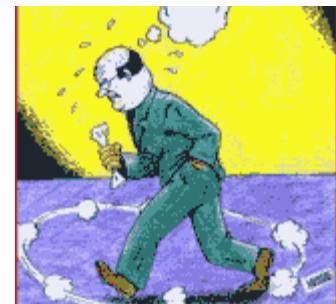

17. Money — elementary accounting

So Tom became the teacher. He taught the others what he had learned from that God-sent Social Credit publication. "This," he said, "is what we can do without waiting for a banker and his keg of gold, nor without underwriting a debt." "I open an account in the name of each one of you. In the right hand column are the credits which increase your account; to the left are the debits which subtract from your account. "Each wants $200 to begin with. Very well. We write $200 to the credit of each. Each immediately has $200. "Frank buys some goods from Paul for $10. I deduct $10 from Frank, leaving him $190. I add $10 to Paul, and he now has $210. "Jim buys from Paul to the amount of $8. I deduct from Jim $8, leaving him $192. Paul now has $218. "Paul buys wood from Frank for $15. I deduct $15 from Paul, leaving $203. I add $15 to Frank's account, and it goes back to $205. "And so we continue; from one account to another, in the same fashion that paper banknotes go from one man's pocket to another's. "If someone needs money to expand production, we issue him the necessary amount of new credit. Once he has sold his products, he repays the sum to the credit fund. The same with public works; paid for by new credits. "Likewise, each one's account is periodically increased, but without taking credits from anyone, in order that all may benefit from the progress society makes. That's the national dividend. In this fashion, money becomes an instrument of service."

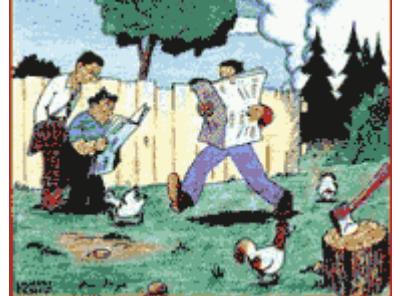

18. The banker's despair

Everyone understood. The members of this little community became Social Creditors. The following day, Oliver, the banker, received a letter signed by the five: "Dear sir! Without the slightest necessity you have plunged us into debt and exploited us. We don't need you anymore to run our money system. From now on, we'll have all the money we need without gold, debts, nor thieves. We are establishing, at once, the system of Social Credit on the island. The national dividend is going to replace the national debt. "If you insist on being repaid, we can repay you all the money you gave us. But not a cent more. You cannot lay claim to that which you have not made." Oliver was in despair. His empire was crumbling. His dreams shattered. What could he do? Arguments would be futile. The five were now Social Creditors: money and credit were now not more mysterious to them than they were to Oliver. "Oh!" said Oliver. "These men have been won to Social Credit! Their doctrine will spread far more quickly than mine. Should I beg forgiveness? Become one of them? I, a financier and a banker? Never! Rather, I shall try and put as much distance between them and me as I can!"

19. The fraud unmasked

To protect themselves against any future claim by Oliver, our five men decided to make him sign a document attesting that he again possessed all he had when he first arrived on the island. An inventory was taken; the boat, the oars, the little press, and the famous barrel of gold. Oliver had to reveal where he had hidden the gold. Our boys hoisted it from the hole with considerably less respect than the day they had unloaded it from the boat. Social Credit had taught them to despise gold. The prospector, who was helping to lift the barrel, found it surprisingly light for gold. If the barrel was full, he told the others, there was something in it besides gold. The impetuous Frank didn't waste a moment; a blow of the axe, and the contents of the barrel was exposed. Gold? Not so much as a grain of it! Just rocks — plain, worthless rocks! Our men couldn't get over the shock. "Don't tell us that he could bamboozle us to this extent!" "Were we such muttonheads as to go into raptures over the mere mention of gold?" "Did we mortgage all of our possessions for a few pieces of paper based on a few pounds of rocks? It's a robbery, compounded with lies!" "To think that we sulked and almost hated one another all because of such a fraud! That devil!" Furious, Frank raised his axe. In great haste, the banker has already taken flight towards the forest.

20. Summary

The debt-money system introduced by Oliver into the Salvation Island made the little community sink into financial debt in proportion as it developed and enriched the island by its own work. This is exactly what happens in our civilized countries, is it not? Canada of today is certainly richer, in real wealth, than it was 50, 100 years ago, or in the pioneers' age. But compare the national debt, the sum of all public debts of Canada today with this sum 50, 100 years, three centuries ago! Yet the Canadians themselves produced this enrichment by their labour and their know-how. Then why should they be collectively indebted for the result of their own activities? For example, consider the schools, the municipal aqueducts, the bridges, roads and other fabrics of public character. Who build them all? Builders of the country. Who supply them with the needed materials? Manufacturers of the country. And how come they can be employed in public works? Because there are other kinds of workers who produce food, clothes, shoes, who supply all the things and services required for the wants of the constructors and manufacturers. Thus the whole population of Canada by its work of different kinds, produce all those developments. If we must obtain goods from abroad, we send other goods abroad in counterpart of them. Now, what do you see? Everywhere the citizens are taxed to pay those schools, those hospitals, those bridges, roads and other public works. The Canadians, as a collectivity, are thus compelled to pay what they produce as a collectivity.

21. You pay much more than the double price

And this is not all. The population is made to pay more than the price of what it produced. Their own production — a real enrichment — has become for the Canadians a debt burdened with interest. When years add to years, the sum of the interests can equal or even exceed the amount of the debt imposed by the system. It happens that the population may have to pay two, three times the cost of what its members produced. In addition to the public debts, there are industrial debts, also loaded with interests. They compel the manufacturers and contractors to increase their prices beyond the cost of production, in order to reimburse the capital and the interests; otherwise they would become insolvent, bankrupt. Both public and industrial debts are paid, plus interest, by the Canadian population, to the financial system. We pay taxes for the public debts, and a surplus of price for the industrial debts. Prices are swelling while the purse is flattened by taxes.

22. A tyrannical system

These and many other facts are indicative of a money system, a financial system which controls instead of being a servant; a system to dominate the people — as Oliver dominated the fellows of the Island before they rebelled. And if the money masters refuse to lend, or if they make their conditions unbearable for the public bodies or for the manufacturers, what happens? It happens that the public bodies give up many projects, no matter how urgent; and the manufacturers give up development or production plans that would answer to real needs of Canadians. This is a cause of unemployment. And those who still have something, or who earn a salary, must be taxed to prevent the unemployed from starving completely. Can you imagine a more tyrannical system, with so baneful effects on every Canadian?

23. A bar to distribution

And this is not all. Not only the money system indebts the producers, or paralyzes the production it refuses to finance, but it is a wretched financial tool for the distribution of the goods. Notwithstanding the fact that stores, shops and warehouses are full, and that everything is at hand for an even greater production, the distribution of the goods already produced is stinted. You can obtain only what you can pay. In face of an abundant production, there should be an abundance of purchasing power, of money in the wallets of the people. Such is not the fact. The price of the finished goods is always higher than the amount of money distributed as purchasing power in the course of their production. This is inherent to the accountancy of the present system of finance which has no mechanism to fill the gap. The capacity to pay is not made to equal the capacity to produce. Finance and reality do not work at the same rate. Reality means an abundance of goods easy to produce. Finance means a lacking money hard to obtain.

24. To correct what is wicked

Thus the present money system is truly an oppressive one, when it should be a system of service. This does not mean that we must do away with it, but we must correct it. The application of the financial principles known as Social Credit would make this correction magnificently. (Do not confound Social Credit with the political party which usurps that name while pursuing other ends and practising an adverse policy.) The principles of Social Credit, when applied, would make the money system a servant instead of a master. They were discovered and enunciated by a genius, C. H. Douglas (deceased in 1952). His first writings on this subject were published in 1918. The first idea that comes to the mind of too many people living in Canada, when they hear the words Social Credit, is the idea of a political party. But no. Social Credit is not a party, although there was a party by that name. Social Credit is no more a party than Christianity is a party, even if, in some countries you find political parties with such names as Christian Democrats, Christian Party, Christian Center, etc. A political party exists purposely to seek power, to be or strive to be the group that rules the country. Social Credit works in the very opposite way. Social Credit will set the individual free; it will place the individual in a situation where he can himself be the ruler of his own life. Social Credit will thus distribute power to individuals not the power to boss their neighbours, but the power to order the goods they want from the potential production of their country.

25. Social Credit. Exact. Logical. Humane

Social Credit considers realities. It refuses to be hypnotized by the halo with which finance has been surrounded. The economic realities are, on one hand, the production; not only the existing production, but the production immediately possible, the production capacity; and they are, on the other hand, the human needs. Social Credit gives priority to the realities over the financial signs that are not realities, that must simply represent, and faithfully represent, the realities.

26. Real credit and financial credit

This is why Social Credit makes a distinction between real credit (a reality) and financial credit (a representation). The word "credit" comes from the Latin word "credere" and bears the idea of confidence. Even in everyday language, to give credit to someone, is it not to indicate that we have confidence in him? Social Credit calls real credit of a country what really gives confidence in that country, confidence that one can live there without too much difficulty. The real credit of a country is its production capacity. It is its degree of possibility to produce and deliver the goods to the needs. And Social Credit affirms that financial credit must be the exact representation of the real credit. It is therefore the production capacity that must determine the movement of finance. It is absolutely not for finance to command, paralyze or limit the production capacity. This is why Social Credit demands the establishment of a credit office that would keep an account of national (or provincial) credit. Any production, those of consumption goods and those of capital goods, would then be entered as an increase of wealth. And all consumptions (or destruction, or depreciation) would then be entered as a decrease of wealth. The net increase in wealth would be production minus consumption. With very few and passing exceptions where a country would live at the expense of another, the production of a country surpasses its consumption. The country is becoming richer. It is therefore absurd to say that it is going into debt. The public debt is an absurdity. And when a country is getting richer, its citizens must certainly draw advantage of it. This is what Social Credit recognizes, when speaking of a dividend to all, instead of debts and taxes on everyone.

27. Money without inflation

The present system is subject to inflation. Inflation means rising prices. When money cannot begin without, as today, creating a debt, it is necessary that ways be found to draw from the public more money than there was put into circulation, so as to refund the debt plus the interest of the debt. Whence taxes, that are added to prices or that diminish the purchasing power before the prices. Whence also increases of prices by industrials, who must draw from the public only the money to pay for the products, but also for the financial charges, the interests on the industrial loans. Social Credit would suppress this cancer, this tumor upon the prices, since the production would be an increase of wealth, and not an indebtedness. And, Social Credit would lower the prices to be paid by the buyers, since it would have the community pay only what it consumes, and not all what it produces. If, as an example, in the whole country, the consumption was only equal to three quarters of the production, the buyers would only pay, on any article bought by them, only three quarters of the accounting price. The Credit Office would take care of compensating the retailer so that he may recuperate all of his accounting price. This means that the amounts of money included in the prices, but not having reached the hands of the public, or directed towards saving or investment, are not applied to the purchase of the production, would be by the organism of credit replaced to the benefit of those who are in need of the products. This would prevent the accumulation of products in the face of needs. And the mechanism to do it would have the advantage of operating with a decrease in prices, therefore in eliminating all possible inflation.

28. A dividend to everyone

The periodic dividend to everyone, recommended by Social Credit, is also in conformity with the economic realities. The modern production, in fact, is more and more the result of applied science, of inventions, of improvements in production techniques, and of all these things that constitute a common good: an heritage transmitted and increased from one generation to the other. The modern production is less and less the result of individual labour. Hoping to distribute the production only through the reward of human labour, is therefore contrary to the facts. It is at the same time impossible, for the money distributed as recompense for work can never buy the production that contains other elements in its prices. Seeking salary increases with decreases in human labour, is also to change the meaning of the word salary. It is no more a recompense for work; it is the inclusion in the salary of the hired persons of what should be a dividend for all, since it is the fruit of progress and not of labour. This deviation is a hindrance to the desired goal, since in becoming a salary instead of remaining a dividend, these additional amounts go into the prices. Social Credit would distribute the dividend to everyone, directly, without charging it to industry. It would truly raise everyone's purchasing power. Besides being the recognition of a very productive community capital, this social dividend would at the same time be an excellent way of satisfying the primitive destination of the earthly goods. "Earth and its riches were created for all men" (Pius XII). This is totally ignored by the present economic regime in its financial technique of distribution. Social Credit would thus directly establish an adequate repartition of the goods of nature and of industry, instead of leaving the task to the surgery of taxation, that amputates and grafts continually, without ever healing the disease. A share to each and everyone, guaranteed by the dividend to each and everyone from birth till death; and this share should be sufficient to at least insure what is necessary for life.

The Monstrous Fraud of Fractional Reserve Banking: It is not Capitalism!

In the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, certain bankers discovered that they could print ten times more paper money (promissory notes...) than they had gold. This is known as Fractional Reserve Banking, but as we shall see, it is a monstrous FRAUD!. The Bankers lent this 'money' at interest (say ten percent per annum), meaning that they could earn 10% interest each year on each promissory note.

10 pieces of paper, each earning 10% and we have $10 \times 10\% = 100\%$.

By the end of one year, for each piece of gold they originally owned, they now had the equivalent of two pieces of gold, (one real, and one as assets now owned by the bank). The banks could now write ten pieces of paper for each of those 2 pieces of gold = 20 promissory notes.

20 promissory notes loaned at 10% = 200%, another two pieces of gold

$$2 + 2 = 4$$

By the end of the second year, for each piece of gold they originally owned, they now had four pieces of gold. The banks could now write ten pieces of paper for each of those 4 pieces of gold = 40 promissory notes.

40 promissory notes loaned at 10% = 400%, another four pieces of gold

$$4 + 4 = 8$$

By the end of the third year, for each piece of gold they originally owned, they now had eight pieces of gold. The banks could now write ten pieces of paper for each of those 8 pieces of gold = 80 promissory notes.

80 promissory notes loaned at 10% = 800%, another eight pieces of gold

$$8 + 8 = 16$$

By the end of the fourth year, for each piece of gold they originally owned, they now had sixteen pieces of gold..... THE BANKS FOUND THAT THEY COULD DOUBLE THEIR WEALTH EACH YEAR BY HAVING EVERYONE ELSE PAYING INTEREST TO THEM ON THIS PAPER 'MONEY'.....

1
2
4
8
16
32
64
128
256
512
1024,

after 10 years banking, starting with one piece of gold, the banks now had the equivalent wealth of 1024 pieces of gold, (call it 1000 for easy maths...)....

after another 10 years, or after 20 years of banking they had 1000 times 1000 = 1 million pieces of gold.

after 30 years of banking they had 1000 times 1 million = one thousand million pieces of gold.

after 40 years of banking they had 1000 times one thousand million pieces of gold = one million times a million pieces of gold.

after 40 years of banking, starting with one piece of gold, the banks now had 1,000,000,000,000 pieces of gold, that is a proper ENGLISH BILLION which is a thousand times BIGGER than an American 'billion' which is only 1000 000 000.

An English Billion is 31709 years in seconds.... ($60 \times 60 \times 24 \times 365 \times 31709 = 1,000,000,000,000$)

THE BANKS HAD 'EARNED' 1,000 000 000 000 PIECES OF GOLD AFTER ONLY 40 YEARS OF BANKING, and the next year it doubled!!! the banks have been doubling their money in this way almost every year for the last FIVE HUNDRED YEARS!!!!

THIS IS NOT CAPITALISM- IT IS A MONSTROUS FRAUD!

HOW MORE THAN HALF OF YOUR WAGES IS NOW BEING STOLEN BY CRIMINAL BANKSTERS!

ROUGHLY: one third of a person's wages goes to pay the mortgage, one third is tax, and the remaining third you get to spend...but if we add all the interest payments that the business man is giving to the bankers together we find that at least 50% of the price of ANY item we buy is interest being paid to the banks.

WHAT IS THE APPROXIMATE PROPORTION OF TAX WHICH IS INTEREST ON THE NATIONAL DEBT PAID OUT OF OUR TAXES TO THE BANKS? According to the Reagan Commission findings, all of it!

If we add these together, we can see that well over half of everyone's income tax is paying interest to the banks...

ROUGHLY 50% OF THE PRICE OF ANYTHING YOU BUY IS PAYING INTEREST TO THE BANK.

ABOUT 66% OF YOUR MORTGAGE IS PAYING INTEREST TO THE BANK.

MORE THAN 50% OF YOUR TAX IS PAYING INTEREST TO THE BANK.

ADDING THESE TOGETHER:

WE FIND THAT WELL OVER HALF OF EVERYONE'S WAGES IS PAYING INTEREST TO THE BANKS....

THEREFORE: IF WE SIMPLY ABOLISH USURY, WE CAN WORK LESS THAN HALF THE AMOUNT OF HOURS IN A WEEK, (AND CONSEQUENTLY DO LESS THAN HALF THE AMOUNT OF DAMAGE TO THE ENVIRONMENT) WHILE MAINTAINING THE SAME STANDARD OF LIVING, AND HAVE TWICE AS MUCH LEISURE TIME IN WHICH (for instance) TO DISCUSS WHAT WE ARE GOING TO DO WITH ALL OUR SPLENDID AND AMAZING TECHNOLOGY TO CREATE A BEAUTIFUL AND PRODUCTIVE PERMACULTURE GARDEN ON THE EARTH RIGHT NOW!

Merger of Corporate Power with State Power, gigantic Fascist Monopoly: No Longer Government By The People

Cultural Marxism & Corporate Fascism Merge to Creatively Destroy the Capitalist World by James Jaeger

The Class Struggle Has Never Ended: "Any city, however small, is divided into two; one the city of the poor, the other of the rich; these are at war with one another." - Plato

Remember, the sole source of the plutocrat's power is fiat money [banking with which they can buy the military, propaganda, etc]. The sole source of the worker's power is knowledge and creativity. These are the core of the war, all wars.

The class struggle that has gone on from Plato's time to present has never ended, it has simply been ignored, renamed or made politically incorrect or taboo to discuss. But today, you can see the same divides, only they are referred to as ideologies in the hope that at least one will remedy the war. The two most extreme ideologies that have emerged on either side of yet another ideology known as capitalism, are Marxism and Fascism[Monopoly Capitalism]. Westerners supposedly know what capitalism is, but fascism and Marxism make be more illusive.

Fascism is a merger of state and corporate power. In Nazi Germany, the state took over industry and merged. It does not matter if the state takes over corporate power or corporate power takes over the state; once they have merged their power, you have a fascist entity or regime.

Marxism is a merger of the workforce into a collective bargaining power. In Pre-World War I Russia, Karl Marx attempted to unite the workers of the world to rise up and fight the "evil" capitalists of the world. Ultimately it does not matter if Communism, the end goal of Marxist philosophy comes through the door opened by socialism or cultural Marxism; once the heat shield of traditional family values, the middle class and Christian[Islamic] culture have been destroyed, you have a Marxist regime in operation.

The U.S. is going fascist, however it's also going Marxist at the same time. Multinational corporations have taken over Congress and merged interests. The military-industrial-banking complex is a spin-off of this merger. At the same time cultural institutions have been taken over by a new flavor of Marxism, known as cultural Marxism. The welfare, nanny-state and violence oriented, anti-Christian media/film business are spin-offs of this take-over. Here's how this is happening as one can see from a study of Left-wing writers assaulting Right-wing writers AND Right-wing writers assaulting Left-wing writers (e.g., Rothkopf vs. Marrs, or Napolitano vs. Moore, for instance).

Marxism is basically a movement of the workers, the employees of Earth. Generally the poor. Fascism is basically a movement of the elite, the employers of Earth. Generally the rich. Nevertheless, BOTH Marxists and fascists seek government power to help them with their objectives. Marxists want the government to regulate the big greedy corporate fascists. Corporate fascists want the government to stay out of their business except when they need a special privilege or accommodating law.

It is NOT an oversimplification to say this is the classic struggle between rich and poor, the haves and the have-nots. Those who own the means of production and those who merely operate the means of production. Those who own the means of production are generally rich and those who don't are generally poor.

This can be expanded to describe a war between the employees and the employers, the proletariat and the bourgeoisie, the debtors and the plutocrats, and the left and the right, the Democrats and the Republicans. Although these words have shades of differing meaning, have been used differently in different times and been employed by different factions for propaganda purposes -- they all come down to the same basic dilemma: homo Sapiens's struggle to survive in a wilderness universe on a planet of limited resources, if only temporarily limited. This struggle is intensified or mitigated by the simple fact of whether an individual has access to technology or not.

The Means of Production and Distribution Still Rule:

Technology is really the means of production AND distribution referred to by economists like Adam Smith. Those that have this technology have the means to create wealth as they have the means of production and distribution. Those that do not have these means, usually remain poor. Thus the present-day class struggle could be said to be between those with technology and those without technology. But as technology gives greater numbers of people the means of PRODUCTION, the only way the plutocrats can maintain a stratification and wealth disparity is by dominating the means of DISTRIBUTION or destroying the production of the poor through perpetual war. Hence the sudden high prices for oil and gasoline. The "energy" crises destroys distribution and endless wars destroy production. Thus the constant assault on the free distribution channel known as the Internet, by the fascist media companies and Hollywood-based U.S. motion picture studio/distributors, also destroys the production and distribution of vital information needed if a society is to remain free.

In the past, when nation-states were all that existed, each nation tended towards either a fascist state or a Marxist state. Whether the state was fascist or Marxist depended on who held the upper hand for the moment: workers or management. The "moment" always changed, so the tides of fascism and Marxism washed back and forth, often creating ambiguity that people who have nothing better to do (historians) can argue and write about endlessly.

Stuck on the Trees, Lost in the Forest:

Today this same ambiguity is the basis for the cockfight now embodied in the Democratic and Republican parties' (the DemGops) bid for U.S. president. But as the lower-IQ citizens of the nation preoccupy their attention with this meaningless cockfight, a scenario is emerging under their noses, a scenario that is unprecedented.

Instead of the elites attempting to set up fascist corporate regimes within national boundaries, they have risen above national boundaries and created artificial entities known as multinational corporations. These non-citizen entities, under the control of plutocrats fueled by fiat money, have made the entire world their "nation." Since these companies are almost the only ones who can afford one of the 1,500 Gulfstream G550 jets in service (costing $45 million each), they fly their CEOs around the planet setting up their global government as the stupid or unaware people below stay glued to their corporate TV sets watching the political cockfight between the DemGops and mindlessly hoping for change. But many in the nations full of poor employees and wanng middle class workers have not given up the fight. The workers of the world are more inclined than ever to unite. Whereas the fascist plutocrats own the means of production (the TV and feature film studios), the cultural Marxist workers (the writers, directors, actors and on-screen talents) make the programs the plutocrats must distribute. So this mini battle between the talent side of the movie/media business and the business side of the movie/media is always at play. And this is why mainstream media and films are now so homogenized and generic: the Marxist talent must compromise with the fascist management.

Cultural Marxism Does Its Thing:

Yes, cultural Marxism is thus alive and quite well in the arts and learning institutions of the United States (and the West) and it aims at not only commandeering government to "provide for the people" but pushing through its agenda of "critical thinking" to destroy the family unit, Christianity[Islam], the middle class, the economy and ultimately the traditional way of life as envisioned in the U.S. Constitution. On its "march through the institutions" cultural Marxism intends to squash the corporate fascists and bring big government in to regulate big business and free markets.

The workers of the world want to be taken care of, they want the Nanny State, they want government to PROVIDE and REGULATE not just PROTECT. They want government to regulate everything from guns to the stock market. They even want your dog regulated. And these socialist workers' current champion, Barack Obama, has promised to deliver all these ideals via a bigger government that will protect the poor and disenfranchised and do it by taxing the mean, greed corporate plutocrats.

Corporate Fascists Do Their Thing:

Meanwhile the big mean, greedy plutocrats are not at all concerned with socialist national politics or the yammer of the poor, middle class or disenfranchised. As far as they're concerned, these "bleeding-heart" social-misfits are being phased out as quickly as NAFTA, illegal immigration and robotics will permit. Further, the more the citizens of nations rivet their attention on the DemGop cockfight, the better the corporate fascists like it for they can better can go about their business expanding their empires and the U.S. military with fiat money. These corporate fascists' current champion, John McCain, has promised to deliver all these ideals via a better-wired, high-tech, totalitarian U.S. government that Globalist-compatible. The corporate fascists' ultimate goal is to someday replace ALL the pesky human workers -- the obstreperous proletariat -- with automated systems under AI computer control. Then the population of Earth can safely be lowered from 6.5 billion to just enough meat-workers to maintain their Robin Leach-like lifestyles and Donald Trump-like mansions indefinitely. But this corporate elite may still keep a population of human workers around for nostalgic reasons or pleasure. Naked female humans may continue to dance on poles and serve liquor rather as they may be preferred to naked female robots. Some portion of the slave-human proletariat will have to thus be tolerated by the bigoted, arrogant economic elites that meet annually at Davos, Switzerland to discuss all the global machinations enumerated in David Rothkopf's book, SUPERCLASS.

Summary of the Global Situation:

All things considered, the picture that emerges -- if one looks over the warring literature of the Left vs. the warring literature of the Right -- is this: a world of cultural Marxist-influenced working-class countries governed by a superstructure of international corporate fascists with no domicile or loyalty to any particular nation, yet operating in and exploiting ALL nations as fully as their technology, propaganda and fiat money will permit. The Marxist workers of the world will be united in so-called nation states (and later in regional superstates) while the employer corporate plutocrats will have merged together a fascist world government in various international institutions (among which are WTO, IMF/WORLD BANK, UN, WORLD COURT, NAFTA, NATO).

Although the CFR-infested U.S. government denies it, you can already see this happening. GATT, NAFTA and the WTO are the embryonic mergers of corporate powers with national sovereignties. Again, as the poor and middle class workers in these countries get squeezed, their solution will be to unite into a greater Marxist society. As this happens the plutocrats will strengthen the police powers of the state and use/cause events like 9-11 to "justify" their military build up against the "terrorists" and restriction of civil rights. Of course the corporate plutocrats, through their lap-dog media, are using the term "terrorist" to characterize any dissent from their agenda and make their assault against civil liberties more palatable to the ignorant masses. But keep in mind, their real target is the middle class, working poor, artists, writers, filmmakers, intelligentsia that thinks for itself and anyone who might threaten their superclass global fascist agenda.

Both the Marxist workers and the fascist plutocrats are thus collectives that are attempting to establish totalitarian governments to be used against each other.

As the corporate media attempts to keep the public's attention on the meaningless DemGop presidential cockfight, it is also attempting to keep people's attention away from the actual causes of the current, and continuing, meltdown in the U.S. and global financial markets. Some say the plutocrats want a meltdown so they can re-set the debt clock and issue a world fiat currency. Others say they don't want to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs -- the Federal Reserve System which lays the Federal Reserve Notes, the world's de facto reserve currency.

Creativity is always senior to money because money could not exist without creativity. The creative impulse, the creative product came first in history, well before mediums of exchange were invented. Money is thus a commodity which derives its main value from the fact that it's a medium of exchange. But money, perverted by government intervention in the free market, has become worthless to the degree it is fiat, meaning backed not by gold or silver, but the "strength" of the issuing government. Thus fiat money has become the modern-day chains the plutocrats have commandeered to bring the world's unsuspecting workers and poor under their dominion.(1) Of course, these axioms of finance will never be promulgated by the corporate media or the government school system because doing so would undermined the bargaining power the corporate fascists use to dominate.

(1) See the documentary film entitled, FIAT EMPIRE, to find out how this has been done. <http://www.FiatEmpire.com> , Also Read, WHAT HAS GOVERNMENT DONE TO OUR MONEY by Murray N. Rothbard at <http://mises.org/rothbard/rothmoney.pdf>

Usury/Debt & Fractional Reserve Banking: Predatory Finance: The New Mode of Global Warfare, the model of expropriation

Predatory Finance: The New Mode of Global Warfare

By Michael Hudson

URL of this article: www.globalresearch.ca/index.php?context=va&aid=21415

Global Research, October 12, 2010

"Coming events cast their shadows forward." – Goethe

What is to stop U.S. banks and their customers from creating $1 trillion, $10 trillion or even $50 trillion on their computer keyboards to buy up all the bonds and stocks in the world, along with all the land and other assets for sale, in the hope of making capital gains and pocketing the arbitrage spreads by debt leveraging at less than 1% interest cost? This is the game that is being played today. The outflow of dollar credit into foreign markets in pursuit of this strategy has bid up asset prices and foreign currencies, enabling speculators to pay off their U.S. positions in cheaper dollars, keeping for themselves the currency shift as well as the arbitrage interest-rate margin.

Finance has become the new mode of warfare – without the expense of military overhead and an occupation against unwilling hosts. It is a competition in credit creation to buy global real estate and natural resources, infrastructure, bonds and corporate stock ownership. Who needs an army when you can obtain monetary wealth and asset appropriation simply by financial means? Victory promises to go to the economy whose banking system can create the most credit, using an army of computer keyboards to appropriate the world's resources.

The main hurdle confronting this financial Lebensraum drive is that it requires the central banks of targeted economies to accept electronic dollar credit of depreciating international worth in payment for national assets. U.S. officials demonize countries suffering these dollar inflows as aggressive "currency manipulators" for what Treasury Secretary Tim Geithner calls "'competitive nonappreciation,' in which countries block their currencies from rising in value." Oscar Wilde would have struggled to find a more convoluted term for other countries protecting themselves from raiders trying to force up their currencies to make enormous predatory fortunes. "Competitive nonappreciation" sounds like "conspiratorial non-suicide." These countries simply are trying to protect their currencies from arbitrageurs and speculators flooding their financial markets with dollars, sweeping their currencies up and down to extract billions of dollars from their central banks.

Their central banks are being forced to choose between passively letting these inflows push up their exchange rates – thereby pricing their exports out of foreign markets – or recycling these inflows into U.S. Treasury bills yielding only 1% with declining exchange value. (Longer-term bonds risk a price decline if U.S interest rates should rise.)

The euphemism for flooding economies with credit is "quantitative easing." The Federal Reserve is pumping a tidal wave of liquidity and reserves into the financial system to reduce interest rates, ostensibly to enable banks to "earn their way" out of negative equity resulting from the bad loans made during the real estate bubble. This liquidity is spilling over to foreign economies, increasing their exchange rates. Joseph Stiglitz recently acknowledged that instead of helping the global recovery, the "flood of liquidity" from the Fed and the European Central Bank is causing "chaos" in foreign exchange markets. "The irony is that the Fed is creating all this liquidity with the hope that it will revive the American economy. ... It's doing nothing for the American economy, but it's causing chaos over the rest of the world."

What U.S. quantitative easing is achieving is to drive the dollar down and other currencies up, much to the applause of currency speculators enjoying quick and easy gains. Yet it is to defend this system that U.S. diplomats and bank lobbyists are threatening to derail the international financial system and plunge world trade into anarchy if other countries do not agree to a replay of the 1985 Plaza Accord "as a possible framework for engineering an orderly decline in the dollar and avoiding potentially destabilizing trade fights."

The Plaza Accord derailed Japan's economy by raising its exchange rate while lowering interest rates, flooding its economy with enough credit to inflate a real estate bubble. IMF managing director Dominique Strauss-Kahn was more realistic. "I'm not sure the mood is to have a new Plaza or Louvre accord," he said at a press briefing on the eve of the IMF meetings in Washington . "We are in a different time today." Acknowledging the need for

"some element of capital controls [to] be put in place," he added that in view of U.S. insistence on open, unprotected capital markets, "The idea that there is an absolute need in a globalised world to work together may lose some steam."

At issue is how long nations will succumb to the speculative dollar glut. The world is being forced to choose between subordination to U.S. economic nationalism or an interim of financial anarchy. Nations are responding by seeking to create an alternative international financial system, risking an anarchic transition period in order to create a fairer world economy.

Re-inflating the financial bubble rather than writing down debts

The global financial system already has seen one long and unsuccessful experiment in quantitative easing in Japan's carry trade. After its financial and property bubble burst in 1990, the Bank of Japan sought to enable its banks to "earn their way out of negative equity" by supplying them with low-interest credit for them to lend out. Japan's recession left little demand at home, so its banks developed the carry trade: lending at a low interest rate to arbitrageurs to buy higher-yielding securities. Iceland, for example, was paying 15%. So yen were borrowed to convert into dollars, euros, Icelandic kroner and Chinese renminbi to buy government bonds, private-sector bonds, stocks, currency options and other financial intermediation. Not much of this funding was used to finance new capital formation. It was purely financial in character – extractive, not productive.

By 2006 the United States and Europe were experiencing a financial and real estate bubble of its own. And after it burst in 2008, they did what Japan's banks did after 1990. Seeking to help U.S. banks work their way out of negative equity, the Federal Reserve flooded the economy with credit. The aim was to provide more liquidity, in the hope that banks would lend more to domestic borrowers. The economy would "borrow its way out of debt," re-inflating asset prices for real estate, stocks and bonds so as to deter home foreclosures and the ensuing wipeout of collateral on bank balance sheets.

Quantitative easing subsidizes U.S. capital flight, pushing up non-dollar currency exchange rates

Quantitative easing may not have set out to disrupt the global trade and financial system or start a round of currency speculation, but that is the result of the Fed's decision in 2008 to keep unpayably high debts from defaulting by re-inflating U.S. real estate and financial markets. The aim is to pull home ownership out of negative equity, rescuing the banking system's balance sheets and thus saving the government from having to indulge in a TARP II, which looks politically impossible given the mood of most Americans.

The announced objective is not materializing. Instead of increasing their loans against U.S. real estate, consumers or businesses, banks are still reducing their exposure. This is why the U.S. savings rate is jumping. The "saving" that is reported (up from zero to 3% of GDP) is taking the form of paying down debts taken out in the past, not building up liquid funds. Just as hoarding diverts revenue away from being spent on goods and services, so debt repayment shrinks spendable income. Why then would banks lend more under conditions where a third of U.S. homes already are in negative equity and the economy is shrinking as a result of debt deflation?

Mr. Bernanke proposes to solve this problem by injecting another $1 trillion of liquidity over the coming year, on top of the $2 trillion in new Federal Reserve credit already created during 2009-10. This quantitative easing has been sent abroad, mainly to the BRIC countries: Brazil, Russia, India and China. "Recent research at the International Monetary Fund has shown conclusively that G4 monetary easing has in the past transferred itself almost completely to the emerging economies ... since 1995, the stance of monetary policy in Asia has been almost entirely determined by the monetary stance of the G4 – the US, eurozone, Japan and China – led by the Fed." According to the IMF, "equity prices in Asia and Latin America generally rise when excess liquidity is transferred from the G4 to the emerging economies." This is what has led gold prices to surge and investors to move out of the dollar since early September, prompting other nations to protect their economies.

Speculative credit from U.S., Japanese and British banks to buy bonds, stocks and currencies in the BRIC and Third World countries is a self-feeding expansion, pushing up their currencies as well as their asset prices. Their central banks end up with these dollars, whose value falls as measured in their own local currencies. U.S. officials say that this is all part of the free market. "It is not good for the world for the burden of solving this broader problem ... to rest on the shoulders of the United States," insisted Treasury Secretary Tim Geithner on Wednesday, as if the spillover from U.S. quantitative easing and deregulation was not promoting the speculative dollar glut.

So other countries are obliged to solve the problem on their own. Japan is holding down its exchange rate by selling yen and buying U.S. Treasury bonds in the face of its carry trade being unwound as arbitrageurs pay back the yen they earlier borrowed to buy higher-yielding but increasingly risky sovereign debt from countries such as Greece. These paybacks have pushed up the yen's exchange rate by 12% against the dollar so far during 2010, prompting Bank of Japan governor Masaaki Shirakawa to announce on Tuesday, October 5, that Japan had "no choice" but to "spend 5 trillion yen ($60 billion) to buy government bonds, corporate IOUs, real-estate investment trust funds and exchange-traded funds – the latter two a departure from past practice."

This "sterilization" of unwanted inflows is what the United States has criticized China for doing. China has tried more normal ways to recycle its trade surplus, by seeking out U.S. companies to buy. But Congress would not let CNOOC buy into U.S. oil refinery capacity a few years ago, and the Canadian government is now being urged to block China's attempt to purchase its potash resources. Such protectionism leaves little option for China and other countries except to hold their currencies stable by purchasing U.S. and European government bonds.

The problem for all countries today is that as presently structured, the global financial system rewards speculation and makes it difficult for central banks to maintain stability without recycling dollar inflows to the U.S. Government, which enjoys a near monopoly in providing the world's central bank reserves by running budget and balance-of-payments deficits. As noted earlier, arbitrageurs obtain a twofold gain: the margin between Brazil's nearly 12% yield on its long-term government bonds and the cost of U.S. credit (1%), plus the foreign-exchange gain resulting from the fact that the outflow from dollars into reals has pushed up the real's exchange rate some 30% – from R$2.50 at the start of 2009 to R$1.75 last week. Taking into account the ability to leverage $1 million of one's own equity investment to buy $100 million of foreign securities, the rate of return is 3000% since January 2009.

Brazil has been more a victim than a beneficiary of what is euphemized as a “capital inflow.” The inflow of foreign money has pushed up the real by 4% in just over a month (from September 1 through early October), and the past year’s run-up has eroded the competitiveness of Brazilian exports. To deter the currency’s rise, the government imposed a 4% tax on foreign purchases of its bonds on October 4. “It’s not only a currency war,” Finance Minister Guido Mantega explained. “It tends to become a trade war and this is our concern.” Thailand’s central bank director Wongwatoo Potirat warned that his country was considering similar taxes and currency trade restrictions to stem the baht’s rise. Subir Gokarn, deputy governor of the Reserve Bank of India, announced that his country also was reviewing defenses against the “potential threat” of inward capital flows.”

Such inflows do not provide capital for tangible investment. They are predatory, and cause currency fluctuation that disrupts trade patterns while creating enormous trading profits for large financial institutions and their customers. Yet most discussions treat the balance of payments and exchange rates as if they were determined purely by commodity trade and “purchasing power parity,” not by the financial flows and military spending that actually dominate the balance of payments. The reality is that today’s financial interregnum – anarchic “free” markets prior to countries hurriedly putting up their own monetary defenses – provides the arbitrage opportunity of the century. This is what bank lobbyists have been pressing for. It has little to do with the welfare of workers in their own country.

The potentially largest speculative prize promises to be an upward revaluation of China’s renminbi. The House Ways and Means Committee is demanding that China raise its exchange rate by the 20 percent that the Treasury and Federal Reserve are suggesting. Revaluation of this magnitude would enable speculators to put down 1% equity – say, $1 million to borrow $99 million – and buy Chinese renminbi forward. The revaluation being demanded would produce a 2000% profit of $20 million by turning the $100 million bet (and just $1 million “serious money”) into $120 million. Banks can trade on much larger, nearly infinitely leveraged margins, much like drawing up CDO swaps and other derivative plays.

This kind of money has been made by speculating on Brazilian, Indian and Chinese securities and those of other countries whose exchange rates have been forced up by credit-flight out of the dollar, which has fallen by 7% against a basket of currencies since early September when the Federal Reserve floated the prospect of quantitative easing. During the week leading up to the IMF meetings in Washington, the Thai baht and Indian rupee soared in anticipation that the United States and Britain would block any attempts by foreign countries to change the financial system and curb disruptive currency gambling.

This capital outflow from the United States has indeed helped domestic banks rebuild their balance sheets, as the Fed intended. But in the process the international financial system has been victimized as collateral damage. This prompted Chinese officials to counter U.S. attempts to blame it for running a trade surplus by retorting that U.S. financial aggression “risked bringing mutual destruction upon the great economic powers.”

From the gold-exchange standard to the Treasury-bill standard to “free credit” anarchy

Indeed, the standoff between the United States and other countries at the IMF meetings in Washington this weekend threatens to cause the most serious rupture since the breakdown of the London Monetary Conference in 1933. The global financial system threatens once again to break apart, deranging the world’s trade and investment relationships – or to take a new form that will leave the United States isolated in the face of its structural long-term balance-of-payments deficit.

This crisis provides an opportunity – indeed, a need – to step back and review the longue durée of international financial evolution to see where past trends are leading and what paths need to be re-tracked. For many centuries prior to 1971, nations settled their balance of payments in gold or silver. This “money of the world,” as Sir James Steuart called gold in 1767, formed the basis of domestic currency as well. Until 1971 each U.S. Federal Reserve note was backed 25% by gold, valued at $35 an ounce. Countries had to obtain gold by running trade and payments surpluses in order to increase their money supply to facilitate general economic expansion. And when they ran trade deficits or undertook military campaigns, central banks restricted the supply of domestic credit to raise interest rates and attract foreign financial inflows.

As long as this behavioral condition remained in place, the international financial system operated fairly smoothly under checks and balances, albeit under “stop-go” policies when business expansions led to trade and payments deficits. Countries running such deficits raised their interest rates to attract foreign capital, while slashing government spending, raising taxes on consumers and slowing the domestic economy so as to reduce the purchase of imports.

What destabilized this system was war spending. War-related transactions spanning World Wars I and II enabled the United States to accumulate some 80% of the world’s monetary gold by 1950. This made the dollar a virtual proxy for gold. But after the Korean War broke out, U.S. overseas military spending accounted for the entire payments deficit during the 1950s and ‘60s and early ‘70s, while private-sector trade and investment were exactly in balance.

By August 1971, war spending in Vietnam and other foreign countries forced the United States to suspend gold convertibility of the dollar through sales via the London Gold Pool. But largely by inertia, central banks continued to settle their payments balances in U.S. Treasury securities. After all, there was no other asset in sufficient supply to form the basis for central bank monetary reserves. But replacing gold – a pure asset – with dollar-denominated U.S. Treasury debt transformed the global financial system. It became debt-based, not asset-based. And geopolitically, the Treasury-bill standard made the United States immune from the traditional balance-of-payments and financial constraints, enabling its capital markets to become more highly debt-leveraged and “innovative.” It also enabled the U.S. Government to wage foreign policy and military campaigns without much regard for the balance of payments.

The problem is that the supply of dollar credit has become potentially infinite. The “dollar glut” has grown in proportion to the U.S. payments deficit. Growth in central bank reserves and sovereign-country funds has taken the form of recycling of dollar inflows into new purchases of U.S. Treasury securities – thereby making foreign central banks (and taxpayers) responsible for financing most of the U.S. federal budget deficit. The fact that this deficit is largely military in nature – for purposes that many foreign voters oppose – makes this lock-in particularly galling. So it hardly is surprising that foreign countries are seeking an alternative.

Contrary to most public media posturing, the U.S. payments deficit – and hence, other countries' payments surpluses – is not primarily a trade deficit. Foreign military spending has accelerated despite the Cold War ending with dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991. Even more important has been rising capital outflows from the United States. Banks lent to foreign governments from Third World countries to other deficit countries to cover their national payments deficits, to private borrowers to buy the foreign infrastructure being privatized or to buy foreign stocks and bonds, and to arbitrageurs to borrow at a low interest rate to buy higher-yielding securities abroad.

The corollary is that other countries' balance-of-payments surpluses do not stem primarily from trade relations, but from financial speculation and a spillover of U.S. global military spending. Under these conditions the maneuvering for quick returns by banks and their arbitrage customers is distorting exchange rates for international trade. U.S. "quantitative easing" is coming to be perceived as a euphemism for a predatory financial attack on the rest of the world. Trade and currency stability are part of the "collateral damage" caused by the Federal Reserve and Treasury flooding the economy with liquidity to re-inflate U.S. asset prices. Faced with this quantitative easing flooding the economy with reserves to "save the banks" from negative equity, all countries are obliged to act as "currency manipulators." So much money is made by purely financial speculation that "real" economies are being destroyed.

The coming capital controls

The global financial system is being broken up as U.S. monetary officials change the rules they laid down half a century ago. Prior to the United States going off gold in 1971, nobody dreamed that an economy could create unlimited credit on computer keyboards and not see its currency plunge. But that is what happens under the global Treasury-bill standard. Foreign countries can prevent their currencies from rising against the dollar (which prices their labor and exports out of foreign markets) only by (1) recycling dollar inflows into U.S. Treasury securities, (2) by imposing capital controls, or (3) by avoiding use of the dollar or other currencies used by financial speculators in economies promoting "quantitative easing."

Malaysia used capital controls during the 1997 Asian Crisis to prevent short-sellers from covering their bets. This confronted speculators with a short squeeze that George Soros says made him lose money on the attempted raid. Other countries are now reviewing how to impose capital controls to protect themselves from the tsunami of credit flowing into their currencies and buying up their assets – along with gold and other commodities that are turning into vehicles for speculation rather than actual use in production. Brazil took a modest step along this path by using tax policy rather than outright capital controls when it taxed foreign buyers of its bonds last week.

If other nations take this route, it will reverse the policy of open and unprotected capital markets adopted after World War II. This trend threatens to lead to the kind of international monetary practice found from the 1930s into the '50s: dual exchange rates, one for financial movements and another for trade. It probably would mean replacing the IMF, World Bank and WTO with a new set of institutions, isolating U.S., British and eurozone representation.

To defend itself, the IMF is proposing to act as a "central bank" creating what was called "paper gold" in the late 1960s – artificial credit in the form of Special Drawing Rights (SDRs). However, other countries already have complained that voting control remains dominated by the major promoters of arbitrage speculation – the United States, Britain and the eurozone. And the IMF's Articles of Agreement prevent countries from protecting themselves, characterizing this as "interfering" with "open capital markets." So the impasse reached this weekend appears to be permanent. As one report summarized matters: "There is only one obstacle, which is the agreement of the members," said a frustrated Mr Strauss Kahn." He added: "The language is ineffective."

Paul Martin, the former Canadian prime minister who helped create the G20 after the 1997-1998 Asian financial crisis, noted that "the big powers were largely immune to being named and shamed." And in a Financial Times interview, Mohamed El-Erian, a former senior IMF official and now chief executive of Pimco, said: "You have a burst pipe behind the wall and the water is coming out. You have to fix the pipe, not just patch the wall."

The BRIC countries are simply creating their own parallel system. In September, China supported a Russian proposal to start direct trading between the yuan and the ruble. It has brokered a similar deal with Brazil. And on the eve of the IMF meetings in Washington on Friday, October 8, Premier Wen stopped off in Istanbul to reach agreement with Turkish Prime Minister Erdogan to use their own currencies in tripling Turkish-Chinese trade to $50 billion over the next five years, effectively excluding the U.S. dollar. "We are forming an economic strategic partnership ... In all of our relations, we have agreed to use the lira and yuan," Mr. Erdogan said.

On the deepest economic plane today's global financial breakdown is part of the price to be paid for the Federal Reserve and U.S. Treasury refusing to accept a prime axiom of banking: Debts that cannot be paid, won't be. They tried to "save" the banking system from debt write-downs in 2008 by keeping the debt overhead in place while re-inflating asset prices. In the face of the repayment burden shrinking the U.S. economy, the Fed's idea of helping the banks "earn their way out of negative equity" is to provide opportunities for predatory finance, leading to a flood of financial speculation. Economies targeted by global speculators understandably are seeking alternative arrangements. It does not look like these can be achieved via the IMF or other international forums in ways that U.S. financial strategists will willingly accept.

Notes

[1] Sewell Chan, "Currency Rift With China Exposes Shifting Clout," The New York Times, October 11, 2010.

[2] Walter Brandimarte, "Fed, ECB throwing world into chaos: Stiglitz," Reuters, Oct. 5, 2010, reporting on a talk by Prof. Stiglitz at Columbia University, <http://www.reuters.com/article/idUSTRE6944M920101005>. Dirk Bezemer and Geoffrey Gardiner, "Quantitative Easing is Pushing on a String" (paper prepared for the Boeckler Conference, Berlin, October 29-30, 2010), make clear that "QE provides bank customers, not banks, with loanable funds. Central Banks can supply commercial banks with liquidity that facilitates interbank payments and payments by customers and banks to the government, but what banks lend is their own debt, not that of the central bank. Whether the funds are lent for useful purposes will depend, not on the adequacy of the supply of fund, but on whether the environment is encouraging to real investment." (p.c., G. Gardiner)

[3] Tom Lauricella, "Dollar's Fall Roils World: As Global Leaders Meet, Strains Rise Among Nations Competing to Save Exports," Wall Street Journal, October 8, 2010, quoting Edwin Truman, a former U.S. Treasury official now a senior fellow at the Peterson Institute for International Economics.

[4] Alan Beattie, Chris Giles and Michiyo Nakamoto, "Currency war fears dominate IMF talks," Financial Times, Oct. 9, 2010, and Alex Frangos, "Easy Money Churns Emerging Markets," Wall Street Journal, Oct. 8, 2010.

[5] Gavyn Davies, "The global implications of QE2," Financial Times, October 5, 2010.

[6] Alan Beattie, "Global economy: Going head to head," Financial Times, October 8, 2010.

[7] Megumi Fujikawa and David Wessel, "Central Banks Open Spigot," Wall Street Journal, October 6, 2010.

[8] Jonathan Wheatley, "Investors calm over Brazil tax rise," Financial Times, October 6, 2010.

[9] Alan Beattie, Joshua Chaffin and Kevin Brown, "Wen warns against renminbi pressure," Financial Times, October 7, 2010.

[10] Alan Beattie, "Global economy: Going head to head," Financial Times, October 8, 2010.

[11] Chris Giles and Alan Beattie, "Leaders pledge cooperation on currencies," Financial Times, October 9, 2010.

[12] Chris Giles and Alan Beattie, "Global clash over economy," Financial Times, October 10, 2010.

[13] Alan Beattie and Chris Giles, "IMF meeting dashes hopes for co-operation," Financial Times, October 10, 2010.

[14] Joe Parkinson, "Turkey, China Shun the Dollar in Conducting Trade," Wall Street Journal, October 8, 2010.

Feudal Bankers' (Banksters/BankLords) Conspiracy: How They Control The World! If Money Rules The World, Then Who Rules The Money?

United States Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter is reported to have received a copy of Eva Frank's portrait from his mother, a descendent of the Prague Sabbatean Frankist family. Here is a quote from Frankfurter: "The real rulers in Washington are invisible and exercise their power from behind the scenes."-- Justice Felix Frankfurter, U.S. Supreme Court.

The Government as Identity Thieves on Behalf of The Bankers: "The spotlight remains on the Greek sovereign debt crisis as the riots continue. The terms of the Greek bailout from the IMF and Eurozone countries remain contentious with citizens on all sides. Europeans hate having their governments throw public money away as much as Americans do. The Greeks are not happy about having their taxes raised while their pensions and salaries are cut. Meanwhile, it is rumored by the Financial Times, AFP and others that Greece may spend more than it saves from austerity measures on arms deals with Germany, France and the US as a potential condition of receiving bailout funds. If true, it is certainly not unprecedented for the global military industrial complex to benefit from deals made by their friends in the central banking community. After all, war is the health of the state. The last thing big government proponents want is for peace to break out in the world..." Click here to continue reading: http://www.house.gov/htbin/blog_inc?BLOG_tx14_paul_blog_999>All,Item%20not%20found, ID=100517_3701,TEMPLATE=postingdetail.shtml Alternate link: <http://www.house.gov/paul/index.shtml>

The following is expanded on Louis Even & Murry Gaureraux. In the old days in the barter system, 10 families could be supported by 10 men working. The wives could stay at home and raise the children properly with morals and values. The children were happy in a secure environment and learned from their parents as well as helping them with their work. If a crime was committed, the community could decide the most appropriate punishment depending on the circumstances and loss involved. Children were educated concentrating on reading (phonetics) writing & arithmetic with practical and worthwhile examples. Guns were used for hunting, defense and also to keep any person from declaring himself as dictator or king. If someone invented new technology, the other 9 could exchange their goods & services for devices that would reduce their work week 5 to 10 hours per week for example. If an expert gave advice, that advice would be bartered for enabling others to learn. If a new place of worship or school needed to be built, the 10 could donate or give their 10% of goods & services and the building would be fully paid for with that community gaining the benefits and/or revenue in perpetuity.

Now an International Banker arrives and sells them the idea that he will lend each family $100 to speed up the transfer of goods and services. It will save time haggling and he will not charge for bookkeeping services. It is all covered in the 10% interest charge each year. The first year seems to be ok but at the end of the first year, the banker can collect his $10 interest from each family and have $100 in his pocket leaving only $900 in circulation unless the banker finds someone to lend the $10 or the banker spends it himself. If the banker chooses to call in all the loans at that time, at a minimum one family is forced into bankruptcy due to only $900 left in the community to pay the total principle outstanding of $1,000 in the community. These family/families are forced into bankruptcy no matter how hard they work or how smart they operate.

The question at this time is "who has the money to hire new technology to replace the workers to drive down the wages?" Who has the money to pass legislation to bring in cheap foreign labor despite the unrest and problems it causes driving down the already low wages. The question at this time is, who has the money to hire the "experts" to confuse everyone else in order to change black into white and white into black? Like we have to raise interest rates and slow down the growth of the money supply in order to fight inflation as the economy is getting overheated. Contrast that with President Thomas Jefferson: "I believe that [private] banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around [the banks] will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the people, to whom it properly belongs." ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809) <http://www.sonic.net/sentinel/nai2.html>)

"I consider the foundation of the Constitution as laid on this ground that "all powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states or to the people. " ... To take a single step beyond the boundaries thus specially drawn around the powers of Congress is to take possession of a boundless field of power, no longer susceptible of any definition. The incorporation of a bank, and the powers assumed by this bill (chartering the first Bank of the United States), have not, been delegated to the United States by the Constitution." - Thomas Jefferson - in opposition to the chartering of the first Bank of the United States (1791).

With now at least $60 Trillion in debt World wide, who loses from 10% inflation and gains from buying companies and assets on 10 cents on the dollar in recessions or collapses like Asia, Brazil, Argentina, etc. Who has the money to finance new public projects to gain the benefits and/or revenue in perpetuity? Who has the money to alter the educational system so students reading, math & real practical knowledge has dropped dramatically yet they are studying so many facts, knowledge and formulas that they are sick of school and can't wait for the week end to party? Who has the money to alter the legal system so those that go against the system get years in jail and the large corporate robbers & polluters get off with minimal time or fines? The banker chooses to inflate the money supply for several years or a generation as it gives him time to lay his spider web more strongly and so the people forget how good it was in the past. He introduces programs like unemployment which extracts money from the middle class to pay for the squeezed out worker. Social and mental programs are introduced to sugar coat the real problems arising from the simple change of barter (each community issuing its money) to the international banker issuing debt created money for the community.

In the old days, you had 10 men supporting 10 families. Now with banker created debt money, you have 10 men and their wives working to support 20 to 30 families. The children are in day care or on the streets with no guidance. The parents are stressed when they do get time with family and don't know how to explain the constant pressure to make money. Now whereas instead of 10 families struggling with a bankruptcy rate each year approximately equal to the interest rate, there are several hundred million people in the same situation as the families above. The mentality of cooperation and helping others has changed from 100 years ago to an almost dog eat dog due not daring to help due to the debt load, having to make interest payments, not being able to relax because if a person does, someone else will get that job, contract or asset if a person backs off and doesn't keep pushing. Companies and countries are in the same situation of competition or survival of the economic fittest in order to survive from such a simple created book keeping banking problem but it has such horrendous nightmarish results for the World. The Banker is taking much over 30% annually of the peoples' wealth for computer entries and through manipulation of the money supply, wars, takeovers, monopolies and other frauds such as the use of exotic financial derivatives. The CEO's, experts, politicians, military and those supporting the economic slavery along with the unemployed and those that have chosen crime as an alternative to making money to survive need to live on real goods and services that the 10 families are providing. Now you know why you have to work harder and longer for less even though the technology is there to provide for everyone in a bountiful fashion that God has provided for us if we choose to use it wisely and fairly.

It is important to improve the educational system as then it keeps the students so busy learning facts, formulas and figures that they do not learn the real important knowledge. Those students coming out as PH.Ds (piled higher and drier or those that learn more and more about less and less until they know everything about nothing) and Masters will then be the strongest supporters of the system as they will not believe it is the smartest that is the easiest to brainwash if you give them the "right" information (i.e. propaganda). For a simple test who is most and easiest to brain wash, send this email to various educated friends and ask for their response. Generally I have found, the most educated will listen the least & fight the most about the simple logic of this information. They are the least likely to research documentation for themselves. It is important to inform the people about the fraud of the mass media which only gives the sheep/cattle what the banker wants them to read and hear. The papers like Spotlight that will not toe the bankers' line through pulled advertising, threats or bribes, are shut down through crooked judges and their court orders.

The "cold wars" are setup to extract military spending for black projects like the CIA controlling the drug trade covered in the book Dope Inc.. It is the independents or those on the inside that do not want their share decreased like Noriega of the Panama that get caught and their drugs go back into the pipeline after a suitable time has passed. The intelligence communities work for the Fortune 100 corporations and monitor the people for any possible threats to the Bankers power in order to neutralize them ahead of time. Wars are the fastest way of destroying the independent wealth of the communities and making them dependant on the bankers for loans to rebuild their countries like Germany in WW1 & 2, Japan that were rebuilt by the Rothschilds and Rockefellers using new manufacturing technologies (some say SONY is short for Standard OIL of New York) which is why they are a leader in those areas, or other countries are still left desolate like Kosovo or Iraq or Afghanistan, etc..

Walmart didn't really get going strong until the Rockefellers joined forces using their connections to cheap manufacturing overseas like China where competitors were blocked under the supposed trading & restrictions and now with bureaucratic "red communist" tape. Of course as a condition of the loans, certain leaders beholden to the bankers will have to be put into leadership positions. Is that what happened when Conoco lost their oil pipeline bid with Afghanistan when the Taliban made a better deal with an Argentinian Oil Company Bridas? Were there too many drug independents that needed to be squeezed out at the same time of the Afghan poppy trade?

One branch of the Rothschilds financed the south and another branch financed the north in the US civil war and slavery was chosen as the issue to divide the growing prosperous country as Mexico & Canada were too weak to build up and it was too expensive to send ships, arms and men from Europe. President Abraham Lincoln was given the opportunity to borrow at 28% from the Rothschilds. He chose to issue 450 million interest free in Greenbacks incurring the Bankers wrath <http://www.prolognet.qc.ca/clyde/pres.htm> and was promptly assassinated. Shortly after that happened, "The London Times" printed the following: "if that mischievous financial policy, which had its origin in the North American Republic, should become indurated down to a fixture, then that Government will furnish its own money without cost. It will pay off debts and be without a debt. It will have all the money necessary to carry on its commerce. It will become prosperous beyond precedent in the history of the civilized governments of the World. The brains and the wealth of all countries will go to North America. That government must be destroyed, or it will destroy every monarchy (misleading as the bankers owned the monarchies by that time through loans and the agents they had inserted around them by that time) on the globe."

As Lincoln said in one speech after he was reelected, he had two enemies of which one was the south/war and the other the money power. Of the two he feared the money power more and after the war was settled, he would work on the money power. It was just a short time later that the hired agent Booth killed him. A coded key was found linking him to Judah Benjamin Strong an agent of the Rothschilds in the United States. For a simple math question, how much interest did the 450 million printed directly save the American people since 1865 at 28% interest amortized over 30 years? After you have done this calculation, do you have a motive for the killing of Lincoln and why he said he feared the money power more? Why does a bank robber with under $10,000 theft get on average 6 to 7 years in jail yet those in the Savings & Loans scandal in the US get only on average 1 to 2 years if that when they mismanaged and stole millions for themselves and those pensioners and others lost their life savings after years of work? Or they only received partial payouts after years of waiting? Why did Henry Ford say it would only require 60 to 70 bankers being put into jail to stop all wars when plans were told to him for World War II and how various people would profit from it when riding on a ship to Europe". The Czar of Russia was targeted for his helping Lincoln and the United States as he sent a fleet of ships to New York and San Francisco to block fleets from Britain and France and for not having a central bank controlled by the Rothschilds or the other 12 illuminati elite families.

By the early 1900's, the Russia was producing 12 million barrels of oil per day compared to the US with only 9 million barrels per day. If they had been allowed to industrialize with their own money, they could have been more technologically advanced than the US contrary to the myth that it was so bad there which is why the people rebelled. Thus the Bolshevik Revolution was financed to throw him out of power with the aim to take out the competition in banking and oil. Standard Oil provided the training facilities for a number of the revolutionaries, Jacob Schiff supplied 20 million in gold, the Rothschilds' intelligence and other support. Rothschild (Red Shield) matches with the Red Armies of Russia & China and they like to have front governments with politicians controlled by them assuring that their central banks can easily lend large volumes of money secured by the people's earning power. Interest rates and loans can fluctuate as they determine for maximum profits to themselves and their insiders. Now, 13 Khazar Jewish Oligarchic families control Russian wealth.

The French Revolution in France removed the King and the Roman Catholic Church as competitors. When Rothschild-backed Napoleon sent his general in to the Vatican in 1798, it would be interesting to know what terms and deals that were made afterwards. While Napoleon seemingly was such a power according to the school history text books, who had enough influence to have him exiled to an island and later poisoned with arsenic according to hair samples when he didn't follow orders close enough?

Some say that John F. Kennedy was working with others to issue constitutional US Treasury dollars with no interest owing <http://www.prolognet.qc.ca/clyde/pres.htm>. They had 4.3 billion printed distributed in several banks and as the State of Texas had the easiest legal method of issuing their money due to having to annually renew their United States Federal Treaty Agreement, Governor O'Connally was also helping. That is why O'Connelly was also shot at and it was not a random bullet. Other reasons for JFK's assassination are his insistence that the Zionist state be non-nuclear, his plan to dismantle the CIA's terrorist activities, his plan to pull out of Vietnam, etc. all of which affect the bankers' income. John Kennedy Jr. was killed by a bomb set off on his airplane in the tail section before he could raise much public awareness about his running for US presidency as he might become a real threat like his father. His supposed flight inexperience was a cover story for the gullible public to swallow.

Benjamin Franklin printed the State of Philadelphia's dollars on his printing press in proportion to the projects the state of Philadelphia needed to be built like roads, schools and other buildings. The people were happy, there was very little crime, drinking or other social problems. When asked on his Europe trip as to what the United States owed its prosperity and happiness to as there was so much unemployment and starvation there, he said we print money as needed for beneficial projects. The international bankers realized they needed to do something and in essence, the Rothschilds told the King of England to issue an order that the US dollars were not to be accepted any more and their British money had to be used. By issuing only 1 British dollar for 2 US dollars, they cut the amount in 1/2 per person in circulation and then through high interest rates and calling in loans, cut that amount in circulation to 1/4 from the previous amount. In a short 2 or 3 years there was 25 to 30% unemployment, drinking, crime, divorces, debtors prison, forced child work etc. Benjamin Franklin said we would have gladly borne the tax on the tea if we could have kept our own money which very few people know about as it would not do to have the people learn anything valuable about the real history in school of the 1776 revolution. There is a reason that the Rockefellers related to the Rothschilds and originally borrowers of in the past bought up controlling interest in the five major text book companies and Encyclopedia Britannica. There is a reason for the constant change in text books often times for the worse in ease of real understanding as there is not much profit in text books that are used for 50 years like the McGuffy readers.

US and Canada by having partial control and issuing their own money built up their countries until 1913 with roads, bridges, buildings etc. with very little debt until the Federal Reserve Act in the US (the name carefully chosen to deceive the people from knowing that it is a privately owned corporation with most of the ownership European) and a similar Banking Act creating the Bank of Canada in Canada. Despite parliamentary hearings in England in the 1930's, they still don't know who the owners of the Bank of England are, i.e. the Rothschilds.

A Democracy is easiest for the International Bankers to run as then the people believe they are free but it only takes about 200 out of 300 people bribed, blackmailed or brain washed congressmen to make laws and legislation for 300 million people. USSR was too inefficient as too many people were rebelling or just putting in time against the elite dictatorship. A plan was conceived wherein there was a resemblance of a democratic revolution to over throw communism. National industries were privatized and sold for cents on the dollar to Rothschild front men. Medical, pensions and other programs to help people were cut back or out and now there is approximately 50% unemployment.

In countries like Africa and South America it was less costly to finance terrorist movements to overthrow semi-corrupt governments that were not handing enough mines, assets or interests in the countries wealth to the bankers and/or banker controlled transnational corporations. The war for Kosovo was planned & told to others in the 1991 Builderberger meeting as the not compliant enough president Slobodan Milosevic needed to be removed so the oil and mineral wealth could be extracted for outside companies, a pipeline be built to carry the oil from the Caspian Sea through to Afghanistan and then from there to China to supply the growing energy demands of 1.1 billion people. A destroyed country is always easier to negotiate with. It is also a good example to show other obstinate countries to bring them back in line.

There are people that remember the supposed gas oil shortage when prices spiked up in 1973 in the US. An oil executive in Lybia said there were oil tankers loaded with oil sitting offshore but the 30 year oil leases had expired with the middle east countries. The terms of the new agreement were such that with the increased oil royalties to 20% minus capital costs and with greater tax right offs from the US government, the oil companies were actually making more money than before. For a simple math question, if OPEC countries get 20% royalty from every barrel of oil sold from their country, who gets the other 80% of each dollar from oil sold? Who benefits more from oil going to $60 dollars per barrel from $20 per barrel? What is the amount of government taxes on each gallon of gas sold? What percentage of the government budget goes to pay just interest on the debt owing and why is that the richest countries have the highest debt load? Who gets most of the blame for the high prices in the mass media? Why is it that OPEC is blamed first, the oil companies next and never a word about the bankers benefiting? Did the banks/government get even with the oil companies on the Alaska pipeline through red tape and delays so that the price of the pipeline went from 2 Billion to over 12 Billion nearly bankrupting the oil companies and forcing them to borrow their net worth. They also blocked them from tapping enough oil reserves and enough natural gas for 200 years supply. Did they not want the US to be self sufficient and able to pay all their debt off? <http://www.reformation.org/energy-non-crisis.html> How easy is it to bamboozle the average citizen? If there are 30 year contracts with the middle east countries, what is 30 years plus 1973? When did the war break out with Iraq? 30 years ago, Iraq did not have the knowledge and skilled work force to operate and maintain the oil fields and equipment. Now they do and have the money to maybe operate & receive 100% of the revenue. What kind of terms are Iran & Saudi Arabia going to agree to after seeing what happened to Iraq? Which companies transported and received the first ship loads of oil from Iraq after the last war was over? Which oil pipeline was started up again that had been shut down after the 1967 Israeli war? Those answers lead to who was behind the war and who are benefiting from it. Saddam Hussein was a pussy cat compared to Bush & company and those against him directing the counter revolution attempting to get more of a cut on oil revenues.

Most people think that a bank lends money out that it has set aside from savings or some ratio of that. Banks actually create money. A person signing a note or mortgage of $100,000 creates paper wealth that the bank can then set up as an asset in a numbered account to create a loan of $100,000 from which that person can write checks to disburse money (actually debt backed fiction money) to other people or stores. For the bank, it was just a matter of electronic digits to create & keep track of, but for the person to repay the interest on top of the principle, he has to repay with blood, sweat & tears. For a 30 year mortgage on his house, he can repay twice the principle in interest. That is why third and fourth generation farms are foreclosed on by bank managers. The only work the bankers do is type some numbers on the keyboard in air conditioned offices. There is a misconception that governments need to pay down the debt as a solution to the problem. When 10% of the debt is paid down, that reduces the money in circulation by approximately 10% as nearly all money in circulation is debt created money except a small amount of coinage. When the average dollar is exchanged 5 to 6 times a year, a $100 dollar debt payment dollar reduction can mean $550 loss of goods and services exchanged in one year. For a billion dollar debt pay down, that can mean $5.5 billion in loss of goods and services that would normally be exchanged.

That ratio is why economies can fluctuate so fast from growth to recession due to just interest rates and bankers control over lending, and has a no correlation to the willingness of people to work, the education of the people and the other spins the mass media puts out such as when the 1929 crash was connected somehow to the farm economy going bad due to drought which led to escalating failures. The drought was in the money supply because the bankers conspired to call in loans. If a person takes the 30 year loan rate and subtracts the short term 1 year loan rate, that will give almost exactly the growth rate of the economy in 1.5 years. For example, if the 30 year rate is 7%, and the 1 year loan rate is 5% then in 1.5 years, the economy will be growing at about 2%. If the 1 year loan rate is 9%, then in about 1.5 years, the economy will be contracting at about 2%. Now the economists' figures give the gross numbers but don't include the shift and concentration of wealth from the poor to the wealthy. A paper company can't be producing more with 10,000 employees that have been laid off while a 10 million dollar bonus goes to the CEO who did the hatchet job. With increased profits, the stock goes up and you tell me how much stock the average unemployed person owns and who owns the majority of the stock?

Germany after WWI had about 30% unemployment due to the war reparations payable in gold to the bankers. If there is only a 2% increase in the gold supply each year, a factory that can increase production of shoes 25% each year but sells the production to get gold will have to keep dropping their price in order to sell the shoes as there isn't enough gold in circulation, and the banker who owns the gold is only going to buy a few shoes. The people that need the shoes and are willing to work for them, don't have gold so there is no medium of exchange. Hitler when campaigning promised to pay every pfennig (penny) back in loans as he was planted by the bankers. Once he got in power, the people that backed & chose him, quit paying the loans in gold to the banks in England and France as they realized the problem as described in the above example of shoes. They created their own money and made agreements with companies that they could build factories in Germany but they could only take out part of the production and not gold which was draining the country.

The real Germans (not Hitler who was a grandson of Baron Rothschild of Austria http://www.bibliotecapleyades.net/sociopolitica/esp_sociopol_rothschild04.htm) realized that any country that went against the bankers would have military force used against them, from another country that was under the bankers' control, if the bankers could not get their way so they started building up the economy including the military and the infrastructure to support it. Within 2 or 3 years, there was virtually no unemployment and within 10 years, by careful choices, money creation with the industry of the German people, they were able to have a prosperous country that was producing planes, ships and other wealth. It is unfortunate the average person did not understand and could have said no to the created staged WWII that made ruins of all that wealth with Christians from the Allies fighting Christians from Germany and Italy whilst the bankers were laughing all the way to their banks.

It is a misconception that money needs to be backed by gold in order to bring stability to the dollar. When the Rothschilds control and own enough gold that they set the price in London each day, just who benefits from that party line? Which would you rather have, yen backed by the productive manufacturing might of the Japanese or the rand from a country torn apart by created conflicts so more gold diamonds and other wealth can flow to the Oppenheims and their cohorts? What is most important, like Benjamin Franklin said, is to issue money as needed for beneficial projects. Canada could issue 1 billion for a computer chip factory. They could issue another billion for other factories to produce robots to make life easier for workers. They could build factories and replace what they are importing in manufactured goods. The people of Canada would own those factories and get the revenue from them. The flow of money outwards would go to contractors and laborers who could then buy other goods & services. <http://www.michaeljournal.org/appenD.htm>. Why is it that a country can produce all kinds of ships, airplanes and hardware during WWII and yet 50 years later, have high unemployment in several provinces and manufacturing be virtually shut down in those industries?

Thomas Edison: "People [private Federal Reserve Corporation stockholders] who will not turn a shovel full of dirt on the project (Muscle Shoals Dam) nor contribute a pound of material, will collect more money [usury] from the United States than will the People who supply all the material and do all the work. This is the terrible thing about interest ...But here is the point: If our nation can issue a dollar bond, it can issue a dollar bill. The element that makes the bond good, makes the bill good also. The difference between the bond and the bill is that the bond lets the money brokers collect twice the amount of the bond and an additional 20 percent, whereas the currency, the honest sort provided by the Constitution, pays nobody but those who contribute directly to Muscle Shoals in some useful way..." "It is absurd to say that our country can issue $30 million in bonds and not $30 million in currency. Both are promises to pay, but one fattens the usurers and the other helps the people. If the currency issued by the Government was no good, then the bonds would be no good either. It is a terrible situation when the Government, to increase the national wealth, must go into debt and submit to ruinous interest charges at the hands of men who control the fictitious value of gold. [interest is the invention of Satan]"

"Sound money and free banking are not impossible; they are merely illegal. Freedom of money and freedom of banking ... are the principles that must guide our steps." -- Hans F. Sennholz

Baron Nathan Mayer Rothschild (1777-1836) London financier, one of the founders of the international Rothschild banking dynasty: "I care not what puppet is placed on the throne of England to rule the Empire, ...The man that controls Britain's money supply controls the British Empire. And I control the money supply."

Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild (1744-1812): "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependant on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependant on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

"Give me control over a man's economic actions, and hence over his means of survival, and except for a few occasional heroes, I'll promise to deliver to you men who think and write and behave as I want them to." -Benjamine A. Rooge

For example, Rockefellers' Chase Manhattan bank spends $1 million for a bank officer to go to Brazil, set up an office and make a 1 billion dollar loan to the Brazilian government payable back in US dollars. It is preferable the 1 billion goes into politician payoffs, large construction contracts that Chase Manhattan connected construction companies get, the project has costs over runs so it never gets completed or if it does, never operates as promised. At first, the billion dollars stimulates the economy but then, repayments when the Brazilian dollar drops in 1/2 means that 2X as much cattle, grain, iron ore etc have to be sent out of the country in order to meet payments. When that isn't enough, social services have to be cut to the people and national companies need to be privatized or sold to foreign companies which causes more problems for the average person and more revenue leaving the country.

Chase Manhattan can use the paper loss on performing debt to reduce real taxes owing to the US government or as in the case of Royal Bank of Canada, they reduced their payable taxes enough that a window washer for them paid more taxes. (Back about 40 years ago, corporate taxes were about 80% of the revenue and the personal taxes about 20%. Now it is reversed.) Because it is easier to foreclose and resell on Canadian farms and businesses, Royal Bank choose that option for loans secured in Canada. The Canadian Royal Bank realize that with 30 year old helicopters, a few old ships and the Canadian military force isn't worth enough to even bring up in passing conversation to the Brazilians. But an updated military will sure be helpful in Canada to control a rebellion if the planned economic collapse is triggered. The Chase Manhattan bank is putting pressure on the South American countries to swap real assets for paper debt but it is a matter of how much bribes and how much threat of force they can use in order to get the deals they want. Rothschilds are countering them using their influence so it isn't always an easy road fighting for the top position.

Google search such as <http://www.think-aboutit.com/conspiracy/TheOpalFile.htm> gives a condensed history how the Rockefellers took control of the Australian mines & oil rights along with various national companies listing names of various politicians, how much they received along with numbers of their Swiss bank accounts that the money was paid into. CIA agents bought a used Cray super computer at government auction for $25,000 and used the Promis software <http://users.cyberone.com.au/myers/bugs.html> that could access various computer data bases & use the data to find out peoples records such as tax, bank accounts, assets owned etc. to find out the bank account and payments that a number of US & even some Canadian politicians were getting. A brown paper bag with the information was sent with the information notifying those politicians that they needed to resign or the information would be publicised as well as the IRS being notified. There was a rash of politicians saying their families needed them so they would not be running again despite the work they wanted to do for the country.

Two of the CIA agents were eliminated right away and the third was thought to be flying on a plane to Florida so a bomb was set off on it. When 300 or 400 people are killed, it sure makes it more difficult to figure out the target than when one person is killed after when he has done certain actions and the more importance for getting that person, the less important other peoples lives are. The Spotlight paper was shut down shortly afterwards so I didn't find out what happened to the third CIA agent and it was another reason why The Spotlight was shut down, the bankers don't have any problems with copy cat killings when satanic ritual or mind controlled serial murders are done to scare people into supporting legislation for gun control and more police and surveillance equipment but they sure don't want copy cat rogue intelligence agents copying the tactics like the 3 CIA patriots. And you know why the word "rogue" was applied to them too. The question is why do people put up with all the increased surveillance monitoring through cameras, telephone taps, and internet logging? Why are they not asking for 24 hour surveillance of their bankers, politicians and CEO's in order to protect us all from the real terrorists?

Thus legislation is passed and Brazilian companies are encouraged to burn 1000s of acres of the Amazon jungle each hour to have land to grow grass for 3 to 5 years before the land starts blowing away the thin topsoil for cattle to export to pay off debt because like the Shakespearian play about the Jewish lender, whether it is the Rothschilds or the Rockefellers, they each demand their pound of flesh or more. Companies pollute because they make more money and the directors that put ecological and people caring before profits are fired and replaced in order to keep the insane money system going.

Computerized robots could do most of the work people do now. People are useless eaters so from the Illuminati Luciferian perspective, it is a matter of reducing the population through various means outlined in the Global 2000 population reduction program. Famines, wars, genetically engineered viruses like AIDS & SARS, chemtrails, chemicals to reduce the life expectancy, fertility and reasoning ability like fluoride, chlorine and aspartame were added to the water and food supply, vaccinations that produce long term health problems are some of the creative solutions the experts come up with and are using. An implanted microchip that can keep track of each economic slave biological unit with no chance of rebelling from prison planet earth is one of the Illuminati Luciferian goals. There are experimental projects already where welfare mothers are implanted to save loss of vouchers, high risk people like soldiers, politicians, children at risk for kidnapping are implanted for monitoring etc. It could be most of the ID theft is aided by the NWO and not much effort is made to stop it until the people cry out for a easy simple solution like the implanted microchip. Passports and drivers licenses are heading for required biometric information and then it will be easy to go to the next step of implants. The latest World cup soccer match in Britain required all ticket purchasers to show ID and all tickets had a RFID tracking chip attached.

While, it seems overwhelming and scary at first, the better a person understands the problem, the more solutions start appearing such as the Community issued money &/or barter.

<http://www.michaeljournal.org/localmoney.htm> How to apply Social Credit locally using simple ledger keeping. Used in a number of villages around the World already. <http://www.michaeljournal.org/myth.htm> "The Money Myth Exploded" Louis Even - Go through the rest of the site inspired by one of the pioneers of the Social Credit community money movement. <http://www.ithacahours.com/> Ithica Hours units by New York printed equal to 1 hour of labor. The Chinese government sent representatives to visit them.

Wal-Mart & a number of other large companies have chosen not to enter the community as they had too much competition from local businesses accepting Ithica hours. There are a number of barter clubs using web, email or paper transactions. $1,000 of extra goods & services each year adds to $10,000 additional wealth to a person and his local community in 10 years. In the deliberate 1929 crash when the elite sold out their stock at the peak, about 80% of the people had access to rural living with some food, water and shelter. Now it is the opposite so any crash now causes that much more misery, suffering & hard ship. By studying & making contacts now, a person can be more prepared.

<http://www.nesara.us> has information about the legislation that has been passed under secrecy from the Farms Claims suits that would switch the Federal Reserve debt created interest bearing money back to the US treasury dollars. It is a continuation of what John F. Kennedy had started attempting to do until his public murder. It would cancel debts including mortgage & credit cards and switch income taxes to a sales tax on new non-essential items. There would be a return to constitutional law with peace declared bringing troops back from foreign wars. Dove's information stated the day after the World Trade Center bombing, one tower had housed the computers for transferring the software updating programming for the switch over, and the Pentagon section that was hit was the fraction in the military supporting the switch and the Pennsylvania plane was a cover story for going after the backup fiber optic command center controlled by the patriotic constitutional fraction.

The bankers benefit the most from wars. In order to extract that much more wealth from people, it is necessary to pass tax legislation so more profits can flow to them and their companies from the people in war time in cost plus contracts. Do you know of any average person knowing ahead to set up a munitions factory or a chemical company prior to a war or having the funds to do so after the war starts? How many small private companies have their firms taken over under the necessities of war? Was the seizure of land, buildings and assets of the Japanese citizens necessary or another theft by the bankers? Originally, the income tax legislation in the US & Canada was started before their entry into World War 1. It was promoted as voluntary on very high income people to benefit the poorer people in order to get people to vote for it. For most people it sounded good, thus the legislation passed. In Canada there was an additional requirement in order for it to pass that the tax legislation would be nullified within 4 years of the ending of the war or when the war debt was paid, which ever came first.

The lawyers for the Rockefellers set up trusts & foundations behind the scenes so they were exempt from the taxes. Even in 1978, Nelson Rockefeller paid no income tax as reported when he was running for governor of New York. Can you imagine how much more money you would have if you were able to keep all that you spent in income tax over the last 10 to 50 years? What ended up happening since then, is that the "voluntary" tax became almost compulsory for the brain washed unquestioning masses and the tax burden shifted down from very high income down to the high to middle income. That income gives subsidence support for the unemployed or near impoverished so they don't rebel and start asking too many questions. There are a number of people fighting the IRS & CCRA with varying degrees of success depending primarily on their knowledge and crookedness of the judges deciding their cases.

American Tax Consultants: 3910 Northdale Blvd., Suite 210, Tampa, Florida 33624, Phone (813) 908-8422; Fax (813) 908-6882 quietly revoking the contract citizens signed with the IRS when they completed their first 1040. The method is perfectly legal and once complete the IRS leaves you alone. From their literature, none of their clients were ever investigated. They simply become "not required to file" by the IRS' own laws. Best I have found for the US. about 1300 clients and haven't lost one yet as I understand it.

<http://www.detaxcanada.org/> Eldon Warman hasn't paid any taxes since 1978 in Canada. Free information for what he suggests. Donations welcomed.

Joe Banister was a special criminal investigator with the IRS until he discovered the truth and switched sides. He was doing consulting and has won several cases including his own. A number of people are fighting loans, mortgages and credit card debt again with varying degrees of success depending on their knowledge & the crookedness of the judge.

<http://www.arcticbeacon.com/23-Mar-2006.html> "The above Judgment was entered by the Court on December 9, 1968. The issue there was simple - Nothing in the law gave the Banks the right to create money on their books

"Justice Mahoney (One of the few honest patriotic constitutional judges) denied the use of Federal Reserve Notes, since they represent debt instruments, not true money, from being used to pay for the appeal process itself. In order to get this overturned, since the bank's appeal without the payment being recognized was out of time, it would have required that the Bank of Montgomery, Minnesota bring a Title 42, Section 1983 action against the judicial act of Justice Mahoney for a violation of the Constitution of the United States under color of law or authority, and if successful, have the case remanded back to him to either retry the case or allow the appeal to go through. Justice Mahoney was murdered about 6 months later as his payment from the bankers.

It is important to study those that have proven track records against the IRS, Banks & courts before fighting the system as even then, there are no guarantees even in a jury trial, as the judge can give recommendations that the jury perceives as virtual orders contrary to the jury deciding what is the best decision in the circumstances on the evidence presented for themselves for each particular case. Some people transfer any assets that they do have out of their possession before fighting the system. Others like corporations, just fudge with the books so that the IRS finds it almost impossible to uncover the real income. It is easier to go after the people in order to get a higher quota of taxes owing for each hour of time spent at the office.

<http://www.CAFR1.com> Walter Burien has uncovered in the CAFR (Comprehensive Annual Financial Report), that the states are hiding so much assets and income from the people that right now, there is almost no necessity for state or income taxes.

The Kings of France, Spain and England needed income to pay debts to the bankers such as the Rothschilds. They were desperate for gold & silver as that is what the debts were repayable in. That Spain used torture as part of the methods to get their hands on gold from the Incas and other Indians, is a sign of their desperation. The colonies in the US were originally financed by the monarchies and the monarchies allowed the colonies to use most any assets they found or built except gold and silver. The banker's scheme was to get the colonies into debt and out of the King of England's hands so they helped finance and support the revolution behind the scenes using Masonry. They had already gotten the colonies off of the different US states social credit money through orders issued using the King of England as their front man which was a supreme threat to their debt issued money. They needed a new entity that would borrow money and would be responsible for the repayment of debts using the citizens as collateral and a revenue source. The United States of America was promoted to the people as a constitutional republic government of the people, by the people, for the people but through clever legalese, bribing and misrepresentation, what actually happened was that the United States of America corporation was instituted under the guise of being a constitutional republic.

When people think they are voting their government in, they think it is their government representing them but it is actually for people to govern them for the bankers or more like officers & directors for the United States of America Corporation. The voting is to make the peasants think one thing when in actuality it really government of the rich, by the rich, for the rich. Another example of created illusions is when people hear word the word "person" in court, they think of a flesh and blood person but to a lawyer, person can include artificial paper entities such as corporations as being a person under their crafty use of words and definitions.

<http://www.atgpress.com/kifap/indexjm.htm> has information on how the US states are still colonies of the British. <http://www.atgpress.com/kifap/brtcol/b1.htm> The Revolutionary War was fought and concluded when Cornwallis surrendered to Washington at Yorktown. As Americans we have been taught that we defeated the king and won our freedom. The next document I will use is the Treaty of 1783, which will totally contradict our having won the Revolutionary War. (footnote 2). George Washington, Benjamin Franklin and others had a choice of to keep fighting the British with continued loss of trade and impoverishment of the people or to sign a treaty promising repayment of debts incurred & setting up the United States Corporation as guarantee and surety for that debt. They chose what they thought were the lesser of two evils and for their work, Benjamin Franklin was knighted and George Washington has been promoted as the father of the country in the history books. That furtherance included as a start paying back all debts incurred to the banks and of breaking virtually every treaty with the Indians down through history so the Indians lost control of their land to the immigrant Europeans who then lost control to the European bankers. The Indians woke up what was happening over 250 years ago as to what is going on but it seems the whites are still mostly sleeping.

The crash of 1929 behind the scenes led to the bankruptcy of different government corporations around the World leading to Roosevelt shutting down banks and calling in the peoples gold under threat of $10,000 fines and 6 months in jail. Thousands of smaller banks got closed down and rolled into the large 13 illuminati controlled banks along with other concentrations of wealth. The US Government has been actually operating under bankruptcy trusteeship since then behind the scenes.

James Traffican, US senator, for his exposing the Federal Reserve Scam in public record was framed on bogus charges and put in jail.

People think by paying 50% of their gross income, they are helping others somehow. It would be one thing if the money was simply wasted but the military money is used to prepare troops for controlling a rebellion or steal other countries wealth such as Iraq, the educational money is used to dumb down the kids, the health system uses costly drugs, radiation & hitech care and good alternative health is blocked or taken out using different methods, black projects for furtherance of free energy devices and antigravity vehicles and blocking other competitive technologies from getting to the public. So essentially, people are paying with their taxes for the chains, jails and jailors to bind them.

A person is trying to find something that will be worth more in the future. A banker is trying to get people into debt and squeeze them out of paper wealth and their real assets especially. A good rule of thumb is the more the mass media is promoting something and the more your neighbors are following along, the more a person should not do it but do the opposite. The mass media is used to move the masses to buy high and to sell low. A good example now is how many people are buying homes and real estate for investment now despite about 1/4 of the homes are being bought on interest only payments. With the interest rates moving higher, how many people are going to be able to keep making payments and who are they going to sell the houses too? The tax legislation that allowed interest deductions on home loans was a sucker trap for people as the bankers know that people will work that much harder before loosing their home when interest rates go up and/or when their wages drop due to corporation layoffs and down turns.

Another good rule of thumb is to try to find out what the super rich are doing. A good example is Warren Buffet, Bill Gates, George Soros, etc., buying silver and gold approximately 2 years ago at their near all time lows and publically announced that they were bailing out of the dollar. Gold & silver in one's possession is also safer than digits in a bankers computer that can be zeroed out if it is a free energy inventor, 10 billion that gets stolen by the CIA from Iraq's central bank the night before the attack or accounts of wicked people like Saddam Hussein that persists in trying to set up a oil bourse selling in European dollars and working for a Moslem dinar dollar backed in gold for more independence from the European or US bankers.

Supposedly there are laws against insider trading on stocks. Contrary to that public myth, there are specialists that specifically trade and are given knowledge in specific stocks such as Ford, GM, GE, etc prior to the public. Supposedly they are to smooth out the market, sell when there is a demand and buy when prices drop. Does that remind you of a fairy tale you were told when small? Richard Ney thought he was a pretty good stock broker until 1 person came in and told him when to buy and when to sell certain stocks. What was amazing was that he seemed to be right most of the time and to get the peaks and lows. He further found and publicized information on the specialists. He also was tracking big block transactions from insiders. When they were buying, that was an indicator that they believed that stock, commodities or options would be worth more. When they are selling large block transactions, that was the opposite indicator. With computerized tracking of trades, the Bankers & their inside corps have such an advantage over the public, that it is no wonder it is hard to find the average person that has made money in the stock market. Ask someone knowledgeable if they could make money knowing what the interest rates were going to be and what stories were going to be publicized in the mass media the next day or the next week?

Another myth is to listen to your stock broker. There are times, he is a sales man for whatever issue or stock his firm is trying to push. It is difficult to find the really good analysts and newsletters that have the expertise and software and contacts to out maneuver the bankers and their sudden switches. An example of that is the 1987 crash that caught so many by surprise. Supposedly it was computerized trading that fell through resistance points and kept falling. Actually what happened was that there was too many people and smaller independent companies making too much money that needed to be weeded out & taken down. The blue chip companies came back within 3 to 6 months but many of the smaller companies did not regain their highs for several years if ever. A number of the better smaller firms were bought out and merged into insider blue chip NWO firms.

By 1890, John Rockefeller, had through the predatory and rapacious practices of Standard Oil gained control of approximately 90% of the oil market in the US. He needed more markets & income if he was going to grow and the health industry had not been monopolized yet by anyone. Through grants, government influence, crooked reports like the Fixner Reports, alternative health colleges were shut down and new colleges promoting drugs, surgery and new technologies back then like radiation were set up. Government regulations and accreditation boards were set up to make sure colleges and doctors were taught minimally about diet, nutrition, natural low cost therapies and never about alternatives such as radionics, Rife microscopes, ozone therapy, chelation therapy. etc. In fact, it was necessary to have regulating boards to take any doctor or even any other practitioner to court for practicing as a doctor. How anyone could be charged for practicing as a doctor when they don't prescribe drugs, do surgery or radiation is beyond me? If a natural substance such as laetile could not be synthesized effectively, it would be promoted as quackery. Kirlian photography, live blood analyses, radionics, muscle testing will show more of the damage of drugs and common allergens such as foods, poor quality of water.

Grey Court Britain swear oath to queen in Canada subsidiary and there is no public accountability, try getting a crooked lawyer disbarred with connections to Masonry or another secret society but a number of lawyers that have fought the system are very quickly disbarred or worse killed. Examples Like guy debt. 2 Indian Lawyers <http://www.thememoryhole.org/edu/school-mission.htm> Bankers have realized that education is very important for the control of people. http://deliberatedumbingdown.com/pages/articles/article_page.html If there is real knowledge & information taught, people might actually figure out what is going and make changes. So simple changes were made starting in the 1890's that on the surface didn't seem like much yet decades later, children read less, have less comprehension, hate school more and are less likely to actually do something to make real positive changes in the World. Instead of time primarily spent really learning reading, arithmetic and writing, more time is spent on trivia and fluff subjects. Reading has been changed from phonetics to sight reading. The McGuffey readers that were straight forward and fit each grade level have changed to readers that have words up to 2 or 3 grades levels higher causing frustration and incomprehension amongst the children. Math is in a spiral approach so less time is spent on each area but moving faster through more problems with less explanation so kids end up punching numbers in a calculator without understanding why except the teacher did it this way. Writing on stories of interest to children has been changed to drudgery projects with various do it this way by different teachers and again, not learning the real basics of sentence structures and forming them.

From older children being responsible, encouraging and helping younger children in a multigrade school, it has changed along with removing the strap to an attitude of both teachers & students of just putting in time and trying to suffer as little as possible or cause as much trouble as possible as the teachers can't do anything. Those that don't break down from the 2 or 3 hours of extra school work assigned every day, will fit into the robotized job life that they will enter after school. Those that break down and can't keep up feel like failures and can end up juvenile delinquents, drinking, drugs &/or sex believing they are failures rather than realizing the system was designed to break them down and spit them out like boot camp in the army. Schools that provided nourishing meals along with removing soda pop & junk food have found that the children's attitudes, grades and interest have risen quite dramatically. Yet when parents try to talk and ask for changes such as these, they are made to feel like outdated fools compared to the experts that put the system together.

Home schoolers often spend only 2 or 3 hours per day and if in districts where they can choose what subjects, interests and time to spend on each are even more motivated and excited about learning in general. Pushing children ahead of their development causes more frustration for both them and parents and often in just waiting a year or two, the children will pick up something that much easier when their brain has developed sufficiently for processing that information. They can be learning practical things like cooking, cleaning, helping parents or having part time jobs. With more balance in physical, emotional and spiritual life instead of mostly mentally, they will be calmer and more likely to succeed in life. They can be learning more practical subjects like starting your own business, saving & investing money, choices for products that produce versus being consumers of the latest gadget. They can learn the effort and time involved in raising and taking care of children versus the mass media of doing it any time any where and somehow it magically ends up all right. It is important for bankers to remove children from the troubling influence of knowledgeable parents so government money is poured into child care centers and detention centers rather than giving tax credits and support for parents or local controlled community schools and home schooling projects. It is paradoxical that public schools have government money tied up in carpentry, metal working and other trades that are barely used yet when parents try to get permission to use the facilities to work with their children, they are denied access.

The elite send their children to schools where the real information is taught on how to choose, manage and control people as the future leaders. Monopolies, connections for beneficial government laws and the use of media to monitor and shift people's thinking are just some of the information they pick up along the way.

Mark Twain is more right than most people realize when he says, "I try to not let schooling interfere with my education". Knowledge of what the bankers have done in the past gives fore warning and examples of what they can try doing in the future. As an example is the Prohibition Movement that seemingly sprang up spontaneously. What really happened was that people like Henry Ford were including plans for simple alcohol stills with his Model T so that farmers and others could be self sufficient and would be enabled to buy more of his vehicles. The lower the cost of energy, the more independence people have and the more freedom they have from bankers and their control. That could not be allowed to continue so thus the blue blood families in the east were encouraged to finance advertising and other monies for leaders in the prohibition movement to take out the small independents that were a threat to the oil market controlled by the seven sister Rockefeller oil companies.

Large alcohol factories were set up in Germany and other places to supply the illicit demand created and moved through connected mafia members so that more money was made by them. After prohibition was declared a failure, red tape and bureaucracy was created so that there was another monopoly created supplying continuous large profits for a few super rich.

Hemp used to be grown on nearly every quarter in the 1800's for fiber and oil that could be used in clothing, rope cooking and even the first diesel engines. There is four times as much fiber per acre from hemp as from forests. New machinery processing was being developed that would have dropped the costs tremendously and cut into Dow Chemicals 80% supply for chemicals for processing trees into paper, synthetic fibers being developed etc. Again, the small farmer would have benefited but independent farmers don't borrow from banks so the marijuana threat was hatched up so that legislation was passed to outlaw hemp. For a short while at the end of WW2, hemp was needed to keep up with the demand of rope etc. so a temporary exemption was granted and then removed after the war. Now forests that supply organne energies, shade and a balancing effect are cut down while farmers are being subsidized to not grow crops when hemp would be a very good alternative.

Dow Chemicals patent was going to expire after 17 years on Freon so the threat to the ozone layer was promoted for three reasons:

1 One to block other countries from producing a low cost generic Freon. 2. Guaranteed profits on new more expensive patented substitutes that are often times more damaging to the environment and people's health, 3. Cover up the ecological catastrophe from all the incredibly stupid nuclear testing underground, above ground and atmospheric testing and leaks from nuclear reactors and the polluted side products. Also petrochemical products with the toxic after burning pollutants are another major reason in acid rain killing off the fish and oxygen producing algae in the waters and oceans.

Stalin and Hitler said something like it is easier to get people to believe the big lie than the little lie. A person can see that when there are still people that believe that the Moslems were responsible for the World trade tower collapse and that Iraq was a threat to the World. There are still people that believe Bush is a good president doing the best he can in a difficult situation. There are even people that believe that by voting in another president, they will get someone better and will somehow will be actually be working for the people instead of the bankers.

People think that the internet will stay free and low cost. Take a look at the legislation being passed and being promoted and they will find that something that used to be low cost available is going to be controlled and costly just like alcohol, hemp and other targeted products.

Free energy devices were invented by Keely, Stubblefield, Tesla and others before 1900. Since then, other inventors have been stopped or bought off including such inventions as antigravity and invisibility shields. Black projects using tax money are used to study cloning along with more sophisticated mind control and implants.

The bankers realize the bigger the church or any other organization, the more important it is to infiltrate it and/or take it over if they haven't originally set it up themselves through front men. The Church of Scientology somehow had papers showing Hubbard the founder had sold the copyrights to his materials to some Jewish businessmen that is very difficult to find the names of. The wife is contesting a will drawn up just before his death wherein she is left out of an inheritance. The son was likely murdered with the cover story as a suicide to remove that potential threat prior to Hubbard's death.

Do a study and search on the Roman Catholic Church and especially the Jesuits as an enforcement arm of the bankers especially after Napoleon backed by the Rothschilds sent his general to conquer the Vatican in 1798. Find out which bankers handled the investments of the Roman Catholic Church before and after that general took control of the Vatican and after the Pope again sat on his chair. Do a search on the donations to Mother Teresa and find out if all the donations that were given to her actually went to the projects that they were raised for. Do a search on the amount each diocese raises and how much remains in that diocese to help the poor people there.

Most people don't know this but Hitler and all his top cabinet were Half or Full Sabbatean-Jews or Jesuits. Was the Roman Catholic Church supporting Germany against the Rothschilds to regain more control that they had lost 150 years prior. Who ended up with the wealth that the Germans and Japanese seized from conquered countries during WWII?

The Red Cross is also another corrupt organization that raises millions such as during the World Trade Center collapse, yet those that should get those donations are not getting them. The Red Cross also knowingly took likely contaminated blood from high risk donors and allowed others to be infected as part of the Global 2000 population reduction program.

The cancer societies along with government grants and aid raise enough aid so that there is almost as many researchers and other workers as there are cancer patients. Those proven herbal formulas that help and other helpful remedies are black listed and known cofactors such as candida yeast, chemicals especially from automobile exhausts are covered up.

Don't expect your churches & religious leaders to tell you what is going on. John Todd high up in the illuminati was responsible for multi million payments and knew of other multi million plus payments to various Christian leaders. Those that don't go along and/or don't give enough of cut or are an interference are taken out with publicized dirt like Swaggert & Baker. Simple math, 1 billion in donations with 100 million less to 4 or 5 transgressors means that much more for those left behind.

Your money can be used for real good in donations to those that really need it if they get it or wasted in corrupt or semi corrupt organizations. Please study before you just hand money to those that call, knock on the door or give TV appeals. Check what percentage is used in management and expenses versus actually given to the people or project. Spirituality can be a powerful force for good or if misused, a powerful force for the dark side.

"It is also in the interests of a tyrant to keep his people poor, so that they may not be able to afford the cost of protecting themselves by arms and be so occupied with their daily tasks that they have no time for rebellion." - Aristotle

Visit <http://www.williamcooper.com> to find out about William Cooper (ex US Navy) who was murdered in a supposed "shoot out" Nov 2001 after exposing a lot about the Masonic World Control conspiracy in the US Navy.

President James Madison said, "History records that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible, to maintain their control over governments, by controlling money and its issuance."

How Do They Control The World? <http://reality101blog.blogspot.com/2010/05/how-do-they-control-world.html>

[The picture is a new Babylonian ziggurat in Dubai]

The quick and thorough explanation of everything:
The military industrial banking intelligence complex

This is a simple explanation of how "they" control the world. This will explain how and why "they" killed John F. Kennedy, what "they" were doing in Vietnam, not to mention explaining one hundred years of unexplainable foreign policy and wars. You will see who "they" are. Also, you will learn how "they" control what the people think, and how "they" do it.

Ten thousand years ago when civilization began, commerce was simply trading. Trading goods is a reliable economic method, because the value of your economy always equals the value of goods within the economy.

There is no such thing as debt spending, or trade deficits, or monetary policy. You simply produce and trade what you produce.

Trading was simplified with coins, but value of trade was still maintained. Many coins had value of their metal, so they stayed intrinsically stable. The big change of civilization began when a group of people called Goldsmiths began to print receipts for their gold holdings. These receipts supposedly had the value of the gold in deposit. Of course, unchecked corruption began unchecked gold receipt printing, and thus for the first time, "shadow" control of economies.

Proving control by this shadow government is simple. One simply needs to look at the latest Forbes' richest person list. One will find that a software giant like Bill Gates can top the list with a measly $20 billion dollars, while the owners of the largest international banks and oil companies aren't even billionaires. How can this be possible? The trillions of profit dollars a year from world's national debts and oil far exceeds the millions made in software. The yearly interest on national debts around the world (just US national debt is $7 trillion) could buy out Bill Gates' Microsoft without breaking a sweat.

The power and control of the money printers, or "bankers" wasn't always in the shadows. During the 1800s, their blatant and arrogant control over governments and foreign policy began to outrage the public.

The repercussions of the backlash called for a new secretive control system inflicted upon the planet during the 1900s. In the late 1800s, the prevalent anger of these bankers in Europe (who happened to be mainly Jewish) is what sparked the anti-Semitism which led to the holocaust. The irony being that the Nazi Party was funded and supported by these bankers (Jewish or not) which proves they care more about profits than their fellow man.

In these early years, the media and leaders had openly discussed bankers by name, and their excesses in power. In Germany, Otto Van Bismarck said, "I fear that Jewish banks with their craftiness and tortuous tricks will entirely control the exuberant riches of America and will use it to systematically corrupt modern civilization. The Jews will not hesitate to plunge the whole of Christendom into wars and chaos in order that the earth should become the inheritance of Israel." (Interview by C. Seim, La Vieille France, March, 1921.) The German leader specifically was talking about the Rothschild banking family.

Do our national debt payments go to international bankers? If one out of every 20 American citizens held the bond debt of the United States, those U.S. citizens would each have on average 60 million dollars in bonds. Any reasonable person knows this isn't possible. This debt is owed to private banking institutions, and anybody can prove this themselves with simple research.

Now we can address a crucial piece of information, which is that the Federal Reserve Bank is not part of the Treasury Department, or any branch of government. The Federal Reserve Bank is a private bank, privately owned. This is not classified, one can simply ask them, check their web site, or find out in a number of ways. The Federal Reserve Act was initially brought to Congress as the Aldrich Act, named after the banker who wrote it.

The power to print money is arguably the most powerful ability on the planet. Americans owe their worth to pieces of paper which say "Federal Reserve," a private bank established in 1913.

During the 1800s, the central bank was the biggest issue of the United States. Although we aren't taught this in school, much of the writings from Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, to Abraham Lincoln are entrenched with their opinion of these bankers' power.

For some reason, this has been written out of history, despite the fact that the coming and going of central banks has been the basis of elections for the first hundred years in this country.

Andrew Jackson, who ran exclusively on the banking issue and won, killed the central bank for the second time in 1836! One could claim that the end of the First National Bank, and the immediate followup of the 1812 war was a coincidence. Wars are never a coincidence.

Congressman Charles Lindbergh said about the 1913 Federal Reserve Act, "When the President [Wilson] signs this Bill, the invisible government of the monetary power will be legalized." Why is it so important to be the one who prints money?

This should be obvious, but has outstretching reaches further than most people could imagine. I already mentioned that there was a time when the money printing was a receipt for gold that actually existed. Now the money doesn't actually have any value, so it can be simply printed at will.

Even if we still were still on a gold standard, the bankers own and control the price of gold. Having the ability to print money at will through Federal Reserve loans and non-backed "foreign support" is the regular practice of the international private bankers. This means that an economy can simply be boomed or busted by a whim of a banker. What popular economists call the "business cycle" should actually be called the "banker cycle."

If you printed your own currency, you would be locked away.

During the Great Depression, Automaker Henry Ford said, "It is well enough that the people of this nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning."

How do these bankers keep an entire world secretly brainwashed?

It's not as difficult as one might think, especially for somebody who controls every aspect of the world's economy.

The control is as simple as this: Fund what you need, bankrupt/discredit what you dislike. Its that simple.

It applies as large scale as governments of nations, and as small scale as talk show hosts. It applies to elected officials, CEOs, foreign officials, media companies, and the list goes on. Having the media and elected officials in your pocket means you can create policy, persuade populations, or choose a Federal Reserve chairman. The ambition of this monarchy doesn't stop there.

Bankers created the Civil War in America simply by funding the separatists in the south. With research, one can find that every nation, whether "friend or foe," has been funded and put in power by those in the driving seats of the banks. If you search education and Public Broadcasting, you will see the many bankers providing the funds: Rockefeller, Carnegie, Warburg.

This gets a little more complicated, when we cover foreign policy. If a banker wanted country A to attack country B, they would need to do three things.....

One is convince their "elected" officials. Two is convince to public. Three is to create the "justifications" which slip these mindsets into actions.

Creating justifications (these include Pearl Harbor, the sinking of the Lusitania, blowing up the Maine, September 11, etc) demonstrates the bankers' control over the military, and especially the "National Intelligence" sector of the military. This is extremely important, and once again, not very difficult for those who have top public officials in their pocket.

In 1962, the Department of Defense created a now declassified document called "Operation Northwoods, the justification for military intervention in Cuba." The cold hearted manipulation of a "justification" can be summarized in one line of the document which reads, "Blow up US ship, blame Cuba." It seems mad, yet this is standard operating procedure of our Military Industrial Complex.

It is too simple to say that "they" control the CIA, or they control the president. You can say that "they" stack the White House with their goons, as they stack every institution or nation.

Using influence, they put their goons in the CIA. This explains why the CIA is stacked with criminals, from every drug dealing Mafia of the world. Since "they" are criminals, "they" need criminals with National Security clearance to perform their tasks.

This also explains why nobody can figure out who killed JFK. Was it the Mafia? Was it the CIA? Was it anti-Cuban nationals from the failed Bay of Pigs operation? YES. The Mafia criminals on the CIA payroll who worked on the Bay of Pigs operation, such as Johnny Roselli, were in charge of the JFK assassination operation. Consequently, Johnny Roselli ended up dead when the 1978 Select Congressional Assassinations committee requested his presence. Apparently, the evidence linking to the real killers isn't nearly as hidden as the media has been convincing the public.

Why did "they" kill the president? Well, the president must have figured out who "they" are, because in his last few months alive, he tried to destroy the Federal Reserve Bank and reign in control of the CIA.

[Speech given by JFK ten days before his assassination - <http://reality101blog.blogspot.com/2009/08/jfk-secret-society-speech.html>]

I still haven't mentioned the ongoing institutions that have been crucial for broad control over media, government, and education. These secret institutions have big names and nefarious origins. The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is often at the top of any conspiracy theorist's list.

This institution, started by the banker J.P. Morgan in the early 1900s, has members including every media spokesperson, every major CEO, much of Congress, University Professors, and anybody with any political sway.

This is one method to control information. One can also notice that all the president's advisors are on what's known as the Trilateral Commission. In addition, every morning the President gets his "intelligence briefing." This carefully planned presentation seeds the thoughts of the President's entire day. The criminal Yale fraternity known as the "Skull and Bones," which is practically protected by Act of Congress, seeds powerful institutions of our government in the highest aspects. These institutions combined with monetary control and funding are the principle methods used by bankers to convince the public to comply with their plans.

Am I crazy enough to say that without these bankers, there would be no war? No, it's not crazy, but war is long outdated. Wars were once fought for tangible property, both for the Lords and warriors. Now, a complicated world of economics and interests groups has the entire planet plunged in a world of chaotic battles and wars, with the real reasons for each fight hidden from the public.

Its crazy to think that a few poor fundamentalists can create a hi-tech terrorist group, or run a nation. Every "rogue nation" or "terrorist group" has a huge network of funding and connections. One can often easily trace funding of terrorist groups to some national resource, such as diamonds, cocaine or opium. Maybe the fact that the diamond mines funding "terrorists" are owned by international bankers is just a coincidence?

Is it also a coincidence that the cocaine/opium dealing Mafia around the world works in close connection with major nations' Intelligence Agencies? CIA agents often call this "an evil alliance of necessity for National Security."

Whose necessity? There is always a discrepancy between the media's vision of the world, and the CIA's daily alliances. One perfect example would be the 1972 Munich Olympics, where PLO operative Ali Hassan Salameh murdered the Israeli athletes. Mossad then killed Hassan with a car bomb. "But it is now known that the assassination robbed the United States of its chief contact" (Newsweek, 11/9/98, page 36).

Before Martin Luther King Jr was shot, he began speaking against the U.S. policy of creating civil wars. In his own words at New York's Riverside Church on April 4, 1967: "...the United States came and started supporting a man named Diem, who turned out to be one of the most ruthless dictators in the history of the world. He set out to silence all opposition. ...The peasants watched as all this was presided over by United States influence and then by increasing numbers of United States troops who came to help quell the insurgency that Diem's methods had aroused....we increased our troop commitments in support of governments which were singularly corrupt, inept, and without popular support... Now they languish under our bombs and consider us.. their real enemy. They move sadly and apathetically, we herd them off the land of their fathers into concentration camps... They know they must move or be destroyed by our bombs."

Is it also a coincidence that the United States with "good intentions" put many enemies of the last 50 years into power? Saddam Hussein in Iraq, the Taliban in Afghanistan, Noriega in Panama, and future enemies are put in power everyday.

The Northern Alliance in Afghanistan is a brutal drug dealing Mafia. The KLA in Yugoslavia is also a drug dealing brutal Mafia regime. The United States has recently been entrenched with the task of putting cocaine dealing fascist dictator in Columbia. Whose interests are we really working for? Besides creating wars, banks also heavily profit from drug laundering (probably more than oil).

Drug trafficking also helps prevent the poor for empowering themselves as they are busy fighting their own inner city street wars. Its no wonder our government is filled with a drug trafficking protection force.

The radical right accuses former President Clinton of protecting the Mena Arkansas drug trafficking trade, and ignores the fact that Iran-Contra was the formation of that drug trade. Arkansas Governor Clinton was protecting his fellow Yalie George Bush's and Oliver North's drug trade.

John Stockwell, CIA Agent, member National Security Counsel, explains: "...we were not attacking the Soviet Union and CIA's activities, we were attacking people in the third world. They undertake operations in every corner of the globe. They undertook the license of operating totally above and beyond U.S. law. They had a license to kill, license to smuggle drugs... meanwhile, battled to convert the U.S. legal system in such a way to give them control of our society.... 3,000 major operations and over 10,000 minor operations, everyone of them illegal, everyone of them disruptive of the lives and societies of other peoples, and many of them bloody and gory beyond comprehension. Extensively we manipulated and organized the overthrow of functioning constitutional democracies in other countries. We organized secret armies and directed them to fight in just about every continent in the world. We encouraged ethnic minorities to rise up and fight."

Its quite a coincidence that the creation of the state of Israel in Palestine was 1947, same year the Central Intelligence Agency was created. Many are frustrated with the continuous climate of fighting in Israel, even though Israel was offered as a land of peace for Jews.

The bankers will never allow peace, because the Rothschilds did not create Israel to be a land of peace, but rather a tool for perpetual divisions between the semitic peoples of the Middle East, and the incoming European and Russian jews. When all efforts to encourage war were curbed by Rabin, Israeli Intelligence had him killed. On November 13, 1997, Lyse Doucet explains to the BBC a recently declassified report, "The report says Mr Raviv [Israeli Secret Service] knew of his friends intention to murder the Prime Minister. There have been accusations that the Shin Bet secret service was involved in a conspiracy to murder Mr Rabin..."

This makes sense when the goal of Israel is to manipulate the Jews as a tool for division and war. This plan is documented at least as far back as 1917, the Balfour Declaration, a letter to Lionel Rothschild. [Proof of Rothschild influence in Israel - <http://vigilantcitizen.com/?p=1229>]

The United States has conveniently bottled itself in all peace negotiations. The BBC article, "Arab press upbeat on peace hopes," reports 7/17/99: "remarks made by Mr Barak to The Washington Post newspaper in which he called for the USA to reduce its involvement in the peace process from a major to a minor role." Then New York Times explains, "two months after the Camp David peace talks had failed, [Barak] proclaimed that he and Mr. Arafat would be the ultimate Israeli-Palestinian peace partners..more so than Rabin" (7/26/01, Deborah Sontag). Then immediately after, Sharon was railroaded in as Prime Minister.

The real source of division is a very few people who are orchestrating continual fighting. Arafat has stated, "Hamas is a creature of Israel which, at the time of Prime Minister Shamir, gave them money and more than 700 institutions, among them schools, universities and mosques." December 12, 2001 in the Italian paper, L'Espresso, Arafat is quoted as saying, "Hamas was constituted with the support of Israel. The aim was to create an organization antagonistic to the PLO. They (Hamas) received financing and training from Israel. They have continued to benefit from permits and authorizations, while we have been limited even [for permits] to build a tomato factory. Rabin himself defined it a fatal error. Some collaborationists of Israel are involved in these [terrorist] attacks. We have the proof and we are placing it at the disposal of the Italian government too."

Why create wars?

George Orwell says in 1984 that war keeps the structure of society intact. This is done in a number of ways, partly by the destruction of the advance of civilization in a fair way.

Probably even more important is the creation of debt. A country will borrow massive amounts of money from international bankers for war. In addition, it's easier to change policy (like remove civil liberties) in times of threats.

It doesn't matter who wins the war, bankers lend to both sides of every war.

Debt moves power from the people directly to the bankers, continuously. Their systems of world control are thorough, and refined, and are being improved every day. Controversial organizations such as the World Bank and World Trade Organization, which are the focus of massive modern protests, are simply international organizations which further breakdown national sovereignty towards international banker control.

As I said at the beginning, there was a time when none of this was secret. Our founding fathers were well aware of who the real enemy was, and spoke often of them. They even spoke of them in the context of the causes for the American Revolution. They also laid down the tools to protect the people. These tools have been ignored, and faded over the years, as the United States has gone from bankers' biggest enemy, to their strongest tool.

Our founding fathers gave our government the Constitutional right to print government currency, and keep power out of the hands of the bankers. This tool was only utilized by the great President, Abraham Lincoln, but retracted soon after his assassination. Lincoln said "The money powers prey upon the nation in times of peace and conspire against it in times of adversity. The banking powers are more despotic than a monarchy, more insolent than autocracy, more selfish than bureaucracy."

It should upset the population that the WTO's rulings supercede national sovereignty of our nation, yet the media hasn't brought up this issue. George Washington said, "It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world."

When did that policy change? By coincidence, we took a major turn at time of the creation of the Federal Reserve, which was immediately followed by World Wars, the Cold War, and then Terrorism Wars. The pattern is clear. World Wars allowed the world progression to break down for Cold War, which allowed the systematic rape of every third world country into chaos. Stronger nations were militarized. This allowed the preparation for the one world government, seeded by the Cold War established world terrorism networks.

The Solution: A New Understanding of Money

Posted by Yes! Magazine –"Time for a New Theory of Money" <http://www.yesmagazine.org/new-economy/time-for-a-new-theory-of-money> www.webofdebt.com Time for a New Theory of Money By understanding that money is simply credit, we unleash it as a powerful tool for our communities. by Ellen Brown posted Oct 28, 2010

Photo by Earl

The reason our financial system has routinely gotten into trouble, with periodic waves of depression like the one we're battling now, may be due to a flawed perception not just of the roles of banking and credit but of the nature of money itself. In our economic adolescence, we have regarded money as a "thing"—something independent of the relationship it facilitates. But today there is no gold or silver backing our money. Instead, it's created by banks when they make loans (that includes Federal Reserve Notes or dollar bills, which are created by the Federal Reserve, a privately-owned banking corporation, and lent into the economy [creatable in unlimited quantities of an undefined measure of debt called dollars]). Virtually all money today originates as credit, or debt, which is simply a legal agreement to pay in the future.

Money as Relationship

In an illuminating dissertation called "Toward a General Theory of Credit and Money" in The Review of Austrian Economics, Mostafa Moini, Professor of Economics at Oklahoma City University, argues that money has never actually been a "commodity" or "thing." It has always been merely a "relation," a legal agreement, a credit/debit arrangement, an acknowledgment of a debt owed and a promise to repay.

In the payment system of ancient Sumeria, prices of major commodities were fixed by the government. Interest was also fixed and invariable, making economic life very predictable.

The concept of money-as-a-commodity can be traced back to the use of precious metal coins. Gold is widely claimed to be the oldest and most stable currency known, but this is not actually true. Money did not begin with gold coins and evolve into a sophisticated accounting system. It began as an accounting system and evolved into the use of precious metal coins. Money as a "unit of account" (a tally of sums paid and owed) predated money as a "store of value" (a commodity or thing) by two millennia; the Sumerian and Egyptian civilizations using these accounting-entry payment systems lasted not just hundreds of years (as with some civilizations using gold) but thousands of years. Their bank-like ancient payment systems were public systems—operated by the government the way that courts, libraries, and post offices are operated as public services today.

In the payment system of ancient Sumeria, goods were given a value in terms of weight and were measured in these units against each other. The unit of weight was the “shekel,” something that was not originally a coin but a standardized measure. She was the word for barley, suggesting the original unit of measure was a weight of grain. This was valued against other commodities by weight: So many shekels of wheat equaled so many cows equaled so many shekels of silver, etc. Prices of major commodities were fixed by the government; Hammurabi, Babylonian king and lawmaker, has detailed tables of these. Interest was also fixed and invariable, making economic life very predictable.

Grain was stored in granaries, which served as a form of “bank.” But grain was perishable, so silver eventually became the standard tally representing sums owed. A farmer could go to market and exchange his perishable goods for a weight of silver, and come back at his leisure to redeem this market credit in other goods as needed. But it was still simply a tally of a debt owed and a right to make good on it later. Eventually, silver tallies became wooden tallies became paper tallies became electronic tallies.

The Credit Revolution

The problem with gold coins was that they could not expand to meet the needs of trade. The revolutionary advance of medieval bankers was that they succeeded in creating a flexible money supply, one that could keep pace with a vigorously expanding mercantile trade. They did this through the use of credit, something they created by allowing overdrafts in the accounts of their depositors. Under what came to be called “fractional reserve” banking, the bankers would issue paper receipts called banknotes for more gold than they actually had. Their shipping clients would sail away with their wares and return with silver or gold, settling accounts and allowing the bankers’ books to balance. The credit thus created was in high demand in the rapidly expanding economy; but because it was based on the presumption that money was a “thing” (gold), the bankers had to engage in a shell game that periodically got them into trouble. They were gambling that their customers would not all come for their gold at the same time; but when they miscalculated, or when people got suspicious for some reason, there would be a run on the banks, the financial system would collapse, and the economy would sink into depression.

Like Jimmy Stewart’s beleaguered savings and loan in It’s a Wonderful Life, the banks are “borrowing short to lend long,” and if the money market suddenly dries up, the banks will be in trouble.

Today, paper money is no longer redeemable in gold, but money is still perceived as a “thing” that has to “be there” before credit can be advanced. Banks still engage in money creation by advancing bank credit, which becomes a deposit in the borrower’s account, which becomes checkbook money. In order for their outgoing checks to clear, however, the banks have to borrow from a pool of money deposited by their customers. If they don’t have enough deposits, they have to borrow from the money market or other banks.

As British author Ann Pettifor observes: “the banking system... has failed in its primary purpose: to act as a machine for lending into the real economy. Instead the banking system has been turned on its head, and become a borrowing machine.”

The banks suck up cheap money and return it as more expensive money, if they return it at all. The banks control the money spigots and can deny credit to small players, who wind up defaulting on their loans, allowing the big players with access to cheap credit to buy up the underlying assets very cheaply.

The bank run scene from It's a Wonderful Life

That’s one systemic flaw in the current scheme. Another is that the borrowed money backing the bank’s loans usually comes from shorter-term loans. Like Jimmy Stewart’s beleaguered savings and loan in It's a Wonderful Life, the banks are “borrowing short to lend long,” and if the money market suddenly dries up, the banks will be in trouble. That is what happened in September 2008: According to Rep. Paul Kanjorski, speaking on C-Span in February 2009, there was a \$550 billion run on the money markets.

Securitization: “Monetizing” Loans Not with Gold But with Homes

The money markets are part of the “shadow banking system,” where large institutional investors park their funds. The shadow banking system allows banks to get around the capital and reserve requirements now imposed on depository institutions by moving loans off their books.

Large institutional investors use the shadow banking system because the conventional banking system guarantees deposits only up to $250,000, and large institutional investors have much more than that to move around on a daily basis. The money market is very liquid, and what protects it in place of FDIC insurance is that it is “securitized,” or backed by securities of some sort. Often, the collateral consists of mortgage-backed securities (MBS), the securitized units into which American real estate has been sliced and packaged, sausage-fashion.

Like with the gold that was lent many times over in the 17th century, the same home may be pledged as “security” for several different investor groups at the same time. This is all done behind an electronic curtain called MERS (an acronym for Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc.), which has allowed houses to be shuffled around among multiple, rapidly changing owners while circumventing local recording laws.

As in the 17th century, however, the scheme has run into trouble when more than one investor group has tried to foreclose at the same time. And the securitization model has now crashed against the hard rock of hundreds of years of state real estate law, which has certain requirements that the banks have not met—and cannot meet, if they are to comply with the tax laws for mortgage-backed securities. (For more on this, see here.)

The bankers have engaged in what amounts to a massive fraud, not necessarily because they started out with criminal intent (although that cannot be ruled out), but because they have been required to in order to come up with the commodities (in this case real estate) to back their loans. It is the way our system is set up: The banks are not really creating credit and advancing it to us, counting on our future productivity to pay it off, the way they once did under the deceptive but functional façade of fractional reserve lending. Instead, they are vacuuming up our money and lending it back to us at higher rates. In the shadow banking system, they are sucking up our real estate and lending it back to our pension funds and mutual funds at compound interest. The result is a mathematically impossible pyramid scheme, which is inherently prone to systemic failure.

The Public Credit Solution

We as a community can create our own credit, without having to engage in the sort of impossible pyramid scheme in which we're always borrowing from Peter to pay Paul at compound interest. The flaws in the current scheme are now being exposed in the major media, and it may well be coming down. The question then is what to replace it with. What is the next logical phase in our economic evolution?

Credit needs to come first. We as a community can create our own credit, without having to engage in the sort of impossible pyramid scheme in which we're always borrowing from Peter to pay Paul at compound interest. We can avoid the pitfalls of privately-issued credit with a public credit system, a system banking on the future productivity of its members, guaranteed not by "things" shuffled around furtively in a shell game vulnerable to exposure, but by the community itself.

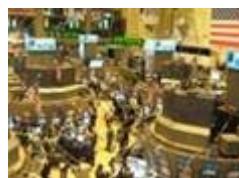

The simplest public credit model is the electronic community currency system. Consider, for example, one called "Friendly Favors." The participating Internet community does not have to begin with a fund of capital or reserves, as is now required of private banking institutions. Nor do members borrow from a pool of pre-existing money on which they pay interest to the pool's owners. They create their own credit, simply by debiting their own accounts and crediting someone else's. If Jane bakes cookies for Sue, Sue credits Jane's account with 5 "favors" and debits her own with 5. They have "created" money in the same way that banks do, but the result is not inflationary. Jane's plus-5 is balanced against Sue's minus-5, and when Sue pays her debt by doing something for someone else, it all nets out. It is a zero-sum game.

Community currency systems can be very functional on a small scale, but because they do not trade in the national currency, they tend to be too limited for large-scale businesses and projects. If they were to grow substantially larger, they could run up against the sort of exchange rate problems afflicting small countries. They are basically barter systems, not really designed for advancing credit on a major scale.

By turning banking into a public utility, profits generated by the community can be returned to the community.

The functional equivalent of a community currency system can be achieved using the national currency, by forming a publicly owned bank. By turning banking into a public utility operated for the benefit of the community, the virtues of the expandable credit system of the medieval bankers can be retained, while avoiding the parasitic exploitation to which private banking schemes are prone. Profits generated by the community can be returned to the community.

A public bank that generates credit in the national currency could be established by a community or group of any size, but as long as we have capital and reserve requirements and other stringent banking laws, a state is the most feasible option. It can easily meet those requirements without jeopardizing the solvency of its collective owners.

The Growing Movement for Publicly Owned Banks

State-owned banks could be a way for states to bypass Wall Street, balance their budgets, and get local economies moving.

For capital, a state bank could use some of the money stashed in a

New World Order Organizational Chart

Illuminati Royal Bloodlines

Rothschild
Astor • Bundy
Collins • DuPont • Freeman
Kennedy • Li • Onassis • Rockefeller • Disney
Russell • Van Duyne • Merovingian • Reynolds

Foundation nations of the New World Order

America England Israel Australia China

Financial Groups Research Institutions Secret Societies

| | | |
|----------------------------------|------------------------------|----------------------|
| IMF | Institute For Policy Studies | P2/Opus Dei |
| World Bank | Stanford Research Institute | Rosicrucians |
| Central Banks | Brookings Institute | Freemasonry |
| Federal Reserve | Tavistock Institute | Skull & Bones |
| Bank of International Settlement | Committee of 300 | Bohemian Club |
| | Aspen Institute | |
| | Jason Society | The Knights of Malta |

variety of public funds. This money need not be spent. It can just be shifted from the Wall Street investments where it is parked now into the state's own bank. There is precedent establishing that a state-owned bank can be both a very sound and a very lucrative investment. The Bank of North Dakota, currently the nation's only state-owned bank, is rated AA and recently returned a 26 percent profit to the state. A decentralized movement has been growing in the United States to explore and implement this option. For more information, see [public-banking.com.]

We have emerged from the financial crisis with new clarity: Money today is simply credit. When the credit is advanced by a bank, when the bank is owned by the community, and when the profits return to the community, the result can be a functional, efficient, and sustainable system of finance.

Ellen Brown wrote this article for YES! Magazine, a national, nonprofit media organization that fuses powerful ideas with practical actions. Ellen is an attorney and the author of eleven books, including Web of Debt: The Shocking Truth About Our Money System and How We Can Break Free. Her websites are webofdebt.com, ellenbrown.com, and public-banking.com.

Interested?

- Whose Bank? Public Investment, Not Private Debt: The public bank concept is gaining ground on the state level, attracting proponents across the political spectrum.
- New Economy, New Ways to Do Finance: As mega-finance crumbles, many farsighted individuals are putting their money in enterprises and financial institutions that benefit working Americans and the places they live.
- Move Your Money and Save: Big banks don't just undermine local economies—they're bad for your wallet, too.

History of Money Details, Part I: UNDERSTANDING THE FRAUD THAT TODAY'S FINANCIAL SYSTEM INCORPORATES

The Elite Bankers want mankind to pledge allegiance to the phony debt which they stole from mankind.

If anyone can further simplify this very powerful expose, it will help others to understand the Banksters' gigantic humongous monstrous vampire squid-octopus-like enslaving fraud.

Thank you.

Banking Gangsters Moto "[Usury] Debt to America"

Overview of The Ancient Gigantic Legalized Frauds Against The People

People don't like being told that we are actually slaves of the continuing chain of ancient feudal elites who think they have the divine right of kings to rule over us. In this stunning research, we will show that everything we are taught and know about the World financial system imposed on us is wrong. This has been explained by many people from all walks of life but has been restricted from news and educational institutions to keep us in the dark.

"We have, as far as possible, closed every avenue by which light may enter their (the slaves) minds. If we could extinguish the capacity to see the light, our work would be complete;" - Virginia House of Delegates 1832, Henry Berry

Our money system is not what we have been led to believe. The creation of money has been "privatized," or taken over by private money lenders. President Thomas Jefferson called them "bold and bankrupt adventurers just pretending to have money." Except for coins, all of our money is now created as loans advanced by private banking institutions — including the privately-owned Federal Reserve. Banks create the principal but not the interest to service their loans. To find the interest, new loans must continually be taken out, expanding the money supply, inflating prices — and robbing you of the value of your money.

Not only is virtually the entire money supply created privately by banks, but a mere handful of very big banks is responsible for a massive investment scheme known as "derivatives," which now tallies in at hundreds of trillions of dollars. The banking system has been contrived so that these big banks always get bailed out by the taxpayers from their risky ventures, but the scheme has reached its mathematical limits.

The current monetary/financial system is an organized crime. It has nothing to do with "free markets" and everything to do with illegitimate debt-slavery and captive usury markets. It is by design that the rich get richer and the poor get poorer, not by accident. Wars are the mega-harvests of the Elite Bankers and their stooges.

"Only when the last tree is cut, only when the last river is polluted, only when the last fish is caught, only then will they realize that you cannot eat money." - Cree Native American proverb

"Money does not pay for anything, never has, never will. It is an economic axiom as old as the hills that goods and services can be paid for only with goods and services." - Albert Jay Nock, in his book 'Memoirs of a Superfluous Man', 1943

"Paper is poverty...it is only the ghost of money, and not money itself." - President Thomas Jefferson

"Money is a new form of slavery, and distinguishable from the old simply by the fact that it is impersonal - that there is no human relation between master and slave." - Leo Tolstoy

Here is a quick shocking summary of how the financial system is rigged:

- Money is a ledger entry created by Bankers. It keeps circulating in the Bankers' computer ledgers.
- All money created by the Bankers is counterfeit, i.e. Bankers simply create money from nothing of their own, a.k.a. fiat money using everyone else as collateral. The amount of money that can be created is infinite.
- The Bank owners such as the Rothschilds, Rockefellers, Goldman Sachs, J.P. Morgan-Chase, etc. have a monopoly on the legalized counterfeiting of money. They usuriously indebt you by usurping a piece of the economic production that was/will be created by everyone else.
- Money actually represents an anonymous debt since the actual debtor's name and the lender's or creditor's name is not written on paper or computer ledger dollars.
- All profits from the Banks are privatized while all debts are socialized and transferred to the World's taxpayers.
- The usurious debt grows exponentially eventually consuming the producers as the parasites grow.
- The record of the Federal, State, City, Corporate, Private, etc. debts to the Bankers is actually a partial record of the wealth stolen by the Bankers from the World's peoples. To get an accurate figure of how much the Bankers have stolen from The Peoples, you would have to add the interest they charged and adjust for inflation. The total current debts to the Bankers Worldwide is about $90 trillion, so these Bankers have stolen at least that much and are collecting interest on stolen money. Bankers definitely did not have $90 Trillion of wealth to lend us, so they had to steal it from The People to lend it to us.
- Inability to repay a debt is not a crime. However, more people are being locked up for not being able to repay the credit issued by Bankers who created it from nothing, i.e. by counterfeiting.

The Bankers who get to issue the World Currency keep the highest standard of living and military power in that country (used to be Rome, then UK, now US).

"The whole global financial system is a ponzi scheme...." There are 4 sides to this global financial "pyramid":

1: Planned monetary insufficiency: The real money is the money issued by the state. Legal tender, which in the US is "funny" money issued by the Federal Reserve, a private entity. Other countries issue their own currency. The whole system is planned in such a way that there is never enough real money for the need of the economy.

2. Real money is substituted by "private money": The private banking system has sufficient control over the state so that the state will always issue insufficient amounts of money. Then in comes the private banking system, saying to individuals and business: "You need money? We'll give it to you..." That's where the banks come out with the fractional reserve system, charging huge amounts of interest, making huge amounts of money. Replacing real money, currency, with "funny money" which grows at an exponential rate based on the fractional banking system.

3. Give consumers credit. Create debt. Banks give governments and corporations and individuals loans. No problem. Everybody's in debt, owes money. To who? To the banks. The funny money thing has grown incredibly. Derivatives market: in 2002 the derivatives market was 102 trillion dollars, in 2008, it was 531 trillion dollars (10 times worlds GDP) Funny money has swamped completely the REAL economy, so there is no way anyone can stop it. There is no bail out plan that can work, the amount is too big.

4. Privatize the profits, socialize losses. Since the whole thing is a model, we can predict how the model will work. Since the whole thing is growing there is money all over the place, easy loans, easy credit, everyone makes money. The system is planned in such a way that the huge profits will go where they want to go. When it collapses, the losses go to the are socialized, just as the profits were privatized. When the whole thing implodes, it is socialized by taxpayer bail outs, or the Fed issuing more money.

Argentina has been through it in its 1975, 1989 (hyperinflation), 2001, 2002, when the whole banking system melted down. Each cycle had different characterized, but same outcome: Profits were privatized, and losses were socialized, and Argentina has become poorer and poorer. So the cycle is very short in Argentina, Europe and USA the cycle has lasted too long. The great depression is just an old photo of soup lines, or you remember your grandparents.

Ellen Brown, author of "Web of Debt": "While individuals, businesses and governments suffer from a credit crisis created on Wall Street, the banks responsible for the crisis [and who are getting bailed out by putting taxpayers into further debt to the banks, what an insult to injury!] are tapping into nearly-interest-free credit lines and using the money to speculate or to make commercial loans at much higher rates. By forming their own banks [like the State Bank of North Dakota], states too can tap into very low interest rates, and can buffer themselves from another Lehman-style credit collapse."

British economist John Maynard Keynes revealing himself as a major strategists for the central bankers... "For at least another hundred years, we must pretend to ourselves and to everyone, that fair is foul and foul is fair; for foul is useful and fair is not. Avarice and usury and precaution must be our gods for a little longer still."....."There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society than to debauch the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million is able to diagnose."

"The term/phenomena known as "interest" is an intangible man-made construct that has no parallel anywhere in the natural world. Compound interest is a ruse, fractional reserve banking is a ruse, the systems and processes are created so complex so as to hide the truth. It's a compounding deception that fleeces the unsuspecting people of their energy." – quote from a reader

A newspaper article a couple of years ago informed us the annual increase in interest to be 15 percent while the budget only grew 7 percent. More recently the deficit has been increasing much faster to fund/conceal the rapid growth in interest requirement. Professor Bob Blain, Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville has graphed the exponential growth in debt from 1915 to be irregular only during the 1930's. It was that period when the Fed repeatedly made reserve calls on the banks to force gold certificates and gold coins out of circulation---which repeatedly deepened the recession. This was followed by the U.S. being manipulated into WW II by Wall Street and flooding the economy with fiat Federal Reserve Notes. The future will see ever-increasing demands for debt---and interest---and war is the cause celebre. Ref. JFK, AND THE UNSPEAKABLE by James Douglas.

In 1790 during Congress' consideration of Alexander Hamilton's proposal to pay the national debt with a usury based obligation placed upon the citizens, congressman James Jackson, after lengthy reflection on the devastation similar plans had imposed on European countries and cities, included the following observations to Congress:

"Let us take warning by the errors of Europe, and guard against the introduction of a system followed by calamities so universal...The funding of the debt will occasion enormous taxes for the payment of the interest...(such a system) must hereafter settle upon our posterity a burthen (sic) which they can neither bear nor relieve themselves from." Ref. ANNALS OF CONGRESS, Vol. 1, 1790, pp. 1141-2.

"Nevertheless, Alexander Hamilton persuaded President Washington and the Congress to allow the private Bank of New York to become the first Bank of the United States in 1791, in a charter lasting twenty years until 1811. On the Caribbean island of Nevis, Hamilton's birthplace, it is known and openly recorded that Hamilton's actual father was named "Levy." Hamilton was a Rothschild agent. The Bank of New York, aka the Bank of the United States, was a private, profit-making company owned mainly (at least 72 %) by the Rothschild-owned central bank in London – the Bank of England. So, from the very beginning of this country, the financial system has been owned and controlled by foreign Jews and their agents here. Despite a bloody war for independence from England, our money and credit was still run by the Bank of England – and is to this day. Dividends to investors have continued virtually uninterrupted for 219 years! The Bank of New York is today known as the New York Federal Reserve Bank, the actual headquarters of the Federal Reserve System.

Check the back of yours canceled check to the IRS. It will say, "Pay to the order of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York." Why do you suppose it doesn't designate the IRS or Treasury Department? Why does your tax money go to a private, profit-making corporation owned by Zionist Jews?

Reading the notices that have been printed on paper currency (also applicable to the money sitting in your bank account) over the past two centuries, and especially since creation of the Federal Reserve System, one sees clearly what is so disturbing:

1880– This certifies that there have been deposited with the Treasurer of the U.S. at Washington, D.C., payable at his office to the bearer on demand one thousand silver dollars. [well defined dollar]

1918– Secured by United States Certificates of Indebtedness or one-year gold notes, deposited with the Treasurer of the United States of America, the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, California, will pay to the bearer on demand one dollar.

1922– This certifies that there have been deposited in the Treasury of the United States of America fifty dollars in gold coin payable to the bearer on demand.

1928– This note is a legal tender at its face value for all debts public and private. The United States of America will pay to the bearer on demand two dollars.

1934– This note is legal tender for all debts public and private, and is redeemable in lawful money at the United States Treasury, or at any Federal Reserve Bank. [lawful money where the dollar's value is defined in terms of a fixed weight of gold or silver]

1963– This note is legal tender for all debts public and private. [i.e. dollar's value is undefined now, no longer silver or gold]

Let's help to understand this with a few quotes.

A far past Bank of England director Lord Stamp's statement: "Banking was conceived in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them with the power to create credit, and with a flick of the pen they will create enough money to buy it all back again. Take this power away from them, and all the great fortunes like mine would disappear, and they ought to disappear, for then this World would be a happier and better World to live in. But if you wish to remain the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then continue to let Bankers control money and control credit."

Founding father President James Madison (instead of listening to idiots in the media): "Of all the enemies to public liberty war is, perhaps, the most to be dreaded, because it comprises and develops the germ of every other. War is the parent of armies; from these proceed debts and taxes; and armies, and debts, and taxes are the known instruments for bringing the many under the domination of the few. In war, too, the discretionary power of the Executive is extended; its influence in dealing out offices, honors, and emoluments is multiplied; and all the means of seducing the minds, are added to those of subduing the force, of the people.... [There is also an] inequality of fortunes, and the opportunities of fraud, growing out of a state of war, and ... degeneracy of manners and of morals.... No nation could preserve its freedom in the midst of continual warfare. A standing military force, with an overgrown Executive will not long be safe companions to liberty. The means of defense against foreign danger, have been always the instruments of tyranny at home. Among the Romans it was a standing maxim to excite a war, whenever a revolt was apprehended. Throughout all Europe, the armies kept up under the pretext of defending, have enslaved the people. Oppressors can tyrannize only when they achieve a standing army, an enslaved press, and a disarmed populace A well regulated militia, composed of the body of the people, trained in arms, is the best most natural defense of a free country."

President Thomas Jefferson: "I believe that [private] banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around [the banks] will deprive The People of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to The People, to whom it properly belongs." ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809) <http://www.sonic.net/sentinel/naij2.html>)

"Our banks constitute a state-supported, private monopoly, which has grown up under specially favored laws and customs. Parliament has made laws compelling the public to use certain legalized tokens of exchange without bothering itself as to the supply of such tokens. This supply has hitherto been allowed to fall under the control of privately owned companies who have the right to tax the community to any extent it is able and willing to bear. The result is that the public is permitted to employ its own credit only by consent of the bankers, and only to such limits as they choose to allow, on condition that it pays them a tax on such credit—amounting to millions of pounds annually, and this amazing monopoly exists merely because no British minister has yet had either the courage or the statesmanship to provide the nation with its own credit organizations! But the present position of affairs cannot continue. The force of circumstances will compel Parliament to destroy this monopoly and to release credit from its enslavement to gold, and thus enable the people to vastly increase the amount of their annual wealth production. Our monetary laws and banking methods will be seen to have been the chief hindrance to our industrial progress and trade advancement." -- "The People's Credit" by Arthur Kitson Being Chapter XI of Kitson's The Fraudulent Standard (1917)

"Some years ago a well-known United States Senator, speaking of the unlimited power in the hands of a few New York bankers, made the following announcement. He said :—" There are fifty men in the City of New York who can in twenty-four hours stop every wheel on every railway, close the doors of every factory, lock every switch on every telegraph line and shut down every coal and iron mine in the United States ! They can do this because they control all the money of the country. The control of money gives its possessors absolute power over a nation's industries." -- "The People's Credit" by Arthur Kitson Being Chapter XI of Kitson's The Fraudulent Standard (1917)

"A somewhat similar condition exists with The Bank of England—which, bear in mind, is a privately owned and controlled Joint Stock bank—with about twelve other joint Stock banks, practically control the entire currency and credit of Great Britain. Walter Bagehot (expired in 1836) once wrote (Lombard Street):—"All our credit system depends upon the Bank of England for its security. On the wisdom of the directors of that one Joint Stock company it depends whether England shall be solvent or insolvent. This may seem too strong, but it is not. All banks depend on the Bank of England, and all merchants depend on some banker!" In President Jackson's Veto Message to Congress, he made two famous statements: "The Bank is trying to kill me - but I will kill it!" Later he said "If the American people only understood the rank injustice of our money and banking system - there would be a revolution before morning..." -- "The People's Credit" by Arthur Kitson Being Chapter XI of Kitson's The Fraudulent Standard (1917)

In 1920, the famous entrepreneur Henry Ford published in "The Dearborn Independent" magazines articles exposing the fraudulent nature of the financial system. In 1924, Henry Ford wrote "THE INTERNATIONAL JEW", and put a copy in each automobile he sold for a long time. He stated: ..."It is well that the people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning." (you can download the book from here <http://www.fourwinds10.com/resources/uploads/pdf/07C-10-30-03-ford-the-international-jew.pdf>)

"At least when gambling was legalized for the benefit of The Mob, its name remained the same. However, when counterfeiting was legalized, it became known as banking. Today's monetary system is a legalized Counterfeiting Crime Family operation. Every new issue of money devalues it." -- Alex James

People don't know or understand that money is just an accounting ledger entry which only private banks are allowed to create with no collateral and at no liability to themselves. Bankers treat this entry as a debt owed to them and charge interest on it. This debt is ever circular and thus interest is collected on it eternally.

One notable exception is The State Bank of North Dakota which is owned by the State Government and creates debt-free and interest-free money for the State.

All this talk of debt to the banks is very phony. The private creation of fiat money is the biggest legalized counterfeiting fraud in the World, even more so than short-selling where you sell something you don't have. Bankers create "fiat" money from nothing as ledger entries and "lend" it to Governments who then pay eternal interest on it, and it keeps growing and growing, raising taxes, cutting services, selling off national assets, etc. just like John Perkins, ex-economic hit man for NSA/IMF explained in many of his interviews around the World.

The ordinary people are brainwashed into believing that they must repay this phony debt of the rich and powerful who incurred them. Jobs, pensions and public services are to be slashed and burned, with privateers put in charge. For the EU and the IMF, the opportunity presents to "change the culture" and to dismantle the social welfare of Greece, just as the IMF and the World Bank have "structurally adjusted" (impoverished and controlled) countries across the developing world.

The solution to our enslavement is quite simple. Renounce the phony debt that the Bankers' have created against us and establish Social Credit. See http://www.henrymakow.com/end_fiat_fraud_by_using_new_wo.html and http://www.henrymakow.com/end_fiat_fraud_by_using_new_wo.html for an explanation. Nobody can own a medium of exchange. It must be public.

INSTEAD OF

Also check "The Web of Debt" by Ellen Brown, EXPLODING THE MYTHS ABOUT MONEY. Read the Introduction for an eye-opening look at what's really going on with your money! Or listen to it here... <http://www.webofdebt.com/media/intro.php> Check these excerpts....

Introduction

Table of Contents

Foreword by Reed Simpson

Chapter 1 — "Lessons From The Wizard Of Oz"

Chapter 5 — "From Matriarchies of Abundance to Patriarchies of Debt"

Chapter 22 — "The Tequila Trap: The Real Story Behind the Illegal Alien Invasion"

Author Interviews

Thom Hartmann's Review of the Month for Buzzflash , April 2009: It's frankly difficult to find a good book that will help a person become literate about our modern money supply. Most that are accurate are hopelessly dense and written for graduate students in economics....Ellen Brown has translated a dense subject into a readable and fascinating story....Web of Debt by Ellen Brown not only demystifies money, but provides some thought-provoking and realistic solutions to our nation's dangerous dependence on a for-profit banking system that is sucking the financial lifeblood out of our nation....Buy it, read it, and get active!

American Free Press , April 21, 2008: Ms. Brown has taken two subjects considered boring - history and monetary policy - and turned them into a book as thrilling as any Tom Clancy novel, except that this book is true....If you are looking to have an understanding of the monetary mess we are in, this is an excellent historical overview with some truly elegant and ingenious ideas about correcting the problems we presently face. As you read this book you may find yourself feeling like "Neo" in The Matrix, newly awakened from the slumber of ignorance and deceit. Best of all, she offers viable solutions to the problems that have plagued our planet for millennia. This may well be one of the most important books you will ever read.

Here are some additional quotes on the fraud of the current financial monetary credit system.

"The powers of financial capitalism had another far-reaching aim, nothing less than to create a world system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole. This system was to be controlled in a feudalistic fashion by the central banks of the world acting in concert, by secret agreements, arrived at in frequent private meetings and conferences. The apex of the system was to be the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the world's central banks which were themselves private corporations. Each central bank...sought to dominate its government by its ability to control treasury loans, to manipulate foreign exchanges, to influence the level of economic activity in any country, and to influence cooperative politicians by subsequent economic rewards (lucrative 'consulting' gigs) in the business world...The growth of financial capitalism made possible a centralization of world economic control and use of this power for the direct benefit of financiers and the indirect injury of all other economic groups." - Carroll Quigley, Professor of History at Georgetown University (deceased) in his book 'Tragedy and Hope: A History of The World in Our Time', 1966; Highly esteemed by his former student, William Jefferson Blythe Clinton

"The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is "The Establishment". Not only does it have influence and power in key decision-making positions at the highest levels of government to apply pressure from above, but it also announces and uses individuals and groups to bring pressure from below, to justify the high level decisions for converting the U.S. from a sovereign Constitutional Republic into a servile member state of a one-world dictatorship." - Former Congressman John Rarick, 1971

"The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is the American Branch of a society which originated in England (The Royal Institute of International Affairs)...and believes national boundaries should be obliterated and one-world rule established." - Carroll Quigley, Professor of History at Georgetown University (deceased)

"The Trilateral Commission is intended to be the vehicle for multinational consolidation of the commercial and banking interests by seizing control of the political government of the United States. The Trilateral Commission represents a skillful, coordinated effort to seize control and consolidate the four centers of power - political, monetary, intellectual, and ecclesiastical. All this is to be done in the interest of creating a more peaceful, more productive world community. What the Trilateralists truly intend is the creation of a worldwide economic power superior to the political governments of the nation-states involved. They believe the abundant materialism they propose to create will overwhelm existing differences. As managers and creators of the system they will rule the future." - Senator Barry Goldwater, former Republican Party candidate for President, in his book 'With No Apologies', 1964

"The drive of the Rockefellers and their allies is to create a one-world government combining supercapitalism and communism under the same tent, all under their control...Do I mean conspiracy? Yes I do. I am convinced there is such a plot, international in scope, generations old in planning, and incredibly evil in intent." - Congressman Larry P. McDonald, 1976, killed in the Korean Airlines 747 (Flight KAL007) that was shot down by the Soviets in 1983

"The interests behind the Bush Administration, such as the Council on Foreign Relations, The Trilateral Commission - founded by Zbigniew Brzezinski for David Rockefeller - and the Bilderberger Group, have prepared for and are now moving to implement open world dictatorship within the next five years. They are not fighting against terrorists. They are fighting against citizens." - Dr. Johannes B. Koepll, Ph.D., 2001, former German Defense Ministry official and advisor to former NATO Secretary General Manfred Werner

"The technotronic era involves the gradual appearance of a more controlled society. Such a society would be dominated by an elite, unrestrained by [obsolete] traditional values. Soon it will be possible to assert almost continuous surveillance over every citizen and maintain up-to-date complete files containing even the most personal information about the citizen. These files will be subject to instantaneous retrieval by the authorities." - Zbigniew Brzezinski

"It (world government) cannot happen without U.S. participation, as we are the most significant single component. Yes, there will be a New World Order, and it will force the United States to change its perceptions." - Henry Kissinger

"The New World Order will be built...an end run on national sovereignty, eroding it piece by piece will accomplish much more than the old-fashioned frontal assault." - Council on Foreign Relations Journal, 1974, page 558

"We shall have world government, whether or not we like it. The only question is whether World Government will be achieved by conquest or by consent." - Paul Warburg, member of the Council on Foreign Relations and architect of the Federal Reserve System, in an address to the U.S. Senate, February 17, 1950

"The most powerful clique in these elitist groups have one objective in common - they want to bring about the surrender of the sovereignty and the national independence of the United States." - Rear Admiral Chester Ward, U.S. Navy, was a member of the CFR for sixteen years

"In March, 1915, the J.P. Morgan interests, the steel, shipbuilding, and powder interest, and their subsidiary organizations, got together 12 men high up in the newspaper world and employed them to select the most influential newspapers in the United States and sufficient number of them to control generally the policy of the daily press...They found it was only necessary to purchase the control of 25 of the greatest papers. An agreement was reached; the policy of the papers was bought, to be paid for by the month; an editor was furnished for each paper to properly supervise and edit information regarding the questions of preparedness, militarism, financial policies, and other things of national and international nature considered vital to the interests of the purchasers." - Congressman Oscar Callaway, 1917

"These International Bankers and Rockefeller Standard Oil interests control the majority of newspapers and the columns of these papers to club into submission or drive out of public office officials who refuse to do the bidding of the powerful corrupt cliques which compose the invisible government."

- Theodore Roosevelt

"If you don't read the newspaper, you are uninformed; if you do read the newspaper, you are misinformed." - Mark Twain

"All the ingredients for ending poverty of a person always comes neatly packaged with the person himself. A human being is born in this world fully equipped not only to take care of himself (which all other life-forms can do too), but also to contribute in enlarging the well-being of the world as a whole. Poverty is not created by the poor people. So we shouldn't give them an accusing look. They are the victims. Poverty has been created by the economic and social system that we have designed for the world. It is the institutions that we have built, and feel so proud of, which created poverty. It is the concepts we developed to understand the reality around us, made us see things wrongly! It is the failure at the top - rather than lack of capability at the bottom - which is the root cause of poverty. Concepts, institutions, and analytical frame conditions which created poverty, cannot end poverty. If we can intelligently re-work the frame conditions, poverty will be gone, never to come back again...Try to imagine how the economists would have built their theory if they had started out with an axiom that all men and women are created equal, that each of them is endowed with unlimited creativity, and each of them is a potential entrepreneur. In some important ways our designing of the theoretical framework of economics or the misrepresentation of it is responsible for perpetuating poverty." - Professor Muhammad Yunus, Creator of Grameen Bank in Commonwealth Lecture 2003, Winner of the 2006 Nobel Peace Prize

"Like slavery and apartheid, poverty is not natural. It is man-made and it can be overcome and eradicated by the actions of human beings." - Nelson Mandela

"While they prate of 'economic laws', men and women are starving [to death]. We must lay hold of the fact that 'economic laws' are not made by nature. They are made by human beings." - Franklin D. Roosevelt

"Throughout the ages, the devices of cunning men have turned money to their nefarious purposes. Money, beginning with private enterprise as a means of escaping the limitation of barter, soon developed the cheat to exploit the honest trader who, in an effort to protect himself, turned to government for protection, only to find that now he had two thieves, the private money changer and the political plunderer working hand in glove against him. By this combination the money changer gained the prestige of political sanction through legislative license and the state secured a deceptive device for laying taxes upon the citizenry [by means of the hidden tax called inflation]. It was and remains a vicious alliance." - E.C. Reigel

"The greatest enemy of mankind is his ignorance of the inherent money power in all of us. When the realization of this comes to man, he will like Samson, push down the walls of his prison." - E.C. Reigel

"Nothing is more dangerous to the power of the elite than the public discovery and understanding of the private control of the money supply." - Antony Sutton, in his book 'The Federal Reserve Conspiracy'

"The issue which has swept down the centuries and which will have to be fought sooner or later is The People vs. The Banks." - Lord Acton, Historian and Lord Chief Justice of England, 1875

"The people must be helped to think naturally about money. They must be told what it is, and what makes it money (as binding social contract), and what are the possible tricks of the present system which put nations and peoples under control of the few." - Henry Ford, in his book 'My Life and Work', 1922

"Although we have so foolishly allowed the field of circulating medium to be filched from us by private individuals, I think we may recover it...The states should be asked to transfer the right of issuing paper money to Congress, in perpetuity." - Thomas Jefferson, in a letter to John Eppes, 1813

Today's money is just a computer ledger entry

Today's money is just a computer ledger entry or a number marked on a piece of paper requiring no assets as collateral, i.e. it is a measure of the debt or credit created by private bankers at no liability to themselves. The Bankers collect eternal interest/usury on money which they created from nothing as ledger entries. In addition, The Bankers steal from The People through taxes, inflation and deflation. We will explain.

To our deeply shocking surprise, we will soon learn that the amount of money in circulation, either in computer accounts or as paper notes, actually represents The Bankers' debts or more exactly, The Bankers' theft as they create this money without any collateral of their own (a.k.a. fiat or counterfeit money) and they never have to actually give anything in return for their debts. Thus, Bankers keep stealing more and more of what The People produce with ever increasing public, corporate and private debts and bailouts. In simple terms, by creating and issuing their dollar denominated counterfeit "money", Bankers steal The People's assets and then lend them back to them at interest. The Bankers counterfeiting operation, enshrined in legislation, has devalued the dollar so much that a 2010 dollar is worth only 5 cents in terms of a 1913 dollar. Let's hear from the horse's mouth:

American Bankers Association as printed in the Congressional Record of April 29, 1913 for 1891: "On Sept 1st, 1894, we will not renew our loans under any consideration. On Sept 1st we will demand our money. We will foreclose and become mortgagees in possession. We can take two-thirds of the farms west of the Mississippi and thousands of them east of the Mississippi as well, at our own price... Then the farmers will become tenants as in England..."

THE BANKERS' MANIFESTO OF 1892: "Capital must protect itself in every way, through combination and through legislation. Debts must be collected and loans and mortgages foreclosed as soon as possible. When through a process of law, the common people have lost their homes, they will be more tractable and more easily governed by the strong arm of the law applied by the central power of wealth, under control of leading financiers. People without homes will not quarrel with their leaders. This is well known among our principle men now engaged in forming an IMPERIALISM of capital to govern the World. By dividing the people we can get them to expend their energies in fighting over questions of no importance to us except as teachers of the common herd. Thus by discrete action we can secure for ourselves what has been generally planned and successfully accomplished."

This Bankers' conspiracy was revealed by US Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh Sr. from Minnesota (father of the famous aviator) before the US Congress sometime during his term of office between the years of 1907 and 1917 to warn the citizens:

"We (the bankers) must proceed with caution and guard every move made, for the lower order of people are already showing signs of restless commotion. Prudence will therefore show a policy of apparently yielding to the popular will until our plans are so far consummated that we can declare our designs without fear of any organized resistance. The Farmers Alliance and Knights of Labor organizations in the United States should be carefully watched by our trusted men, and we must take immediate steps to control these organizations in our interest or disrupt them. At the coming Omaha Convention to be held July 4th (1892), our men must attend and direct its movement, or else there will be set on foot such antagonism to our designs as may require force to overcome. This at the present time would be premature. We are not yet ready for such a crisis.

Capital must protect itself in every possible manner through combination [conspiracy] and legislation. The courts must be called to our aid, debts must be collected, bonds and mortgages foreclosed as rapidly as possible. When through the process of the law, the common people have lost their homes, they will be more tractable and easily governed through the influence of the strong arm of the government applied to a central power of imperial wealth under the control of the leading financiers. People without homes will not quarrel with their leaders.

History repeats itself in regular cycles. This truth is well known among our principal men who are engaged in forming an imperialism of the World. While they are doing this, the people must be kept in a state of political antagonism. The question of tariff reform must be urged through the organization known as the Democratic Party, and the question of protection with the reciprocity must be forced to view through the Republican Party. By thus dividing voters, we can get them to expand their energies in fighting over questions of no importance to us, except as teachers to the common herd. Thus, by discrete action, we can secure all that has been so generously planned and successfully accomplished."

Before we go into details to explain The Bankers' Theft, first, let's review a bit of real American history that we were not taught in school (hint: education is controlled by The Banking Dynasties).

"All the perplexities, confusion and distress in America rise, not from defects in their Constitution or Confederation, not from want of honor or virtue, so much as from downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit and circulation". -- John Adams, in a letter to Thomas Jefferson in 1787

America was booming when The People were creating and issuing their own currency that was debt-free and usury-free. Benjamin Franklin answering a question about the booming economy of the young Colonies: "That is simple. In the Colonies we issue our own money. It is called Colonial Scrip. We issue it in proper proportions to the demands of trade and industry." Colonial Scrip had neither debt nor usury interest attached to it, unlike the private money created and issued by The Bankers.

[Note: Usury] is defined as charging interest on whatever token is being used as the medium of exchange for facilitating the trading of goods and services. Compounded usury, interest on interest, derivatives gambling, selling what you don't own, etc. makes the calculated numbers grow exponentially with no relationship to economic activity and production. The exponential math behind usury is explained later.]

International bankers from London's Rothschild Jewish banking dynasty saw that the America's interest/debt-free Colonial Scrip currency would be kept from influencing the rest of the World, so by 1781 banker-backed Alexander Hamilton (1755-1804, killed by a British sympathizer when he turned against them) succeeded in starting the private Bank of America. After a few years of "private bank money", the debt/usury free prosperity brought by The People's issued "Colonial Scrip" was gone.

Benjamin Franklin said that due to the private Bank of America debt/interest based currency, "Conditions were so reversed that the era of prosperity had ended and a depression set in to such an extent that the streets of the Colonies were filled with the unemployed!" Private bank money was like our FED money. It had both debt and interest attached to it siphoning The People's wealth.

The Revolution was fought for Independence from England's private Central Bank of England system, as well as for Freedom from the associated English Taxation. Many of the Signers lost everything, and some, their lives, in this English War of Conquest. Many fought and died in the War of 1812. The Bank of England financed this renewed attempt to get control of our Commerce, Trade, and Money Systems.

Benjamin Franklin - THE TWO BANKING SYSTEMS From the autobiography, as reported by Gertrude Coogan in "Money Creators": "...the inability of the colonists to get the power to issue their own money permanently out of the hands of George III and the international bankers was the PRIME reason for the Revolutionary War."

In 1789, Benjamin Franklin made the following statement when he addressed the First Continental Congress: "Gentlemen, if you do not exclude the Jews from our shores, in less than a hundred years, every man, woman and child will be toiling in the fields as slaves to the Jewish debt money system."

By 1790 Hamilton and his bankers had created a privately owned central bank and converted the public debt (interest-free) into interest bearing bonds, payable to The Bankers. When Hamilton's bank charter expired in 1811, the international bankers started the war of 1812. By 1816, another privately-owned U.S. bank was started with $35 million in assets - only $7 million of that was owned by the government. This bank lasted for 20 years. U.S. history shows that currency with debt and interest attached created a depression.

Napoleon Bonaparte-(1769-1821) Emperor of France (1804-1815) had a free hand in Europe as long as he borrowed from the Bank of Rothschilds. When he quit borrowing he was attacked by the English. Napoleon, a sympathizer for the international bankers, turned against them in the last years of his rule.

Napoleon said: "When a government is dependent upon bankers for money, they and not the leaders of the government control the situation, since the hand that gives is above the hand that takes... Money has no motherland; financiers are without patriotism and without decency; their sole object is gain."

Andrew Jackson, 7th U.S. President, 1829-1834 vetoed the renewal of the private central bank when the 1816 charter expired in 1836. In Jackson's Veto Message to Congress, he made two famous statements: "The Bank is trying to kill me - but I will kill it!" Later he said "If the American people only understood the rank injustice of our money and banking system - there would be a revolution before morning..."

Abraham Lincoln-(1809-1865) the 16th President of the U.S.- was Assassinated while in Office. In his First Inaugural Address, Lincoln made a point to discuss the role of Capital and Labor. Significant national issues were, at that time, in the first official speech, immediately after a Presidential Election.

Lincoln spoke on finances and government: "In his First Annual Message to Congress, December 3, 1861, Abraham Lincoln stated: "Labor is prior to, and independent of, capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed, if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital, and deserves much the higher consideration."

President Lincoln needed money to finance the Civil War, and the international Rothschild bankers offered him loans at 24-36% interest. Lincoln balked at their demands because he didn't want to plunge the nation into such a huge debt. Lincoln approached Congress about passing a law to authorize the printing of U.S. Treasury Notes.

Lincoln said "We gave The People of this Republic the greatest blessing they ever had - their own paper money to pay their debts..." Lincoln printed over 400 million "Greenbacks" (debt and interest-free) and paid the soldiers, U.S. government employees, and bought war supplies. The international bankers didn't like it and wanted Lincoln to borrow the money from them, so that the American people would owe tremendous interest on the loan. Lincoln's solution made this seem ridiculous. Shortly after Lincoln's death, the government revoked the Greenback law which ended Lincoln's debt-free, interest-free money. A new national banking act was enacted and all currency became interest-bearing, debt instruments, again.

So what was the Civil War all about? There were many factors at play. Northern industrialists had used protective tariffs to prevent their southern states from buying cheaper European goods. Europe retaliated by stopping cotton imports from the South. The Southern states were in a financial bind. They were forced to pay more for most of the necessities of life while their income from cotton exports plummeted. The South grew increasingly angry.

But there were other factors at work. ... The central bankers now saw an opportunity to use the North/South divisions to split the rich new nation - to divide and conquer by war. Let's look at what a well placed observer of the scene had to say at time.

This was Otto von Bismarck, Chancellor of Germany, the man who united the German states in 1871. A few years later, in 1876, he is quoted as saying: "It is not to be doubted, I know of absolute certainty," Bismarck declared, "that the division of the United States into two federations of equal power was decided long before the Civil War by the high financial powers of Europe. These bankers were afraid that the United States, if they remained as one block and were to develop as one nation, would attain economic and financial independence, which would upset the capitalist domination of Europe over the world."

Within months after the first shots were fired at Fort Sumter, The Central Bankers loaned Napoleon III of France (the nephew of the Waterloo Napoleon) 210 million francs to seize Mexico and station troops along the southern border of the U.S., taking advantage of the Civil War to violate the Monroe Doctrine and return Mexico to colonial rule.

No matter what the outcome of the Civil War, it was hoped that a war-weakened America, heavily indebted to the Money Changers, would open up Central and South America once again to European colonization and domination.

At the same time, Great Britain moved 11,000 troops into Canada and positioned them along America's northern border. The British fleet went on war alert should their quick intervention be called for.

Lincoln knew he was in a bind. He agonized over the fate of the Union. There was a lot more to it than just differences between the North and the South. That's why his emphasis was always on "Union" and not merely the defeat of the South. But Lincoln needed money to win.

In 1861, Lincoln and his Secretary of the Treasury, Salmon P. Chase, went to New York to apply for the necessary war loans. The Money Changers, anxious to maximize their war profits, only offered loans at 24-36% interest. Lincoln said thanks, but no thanks, and returned to Washington. He sent for an old friend, Colonel Dick Taylor of Chicago, and put him onto the problem off financing the War. At one particular meeting, Lincoln asked Taylor how else to finance the war.

Colonel Dick Taylor put it this way: "Why, Lincoln, that is easy; just get Congress to pass a bill authorizing the printing of full legal tender treasury notes... pay your soldiers with them and go ahead and win your war with them also."

When Lincoln asked if the people of the United States would accept the notes, Taylor said: "The people or anyone else will not have any choice in the matter, if you make them full legal tender. They will have the full sanction of the government and be just as good as any money ... the stamp of full legal tender by the Government is the thing that makes money good any time, and this will always be as good as any other money inside the borders of our country."

So that's exactly what Lincoln did. From 1862 to 1865, with Congressional authorization, he printed up $432,000,000 of the new bills.

In order to distinguish them from private bank notes in circulation, he had them printed with green ink on the back side. That's why the notes were called "Greenbacks." With this new money, Lincoln paid the troops, and bought their supplies. During the course of the war, nearly all of the 450 million dollars of Greenbacks authorized by Congress were printed at no interest to the federal government.

By now Lincoln realized who was really pulling the strings and what was at stake for the American people. ... This is how he explained his monetary views: "The Government should create, issue, and circulate all the currency and credit needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers... The privilege of creating and issuing money is not only the supreme prerogative of Government, but it is the Government's greatest creative opportunity... By the adoption of these principles, the long-felt want for a uniform medium will be satisfied. The taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest. The financing of all public enterprises, and the conduct of the Treasury will become matters of practical administration. Money will cease to be master and become the servant of humanity."

Meanwhile in Britain a truly incredible editorial in the London Times explained the Bank of England's attitude towards Lincoln's Greenbacks: "If this mischievous financial policy, which has its origin in North America, shall become indurate down to a fixture, then the Government will furnish its own money without cost. It will pay off debts and be without debt. It will have all the money necessary to carry on its commerce. It will become prosperous without precedent in the history of the world. The brains, and wealth of all countries will go to North America. That country must be destroyed or it will destroy every monarchy on the globe."

Keep in mind, by this time the European monarchs were already chained to their private central banks, hence The Bankers' concern to preserve their captive monarchs. Within four days of the passage of the law that allowed Greenbacks to be issued, bankers met in convention in Washington to discuss the situation. It was agreed that Greenbacks would surely be their ruin. Something had to be done. They devised a scheme gradually to undermine the value of the Greenbacks.

Seemingly unimportant limitations on the use of Greenbacks (printed on the green back), insisted on by The Bankers, forbidding their use to pay import duties and interest on the public debt, were utilized by the banks to slap a surcharge on Greenbacks of up to 185%. This undermined the confidence of the people in Greenbacks and necessitated further concessions to The Bankers to obtain more, discounted as the Greenbacks now were.

This scheme was effective - so effective that the next year, 1863, with Federal and Confederate troops beginning to mass for the decisive battle of the Civil War, and the Treasury in need of further Congressional authority at that time to issue more Greenbacks, Lincoln gave in to the pressure, which he described: "They persist, they have argued me almost blind - I am worse off than St. Paul. He was in a strait between two. I am in a strait between twenty and they are bankers and financiers."

Lincoln allowed The Bankers to push through the National Banking Act of 1863 in exchange for their support for the urgently needed additional Greenbacks. This act created "National Banks" (hence the N.A. still in use after National banks' names) and gave them a virtual tax-free status. The new banks also got the exclusive power to create the new form of money - National Bank Notes. Though Greenbacks continued to circulate, their quantity was limited and no more were authorized after the war.

James A. Garfield-(1831-1881) 20th President of the United States was also assassinated while in Office.

President James A. Garfield said: "Whoever controls the money in any country is absolute master of industry [legislation] and commerce".

Louis T. McFadden,-Chairman of the House Banking Committee-(1928-1935), an outspoken critic of the Banking Gangsters was subject to at least two attempts on his life in 1933-1934, then McFadden died "mysteriously" in 1935, most likely poisoned by the Banksters agents.

John F. Kennedy -(1917-1963)-35th President of the United States was also assassinated in Office. On June 4, 1963, President Kennedy issued Executive Order 11110. This Executive Order called for the issuance of a new currency - the United States Silver Dollar Note. At the time, $4,292,893 of this currency was put into circulation. This new currency was to be distributed through the U.S. Treasury and not the Federal Reserve System. Furthermore, it was to be issued debt and interest-free. Upon Kennedy's assassination, this currency was withdrawn from circulation, never to be issued again.

Quote from Congressman Ron Paul's website:

"If someone incurred debts against you as an individual, without your knowledge or consent, you would call it identity theft. You would call your bank for a full accounting of the debts incurred in your name, and after some verification, those debts would be declared invalid and you would not be held responsible for them. Furthermore, if the culprit was found, they would be prosecuted and sent to jail. Not so with Governments and Bankers.

Governments that are supposed to be of The People and for The People routinely incur debts against The People through The Bankers. Some governments even borrow money to oppress their citizens, and then expect them to pay for their own oppression with interest and taxes.

With a fiat monetary system (money created from nothing by The Bankers using The People as collateral), the sky is the limit for how much debt a government can place on the backs of The People. We have reached the point in the United States where the debt our government has accumulated against us is mathematically impossible to pay off. Harder times, likely due to a wave of hyperinflation, will eventually find its way to our streets and I am fearful of how Americans will react.

My hope is that we will come together peacefully and help each other, and that enough of us will be aware that the blame rests securely on the shoulders of the Federal Reserve and the special interests Bankers. They should not be looked to for salvation. They should not be given more power. Rather, they should be stripped of the powers that allowed them to create this mess in the first place. Resistance to public transparency regarding public debts should be denounced in the strongest of terms, and the central bankers that incurred them should be seen as no better than common identity thieves."

My summary is that the entire banking system is a legalized fraud of counterfeiting. Here's why:

- Credits/Debts resulting from buying/selling transactions are measured and tracked as "dollars" either in ledger accounts or as paper notes.
- The dollar is undefined as a fixed measure of value in terms of goods or services, i.e. the exchange rate of the dollar versus real goods and services is undefined, its whatever you can exchange the dollars for at the time you decide to spend them. Up to 1913, the dollar was defined as 1/20th of an ounce of gold.
- Where do Bankers get the money to lend to Governments, Corporations and individuals? Bankers create "dollar money" in computer ledgers (currently about $90 trillion) or as dollar denominated notes (currently about $900 billion). Money is merely a ledger entry and can be created in any amount. It represents a credit guarantee, i.e. a guaranteed debt, guaranteed by the taxpayers as legal tender. Banksters create money with no collateral of their own against promissory notes given to them by Governments, corporations, individuals (e.g. bonds, mortgages, etc.).
- All dollars created by Bankers represent The Bankers' debts or thefts:
 - Bankers' debts because it is fiat money, money created with nothing as its collateral; The Bankers make you think that it's your debt and charge you interest on it.
 - Bankers' theft because The Bankers never have to pay their debts as these dollars float from account to account. Thus, The Bankers steal The People's production and lend it back to them at interest.
 - Bankers' do identify theft because The People are liable for all the debts that The Bankers incur when creating fiat money. If someone incurred debts against you as an individual, without your knowledge or consent, you would call it identity theft. You would call your bank for a full accounting of the debts incurred in your name, and after some verification, those debts would be declared invalid and you would not be held responsible for them. Furthermore, if the culprit was found, they would be prosecuted and sent to jail. Not so with Bankers.
 - The more dollars The Bankers create, the more they devalue existing and future dollars, i.e. theft upon theft.
- With this fiat money, Dollar Bankers can buy anything in the World for nothing while transferring all liabilities to The People.
- About 60% of the money that you earn and spend makes its way back to The Bankers as interest.
- Continued money supply requires governments, corporations and individuals to be perpetually in ever growing circular debt to ensure that there is enough supply of money to pay interest to The Bankers; when The Bankers decide to stop lending, there is insufficient money to pay their interest thus allowing them to recall loans, engineering a bust cycle and buy/foreclose on assets for pennies on the dollar; at the peak of a boom cycle, Bankers can start to sell before anyone else
- Dollar denominated asset values of financial instruments (stocks, credit swap guarantees, derivatives, etc.) keep going up until no more money is available, i.e. credit limit has been reached. Then, financial asset values collapse.
- When financial asset values collapse, the Banksters use their control over government to bail themselves out by indebting taxpayers with trillion$. Federal Gov debt is now over $13 Trillion. Banksters could have created the money themselves without the Fed Gov holding the debt but then they would have been the debt-holders, so instead, they got the Fed Gov to indebt itself to give the money which the Banksters created back to the Banksters.
- Banksters used bailout trillions to buy out smaller Banksters and to give themselves bailouts. The money is being used to prop up the markets again to another peak and subsequent crash. In the past, the time gap between peaks and crashes was longer.

Quick Summary with 5 Surprising Questions

The American Monetary Institute (IMA) advises creating a new permanently circulating debt-free/interest-free money supply based on how Abraham Lincoln's Greenbacks or Benjamin Franklin's Colonial Scrip worked to facilitate the exchange of goods and services, debt-usury free. This is to allow the free-flow exchange of goods and services that are produced and consumed.

However, all money is created and issued debt/interest bearing by The Bankers. But where did The Bankers get this wealth against which they issue their money? Well, this money is actual a representation of The Bankers' debt, and not of their assets as people commonly think, unless we surmise that The Bankers already own the Earth and are "lending it back to us at interest". Since The Bankers never have to pay back their debt as documented in the dollars they create and issue, the dollars The Bankers issue can be considered counterfeit money and it a record of their theft or their counterfeiting operation. The Bankers lend these stolen goods back to us at interest.

To add insult to injury, the taxpayers pay eternal interest to The Bankers on this money.

To further add insult to injury, every newborn inherits the debt and interest payments to The Bankers, instead of being born inheriting his/her fair share of the World's land natural resources' wealth.

As you may have realized by now, this is sounding more and more like The Bankers s are the Lords of Plantation Earth, having usurped all of the World's wealth and then "lending it back to us at interest"!

For a debt to exist, there must be intent of payment. There being no intent and means of payment by both Governments and Bankers, there is NO National Debt. Thus, Fed notes or dollars represent THEFT rather than debt. The so-called "National Debt" is a record of how much The Bankers have stolen from The People through Government. However, there is "National Interest", i.e. the eternal interest that Governments, Corporations and people pay at all levels.

The Founding Fathers of The United States exposed the Banking Gangsters (Banksters) and you can read some of their quotes later on in this exposé. This is not taught in schools (for the masses, "ignorance is bliss"), so everyone needs to learn on their own about the importance of understanding the shameless fraud behind the current debt/usury-based money system and how this system differs from a permanent money supply system.

Soon, in order to understand the gigantic fraud that the legislated privatized credit monopoly financial system is today, we will review what money was back then, and is now today. The Bankers have imposed an enslaving banking system on the World where all THE PEOPLE's wealth is assumed to be owned by the few Bankers against which they issue their debt dollars, and where profits are feudalized and all losses and liabilities are socialized!

We will explain that today's money is a proof of debt or a debt note, and the issuer of the debt is the entire banking system composed of commercial banks, central banks, World Bank and the Bank of International Settlements. The Bankers have usurped THE PEOPLE's wealth and, without THE PEOPLE's consent, The Bankers use them as collateral indefinitely to steal their wealth. All profits and benefits are captured by The Bankers while all debts, liabilities and interest payments are passed on to THE PEOPLE from generation to generation.

Like the corporate system where profits and benefits are privatized and where liabilities are transferred to the taxpayers, such as for cleaning up corporate created pollution and diseases, the financial system also privatizes all profits and benefits and transfers all liabilities to the taxpayers through a multitude of avenues. An estimated 60% of the average family's income of $50,000 goes towards some sort of interest payment to the Banksters.

William Patterson 1694 Founder of the Private Bank of England: "The bank hath benefit of interest on all moneys which it creates out of nothing [i.e. fiat money]."

Ralph M. Hawtrey, Former Secretary of the British Treasury: "Banks lend by creating credit. They create the means of payment, out of nothing [i.e. fiat money]."

President Lincoln's words (assassinated by the Banking Gangsters' agent) "The Government should create, issue, and circulate all the currency and credits needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers. By the adoption of these principles, the taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest."... "The money powers prey on the nation in times of peace and conspire against it in times of adversity. The banking powers are more despotic than monarchy, more insolent than autocracy, more selfish than bureaucracy. They denounce as public enemies all who question their methods or throw light upon their crimes"

Inventor of the electric light, Thomas Edison, criticizing the private monopoly of the Fed to create money: "If our nation can issue a dollar bond, it can issue a dollar bill. The element that makes the bond good, makes the bill good, also... It is absurd to say that our country can issue $30 million in bonds and not $30 million in currency. Both are promises to pay, but one promise fattens the usurers and the other helps The People."

President Thomas Jefferson: "I believe that [private] banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around [the banks] will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the people, to whom it properly belongs." ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809) <http://www.sonic.net/sentinel/naij2.html>)

"Those who print the money make the rules" – Irwin Schiff

""Capital must protect itself in every way," through combination and through legislation. Debts must be collected and loans and mortgages foreclosed as soon as possible. When through a process of LAW the common people have lost their homes, they will be more tractable and more easily governed by the strong arm of the law, applied by the central power of wealth, under control of leading financiers. People without homes will not quarrel with their leaders. By dividing The People we can get them to expend their energies in fighting over questions of no importance to us except as teachers of the common herd.." --from "Banker's Manifest", for private circulation among leading bankers only, taken from the Civil Servants' Year Book, "The Organizer" of January, 1934 "Wars are Bankers' harvests" -- W.G. Simpson.

"You see, a legitimate government can both spend and lend money into circulation, while banks can only lend significant amounts of their promissory bank notes, for they can neither give away nor spend but a tiny fraction of the money The People need. Thus, when your bankers here in England place money in circulation, there is always a debt principal to be returned and usury to be paid. The result is that you have always too little credit in circulation to give the workers full employment. You do not have too many workers, you have too little money in circulation, and that [money] which circulates all bears the endless burden of unpayable debt and usury....In the Colonies, we issue our own money. It is called Colonial Scrip [interest-free, wealth-based money issued by The Colonies 1750-1764 before Bank of England crooks made it illegal]. We issue it in proper proportion to make the products pass easily from the producers to the consumers. In this manner, creating ourselves our own paper money, we control its purchasing power, and we have no interest to pay to no one...." – Benjamin Franklin (US statesman, political theorist, genius inventor), speaking at the London Parliament, 1763.

In 1764, England outlawed all forms of paper money issued by The American Colonies and forced them to use Bank of England notes.

Several prominent men in the last three hundred years (since the creation of the private Bank of England in 1694) tried to buck The Bankers by creating debt/interest-free money:

- President Thomas Jefferson (with a series of letters discussing the area of interest-free currency and the belief that banks are an anathema to personal well-being).
- President Abraham Lincoln who turned down the banks' offer at that time of a loan at thirty-nine percent on the money needed to conduct the North's side of the Civil War and created an 'interest-free' currency called 'The Greenback Dollar' which served sufficiently enough to carry the war to its end (but only for the duration of the Civil War after which, when it became evident the 'Greenback Dollar' would remain, he was assassinated – and the 'Greenback removed from circulation).
- President J.F. Kennedy, who, under Executive Order number 11110, created a Sovereign currency called the Silver Certificate. Kennedy issued just under five billion dollars – enough to cover the U.S. budget at that time - backed by silver. JFK was assassinated five months after the Silver Certificates went into circulation. Immediately, the Silver Certificates were withdrawn from circulation and the U. S. went back to the privately-owned Federal Reserve System.

Question 1: What does a dollar mean?

Herein is the 1st fraud about the dollar. The dollar is now undefined. In the past, up to 1913 when the privately owned Federal Reserve Central Banking System was imposed on us through legislation (of The Bankers, for The Bankers, and by The Bankers), a dollar was defined as 1/20th of an ounce of gold, or 371.25 grains of silver, which was existing and stored in The Bankers' vaults. "THOU SHALT NOT GIVE FALSE MEASURE"!

The dollar is now just a point system whose exchange or buying power fluctuates based on how many dollars are created and circulating and chasing the available goods and services produced in the economy at any point in time, i.e. whatever you can get for those dollars at the time you actually go to buy something.

Looking at the big picture, The People of the Earth allegedly owe about $90 Trillion worth of goods and services to The Bankers. Most of these trillions float around electronically from account to account in The Bankers' computerized ledgers of US$ accounts. There are still about $900 billion (although there could be more) in paper notes circulating around the World, 40% of which circulate in the US. Paper notes could be phased out in the future and all transactions then would be electronic. Only about 5% of these trillions actually chase goods and services while the rest chase financial gambling instruments.

Question 2: Where did these few Bankers get $90 Trillion worth of assets to allegedly lend to THE PEOPLE? What types of powers do Bankers really have?

Herein is the 2nd fraud about the dollar. The dollar actually represents The Bankers' debt or more precisely theft since The Bankers don't even have to pay their debt. Today's money represents a debt or theft by The Bankers from The People. This debt or theft is denominated in dollars, and the dollar is undefined. The Bankers steal The People's production and sell it back to them at interest. "THOU SHALT NOT COVET THY NEIGHBOR'S HOUSE...OR ANY THING THAT IS THY NEIGHBOR'S AND THOU SHALT NOT TAKE USURY"

Question 3: Who owes you something in exchange for the dollars that you hold?

Herein is the 3rd fraud about the dollar. The debt represented by the dollar is socialized and anonymous whereas it must specifically identify the issuing Banker. Check your dollar notes, they don't say that they are redeemable at the bank anymore, they just state that they are legal tender for all debts, public and private, and signed by the Treasurer of the United States. Does "the United States" refer to a D.C. corporation or a Republic government created by the States, for the States, created by The People, for The People? Since there is no promise to pay stated on the Federal Reserve Note, the Banksters don't promise you anything! "THOU SHALT NOT LIE! FIAT MONEY IS THE ROOT OF ALL EVIL"!

Question 4: Who is paying interest on The Bankers' debt or theft?

Herein is the 4th fraud about the dollar. The Bankers' don't pay any interest on the money they have usurped from The People. Instead, they lend it back to our Governments at interest, i.e. taxpayers, pay the interest on their own money which The Bankers stole from them. "THOU SHALT NOT STEAL AND THOU SHALT NOT TAKE USURY"!

Question 5: Who gets to collect and keep your tax dollars?

Herein is the 5th fraud about the dollar. As exposed by the 1984 Grace Commission, "100% of what is collected is absorbed solely by interest on the Federal Debt ... all individual income tax revenues are gone before one nickel is spent on the services taxpayers expect from government." - Grace Commission report submitted to President Ronald Reagan - January 15, 1984. As well, the IRS who collects the taxes and the Federal Reserve System who creates the money to pay the taxes are private corporations. Note that there is no copyright on the use of the word "Federal". Common sense tells you that if your payment of income tax check is deposited somewhere other than to the account of the United States of America Treasury, something is wrong. Look at the endorsement on the back of same. "THOU SHALT NOT BEAR FALSE WITNESS AGAINST THY NEIGHBOR"!

These comments were presented at the Close of the Citizens' Truth-In-Taxation Hearing, Washington D.C., February 27-28, 2002: IRS is a Trust Headquartered in Puerto Rico Not a Federal Agency. The IRS is technically not an "agency" of the federal government, as that term is defined in the Freedom of Information Act and in the Administrative Procedures Act. The governments of the federal territories are expressly excluded from the definition of "agency" in those Acts of Congress. See 5 U.S.C. 551(1)(C). All evidence indicates that they are a money laundry, extortion racket, and conspiracy to engage in a pattern of racketeering activity, in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1951 and 1961 et seq. They appear to be laundering huge sums of money into foreign banks, mostly in Europe, and quite possibly into the Vatican. See the national policy on money laundering at 31 U.S.C. 5341. Do federal income tax revenues pay for any government services and, if so, which government services are funded by federal income taxes? Answer: No. The money trail is very difficult to follow, in this instance, because the IRS is technically a trust with a domicile in Puerto Rico. See 31 U.S.C. 1321(a)(62). As such, their records are protected by laws which guarantee the privacy of trust records within that territorial jurisdiction, provided that the trust is not also violating the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The Bankers realized that a mechanism was needed to withdraw this artificial money out of circulation as quickly as it was put into circulation. Enter the Internal Revenue Service. The IRS is really a private collection agency for the private Federal Reserve. The FED pumps money into the economy, and the IRS sucks it out of the economy, like two pumps working in tandem. This has the effect of artificially maintaining the purchasing power of this "fiat money", as it is called by monetary experts. This is one of the primary purposes of the income tax. We know this to be true, because a man named Beardsley Ruml Chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York explained it clearly in an essay he published in the magazine American Affairs in January of 1946. The shocking fact is that federal income taxes do not pay for any government services; they are used to make interest payments on the federal debt. For proof, read the Grace Commission report. These interest payments are now over 40 percent of the annual federal budget.

"In a recent conversation with an official at the Internal Revenue Service, I was amazed when he told me that 'If the taxpayers of this country ever discover that the IRS operates on 90% bluff the entire system will collapse'". - Henry Bellmon, Senator (1969)

"Our federal tax system is, in short, utterly impossible, utterly unjust and completely counterproductive [it] reeks with injustice and is fundamentally un-American... it has earned a rebellion and it's time we rebelled". - President Ronald Reagan, May 1983, Williamsburg, VA

"Our Income Tax system is a disgrace to the human race." - Jimmy Carter, said in 1976, the then President-to-be

"Eight decades of amendments... to [the] code have produced a virtually impenetrable maze... The rules are unintelligible to most citizens... The rules are equally mysterious to many government employees who are charged with administering and enforcing the law". - Shirley Peterson, Former IRS Commissioner, April 14, 1993 at Southern Methodist University

"The wages of the average American worker, after inflation and taxes, have decreased 17% since 1973, the only Western industrial nation to so suffer". - Martin Gross, author of "The Tax Racket: Government Extortion From A to Z"

"Taxes are not levied for the benefit of the taxed.... There is no worse tyranny than to force a man to pay for what he does not want merely because you think it would be good for him." -- Robert A. Heinlein

"I think the terror most people are concerned with is the IRS". -- Malcolm Forbes, when asked if he was afraid of terrorism

"In general, the art of government consists in taking as much money as possible from one party of citizens [the middle-class] to give to the other" [the financial Elite, i.e. endebt/tax The People and then bailout anyone?]. -- Voltaire (1764)

"Our forefathers made one mistake. What they should have fought for was representation without taxation." -- Fletcher Knebel, Historian

The Bankers control the issue of money, however, the debt is not on them, and i.e. it is passed with compound interest on to the unborn and newborn taxpayers eternally. No wonder babies cry immediately after birth! On corporate and private debt, the debt vanishes when the corporation or person dies, but not on Government debt which is passed from generation to generation.

Whoever controls the issue of money, well, he definitely is the one who controls the distribution of wealth and is the master of us all with no liability to himself as the money just keeps moving from account to account, never posing a demand against the issuer! In other words, Profits & Bail-outs for The Bankers, Debt/Variable-Interest-Rate/Boom/Bust/Loan- Recalls/Foreclosures/etc. for The People!

President Thomas Jefferson: "I believe that [private] banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around [the banks] will deprive The People of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to The People, to whom it properly belongs." ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809) <http://www.sonic.net/sentinel/naj2.html>

Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild (1744-1812): "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of The People, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protégé of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

Far past Bank of England director Lord Stamp's statement: "Banking was conceived in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them with the power to create credit, and with a flick of the pen they will create enough money to buy it all back again. Take this power away from them, and all the great fortunes like mine would disappear, and they ought to disappear, for then this World would be a happier and better World to live in. But if you wish to remain the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then continue to let Bankers control money and control credit."

"Some people think the Federal Reserve Banks are US government institutions They are not... they are private credit monopolies which prey upon The People of the US. for the benefit of themselves and their foreign and domestic swindlers, and rich and predatory money lenders. The sack of the United States by the Fed is the greatest crime in history. Every effort has been made by the Fed to conceal its powers, but the truth is the Fed has usurped the government. It controls everything here and it controls all our foreign relations. It makes and breaks governments at will". -- Congressman Charles McFadden, Chairman, House Banking and Currency Committee, June 10, 1932

The Federal Reserve is not "federal". It is no more federal than Federal Express, or Federated Hardware Stores. For detailed proof, see Lewis v. United States, 680 F.2d 1239 (9th Circuit, 1982). There is no government copyright or trademark on using the word "federal".

The private Bankers don't merely provide the hierarchy of clearinghouses for the tracking and settling of local, national and international credit balances, they actually have the monopoly over creating, issuing, recalling and gambling with those credits at no debt-liability to themselves, passing on all liabilities to the taxpayers. Thus, today's Banking System is the Perfect Crime about which people are unaware. The perfect crime is when one party can rob others day after day and year after year and convinces the victims that the more they lose the wealthier they are. Thus the term "Banking Gangsters" or Banksters.

The medium of exchange to keep track of trading credits, i.e. "money", is the lifeblood of today's multitude of dynamically diverse/granularly-scaled life sustaining economic activities and transactions. Once created, the medium of exchange keeps circulating from person to person, from account to account in the banking system, eternally, or as long as there are human beings producing and buying goods and services.

As universal prosperity is dependent upon the ability of Money to flow (its "velocity"), nothing may be done to money that would in any way impede that flow. This would exclude things like adding bankers' gimmicks like interest to money, or in giving money additional uses beyond its sole legitimate use as a "medium of exchange".

If the medium of exchange is or represents an asset, then the money is a receipt for an asset owned by the issuer of the money (whether a paper note or a token coin with a stamped value, or a statement of account in a ledger). This type of money is secured by an existing asset and is redeemable for the asset at the issuing bank.

If the medium of exchange represents a debt, then the money is a proof of debt on the issuer of the money (whether a paper note or a token coin with a stamped value, or a statement of account in a ledger). This type of money is not secured by an existing asset and is not redeemable for the asset at the issuing bank.

The masses are under the mistaken impression that governments create and issue money which is then deposited in banks, and that the banks lend money that is on deposit. Nothing could be further from the truthful reality. Private central and commercial banks actually create and issue the money that is the legal tender. They create it as "fiat" money, i.e. money for which they don't possess any assets. Thus, this money actually represents the banking system's debts, i.e. dollars in circulation represent The Bankers' debts and are actually bills or bonds and not proof of existing assets.

To have money in circulation to keep the economy going, governments have to "borrow" the money from the banks as an interest bearing debt. The banks create this money from nothing, as a ledger entry in their computer's banking accounting systems; they are neither liable for their debt nor do they pay any interest to anyone on their debt, although they indebt everyone and charge them interest. Imagine what a sleigh of hand!

In fact, the reason we don't have a permanent debt-free/interest-free circulating money system is because the Banking Gangsters or Banksters have imposed their holy cash cow debt-based/usury system with their debt/usury money circulating in the World as the medium of international World and US national exchange. There is a long history on how this system was gradually installed using a multitude of complex Mafia tactics that the unsuspecting and untrained mind cannot fathom (many video / article / book references are available on the subject including the free book on The Hidden History of Money & New World Order Usury Secrets <http://www.lulu.com/content/165077>).

Thus, private Central and Commercial Banksters have gained the monopoly over creating unlimited amounts of government-backed (i.e. taxpayers) legal tender fiat money which they simply print or issue as a ledger accounting entry in their computerized ledgers at no liability to themselves and with no valubles of their own to assetize the money notes or account credits which they issue to "borrowers". If we did this, it would be called counterfeiting.
The central governments have legalized the crime of counterfeiting and licensed it to the Banksters. The exception is North Dakota where The People's State Bank still creates debt-free/usury-free money for the State of North Dakota.

Why do we say this? Well, consider this:

- When a government, corporation or individual wants to borrow "money", the Banksters issue you money notes or ledger entries and keep track of them in their computers:
 - Since the Banksters have no assets to represent the money they are issuing, those notes represent either:
 - Banksters' debts (and not Banksters' assets), i.e. the dollar notes or ledger entries mean that the Banksters owes xxxxxx dollars to the holder of that note. So why are you paying interest to the Banksters for holding on to his debt note dollars? When do the Banksters have to pay up their debt? Never, so its not a debt, it's a theft! Since there is no promise to pay stated on the Federal Reserve Note, the Banksters don't promise you anything!
 - Or alternatively,
 - Banksters' counterfeit money, i.e. if the Banksters insist that they have assets to backup the dollars that they are issuing, then tell them "show me" and we will soon realize that they are counterfeiting money, unless they claim that they own everyone and everything in the World, in which case they are considering us and all future newborns as their slaves, which they actually do anyways. So why are you paying interest to the Banksters for holding on to his counterfeit dollars?
 - Or alternatively,
 - Banksters may say that they are a credit issuing and collecting agency, issuing debt money on behalf of the US Government. Then why do they get all of the benefits and profits and the taxpayers get to pay all the debt and interest that the Banksters create?
- In either case, the Banksters are not liable to provide any goods and services amounting to the trillions of dollars of alleged "loans" that they have issued (about $90 trillion around the World), i.e. the Banksters are not liable for what they issue. The taxpayers are on the hook for it.
- In order for someone to lend you something, the lender has to be the owner of that something. In the case of the Banksters, they neither possess nor own what they "lend" you. So, in fact what is happening is that the Banksters are lending their dollar denominated debt notes to the "borrower", i.e. to governments, corporations, individuals. The borrower "borrows" the Banksters' dollar debt notes by pledging his personal dollar debt note, i.e. his bond, his mortgage, his loan agreement, his promissory note, etc. However, morphing your thoughts into what money used to be, the Bankster makes you think that he has lent you something of his. What a trick, a sleigh of hand and mind!
- These Bankster-created dollars are the only legal tender to pay taxes and discharge debts, i.e. the counterfeiting is backed by the force of legislation that makes taxpayers liable to supply the goods and services to backup these Bankster dollars.
- Since the Banksters' debt notes are redeemable from anyone who has something to sell, these dollar notes and ledger account entries circulate at infinitum from person to person, from account to account, in the economy. They just keep shuffling the dollars from account to account. The Banksters never have to deliver any goods and services in exchange of the money they have issued, and which was created as their debt, i.e. they never have to pay their debts. Now, shouldn't The People be the ones who should have the benefit of never having to pay their ever increasing debts instead of the Banksters? Aren't the Banksters in debt to The People for all of the money they have counterfeited?

"Bankers understand the difference between money and wealth. Money buys things. If you could counterfeit money, you could buy the whole world and control Congress. Wealth is anything that you can sell. You can sell real estate, cars, gold, silver and people sell their 40 hours a week for a payroll check. Yes, labor produces wealth. Labor produces gas for your car, food to eat and homes, cars and roads. The Banker knows that if everyone stopped working, stayed home and counterfeited money, everyone would starve to death, and no one would have gas for their car because everyone stopped working. When bankers create new money and lend it to you, you must work for The Banker for free to repay the loan or he forecloses and gets your home or car for free. The money creator gets more of your wealth for free using a suit and tie than a gunman does pointing a gun to your head. The Banker says, repay the loan because the bank lent you money. We simply ask one question. Should the one who funded the loan be repaid the money? If they answer YES or NO, the bank must forgive the loan and zero out the debt. That is the one question that they do not want to answer because the borrower funded the loan as proven by the bank's own bookkeeping entries. Ask yourself one question. Where did all the cash come from to make all the loans for cars and homes and businesses? Nearly every business and family has huge debts. If they had cash, they would not have loans. The banks created the new money as a ledger entry from nothing and with no liability to themselves, a.k.a. counterfeiting with no assets of their own, and lent it to you." --- Thomas D. Schauf

"The oppressor wants money neither as a medium of exchange, -- nor as a measure of value, -- for he will himself determine the value of everything, -- but only for the convenience it affords of exercising violence; and this convenience consists in the fact that money may be saved up, and is the most convenient means of holding in slavery the majority of mankind." – Ardeshir Mehta

"We have those on Wall Street, banking and corporate America who believe they are doing God's work by looting the American public making outrageous profits by in part using taxpayer funds, and allotting themselves disgraceful bonuses as unemployment hovers at 22.2%. Haven't these people heard of the French Revolution? Their arrogance has no bounds." – Bob Chapman

In this type of economic model, governments have to kick start the economy by "borrowing" from the Banksters since the Banksters have the legal monopoly to create the legal tender money. Banksters create this money with a flick of the computer keyboard and if required, by turning on the printing presses, although most of the money is circulated electronically rather than on paper. Then, governments have to keep collecting taxes to pay the interest/usury on this alleged "borrowed" money, i.e. on the ever increasing government debt to the Banksters, eternally.

An infinite loop has been created in which The Peoples' Governments' debt and usury payments keep growing while the Banksters' wealth keeps growing through interest charges, through capturing government spending on through their collaborators' large corporations (military-industrial-pharmaceutical-energy complex leaving no crime behind for profits), through inflation (a.k.a. theft by devaluation), through orchestrated bailouts, through profiteering by orchestrating boom and bust cycles, and through creating debt-free/interest-free (no interest and no time limit to pay back, i.e. inflation) money for their own asset acquisitions of all types (derivatives, hedge funds, land, corporations, lobbying services, bailouts, etc).

The end result is that the Banksters will own everything and everyone. This was predicted by The Founding Fathers of the United States who had just escaped the slavery and wars on the World by the William Patterson/Rothschild Dynasty's Bank of England. The Founding Fathers knew too well that these Banksters would commit every type of crime including Presidential assassinations to gain control of banking and finance in the United States. The Banking Gangsters did just that. They partially gained control with the legalized creation of the fraud of the private Federal Reserve Central Banking System and they have been growing and consolidating this fraud every since. Some of the quotes from The Founding Fathers are reproduced in the quotes section. Here are two quotes to give a flavor as to what the Banksters are aiming towards, like any ambitious Mafia:

David Rockefeller, in Sand, Baden Baden, Germany, June 1991, addressed a re-union of these three elites with largely overlapping membership: "We are grateful to the Washington Post, the New York Times, Time magazine and other great publications whose directors have attended our union and have respected their promises of discretion for almost four decades... it would not have been possible to develop our World project if we had been subjected to the full fire of publicity all these years. The supranational sovereignty of an intellectual élite and of World Bankers is surely preferable to the self-determination which has been practiced for centuries past." This was at the Bilderberg Group meeting where politicians get their orders from the Illuminati Banksters, The Council on Foreign Relations, and the Trilateral Commission.

Since the money supply is a considered a debt to the Banksters on which the taxpayers are liable for interest payments, and capital payment if/when the debt is called-in by the Bankster, let's see what the average debt and interest charges per citizen in the US averages out to per family of 4. Let's say Federal + State + City + Corporate + Personal debt to the Banksters adds up to $45 Trillion and there are 300 million US citizens. This comes out to $150,000 per person and if the average interest rate is say 5%, then the debt servicing charges are $7,500 per year, so that's about $30,000 per year for a family of 4. Since the average family earns about $50,000/annum, this means that interest payments or tributes or tithes to the Banksters amounts to 60% of earnings. So, like it or not, even though some of us may think that we are debt-free on a personal level or that our personal debt is what we owe on our mortgage or car loan, we are still paying an additional interest to the Banksters on the money supply and the Banksters can call-in their debt anytime and foreclose on all assets in the country. They are already dictating cuts in government services, sell-out of The People's assets, and tax increases to governments around the World so that they can collect more interest.

Of the $90 trillion Banksters debt/money supply circulating on Earth (maybe the Banksters are selling Mars or Pluto to The People of The Earth?), some of it is used to buy real goods and services and some of it is used to speculate by buying paper assets such as stocks, bonds, currency trades, derivatives, hedge funds, etc. Thus, there are two economies using the same money supply system, however, only about 5% of the money created is used for exchanging real goods and services which is what the medium of exchange was meant for.

After the creation of their Bank of England, the Banksters imperialized the British Army in support of the commercial conquests of their East-India Company, their Opium Trade and Slave Trade. Now they are using the United States Armed Forces, NATO and Israel to expand their World Control and to ensure that the alternate system of debt-free/usury-free system does not arise anywhere on Earth (over 200 wars in Europe since the creation of The Bank of England including Bolshevik Bankster friendly revolution, WWI, WWII, etc., over 1,000 bases around the World to ensure Bankster friendly regimes, Media propaganda at home, etc.).

Today's Banksters are like the ancient goldsmiths/money changers who issued [fiat] paper notes with imaginary gold as collateral, i.e. gold which did not exist in their vault. Thus, the ancient money changers were issuing paper notes that represented their debts and not their assets. The ancient money changers would lend these paper notes as interest bearing debt and would also issue these to themselves to acquire others' real assets. They had the monopoly for doing this counterfeiting and if some wise guy tried to imitate them, he would be tortured, dropped in boiling water, etc., i.e. put on ice Mafia style.

Very few understood this fraud because:

- People thought that the money changer was actually lending them something that the money changer owned whereas the reality was that the money changer's paper notes represented the money changer's private debt or private bond or private "I O U" or private promissory note, i.e. it was a debt instrument and not an asset instrument.
- These paper notes were circulating eternally from people to people and no one needed to buy anything from the money changers.
- Since people would use the money changer's paper notes to buy things, the de-facto owner of what they bought was actually the money changer since all money in circulation was due to be returned to the money changer and with interest.
- Since the money changer was charging interest on his paper notes, the money supply would keep going down unless the money changer would issue more paper notes or would use the interest payments to buy things for himself which would return the money in the local economy.
- In the situation that the money changer had the monopoly over the medium of exchange for goods and services, the local people would be at the mercy of the money changers who could decrease or increase the money supply at will and cause booms and busts, bankruptcies and foreclosures since everything depends on the availability and flow of money.

Using this monopoly of the fraud of creating counterfeit money to indebt people and to acquire assets for themselves, the money changers became the real power behind thrones.

Their scams in a certain area would end when rumors spread that the goldsmith/money changer's vault is empty. Thus having lost confidence in the money changer's paper notes, everyone would come to try to redeem their paper notes for the [non-existent] gold to find to their chagrin that the money changer had disappeared.

Then, in 1694, the money changers got the King of England to grant them a charter to open a private central bank known as The Bank of England.

Like the ancient goldsmiths/money changers, today's Banksters circulate their debt paper notes a.k.a. Federal Reserve Notes (FRN) Dollars among the unsuspecting masses. The Banksters use our promise to pay (government, corporate, private, bond, mortgage, promissory note, etc., i.e. instruments representing a debt) as the asset in exchange of which they issue to us their own debt instrument called Federal Reserve Notes (FRN) Dollars. Thus, Dollars represent the Banksters' proof of debt and are not a proof of asset.

Today's Banksters have further refined the fraud in that:

- The notes they issue are anonymous, representing the collective debt of the entire union of Banksters
- The notes they issue are non-redeemable for anything that the Banksters own, i.e. you must redeem them for something that others own.
- The Banksters have setup their Central Banks in each country (the private FED in the US) and their World Central Bank (The Bank of International Settlements housed in an overtly Masonic building design in Baden, Switzerland) which hold the accounts of all commercial bankers and central bankers respectively to manage the inter-bank account settlements.
- All liability for these debt notes has been transferred to all taxpayers in this structured financial hierarchy. The Banksters are now the masters of us all because the Government has pledged you (body and soul) to guarantee the debt instruments (called money) which are issued by the Banksters. We are enslaved, mortgaged, owned by the Banksters, period!

Thus the parasitic Banksters get everything for nothing, just like the ancient money changers, by issuing their counterfeit money legally. The Banksters are off the hook as their notes are anonymous and non-redeemable for gold or silver which they definitely don't possess. On a World scale, the Banksters' Dons (leaders) are those who get to counterfeit the World trade currency, i.e. the US Dollar.

The World's Peoples are currently liable for about $90 Trillion in phony debt to these Banksters on which interest is being paid eternally from the unborn to the newborn. You are liable to pay regular interest in the form of taxes, inflation, and explicit interest payments, and to return their debt dollars anytime to call in their phony loans in order to be relieved from your debt bond. If you can't they will repossess your country's assets. The Banksters are not liable to give anything in return to anyone for their debt dollars because they legislatively use EVERYONE AND EVERYTHING ON EARTH as their collateral. What a sleight of hand! They convert government, corporate and private debt into their debt which is legislated as being everyone's debt. Banksters don't have any assets that they own with which to backup this money, so they are just lending you your own money and making you their debtor liable for their debt instrument plus interest in the form of additional debt instruments.

Thus, they have counterfeited money as a ledger debt entry without pledging any assets of their own as collateral, and at no liability to themselves.

This interest/debt bearing ledger money keeps floating from account to account in the Banksters' computers with no liability to the Banksters.

Hardly 5% of the money created by the Banksters is used for trading goods and services. The rest is created for speculative gambling on the derivates, sub-prime, foreign exchange, commodities, and other markets.

' The real menace of our Republic is the invisible government, which like a giant octopus sprawls its slimy legs over our cities, states and nation. To depart from mere generalizations, let me say that at the head of this octopus are the Rockefeller-Standard Oil interests and a small group of powerful banking houses generally referred to as the international bankers. The little coterie of powerful international bankers virtually run the United States government for their own selfish purposes. They practically control both parties, write political platforms, make catspaws of party leaders, use the leading men of private organizations, and resort to every device to place in nomination for high public office only such candidates as will be amenable to the dictates of corrupt big business...These international bankers and Rockefeller-Standard Oil interests control the majority of the newspapers and magazines in this country. They use the columns of these papers to club into submission or drive out of office public officials who refuse to do the bidding of the powerful corrupt cliques which compose the invisible government. It operates under cover of a self-created screen [and] seizes our executive officers, legislative bodies, schools, courts, newspapers and every agency created for the public protection.' -- John H. Hylan (1868-1936), Mayor of New York, (1919-1925).

With all the technological advances, we should all be living in a Utopia, but the taxpayers are impoverished as they always pick up the Banksters' gambling tab through taxes, inflation (theft by devaluation), monopoly pricing, and phony debt servicing, i.e. the International Banksters have usurped The People's labor making The People groan in eternal travail from cradle to grave.

This fraud is dominated by the mega-Banksters such as the owners/controllers of the private central banks including the FED, and the owners/controllers of the major commercial banks such as Goldman Sachs, J.P. Morgan-Chase, Rothschilds, Rockefellers, etc.

What Was Money Back Then?

There are only two economic systems. They are barter and credit/debt. Barter is the trading of one thing of value for something else of value. Credit/debt is the trading of one thing for a promise of something else in the future in which the seller becomes the creditor to the buyer who is the debtor.

Money is what is used to record transactions. So, something light and flexible must be used as money so that it can be transferred from person to person quickly to facilitate transactions.

Throughout history, many different things have been used as money for bartering and for credit.

In bartering, people have traded goods and services using gold, silver, farm animals, crops, etc.

A money system using gold and silver coin is a barter system because gold and silver have commodity value equal to the exchange transaction. Sometimes, paper receipts for gold and silver on deposit in a vault are traded instead of actual gold and silver, for convenience, as it would be quite awkward to carry around gold and silver in large quantities.

For recording/tracking credit/debt, people have used many different types of accounting tokens such as large rocks, shells, tally sticks, etc.

A money system using paper receipts or accounting ledger entries for representing debt is a credit/debt system because the paper receipts represent someone's promise to provide goods and services in the future, i.e. someone's debt.

The fundamental theories on which the modern science of political economy is based are these:

- That under primitive conditions men lived and traded by barter;
- That as life became more complex barter no longer suffices as a method of exchanging commodities, and by common consent one particular commodity is fixed on which is generally acceptable and which therefore, everyone will take in exchange for the things he produces or the services he renders and which each in turn can equally pass on to others in exchange for whatever he may want; That this commodity thus becomes a "medium of exchange and measure of value."
- That a sale is the exchange of a commodity for this intermediate commodity which is called "money;" money represents the measure of credit/debt.

At the dawn of civilization, the way to get something that you needed was called barter. I give you a cow and you build me a hut to live in. But what if I want a tiny hut? Do I give you half a cow?

Placing a standard value on goods and services was first achieved through the use of currency, or money, an intermediary accounting token or medium of exchange to facilitate the exchange of goods and services.

Almost every culture has money. Ancient cultures used everything from sea shells and beads to huge circular stones to buy and sell. Eventually, precious metals were used and more recently the standard currency has been based on gold and silver.

When we buy and sell a multitude of goods and services, we want other multitudes of goods and services in exchange soon or at some time in the future. To facilitate such flexible transactions, we need an honest intermediary medium of exchange or token accounting system that everyone trusts. Everyone has to believe that he/she will be able to exchange the accounting token for some future goods and services without loss of value.

Thus, we need an accounting system that keeps track of universally accepted exchange credits that are owed to us or that we owe to others as a result of the work that we do for each other. The efficiency of this intermediary exchange system dictates how fast we can produce and exchange goods and services around the World. It is the belief that someone will readily accept the medium of exchange that allows the medium of exchange to be accepted in exchange of real goods and services.

In the past, this token system utilized real assets as the medium of exchange, e.g. gold, silver, etc. The value of a precious metal is determined by its weight. Instead of carrying various sizes/weights of chunks or nuggets of gold and silver, early empires made standard "coins" or tokens of the metals and set a standard stamped value in the marketplace. Coins were great for most transactions, but they were heavy and wore out your pants pockets quickly. Soon a new idea, paper money, was invented. The problem with tokens is that they can be counterfeited. You cannot counterfeit gold or silver.

The original idea behind paper money was convenience. Each piece of paper represented a specific weight of a precious metal, usually silver or gold, that was kept somewhere in an empire's treasury or a money changer/banker's vault. If an individual wanted to, he could exchange the paper money for the gold or silver that it represented. It was all based on trust and a promise. In fact, the early paper money in America was called a "promissory note" or receipt for a gold or silver asset sitting in a vault.

If you can find old dollar bills, you will read the promise written on each note. You will also notice that the notes are numbered. In this way, each note is unique and represents a corresponding weight of silver or gold in the US Treasury vaults, e.g. "THIS CERTIFIES THAT THERE IS ON DEPOSIT IN THE TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA FIVE DOLLARS IN SILVER PAYABLE TO THE BEARER ON DEMAND".

In this asset-based medium of exchange, we monetize existing assets:

- The value of these credits is fixed, i.e. measured in ounces of gold or silver, etc. where the definition of an ounce is fixed and constant. For example, a dollar used to mean a fixed measure of 1/20th of an ounce of gold up to the Federal Reserve Act of 1913.
- The credits are trustworthy and guaranteed as they have intrinsic value.
- These dollar credits are represented by gold and silver coins. In the case when these credits are represented by token paper notes or ledger entries, these dollar tokens represent actual assets sitting in a bankers' vault.
- If the gold/silver is owned by the Government, then no one is paying interest to The Bankers for this money to be available for circulation.
- Inflation is negligible.
- Creation of the credits is limited by the amount of assets available, i.e. the available gold, silver, etc.
- Economic expansion is limited by the amount of gold or silver available to lend.
- Credit bubbles and busts cannot be created, manipulated, gambled with.
- Bankers cannot lend the same gold to 10 different people.
- He who owns the gold makes the rules, changes the rules, etc.

What Is Money Now? circulating debt/usury bearing fiat commodity created from nothing

Gold and silver have been used as money worldwide for thousands of years. In the barter system, all things used as money have had one thing in common, they were all tangible wealth. They were all things you could touch. They were all things you could weigh and measure and value.

Credit, however, is intangible. You cannot touch credit. You cannot weigh and measure it because there is no substance to weigh and measure. It is all imagination, vaporware! It's a promise by the debtor to give something of value to the creditor who already gave something of value to the debtor.

A money system using paper receipts for representing debt is a credit/debt system because the paper receipts represent someone's promise to provide goods and services in the future, i.e. someone's debt. If the identity of the debtor is not explicitly stated, then it is a socialized anonymous debt where everyone is liable.

Today's money system represents a proof of Credit which means an anonymous proof of someone's debt since there is no name associated with the dollars issued and circulating. Credit is not wealth. No work is used in the creation of credit other than a bookkeeping entry.

Hundreds of years ago, when the goldsmith issued his first receipt for gold that did not exist, he created credit and inflation (theft by devaluation), i.e. counterfeiting, i.e. issuing fiat receipts for capital that does not exist. When half of the receipts circulating as a money substitute are available as gold in the goldsmiths' vaults, the other half of the receipts are both credit and inflation, i.e. counterfeiting. When none of the receipts are redeemable, all of them are credit/inflation. Thus, the goldsmiths' paper notes represented the goldsmiths' debt. People never went to the goldsmith with these paper notes, except in the rare cases that they actually wanted to buy gold for jewelry.

Thus, on paper notes that represented their own debt, the goldsmiths:

- Charged interest to those who borrowed those paper notes
- Bought others' assets and services by issuing paper notes to themselves.

This gave the goldsmiths immense powers over everyone else, becoming masters of us all. No wonder they are known as "goldfingers" or "goldmansachs", etc.

A dollar used to be a unit of measurement for gold and silver coins to ensure uniform weight, purity, and value. A dollar unit of paper money that is not redeemable in gold or silver coins by the one who issued it, i.e. the Bankster, is a dollar unit of counterfeiting, of credit and inflation, which is a dollar unit of nothing diluting the value of already existing dollars.

Thus, the money that the Banksters issue is an imaginary unit of exchange which actually represents what the Banksters owe to the World.

Anonymous Credit based on non-existent assets is inflation and counterfeiting. The only cure for inflation is real, honest money, non-anonymous money.

To recap, the system of credit utilizing real assets to create money as receipts of real assets has now been replaced with a system of credit that utilizes monetized anonymous "promises to pay" to record debts as the intermediary medium of exchange, i.e. we now trade financial instrument tokens that represent someone's debts rather than someone's existing assets. The creation of these financial instruments is totally monopolized by the authorized counterfeiting agents, i.e. private Bankers, and not by The People's Government. There is no longer a promise of "PAYABLE TO THE BEARER ON DEMAND" on the dollar notes. Here is today's Federal Reserve Note (FRN) a.k.a. today's US Dollar:

In other words, money is created by the Banksters as a book-entry by purchasing assets or entering credits on the left side of the balance-sheet and corresponding deposits on the right side. Credit or "fiat" money is created out of thin air, a.k.a. counterfeiting.

The purpose of fiat money:

- money which represents an anonymous debt and
- which does not represent a receipt for an asset, and
- that is not redeemable for gold or silver coins, is for the Banksters to get things without paying for them. Those who issue and control paper money as credit get everything for nothing and get to charge interest on money which they actually owe to the World.

In this debt-based medium of exchange:

- The value of these credits is not fixed, i.e. the dollar is undefined and is whatever you can buy with it at the time you spend it.
- The credits are trustworthy and guaranteed due to the power that the Government has over The People to indebt and tax them to death, i.e. involuntary servitude just like in the days of Lords, Barons, Counts, Kings, serfs and knaves, from the newborn to the unborn.
- The Government does not issue this money. It is entirely issued as debt-bearing with interest by private central banks or by private commercial banks. The Government has pledged you [enslaved you, mortgaged you] to guarantee the debt instruments issued by the Banksters.
- These dollar credits are represented by paper notes or ledger entries. These dollars represent someone's debt anonymously, i.e. a promise to pay signed by a government, corporation or individual, held by The Banker. These credits do not represent a real asset that the Banksters own.
- There is continuous inflation (theft by devaluation). Gold used to be $20/ounce in 1913, and now its over $1,100/ounce. Similarly, a cup of coffee was once 5¢ and now my Starbucks Latte-Macchiato-double-Skim is close to $5!
- Economic expansion is limited by the amount of loan money created or recalled at whim by the Banksters.
- Credit bubbles and busts can be orchestrated by The Bankers. Creation of the credit tokens is unlimited as they are promises to pay and one can make as large a promise effortlessly as one wants and The Bankers can effortlessly create as much dollar credits as they want to monetize those promises as dollar ledger entries in their computer ledgers.
- The "borrowers" are paying interest to The Bankers on the money tokens that are circulating.
- If the debtors fail to pay, then the taxpayers are stuck with the liability, not the Banksters.
- Bankers create as much money by monetizing government, corporate and individual promissory notes/bonds/mortgages/etc. without having any asset of their own to lend, i.e. they lend their non-existing assets an infinite amount of time to as many people as they can get to take loans. And, they can create money for themselves by buying assets and crediting the account of the seller with their ledger dollars.

- To paraphrase the creators of the Rothschild Banking Dynasty, he who controls the issue of money controls the World.

"THE CONUNDRUM OF THE KREDITMEISTERS.....Money is a measure of credit (not asset). If credit disappears, the economy grinds to a halt..... In the shell game of modern economics, credit replaces money and when credit gives rise to speculative bubbles, the collapse of those bubbles leads to the defaulting of debt [further real asset theft through foreclosures by the Banksters] which causes credit to disappear and the economy to collapse." --- Darryl Robert Schoon

The Bankster is merely buying your promise to pay and issuing you his debt note and it just so happens that the Bankster's debt note is legislated as legal tender for the payment of debts, public (such as taxes) and private and guaranteed by the Government using you as collateral! In other words, the Banksters own you.

Here Comes The FED!

The cost to the private Federal Reserve for printing a "note" is about two cents, no matter what denomination is printed on it. Paper money as credit is used to take wealth using numbers where numbers of nothing are exchanged for things of substance and value. This grand theft occurs in full view unnoticed because the public has been made an accessory to the crime by accepting pieces of paper with numbers on them in place of lawful money, not knowing the difference between worthless "notes" and lawful money.

The U.S. Bureau of Engraving prints the paper currency in whatever denominations ordered by the Federal Reserve and charges about two cents for each note, regardless of the denominations, which the Federal Reserve "pays for" by making another bookkeeping entry and writing another bad check. In effect the Federal Reserve lends the U. S. Government its own credit, our credit, and then charges interest on it. If the public does this, it is called kiting, which according to Webster's dictionary is defined as, "to use (a bad check) to get credit or money".

Roger Sherman, a delegate from Connecticut and author of the gold and silver coin provision of the constitution, wrote a condemnation of fiat paper money entitled "A caveat Against Injustice" in which he said..."If what is used as a Medium of Exchange is fluctuating in its value, it is no better than unjust weights and measures, both which are condemned by the laws of God and Man, and therefore the longest and most universal custom could never make the use of such a Medium either lawful or reasonable."

And so the framers of the Constitution specified a money system of gold and silver, to be coined and regulated in value by Congress and prohibited by the Government from issuing fiat paper money as stated in Article 1 sections 8 and 10 of the Constitution: "Congress shall have Power to coin money and regulate the value thereof. No State shall make anything but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts."

According to Title 12 Chapter 3 Subchapter XII, USC 411, the above Private Federal Reserve fiat Notes are redeemable for lawful money at the US Treasury! Good luck if you try to do it!

EXPCITE-

TITLE 12 - BANKS AND BANKING
CHAPTER 3 - FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM
SUBCHAPTER XII - FEDERAL RESERVE NOTES

-HEAD-

Section 411. Issuance to reserve banks; nature of obligation; Redemption

-STATUTE-

Federal reserve notes, to be issued at the discretion of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System for the purpose of making advances to Federal Reserve Banks through the Federal Reserve agents as hereinafter set forth and for no other purpose, are authorized. The said notes shall be obligations of the United States and shall be receivable by all national and member banks and Federal Reserve Banks and for all taxes, customs, and other public Dues. They shall be redeemed in lawful money on demand at the Treasury Department of the United States, in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, or at any Federal Reserve Bank.

Note USC Title 12 Section 152 (U.S. Code, Title 12, Section 152): "The terms 'lawful money' and 'lawful money of the United States' shall be construed to mean gold and silver coin of the United States."

"No State shall make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts." Article 1, Section 10, United States' Constitution

Do you get it now? <http://bit.ly/bL45Ey>

Private banks don't make loans because they have extra deposits lying around. The process is actually the exact opposite:

- (1) Each private bank "creates" loans out of thin air by entering into binding loan commitments with borrowers (of course, corresponding liabilities are created on their books at the same time. But see below); then
- (2) If the bank doesn't have the required level of reserves, it simply borrows them "after the fact" from the central bank (or from another bank);
- (3) The private central bank, in turn, creates the money which it lends to the private banks out of thin air.

The central banks and their owners - the private commercial banks - have been running the token/ledger/printing/computer accounting presses for hundreds of years.

Some other countries have no reserve requirements, especially if their central bank is not privately owned. Bernanke is pushing to eliminate all reserve requirements in the U.S. If Bernanke has his way, American banks won't even have to borrow from the Fed or other banks after the fact to have reserves. Instead, they can just enter into as many loans as they want and create endless money out of thin air (within Basel I and Basel II's capital requirements - but since governments are backstopping their giant banks by overtly and covertly throwing bailout money, guarantees and various insider opportunities at them, capital requirements are somewhat meaningless). I think the Banksters' man Bernanke is pushing for this so that when people call for national ownership of the private FED, they can have it, but devoid of its power to create money which will have been totally transferred to the commercial banks by then.

Thus, the system is no longer based on assets (and remember that the giant banks have repeatedly become insolvent) It is based on creating new "debts", and then backfilling from there.

It is - in fact - a monopoly system. Specifically, only private banks and their wholly-owned central banks can run printing presses. Governments and people do not have access to the printing presses (with some limited exceptions, like North Dakota), and thus have to pay the monopolists to run them (in the form of interest on the loans). See this and this.

According to Jacobson, Federal Reserve Notes are evidence of debt the U.S. Government owes to the owners of the Federal Reserve the payment of which is guaranteed by the collateral of all property and income of all U.S. citizens. When the U.S. Government needs to borrow money, the Treasury creates a bond, and promises to pay a specified amount of money at a specified interest on a specified date. This bond is evidence of debt just as an I.O.U. is evidence of debt. This interest-bearing debt is the foundation for this nation's money supply and its payment is guaranteed by the collateral of all property and income of all U.S. citizens. The Federal Reserve "buys" this debt simply by making a bookkeeping entry for the amount and writing a check against no funds, and then converts it into paper currency and checkbook money. If a citizen does this they can be jailed or fined for it.

Every dollar created by the Federal Reserve System is debt for the citizens of the United States, which the central bank collects interest on, in addition to the interest from the bond created by the Treasury that put this magic money making machine in motion. The Federal Reserve inflates the amount of the bond in order to make even more loans of imaginary dollars and collect more interest on an investment that cost nothing. Under fractional reserve banking, the amount of money a bank can create is limited by the reserve ratio or fraction it is required to maintain. For example, when the reserve ratio is ten to one, a bank can create and loan ten dollars for each dollar held in reserve and charge interest on it. While the reserves of the goldsmith were gold, the reserves of the Federal Reserve is paper, nothing more than bookkeeping entries that are a record of debt.

The absurdity of the situation is that if there were no debts, there would be no money, since every dollar of paper currency and checkbook money is loaned into circulation. And, in order to pay the interest, there has to be another loan because the banking system only creates the principal and not the interest. In fact, the interest can never be paid because it is not possible to return to the bank more dollars than were created, making it inevitable that the Federal Reserve Banking System acquire title to all wealth in the nation. This is exactly what the Framers of the Constitution intended to prevent when they specified a money system of gold and silver coin and prohibited the government from issuing paper money, because a nation that uses money based on debt can never be free of debt.

Increasing the amount of currency and checkbook money increases inflation. Creating new dollars reduces the value of all dollars, resulting in higher prices. By manipulating the quantity of created dollars, the purchasing power of every dollar is altered. Depressions are the result of private bankers reducing the money supply by tightening credit and withdrawing currency, causing a drop in prices, unemployment and foreclosure of property. This is premeditated theft.

Thomas Jefferson warned against private banks when he said: "If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation and then by deflation, the banks and corporation that will grow up around them will deprive The People of all property until their children wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered."

By calling gold and silver "money", and then calling Federal Reserve Notes "money", the two blended together in the public's minds so that over time the difference between them was erased from The People's memories. A promise to pay money substituted for lawful money until the promise was removed. Exchanging paper currency is not a complete transaction until payment is made in gold or silver coin. Until then, it is both credit and debt a record of a specific amount of money to be paid or received.

Credit, a deferred payment and debt, a sum of money due, are the same thing. It is hidden by deceptive double-entry bookkeeping where a debt becomes an asset by calling it a credit. Paper money that redeems nothing only appears to have value because it can be exchanged for things of value. When a piece of paper representing debt is exchanged for wealth, someone has been robbed. Paper money transfers wealth from one person, then from another, then from another, and on and on until the last person will be stuck with it.

During the Great Depression people who had gold in the banks wanted the banks to honor their contract to redeem the paper currency for gold.. The fraudulent nature of fractional reserve banking was at risk of being exposed because there was not enough gold on deposit in the banks to redeem all Federal Reserve Notes issued promising payment in gold. That was when President Roosevelt declared a national emergency and closed the banking system for two days as recommended by the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Congress then passed the Emergency Banking Act declaring it illegal for U.S. citizens to own gold under penalty of up to a $10,000 fine and/or up to 10 years in prison. The People exchanged their gold and gold certificates for Federal Reserve Notes of created dollars based on debt, which stated a promise of redemption in lawful money.

Gold was now removed from the system leaving silver dollars as the only lawful money available. Silver was eventually eliminated from the money system, leaving the public with a totally scam money system of irredeemable paper currency and copper-nickel clad tokens that represent a debt owed to the owners of the Federal Reserve Banking System, the payment of which is guaranteed by the collateral of all property and income of all U.S. citizens.

According to Jacobson, when banks cannot honor their contract to redeem their notes for gold or silver coins, they are bankrupt. The contract between The People and the Federal Reserve printed on each bank note promising to pay in lawful money was invalidated because the system went bankrupt and because the amended version of the "Trading with the Enemy Act of 1917" placed all U.S. citizens in the category of enemy, and no contract is considered valid between enemies. American citizens were declared to be the enemy by their own government, for indeed they would be if The People ever discovered what had happened to their money.

Being unable to trade in wealth such as gold and silver coin enslaves The People to those who create and control what is being called money. All it took to rob the public was to convince people that paper and credit are money. The Federal Government and the Federal Reserve have the power to create unlimited amounts of credit because credit does not exist. It is not a tangible substance, but an idea represented by bookkeeping entries and computer symbols.

To pay means to deliver a tangible substance as money like gold and silver coin. Where there is no substance, there is no payment. There is only pretend payment. Banks do not really lend money, they only pretend to lend money. They put no money in a borrower's account. They only make bookkeeping entries that are reduced as the borrower writes checks against imagined deposits.

When the banks charge interest on a loan they do not make, banks impart psychological value to numbers of nothing. Charging interest sustains the illusion that banks loan something of value, when all they do is rent the appearance of money.

Three years after signing the Federal Reserve Act into law, President Woodrow Wilson made the following statement: "Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated governments in the civilized world--no longer a government by free opinion, no longer a government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a government by the opinion and duress of small groups of dominant men."

The World's economic problems started with issuing fraudulent receipts for gold that does not exist. This became standard procedure for the banking business. The recent equivalent to the goldsmith's receipt for gold is the Federal Reserve Note. The word "Federal" implies Federal government, but the Federal Reserve is a privately owned corporation. The word "Reserve" implies that something gives the paper receipt value, but no gold or silver backs this paper. The word "Note" implies a contract, because legally a note must state who is paying, what is being paid, to whom and when.

Most people say something like, "I have a dollar bill". But what is a bill? A "dollar bill" in hand or in the bank is a receipt (or bill) of debt of one dollar that is owed by one person or company or government to another. It is not owed to The Banker who issued it because he gave you nothing, i.e. it is the person to whom you gave the dollars who gave you something in exchange.

According to Jacobson, from 1914 to 1963, Federal Reserve Notes never claimed to be money, nor did they claim to be dollars. A note for five dollars read: "The United States of America will pay to the bearer on demand five dollars." How can a promise to pay five dollars be five dollars? To the left of the President's picture and above the bank seal, it said: "This note is legal tender for all debts public and private, and is redeemable in lawful money at the United States Treasury or at any Federal Reserve Bank."

In 1963 the FED began to issue its first series of notes without the promise, while taking notes with the promise out of circulation. How can paper become what it promises by removing the promise? To the left of the President's picture and above the bank seal, it now read: "This note is legal tender for all debts public and private."

A note is an IOU, it is proof of debt. It is not possible to pay off a debt with a debt. No debt can be paid in full unless paid in gold or silver, coined and regulated in value by Congress. The name "Federal Reserve Note" is a fraudulent label since each word claims to be something that in reality it is not. By removing the promise to redeem the note in lawful money, the Federal Government in cooperation with the Federal Reserve, eliminated the monetary system of the United States as established by the Constitution and replaced it with something totally different.

If you are holding a one dollar Federal Reserve Note, the question is, what is it one dollar of? The answer is absolutely nothing. The number one measures no substance. The only thing that gives paper money value is the confidence people have in it as is stated in chapter 30 of our textbook. Federal Reserve Notes are only accepted because people believe they have value. If the truth were ever found out, it would cause financial chaos because people would know they have no value.

Oliver Ellsworth, the country's third Chief Justice of the Supreme Court said of paper money: "This is a favorable moment to shut and bar the door against paper money. The mischief of the various experiments which have been made are now fresh in the public mind and have excited the disgust of the respectable parts of America."

At the very least, the system must be changed so that it is not - by definition - perched atop a mountain of debt, and the monetary base must be maintained by an authority that is accountable to The People.

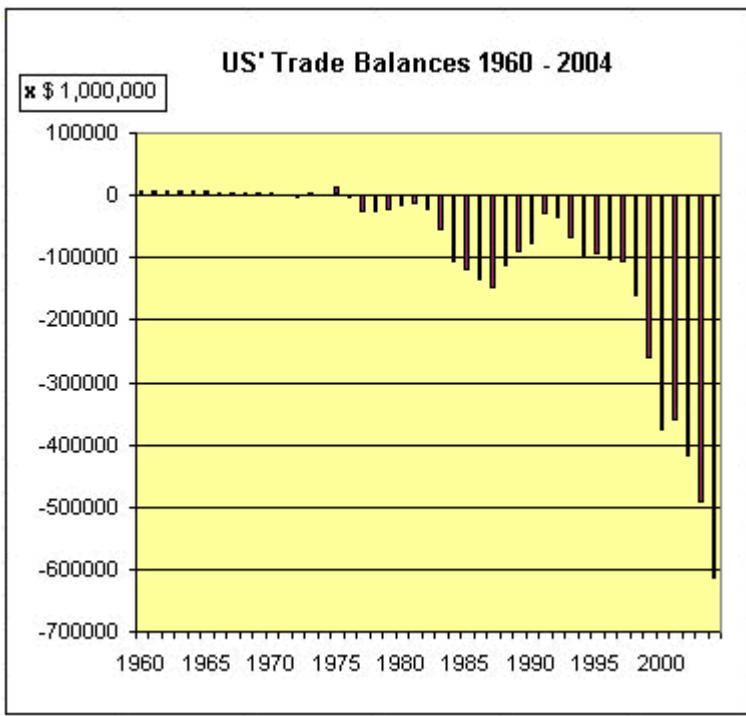

Looking At The Fraud Globally

In the past, on a global scale, when someone in America bought something from a foreign country, they would pay in US dollars. The foreign company would then go to their local bank and exchange the dollars for their local currency. When foreign banks had a surplus of US dollars, they would then exchange them for gold. This meant that the US Treasury and US Banks were always needing to acquire more gold to replenish their vaults and maintain the "gold backed" dollars in circulation.

The new system is called "fiat money" and is defined as follows: "Fiat money is money that is intrinsically useless; is used only as a medium of exchange." No more "promissory notes or receipts" representing a real asset.

Enter Oil: Black Gold, and then all commodities and trade!

Back in the early 1970's, America produced most of the oil it needed. Texas oil fields were active and a far cry from the rusted rigs you can still see there today. We imported a fixed amount, about 25%, from foreign countries, but our thirst for oil was getting stronger. Nixon knew that America and every developing nation in the world would need more oil in the future. He also knew that OPEC, the handful of countries that produced foreign oil, wanted the limits of American imports lifted so they could sell more. So he cut a deal.

The cap on 25% imported oil was lifted in exchange for the agreement that oil, purchased from any country in the world, would be bought only with American dollars. OPEC agreed and almost immediately there was a strong demand for dollars throughout the globe. Since anyone who wanted oil had to first acquire dollars, the dollar remained strong.

Oil is a big import but not the biggest. Americans buy so many things from foreign countries that it is staggering to imagine. In 1973 the US sold more goods to foreign countries than it bought. But in each successive year the tables have turned.

All of these goods are bought with "fiat dollars," meaning that the currency itself is worthless since it can never be exchanged for gold or silver. Of course, a foreign country could exchange it for something else -- something that was produced by America, like... hmm... military equipment, etc. As the chart above shows, American exports, although representing 1.25 million dollars every two seconds, are insignificant.

Fiat dollars remain in circulation mainly because they are needed to buy oil and other international goods. For this reason lots of countries keep huge supplies of dollars in their reserves. It has become a way of storing their national wealth. The fact that US dollars represent foreign national wealth adds to their value. Those dollar reserves keep growing and are never spent.

This kind of system turns traditional logic on its head. Like, a trade deficit is supposed to be a bad thing, right? Wrong. It's actually good for the dollar! Imagine what would happen if everyone started using their dollars to buy things from America. The US would be flooded with dollars which would cause inflation and, besides, we don't have enough goods and services to exchange for all those foreign US fiat dollars! In fact, America is technically, as of last year, bankrupt, and cannot pay its Federal, State, Municipal debts and more and more of the spending is on debt servicing!

And what about higher oil prices... bad? No way. That keeps those pesky foreign flat US dollars "out there" and in high demand. It's very good for the dollar. Globalization, Nafta and Free Trade? Yep, they're also good for the dollar since they perpetuate the demand for Federal Reserve System dollars.

The whole system is kept running smoothly by global central banks who monitor the supply and demand for dollars on a daily -- even hourly -- basis. If there are too many dollars "out there" in the world, the US buys its own currency to create a scarcity. If there are too few, it sells more dollars or buys more foreign goods to replenish the supply.

If this is beginning to sound like a classic "pyramid scheme," you're starting to get the picture. But sooner or later, someone has to pay.

Houston, we have a problem!

Imagine what would happen if the oil producing countries in OPEC decided to sell oil in some other currency besides US dollars! What if they changed the system to use the Euro, the Franc or the Yen? What would happen if no one needed US dollars anymore? Hang on tight, it's already started.

The Banksters Economic Hitmen

The International Banksters Standard Operating Procedures:

1. Look for target to victimize
2. Bribe leaders into accepting huge loans thus indebting their constituents
3. If leaders are honest and bribes don't work, then offer death and torture threats
4. If that does not work, then demonize/propagandize/divide/conquer/etc. to perform regime change and install puppets
5. Attach conditions that loan funds must be spent to buy services at high prices from the Banksters pet corporations
6. Make huge profits from the recycled money which the Banksters created from nothing, i.e. counterfeited legally
7. Tell the country, state, province, city to raise taxes and cut services to pay interest on debt

8. When the country, state, province, city, cannot raise taxes to pay interest, tell them to sell their national resources and companies to the lowest bidder
9. If The People revolt against the Banksters, arrange for small genocide
10. If this does not work, arrange for regional or World wars
11. Squeeze people more and more to the limit
12. Turn Earth into the Banksters plantation
13. ????????

Oil price spikes always precede national output drops, which of course means lost jobs and wages, which means that people on every tighter budgets cannot feed their families and pay their mortgages. The fact is that the Kleptastrophe was set up by the Money Power offering everyone second mortgages to keep their heads above water during the Fed's deflation -- which we did -- and then the same Money Power, which owns the oil companies, had them jack up their prices so we couldn't meet our obligations. Now they own are houses and we pay them rent as well gas prices and debt. No one has responded to my proposal that Americans demand Congress index debt obligations to a real-wage cost of living index so this cannot happen again.

According to Jacobson, the Secretary of the Treasury is not the U.S. Secretary of the Treasury because the U.S. Treasury was bankrupted in 1933. The Secretary of the Treasury is not paid by the United States Government. The Secretary serves as U.S. Governor of the International Monetary Fund as receiver of the bankrupt United States, collecting the debt from U.S. citizens. According to Tom Rose, economics is the science of choice: the science, or study, of how man values alternative choices, and how he acts in implementing those choices in order to maximize his sense of well-being. This definition is somewhat broader than the dictionary definition of economics, that economics is "a social science concerned chiefly with description and analysis of production, distribution and consumption of goods and services."

He defines Biblical economics as what the Bible says about man. He says that we must always remember that God is the Author and Controller of all economic law, and that man's role is to discover and to apply God's law in the created universe. Tom Rose says that according to Leviticus 19:35-36 monetary inflation is immoral, whether it is effected by the government treasury's printing fiat money, or whether it is brought about by the central bank (Federal Reserve Bank) "validating" government deficits through sophisticated, hard to understand forms of credit creation. Monetary inflation, properly defined as the creation of new purchasing media (money), is immoral because it changes the measure of the monetary unit by debauching the currency that people use in their everyday transactions. Monetary inflation is what counterfeiters engage in when they create false money, and it is just as morally wrong for civil rulers to "legally" create false money as it is for counterfeiters to do it illegally. In short, it is a clear breaking of God's admonishment to maintain a system of just weights and measures.

Tom Rose says that The Federal Reserve Bank has provided the needed sleight-of-hand credit financing to involve us in every foreign war during the twentieth century. The net result of our getting involved in one foreign war after another has been a consequent steady decline in personal freedom; the growth of a highly centralized, bureaucratic and fascistic government; a horrendous rise in taxation; the planned destruction of the gold standard, which used to give some degree of protection to American citizens against an out-of-control, profligate, high-spending government in Washington, D.C.; and decades of planned monetary inflation which has brought the 1940 purchasing value of the dollar to less than 8 cents. Yes, 92 percent of the value of the 1940 dollar has evaporated as a result of the Federal Reserve's long-term monetary policy, which has quietly cooperated with the federal government to finance government deficits with Federal Reserve credit.

Alan Greenspan stated, "Augmenting concerns about the Federal Reserve is the perception that we are a secretive organization, operating behind closed doors, not always in the interests of the nation as a whole. This is regrettable, and we continuously strive to alter this misperception."

According to Jacobson, by using misleading words the Federal Reserve has misled the public. They have over time replaced our system of real money of gold and silver coin with worthless paper, which is against the law according to The Constitution. Tom Rose says that according to Leviticus 19:35-36 monetary inflation is immoral, because it is not an honest standard as God commands in Leviticus.

I think the only solution to this problem is to do away with the Federal Reserve and go back to the way it used to be and have our money system based on gold and silver coin. As Jacobson said, the only solution to the problem is honest money. Besides the economic issues I have mentioned in this paper, there are other good reasons to have our money system based on gold and silver coin. For one thing, there would be no more counterfeiters. The only reason people do that now is because paper is pretty worthless. But they print a value on it, and all of a sudden it's worth something. But you cannot counterfeit gold or silver. You cannot take an ounce of gold or silver and make it worth more than it is already worth. If you take an ounce of gold and stamp it into a US gold coin, it is worth no more than an ounce of gold. You can create paper money, just like The Federal Reserve does. But you cannot create gold or silver.

Another good reason for gold and silver coin is that it doesn't wear as bad as paper money does. Paper money is frequently replaced because it wears out so quickly. I have silver dollars over 130 years old and they are still in great shape. In a way, gold and silver never wear out because at the worst they will wear down the fine edges. When this happens, they can just be recycled again into new coins.

Wall Street's Bailout Hustle Goldman Sachs and other big banks aren't just pocketing the trillions we gave them to rescue the economy - they're re-creating the conditions for another crash http://www.rollingstone.com/politics/story/32255149/wall_streets_bailout_hustle

"What invariably kills any discussion of this sensible solution is another myth long perpetrated by the financial elite – that allowing the government to increase the money supply would lead to hyperinflation. Rather than exercising its sovereign right to create the liquidity the nation needs, the government is told that it must borrow. Borrow from whom? From The Bankers, of course. And where do bankers get the money they lend? They create it on their books, just as the government would have done. The difference is that when bankers create it, it comes with a hefty fee attached in the form of interest. Frantically pushing money at the banks has not gotten money into the real economy. Rather than lending it to businesses and individuals, the larger banks have been speculating with it or buying up smaller banks, land, farms, and productive capacity, while the credit freeze continues on Main Street. Only the government can reverse this vicious syndrome, by spending money directly on projects that will create jobs, provide services, and stimulate productivity. Increasing the money supply is not inflationary if the money is used to increase goods and services. Inflation results when "demand" (money) exceeds "supply" (goods and services). When supply and demand increase together, prices remain stable." – Ellen Brown

Are The FED / IRS Really "Federal"?

Video information on the Private Federal Reserve and IRS

http://www.healthfreedom.info/Freedom_To_Fascism.htm

"No State shall make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts." --- Article 1, Section 10, United States' Constitution

To compel a man to subsidize with his taxes the propagation of ideas which he disbelieves and abhors is sinful and tyrannical. – President Thomas Jefferson

In 1913 when the Federal Reserve Act was fraudulently pushed through Congress, Congressman Charles Lindbergh stated: "This Act establishes the most gigantic trust on earth....When the President signs this Act, the invisible government by the money power, proven to exist by the Money Trust Investigation, will be legalized....The new law will create inflation whenever the trust wants inflation....From now on, depression will be scientifically created."

Most people assume that the Federal Reserve Bank is federal--that is, part of the United States' government. However, the Ninth Circuit Court put that issue to rest in 1982 when they adjudicated:

"We have in this country one of the most corrupt institutions the world has ever known. I refer to the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Banks. Some people think the Federal Reserve Banks are U.S. government institutions. They are not government institutions. They are private credit monopolies; domestic swindlers, rich and predatory money lenders which prey upon The People of the United States for the benefit of themselves and their foreign customers. The Federal Reserve Banks are the agents of the foreign central banks. The truth is the Federal Reserve Board has usurped the Government of the United States by the arrogant credit monopoly which operates the Federal Reserve Board." [Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Banking & Currency Committee, speech on the floor of the House of Representatives, June 10, 1932]

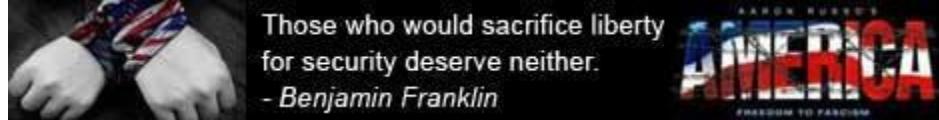

"In the United States we have, in effect, two governments....We have the duly constituted Government....Then we have an independent, uncontrolled and uncoordinated government in the Federal Reserve System, operating the money powers which are reserved to Congress by the Constitution." [Congressman Wright Patman, Chairman of the House Banking & Currency Committee, speech on the House floor, 1967]

"Most Americans have no real understanding of the operation of the international money lenders....The accounts of the Federal Reserve System have never been audited. It operates outside the control of Congress and...manipulates the credit of the United States." [Senator Barry Goldwater]

"Examining the organization and function of the Federal Reserve Banks, and applying the relevant factors, we conclude that the Reserve Banks are not federal instrumentalities for purposes of the FTCA, but are independent, privately-owned and locally controlled corporations." [Lewis vs. U.S., 680 F. 2d 1239, 1241]

"Federal Reserve Notes are illegal" [US Congressman Dr. Ron Paul]

Click on the banner below for video information on the Federal Reserve and IRS:

Conclusion

The American Monetary Institute (IMA) advises creating a new permanent money supply based on how Abraham Lincoln's Greenbacks worked. It's important to understand how unfair the debt-based money system is and how it differs from a permanent money system.

We don't have a permanent debt-free/interest-free circulating money system because the Banking Gangsters or Banksters have imposed their debt-based/usury system on the World using a multitude of complex Mafia tactics that the unsuspecting and untrained mind cannot fathom.

Ancient prophets and philosophers warned us about usury on what is being used as the medium of exchange. But when a Banker or Bankster creates debt/usury bearing money as a ledger entry which he then lends to you, what does he really do? It's even worse than usury!

Money is created as a book-entry by purchasing assets or entering credits on the left side of the balance-sheet and corresponding deposits on the right side. In other words, credit money is created out of thin air, a.k.a. counterfeiting.

In other words bankers create "currency" with just the stroke of a pen or the keystroke of a computer. These bankers then charge you "interest" to borrow this "currency", which is nothing more than some numbers typed on a piece of paper! If We The People ever did this we would be spending many years in a federal prison. The Banksters or Banking Gangsters do not print enough currency to pay the interest so more pseudo-dollars must be borrowed to pay off the interest, resulting in an unpayable, ever-increasing debt.

Well, there are several ways to think about it:

- He has the privatized monopoly on counterfeiting/creating and issuing nationally guaranteed private debt instruments called dollars or Federal Reserve [Promissory] Notes or FRNs! Why? Because.....
 - He does not have any assets to actually lend you, i.e. the dollars he creates as ledger entries and then issues to you do not represent anything he owns which he allegedly is lending to you.
 - Every dollar that a banker issues represents a government, corporate or private debt that is owed to the Banksters who actually didn't have anything to lend to you.
 - This dollar is guaranteed by the Government. The Government has the privilege of holding The People as captive debt hostages with its monopoly on taxing you which is backed up with its monopoly on violence against those who do not wish to be a captive debt/interest slave.
- He converts your promise to pay into a nationalized government guaranteed promise to pay.....
 - The dollars which he creates are legal tender guaranteed by the government and must be accepted as payment, i.e. "THIS NOTE IS LEGAL TENDER FOR ALL DEBTS, PUBLIC AND PRIVATE", whether as paper notes or as computer ledger accounts.
- He is giving you false measure.
 - A dollar used to mean a fixed measure of 1/20th of an ounce of gold up to the Federal Reserve Act of 1913. Now, the dollar is whatever you can get at the time you spend it.

The original question was "Where did these few Bankers get $90 Trillion worth of assets to allegedly lend to THE PEOPLE?"

The answer is that they stole them from THE PEOPLE by counterfeiting dollars.

The other question was "What types of powers do Bankers really have?"

The answer is:

- They can create immense amounts of money at no liability to themselves
- They can change the value of your money at will by issuing more or less new money
- They can create depressions and booms
- They can change the value of your savings and earnings by changing interest rates
- They hold all newborns and unborn as their debt slaves
- They can buy out anyone who is willing or forced into selling themselves to the service of the Banksters agenda of total enslavement of the Planet
- They can buy out corporations, resources, governments and legislation and media and propaganda
- They can maneuver peoples into wars
- You name it and they can do it

In summary, the legislations around the World that allow Bankers or Banksters to do what they do are a legalized fraud bought and paid for by the Banksters (Rothschild/Rockefeller Banking Dynasties) with debt money which they created from nothing. The Banksters immense power was first used to buy Kings, Queens, Politicians, Gangsters, etc., who legalized their fraud since at least the creation of The Private Bank of England in 1694 and its associated East-India company. This legalized fraud is constantly being fine tuned so that the Banking Dynasties can fleece people more and more. In fact, in the end, everyone slaves for the Banksters.

Note that the taxpayers are on the hook for the phony ledger money created by the Private Banking Dynasties. Bankers create phony ledger money and get real assets in return.....To add insult to injury, the Private Federal Reserve System Banksters get to use the US Treasury as their print shop for the cost of printing, i.e. a few cents per note or so.....

As per U.S. v. Throckmorton, 98 U.S. 61 (1878) "Fraud vitiates the most solemn Contracts, Documents and even Judgments". This U.S. Supreme Court decision has never been over-ruled or overturned. But who will arrest the World Banksters who can literally offer the Earth to those trying to arrest them?

For more info and references, please download the free book <http://www.lulu.com/content/165077>.

- The Quasi-Government in Washington D.C.
 - *The Illegal Quasi-Government in Washington D.C.
 - *Most entities are unaware of vanishing freedoms
 - *Some U.S. States Now Seeking Sovereignty
 - *The United States of Americas, Incorporated
 - *The Oversight of the Founding Fathers

- Why the Fed and the National Debt are Illegal
 - *The District of Colombia Loop-Hole
 - *National Debt Not a Legal Debt
 - *According to Law, National Debt is Null & Void
 - *New World Order (Global Governance) Accelerated
 - *The Declaration of Martial Law

- The illegal income tax
 - *How the Constitution's One Tax, the Excise Tax, Works
 - *The Calm Before the Storm
 - *The Illegal Internal Revenue Service (IRS)

- NWO plans Ten World Regions
 - *How the NWO Will Spread to Europe
 - *NWO Plans 10 Regions: "Ten Horns of the Beast"
 - *U.S. Taxpayers Will Fund NWO
 - *The European Union
 - *New World Order Will be Worse than Hitler
 - *Rothschild's London Estate a Sovereign State!
 - *Rothschilds: "The Head of the Beast"

<http://www.theliberationstation.com/lawful-money-blog.html>
<http://ecclesia.org/truth/reserve.html>
http://www.healthfreedom.info/Federal_Reserve_Fraud.htm
<http://mondovista.com/moneyx.html>

Appendix 0: Quotes from Founding Fathers & Others

The Founding Fathers and early Presidents, and many others, have warned us about the Banksters' ruse. Here are some of their quotes:

"When the government fears The People, you have liberty. When The People fear the government you have Tyranny." ~Thomas Jefferson

In a letter to Thomas Jefferson in 1787, John Adams wrote: "All the perplexities, confusion, and distress in America arise, not from defects of the Constitution, not from want of honor or virtue, so much as from downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit and circulation."

It was Daniel Webster who said; "Of all the contrivances devised for cheating the laboring classes of mankind, none has been more effective than that which deludes him with paper money."

Garet Garrett, in writing about the Federal Reserve System and World War I, said: ...after many years of blundering toward it, and only a few months before the beginning of the war in Europe (WWI), we had found the formula for the most efficient credit machine that was ever invented. This was the Federal Reserve System. Most people are unsure of the meanings of words such as money, dollar, wealth, inflation and credit. The average person would be very surprised.

Oliver Ellsworth, the countries third Chief Justice of the Supreme Court said of paper money: "This is a favorable moment to shut and bar the door against paper money. The mischief of the various experiments which have been made are now fresh in the public mind and have excited the disgust of the respectable parts of America."

Roger Sherman, a delegate from Connecticut and author of the gold and silver coin provision of the constitution, wrote a condemnation of paper money entitled "A caveat Against Injustice" in which he said..."If what is used as a Medium of Exchange is fluctuating in its value it is no better than unjust weights and measures, both which are condemned by the laws of God and Man, and therefore the longest and most universal Custom could never make the Use of such a Medium either lawful or reasonable."

When Congress passed the Federal Reserve Act on December 23, 1913. Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr., father of the famous airman, told Congress after the vote, "When the President signs this act, the invisible government by the money power will be legalized."

"We have in this country one of the most corrupt institutions the world has ever known. I refer to the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Banks. Some people think the Federal Reserve Banks are U.S. government institutions. They are not government institutions. They are private credit monopolies; domestic swindlers, rich and predatory money lenders which prey upon The People of the United States for the benefit of themselves and their foreign customers. The Federal Reserve Banks are the agents of the foreign central banks. The truth is the Federal Reserve Board has usurped the Government of the United States by the arrogant credit monopoly which operates the Federal Reserve Board." [Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Banking & Currency Committee, speech on the floor of the House of Representatives, June 10, 1932]

"In the United States we have, in effect, two governments....We have the duly constituted Government....Then we have an independent, uncontrolled and uncoordinated government in the Federal Reserve System, operating the money powers which are reserved to Congress by the Constitution." [Congressman Wright Patman, Chairman of the House Banking & Currency Committee, speech on the House floor, 1967]

In 1913 when the Federal Reserve Act was fraudulently pushed through Congress, Congressman Charles Lindbergh stated: "This Act establishes the most gigantic trust on earth....When the President signs this Act, the invisible government by the money power, proven to exist by the Money Trust Investigation, will be legalized....The new law will create inflation whenever the trust wants inflation....From now on, depression will be scientifically created."

"We have in this country one of the most corrupt institutions the world has ever known. I refer to the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Banks. Some people think the Federal Reserve Banks are U.S. government institutions. They are not government institutions. They are private credit monopolies; domestic swindlers, rich and predatory money lenders which prey upon The People of the United States for the benefit of themselves and their foreign customers. The Federal Reserve Banks are the agents of the foreign central banks. The truth is the Federal Reserve Board has usurped the Government of the United States by the arrogant credit monopoly which operates the Federal Reserve Board." [Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Banking & Currency Committee, speech on the floor of the House of Representatives, June 10, 1932]

"In the United States we have, in effect, two governments....We have the duly constituted Government....Then we have an independent, uncontrolled and uncoordinated government in the Federal Reserve System, operating the money powers which are reserved to Congress by the Constitution." [Congressman Wright Patman, Chairman of the House Banking & Currency Committee, speech on the House floor, 1967]

"Most Americans have no real understanding of the operation of the international money lenders....The accounts of the Federal Reserve System have never been audited. It operates outside the control of Congress and....manipulates the credit of the United States." [Senator Barry Goldwater]

"Examining the organization and function of the Federal Reserve Banks, and applying the relevant factors, we conclude that the Reserve Banks are not federal instrumentalities for purposes of the FTCA, but are independent, privately-owned and locally controlled corporations." [Lewis vs. U.S., 680 F. 2d 1239, 1241]

"Federal Reserve Notes are illegal" [US Congressman Dr. Ron Paul]

"These international bankers and Rockefeller-Standard Oil interests control the majority of newspapers and the columns of these papers to club into submission or drive out of public office officials who refuse to do the bidding of the powerful corrupt cliques which compose the invisible government." [Teddy Roosevelt]

When Congress passed the Federal Reserve Act on December 23, 1913. Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr., father of the famous aviator, told Congress after the vote, "When the President signs this act, the invisible government by the money power will be legalized." President Woodrow Wilson signed the act into law, turning over the money system of the country to a group of private bankers and allowed them to create money by making bookkeeping entries, loan it at interest, and take title to real property as collateral. Because of this, the citizens of the United States have lost control over their money system and their government. The banking system operates the same as the goldsmith that deceitfully issued receipts for more gold than was on deposit.

The Continuing "TWISTED" Saga of "The Looting of America" > Speculation Bubbles Crashes and Bank Lootings 101

Larry Parks, Executive Director, FAME

"With the monetary system we have now, the careful saving of a lifetime can be wiped out in an eyeblink."

George Bernard Shaw

"You have to choose [as a voter] between trusting to the natural stability of gold and the natural stability of the honesty and intelligence of the members of the Government. And, with due respect for these gentlemen, I advise you, as long as the Capitalist system lasts, to vote for gold."

Voltaire (1694-1778)

"Paper money eventually returns to its intrinsic value ---- zero."

Daniel Webster,
speech in the Senate, 1833

"We are in danger of being overwhelmed with irredeemable paper, mere paper, representing not gold nor silver; no sir, representing nothing but broken promises, bad faith, bankrupt corporations, cheated creditors and a ruined people."

Thomas Jefferson to John Taylor, 1816

"I sincerely believe ... that banking establishments are more dangerous than standing armies, and that the principle of spending money to be paid by posterity under the name of funding is but swindling futurity on a large scale."

Daniel Webster

"Of all the contrivances for cheating the laboring classes of mankind, none has been more effective than that which deludes them with paper money."

St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank, Review, Nov. 1975, p.22

"The decrease in purchasing power incurred by holders of money due to inflation imparts gains to the issuers of money--"++

Federal Reserve Bank, New York

"Because of 'fractional' reserve system, banks, as a whole, can expand our money supply

| | |
|--|--|
| The Story of Banks, p.5. | several times, by making loans and investments."++ |
| Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, Gold, p. 10 | "Without the confidence factor, many believe a paper money system is liable to collapse eventually."++ |
| Federal reserve Bank of New York, I Bet You Thought, p.19 | "Commercial banks create checkbook money whenever they grant a loan, simply by adding new deposit dollars in accounts on their books in exchange for a borrower's IOU."++ |
| Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, Modern Money Mechanics, p.3 | "The actual process of money creation takes place in commercial banks. As noted earlier, demand liabilities of commercial banks are money."++ |
| U.S. Supreme Court, Craig v. Missouri, 4 Peters 410. | "Emitting bills of credit, or the creation of money by private corporations, is what is expressly forbidden by Article 1, Section 10 of the U.S. Constitution."++ |
| James A. Garfield | "Whoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce."++ |
| Frederic Bastiat, The Law | "When plunder becomes a way of life for a group of men living together in society, they create for themselves in the course of time a legal system that authorizes it and a moral code that glorifies it."++ |
| Irving Fisher, 100% Money | "Thus, our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend, not money, but promises to supply money they do not possess."++ |
| John Maynard Keynes, The Economic Consequences of the Peace, 1920, page 240 | "If, however, a government refrains from regulations and allows matters to take their course, essential commodities soon attain a level of price out of the reach of all but the rich, the worthlessness of the money becomes apparent, and the fraud upon the public can be concealed no longer." |
| John Maynard Keynes, The Economic Consequences of the Peace, 1920, page 235ff | "Lenin is said to have declared that the best way to destroy the Capitalistic System was to debase the currency... Lenin was certainly right. There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society than to debase the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million can diagnose." |
| Ralph M. Hawtrey, former Secretary of Treasury, England | "Banks lend by creating credit. They create the means of payment out of nothing."++ |
| Robert H. Hemphill, former credit manager, Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta | "Money is the most important subject intellectual persons can investigate and reflect upon. It is so important that our present civilization may collapse unless it is widely understood and its defects remedied very soon."++ |
| Sir Josiah Stamp, former President, Bank of England | "Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money and control credit, and with a flick of a pen they will create enough to buy it back."++ |
| Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, former Chancellor of Exchequer, England | "Those who create and issue money and credit direct the policies of government and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of The People."++ |
| John Adams, letter to Thomas Jefferson | "All the perplexities, confusion and distresses in America arise not from defects in the constitution or confederation, nor from want of honor or virtue, as much from downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit, and circulation."++ |
| Wm. Jennings Bryan | "Money power denounces, as public enemies, all who question its methods or throw light upon its crimes."++ |
| George Washington, in letter to J. Bowen, Rhode Island, Jan. 9, 1787 | "Paper money has had the effect in your state that it will ever have, to ruin commerce, oppress the honest, and open the door to every species of fraud and injustice."++ |
| George Bancroft, A Plea for the Constitution (1886) | "Madison, agreeing with the journal of the convention, records that the grant of power to emit bills of credit was refused by a majority of more than four to one. The evidence is perfect; no power to emit paper money was granted to the legislature of the United States."++ |
| Article One, Section Ten, United States Constitution | "No state shall emit bills of credit, make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts, coin money---."++ |
| John C. Calhoun, Speech 5/27/1836 | "A power has risen up in the government greater than The People themselves, consisting of many and various powerful interest, combined in one mass; and held together by the cohesive power of the vast surplus in banks." |
| Andrew Jackson: To delegation of bankers discussing the Bank Renewal Bill, 1832 | "You are a den of vipers and thieves. I intend to rout you out, and by the eternal God, I will rout you out." |
| Treasury Secretary Woodin, 3/7/33 | "Where would we be if we had I.O.U.'s scrip and certificates floating all around the country?" Instead he decided to "issue currency against the sound assets of the banks. [As opposed to issuing currency against gold.] The Federal Reserve Act lets us print all we'll need. And it won't |

| | |
|--|--|
| | frighten The People. It won't look like stage money. It'll be money that looks like real money." [Emphasis added.] (Source: 'Closed for the Holiday: The Bank Holiday of 1933', p20 - Federal Reserve Bank of Boston) |
| John Kenneth Galbraith | "The study of money, above all other fields in economics, is one in which complexity is used to disguise truth or to evade truth, not to reveal it." Money: Whence it came, where it went - 1975, p15 |
| John Kenneth Galbraith | "The process by which banks create money is so simple that the mind is repelled." Money: Whence it came, where it went - 1975, p29 |
| Senator Carter Glass, Author of the Banking Act of 1933 | "Is there any reason why the American people should be taxed to guarantee the debts of banks, any more than they should be taxed to guarantee the debts of other institutions, including merchants, the industries, and the mills of the country?" |
| Chief Justice Salmon Chase, formerly Secretary of Treasury in President Lincoln's administration, in dissent of Knox vs. Lee (The Legal Tender Cases, 1871) | "The legal tender quality [of money] is only valuable for the purposes of dishonesty." |
| Dr. Alan Greenspan, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, 11/20/2003 | "As long as we issue fiat currency, I see no alternative to a legal tender law." |
| John Adams | "All the perplexities, confusion and distress in America arise, not from defects in their Constitution or Confederation, not from want of honor or virtue, so much as from the downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit and circulation." |
| Friedrich A. Hayek (1899-1992) Austrian Economist, Author and 1974 Nobel Prize-Winner for Economics | "With the exception only of the period of the gold standard, practically all governments of history have used their exclusive power to issue money to defraud and plunder The People." |
| Dr. Edwin Vieira, FAME Foundation Scholar | "You can fool some of The People all of the time, and all of The People some of the time, and that's good enough." |

"Fear [true] is the key element for the IRS in achieving its mission. Without fear, the IRS would have a difficult time maintaining our so-called system of voluntary compliance ..." "Given the opportunity, the IRS will take the easy way out and grab whatever it can. The IRS does not really care about you and what your future may be". -Santo Presti, former IRS Criminal Investigation Agent and author of "IRS In Action"

"The IRS is an extraordinary example of the end justifying the means. The means of this agency is growth. It is interesting that the revenue officers within the IRS refer to taxpayers as 'inventory'. The IRS embodies the political realities of the selfish human desire to dominate others. Thus the end of this gigantic pretense of officialdom is power, pure and simple. The meek may inherit the earth, but they will never receive a promotion in an agency where efficiency is measured by the number of seizures of taxpayers' property and by the number of citizens and businesses driven into bankruptcy". --George Hansen, Congressman and author of "To Harass Our People"

"I have sat on many a promotion panel where the first question of panel members was 'How many seizures have you made?'. --Joseph R.Smith, eighteen--year IRS agent, testifying before Congress

"This [audit] was made extremely difficult because [IRS] existing Systems were not designed to provide reliable financial information... on their operations". --Comptroller Bowsher, Government Accounting Office, on the first--ever audit of the IRS in 1993.

"The agency that is so strict on the way Americans keep their books cannot even pass a financial audit". --Ted Stevens, Republican Senator from Alaska

"Some techniques can be used only in connection with a full--scale program due to the nature of the tax situation and the need to avoid unnecessary taxpayer reaction. An example would be income tax returns compliance efforts aimed at the non--business taxpayer". [Huh? What'd he say?] --Internal Revenue Service Manual, section 5221 "Returns Compliance Programs"

About Social Security

"When you pay social security taxes, you are in no way making provision for your own retirement. You are paying the pensions of those who are already retired. Once you understand this, you see that whether you will get the benefits you are counting on when you retire depends on whether Congress will levy enough taxes, borrow enough, or print enough money... --W. Allen Wallis, former Chairman of the 1975 Advisory Council on Social Security, May27, 1976

"There is no prospect that today's younger workers will receive all the Social Security and Medicare benefits currently promised them". --Dorcas Hardy, former Social Security Commissioner and author of "Social Insecurity", quoted in the December 1995 Reader's Digest.

'All we have to do now is to inform the public that the payment of social security taxes is voluntary and watch the mass exodus". --Walter E. Williams, John M. Olin Distinguished Professor of Economics at George Mason University in Fairfax, VA, January 24, 1996.

"To lay with one hand the power of government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow it on favored individuals... is none the less robbery because it is... called taxation". --United States Supreme Court in Loan Association v. Topeka (18__)

About Money, Banking & The Federal Reserve

'In 1833, a small group of Socialists met in London, announcing their intentions of converting the British economic system from capitalism to socialism. This group chose the name "Fabian Society". One of the leading members of the Fabian Society, author George Bernard Shaw, perhaps summed it up best when he said, quote: "... Socialism means equality of income or nothing... under socialism you would not be allowed to be poor. You would be forcibly feed, clothed, lodged, taught, and employed whether you like it or not. If it were discovered that you had not character enough to be worth all this trouble, you might possibly be executed in a kindly manner; but whilst you were permitted to live you would have to live well" --Edgar Wallace Robinson in his 1980 booklet titled "Rolling Thunder"

"A government that robs Peter to pay Paul can always depend on Paul's support." -- George Bernard Shaw, 1856--1950

"All the perplexities, confusion and distress in America rise, not from defects in their Constitution or Confederation, not from want of honor or virtue, so much as from downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit and circulation". --John Adams, in a letter to Thomas Jefferson in 1787

"Gold is still the ultimate store of wealth. It's the world's only true money. And there isn't much of it to go around. All of it ever mined would fit into a small building -- a 56 foot cube. The annual world production would fit into a 14 foot cube, roughly the size of an ordinary living room. If each Chinese citizen were to buy just one ounce, it would take up the annual supply for the next 200 years". --Mark Nestmann, author of "How To Achieve Personal And Financial Privacy In A Public Age

"I see in the near future a crisis approaching. It unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country... the Money Power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign" by working upon the prejudices of The People, until the wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the Republic is destroyed. I feel at this moment more anxiety for the safety of my country than ever before, even in the midst of war." --Abraham Lincoln,-- In a letter written to William Elkin just after the passage of the National Banking Act of 1863 and less than five months before he was assassinated.

"The money power preys on the nation in times of peace, and conspires against it in times of adversity. It is more despotic than monarchy, more insolent than autocracy, more selfish than bureaucracy. It denounces, as public enemies, all who question its methods or throw light upon its crimes." -- Abraham Lincoln

"If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency first by inflation and then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around them will deprive The People of all property until their children will wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered". --Thomas Jefferson in 1802 in a letter to then Secretary of the Treasury, Albert Gallatin

"I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies". --Thomas Jefferson

"... You are a den of vipers and thieves. I intend to rout you out, and by the grace of the Eternal God, will rout you out". --President Andrew Jackson, upon evicting a delegation of international bankers from the Oval Office

"Give me control over a nation's currency and I care not who makes its laws" --Baron M.A. Rothschild (1744 -- 1812)

"The few who can understand the system (Federal Reserve) will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of The People, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] --John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act

".. we conclude that the [Federal] Reserve Banks are not federal ... but are independent privately owned and locally controlled corporations... without day to day direction from the federal government." --9th Circuit Court in Lewis vs United States, June 24, 1982

"Some people think the Federal Reserve Banks are US government institutions They are not... they are private credit monopolies which prey upon The People of the US. for the benefit of themselves and their foreign and domestic swindlers, and rich and predatory money lenders. The sack of the United States by the Fed is the greatest crime in history. Every effort has been made by the Fed to conceal its powers, but the truth is the Fed has usurped the government. It controls everything here and it controls all our foreign relations. It makes and breaks governments at will". --Congressman Charles McFadden, Chairman, House Banking and Currency Committee, June 10, 1932

"when you or I write a check there must be sufficient funds in our account to cover that check, but when the Federal Reserve writes a check, it is creating money". --Boston Federal Reserve Bank in a publication titled "Putting It Simply"

"We make money the old fashioned way. We print it." --Art Rolnick, former Chief Economist, Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank

"Historically, the United States has been a hard money country. Only [since 1913] has the United States operated on a fiat money system. During this period, paper money has depreciated over 87%. During the preceding 140 year period, the hard currency of the United States had actually maintained its value. wholesale prices in 1913... were the same as in 1787". --Kenneth Gerbino, former chairman of the American Economic Council

"About all a Federal Reserve note can legally do is wipe out one debt and replace it with itself another debt, a note that promises nothing. If anything's been paid, the payment occurs only in the minds of the parties...". --Tupper Saucy, author of "The Miracle On Main Street"

"By a continuing process of inflation, governments can confiscate, secretly and unobserved, an important part of the wealth of their citizens. There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society than to debauch the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million is able to diagnose". --John Maynard Keynes, economist and author of "The Economic Consequences Of The Peace"

"Inflation has now been institutionalized at a fairly constant 5% per year. This has been determined to be the optimum level for generating the most revenue without causing public alarm. A 5% devaluation applies, not only to the money earned this year, but to all that is left over from previous years. At the end of the first year, a dollar is worth 95 cents. At the end of the second year, the 95 cents is reduced again by 5%, leaving its worth at 90 cents, and so on. By the time a person has worked 20 years, the government will have confiscated 64% of every dollar he saved over those years. By the time he has worked 45 years, the hidden tax will be 90%. The government will take virtually everything a person saves over a lifetime". --G. Edward Griffin, historian and author of "The Creature From Jekyll Island"

"The real truth of the matter is, and you and I know, that a financial element in the large centers has owned the government of the US. since the days of Andrew Jackson. History depicts Andrew Jackson as the last truly honorable and incorruptible American president". --President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, November 23, 1933 in a letter to Colonel Edward Mandell House

"The Founding Fathers of this great land had no difficulty whatsoever understanding the agenda of bankers, and they frequently referred to them and their kind as, quote, 'friends of paper money.' They hated the Bank of England, in particular, and felt that even were we successful in winning our independence from England and King George, we could never truly be a nation of freemen, unless we had an honest money system.

Through ignorance, but moreover, because of apathy, a small, but wealthy, clique of power brokers have robbed us of our Rights and Liberties, and we are being raped of our wealth. We are paying the price for the near--comatose levels of complacency by our parents, and only God knows what might become of our children, should we not work diligently to shake this country from its slumber! Many a nation has lost its freedom at the end of a gun barrel, but here in America, we just decided to hand it over voluntarily. Worse yet, we paid for the tyranny and usurpation out of our own pockets with "voluntary" tax contributions and the use of a debt--laden fiat currency!". --Peter Kershaw, author of the 1994 booklet "Economic Solutions"

Since I entered politics, I have chiefly had men's views confided to me privately. Some of the biggest men in the U.S., in the field of commerce and manufacturing, are afraid of somebody, are afraid of something. They know that there is a power somewhere so organized, so subtle, so watchful, so interlocked, so complete, so pervasive, that they had better not speak above their breath when they speak in condemnation of it." Woodrow Wilson -- In his book entitled The New Freedom (1913)

"The fact is that there is a serious danger of this country becoming a pluto--democracy; that is, a sham republic with the real government in the hands of a small clique of enormously wealthy men, who speak through their money, and whose influence, even today, radiates to every corner of the United States." William McAdoo -- President Wilson's national campaign vice-chairman, wrote in Crowded years (1974)

"The powers of financial capitalism had (a) far--reaching aim, nothing less than to create a world system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole. This system was to be controlled in a feudal fashion by the central banks of the world acting in concert, by secret agreements arrived at in frequent meetings and conferences. The apex of the systems was to be the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the world's central banks which were themselves private corporations. Each central bank...sought to dominate its government by its ability to control Treasury loans, to manipulate foreign exchanges, to influence the level of economic activity in the country, and to influence cooperative politicians by subsequent economic rewards in the business world." -Prof. Carroll Quigley in his book Tragedy and Hope

"In a small Swiss city sits an international organization so obscure and secretive... Control of the institution, the Bank for International Settlements, lies with some of the world's most powerful and least visible men: the heads of 32 central banks, officials able to shift billions of dollars and alter the course of economies at the stroke of a pen." Keith Bradsher of the New York Times, August 5, 1995

"The Federal Reserve Bank of New York is eager to enter into close relationship with the Bank for International Settlements....The conclusion is impossible to escape that the State and Treasury Departments are willing to pool the banking system of Europe and America, setting up a world financial power independent of and above the Government of the United States....The United States under present conditions will be transformed from the most active of manufacturing nations into a consuming and importing nation with a balance of trade against it." Rep. Louis McFadden -- (Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency) quoted in the New York Times (June 1930)

"The Federal Reserve (Banks) are one of the most corrupt institutions the world has ever seen. There is not a man within the sound of my voice who does not know that this Nation is run by the International Bankers." Rep. Louis McFadden

"(The Great Depression resulting from the Stock Market crash) was not accidental. It was a carefully contrived occurrence....The international bankers sought to bring about a condition of despair here so they might emerge as rulers of us all." Rep. McFadden testified in Congress (1933). There were at least two attempts on his life by gunfire. He died of suspected poisoning after attending a banquet.

"Banking was conceived in iniquity and was born in sin. The Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create deposits, and with the flick of the pen they will create enough deposits to buy it back again. However, take it away from them, and all the great fortunes like mine will disappear and they ought to disappear, for this would be a happier and better world to live in. But, if you wish to remain the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, let them continue to create deposits." Sir Josiah Stamp -- President of the Bank of England in the 1920's, and the second richest man in Britain.

"History shows that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit and violent means possible to maintain control over governments by controlling the money and the issuance of it." President James A. Madison

"Nothing did more to spur the boom in stocks than the decision made by the New York Federal Reserve bank, in the spring of 1927, to cut the rediscount rate. Benjamin Strong, Governor of the bank, was chief advocate of this unwise measure, which was taken largely at the behest of Montagu Norman of the Bank of England....At the time of the Banks action I warned of its consequences.... I felt that sooner or later the market had to break." Money baron Bernard Baruch in Baruch: The Public Years (1960)

"Thus corporations finally claimed the full rights enjoyed by individual citizens while being exempted from many of the responsibilities and liabilities of citizenship. Furthermore, in being guaranteed the same right to free speech as individual citizens, they achieved, in the words of Paul Hawken, 'precisely what the Bill of Rights was intended to prevent: domination of public thought and discourse.' The subsequent claim by corporations that they have the same right as any individual to influence the government in their own interest pits the individual citizen against the vast financial and communications resources of the corporation and mocks the constitutional intent that all citizens have an equal voice in the political debates surrounding important issues." --David C. Korten, in his book, When Corporations Rule the World

"Give me control over a man's economic actions, and hence over his means of survival, and except for a few occasional heroes, I'll promise to deliver to you men who think and write and behave as I want them to." --Benjamine A. Rooge

"I consider the foundation of the Constitution as laid on this ground that "all powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states or to The People.

" ... To take a single step beyond the boundaries thus specially drawn around the powers of Congress is to take possession of a boundless field of power, no longer susceptible of any definition. The incorporation of a bank, and the powers assumed by this bill (chartering the first Bank of the United States), have not, been delegated to the United States by the Constitution." --Thomas Jefferson -- in opposition to the chartering of the first Bank of the United States (1791).

"Whoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce." President James A. Garfield

These statements were made during hearings of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, September 30, 1941.

Note: Members of the Federal Reserve Board call themselves "Governors". Governor Eccles was Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board at the time of these hearings.

* Congressman Patman: "How did you get the money to buy those two billion dollars worth of Government securities in 1933?"

* Governor Eccles: "Out of the right to issue credit money."

* Patman: "And there is nothing behind it, is there, except our Government's credit?"

* Eccles: "That is what our money system is. If there were no debts in our money system, there wouldn't be any money."

* Congressman Fletcher: "Chairman Eccles, when do you think there is a possibility of returning to a free and open market, instead of this pegged and artificially controlled financial market we now have?"

* Governor Eccles: "Never, not in your lifetime or mine."

"I have never yet had anyone who could, through the use of logic and reason, justify the Federal Government borrowing the use of its own money....I believe the time will come when people will demand that this be changed. I believe the time will come in this country when they will actually blame you and me and everyone else connected with the Congress for sitting idly by and permitting such an idiotic system to continue." - The late Congressman Wright Patman, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency for over 16 years

Private money creation through fractional reserve banking fosters an unprecedented concentration of wealth which destroys the democratic process and ultimately promotes military imperialism. Less than 1% of the population claims ownership of almost 50% of the wealth, but vital infrastructure is ignored. The American Society of Civil Engineers gives a D grade to our infrastructure and estimates that $1.6 trillion is needed to bring it to acceptable levels. "Under the present private control, money goes largely into speculative bubbles, including Wall Street games and real estate" he said, "Under societal control it would go much more to promoting the general welfare. Inflation is avoided because real material wealth has been created in the process, and catastrophic loss including loss of life is prevented." Lawmakers have often believed they could ignore the big questions on how our money system is structured. Right from the Constitutional Convention delegates ignored society's monetary power and the excellent record of government issued money in building colonial infrastructure and giving us a nation. They left the money power up for grabs instead of properly placing it in a fourth, monetary branch of government. History shows that the money power will be a fourth branch whether we recognize it as such or not. It's not safe to leave so much power and privilege in private hands! It's counter to our system of checks and balances. The developing financial crisis requires us to re-evaluate and focus on it now. Lets fulfill our responsibility to get a real understanding of this problem and the solution". - Stephen Zarlenga

Appendix 1: If This Is True Why Haven't I Heard About This?

"The illusion of freedom [in America] will continue as long as it's profitable to continue the illusion. At the point where the illusion becomes too expensive to maintain, they will just take down the scenery, they will pull back the curtains, they will move the tables and chairs out of the way and you will see the brick wall at the back of the theater." -- Frank Zappa

Basically, it is because the international bankers, having unlimited funds, own and control the mainstream media.

According to Jacobson, "The manipulation of words and their meaning is the key to controlling what people think. Traditional definitions are eliminated while new meanings are repeated over and over again until accepted."

"These international bankers and Rockefeller-Standard Oil interests control the majority of newspapers and the columns of these papers to club into submission or drive out of public office officials who refuse to do the bidding of the powerful corrupt cliques which compose the invisible government." [Teddy Roosevelt]

We also have to ask ourselves why we were not taught the truth about the Federal Reserve in school. Click on the following video link to hear the testimony of Norman Dodd, head of the congressional committee that investigated the Rockefeller, Carnegie and Ford foundations and their intent to control education:

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-7529890059122668728&q=hidden+agenda+norman+dodd>

According to Jacobson, The essence of psychological warfare is to confuse the meaning of words, and infiltrate the mind with conflicting concepts. Jacobson goes on to say that the use of the word Federal in the name federal Reserve leads the public to believe that the Federal Reserve is a government institution, when it is really a private corporation owned by foreign and domestic banks and operated for profit. The FED controls nation's money supply and interest rates, and there by manipulates the entire economy, in violation of Article 1, Section 8 of the Unites States Constitution that expressly charges Congress with power to coin money and regulate the value thereof. Article 1, Section 10 of the constitution says: No State shall make any thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in payment of Debts.

Federal Express and Federal Ammunition Company both have the word federal in them but the public knows about them, they know they are not government agencies because they are not misled about the companies.

Over time, gold and silver coins were removed from our money supply and removed as backing for our paper currency and replaced with debt (or credit). Credit is only in our minds. It is an idea, not a thing. It is expressed by bookkeeping entries and computer symbols.

According to Jacobson, "The manipulation of words and their meaning is the key to controlling what people think. Traditional definitions are eliminated while new meanings are repeated over and over again until accepted."

The definition of dollar has changed to hide the fact that a dollar is not money, but a unit of measurement for gold and silver coin. Title 12 Unites States Code Section 152 says: "The terms lawful money or lawful money of the Unites States shall be construed to mean gold or silver coin of the United Sates." Title 31 Unites States Code, Section 5101 says: "The money of account of the Unites States shall be expressed in dollars."

From Ignatius Donnelly in THE AMERICAN PEOPLE'S MONEY (1896): "A man by honest industry can make a comfortable living and a moderate competency for old age; that is all. If he desires a million he must make tens of thousands or hundreds of thousands of other men work for him, and take all the fruits of their toil above a mere living. Hence when it comes to establishing a daily newspaper, at a cost of a hundred thousand, or five hundred thousand dollars, the founders must be rich men. And if they go into such an enterprise it is to increase their wealth. And to do this the conditions which gave them their opportunities must be maintained; and hence the paper must oppose all reform measures that would protect the many from the exactions of the few. And the friends of one kind of oppression are compelled, necessarily, to unite with those of all other forms of oppression; and hence we have a gigantic power, undreamed of by our ancestors, which holds possession of all access to the brains and beliefs of the multitude, and is misleading them to their ruin. It is a diabolical contrivance and one of the greatest of the dangers which now threaten civilization. To get at the truth The People have to 'read between the lines,' or depend on books, pamphlets and the weekly newspapers ; and even a great part of these latter are but a weak echo of the dailies,—the editors bought to betray The People with some such trivial bribe as a free railroad ticket. Hence the outburst of pamphlets, which characterized the era of Queen Ann, is being repeated in this our present age. It is the effort of the chained and imprisoned intellect of man to obtain a hearing, despite the plutocratic power which has taken possession of all the avenues of public enlightenment.

All the perplexities, confusion and distress in America arise, not from defects in their Constitution or Confederation, not from want of honor or virtue, so much as from the downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit and circulation. John Adams.

What was true then, remains true today concerning ignorance of money. Honor and virtue may be in question, today, particularly so, in view of the Presidency during the last two decades.

The bank hath benefit of interest on all moneys which it creates out of nothing. William Paterson, founder of the Bank of England, c1694.

The William Paterson quote is the essential "trick" of banking. However much it is denied by some establishment economists, journalists, politicians, and other propaganda hucksters, this "trick" remains true of modern banking.

The process by which banks create money is so simple that the mind is repelled. John Kenneth Galbraith.

Changes in the quantity of money may originate with actions of the Federal Reserve System (the central bank), depository institutions (principally commercial banks), or the public. The major control, however, rests with the central bank. Modern Money Mechanics, published by FRB Chicago, pg. 3.

The process of money creation takes place primarily in banks. Modern Money Mechanics, published by FRB Chicago, pg. 3.

Of course, they [banks] do not really pay out loans from the money they receive as deposits. If they did this, no additional money would be created. What they do when they make loans is to accept promissory notes in exchange for credits to the borrowers' transaction accounts. Modern Money Mechanics, published by FRB Chicago, pg. 6.

The banks do create money. They have been doing it for a long time, but they didn't quite realise it, and they did not admit it. Very few did. You will find it in all sorts of documents, financial textbooks, etc. But in the intervening years, and we must all be perfectly frank about these things, there has been a development of thought, until today I doubt very much whether you would get many prominent bankers to attempt to deny that banks create credit. H. W. White, Chairman of the Associated Banks of New Zealand, to the New Zealand Monetary Commission, 1955.

Susan George correctly emphasises in her review of my book, The Cancer Stage of Capitalism (Pluto Press, 1999), "The cancer stage of capitalism is not a metaphor. It is a rigorous description of where we are." The current financial stripping of economies and environments across the world exhibits, in fact, all the hallmark characteristics of a carcinogenic invasion. As on the cellular level, an uncontrolled rogue sequence of reproduction invades and self-multiplies across social borders with no committed function to life-hosts. As on the cellular level, the cancer advances by not being recognized by surrounding life communities. —John McMurtry, Professor of philosophy at the University of Guelph, in Economic Reform, Vol. 11, Number 3, March 1999

For our economic textbooks to have been accurate, they would need to be printed in blood. The blood of indigenous peoples destroyed so their land could be taken, bought, and sold. The blood of salmon, beaver, and buffalo commodified and killed for the money they have come to represent. The blood of all of us whose lives are diminished in the act of commodifying others. The blood of slaves and wage slaves who spend their lives toiling so their owners may have the leisure that is the birthright of every living being. The blood of the land itself, poisoned by "externalities," those cumbersome details too dark or difficult or inconvenient to take their place in the economic equations that guide so much of our lives. The blood of everyone who is silenced by economic theory. In the same vein as our science and religion, the most obvious function of our economics is the erection of a sociopolitical framework on which to base a system of exploitation.

Anyone who believes exponential growth can go on forever in a finite world is either a madman or an economist.—Kenneth Boulding, economist.

Permit me to issue and control the money of a nation and I care not who makes its laws. Mayer Amschel Rothschild

Whoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce. President James Garfield.

The real menace of our republic is the invisible government, which, like a giant octopus, sprawls its slimy length over our city, state and nation. At the head is a small group of banking houses generally referred to as international bankers. This little coterie of powerful international bankers virtually runs our government for their own selfish ends. New York Mayor John F. Hylan, c1922.

I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance. The issuing power should be taken from the banks, and restored to the people. Thomas Jefferson.

If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation and then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around them will deprive the people of all property until their children will wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. Thomas Jefferson.

Banking was conceived in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the earth; take it away from them but leave them with the power to create credit; and, with a flick of a pen, they will create enough money to buy it back again. Take this power away from them and all great fortunes like mine will disappear, and they ought to disappear, for then this world would be a happier and better world to live in. But if you want to be slaves of bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then let the bankers control money and control credit. Sir Josiah Stamp, Director, Bank of England, c1940.

But if a long train of abuses, prevarications, and artifices, all tending the same way, make the design visible to the people, and they cannot but feel what they lie under, and see whither they are going, it is not to be wondered that they should then rouse themselves, and endeavour to put the rule into such hands which may secure to them the ends for which government was at first erected, and without which, ancient names and specious forms are so far from being better, that they are much worse than the state of Nature or pure anarchy; the inconveniences being all as great and as near, but the remedy farther off and more difficult. John Locke, CONCERNING CIVIL GOVERNMENT, Chap. XIX. Of the Dissolution of Government, #225.

Slavery is likely to be abolished by the war power, and chattel slavery abolished. This, I and my European friends are in favor of, for slavery is but the owning of labor, and carries with it the care of the laborers, while the European plan, led on by England, is that capital shall control labor by controlling wages. . . . The great debt that capitalists will see to it is made out of the war must be used to control the value of money. To accomplish this, the Government bonds must be used as a banking basis. . . . We are now waiting for the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States to make this recommendation. It will not do to allow greenbacks, as they are called, to circulate as money any length of time, as we cannot control that, but we can control the bonds and through them the bank issues. "Hazard Circular" circulated to U. S. banks during the campaign for the National Bank Acts during the Civil War.

If this mischievous financial policy [U. S. Notes or greenbacks issued by the government without interest] which has had its origin in the North American Republic during the late war [Civil War] should become endurated down to a fixture, then that Government will furnish its own money without cost. It will pay off its debts and be without debts. It will have all the money necessary to carry on its commerce. It will become properous beyond precedent in the history of the world. The brains and wealth of all countries will go to North America. That government must be destroyed or it will destroy every monarchy on the globe. "London Times" editorial.

The movement of the global economy is "regulated" by "a worldwide process of debt collection" which constricts the institutions of the national state and contributes to destroying employment and economic activity. from The Globalization of Poverty by Michel Chossudovsky.

If we are the new American slaves, then who is our master? The New Master, like some monster escaped from the laboratories of a noble experiment called the American dream, is the sum total of an amoral coupling between government and business. It looms as a monolith hybrid that is neither government nor business and is composed of individual strands of power that include the president, Congress, the courts—a multitude of governing bureaus and agencies, and an immense cluster of multinational corporations, some as wealthy as great nations. from Give Me Liberty! by Gerry Spence.

Our current economy is a predatory system far worse than any seen in nature. Where else but among human predators do individuals try to hoard much more than they can ever use? The human predator, I argue, is unlike all others. Instead of being simply the fulfillment of its own nature, the human predator is to a large degree the product of a system—an artificial environment shaped by beliefs and rules and customs—that allows the predatory tendency to run rampant.—Roger Terry in Economic Insanity.

There are no greater human and civil rights violations than the withholding of economic and financial livelihoods of peoples. There is no greater "terrorism" than financial manipulation of the peoples' livelihoods for political and financial gain. The educators, the ministers, the rabbis, the political leaders, and the peoples' elected representatives, including in the United States, emerge as the unwitting "terrorists"—who in silence, some perhaps for financial and political gain, condone Capitalism's (Bankerism's) recondite harvesting of the fruits of the productive society's labors. Peter Cook, Monetary Science Publishing, in Reserves, Deposits and Central Banks.

Appendix 2: The Mathematics On How Does This Affect Me?

Congress initially defined a lawful money "dollar" as being and consisting of (at least) 371.25 grains of pure silver or $1/20^{\text{th}}$ of an ounce of gold. Before 1965 anyone could exchange one paper dollar for one real silver dollar. However, in 1965 the United States' mint stopped minting silver dollars. When this occurred inflation began to skyrocket. Now it takes a whole fist full of paper dollars (i.e., "Federal Reserve Notes") to buy one real silver dollar. It now takes two working parents to support a family and the national debt is shooting over 13 trillion dollars! And this is not even counting the private debt by individuals and corporations, which is somewhere over 50 trillion dollars. And then add to it the debts of the rest of the World's governments and corporations, all indebted to The Bankers who created this money as ledger money. Get the picture?

The paper and digital currency that bankers create out of thin air is backed by nothing. The more paper "dollars" they roll off the printing presses or digital "dollars" created by computers, the less each one is worth. Therefore, it takes more of 'em to buy the things we need, so the price of everything has to go up and up and up in endless inflation. Unfortunately, wages for most people will not increase fast enough to stay ahead of the game. But not to worry, the international Banksters have created plastic "credit cards" to help you out (heh, heh, heh). Of course, they don't bother to tell us that they do not create enough paper/digital currency to pay off the debt plus interest so mathematically the economy will eventually collapse as has always occurred in history with paper currencies.

The exponential function arises whenever a quantity grows or decays at a rate proportional to its current value. One such situation is continuously compounded interest, and in fact it was this that led Jacob Bernoulli in 1683^[3] to the number now known as e (e=2.718281828).

$$\lim_{n \rightarrow \infty} (1 + 1/n)^n,$$

Later, in 1697, Johann Bernoulli studied the calculus of the exponential function.^[3]

If a principal amount of 1 earns interest at an annual rate of x compounded monthly, then the interest earned each month is $x/12$ times the current value, so each month the total value is multiplied by $(1+x/12)$, and the value at the end of the year is $(1+x/12)^{12}$. If instead interest is compounded daily, this becomes $(1+x/365)^{365}$. Letting the number of time intervals per year grow without bound leads to the limit definition of the exponential function, where x is the annual rate of usury first given by Euler.^[4] This is one of a number of characterizations of the exponential function; others involve series or differential equations.

$$\exp(x) := \lim_{n \rightarrow \infty} \left(1 + \frac{x}{n}\right)^n,$$

Fundamental exponential math underlies the system—governments must borrow more and more to pay back interest and keep the system afloat. Such math is guaranteed to fail. Iceland and Greece have reached the point of failure. The rest of Europe and the US will experience failure as well. Then we will see money and assets vacuumed up the pyramid by the money pushers—the banking establishment that owns the collateral and can take your property.

The exponential math not only creates exponential debt growth, but also exponentially increasing:

- Scale – government and mega-businesses keep getting bigger while we get smaller and local communities lose their meaning
- Velocity – the hamster wheel keeps spinning faster; human life suffers
- Consumption – we buy more and more things that break more quickly
- Production – we make more and more things that break more quickly
- Inflation – the dollar buys less and less; we can't seem to make progress

Appendix 3: How Did All Of This Get Started?

Briefly, the Federal Reserve system was created by international banking families such as the Rothschilds, Warburgs and Rockefellers. This international banking cartel creates "money" out of thin air. It only costs them a few cents to print each Federal Reserve Note "dollar bill", and then they "bill" the American people for the full face value of the note. Then to add insult to injury, they charge us interest to borrow their so-called "money". If you or I did this, we would be arrested for counterfeiting and fraud. This system was instituted gradually, starting with the Civil War and culminating with the fraudulent passage of the Federal Reserve Act in 1913.

The passage of the Federal Reserve Act was unconstitutional because 1) the US Constitution prohibited "bills of credit" (i.e., paper notes) and 2) the US Constitution would have to be amended to go off the silver and gold coin standard for money. The US Constitution, the supreme Law of the Land, can only be amended pursuant to Article V. The US Constitution cannot be amended by statute. These unlawful actions by a criminal Congress remind me of a quote by the honorable Alfred E. Neuman of Mad Magazine fame: "America is that land which fought for freedom and then passed laws to get rid of it."

The Federal Reserve is also a monopoly—in a country where monopolies are supposed to be illegal. The IRS deposits people's income tax checks directly in the Federal Reserve banks—not in the United States Treasury. Therefore, the IRS, an unconstitutional entity, is merely the collection agency for the international Banksters. Over the years the IRS has become a tool of the elite banking families to financially attack and/or imprison people who expose the Federal Reserve. It is also a tool used by the D.C. elite to attack people who expose government corruption.

If you take out a paper dollar and look at it, you will notice that it states at the top of the "bill": "FEDERAL RESERVE NOTE". A "note" is, by definition, an "instrument of debt" and "evidence of debt". According to BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY (Sixth Ed.) "MONEY" is defined: "In usual and ordinary acceptation it means coins and paper currency used as circulating medium of exchange, and does not embrace notes, bonds, evidences of debt, or other personal or real estate." Now this may come as a shock to some people, but those paper "Federal Reserve Notes" are not money and they are not dollars. Federal Reserve Notes are merely IOUs. There is nothing backing these "bills" except debt. However, people (voluntarily) use them as [instead of] money and as dollars. The key word is "as". (The smallest words can have the biggest meanings.)

Banks can create this phony "currency" out of thin air. Banks can loan out "currency" that they don't even have. When you apply for a loan from a bank, the bank does not have anything to back up that loan because they are allowed to loan out about seven to ten times more "currency" than they have on deposit. This is not mere speculation; this is a matter of court record, testimony under Oath, by a former lawyer for the Federal Reserve. In other words bankers create "currency" with just the stroke of a pen or the keystroke of a computer. These bankers then charge you "interest" to borrow this "currency", which is nothing more than some numbers typed on a piece of paper! If We The People ever did this we would be spending many years in a federal prison. Unfortunately, they do not print enough currency to pay the interest so more pseudo-dollars must be borrowed to pay off the interest, resulting in an unpayable, ever-increasing debt.

This fraudulent "currency" system benefits not only bankers, but lawyers as well. As I have demonstrated in Whitman County, Washington, lawyers (members of the Bar Association) serve the Federal Reserve international Banksters, not We The People. The documentation that I have thus far accumulated reveals that Bar Association prosecutors and judges, and even the Attorney General and Governor (also Bar Association members), are co-conspirators with bankers to unlawfully attack and imprison people for bringing up the REAL MONEY issue. The evidence clearly indicates that there is a nationwide criminal conspiracy of bankers and lawyers to overthrow the United States of America. CLICK HERE to learn more about this criminal conspiracy.

Alan Greenspan, at the annual Dinner and Francis Boyer Lecture of The American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research on December 5, 1996 stated, "Augmenting concerns about the Federal Reserve is the perception that we are a secretive organization, operating behind closed doors, not always in the interests of the nation as a whole. This is regrettable, and we continuously strive to alter this misperception."

My research and findings will show otherwise. I will show how the Federal Reserve has confused the public, lied to them and stole their gold and silver.

According to Jacobson, The essence of psychological warfare is to confuse the meaning of words, and infiltrate the mind with conflicting concepts. Jacobson goes on to say that the use of the word Federal in the name federal Reserve leads the public to believe that the Federal Reserve is a government institution, when it is really a private corporation owned by foreign and domestic banks and operated for profit. The FED controls nation's money supply and interest rates, and thereby manipulates the entire economy, in violation of Article 1, Section 8 of the United States Constitution that expressly charges Congress with power to coin money and regulate the value thereof. Article 1, Section 10 of the constitution says: No State shall make any thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in payment of Debts.

Federal Express and Federal Ammunition Company both have the word federal in them but the public knows about them, they know they are not government agencies because they are not misled about the companies.

Over time, gold and silver coins were removed from our money supply and removed as backing for our paper currency and replaced with debt (or credit). Credit is only in our minds. It is an idea, not a thing. It is expressed by bookkeeping entries and computer symbols.

According to Jacobson, "The manipulation of words and their meaning is the key to controlling what people think. Traditional definitions are eliminated while new meanings are repeated over and over again until accepted."

The definition of dollar has changed to hide the fact that a dollar is not money, but a unit of measurement for gold and silver coin. Title 12 United States Code Section 152 says: "The terms lawful money or lawful money of the United States shall be construed to mean gold or silver coin of the United States." Title 31 United States Code, Section 5101 says: "The money of account of the United States shall be expressed in dollars."

Hundreds of years ago people would pay the local goldsmith to store their gold for them in his vault. He would then give them a receipt for the amount of gold that was stored. The receipt was not money, it was a money substitute. It was later common for people to use the receipts as payment for goods and services since they could be exchanged for the gold held in the vault at any time.

The goldsmith found out that only a small amount of the gold was ever claimed since people just kept exchanging the receipts. The goldsmith started writing receipts for more gold than he had, using some of the receipts to buy things and loaning the rest at interest, while taking title to real property as collateral. The gold for these extra receipts did not exist. By adding to the amount of receipts in circulation, the goldsmith stole from The People with the real receipts and decreased the value of the real gold receipts by creating inflation. The more of something there is, the less it is worth and more it takes to trade it for something else. Paper currency is a money substitute, it is not money. It is only valid when the number of paper currency equals the amount of real money that it is a substitute for. By manipulating the number of receipts in circulation, the goldsmith stole the wealth of the town without anyone figuring it out. By lowering the number of receipts, he could make money scarce, creating a depression where he could foreclose on the property and magnify his riches. He could then quicken economic activity and bring abundance by raising the number of receipts until his next rip off.

The World's economic problems started with issuing fraudulent receipts for gold that does not exist. This became standard procedure for the banking business.

The recent equivalent to the goldsmith's receipt for gold is the Federal Reserve Note. The word "Federal" implies Federal government, but the Federal Reserve is a privately owned corporation. The word "Reserve" implies that something gives the paper receipt value, but no gold or silver backs this paper. The word "Note" implies a contract, because legally a note must state who is paying, what is being paid, to whom and when.

Most people say something like, "I have a dollar bill". But what is a bill? A bill is a receipt of a debt owed by one person or company to another. Therefore, a "dollar bill" is a receipt (or bill) of debt of one dollar that is owed.

According to Jacobson, from 1914 to 1963, Federal Reserve Notes never claimed to be money, nor did they claim to be dollars. A note for five dollars read: "The United States of America will pay to the bearer on demand five dollars." How can a promise to pay five dollars be five dollars? To the left of the President's picture and above the bank seal, it said: "This note is legal tender for all debts public and private, and is redeemable in lawful money at the United States Treasury or at any Federal Reserve Bank." In 1963 the FED began to issue its first series of notes without the promise, while taking notes with the promise out of circulation. How can paper become what it promises by removing the promise? To the left of the President's picture and above the bank seal, it now read: "This note is legal tender for all debts public and private." A note is an IOU, it is proof of debt. It is not possible to pay off a debt with a debt. No debt can be paid in full unless paid in gold or silver, coined and regulated in value by Congress. The name "Federal Reserve Note" is a fraudulent label since each word claims to be something that in reality it is not. By removing the promise to redeem the note in lawful money, the Federal Government in cooperation with the Federal Reserve, eliminated the monetary system of the United States as established by the Constitution and replaced it with something totally different.

If you are holding a one dollar Federal Reserve Note, the question is, what is it one dollar of? The answer is absolutely nothing. The number one measures no substance. The only thing that gives paper money value is the confidence people have in it as is stated in chapter 30 of our textbook. Federal Reserve Notes are only accepted because people believe they have value. If the truth were ever found out, it would cause financial chaos because people would know they have no value.

There are only two economic systems. They are barter and credit. Barter is the trading of one thing of value for something else of value. A money system using gold and silver coin is a barter system. Throughout history, many different things have been used for bartering because money, in and of itself, does not exist. Something must be used as money. People have traded for goods and services using farm animals, large rocks, shells and crops.

Gold and silver have been used as money worldwide for thousands of years. All things used as money have had one thing in common, they were all tangible wealth. They were all things you could touch. They were all things you could weigh and measure. Credit, however, is intangible. You cannot touch credit. You cannot weigh and measure it because there is no substance to weigh and measure. It is all imagination, vaporware!

Credit is not wealth. No work is used in the creation of credit other than a bookkeeping entry. Hundreds of years ago, when the goldsmith issued his first receipt for gold that did not exist, he created credit and inflation, because credit and inflation are the same thing. They are both receipts for capital that does not exist. They are both an imaginary unit of exchange. When half of the receipts circulating as a money substitute are redeemable in gold, the other half of the receipts are both credit and inflation. When none of the receipts are redeemable, all of it is credit and inflation. Credit is inflation, therefore, the only cure for inflation is real, honest money.

A twenty dollar gold coin is twice as large, and twice as heavy as a ten dollar gold coin. A dollar is a unit of measurement for gold and silver coin to insure uniform weight, purity, and value. A dollar unit of paper money that is not redeemable in gold or silver coin is a dollar unit of inflation, which is a dollar unit of credit, which is a dollar unit of nothing.

The purpose of paper money that is not redeemable for gold or silver coin is to get things without paying for them. Those who issue and control paper money as credit get everything for nothing. The cost to the Federal Reserve for printing a "note" is about two cents, no matter what denomination is printed on it. Paper money as credit is used to take wealth using numbers where numbers of nothing are exchanged for things of substance and value. This grand theft occurs in full view unnoticed because the public has been made an accessory to the crime by accepting pieces of paper with numbers on them in place of lawful money, not knowing the difference between worthless "notes" and lawful money.

Oliver Ellsworth, the country's third Chief Justice of the Supreme Court said of paper money: "This is a favorable moment to shut and bar the door against paper money. The mischief of the various experiments which have been made are now fresh in the public mind and have excited the disgust of the respectable parts of America."

Roger Sherman, a delegate from Connecticut and author of the gold and silver coin provision of the constitution, wrote a condemnation of paper money entitled "A caveat Against Injustice" in which he said..."If what is used as a Medium of Exchange is fluctuating in its value it is no better than unjust weights and measures, both which are condemned by the laws of God and Man, and therefore the longest and most universal Custom could never make the Use of such a Medium either lawful or reasonable."

And so the framers of the Constitution specified a money system of gold and silver, to be coined and regulated in value by Congress and prohibited by the government from issuing paper money as stated in Article 1 sections 8 and 10 of the Constitution: "Congress shall have Power to coin money and regulate the value thereof. No State shall make anything but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts."

When Congress passed the Federal Reserve Act on December 23, 1913. Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr., father of the famous airman, told Congress after the vote, "When the President signs this act, the invisible government by the money power will be legalized." President Woodrow Wilson signed the act into law, turning over the money system of the country to a group of private bankers and allowed them to create money by making bookkeeping entries, loan it at interest, and take title to real property as collateral. Because of this, the citizens of the United States have lost control over their money system and their government. The banking system operates the same as the goldsmith that deceitfully issued receipts for more gold than was on deposit.

According to Jacobson, Federal Reserve Notes are evidence of debt the U.S. Government owes to the owners of the Federal Reserve the payment of which is guaranteed by the collateral of all property and income of all U.S. citizens. When the U.S. Government needs to borrow money, the Treasury creates a bond, and promises to pay a specified amount of money at a specified interest on a specified date. This bond is evidence of debt just as an I.O.U. is evidence of debt. This interest-bearing debt is the foundation for this nation's money supply and its payment is guaranteed by the collateral of all property and income of all U.S. citizens. The Federal Reserve "buys" this debt simply by making a bookkeeping entry for the amount and writing a check against no funds, and then converts it into paper currency and checkbook money.

The U.S. Bureau of Engraving prints the paper currency in whatever denominations ordered by the Federal Reserve and charges about two cents for each note, regardless of the denominations, which the Federal Reserve "pays for" by making another bookkeeping entry and writing another bad check. In effect the Federal Reserve lends the U. S. Government its own credit, our credit, and then charges interest on it. If the public does this, it is called kiting, which according to Webster's dictionary is defined as, "to use (a bad check) to get credit or money".

If a citizen does this they can be jailed or fined for it.

Every dollar created by the Federal Reserve System is debt for the citizens of the United States, which the central bank collects interest on, in addition to the interest from the bond created by the Treasury that put this magic money making machine in motion. The Federal Reserve inflates the amount of the bond in order to make even more loans of imaginary dollars and collect more interest on an investment that cost nothing. Under fractional reserve banking, the amount of money a bank can create is limited by the reserve ratio or fraction it is required to maintain. For example, when the reserve ratio is ten to one, a bank can create and loan ten dollars for each dollar held in reserve and charge interest on it. While the reserves of the goldsmith were gold, the reserves of the Federal Reserve is paper, nothing more than bookkeeping entries that are a record of debt.

The absurdity of the situation is that if there were no debts, there would be no money, since every dollar of paper currency and checkbook money is loaned into circulation. And, in order to pay the interest, there has to be another loan because the banking system only creates the principal and not the interest. In fact, the interest can never be paid because it is not possible to return to the bank more dollars than were created, making it inevitable that the Federal Reserve Banking System acquire title to all wealth in the nation. This is exactly what the Framers of the Constitution intended to prevent when they specified a money system of gold and silver coin and prohibited the government from issuing paper money, because a nation that uses money based on debt can never be free of debt.

Increasing the amount of currency and checkbook money increases inflation. Creating new dollars reduces the value of all dollars, resulting in higher prices. By manipulating the quantity of created dollars, the purchasing power of every dollar is altered. Depressions are the result of private bankers reducing the money supply by tightening credit and withdrawing currency, causing a drop in prices, unemployment and foreclosure of property. This is premeditated theft.

Thomas Jefferson warned against private banks when he said: "If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation and then by deflation, the banks and corporation that will grow up around them will deprive The People of all property until their children wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered."

By calling gold and silver "money", and then calling Federal Reserve Notes "money", the two blended together in the public's minds so that over time the difference between them was erased from The People's memories. A promise to pay money substituted for lawful money until the promise was removed. Exchanging paper currency is not a complete transaction until payment is made in gold or silver coin. Until then, it is both credit and debt a record of a specific amount of money to be paid or received.

Credit, a deferred payment and debt, a sum of money due, are the same thing. It is hidden by deceptive double-entry bookkeeping where a debt becomes an asset by calling it a credit. Paper money that redeems nothing only appears to have value because it can be exchanged for things of value. When a piece of paper representing debt is exchanged for wealth, someone has been robbed. Paper money transfers wealth from one person, then from another, then from another, and on and on until the last person will be stuck with it.

During the Great Depression people who had gold in the banks wanted the banks to honor their contract to redeem the paper currency for gold.. The fraudulent nature of fractional reserve banking was at risk of being exposed because there was not enough gold on deposit in the banks to redeem all Federal Reserve Notes issued promising payment in gold. That was when President Roosevelt declared a national emergency and closed the banking system for two days as recommended by the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Congress then passed the Emergency Banking Act declaring it illegal for U.S. citizens to own gold under penalty of up to a $10,000 fine and/or up to 10 years in prison. The People exchanged their gold and gold certificates for Federal Reserve Notes of created dollars based on debt, which stated a promise of redemption in lawful money.

Gold was now removed from the system leaving silver dollars as the only lawful money available. Silver was eventually eliminated from the money system, leaving the public with a totally scam money system of irredeemable paper currency and copper-nickel clad tokens that represent a debt owed to the owners of the Federal Reserve Banking System, the payment of which is guaranteed by the collateral of all property and income of all U.S. citizens.

According to Jacobson, when banks cannot honor their contract to redeem their notes for gold or silver coins, they are bankrupt. The contract between The People and the Federal Reserve printed on each bank note promising to pay in lawful money was invalidated because the system went bankrupt and because the amended version of the "Trading with the Enemy Act of 1917" placed all U.S. citizens in the category of enemy, and no contract is considered valid between enemies. American citizens were declared to be the enemy by their own government, for indeed they would be if The People ever discovered what had happened to their money.

Being unable to trade in wealth such as gold and silver coin enslaves The People to those who create and control what is being called money. All it took to rob the public was to convince people that paper and credit are money. The Federal Government and the Federal Reserve have the power to create unlimited amounts of credit because credit does not exist. It is not a tangible substance, but an idea represented by bookkeeping entries and computer symbols.

To pay means to deliver a tangible substance as money like gold and silver coin. Where there is no substance, there is no payment. There is only pretend payment. Banks do not really lend money, they only pretend to lend money. They put no money in a borrower's account. They only make bookkeeping entries that are reduced as the borrower writes checks against imagined deposits.

When the banks charge interest on a loan they do not make, banks impart psychological value to numbers of nothing. Charging interest sustains the illusion that banks loan something of value, when all they do is rent the appearance of money.

Three years after signing the Federal Reserve Act into law, President Woodrow Wilson made the following statement: "Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated governments in the civilized world--no longer a government by free opinion, no longer a government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a government by the opinion and duress of small groups of dominant men."

According to Jacobson, the Secretary of the Treasury is not the U.S. Secretary of the Treasury because the U.S. Treasury was bankrupted in 1933. The Secretary of the Treasury is not paid by the United States Government. The Secretary serves as U.S. Governor of the International Monetary Fund as receiver of the bankrupt United States, collecting the debt from U.S. citizens. According to Tom Rose, economics is the science of choice: the science, or study, of how man values alternative choices, and how he acts in implementing those choices in order to maximize his sense of well-being. This definition is somewhat broader than the dictionary definition of economics, that economics is "a social science concerned chiefly with description and analysis of production, distribution and consumption of goods and services."

He defines Biblical economics as what the Bible says about man. He says that we must always remember that God is the Author and Controller of all economic law, and that man's role is to discover and to apply God's law in the created universe. Tom Rose says that according to Leviticus 19:35-36 monetary inflation is immoral, whether it is effected by the government treasury's printing fiat money, or whether it is brought about by the central bank (Federal Reserve Bank) "validating" government deficits through sophisticated, hard to understand forms of credit creation. Monetary inflation, properly defined as the creation of new purchasing media (money), is immoral because it changes the measure of the monetary unit by debauching the currency that people use in their everyday transactions. Monetary inflation is what counterfeiters engage in when they create false money, and it is just as morally wrong for civil rulers to "legally" create false money as it is for counterfeiters to do it illegally. In short, it is a clear breaking of God's admonishment to maintain a system of just weights and measures.

Tom Rose says that The Federal Reserve Bank has provided the needed sleight-of-hand credit financing to involve us in every foreign war during the twentieth century. The net result of our getting involved in one foreign war after another has been a consequent steady decline in personal freedom; the growth of a highly centralized, bureaucratic and fascistic government; a horrendous rise in taxation; the planned destruction of the gold standard, which used to give some degree of protection to American citizens against an out-of-control, profligate, high-spending government in Washington, D.C.; and decades of planned monetary inflation which has brought the 1940 purchasing value of the dollar to less than 8 cents. Yes, 92 percent of the value of the 1940 dollar has evaporated as a result of the Federal Reserve's long-term monetary policy, which has quietly cooperated with the federal government to finance government deficits with Federal Reserve credit.

In conclusion, Alan Greenspan stated, "Augmenting concerns about the Federal Reserve is the perception that we are a secretive organization, operating behind closed doors, not always in the interests of the nation as a whole. This is regrettable, and we continuously strive to alter this misperception."

According to Jacobson, by using misleading words the Federal Reserve has misled the public. They have over time replaced our system of real money of gold and silver coin with worthless paper, which is against the law according to The Constitution. Tom Rose says that according to Leviticus 19:35-36 monetary inflation is immoral, because it is not an honest standard as God commands in Leviticus.

I think the only solution to this problem is to do away with the Federal Reserve and go back to the way it used to be and have our money system based on gold and silver coin. As Jacobson said, the only solution to the problem is honest money. Besides the economic issues I have mentioned in this paper, there are other good reasons to have our money system based on gold and silver coin. For one thing, there would be no more counterfeiters. The only reason people do that now is because paper is pretty worthless. But they print a value on it, and all of a sudden it's worth something. But you cannot counterfeit gold or silver. You cannot take an ounce of gold or silver and make it worth more than it is already worth. If you take an ounce of gold and stamp it into a US gold coin, it is worth no more than an ounce of gold. You can create paper money, just like The Federal Reserve does. But you cannot create gold or silver.

Another good reason for gold and silver coin is that it doesn't wear as bad as paper money does. Paper money is frequently replaced because it wears out so quickly. I have silver dollars over 130 years old and they are still in great shape. In a way, gold and silver never wear out because at the worst they will wear down the fine edges. When this happens, they can just be recycled again into new coins.

I think in this paper I have accomplished what I have set out to do, that being to describe the problems with The Federal Reserve and the money system and explain why I think these are problems today. I have proved how the American public was lied to and robbed of their gold and silver supply.

Article I, Section 10 of the United States' Constitution states: "No State shall...make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts." The United States' Constitution is the Supreme Law of the Land and this Law has never been amended.

Article I, Section 8 states: "The Congress shall have Power...to coin Money". Notice that it states "coin" not "print". Anyone who reads James Madison's notes of the Constitutional Convention, The Federalist Papers, etc. will find that one of the purposes of the Constitutional Convention was to do away with paper money--entirely! Thus for the first 72 years from the founding of our nation the United States' Government only minted gold and silver COINS for money.

"It is apparent from the whole context of the Constitution as well as the history of the times which gave birth to it, that it was the purpose of the Convention to establish a currency consisting of the precious metals. These were adopted by a permanent rule excluding the use of a perishable medium of exchange, such as of certain agricultural commodities recognized by the statutes of some States as tender for debts, or the still more pernicious expedient of paper currency." [President Andrew Jackson, 8th Annual Message to Congress, December 5, 1836]

"The Central Bank is an institution of the most deadly hostility existing against the principles and form of our Constitution. I am an enemy to all banks, discounting bills or notes for anything but coin. If the American people allow private banks to control the issuance of their currency, first by inflation and then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around them will deprive The People of all their property until their children will wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered." [Thomas Jefferson]

The nightmare that Thomas Jefferson predicted became painfully real during the Great Depression when the international Banksters caused the foreclosure of untold numbers of homes, farms and businesses. As the national debt moves exponentially upwards, it appears that we are heading for another economic upheaval. CLICK HERE for an update on the economy.

Appendix 4: Mark Of The Beast Or Religious Manipulation?

Anyone can obtain an official letter from the Social Security Administration stating that the IRS has jurisdiction over the Social Security Administration. The IRS is merely a corporation used to turn over the labor and possessions of Americans to the international bankers who own the Federal Reserve. The corporation known as the Social Security Administration is not even based in Washington, DC. It is based in Baltimore, Maryland and it does not even have government franking privileges.

Currently, in the United States you cannot get a job, bank account, insurance, driver's license, hunting or fishing license without a Social Security Number. In other words, you cannot make a living, travel, buy or sell without this number. Chapter 13 of Revelations states that the Mark of the Beast is a number without which one cannot buy or sell. Is this the "mark of the beast" or religious manipulation on the part of the powers that be?

During the Constitutional Convention the delegates used the words "emit bills of credit" to refer to the issuance of paper (debt-based) currency. The framers of the Constitution were so adamant about prohibiting the printing of paper currency that one of the delegates, George Reed of Delaware, exclaimed that if they put the words "emit bills of credit" in the Constitution it would be "as alarming as the mark of the beast in Revelation!"

CLICK HERE for more information on this subject in the article entitled "Mark of the Beast by the American Bar Association?"

Appendix 5: What Can I Do About It?

1. GET EDUCATED: The first thing anyone can do and should do is to educate oneself on the subject. The book ECONOMIC SOLUTIONS is a good place to start. Another source is A PLEA FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES by George Bancroft. Another highly-recommended book on the subject of the Federal Reserve is THE CREATURE FROM JEKYLL ISLAND by G. Edward Griffin.

2. There are some great videos that educate people about the Federal Reserve Fraud and the international bankers plan for a cashless society. Many people today would rather watch a movie than read a book. CLICK HERE for free video documentation of the Federal Reserve Fraud and other related subjects.

3. Start using US-minted coins as much as you can to buy goods and services because they are not part of the Federal Reserve system. Nickel-Copper coins are okay but gold and silver coins are much better. Remember what Andrew Williams, a spokesman for the Federal Reserve in Washington, D.C. said about Federal Reserve notes:

"There is no law that says goods and services must be paid for with Federal Reserve notes. Parties entering into a transaction can establish any medium of exchange that is agreed upon."

"In a time of universal deceit, telling the truth becomes a revolutionary act." George Orwell

The author of the above article was Lanny Messinger, the original webmaster for this website, who is now retired.

Financial Health Of The Nation (Part One): The Federal Reserve Bailouts

<http://www.healthfreedom.info/SHFN%20Newsletter%20Feb%202015,%202009.htm>

Financial Health Of The Nation (Part Two): Is There Gold In Fort Knox?

<http://www.healthfreedom.info/SHFN%20Newsletter%20June%204,%202009.htm>

Financial Health Of The Nation (Part Three): The Bilderberg Group

<http://www.healthfreedom.info/SHFN%20Newsletter%20June%2018,%202009.htm>

{Please email the link to this page to as many people as you can. This article may be reproduced and distributed only under the conditions 1) that it be free of charge; 2) that it be reproduced in its entirety without any alterations whatsoever; and 3) that anyone wishing to post this article on a website must first obtain permission from Webmaster@HealthFreedom.info and 4) include a link to <http://www.HealthFreedom.info>. Thank you!}

Appendix 6: Marketwatch Article Exposes The Goldman-Sachs Banksters Conspiracy

Goldman is the tip of the Banksters iceberg of Frauds.....

<http://www.marketwatch.com/story/goldman-conspiracy-must-kill-bank-reform-2010-05-04>

PAUL B. FARRELL

May 4, 2010, 12:01 a.m. EDT

6 reasons 'Goldman Conspiracy' must kill reforms

Derivatives-bonus culture needs neo-Reaganomics resurgence to survive

View all Paul B. Farrell >

Six investing rules for a worst-case scenario

Exxon Valdez and the birth of credit default swaps

Story COMMENTS SCREENER \(3\)

By Paul B. Farrell, MarketWatch

ARROYO GRANDE, Calif. (MarketWatch) -- Remember Nietzsche? "God is dead." Let's translate that 19th century Germanic philosophy into modern economics. In Adam Smith's 1776 capitalism, God was the Invisible Hand, a mysterious force running the economy from the shadows.

Flash forward to 2010: Capitalism is dead. The economy has a new Invisible Hand, the Goldman Conspiracy of Wall Street bankers.

Advisers face fallout over Goldman issues

Regulatory concerns surrounding the recent Goldman Sachs hearings leave financial advisers with some explaining to do. Steve Stahler, an independent adviser and President of The Stahler Group, explains how advisers can go about having these difficult conversations with clients.

This transfer of power happened suddenly. As recently as late 2008 the Invisible Hand was on life support, near death. Suddenly, miraculously the Treasury secretary, Goldman's former CEO, transferred the power into a new Invisible Hand of God, the free-market ideology of Reaganomics ... a power absolutely essential to the survival of Wall Street's mega-bonus culture.

Yes, that's why the Goldman Conspiracy must kill financial reforms ... why they will kill effective reform with the backroom support of Obama and Dodd. This was predicted back in late 2008, even before the bailouts, back when we thought Reaganomics dead. "Shock Doctrine" author Naomi Klein warned:

"Free market ideology has always been a servant to the interests of capital ... During boom times it's profitable to preach laissez faire, because an absentee government allows speculative bubbles ... When those bubbles burst, the ideology becomes a hindrance and goes dormant while big government rides to the rescue," then a neo-Reaganomics "ideology will come roaring back when the bailouts are done. The massive debts the public is accumulating to bail out the speculators will then become part of a global budget crisis," setting up a new bubble, bigger meltdown, and the Great Depression 2 the world narrowly avoided in 2008.

America's now at a historic turning point. If the Goldman Conspiracy succeeds in killing reform, another collapse is guaranteed, soon. Listen to Time magazine's Stephen Gandel:

"Of all the causes of the financial crisis, one of the biggest was a power shift on Wall Street that left the traders in charge and The Bankers who had traditionally run everything from Broad Street to Maiden Lane sidelined. Years ago, the investment world and its professionals believed in long-term relationships. That meant nurturing the economy and the companies and people in it." Yes, that was the culture when I was with Morgan Stanley back in the '70s.

But "two decades of cheap money, though, helped turn the Street over to the traders. That led to a very different way of doing business." Gandel captures Wall Street's new culture in one powerful quote: "With a trader, the goal of every minute of every day is to make money ... So if running the economy off the cliff makes you money, you will do it, and you will do it every day of every week."

Wall Street's culture is without a conscience, reveling in $100 million profit days. Traders act like cocaine addicts.

Their brains have warped Wall Street's ethics so badly they can't think of anything but bonuses. They've lost their moral compass.

The 6 reasons Obama/Dodd helping Wall Street kill financial reforms

In this context, the Goldman Conspiracy's goals are very simple as they manipulate Congress and the president to protect their warped culture:

1. No Fed audits, no transparency, no matter how much money the Fed prints for the banks
2. A toothless Consumer Protection Agency
3. Wall Street must continue controlling rating agencies
4. Unregulated proprietary trading of derivatives with loopholes for corporate derivatives
5. No new Glass-Steagall laws to prevent Wall Street from trading with customers' deposits
6. And taxpayers must remain liable for future bailouts over $50 billion up to unlimited sums even greater than the recent $23.7 trillion the Fed and Treasury handed out.

Bottom line: The Goldman Conspiracy must kill any real financial reform. Why? The Goldman Conspiracy cannot generate huge bonuses without their new Invisible Hand; the resurrection of unregulated neo-Reaganomics allowing traders to keep gambling in the lucrative $670 trillion global derivatives shadow banking casino.

There's a super-power ideology driving this new Invisible Hand, the neo-Reaganomics that the Conspiracy's lobby is pushing as a substitute for real reform. The principles of their neo-Reaganomics are simple, three ideologies evolved since Reagan's election.

Former Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan's guru Ayn Rand: "When I say capitalism, I mean a pure, uncontrolled, unregulated laissez-faire capitalism, with a separation of economics, in the same way and for the same reasons as a separation of state and church." This ideology guided the world's monetary policy 18 years.

Nobel economist Milton Friedman taught President Reagan "government is the problem." Democracy changed too slowly for him. Klein tells us Friedman believed that "only a great rupture, a flood, a war, a terrorist attack, can create the vast, clean canvases they crave ... to begin remaking the nation" using the tools of "privatization, government deregulation and deep cuts in social spending."

The current resurgence of Reaganomics is all part of the Goldman Conspiracy's takeover of America. But what's most alarming in their efforts to kill reforms is the new form of government. What they want goes beyond a plutocracy of the rich. Goldman Conspiracy is creating an Orwellian world that resembles the 14 traits of totalitarianism outlined by Laurence Britt in Free Inquiry, an article that's become the single most downloaded article in that magazine.

We first reviewed the 14 traits prior to the 2008 election in "Wall Street's 'Disaster Capitalism for Dummies'." Since then this trend has rapidly spread across America.

With this trend, the Conspiracy has crossed a dangerous line. Their lobbying efforts make clear they no longer have to pretend America is a democracy.

I do not like what Wall Street's doing to our freedoms. Years ago I was an investment banker with Morgan Stanley. I'm a patriot, a Marine veteran, volunteered for Korea. I see the Goldman Conspiracy not only killing Adam Smith's capitalism but also democracy and substituting itself as the new Invisible Hand of God running the economy ... and the government.

14 traits of the Conspiracy's emerging new American government

Britt's historical analysis of totalitarian governments revealed 14 shared traits that are now emerging in this resurgent neo-Reaganomics ideology. As you read these 14 traits that Britt wrote just five years ago in Free Inquiry magazine imagine their impact on your retirement and your children's future under the Goldman Conspiracy's rule, without real reforms. Imagine later, after the next meltdown that Wall Street will trigger:

1. The rich get first priority: laws, tax breaks, favorable regulations
2. Labor and low wages: stagnant for decades, while CEOs skyrocket
3. National security obsession: same paranoia shorts domestic programs
4. Superpower with huge military: war gets 54% of America's budget
5. Extreme nationalism: ego-driven need to feel superior when threaten
6. Demonize "enemies:" manipulates public, tightens central control
7. Corruption and cronyism: the rich get richer with unlimited authority
8. Obsession with crime: psychological projection of guilt onto "them"
9. Contempt for human rights: democratic protections hinder leaders
10. Fraudulent elections: Supreme Court approves political rule by rich
11. Mass media manipulation: new Orwellian world, ends justify means
12. Obsession with sexism: ideologies dictate constitutional freedoms
13. Disdain for intellectuals: Palin, Joe the Plumber replace Bill Buckley
14. Religion in government: anti-science ideologues guide public policy

Yes, officially America is still a democracy. We still have enough rituals to support the illusion. But the truth is, America has become a plutocracy run by and for the wealthy. Now the rich are running a new trickle-down political economy dispensing leftovers as they rule America through lobbyist megabucks siphoned from taxpayers and congressional puppets ... all the signs of the new totalitarianism government that most Americans are in denial of even as the Conspiracy flagrantly pushes this agenda.

It's crucial you see the logical outcome of Goldman Conspiracy's agenda as they keep spending upwards of $400 million on lobbyists to kill financial reforms. They want to destroy Adam Smith's original Invisible Hand of Capitalism. They are blindly obsessed with the new Invisible Hand of Reaganomics that grants economic immortality to Wall Street's too-greedy-to-fail banks, a position that even Ronald Reagan would reject.

Why? Because the Goldman Conspiracy is destroying not just America's economic position as the world's super-power but our moral leadership in the world.

The Goldman Conspiracy's destiny is to blow a new bigger bubble, trigger a new bigger meltdown, and finally drive America into the second Great Depression we dodged twice before.

These guys have no conscience, so be warned. If the financial reforms are as dead as already being widely reported, then the Goldman Conspiracy has won and you should prepare for a repeat of 1929 and the 1930s Depression in the near future.

Additional material:

Note: US has the lowest rate of inflation in the World because of the Dollar's status as a World Reserve currency, i.e. it exports inflation.

Watch this first: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NOzR3UAYXao&feature=player_embedded#!

The above video explains a bit the following:

1/3 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=G8RhMJ3xkQ&NR=1>

2/3 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Qo4BAOZGvxU&feature=related>

3/3 http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GXwur_hdbu4&feature=related

WhereIsTruth — November 22, 2009 — Why a worldwide economic collapse with hyperinflation leading to a great depression is coming. "Into the street...they will throw their very silver, and an abhorrent thing their own gold will become. Neither their silver nor their gold will be able to deliver them in the day of Yahweh's Fury. Their souls they will not satisfy and their intestines they will not fill, for it has become a stumbling block causing their error."

Ezekiel 7:19

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=67tzx-Hu72s&feature=fvw>

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Qo4BAOZGvxU&feature=related>

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UuCgxDbOggM&feature=related>

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Xsslma1nfDk&feature=related>

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VaY8k88dYuA&feature=related>

June 3, 2010

Dear C4L Member,

We usually don't send you joke emails.

But this video, which explains the world financial crisis in 3 minutes, is well worth your time.

Click the screen shot below to view this sad, but funny video.

<http://paracom.paramountcommunication.com/ct/4285309:6391216665:m:1:188845114:8115E618A9C387DB40A5CB6E675AF098>

As the national debt officially crosses the $13 trillion dollar mark, it's more important than ever to Audit the Fed, find out what is being done with our dollars, and restore sound money to strengthen our economy. Unlike the countries named in this video, Campaign for Liberty cannot just print money out of thin air.

In Liberty,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "John Tate".

John Tate, President

Appendix 7: Explanation on How the Federal Reserve based Banking System is a Usury Ponzi Scheme Set to Fail

The Federal Reserve uses euphemistic smoke and mirrors to obscure their operations. With full knowledge the following is not the way the Fed/government describes the system, allow me to offer a different analysis of their mathematical operation.

Congress can pay for federal expenses with funds collected from taxes, but Congress is never satisfied with this amount. The desire to buy votes/campaign contributions from special interest groups induces congress-critters to spend more, and this is identified as deficit spending. To create this make-believe money requires the assistance of the Federal Reserve.

Congress will give the Fed a security (bill, bond, or note) and the Fed will accept the document as an asset of one of the twelve FR Banks. The Fed will then establish a line of credit for the U.S. government for the same amount and list the liability as Federal Reserve Notes. Presto !! Fiat money has just been created for Congress to spend. Ref: 2009 Annual Report to Congress by the Board of Governors, page 448.

<http://www.federalreserve.gov/boarddocs/rptcongress/annual09/pdf/ar09.pdf> . The accumulated securities that are not redeemed add up to the national debt.

The fiat money is identified as a legal tender. A “legal tender” is something that is required by law to be accepted as payment for a debt---it is compelled satisfaction for, but not payment of, the debt.

The public debt is now over $13 trillion, or over $40,000 for every man, woman, and child in the U.S. The value is $200,000 per person if the unfounded debt is included. Through no action of his own, or even an opportunity to reject the imposition, every resident of the United States has become obligated for a debt---for life---that cannot be relieved. It is manifestly clear that an obligation of $40,000 can only be visualized as an unrestricted claim on the future earnings of the citizenry. The citizen has been reduced to an indentured servant, or slave, compelled to work for the company store and still face an ever increasing amount of debt. There is no possible relief. If the earnings of a citizen are properly subject to confiscation by taxation, the government can take the entirety and return what pittance Congress in their largess may bestow. A nation of sovereign people has been reduced to peonage.

If the Fed retained all of the securities, the public would quickly complain that interest payments (approximately $400 billion annually) are of no benefit and the inflationary pressure would also be obvious. The Fed therefore wants to sell a major portion of the securities so it has arranged with the Treasury department to act as auctioneer for selling to the Primary Dealers. The PD submit sealed bids. Since the security has a fixed face value and interest rate, the higher the bid, the lower the interest rate for the buyer.

The Primary Dealers are branches of the huge international banks/finance centers. Seven Wall Street agencies include Bank of America, Citigroup, J.P. Morgan, Morgan Stanley, Goldman, Jefferies, and Fitzgerald. Foreign agencies of Barclays, HSBC, Credit Suisse, UBS, Deutsche, BNP Paribas, RBS, Daiwa, Mizuho, Nomura, and RBC of Canada are also included. Whether these are the entities that Bloomberg is attempting to identify by FOIA as recipients of bail-out funds that is now in the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals remains to be seen.

The Fed recently obtained $700 billion bailout funds. It begged Congress, on actual bended knee, for money and Congress gave them $700 billion in securities and the Fed swapped the securities to GSE/international bankers for toxic MBS's. The Annual Report lists Assets of $776 billion securities and $908 billion Government Sponsored Enterprise Mortgage Backed securities out of $2.2 trillion total assets. Whether the bailout money was a quid pro quo with the PD to avoid lawsuits for fraud is beyond the scope of this writing. The Mafia does not lightly tolerate transgression. The continued mutual benefit of programs, paid for by taxpayers, should evidence Wall Street and the Fed/international bankers constitutes a Siamese twin.

The touted concept that the Treasury's auction is used to obtain money for Congress to spend is a cleverly designed disinformation. How can the government sell trillions of dollars of securities if the money is not already in circulation? Such a methodology cannot conceivably create fiat money in the hands of citizens to buy the securities to fund Congress. The initial beneficiary of the securities must be Congress---not the people.

The math is going to get more detailed. If the Fed sold all of the securities at face value, there would be no money left in circulation. The money that was created by the securities would all be taken out of circulation and returned to the vaults of the Fed. The operation is identical to the FOMC selling or buying of securities to alter the amount of money in circulation.

The value of any securities not sold by the Fed is still in circulation and becomes the Reserves for commercial banks. The Reserves (known as base money) are then multiplied via loans from commercial banks utilizing the fractional reserve practice. The Fed currently holds about $750 billion of $12.5 trillion issued securities. Ref. http://www.fms.treas.gov/bulletin/b2009_3.pdf. Chart OFS-1.

Observe that the amount of money created by the security is the amount of the principal but the amount promised to be repaid is the principal AND the interest. The interest is never created but payment is required by the agreement. It is impossible. The linear expansion of base money via fractional reserves to create commercial loans does not change this. If, hypothetically, all money in circulation was used to pay off the securities issued by Congress, all bank reserves would be wiped out and the commercial loans would collapse---and every dollar of interest accumulated from day one would still be outstanding---but there would be no money outside of the Fed's vaults to pay it.

The debt created by usury based sovereign debt is perpetual; it can never be paid off. The contract cannot be culminated. Any contract that cannot be culminated is an act of fraud. A contract based upon fraud is invalid from its inception. It would appear the national debt is not legally enforceable. (A debt incurred by a state or municipality is not a sovereign debt as used in this analysis. Such a debt is akin to a commercial loan and is completely repayable.)

There is more skullduggery involved. Let us assume a newly established sovereign nation is setting up a usury based economy with the issuance of 100 unit securities, a five year maturity, and an annual interest rate of 20 percent over a span of five years. The identifications of Congress and the Fed will be used to convey the images.

Upon the issuance of the first security, Congress has 100 units to spend. At the end of the year, Congress/Treasury has to pay 20 units to the Fed for interest. If the nation had to pay off the security at the end of the first year, the bankruptcy is obvious. There have never been 120 units created. Twenty units could be removed from society but that would leave only 80 units in circulation, cause great financial hardships, and still leave an impossible obligation to redeem a 100 unit security. The solution is to put off the interest payment until the next issue of security for the second year. The interest is paid from the principal created by the second issue.

During the second year there are 200 units in circulation but the actual rate of interest on the second issue is not 20 percent. Since 20 units had to be paid to the security holders, congress only received 180 units to spend ($100 + 80$) but they are committed to pay 40 units of interest on the security at the end of the second year. The interest rate of 40 divided by 180 is 22.2 percent. Considering the second year alone, the interest is 20 divided by 80 or 25 percent.

When the security for the third year is issued, the interest of 40 units for the first two years securities will not be available for congress. Congress will receive only 60 units for public projects but will have to pay 20 units interest at the end of the year. The 240 units received by congress ($100 + 80 + 60$) will require 60 units of interest at the end of the third year. The cumulative interest rate (60 divided by 240) is 25 percent. The interest rate for the third year alone (20 divided by 60) is 33.3 percent.

At the start of the fourth year, the security will have to cover the interest charge for the three prior years of 60 units. Congress will receive 40 units for government spending. The 280 units received by congress ($100 + 80 + 60 + 40$) will demand 80 units of interest at the end of the fourth year. The cumulative interest rate (80 divided by 280) is 28.5 percent. The interest rate for the fourth year alone (20 divided by 40) is 50 percent.

The security issued for the fifth year will pay the 80-unit interest for the prior four years. Congress will have 20 units to splurge. The 300 units received by congress ($100 + 80 + 60 + 40 + 20$) will require 100 units of interest at the end of the fifth year. The cumulative interest rate (100 divided by 300) is 33.3 percent. The interest rate for the fifth year alone (20 units received--20 units in interest) is 100 percent.

At the beginning of the fifth year, 500 units of indebtedness have been issued on the full faith and credit of the nation for securities that must be eventually redeemed. 300 units have been available to congress for spending. 200 units have been given to the Fed as interest and another 100 units in interest will be due the security holders at the end of the fifth year.

In addition, 100 units must be found to redeem the maturing security issued the first year. This factor alone makes it obvious that more debt must be incurred to continue the scheme.

Beginning the first day into the sixth year (with no new securities being issued), after paying the 100 units of interest for the fifth year and redeeming the 100 unit security issued the first year, the 300 units that had been available to Congress (over the years) has been reduced to 100 units net gain. In the meantime, the Fed or security holders have collected 300 units in interest, gained 100 units in the redeemed security for the first year, and still have a claim on the citizenry for 400 units of outstanding securities that will accumulate an additional 200 units of interest before redemption---a grand total of 1000 units. And there was no initial investment (consideration) put at risk by the Fed.

The inescapable whirlpool of usury debt can only avoid obvious default by increasing the value of future securities. Increasing the value of issued securities merely postpones the inevitable result.

A high rate of interest has been selected for the example to minimize repetitive calculations. A ten percent interest rate will consume 100 percent of the security value in ten years; a five percent interest rate will take twenty years. Lower rates of interest merely require more years to reach the same inherent bankruptcy. (Actually, bankruptcy occurs the first year, but then again, since the debt can never be paid off, the entire scheme is based upon fraud. A contract based upon fraud is void from its inception.)

An economic scheme that utilizes later investors to pay the interest due earlier investors is identified as a Ponzi scheme. This is precisely the scheme that has been presented above. The scheme will survive only as long as more principal is generated to pay the interest. This action only postpones the ultimate time of a much larger reckoning. If purchasers of the new debt cannot be found, the interest must be paid from previously generated principal and the scheme quickly collapses like any Ponzi scheme. Astute investors will demand a higher rate of interest than inflation (resulting from the creation of new principal) or they will suffer a loss of actual wealth. The increase in interest will always be greater than the increase in principal because of compounding effects; i.e., the more the principal increases, the more the interest increases.

[Current economic conditions find entities with surplus funds buying short-term securities at near zero interest rates to minimize the potential loss of value during a chaotic stock market. The drop in short-term interest rates corresponds with the movement of funds out of the equity markets. Low interest Federal Fund rate for banks was provided to boost the economy as the housing bubble imploded (from easily available over-sized loans) and threatened the collapse of the banking industry.

However, recent auctions have found Primary Dealers bidding such low prices on long term securities (which would have raised the interest rates) that the Fed ate more than 50 percent of the auction (by slipping in shill bids) to keep the interest rate artificially low. The Fed usually purchases 5 to 10 percent of an issue. The PD would have taken a haircut from anticipated inflation if they had accepted a low interest rate on long-term securities with a high bid. On the other hand, the bond market could crash if the Fed had allowed interest rates to escalate. People remember what high interest rates did in the 80's. The Fed is trying to manipulate / control the market and the gyrations are increasingly wilder. Bill Fleckenstein in GREENSPAN'S BUBBLES writes of how the Fed suppressed federal funds interest rates to create a false prosperity that devastated the construction industry.

A newspaper article a couple of years ago informed us the annual increase in interest to be 15 percent while the budget only grew 7 percent. More recently the deficit has been increasing much faster to fund/conceal the rapid growth in interest requirement. Professor Bob Blain, Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville has graphed the exponential growth in debt from 1915 to be irregular only during the 1930's. It was that period when the Fed repeatedly made reserve calls on the banks to force gold certificates and gold coins out of circulation---which repeatedly deepened the recession. This was followed by the U.S. being manipulated into WW II by Wall Street and flooding the economy with fiat Federal Reserve Notes. The future will see ever-increasing demands for debt---and interest---and war is the cause celebre. Ref. JFK, AND THE UNSPEAKABLE by James Douglas.

In 1790 during Congress' consideration of Alexander Hamilton's proposal to pay the national debt with a usury based obligation placed upon the citizens, congressman James Jackson, after lengthy reflection on the devastation similar plans had imposed on European countries and cities, included the following observations to Congress:

"Let us take warning by the errors of Europe, and guard against the introduction of a system followed by calamities so universal...The funding of the debt will occasion enormous taxes for the payment of the interest...(such a system) must hereafter settle upon our posterity a burthen (sic) which they can neither bear nor relieve themselves from." Ref. ANNALS OF CONGRESS, Vol. 1, 1790, pp. 1141-2.

In actual practice within the United States, a collection of taxes for part of the government spending is well known. Payment of part of the government expenses by taxation does not alter the government's usury program; for analytical analysis, they can stand alone. The current pattern of increasingly larger deficit spending is the escalation as the climax of chaos beyond description approaches.

References:

Dr. Bob Blain, Emeritus Professor of Sociology at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, in a published paper "Revisiting U.S. Public and Private Debt" released in 2008 observes the exponential increase in national debt from 1915 and the destruction inflicted upon historical societies by usury based monetary systems.

Benjamin Ginsberg, in FATAL EMBRACE documented historic occasions in which a usury debt based economic system (but not so identified) resulted in the "financiers" facing public fury including deportation, confiscation of estates, and physical harm to the individuals involved.

BILL FLECKENSTEIN in GREENSPAN'S BUBBLES; THE AGE OF IGNORANCE AT THE FEDERAL RESERVE writes of how the Fed suppressed Federal Fund interest rates to create a false prosperity that devastated the economy for 20 years and destroyed the home construction industry.

THIS TIME IS DIFFERENT; EIGHT CENTURIES OF FINANCIAL FOLLY written by Carmen Reinhart & Ken Rogoff reviews defaults as seen by an economist speaking to the International Monetary Fund/World Bank.

The American Matrix: Age of Deception Part 11,199 views ReverseCoInTelPro

Appendix 8: Quotes on How The Bankers own the Earth through their legalized counterfeiting operations

-  Federal-Reserve-Act-of-1913.pdf, 2.5 MB
-  PRESIDENT KENNEDY & EXECUTIVE ORDER 11110 vs. THE FEDERAL RESERVE.pdf, 25 KB
-  SECRETS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE \(book\).txt, 506 KB
-  US Senate Correspondent Banking report.pdf, 305 KB
-  The-Real-Story-of-the-MoneyControl-Over-America.pdf, 108 KB
-  The-Bankers-Own-The-Earth.pdf, 158 KB
-
- www.geocities.com/jyrilina/english/scorpion.html
-
-  Juri Lina Under the Sign of the Scorpion.pdf (2.42MB) Number of downloads: 2283
-
- www.geocities.com/jyrilina/english/deception.html
-
-  Juri Lina Architects of Deception.pdf (4.39MB) Number of downloads: 538

Today's Capitalism is organized crime. It has nothing to do with "free markets" and everything to do with illegitimate debt-slavery and captive usury markets. It is by design that the rich get richer and the poor get poorer, not by accident. Capitalism is a fundamentally bankrupt and broken concept that must be replaced by an entirely new ethic based on the principles of fair trade and economic justice. The only reason the current parasitic economic model is able to persist is because 99% of the population is economically illiterate and does not comprehend how the money system operates to enslave them. Money is Not Freedom. Money is Control. Money never truly belongs to any lone individual and it is in fact a shared social communal resource that is an essential part of the basis for forming a community. The custodianship of money is a sacred trust that we must always honor and protect to the full extent of our ability.

"Government is not reason; it is not eloquence; it is force! Like fire, it is a dangerous servant and a fearful master." - George Washington

"I am convinced that those societies [such as the Native American peoples] which live without government enjoy in their general mass an infinitely greater degree of happiness than those who live under the European governments. Among the former, public opinion is in the place of law, and restrains morals as powerfully as laws ever did anywhere. Among the latter, under pretence of governing they have divided their nations into two classes, wolves and sheep. I do not exaggerate." - Thomas Jefferson

"The modern theory of the perpetuation of debt has drenched the earth with blood, and crushed its inhabitants under burdens ever accumulating." - Thomas Jefferson

"I hope we shall crush in its birth the aristocracy of our moneyed corporations, which dare already to challenge our government to a trial of strength and bid defiance to the laws of our country."- Thomas Jefferson, in a letter to George Logan, November 12, 1816

"I sincerely believe that banking institutions having the issuing power of money, are more dangerous to our liberty than standing armies. Already they have raised up a moneyed aristocracy that has set the government at defiance. The issuing power [of money] should be taken away from the banks and restored to the people to whom it properly belongs."- Thomas Jefferson

"The system of banking we have both equally and ever reprobated. I contemplate it as a blot left in all our constitutions, which, if not covered, will end in their destruction. I sincerely believe, with you...that the principle of spending money to be paid by posterity, under the name of funding, is but swindling futurity on a large scale."- Thomas Jefferson

"To take a single step beyond the boundaries thus specially drawn around the powers of Congress is to take possession of a boundless field of power, no longer susceptible of any definition. The incorporation of a bank, and the powers assumed by this bill (chartering the first Bank of the United States) have not, in my opinion, been delegated to the United States by the Constitution. They are not among the powers specially enumerated."- Thomas Jefferson

"I wish it were possible to obtain a single amendment to our Constitution – taking from the Federal Government their power of borrowing [from privately-owned corporate banks]." - Thomas Jefferson, 1798

"We are undone, my dear sir, if legislation is still permitted which makes our money, much or little, real or imaginary, as the moneyed interests shall choose to make it."- Thomas Jefferson

"All the perplexities, confusions, and distresses in America arise, not from defects in the Constitution or confederation, not from want of honor or virtue, as much as from downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit, and circulation."- John Adams

"Liberty cannot be preserved without a general knowledge among the people, who have a right...and a desire to know; but besides this, they have a right, an indisputable, unalienable, indefeasible, divine right to that most dreaded and envied kind of knowledge, I mean of the characters and conduct of their rulers."- John Adams

"There are two ways to conquer and enslave a nation. One is by the sword, the other is by debt."- John Adams

"History records that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments by controlling money and its issuance." - James Madison

"Permit me to issue and control the money of a nation and I care not who writes the laws." - Mayer Amschel Rothschild, founder of the Rothschild international banking dynasty, 1790

"The rich will strive to establish their dominion and enslave the rest. They always did...they always will. They will have the same effect here as elsewhere, if we do not, by the power of government, keep them in their proper spheres." - Gouvernor Morris, head of the committee that wrote the final draft of the U.S. Constitution

"A nation of well informed men who have been taught to know and prize the rights which God has given them cannot be enslaved. It is in the region of ignorance that tyranny begins." - Benjamin Franklin

"You see, a legitimate government can both spend and lend money into circulation, while banks can only lend significant amounts of their promissory bank notes, for they can neither give away nor spend but a tiny fraction of the money the people need. Thus, when your bankers here in England place money in circulation, there is always a debt principal to be returned and usury to be paid. The result is that you have always too little credit in circulation to give the workers full employment. You do not have too many workers, you have too little money in circulation, and that which circulates, all bears the endless burden of unpayable debt and usury." - Benjamin Franklin, speaking at the London Parliament

"In the colonies, we issue our own money. It is called 'Colonial Scrip'. We issue it in proper proportion to the demands of trade and industry to make the goods pass easily from the producers to the consumers. In this manner, creating for ourselves our own paper money, we control its purchasing power and we have no interest to pay to anyone." - Benjamin Franklin, speaking at the London Parliament

"The colonies would gladly have borne the little tax on tea and other matters, had it not been that England took away from the colonies their money, which created great unemployment and dissatisfaction. Within a year, the poor houses were filled. The hungry and homeless walked the streets everywhere. The inability of the colonists to get power to issue their own money permanently out of the hands of George III and the International Bankers was the Prime Reason for the Revolutionary War." - Benjamin Franklin, as quoted from his autobiography

"The refusal of George III to allow the colonies to operate an honest money system, which freed the ordinary man from the clutches of the money manipulators, was probably the Prime Cause of the Revolution." - Benjamin Franklin

"Unless you become more watchful in your states and check this spirit of monopoly and thirst for exclusive privileges, you will in the end find that the most important powers of government have been given or bartered away, and the control of your dearest interests have been passed into the hands of these corporations." - Andrew Jackson

"If congress has the right under the Constitution to issue paper money, it was given them to use themselves, not to be delegated to individuals or corporations." - Andrew Jackson

"You [International Bankers] are a den of vipers and thieves. I intend to rout you out, and by the Eternal God, I will rout you out. If the American people only understood the rank injustice of our money and banking system, there would be a revolution before morning." - Andrew Jackson, in an address to Congress, 1829

"The bold effort the present bank has made to control the Government, the distress it has wantonly produced...are but premonitions of the fate that awaits the American People should they be deluded into a perpetuation of this institution (The Bank of the United States), or the establishment of another like it." - Andrew Jackson

"[A central bank] controlling our currency, receiving our public monies, and holding thousands of our citizens in dependence, it would be more formidable and dangerous than a naval and military power of the enemy." - Andrew Jackson

"Nothing but widespread suffering will produce any effect on Congress. Our only safety is in pursuing a steady course of firm restriction - and I have no doubt that such a course will ultimately lead to restoration of the currency and the recharter of the bank (The Bank of the United States)." - Nicholas Biddle, President of the American Bankers Association

"I killed the Bank [for now]." - Andrew Jackson, engraved upon his tombstone to commemorate his victory in defeating the Bank of the United States recharter bill

"When a government is dependent upon bankers for money, they and not the leaders of the government control the situation, since the hand that gives is above the hand that takes...Money has no motherland; financiers are without patriotism and without decency; their sole object is gain." - Napoleon Bonaparte, 1815

"We, the People, are the rightful masters of both the Congress and the Courts. Not to overthrow the Constitution, but to overthrow the men who have perverted it." - Abraham Lincoln

"I have two great enemies, the southern army in front of me and the financial institutions in the rear. Of the two, the one in the rear is the greatest enemy. The Money Power preys upon the nation in times of peace, and conspires against it in times of adversity. It is more despotic than monarchy, more insolent than autocracy, more selfish than bureaucracy. It denounces, as public enemies, all who question its methods or throw light upon its crimes." - Abraham Lincoln

"The division of the United States into federations of equal force was decided long before the Civil War by the high financial powers of Europe. These bankers were afraid that the United States, if they remained as one block, and as one nation, would attain economic and financial independence, which would upset their financial domination over the world. The voice of the Rothschilds prevailed. Therefore, they sent their emissaries into the field to exploit the question of slavery to open an abyss between the two sections of the union." - Otto von Bismarck, Chancellor of Germany, 1876

"The Government should create, issue, and circulate all the currency and credits needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers. The privilege of creating and issuing money is not only the supreme prerogative of Government, but it is the Government's greatest creative opportunity. By the adoption of these principles...the taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest [by not having to borrow from privately-owned corporate banks]...Money will cease to be master and become the servant of humanity. Democracy will rise superior to the Money Power." - Abraham Lincoln, Senate Document 23, Page 91, 1865

"I see in the near future a crisis approaching that unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. As a result of the war, corporations have been enthroned and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the Money Power of the country will endeavour to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people (e.g., by pitting the cooperation-oriented political left against the competition-oriented political right), until the wealth is aggregated in the hands of a few, and the Republic is destroyed. I feel at this time more anxiety for the safety of my country than ever before, even in the midst of the war." - Abraham Lincoln, in a letter written to one of his Generals during the American Civil War

"If that mischievous financial policy which had its origin in the North American Republic (i.e., honest Constitutionally authorized debt-free money) should become indurated down to a fixture, then that government will furnish its own money without cost. It will pay off its debts and be without a debt [to the International Bankers]. It will have all the money necessary to carry on its commerce. It will become prosperous beyond precedent in the history of the civilized governments of the world. The brains and wealth of all countries will go\ to North America. That government must be destroyed or it will destroy every monarchy on the globe." - The Times Newspaper of London, opinion-editorial commentary, 1862

"The death of Lincoln was a disaster for Christendom. There was no man in the United States great enough to wear his boots and the bankers went anew to grab the riches. I fear that foreign bankers with their craftiness and tortuous tricks will entirely control the exuberant riches of America and use it to systematically corrupt modern civilization. They will not hesitate to plunge the whole of Christendom into wars and chaos in order that the earth should become their inheritance." - Otto von Bismarck, Chancellor of Germany, after Abraham Lincoln's assassination

"Right after the Civil War there was considerable talk about reviving Lincoln's brief experiment with the Constitutional monetary system. Had not the European money-trust intervened, it would have no doubt become an established institution." - Dr. W. Cleon Skousen, author of 'The Naked Capitalist' and 'The Naked Communist'

"I went to America in the winter of 1872-73, authorised to secure, if I could, the passage of a bill demonetising silver. It was in the interest of those I represented - the governors of the Bank of England - to have it done [because gold is much scarcer and more easily controlled by them than silver is]. By 1873, gold coins were the only form of coin money." - Ernest Seyd, Agent of the Bank of England

"It is advisable to do all in your power to sustain such prominent daily and weekly newspapers, especially the Agricultural and Religious Press, as will oppose the greenback issue of paper money and that you will also withhold patronage from all applicants who are not willing to oppose the government issue of money...To repeal the Act creating bank notes, or to restore to circulation the government issue of money will be to provide the people with money and will therefore seriously affect our individual profits as bankers and lenders. See your congressman at once and engage him to support our interests that we may control legislation." - Secretary James Buell, speaking at an American Bankers Association meeting, 1877

"On Sept. 1st, 1894, we will not renew our loans under any consideration. On Sept. 1st we will demand our money. We will foreclose and become mortgagees in possession. We can take two-thirds of the farms west of the Mississippi, and thousands of them east of the Mississippi as well, at our own price...Then the farmers will become tenants as in England..." - Memo of the American Bankers Association, as printed in the U.S. Congressional Record of April 29, 1891

"Corporate entities are persons, under the law. They are separate persons from the very real human persons who own them and run them. We have the Supreme Court of the United States to thank for this perversion. Through corruption of our government and courts, corporations subverted their original intended purpose and acquired the legal status of "natural persons" while also preserving their limited-liability legal protections [which results in corporate 'citizens' having more legal rights than human citizens do]. This subversion was institutionalized in an 1886 Supreme Court decision of which Judge William O. Douglas would later write, "There was no history, logic, or reason given to support that view." Thus corporations gained Bill of Rights protections, and more, even before women and minorities had full protection. We are currently living in an era of sophisticated corporation-state feudalism." - [Anonymous]

"Whomsoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce and when you realize that the entire system is very easily controlled, one way or another, by a few powerful men at the top, you will not have to be told how periods of inflation and depression originate." - James Garfield, assassinated within weeks of release of this statement during the first year of his presidency in 1881

"I am afraid that the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that the banks can, and do, create and destroy money. The amount of money in existence varies only with the action of the banks in increasing or decreasing deposits and bank purchases. Every loan, overdraft or bank purchase creates a deposit, and every repayment or bank sale destroys a deposit...And they who control the credit of a nation, direct the policy of Governments and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people." - Reginald McKenna, former Chancellor of the Exchequer of England, 1924

"Banks lend by creating credit. They create the means of payment out of nothing." - Ralph M. Hawtrey, former Secretary of the British Treasury

"The bank hath benefit of interest on all moneys which it creates out of nothing." - William Paterson, founder of the Bank of England, 1694

"From the days of Spartacist-Weishaupt to those of Karl Marx, and down to Trotsky (Russia), Bela Kun (Hungary), Rosa Luxemburg (Germany), and Emma Goldman (United States), this world-wide conspiracy for the overthrow of civilisation and for the reconstitution of society on the basis of arrested development, of envious malevolence, and impossible equality, has been steadily growing. It played, as a modern writer, Mrs. Webster, has so ably shown, a definitely recognisable part in the tragedy of the French Revolution. It has been the mainspring of every subversive movement during the Nineteenth Century; and now at last this band of extraordinary personalities from the underworld of the great cities of Europe and America have gripped the Russian people by the hair of their heads and have become practically the undisputed masters of that enormous empire." - Winston Churchill, 'Zionism versus Bolshevism', in the Illustrated Sunday Herald (London), February 8, 1920

"Marxists can always be relied upon to defend the International Bankers, to their dying breath, by portraying capitalism as some sort of vague, accidental ideological abstraction that either everybody or nobody is truly responsible for, rather than as a very specific, profoundly evil system perpetrated by very specific individuals, who are acting with full intention to drain the lifeblood from the Republic until it is dead. This fact alone should be enough to raise suspicion of the Marxists' real intention, which is to focus primarily on property-based 'class' conflict (with its implication that everyone ought to be an impoverished peasant) without ever clearly defining the real methods by which the ruling 'class' stays in power, so that they can attempt to convince the public that these methods are some kind of magic that only Marxist intellectuals can understand and con them into merely substituting the existing capitalist tyrannical order with a communist one. The Marxists are totally anti-democratic and seem to truly envy the Money Power more than they despise it." - [Anonymous]

"Left and Right are monolithic ideas - colossal, abstract, and, as their religious origins suggest, cosmic. They are part of the darker side of humanity that replaces the specific with the general, the personal with the impersonal. If you wanted to find a way of making certain that people would have as little as possible in common, there would be no better way than to divide them, not into ten or three or four, but into two. Dual division turns the largest possible sections of humanity against one another, often causing neighbors and compatriots to have nothing to say to one another. No regeneration of community can begin without a careful demolition of Left and Right; nor can this tearing down be relinquished to academic abstraction, technical philosophy, government, corporations, or ideology. Nothing can be built without a new politics - least of all with a politics that refers outward to ideas of Heaven and Hell rather than inward to the experience of daily life." - Hugh Graham, in his book 'The Vestibule of Hell: Why Left and Right Have Never Made Sense in Politics and Life'

"This isn't just your normal case of shrill, success-hating, bleeding-heart, eatthe- rich, lawsuit-happy, commie-liberal bed-wetters versus racist, war-mongering, slack-jawed, Bible-thumping, woman-hating, eco-rapist knuckle-draggers. But it is politics as usual." - [Unknown]

"We have only one political party in the USA, the Democratic Republicans, and they just take turns lying to us." - [Unknown]

"Fascists love communism. It goes wrong so easily." - [Anonymous]

"Under capitalism, man exploits man. Under communism, it's the other way around." - John Kenneth Galbraith, Economist

"Obviously, neither communism nor fascism has any interest whatsoever in democracy; they both claim that democracy is an unrealistic Utopian fantasy. In fact, they both use each other as convenient scapegoats for their own crimes against democracy and human rights. True autonomist democracy can only emerge from a radically centered libertarian-anarchist philosophy that values competition and cooperation equally, the so-called meta-political 'third-position', which is the greatest threat to both the left and right extremes. The real struggle that is going on in the world today is the struggle for democracy against ALL tyranny, not merely 'class' war to substitute the tyrannical fiscal aristocracy with some despotic peasant-emperor. Phoney third-positionism is easy to reveal because it embraces both fascist and communist principles, rather than rejecting them." - [Anonymous]

"If I told you I thought the world was controlled by a handful of capitalists and corporate bosses, you would say I was a left-winger, but if I told you who I thought the capitalists and corporate bosses were, then you would say I was far right." - Anonymous Anarchist Black Blocker

"My political opinions lean more and more to anarchy (philosophically understood, meaning abolition of control not whiskered men with bombs). There is only one bright spot and that is the growing habit of disgruntled men of dynamiting factories and power stations." - J.R.R. Tolkien, in 'The Letters of J.R.R. Tolkien'

"The true equation is "democracy" = government by world financiers." - J.R.R. Tolkien, in 'The Letters of J.R.R. Tolkien'

"The main mark of modern governments is that we do not know who governs, de facto any more than de jure. We see the politician and not his backer; still less the backer of the backer; or, what is most important of all, the banker of the backer." - J.R.R. Tolkien, in 'The Letters of J.R.R. Tolkien'

"Throned above all, in a manner without parallel in all past, is the veiled prophet of finance, swaying all men living by a sort of magic, and delivering oracles in a language not understood of the people." - J.R.R. Tolkien, in 'The Letters of J.R.R. Tolkien'

"The world is governed by very different personages to what is imagined by those who are not themselves behind the scenes." - Benjamin Disraeli, Prime Minister of Britain

"The real rulers in Washington are invisible and exercise power from behind the scenes." - Judge Felix Frankfurter, former U.S. Supreme Court Justice

"World events do not occur by accident. They are made to happen, whether it is to do with national issues or commerce; most of them are staged and managed by those who hold the purse strings." - Denis Healey, former British Secretary of Defence

"Since I entered politics, I have chiefly had men's views confided to me privately. Some of the biggest men in the United States, in the field of commerce and manufacture, are afraid of something. They know that there is a power somewhere so organized, so subtle, so watchful, so interlocked, so complete, so pervasive, that they better not speak above their breath when they speak in condemnation of it." - Woodrow Wilson, 1913

"The real truth of the matter is, as you and I know, that a financial element in the larger centers has owned the Government ever since the days of Andrew Jackson, and I am not wholly excepting the Administration of Woodrow Wilson. The country is going through a repetition of Jackson's fight with the Bank of the United States, only on a far bigger and broader basis." - Franklin D. Roosevelt

"The real menace of our republic is this invisible government which like a giant octopus sprawls its slimy length over city, state and nation. It seizes in its long and powerful tentacles our executive officers, our legislative bodies, our schools, our courts, our newspapers, and every agency created for the public protection. Like the octopus of real life, it operates under cover of a self created screen...At the head of this octopus are the Rockefeller Standard Oil interests and a small group of powerful banking houses generally referred to as International Bankers. The little coterie of powerful International Bankers virtually run the United States government for their own selfish purposes. They practically control both parties, write political platforms, make catpaws of party leaders, use the leading men of private organizations and resort to every device to place in nomination for high public office only such candidates as will be amenable to the dictates of corrupt big business. These International Bankers and Rockefeller Standard Oil interests control the majority of newspapers and magazines in this country." - John F. Hylan, New York City Mayor, New York Times, March 26, 1922

"This [Federal Reserve] Act establishes the most gigantic trust (monopoly) on earth. When the President [Woodrow Wilson] signs this bill, the invisible government by the Monetary Power will be legalized. The people may not know it immediately, but the day of reckoning is only a few years removed. The trusts will soon realize that they have gone too far even for their own good. The people must make a declaration of independence to relieve themselves from the Monetary Power. This they will be able to do by taking control of Congress. Wall Streeters could not cheat us if you Senators and Representatives did not make a humbug of Congress...The greatest crime of Congress is its currency system. The worst legislative crime of the ages is perpetrated by this banking bill. The caucus and the party bosses have again operated and prevented the people from getting the benefit of their own government." - Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr., 1913

"But the whole scheme of a Federal Reserve Bank with its commercial-paper basis is an impractical, cumbersome machinery, is simply a cover, to find a way to secure the privilege of issuing money and to evade payment of as much tax upon circulation as possible, and then control the issue and maintain, instead of reduce, interest rates. It is a system that, if inaugurated, will prove to the advantage of the few and the detriment of the people of the United States. It will mean continued shortage of actual money and further extension of credits; for when there is a lack of real money people have to borrow credit to their cost." - Alexander Lassen in a statement before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, 1913

"If it were to be exposed publicly that our particular group had got together and written a banking bill, that bill would have no chance whatever of passage by Congress" - Frank Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank of New York, representing William Rockefeller, commenting on the meeting at Jekyll Island in 1910 to form the Federal Reserve, Saturday Evening Post, Feb. 9, 1935

"I am a most unhappy man. I have unwittingly ruined my country. A great industrial nation is controlled by its own system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men...who necessarily, by very reason of their own limitations, chill and check and destroy genuine economic freedom. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated governments in the civilized world, no longer a government by free opinion, no longer a government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a government by the opinion and duress of a small group of dominant men."- Woodrow Wilson

"Suppose you go to Washington and try to get at your government. You will always find that while you are politely listened to, the men really consulted are the big men who have the biggest stakes - the big bankers, the big manufacturers, the big masters of commerce...Every time it has come to a critical question, these gentlemen have been yielded to, and their demands treated as the demands that should be followed as a matter of course. The government of the United States is a foster child of the special interests. It is not allowed to have a will of its own."- Woodrow Wilson, 1912

"If monopoly persists, monopoly will always sit at the helm of government. I do not expect monopoly to restrain itself. If there are men in this country big enough to own the government of the United States, they are going to own it."- Woodrow Wilson

"The fact is that there is a serious danger of this country becoming a plutodemocracy; that is, a sham republic with the real government in the hands of a small clique of enormously wealthy men, who speak through their money, and whose influence, even today, radiates to every corner of the United States."- William McAdoo, President Woodrow Wilson's National Campaign Vice-Chairman, in his book 'Crowded Years'

"We [bankers] must proceed with caution and guard every move made, for the lower order of people are already showing signs of restless commotion. Prudence will therefore show a policy of apparently yielding to the popular will until our plans are so far consummated that we can declare our designs without fear of any organized resistance. The Farmers Alliance and Knights of Labor organizations in the United States should be carefully watched by our trusted men, and we must take immediate steps to control these organizations in our interest or disrupt them. At the coming Omaha Convention to be held July 4th [1892], our men must attend and direct its movement, or else there will be set on foot such antagonism to our designs as may require force to overcome. This at the present time would be premature. We are not yet ready for such a crisis. Capital must protect itself in every possible manner through combination (conspiracy) and legislation. The courts must be called to our aid, debts must be collected, bonds and mortgages foreclosed as rapidly as possible. When through the process of the law, the common people have lost their homes, they will be more tractable and easily governed through the influence of the strong arm of the government applied to a central power of imperial wealth under the control of the leading financiers. People without homes will not quarrel with their leaders. History repeats itself in regular cycles. This truth is well known among our principal men who are engaged in forming an imperialism of the world. While they are doing this, the people must be kept in a state of political antagonism. The question of tariff reform must be urged through the organization known as the Democratic Party, and the question of protection with the reciprocity must be forced to view through the Republican Party. By thus dividing voters, we can get them to expand their energies in fighting over questions of no importance to us, except as teachers to the common herd. Thus, by discrete action, we can secure all that has been so generously planned and successfully accomplished."- Revealed by Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh before the U.S. Congress sometime during his term of office between the years of 1907 and 1917

"Very soon, every American will be required to register their biological property in a National system designed to keep track of the people and that will operate under the ancient system of pledging. By such methodology, we can compel people to submit to our agenda, which will affect our security as a chargeback for our fiat paper currency. Every American will be forced to register or suffer not being able to work and earn a living. They will be our chattel, and we will hold the security interest over them forever, by operation of the law merchant under the scheme of secured transactions. Americans, by unknowingly or unwittingly delivering the bills of lading to us will be rendered bankrupt and insolvent, forever to remain economic slaves through taxation, secured by their pledges. They will be stripped of their rights and given a commercial value designed to make us a profit and they will be none the wiser, for not one man in a million could ever figure our plans and, if by accident one or two would figure it out, we have in our arsenal plausible deniability. After all, this is the only logical way to fund government, by floating liens and debt to the registrants in the form of benefits and privileges. This will inevitably reap to us huge profits beyond our wildest expectations and leave every American a contributor to this fraud which we will call "Social Insurance." Without realizing it, every American will insure us for any loss we may incur and in this manner; every American will unknowingly be our servant, however begrudgingly. The people will become helpless and without any hope for their redemption and, we will employ the high office of the President of our dummy corporation to foment this plot against America."- Edward Mandell House, Presidential Foreign Policy Advisor, in a private meeting with President Woodrow Wilson

"It (Central Bank) gives the National Bank almost complete control of national finance. Those few who understand the system (check book money and credit) will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependant on its favours, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantage that capital derives from the system, will bear its burden without complaint, and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical (contrary) to their interests."- Rothschild Brothers of London, writing to associates in New York, 1863

"...the lord and master of the money markets of the world, and of course virtually lord and master of everything else. He literally held the revenues of southern Italy in pawn, and monarchs and ministers of all countries courted his advice and were guided by his suggestions."- Benjamin Disraeli, Prime Minister of Britain, describing Baron Nathan Rothschild in his novel 'Coningsby: Or The New Generation'

"When the conflict with France ended [at the battle of Waterloo] the House of Rothschild was in control of British finance and was the official banker of the British Government. This odd financial octopus was acknowledged to be in some respects the greatest power on the earth and was acknowledged by some writers as the 'Sixth Great Power of Europe'."- E.C. Knuth, in his book 'The Empire of The City'

"I care not what puppet is placed on the throne of England to rule the Empire...The man that controls Britain's money supply controls the British Empire. And I control the money supply."- Baron Nathan Rothschild

"The House of Rothschild plays a much bigger role in France than any foreign government...There are, of course, reasons for it, which seem to me neither good nor gratifying: money is the great [motivating] force of France, and corruption is quite openly reckoned with...Among us [in Austria] this commodity finds but few friends."- Prince Metternich, Chancellor of Austria

"Rothschild was now banker to empires and continents - to all the principal European countries, to Eurasian Russia, to the Americas, to the Indies. It has been estimated that the London house alone placed 6,500 million dollars worth of foreign loans during the first ninety years of its existence. Moreover, the other Rothschild branches in Paris, Vienna, Frankfurt and Naples were just as busy, which unequivocally means that upon Rothschild vaults converged the credit of the Western World."- Frederic Morton, in his book 'The Rothschilds: Portrait of a Dynasty'

"The total wealth encompassed by the clan (Rothschilds) during most of the nineteenth century has been estimated at well over 400 million pounds (600 million dollars). No one else, from the Fuggers to the Rockefellers, has come even close to that hair-raising figure."- Frederic Morton, in his book 'The Rothschilds: Portrait of a Dynasty'

"Edmond de Rothschild was a backstage force in politics. He belonged to the steering committee of the secretive Bilderberg circle, an informal association of political and financial top brass that has sometimes been called more powerful than national governments...and he was a major benefactor of Israel."- Frederic Morton, in his book 'The Rothschilds: Portrait of a Dynasty'

"Because the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank of New York sets interest rates and controls the daily supply of price of currency throughout America, the owners of that bank are the real directors of that whole system. The shareholders of these banks which own the stock of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York are the people who have controlled our political and economic destinies since 1913. They are the Rothschilds, Lazard Freres (Eugene Mayer), Israel Sieff, Kuhn Loeb Company, Warburg Company, Lehman Brothers, Goldman Sachs, the Rockefeller family, and the J.P. Morgan interests."- Eustace Mullins, in his book 'The Secrets Of The Federal Reserve'

"The Federal Reserve Bank is pretty secretive about who it's owning banks or shareholders are. It has been determined that the "Class A" stock in the Federal Reserve Bank is held by the following 8 institutions: Rothschild Banks of London and Berlin, Lazard Brothers Bank of Paris, Israel Moses Seif Bank of Italy, Warburg Bank of Hamburg and Amsterdam, Lehman Bank of New York, Kuhn Loeb Bank of New York, Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, Goldman Sachs Bank of New York. The Remaining Stock is held by the Chemical Trust and the Rockefeller Trust. These stockholders hold Federal Government Obligations which amount to about $6 trillion dollars - the entire U.S. National Debt. Their annual profits from interest payments are over $200 billion dollars per year."- [Anonymous]

"Bill Gates is not the 'richest man in the world' by a long shot. His $50 billion dollar fortune (give or take) is virtually nothing compared to the wealth and economic power of the Rothschild dynasty. Baron Jacob Rothschild (who controls the Rothschild banking dynasty) is personally owed at least half of the U.S. national debt (which is now some $6 trillion dollars) because the privately-owned Rothschild Bank and its proxies maintain a majority ownership and controlling interest in the U.S. Federal Reserve System; and this at least $3 trillion dollar amount obviously does not even include the debt that many other nations ultimately owe to the Rothschild banking network. The interest payments alone provide the Rothschild Bank with at least $100 billion dollars per year. The reason that the Rothschild dynasty remains generally obscure to the public is because virtually all of their assets are privately-owned and they are very carefully protected from public scrutiny by various ways and means. It has been estimated that the Rothschild dynasty, directly or indirectly, controls a very substantial portion of the $55 trillion dollars in annual total gross world product (GWP) that exists in the world today."- [Anonymous]

"To ignore the pivotal role played by particular individuals who are in positions of power is to do violence to historical accuracy. A recognition that the course of economic events can be influenced by individuals who have the imagination and the power to take advantage of prevailing conditions does not constitute acceptance of a 'conspiracy' theory of history."- John Blair, former Chief Economist for the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Anti- Trust and Monopoly

"The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented. Banking was conceived in iniquity and was born in sin. The Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money and control credit, and with the flick of the pen they will create enough deposits to buy it all back again. However, take this great power away from them, and all the great fortunes like mine disappear, and they ought to disappear, for this would be a happier and better world to live in. But, if you wish to remain the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, let them continue to create money and control credit."- Sir Josiah Stamp, Director of the Bank of England in the 1920s, reputed to be the second richest man in the British Empire at that time

"A civilization based on a system of parasitic usury economics will ultimately destroy itself, because fractional-reserve 'banking', combined with compound 'interest', is truly and totally contrary to the modern "Establishment" economic theory that it represents some kind of perpetual-motion machine. Our economic system was not designed to, nor was it intended to, function honorably for the benefit and general prosperity of all; it was specifically designed to create a nation of debt slaves under the control of a molesting central bank. The perpetrators of the system understand fully that it is not sustainable and must inevitably collapse in a state of insoluble debt, but by that point they expect to have gained full and indisputable control over everything by reconstituting the destroyed republic into their own final endgame vision: A Despotic and Tyrannical New World Order. The 450 richest people in the world now have accumulated financial assets greater than the combined wealth of the 3,000,000,000 poorest; half of the human race. The only possible explanation for this is that the international economic system has been subverted and corrupted by fully intentional activities, directed towards undermining national governments and creating institutionalized, privately-owned central bank cartels throughout the world to concentrate and consolidate power into the hands of the financial crimelords who own them. Money must become neutralized in order for the world to be saved from perpetual tyranny."- [Anonymous]

"If all the bank loans were paid, no one could have a bank deposit, and there would not be a dollar of coin or currency in circulation. This is a staggering thought. We are completely dependent on the commercial banks. Someone has to borrow every dollar we have in circulation, cash or credit. If the banks create ample synthetic money we are prosperous; if not, we starve. We are absolutely without a permanent money system. When one gets a complete grasp of the picture, the tragic absurdity of our hopeless position is almost incredible, but there it is. It is the most important subject intelligent persons can investigate and reflect upon. It is so important that our present civilization may collapse unless it becomes widely understood and the defects remedied very soon."- Robert H. Hamphill, Credit Manager, Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, 1935

"We can create money by fiat. Our checkbook doesn't have a ledger. So you write out the check, it's (money/currency) just transmogrified out of thin air. Which is a nice checkbook to have (oh yeah, I'll bet it is)."- Jerry Nelson, Public Relations, Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, May 14, 2008

"Non-sustainable economics is non-sustainable."- Catherine Austin Fitts

"Only when the last tree is cut, only when the last river is polluted, only when the last fish is caught, only then will they realize that you cannot eat money."- Cree Native American proverb

"Money does not pay for anything, never has, never will. It is an economic axiom as old as the hills that goods and services can be paid for only with goods and services."- Albert Jay Nock, in his book 'Memoirs of a Superfluous Man', 1943

"Banking institutions are casinos where the bank owners gamble upon who will be able to repay the principle and usury on the loans they make and who will instead fail and have to go bankrupt (with the bank seizing any collateral on the loan). Gambling is the essence of what all bank loaning is, for both the borrower and the lender. Wall Street itself is really just a big casino. The fact that bank owners, as opposed to regular citizens, are allowed to create money (as fiat debts) on fractional reserve terms (typically up to 10 times their deposits) is the greatest destabilizing factor in our society because it creates an especially privileged class of citizens with such incredible financial power so far above and beyond the rest of humanity. Having a democratic society is not even a remote possibility when a class of citizens (bankers) enjoys the privilege of creating monetary claims to wealth (as binding social contract) out of absolutely nothing other than their signature on pieces of paper. Without economic democracy, there can be no political democracy."- [Anonymous]

"The United States is like a poker game where the chips have become concentrated in fewer and fewer hands, and where other fellows can stay in the game only by borrowing. When the credit runs out, the game will stop."- Marriner Eccles, Chairman of the Federal Reserve, 1931-1934

"While economic textbooks claim that people and corporations are competing for markets and resources, I claim that in reality they are competing for money - using markets and resources to do so. Greed and fear of scarcity are being continuously created and amplified as a direct result of the kind of money we are using. For example, we can produce more than enough food to feed everybody, and there is definitely enough work for everybody in the world, but there is clearly not enough money to pay for it all. In fact, the job of central banks is to create and maintain that currency scarcity. Money is created when banks lend it into existence. When a bank provides you with a $100,000 mortgage, it creates only the principal, which you spend and which then circulates in the economy. The bank expects you to pay back $200,000 over the next 20 years, but it doesn't create the second $100,000 - the interest. Instead, the bank sends you out into the tough world to battle against everybody else to bring back the second $100,000."- Bernard Lietaer, former Central Banker (Belgium)

"Your money's value is determined by a global casino of unprecedented proportions: $2 trillion are traded per day in foreign exchange markets, 100 times more than the trading volume of all the stockmarkets of the world combined. Only 2% of these foreign exchange transactions relate to the "real" economy reflecting movements of real goods and services in the world, and 98% are purely speculative. This global casino is triggering the foreign exchange crises which shook Mexico in 1994-1995, Asia in 1997 and Russia in 1998. These emergencies are the dislocation symptoms of the old Industrial Age money system."- Bernard Lietaer, former Central Banker (Belgium)

"In addition to almost unlimited usury, the bankers have another method of drawing vast amounts of wealth. The banks are able to approve or disapprove large loans to large and successful corporations to the extent that refusal of a loan will bring about a reduction in the selling price of the corporation's stock. After depressing the price, the bankers' agents buy large blocks of the company's stock. Then, if the bank suddenly approves a multi-million dollar loan to the company, the stock rises and is then sold for a profit. In this manner, billions of dollars are made with which to buy more stock. This practice is so refined today that the Federal Reserve Board need only announce to the newspapers an increase or decrease in their "discount rate" to send stocks soaring or crashing at their whim. Banks collect billions in interest by loaning to Government and the Corporations."- Pastor Sheldon Emry

"The basis of money in today's world is not simply the trading of one thing of obvious value (say, a gold coin) for another thing of obvious value (for example, a keg of beer) which, in fact, would be more a form of barter than a modern day monetary purchase. In the modern economy, the value of money is based strictly on mutual faith and faith alone - faith in pieces of paper signed by a Central Banker as having whatever value he decides to give them, such as is the case with Federal Reserve Notes. This faith that the paper has some kind of value is basically a game of "let's pretend" on the part of the banker supported only by the fact that the banker has seized control of the government and he will not tolerate any uncontrolled standard of exchange to compete with his official monopoly of interest-bearing usury 'money'. In essence, this means that every time you spend a Federal Reserve Note you are making a very profound expression of faith that the Central Banker is a kind of 'god' who can conjure value out of absolutely nothing because this is his 'divine right'. Not only that, but you also become perpetually, irredeemably indebted to him, as a form of 'worship' for his creating of the 'money' by the usury tribute that the fiendish parasite demands of you for his 'service' (e.g., the U.S. $6 trillion dollar debt). This is capitalism – a glorified pyramid scheme for making money off of money."- [Anonymous]

"Despite making such obscenely huge profits off the backs of the American people for its stockholders, the Federal Reserve Bank pays no taxes whatsoever and its accounts have never been audited by the government. In fact, the government is essentially employed by the bank as its population management and control division to facilitate the bank's profit-making operations worldwide - the exact reverse of what most people think. This arrangement actually results in making our government (especially the IRS) a for-profit institution by proxy."- [Anonymous]

"There is a large class of people who believe that paper can be, and ought to be, made into money without any promise or hope of redemption; that a note should be printed: "This is a dollar," and be made a legal tender. I regard this as a mild form of lunacy, and have no disposition to debate with men who indulge in such delusions, which have prevailed to some extent, at different times, in all countries, but whose life has been brief, and which have shared the fate of other popular delusions. The Supreme Court only maintained the constitutionality of the legal tender promise to pay a dollar by a divided court, and on the ground that it was issued in the nature of a forced loan, to be redeemed upon the payment of a real dollar; that is, so many grains of silver or gold. I therefore dismiss such wild theories, and speak only to those who are willing to assume, as an axiom, that gold and silver or coined money, have been proven by all human experience to be the best possible standards of value, and that paper money is simply a promise to pay such coined money, and should be made and kept equal to coined money, by being convertible on demand."- Secretary of Treasury John Sherman, 1877

"The Congress shall have the power to coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures; No State shall make any Thing but Gold and Silver Coin a Tender in Payment of debts."- United States Constitution, Article 1

"As to the assumed authority of any assembly in making paper money, or paper of any kind, a legal tender, or in other language, a compulsive payment, it is a most presumptuous attempt at arbitrary power. There can be no such power in a republican government: the people have no freedom - and property no security - where this practice can be acted."- Thomas Paine

"I am firmly of the opinion that there never was a paper pound, a paper dollar, or a paper promise of any kind, that ever yet obtained a general currency (as money) but by force or fraud, generally by both."- John Adams

"If ever again our nation stumbles upon unfunded paper, it shall surely be like death to our body politic. This country will crash!"- George Washington

"Paper is poverty...it is only the ghost of money, and not money itself."- Thomas Jefferson

"The Federalists would establish a single and splendid government of an aristocracy, founded on banking institutions and moneyed incorporations under the guise and cloak of their favored branches of manufactures, commerce and navigation, riding and ruling over the plundered ploughman and beggared yeomanry."- Thomas Jefferson

"If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, (i.e. the "business cycle") the banks and corporations that will grow up around them will deprive the people of all their property until their children will wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered."- Thomas Jefferson, in the debate over the Recharter Of The Bank Bill, 1809

"The abandonment of the gold standard made it possible for the welfare statists to use the banking system as a means to an unlimited expansion of credit. In the absence of the gold standard, there is no way to protect savings from confiscation through inflation. There is no safe store of value. Deficit spending is simply a scheme for the 'hidden' confiscation of wealth. Gold stands in the way of this\ insidious process. It stands as a protector of property rights. If one grasps this, one has no difficulty in understanding the statists' antagonism toward the gold standard."- Alan Greenspan in his essay 'Gold and Economic Freedom', written in 1966 for the newsletter 'The Objectivist', before he crossed over to the Dark Side

"The International Bankers have already hedged themselves against any return to a gold-backed currency (gold standard). Such a move would be disastrous for the nation now. After 1913, the Bankers plundered the USA of as much gold as possible (including the U.S. Treasury's gold in Fort Knox) by loaning themselves immense sums of their own fiat paper money from their new Federal Reserve Bank to do so (from 1933 until 1974 it was illegal for American citizens to even own gold and it is currently still illegal for American citizens to use gold or silver coins as legal tender - on penalty of up to 5 years in prison!). Fort Knox has never been in any way audited since the Eisenhower days and its gold has been made available for purchase by the banks under various schemes. The Bankers now own most of the world's gold and could easily manipulate its value to their liking if it were to become the basis for a national currency (the IMF is currently the largest gold owner in the world). Thus, when the Bankers create their next financial panic in order to manipulate and exploit the public's terror, they may very well delude them into thinking that the dollar could be strengthened by backing it with gold again, and this would merely tighten the International Bankers' control over the economy even further while simultaneously fostering the illusion in the minds of the people that they would be safe with a new non-fiat currency. Silver is much better for backing a currency with than gold (at least for now) because it is fifteen times more plentiful than gold and the market for silver would be much harder to corner. In the long term, however, the only real safety is in having a plurality of different currency standards and barter opportunities continually available for the public to choose from, plus the vital elimination of all interest/usury and fractional-reserve accounting. Collusion and monopoly are where the dangers arise and awareness, vigilance and economic democracy are the only solutions." - [Anonymous]

"Strictly speaking, it probably is not necessary for the federal government to tax anyone directly, it could simply print the money it needs. However, that would be too bold a stroke, for it would then be obvious to all what kind of counterfeiting operation the government is running. The present system of combining taxation and inflation is akin to watering the milk: too much water and the people catch on."- Congressman Ron Paul

"Taxation has only one real purpose in our present economy, it is used to justify the monopoly fiat currency we are using in the mind of the public by forcing them to pay their taxes with only this currency - and no other alternative currencies. It is merely a mechanism for ensuring that the populace is forced to keep the Central Bank's money in circulation, and thus assure the continuation of the Federal Reserve scam. You will find that virtually every complex aspect of macroeconomic "science" is carefully designed to obfuscate the fact that the money lords completely own and control the economic system and designed it specifically to enslave the rest of us so that they can run it for their own profit."- [Anonymous]

"Examining the organization and function of the Federal Reserve Banks and applying the relevant factors, we conclude that the Federal Reserve Banks are not Federal instrumentalities...but are independent and privately owned and controlled corporations...Federal Reserve Banks are listed neither as 'wholly owned' government corporations [under 31 U.S.C. Section 846] nor as 'mixed ownership' corporations [under 31 U.S.C. Section 856]...It is evident from the legislative history of the Federal Reserve Act that Congress did not intend to give the Federal government direction over the daily operation of the Reserve Banks...The fact that the Federal Reserve Board regulates the Reserve Banks does not make them Federal agencies under the Act...Unlike typical Federal agencies, each bank is empowered to hire and fire employees at will. Bank employees do not participate in the Civil Service Retirement System. They are covered by worker's compensation insurance, purchased by the Bank, rather than the Federal Employees Compensation Act. Employees traveling on Bank business are not subject to Federal travel regulations and do not receive government employee discounts on lodging and services..."- Lewis vs. U.S., Case #80-5905, 9th Circuit, June 24, 1982

"From a legal standpoint these banks are private corporations, organized under a special act of Congress, namely, the Federal Reserve Act. They are not, in the strict sense of the word, 'Government banks'."- William P.G. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, 1921

"I have never yet had anyone who could, through the use of logic and reason, justify the Federal Government borrowing the use of its own money...I believe the time will come when people will demand that this be changed. I believe the time will come in this country when they will actually blame you and me and everyone else connected with the Congress for sitting idly by and permitting such an idiotic system to continue." - Congressman Wright Patman, 1928-1976, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, 1963-1975

"The financial system has been turned over to the Federal Reserve Board. That Board administers the finance system by authority of a purely profiteering group. The system is private, conducted for the sole purpose of obtaining the greatest possible profits from the use of other people's money." - Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr., 1923

"Issue of currency should be lodged with the government and be protected from domination by Wall Street. We are opposed to provisions which would place our currency and credit system in private hands." - Theodore Roosevelt

"Some people think that the Federal Reserve Banks are United States Government institutions. They are not Government institutions. They are private credit monopolies which prey upon the people of these United States for the benefit of themselves and their foreign customers; foreign and domestic speculators and swindlers; and rich and predatory money lenders." - Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, 1932

"A disordered currency is one of the greatest political evils. It undermines the virtues necessary for the support of the social system, and encourages propensities destructive to its happiness. It wars against industry, frugality and economy, and it fosters evil spirits of extravagance and speculation. Of all the contrivances for cheating the laboring classes of mankind, none has been more effectual than that which deludes them with paper money." - Congressman Daniel Webster, 1846

"Mr. Chairman, we have in this country one of the most corrupt institutions the world has ever known. I refer to the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal reserve banks. The Federal Reserve Board, a Government board, has cheated the Government of the United States out of enough money to pay the national debt. The depredations and the iniquities of the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal reserve banks acting together have cost this country enough money to pay the national debt several times over. This evil institution has impoverished and ruined the people of the United States; has bankrupted itself, and has practically bankrupted our Government. It has done this through defects of the law under which it operates, through the maladministration of that law by the Federal Reserve Board and through the corrupt practices of the moneyed vultures who control it." - Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, 1934

"The Federal Reserve banks are one of the most corrupt institutions the world has ever seen. There is not a man within the sound of my voice who does not know that this nation is run by the International Bankers." - Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, 1934

"When the Federal Reserve act was passed, the people of the United States did not perceive that...the United States were to be lowered to the position of a coolie country which has nothing but raw materials and heavy goods for export; that Russia [China, India...] was destined to supply the man power and that this country was to supply financial power to an international superstate – a superstate controlled by international bankers and international industrialists acting together to enslave the world for their own pleasure." - Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, 1934

"Every effort has been made by the Federal Reserve Board to conceal its power. But the truth is, the Federal Reserve Board has usurped the government of the United States. It controls everything here; and it controls our foreign relations. It makes or breaks governments at will. No man, and no body of men, is more entrenched in power than the arrogant credit monopoly which operates the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Banks." - Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, 1932

"Most Americans have no real understanding of the operation of the international money lenders...The accounts of the Federal Reserve System have never been audited. It operates outside the control of Congress and manipulates the credit of the United States." - Senator Barry Goldwater, former Republican Party candidate for President

"Those not favorable to the money trust could be squeezed out of business and the people frightened into demanding changes in the banking and currency laws which the money trust would frame [for itself]." - Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr.

"From now on, depressions will be scientifically created." - Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr., 1913, in reference to the Federal Reserve Act

"It (Black Thursday, 1929) was not accidental. It was a carefully contrived occurrence...The International Bankers sought to bring about a condition of despair here so that they might emerge as rulers of us all." - Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency

"From the Atlantic to the Pacific our country has been ravaged and laid waste by the evil practices of the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal reserve banks and the interests which control them...This is an era of economic misery and for the conditions that caused that misery, the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve banks are fully liable." - Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency

"For a long time I felt that FDR had developed many thoughts and ideas that were his own to benefit this country, the United States. But, he didn't. Most of his thoughts, his political ammunition, as it were, were carefully manufactured for him in advance by the Council on Foreign Relations - One World Money group. Brilliantly, with great gusto, like a fine piece of artillery, he exploded that prepared "ammunition" in the middle of an unsuspecting target, the American people, and thus paid off and returned his internationalist political support. The UN is but a long-range, international banking apparatus clearly set up for financial and economic profit by a small group of powerful One-World revolutionaries, hungry for profit and power. The depression was the calculated 'shearing' of the public by the World Money Powers, triggered by the planned sudden shortage of supply of call money in the New York money market...The One World Government leaders and their ever close bankers have now acquired full control of the money and credit machinery of the U.S. via the creation of the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank." - Curtis Dall, Franklin D. Roosevelt's son-in-law, as quoted from his book, 'My Exploited Father-in-Law', 1970

"As soon as Mr. Roosevelt took office, the Federal Reserve began to buy government securities at the rate of ten million dollars a week for 10 weeks, and created one hundred million dollars in new [checkbook] currency, which alleviated the critical famine of money and credit, and the factories started hiring people again." - Eustace Mullins, in his book 'The Secrets Of The Federal Reserve'

"The Federal Reserve definitely caused the Great Depression by contracting the amount of currency in circulation by one-third from 1929 to 1933." - Milton Friedman, Nobel Prize winning Economist, in an NPR interview, January 1996

"Let me end my talk by abusing slightly my status as an official representative of the Federal Reserve. I would like to say to Milton and Anna: Regarding the Great Depression. You're right, we did it. We're very sorry. But thanks to you, we won't do it again (hah!)." - Ben Bernanke, Federal Reserve Chairman and one of the world's foremost scholars on the Great Depression, 2008

"The one who cannot see that on Earth a big endeavor is taking place, an important plan, on which realization we are allowed to collaborate as faithful servants, certainly has to be blind." - Winston Churchill

"The governments of the present day have to deal not merely with other governments, with emperors, kings and ministers, but also with the secret societies which have everywhere their unscrupulous agents, and can at the last moment upset all the governments' plans." - Benjamin Disraeli, Prime Minister of Britain, 1876

"It is useless to deny, because it is impossible to conceal, that a great part of Europe - the whole of Italy and France and a great portion of Germany, to say nothing of other countries - is covered with a network of these secret societies, just as the superficies of the earth is now being covered with railroads." - Benjamin Disraeli, Prime Minister of Britain, 1876

"There exists a shadowy Government with its own Air Force, its own Navy, its own fundraising mechanism, and the ability to pursue its own ideas of national interest, free from all checks and balances, and free from the law itself." - Senator Daniel K. Inouye, at the joint House and Senate Iran-Contra affair hearings, 1987

"Today the path of total dictatorship in the United States can be laid by strictly legal means, unseen and unheard by the Congress, the President, or the people. Outwardly we have a Constitutional government. We have operating within our government and political system, another body representing another form of government - a bureaucratic elite." - Senator William Jenner, 1954

"In the United States today we have in effect two governments...We have the duly constituted government...Then we have an independent, uncontrolled and uncoordinated government in the Federal Reserve System operating the money powers which are reserved to Congress by the Constitution." - Congressman Wright Patterson, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, 1968

"I have never seen more senators express discontent with their jobs...I think the major cause is that, deep down in our hearts, we have been accomplices to doing something terrible and unforgivable to this wonderful country. Deep down in our hearts, we know that we have bankrupted America and that we have given our children a legacy of bankruptcy...We have defrauded our country to get ourselves elected." - Senator John Danforth, reported in the Arizona Republic of April 21, 1992

"The powers of financial capitalism had another far-reaching aim, nothing less than to create a world system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole. This system was to be controlled in a feudalistic fashion by the central banks of the world acting in concert, by secret agreements, arrived at in frequent private meetings and conferences. The apex of the system was to be the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the world's central banks which were themselves private corporations. Each central bank...sought to dominate its government by its ability to control treasury loans, to manipulate foreign exchanges, to influence the level of economic activity in any country, and to influence cooperative politicians by subsequent economic rewards (lucrative 'consulting' gigs) in the business world...The growth of financial capitalism made possible a centralization of world economic control and use of this power for the direct benefit of financiers and the indirect injury of all other economic groups." - Carroll Quigley, Professor of History at Georgetown University (deceased) in his book 'Tragedy and Hope: A History of The World in Our Time', 1966; Highly esteemed by his former student, William Jefferson Blythe Clinton

"There does exist and has existed for a generation, an international Anglophilic network which operates, to some extent, in the way the radical Right believes the Communists act. In fact, this network, which we may identify as the Round Table groups, has no aversion to cooperating with the Communists, or any other groups, and frequently does so. I know of the operations of this network because I have studied it for 20 years and was permitted for two years, in the early 1960s, to examine its papers and secret record." - Carroll Quigley, Professor of History at Georgetown University (deceased)

"Their secret is that they have annexed from governments, monarchies, and republics the power to create the world's money on debt-terms requiring tribute both in principal and interest." - Carroll Quigley, Professor of History at Georgetown University (deceased)

"The government of the Western nations, whether monarchical or republican, had passed into the invisible hands of a plutocracy, international in power and grasp. It was, I venture to suggest, this semi-occult power which pushed the mass of the American people into the cauldron of World War I." - Major General J.F.C. Fuller, British Military Historian, 1941

"In a small Swiss city (Basel) sits an international organization so obscure and secretive [that few people know about it]...Control of the institution, the Bank for International Settlements, lies with some of the world's most powerful and least visible men; the heads of 32 central banks, officials able to shift billions of dollars and alter the course of economies at the stroke of a pen." - Keith Bradsher of the New York Times, August 5, 1995

"The Federal Reserve Bank of New York is eager to enter into close relationship with the Bank for International Settlements...The conclusion is impossible to escape that the State and Treasury Departments are willing to pool the banking systems of Europe and America, setting up a world financial power independent of and above the Government of the United States." - Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, quoted from the New York Times, June 1930

"Ever since the Civil War, Congress has allowed the bankers to control financial legislation. The membership of the Finance Committee in the Senate (now the Banking and Currency Committee) and the Committee on Banking and Currency in the House have been made up chiefly of bankers, their agents, and their attorneys...In this way the committees have been able to control legislation in the interests of the few." - Congressman Charles A. Lindberg, Sr.

"The powers of financial capitalism had another far-reaching aim, nothing less than to create a world system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole. This system was to be controlled in a feudalistic fashion by the central banks of the world acting in concert, by secret agreements, arrived at in frequent private meetings and conferences. The apex of the system was to be the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the world's central banks which were themselves private corporations. Each central bank...sought to dominate its government by its ability to control treasury loans, to manipulate foreign exchanges, to influence the level of economic activity in any country, and to influence cooperative politicians by subsequent economic rewards (lucrative 'consulting' gigs) in the business world...The growth of financial capitalism made possible a centralization of world economic control and use of this power for the direct benefit of financiers and the indirect injury of all other economic groups." - Carroll Quigley, Professor of History at Georgetown University (deceased) in his book 'Tragedy and Hope: A History of The World in Our Time', 1966; Highly esteemed by his former student, William Jefferson Blythe Clinton

"The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is "The Establishment". Not only does it have influence and power in key decision-making positions at the highest levels of government to apply pressure from above, but it also announces and uses individuals and groups to bring pressure from below, to justify the high level decisions for converting the U.S. from a sovereign Constitutional Republic into a servile member state of a one-world dictatorship." - Former Congressman John Rarick, 1971

"The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is the American Branch of a society which originated in England (The Royal Institute of International Affairs)...and believes national boundaries should be obliterated and one-world rule established." - Carroll Quigley, Professor of History at Georgetown University (deceased)

"The Trilateral Commission is intended to be the vehicle for multinational consolidation of the commercial and banking interests by seizing control of the political government of the United States. The Trilateral Commission represents a skillful, coordinated effort to seize control and consolidate the four centers of power - political, monetary, intellectual, and ecclesiastical. All this is to be done in the interest of creating a more peaceful, more productive world community. What the Trilateralists truly intend is the creation of a worldwide economic power superior to the political governments of the nation-states involved. They believe the abundant materialism they propose to create will overwhelm existing differences. As managers and creators of the system they will rule the future." - Senator Barry Goldwater, former Republican Party candidate for President, in his book 'With No Apologies', 1964

"The drive of the Rockefellers and their allies is to create a one-world government combining supercapitalism and communism under the same tent, all under their control...Do I mean conspiracy? Yes I do. I am convinced there is such a plot, international in scope, generations old in planning, and incredibly evil in intent." - Congressman Larry P. McDonald, 1976, killed in the Korean Airlines 747 (Flight KAL007) that was shot down by the Soviets in 1983

"The interests behind the Bush Administration, such as the Council on Foreign Relations, The Trilateral Commission - founded by Zbigniew Brzezinski for David Rockefeller - and the Bilderberger Group, have prepared for and are now moving to implement open world dictatorship within the next five years. They are not fighting against terrorists. They are fighting against citizens." - Dr. Johannes B. Koepll, Ph.D., 2001, former German Defense Ministry official and advisor to former NATO Secretary General Manfred Werner

"The technotronic era involves the gradual appearance of a more controlled society. Such a society would be dominated by an elite, unrestrained by [obsolete] traditional values. Soon it will be possible to assert almost continuous surveillance over every citizen and maintain up-to-date complete files containing even the most personal information about the citizen. These files will be subject to instantaneous retrieval by the authorities." - Zbigniew Brzezinski

"It (world government) cannot happen without U.S. participation, as we are the most significant single component. Yes, there will be a New World Order, and it will force the United States to change its perceptions." - Henry Kissinger

"The New World Order will be built...an end run on national sovereignty, eroding it piece by piece will accomplish much more than the old-fashioned frontal assault." - Council on Foreign Relations Journal, 1974, page 558

"We shall have world government, whether or not we like it. The only question is whether World Government will be achieved by conquest or by consent." - Paul Warburg, member of the Council on Foreign Relations and architect of the Federal Reserve System, in an address to the U.S. Senate, February 17, 1950

"The most powerful clique in these elitist groups have one objective in common - they want to bring about the surrender of the sovereignty and the national independence of the United States." - Rear Admiral Chester Ward, U.S. Navy, was a member of the CFR for sixteen years

"In March, 1915, the J.P. Morgan interests, the steel, shipbuilding, and powder interest, and their subsidiary organizations, got together 12 men high up in the newspaper world and employed them to select the most influential newspapers in the United States and sufficient number of them to control generally the policy of the daily press...They found it was only necessary to purchase the control of 25 of the greatest papers. An agreement was reached; the policy of the papers was bought, to be paid for by the month; an editor was furnished for each paper to properly supervise and edit information regarding the questions of preparedness, militarism, financial policies, and other things of national and international nature considered vital to the interests of the purchasers." - Congressman Oscar Callaway, 1917

"These International Bankers and Rockefeller Standard Oil interests control the majority of newspapers and the columns of these papers to club into submission or drive out of public office officials who refuse to do the bidding of the powerful corrupt cliques which compose the invisible government." - Theodore Roosevelt

"If you don't read the newspaper, you are uninformed; if you do read the newspaper, you are misinformed." - Mark Twain

"There is no such thing, at this date of the world's history, in America, as an independent press. You know it and I know it. There is not one of you who dares to write your honest opinions, and if you did, you know beforehand that it will never appear in print. I am paid weekly for keeping my honest opinions out of the paper I am connected with. Others of you are paid similar salaries for similar things, and any of you who would be so foolish as to write honest opinions would be out on the streets looking for another job. If I allowed my honest opinions to appear in one issue of my paper, before twenty-four hours my occupation would be gone. The business of the journalist is to destroy the truth; to lie outright; to pervert; to vilify; to fawn at the feet of Mammon, and to sell his country and his race for his daily bread. You know it and I know it and what folly is this toasting an independent press? We are the tools and vassels for rich men behind the scenes. We are the jumping jacks, they pull the strings and we dance. Our talents, our possibilities and our lives are the property of other men. We are intellectual prostitutes." - John Swinton, former Staff of the New York Times, called by his peers "The Dean of his profession", late 1800s

"We are grateful to the Washington Post, The New York Times, Time Magazine and other great publications whose directors have attended our meetings and respected their promises of discretion for almost forty years. It would have been impossible for us to develop our plan for the world if we had been subjected to the lights of publicity during those years. But, the world is now more sophisticated and prepared to march towards a world government. The supranational sovereignty of an intellectual elite and world bankers is surely preferable to the national autodetermination practiced in past centuries." - David Rockefeller, in an address to the Trilateral Commission meeting in Baden-Baden, Germany, 1991

"For more than a century, ideological extremists at either end of the political\ spectrum have seized upon well-publicized incidents to attack the Rockefeller family for the inordinate influence they claim we wield over American political and economic institutions. Some even believe we are part of a secret cabal working against the best interests of the United States, characterizing my family and me as 'internationalists' and of conspiring with others around the world to build a more integrated global political and economic structure - one world, if you will. If that is the charge, I stand guilty, and I am proud of it." - David Rockefeller, found on page 405 of his memoirs

"I think the subject which will be of most importance politically is mass psychology...Various results will soon be arrived at: that the influence of home is obstructive...although this science will be diligently studied, it will be rigidly confined to the governing class. The populace will not be allowed to know how its convictions were generated. When the technique has been perfected, every government that has been in charge of education for a generation will be able to control its subjects securely without the need of armies or policemen...Educational propaganda, with government help, could achieve this result in a generation. There are, however, two powerful forces opposed to such a policy: one is religion; the other is nationalism...A scientific world society cannot be stable unless there is a world government." - Bertrand Russell, 1958

"There is a small circle of men who control the world's finance. Each member, before initiation, knows its religion to be reward for friends and extermination of enemies. Once a man is within the magic circle...punishment for disloyalty is sure and terrible, and in no corner of the Earth can he escape it, nor can any power on Earth protect him from it. The magic circle is at the receiving end of the greatest information bureau in the world." - Thomas Lawson, in his article in Everybody's Magazine, 'Frenzied Finance', 1904

"Lenin is said to have declared that the best way to destroy the Capitalistic System was to debauch the currency...Lenin was certainly right. There is no more surer, more subtler means of destroying the existing basis of society than to debauch the currency. By a continuing process of [leveraged] inflation, governments can confiscate secretly and unobserved, an important part of the wealth of the citizens. The process engages all of the hidden forces of economics on the side of destruction and does it in a manner that not one man in a million can diagnose...If governments should refrain from regulation (taxation) and allowed matters to take their course (price explosion) the [even less than] worthlessness of the money becomes apparent and the fraud upon the public can be concealed no longer." - John Maynard Keynes, Economist

"The study of money, above all other fields in economics, is one in which complexity is used to disguise truth or to evade truth, not to reveal it. The process by which banks create money is so simple that the mind is repelled." - John Kenneth Galbraith, Economist, in his book 'Money: Whence It Came, Where It Went', 1975

"If two parties, instead of being a bank and an individual, were an individual and an individual, they could not inflate the circulating medium by a loan\ transaction, for the simple reason that the lender could not lend what he didn't have, as banks can do...Only commercial banks and trust companies can lend money that they manufacture [out of nothing] by lending it." - Professor Irving Fisher, Economist, in his book '100% Money', 1935

"Commercial banks create checkbook money whenever they grant a loan, simply by adding new deposit dollars in accounts on their books in exchange for a borrower♦s IOU."- Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in publication 'I Bet You Thought', page 19

"The decrease in purchasing power incurred by holders of money due to inflation imparts gains to the issuers of money." - St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank, Review, Nov. 1975, page 22

"Mr. Greenspan needs to make his decision independent of what I think. I learned a pretty good lesson during the transition, and that is I commented out loud about one of the actions he took (whoa!). That's the last time I'm going to comment about the actions Mr. Greenspan takes. He's an independent voice, and needs to be an independent voice." - (Notional) President George W. Bush, speaking in regards to the Federal Reserve Board Chairman, 2001

"To modern minds, it seemed bizarre to think of the Federal Reserve as a religious institution. Yet the conspiracy theorists, in their own demented way, were on to something real and significant. The Fed does in fact function in the realm of religion. Its mysterious powers of money creation, inherited from priestly forebears, shielded a complex bundle of social and psychological meanings. With its own form of secret incantation, the Federal Reserve presided over awesome social ritual, transactions so powerful and frightening they seemed to lie beyond common understanding. Above all, money was a function of faith. It required implicit and universal social consent that was indeed mysterious. To create money and use it, each one must believe, and everyone must believe. Only then did worthless pieces of paper take on value." - William Grieder, former Assistant Managing Editor of The Washington Post, in his book 'Secrets of the Temple: How the Federal Reserve Runs the Country', 1987

"Banking establishments are...moral and religious institutions (usury is sacred?)...What has been [the young tradesman's] anxiety to stand well in the estimation of his banker?...Has not the frown of his banker been of more influence with him than the jeers and discouragements of his friends? Has he not trembled to be supposed guilty of deceit or the slightest misstatement, lest it should give rise to suspicion, and his accommodation be in consequence restricted or discontinued?...And has not that friendly advice been of more value to him than that of priest?" - G.M. Bell, a Scottish bank Director

"Those who swallow down usury cannot arise except as one whom Satan has prostrated by his touch does rise. That is because they say, trading is only like usury; and Allah has allowed trading and forbidden usury. To whomsoever then the admonition has come from his Lord, then he desists, he shall have what is already passed, and his affairs is in the hands of Allah; and whoever returns to it - these are the inmates of the fire; they shall abide in it..." - The Qur'an, Surah Al-Baqarah

"And they come to Jerusalem: and Jesus went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers...And the scribes and chief priests...sought how they might destroy him: for they feared him, because all the people was astonished at his doctrine. - Mark 11:15-18" - The Bible

"If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury. - Exodus 22:25. Take no usury of him, or increase: but fear God...thou shalt not give him thy money upon usury. - Leviticus 25:36-37. Unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon usury: That the Lord thy God bless thee. - Deuteronomy 23:20" - The Bible

"There must be no lending at interest because it will be quite in order for the borrower to refuse absolutely to return both interest and principal." - Aristotle

"The trade of the petty usurer is hated with most reason: it makes a profit from currency itself, instead of making it from the process which currency was meant to serve." - Plato

"Meanwhile, we hand the small thieves [their punishments]...Little thieves are put in the stocks, great thieves go flaunting in gold and silk...Therefore is there, on this earth, no greater enemy of man (after the Devil) than a gripmoney, and usurer, for he wants to God over all men. Turks, soldiers, and tyrants are also bad men, yet must they let the people live, and confess that they are bad, and enemies, and do, nay, must, now and then show pity to some. But the usurer and money-glutton, such a one would have the whole world perish of hunger and thirst, misery and want, so far as in him lies, so that he may have all to himself, and everyone may receive from him as from a God, and be his serf forever." - Martin Luther

"It is almost amusing that some Federal Reserve currency is marked with the words "In God We Trust". Nothing could be further from the truth. To trust in God is to continue to diligently and honestly work for your rewards and to live your life accepting that fate could someday take away all of your accumulated fortune and leave you having to start over again from nothing - if God saw fit to do this to you for some reason. In total contrast to this principle, banks operate entirely under the unnatural concept of trying to hedge against God, not trust Him, and they entertain the notion that a pile of money must have the infinite capacity to grow, through processes of usury where no useful work whatsoever is involved, so that the filthy rich who sit on these piles can feel safer about their future and avoid the risks that everyone else must endure every day. Financial titans are vile cowards, not heroes - the only way they can stay rich is to make sure everyone else stays poor. Banking institutions are a social pathology and the Devil's embassies on Earth." - [Anonymous]

"Lucre (fiat debt legal fiction life control certificates) is the black magick false quintessence of this illusory world that we live in; it can be converted into 'anything' and 'anything' can be converted into it. I am convinced that it has a primitive form of consciousness all of its own - an encoded form of pure ego created for the absolute usurpation of all credit, debit and value - as if the whole of reality itself exists purely in debt to the international banking dynasties. These vampire dynasties want everyone else either enslaved to them or dead because they consider themselves to be god-like. The divine right of kings has become the divine right of bankers and their evil is law. The over-systems are made entirely out of worthless pieces of vampire paper with signatures on them and they are continually fine-tuned over time by the money parasites to feed upon the masses of humanity as much as they dare to. You are all economic thrall subjects to Wall Street sociopaths who worship rational egoism." - MIB Dissident, Cthulhu Priesthood, The Sovereign Trust Bank of Royal Imperial Commerce

"The most sinister and anti-social feature about bank-deposit money is that it has no existence. The banks owe the public for a total amount of money which does not exist. In buying and selling, implemented by cheque transactions, there is a mere change in the party to whom the money is owed by the banks. As the one depositor's account is debited, the other is credited and the banks can go on owing for it all the time. The whole profit of the issuance of money has provided the capital of the great banking business as it exists today. Starting with nothing whatever of their own, they have got the whole world into their debt irredeemably, by a trick. This money comes into existence every time the banks 'lend' and disappears every time the debt is repaid to them. So that if industry tries to repay, the money of the nation disappears. This is what makes prosperity so 'dangerous' as it destroys money just when it is most needed and precipitates a slump. There is nothing left now for us but to get ever deeper and deeper into debt to the banking system in order to provide the increasing amounts of money the nation requires for its expansion and growth. Our money system is nothing better than a confidence trick...The "money power" which has been able to overshadow ostensibly responsible government is not the power of the merely ultra-rich but is nothing more or less than a new technique to destroy money by adding and withdrawing figures in bank ledgers, without the slightest concern for the interests of the community or the real role money ought to perform therein...to allow it to become a source of revenue to private issuer's is to create, first, a secret and illicit arm of government and, last, a rival power strong enough to ultimately overthrow all other forms of government...An honest money system is the only alternative." - Frederick Soddy, Nobel Prize winner (Chemistry), author of 'Wealth, Virtual Wealth & Debt', 1921

"That is what our money system is. If there were no debts in our money system, there wouldn't be any money." - Marriner S. Eccles, Chairman and Governor of the Federal Reserve Board

"Each and every time a bank makes a loan (or purchases securities), new bank credit is created - new deposits - brand new money." - Graham F. Towers, Director, Bank of Canada

"Thus, our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend, not money, but promises to supply money they do not possess." - Irving Fisher, Economist and Author

"If our nation can issue a dollar bond, it can issue a dollar bill. The element that makes the bond good, makes the bill good, also. The difference between the bond and the bill is the bond lets money brokers collect twice the amount of the bond and an additional 20%, whereas the currency pays nobody but those who contribute directly in some useful way. It is absurd to say that our country can issue $30 million in bonds and not $30 million in currency. Both are promises to pay, but one promise fattens the usurers and the other helps the people." - Thomas Edison, The New York Times, December 6, 1921

"Economic warfare spans political warfare and military warfare and supersedes both, which are merely tools in the hands of those who are the masters of economic systems. The public is systematically misled, almost hypnotically, to believe that no such hidden masters of economic systems actually exist, or could even possibly exist, and that all of the economic strife in the world today is strictly the result of unplanned human incompetence when, in fact, very deliberate economic warfare is being carried out. Populations struggle to find purely political or military solutions to their economic problems, or they are manipulated and duped into giving yet more economic control over to their masters, in the name of their own prosperity, because they do not fully understand the real principles of economics and banking and remain perpetual hostages to their own economic illiteracy. The myth of their non-existence is what protects the hierarchies of the international money cults of the world and allows them to continue their constant rivalries against one another, and to maintain their existence at the dire cost of their subject populations." - [Anonymous]

"Economic hit men (EHMs) are highly paid professionals who cheat countries around the globe out of trillions of dollars. They funnel money from the World Bank, the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), and other foreign "aid" organizations into the coffers of huge corporations and the pockets of a few wealthy families who control the planet's natural resources. Their tools include fraudulent financial reports, rigged elections, payoffs, extortion, sex, and murder. They play a game as old as empire, but one that has taken on new and terrifying dimensions during this time of globalization. I should know; I was an EHM." - John Perkins, former NSA Operative and Chief Economist at Charles T. Main Associates of New York, in his book 'Confessions of an Economic Hit Man'

"I spent 33 years in the Marines. Most of my time being a high-class muscle man for big business, for Wall Street and the bankers. In short, I was a racketeer for capitalism. I helped purify Nicaragua for the international banking house of Brown Brothers in 1909-1912. I helped make Mexico, especially Tampico, safe for American oil interests in 1914. I brought light to the Dominican Republic for American sugar interests in 1916. I helped make Haiti and Cuba a decent place for the National City Bank boys to collect revenue in. I helped in the rape of half-a-dozen Central American republics for the benefit of Wall Street...In China I helped to see to it that Standard Oil went its way unmolested." - Major General Smedley D. Butler, U.S. Marine Corps; General Butler was twice awarded the Medal of Honor (1914, 1917); General Douglas MacArthur described Butler as "one of the really great generals in American history."

"I wouldn't go to war again as I have done to protect some lousy investment of the bankers. There are only two things we should fight for. One is the defense of our homes and the other is the Bill of Rights. War for any other reason is simply a racket." - Major General Smedley D. Butler, U.S. Marine Corps, from a speech in 1933

"War is a racket. It always has been. It is possibly the oldest, easily the most profitable, surely the most vicious. It is the only one international in scope. It is the only one in which the profits are reckoned in dollars and the losses in lives. A racket is best described, I believe, as something that is not what it seems to the majority of the people. Only a small 'inside' group knows what it is about. It is conducted for the benefit of the very few, at the expense of the very many. Out of war a few people make huge fortunes." - Major General Smedley D. Butler, U.S. Marine Corps, from a speech in 1933

"We have about 50% of the world's wealth, but only 6.3% of its population...Our real task in the coming period is to devise a pattern of relationships which will permit us to maintain this position of disparity...To do so, we will have to dispense with all sentimentality and day-dreaming; and our attention will have to be concentrated everywhere on our immediate national objectives...We should cease to talk about vague and unreal objectives such as human rights, the raising of living standards, and democratization. The day is not far off when we are going to have to deal in straight power concepts. The less we are then hampered by idealistic slogans, the better." - George Kennan, Director of State Department Policy Planning, Truman Administration, 1948

"For globalization to work, America can't be afraid to act like the almighty superpower that it is. The hidden hand of the market will never work without a hidden fist. McDonald's cannot flourish without McDonnell-Douglas, the designer of the F-15, and the hidden fist that keeps the world safe for Silicon Valley's technology is called the United States Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps." - Thomas Friedman, New York Times, March 28, 1999

"It (World Bank) has condemned people to death [as human sacrifices to 'the system']...They don't care if people live or die." - Joseph Stiglitz, former Chief Economist of the World Bank, Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors (Clinton Administration), shared the 2001 Nobel Prize in Economics

"All wars are economic in origin." - Bernard Baruch, Advisor to Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt on Economics

"If my sons did not want wars, there would be none." - Gutle Schnaper, Mayer Amschel Rothschild's wife

"Money plays the largest part in determining the course of history." - Karl Marx, in 'The Communist Manifesto', 1848

"If the U.S. monopoly capitalist groups persist in pushing their policies of aggression and war, the day is bound to come when they will be hanged by the people of the whole world. The same fate awaits the accomplices of the United States [in China]." - Mao Zedong, in 'The Little Red Book', Chapter 6, 1964

"Fascism should rightly be called corporatism as it is a merge of state and corporate power." - Benito Mussolini

"The liberty of a democracy is not safe if the people tolerate the growth of private power to a point where it becomes stronger than the democratic state itself. That in its essence is fascism: ownership of government by an individual, by a group or any controlling private power." - Franklin D. Roosevelt

"The only sure bulwark of continuing liberty is a government strong enough to protect the interests of the people, and a people strong enough and well enough informed to maintain its sovereign control over its government." - Franklin D. Roosevelt

"A popular government, without popular information, or the means of acquiring it, is but a Prologue to a Farce or a Tragedy; or, perhaps both. Knowledge will forever govern ignorance. And a people who mean to be their own Governors, must arm themselves with the power that knowledge gives." - James Madison

"Information is the currency of democracy." - Thomas Jefferson

"Educate and inform the whole mass of the people...They are the only sure reliance for the preservation of our liberty." - Thomas Jefferson

"I may be alone with my thoughts, on my island located on my inland sea. Previously, I would be helpless to influence my national government. With the internet, although physically isolated, I can associate with millions across my country and across the globe. No longer am I one person, and no government can afford to ignore me. I have become a power bloc, in both theory and in fact. Even if I ignore today the ability I now have to associate with others, no government can afford to ignore the possibility that someday I may, for some reason, choose to exercise this ability to associate. The individual, isolated or not, has become important." - Andrew Grosso, Attorney, Chairman of the ACM Committee on Law and Computer Technology

"This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government, they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it, or their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it."

- Abraham Lincoln, First Inaugural Address, March 4, 1861

"When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and...whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends [of Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness], it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect (provide for) their Safety and Happiness..." - Declaration of Independence of the American Colonies, 1776

"When we got organized as a country and we wrote a fairly radical Constitution with a radical Bill of Rights, giving a radical amount of individual freedom to Americans, it was assumed that the Americans who had that freedom would use it responsibly...[Now] there's a lot of irresponsibility. And so a lot of people say there's too much freedom. When personal freedom is being abused, you have to move to limit it (just too damn much freedom for our own good?)." - President Bill Clinton

"America is at that awkward stage; it's too late to work within the system, but (still?) too early to shoot the bastards." - Claire Wolfe

"A Government that makes peaceful revolution impossible, makes armed revolution inevitable." - John F. Kennedy

"The high office of President has been used to foment a plot to destroy the American's freedom, and before I leave office I must inform the citizen of his plight." - John F. Kennedy, 10 days before his Assassination

"Every communist must grasp the truth; political power grows out of the barrel of a gun.- Mao Zedong

"Democracy is two wolves and a lamb voting on what to have for lunch. Liberty is a well-armed lamb contesting the vote!" - Benjamin Franklin

"When the government fears the people, you have liberty; when the people fear the government, you have tyranny." - Thomas Jefferson

"It is not the function of the government to keep the citizen from falling into error; it is the function of the citizen to keep the government from falling into error." - Judge Robert H. Jackson, U.S. Supreme Court Justice

"Liberty has never come from government! Liberty has come from the subjects of government. The history of liberty is the history of resistance!" - Woodrow Wilson, 1912

"Dissent is the highest form of patriotism." - Benjamin Franklin

"In the beginning of a change, the patriot is a scarce man, brave, hated, and scorned. When his cause succeeds however, the timid join him, for then it costs nothing to be a patriot." - Mark Twain

"Society in every state is a blessing, but Government, even in its best state, is a necessary evil; in its worst state, an intolerable one." - Thomas Paine

"They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety [and they will very quickly lose both]." - Benjamin Franklin

"Trade liberty for safety or money and you'll end up with neither. Liberty, like a grain of salt, easily dissolves. The power of questioning - not simply believing - has no friends. Yet liberty depends on it." - Thomas Jefferson

"And can the liberties of a nation be thought secure, when we have removed their only firm basis, a conviction in the minds of the people that these liberties are of the gift of God? That they are not to be violated but with his wrath [incurred by the ownership of slaves]? Indeed I tremble for my country when I reflect that God is just: that his justice can not sleep forever...The Almighty has no attributes which can take side with us in such a contest...I think a change is already perceptible, since the origin of the present revolution. The spirit of the master is abating, that of the slave rising from the dust, his condition mollifying, the way, I hope, preparing, under the auspices of Heaven, for a total emancipation; and that this is disposed, in the order of events, to be with the consent of the masters, rather than by their extirpation (total elimination)." - Thomas Jefferson, in 'Commerce Between Master and Slave', 1782

"If you aren't ready to die for it, put the word "freedom" out of your vocabulary." - Malcolm X

"You can have peace. Or you can have freedom. Don't ever count on having both at once." - Robert A. Heinlein

"Liberty means responsibility. That is why most men dread it." - George Bernard Shaw

"The perverse deceptiveness characteristic of the fiendish parasites who control the Federal Reserve Bank is readily apparent to those who know the necessary historical truths. The fact that they adorn their notes with the symbols of the Freemasons and pictures of our Masonic Knight national heroes [to help carry on the charade that the Fed is a government institution], who were actually diametrically (totally) opposed to the Fed's existence and its type of 'money', is an outrageous mockery that is outright diabolical, and must be the insider's 'joke' of all time. Unfortunately, the consequences of this colossal con to the American people, and the entire world, are all too deadly serious. The Federal Reserve Bank is not federal, has no reserves, and is not even really a bank." - [Anonymous]

"The eyes of our citizens are not sufficiently open to the true cause of our distress. They ascribe them to everything but their true cause, the banking system; a system which if it could do good in any form is yet so certain of leading to abuse as to be utterly incompatible with the public safety and prosperity. The Central Bank is an institution of the most deadly hostility existing against the principles and form of our Constitution." - Thomas Jefferson

"Once a nation parts with the control of its currency and credit, it matters not who makes the nation's laws. Usury, once in control, will wreck any nation. Until the control of the issue of currency and credit is restored to government and recognized as its most conspicuous and sacred responsibility, all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and of democracy is idle and futile." - William Lyon Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, 1935

"The treasury, lacking confidence in the country, delivered itself bound hand and foot to bold and bankrupt adventurers and bankers pretending to have money, whom it could have crushed at any moment." - Thomas Jefferson, in a letter to Treasury Secretary Gallatin, 1815

"Banking doesn't involve fraud, banking is [the heart of] fraud." - Tim Madden, Monetary Historian and Consumer Advocate

"The best way to rob a bank is to own one." - William K. Black, the title of his book on banking

"And the banks - hard to believe in a time when we're facing a banking crisis that many of the banks created - are still the most powerful lobby on Capitol Hill. And they frankly own the place...We don't own them, they own us." - Senator Dick Durbin, May 2009

"Those who believe that history is only made by the men on the stage and determined by the most evident economic, social, political, and cultural factors, do not see and do not seek any other explanation; and yet this is exactly what every force operating in secret desires." - Julius Evola

"When plunder becomes a way of life for a group of men living together in society, they create for themselves in the course of time, a legal system that authorizes it and a moral code that glorifies it." - Frederic Bastiat, Political Economist, in his book 'Economic Sophisms'

"A definite factor in getting a lie believed is the size of the lie. The broad mass of the people, in the simplicity of their hearts, more easily fall victim to a big lie than to a small one." - Adolf Hitler

"What luck for rulers that men do not think." - Adolf Hitler

"The perfect slave is the slave who thinks that he is free." - Goethe

"Telling the truth is always revolutionary." - Antonio Gramsci

"For we are opposed around the world, by a monolithic and ruthless conspiracy, that relies primarily on covert means for expanding its sphere of influence, on infiltration instead of invasion, on subversion instead of election, on intimidation instead of free choice. It is a system which has conscripted vast human and material resources into the building of a tightly knit, highly efficient machine that combines military, diplomatic, intelligence, economic, scientific and political operations. Its preparations are concealed, not published. Its mistakes are buried, not headlined. Its dissenters are silenced, not praised. No expenditure is questioned. No secret is revealed. That is why the Athenian Lawmaker Solon decreed it a crime for any citizen to shrink from controversy. I am asking your help in the tremendous task of informing and alerting the American people, confident that with your help, man will be what he was born to be – Free and Independent." - John F. Kennedy, 1961

"Hold on, my friends, to the Constitution and the Republic for which it stands. Miracles do not cluster, and what has happened once in 6,000 years, may not happen again. Hold on to the Constitution, for if the American Constitution should fail, there will be anarchy throughout the world." - Congressman Daniel Webster

"The harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph." - Thomas Paine

...

This entire document is available online at these locations:

<http://www.docstoc.com/docs/13434638/The-Bankers-Own-The-Earth>

<http://www.scribd.com/doc/21678028/The-Bankers-Own-The-Earth>

Appendix 9: Who are Monopoly Money and the International Banking Cartel?

Video: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=O6HuzhMUHGM&feature=player_embedded who makes money from war?

1. Mega banks in the cartel behind the Federal Reserve.
2. Military suppliers (Eisenhower called them the military/industrial complex).
3. Private mercenary contractors.
4. National media cartel.
5. Mega infrastructure and oil/mineral/resource corporations.

That's pretty much all that needs to be said to understand why we're in a perpetual war. But there's a particular psychological element to it as well...

Who gains power from war? - Royal families and the sick narcissists who pursue political power to rule the populations of the world.

<http://csper.wordpress.com/2010/08/12/monopoly-money-and-the-international-banking-cartel/>

Monopoly Money and the International Banking Cartel

Posted on August 12, 2010 by dvrabel

The Federal Reserve has been at the top of the news for a long time and it's getting a lot of attention now as it appears the next down cycle in the depression may be upon us. So what's the real reason the world listens so intently to an Ivy League bureaucrat like Bernanke? Of course, it has nothing to do with him. It's who he is accountable to—the international banking cartel:

US

Bank of America Securities LLC
Cantor Fitzgerald & Co.
Citigroup Global Markets Inc.
Goldman, Sachs & Co.
Jefferies & Company, Inc.
J. P. Morgan Securities Inc.
Morgan Stanley & Co. Inc.

Britain

Barclays Capital Inc.
HSBC Securities (USA) Inc.

Switzerland

Credit Suisse Securities (USA) LLC
UBS Securities LLC.

Japan

Daiwa Capital Markets America Inc.
Mizuho Securities USA Inc.
Nomura Securities International, Inc.

Germany

Deutsche Bank Securities Inc.

France

BNP Paribas Securities Corp.

Canada

RBC Capital Markets Corp.

Scotland

RBS Securities Inc.

These institutions are the current primary dealers of the Federal Reserve System. They have power over the entire economy, everything in “the market,” very much a non-free market. They sit at the top of the world’s monetary system, currently the Fed’s debt-dollar pyramid, with a governmental license to what has been the most secure capital in the world—US Treasury debt—for a monopoly price that nobody else can get. And when it comes to global finance, the difference between the strongest banks vs. dying banks is just a few basis points in price (cost of capital).

These banks get first dibs on buying the servitude of the US population through the Fed/Treasury auction process. They distribute some of it to subordinate capital for a guaranteed premium, and they park a large amount of it on their own balance sheets as assets upon which they can speculate, trade, and fractionalize to create the rest of the money in the economy and put other countries, companies, and people in even more debt. So these institutions hold a monopoly position that even Leviathan Standard Oil never dreamed of: a government-enforced usury license that generates trillions for their premium capital holders and senior employees and allows them to act as imperial armies sucking in more territory around the world as neoliberalism breaks down sovereignty.

This is why the country list above doesn’t mean what some may think. The institutions aren’t national. The list only indicates that the banking establishment has a permanent parasitic stake in those countries to churn their populations under the Fed’s debt system. All of the listed institutions are global in nature. Together with hedge funds and their other buy-side buddies, they have power over nations. Like any corporate institution, banks drive earnings per share (EPS) by expanding and leveraging their balance sheets, which for banks means putting everything else in more debt. So these cartel banks work to expand their territorial control beyond their national borders to put other populations in debt. This is a mathematical requirement of exponential growth enforced by the private capital system. The eventual end state of this dynamic is one integrated, global banking empire. It’s only a matter of time before their collective balance sheets (plus the large Chinese banks now that the cartel is colluding with them) control the rest of the world if people don’t awaken and choose to put a stop to it.

Will they succeed? The Fed system is in transition. The crash of 2008 was the first phase of global capital holders shifting their private capital out of the system so the Fed was forced to add public capital, i.e. your debt, into the system. More of this is likely coming. But does this mean the international banks behind the Fed are dying? No. They’ve simply transferred their bad assets to the public through the Fed and prepared to ramp up operations in Asia, which will be a primary churn center for the 21st century global banking system. Capital assets have been transferred, production assets have been transferred, and the capital holders can transfer much more capital in a short period of time if they so choose.

All the specifics of this coming transition may not be clear, but it is coming unless the global population says no. The banks have set up the ultimate voluntary test. If we continue to say yes by playing along with the banks and the multinational corporations they control, then they will have proven that a global empire ruled by an integrated banking system is preferred and possibly superior to independent countries. But they appear to be failing their own test. Ivy League neoliberalism has been exposed for what it is. The people are now indeed saying no.

This entry was posted in Uncategorized. Bookmark the permalink.

<http://csper.wordpress.com/2010/08/20/global-empire-and-the-international-banking-cartel-part-2/>

Global Empire and the International Banking Cartel (part 2)

Posted on August 20, 2010 by dvrabel

Last week I wrote an article explaining what I mean by the international banking cartel that operationally rules the economy—the Federal Reserve primary dealers. Some astute readers wondered why I didn’t report on the global regulatory institutions that have power over that cartel. Good question. And others asked for more clarity on the cartel itself.

Regarding the first question, I purposely focused on the cartel because so many people still don’t believe it exists due to false free market propaganda. If people don’t realize that a cartel of predatory usury institutions operationally controls the US, then why would they care about the regulatory framework over those institutions?

But the point is well-taken. The article might have implied those 18 dealer banks have ultimate power. Not at all. The key word in the above paragraphs is “operationally.” The dealers operate within a larger framework. They do not strategically rule over the framework itself. The ultimate rulers are the most senior private capital pools in the world who use the dealers as capital laundering machines and who create their desired framework through the central banks, IMF, BIS, and political institutions like the European Union and G20.

Since WWII, their desired framework has been to fuel global empire by milking the US population through the debt-dollar system centered around the Fed. Now that the US has been milked dry, things are shifting to a new milking center for the 21st century—China. Behind the scenes will be the senior capital pools currently in London and New York and the banking establishment in Switzerland, but on the surface Asia will emerge with profound power as China becomes the operational center of a new global empire based on a new global currency. At that point, the key dealers will simply plug into that new system. The world will think this represents the end of the US empire. But a US empire never really existed. More accurately the US was simply the latest host of the parasitic international banking empire that leeches off countries and plays them against each other. The parasite will quietly slither into Asia while using its media to blame the US host for the damage it has done.

Now a few points of clarity for those who want to better understand the cartel dealers:

- They are not equal. Some play long-term strategic chess as they're aligned with the senior capital pools mentioned above. Others play the short-term profit game as the chess players allow them. Of the US firms, JP Morgan Chase and Goldman Sachs are on top. While Goldman may appear to be #1 since its people have literally run key government agencies for about 20 years, I'd suggest that JPM Chase is preeminent. Not only does it have the most power due to its derivatives position, which gives it the highest claim on capital in the US, but also it's the merger of the old aristocratic interests behind JP Morgan and the Rockefeller interests behind Chase Manhattan. So let's just say it wouldn't be in your financial interest to bet against this bank. Its power was demonstrated after the crash of 2008. The media suggested JPM emerged unscathed because it was the honest, good bank whereas bad, greedy banks failed. Yeah, and I live with Puff the Magic Dragon. Ask yourself, after the Corleone family killed the leaders of competitive families in The Godfather, did Congress investigate the losing families, or did they investigate Corleone? So why did Congress investigate the losing banks?! You don't blame the firms that were driven out of business. You look to the firm that benefited most. The fact is, the crash of 2008 was the trigger for a restructuring M&A transaction of the US economy, and had there been a tombstone printed in the WSJ, just speculating here, the lead bank would have likely been JPM.

- Some members change over time. These are the short-term profit players. For example, Countrywide was a dealer while it helped inflate the real estate bubble and BT Alex Brown was a dealer while it helped inflate the first tech bubble. Both of them were leaders of their short-term niche markets because of their privileged risk/cost position as dealers, and both of them were acquired by senior dealers for a deep discount once senior capital was pulled, bursting their respective bubbles and leaving the losses in the hands of junior capital.

- The cartel is international, so we no longer live in a world of independent countries. It would be more appropriate to view countries as administrative districts of the banking system so the financial elite class can extract value from the lower and middle classes. One of the key insights from the movie Braveheart was how the royal elite from different countries cooperated with each other against the masses. Today it's more sophisticated. The mathematical, formulaic banking system aligns the financial elite in different countries together against their populations by managing them as digits on a balance sheet. It's a simple matter of math, accounting, and system management, not conspiracy.

- Both political parties serve the cartel. It controls and profits from the private sector corporate system (typically championed by the political right) and the government welfare system (typically championed by the political left). Choosing between Democrats and Republicans changes nothing.

- Finally, it means conventional wisdom about money is false. The problem isn't that our money isn't gold-backed. The problem isn't fiat money. The problem is that all money is hierarchically controlled as an asset to private sector institutions and elite capital holders who have the ability to call-in their chips, i.e. your bank digits, whereas it's an interest-bearing debt to governments and the people. This has immense ramifications I don't have room to address here. Government neither prints money nor causes inflation in this system (if it would like the original colonies did to escape British banker austerity and usury, some of the current unemployed would have jobs and those losing their homes in foreclosure might find some relief). Rather, the cartel controls all money and drives inflation/deflation cycles. It has driven consistent inflation for 60+ years. So we are now facing painful deflation, or hyperinflation if the government makes a key mistake, as the senior capital pools attempt to bring about the new banking/currency framework. If the money system isn't changed, the emergence of the 21st century global empire mentioned above is only a matter of time.

<http://csper.wordpress.com/2010/06/24/fascism-american-style-my-post-on-maxkeiser/>

What is fascism? (my post on MaxKeiser)

Posted on June 24, 2010 by dvabel

<http://maxkeiser.com/2010/06/22/guest-post-fascism-american-style/>

Since we're stuck in a monetary system that allows a tiny private sector clique to control everything (business, government, military, non-profits, schools, families, etc) by putting everyone else in debt, we've been living in financial dictatorship for a long time. It has been a soft PR dictatorship of Hickey-Freeman suits and Saks 5th Avenue ties, Harvard pedigrees and fratboy schmarm. But hard dictatorship has been coming out of hiding for several years, especially since 2001. Not only can the money powers steal trillions from the masses to hand over to themselves, but they can suck the military into conquering poor countries that aren't subject to their usury vortex system, build Homeland to spy on Americans, and have the CIA assassinate US citizens.

There is no question that full-blown fascism is planned for the supposed land of the free as they try to move us into the new global system. And all the Republicans blaming Obama for it, just like the Democrats who blamed Bush, need to stop being suckers and realize how the politicians are not in charge. The money powers knew 100 years ago they couldn't subject their wealth and power to the whims of mass political opinion...they learned well from the Teddy Roosevelt days. Ever since, they have built increasing control into the system.

Blame the politicians? Absolutely...each administration takes an incremental step for the money powers. But don't get suckered into believing a politician from your side of the aisle playing the same old game of flipping between left and right is going to change anything. We've been sold on parties just like we've been sold on Coke vs. Pepsi—they're the same.

Find leaders who know their neighbors, who understand the mechanics of a republic vs. empire, who understand the power of those who control all money in our system, rather than repeatedly voting for unhappy, addictive Harvard/Yale elitists who get a rush out of "system managing" the masses for the money powers. Any narcissist who thinks one dude in a distant white house can system manage 308,000,000 people should never come close to actually being in that white house. But that's who we've put in that house for the last several decades.

Luckily people are now breaking free of the PR programming. The choice isn't left vs. right. It is big vs. small, republic vs. empire.

<http://csper.wordpress.com/2010/08/04/on-war-armies-and-the-brilliance-of-james-madison/>

This entry was posted in Uncategorized. Bookmark the permalink.

On War, Armies, and the Brilliance of James Madison

Posted on August 4, 2010 by dvabel

The mass media's way of communicating war is basically to put fake tough-guy narcissists like Bill O'Reilly, Joe Biden, or Dick Cheney on your TV screen speaking to the equivalent of a pre-oedipal 2 year old: "there are scary people out there...you need to be terrified...heroic saviors will attack and destroy their bad countries for you so you can maintain your mental fantasy that you're safe. All you need to do is keep shopping, buying your little toys, while daddy keeps you safe."

You can already see psychology and spirituality issues in that dialogue. But what about economics? One of the Council on Renewal's tenets is that we currently live in a world where economics reigns supreme over every other dimension of life, including spirituality and psychology. This is literally embedded in the fabric of our legal system which says that the interests of private capital holders trump everything else in our system...everything...towns, counties, states, nations, families, individual humans. Given this system where Return on Capital (ROC) reigns, to understand the truth behind almost anything, you simply have to follow the big money to see what's driving it...

So who makes money from war?

1. Mega banks in the cartel behind the Federal Reserve.
2. Military suppliers (Eisenhower called them the military/industrial complex).
3. Private mercenary contractors.
4. National media cartel.
5. Mega infrastructure and oil/mineral/resource corporations.

That's pretty much all that needs to be said to understand why we're in a perpetual war. But there's a particular psychological element to it as well...

Who gains power from war? - Royal families and the sick narcissists who pursue political power to rule the populations of the world.

This nexus of monetary gain (economics) and narcissistic power (psychology) explains most of human history, especially war. And what is the impact on individual spirituality, psychology, and economics?

Spirituality: our sense of meaning in life is increasingly tied to whichever war-fighting nation we're stuck in. Our very identity starts to depend upon the battle, much like diehard sports fans get meaning in life from their team's victories and their heroes (i.e. look at the angst suffered by so many because 1 random dude Lebron James chose a new employer).

Psychology: the infantilizing nature of war on national populations is profound. War allows the corporate media to keep the masses in perpetual fear, and like a child in an abusive family, such fear results in oppressed psychology. It sets up the daddy/child, strong/weak, savior/sheep mentality, which just fuels the narcissistic structure of society where psychopaths rule and everyone else hopes they keep them safe.

Economics: the population is forced into deeper debt slavery in war. It's just a big transfer of money from the masses to the political narcissists and corporate/banking psychopaths, as Marine General Smedley Butler said.

So war is a great example of a negative economic system feeding negative cycles in spirituality and psychology as discussed in Lesson 6 part 3 of Renaissance 2.0.

How to stop it? Of course fixing the monetary system is the most important step since the math of debt-money is what fuels the imperial oligarchy. But when it comes to the issue of war specifically, we simply need to remember what founder James Madison said instead of listening to idiots in the media:

Of all the enemies to public liberty war is, perhaps, the most to be dreaded, because it comprises and develops the germ of every other. War is the parent of armies; from these proceed debts and taxes; and armies, and debts, and taxes are the known instruments for bringing the many under the domination of the few. In war, too, the discretionary power of the Executive is extended; its influence in dealing out offices, honors, and emoluments is multiplied; and all the means of seducing the minds, are added to those of subduing the force, of the people.... [There is also an] inequality of fortunes, and the opportunities of fraud, growing out of a state of war, and ... degeneracy of manners and of morals.... No nation could preserve its freedom in the midst of continual warfare. A standing military force, with an overgrown Executive will not long be safe companions to liberty. The means of defence agst. foreign danger, have been always the instruments of tyranny at home. Among the Romans it was a standing maxim to excite a war, whenever a revolt was apprehended. Throughout all Europe, the armies kept up under the pretext of defending, have enslaved the people. Oppressors can tyrannize only when they achieve a standing army, an enslaved press, and a disarmed populace A well regulated militia, composed of the body of the people, trained in arms, is the best most natural defense of a free country.

Pretty simple isn't it? Permanent standing armies are bad news. The Swiss have understood this for hundreds of years—the people must be ready to defend themselves in community rather than outsourcing their security to a few tough guys. Adult human beings must discard the notion that other people will keep us safe or we are simply infantile, child-like creatures. Free people provide for their own freedom. Otherwise by definition, they are not free. This entry was posted in Uncategorized. Bookmark the permalink.

<http://thatsjustplumdumb.com/index.php/2010/03/bank-for-international-settlements-bis-how-the-rothschilds-control-and-dictate-to-the-world/>

Appendix 10: Bank For International Settlements \(BIS\): How The Rothschilds Control And Dictate To The World

by Christopher Jenkins | Wednesday, March 17, 2010

For decades, people have urged me, pushed me, prodded me, practically peeled off my skin, pulled out my eyes, and yanked out my brain to prove it, i.e. show them the data, the results, the books, manuals, pamphlets, journals, monographs, voice and video recordings, all the resources I have used to make the statements I do about the Brzezinski Cartel and the Rothschilds.

On the evening of St. Patrick's Day 2010, I feel now is the time . . . but with a twist.

The list below shows 165 different ways how The First Sphere of Influence (Rothschilds and Brzezinski Cartel) controls the world. One hundred and sixty-five reasons to believe what I say to be 100% accurate and true.

Each entry is a separate and distinct central bank, located in a separate and distinct part of the world. These central banks cover the globe and know absolutely no boundaries, effectively erasing borders between even sworn enemies.

The BIS (pronounced BIZZ) is the Rothschild's piggy bank, a veritable deep-pit mine, the equivalent of quadrillions of dollars.

quadrillion quad·ril'ion adj.

1. The cardinal number equal to 10^{15} .
2. Chiefly British. Septillion.

What's the significance of having a central bank within a country and why should you concern yourself, your family and colleagues? Central banks are illegally created PRIVATE banks that are owned by the Rothschild banking family. The family has been around for more than 230 years and has slithered its way into each country on this planet, threatened every world leader and their governments and cabinets with physical and economic death and destruction, and then emplaced their own people in these central banks to control and manage each country's pocketbook. Worse, the Rothschilds also control the machinations of each government at the macro level, not concerning themselves with the daily vicissitudes of our individual personal lives. Except when we get too far out of line.

The grand plan of The First Sphere of Influence is to create a global mononation. Please do not confuse this with the term globalization. Mononation and globalization couldn't be more different in concept, scope and purpose. Mononation is one state. It has one government. One set of laws for all ordinary citizens, no laws for the elite. Globalization refers to communicating, trading, interacting, etc. among separate, different, independent, sovereign countries.

The grand plan of The First Sphere of Influence is to create a global mononation.

Our own Federal Reserve is an illegally emplaced private bank that is indirectly responsible for creating all the US's depressions, recessions, and the inflation and deflation of our dollar. The real underlying reasons for boom-and-bust cycles lie in the cosmos, but that's beyond the scope of this piece. The Fed controls the printing of our own currency, and then charges the US government interest on those loans. The interest is growing each year, making it difficult if not impossible for our government to pay it. How do we pay this interest? By the US Personal Income Tax. This tax goes to the Rothschild family.

In the coming months, as I continue to gather intel and write a book about The First Sphere of Influence, I will share more and more. For now, I kindly ask that you read each of the 165 lines below. One hundred and sixty-five reasons to believe my intel. You can click on each bank and visit its website. I've seen each one. They're real. And they're one of the reasons why each country is in such deep debt to this insidious family, the Rothschilds.

By the way, if you're curious what the US debt is to the BIS, please refer to the table at the end of this article, taken from the latest statistical results provided by the Joint External Debt Hub, which receives data from the BIS, International Monetary Fund, World Bank, and the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

BIS Offices

Representative Office for Asia and the Pacific

78th floor, Two International Finance Centre

8 Finance Street, Central

Hong Kong

Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China

Telephone: (+852) 2878 7100

Fax: (+852) 2878 7123

Representative Office for the Americas

Torre Chapultepec

Rubén Dario 281 – 17th floor

Col. Bosque de Chapultepec

Del. Miguel Hidalgo

11580 México, D.F.

México

Telephone: (+52) 55 91380290

Fax: (+52) 55 91380299

The Rothschild-Owned Central Banks of the World

Afghanistan: Bank of Afghanistan

Albania: Bank of Albania

Algeria: Bank of Algeria

Argentina: Central Bank of Argentina

Armenia: Central Bank of Armenia

Aruba: Central Bank of Aruba

Australia: Reserve Bank of Australia

Austria: Austrian National Bank

Luxembourg: Central Bank of Luxembourg

Macao: Monetary Authority of Macao

Macedonia: National Bank of the Republic of Macedonia

Madagascar: Central Bank of Madagascar

Malawi: Reserve Bank of Malawi

Malaysia: Central Bank of Malaysia

Mali: Central Bank of West African States \(BCEAO\)

Malta: Central Bank of Malta

| | |
|---|---|
| Azerbaijan: Central Bank of Azerbaijan Republic | Mauritius: Bank of Mauritius |
| Bahamas: Central Bank of The Bahamas | Mexico: Bank of Mexico |
| Bahrain: Central Bank of Bahrain | Moldova: National Bank of Moldova |
| Bangladesh: Bangladesh Bank | Mongolia: Bank of Mongolia |
| Barbados: Central Bank of Barbados | Montenegro: Central Bank of Montenegro |
| Belarus: National Bank of the Republic of Belarus | Morocco: Bank of Morocco |
| Belgium: National Bank of Belgium | Mozambique: Bank of Mozambique |
| Belize: Central Bank of Belize | Namibia: Bank of Namibia |
| Benin: Central Bank of West African States (BCEAO) | Nepal: Central Bank of Nepal |
| Bermuda: Bermuda Monetary Authority | Netherlands: Netherlands Bank |
| Bhutan: Royal Monetary Authority of Bhutan | Netherlands Antilles: Bank of the Netherlands Antilles |
| Bolivia: Central Bank of Bolivia | New Zealand: Reserve Bank of New Zealand |
| Bosnia: Central Bank of Bosnia and Herzegovina | Nicaragua: Central Bank of Nicaragua |
| Botswana: Bank of Botswana | Niger: Central Bank of West African States (BCEAO) |
| Brazil: Central Bank of Brazil | Nigeria: Central Bank of Nigeria |
| Bulgaria: Bulgarian National Bank | Norway: Central Bank of Norway |
| Burkina Faso: Central Bank of West African States (BCEAO) | Oman: Central Bank of Oman |
| Croatia: Croatian National Bank | Pakistan: State Bank of Pakistan |
| Cuba: Central Bank of Cuba | Papua New Guinea: Bank of Papua New Guinea |
| Cyprus: Central Bank of Cyprus | Paraguay: Central Bank of Paraguay |
| Czech Republic: Czech National Bank | Peru: Central Reserve Bank of Peru |
| Denmark: National Bank of Denmark | Philippines: Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas |
| Dominican Republic: Central Bank of the Dominican Republic | Poland: National Bank of Poland |
| East Caribbean area: Eastern Caribbean Central Bank | Portugal: Bank of Portugal |
| Ecuador: Central Bank of Ecuador | Qatar: Qatar Central Bank |
| Egypt: Central Bank of Egypt | Romania: National Bank of Romania |
| El Salvador: Central Reserve Bank of El Salvador | Russia: Central Bank of Russia |
| Equatorial Guinea: Bank of Central African States | Rwanda: National Bank of Rwanda |
| Estonia: Bank of Estonia | San Marino: Central Bank of the Republic of San Marino |
| Ethiopia: National Bank of Ethiopia | Samoa: Central Bank of Samoa |
| European Union: European Central Bank | Saudi Arabia: Saudi Arabian Monetary Agency |
| Fiji: Reserve Bank of Fiji | Senegal: Central Bank of West African States (BCEAO) |
| Finland: Bank of Finland | Serbia: National Bank of Serbia |
| France: Bank of France | Seychelles: Central Bank of Seychelles |
| Gabon: Bank of Central African States | Sierra Leone: Bank of Sierra Leone |
| The Gambia: Central Bank of The Gambia | Singapore: Monetary Authority of Singapore |
| Georgia: National Bank of Georgia | Slovakia: National Bank of Slovakia |
| Germany: Deutsche Bundesbank | Slovenia: Bank of Slovenia |
| Ghana: Bank of Ghana | Solomon Islands: Central Bank of Solomon Islands |
| Greece: Bank of Greece | South Africa: South African Reserve Bank |
| Guatemala: Bank of Guatemala | Spain: Bank of Spain |
| Guinea Bissau: Central Bank of West African States (BCEAO) | Sri Lanka: Central Bank of Sri Lanka |
| Guyana: Bank of Guyana | Sudan: Bank of Sudan |
| Haiti: Central Bank of Haiti | Surinam: Central Bank of Suriname |
| Honduras: Central Bank of Honduras | Swaziland: The Central Bank of Swaziland |
| Hong Kong: Hong Kong Monetary Authority | Sweden: Sveriges Riksbank |
| Hungary: Magyar Nemzeti Bank | Switzerland: Swiss National Bank |
| Iceland: Central Bank of Iceland | Tajikistan: National Bank of Tajikistan |
| India: Reserve Bank of India | Tanzania: Bank of Tanzania |
| Indonesia: Bank Indonesia | Thailand: Bank of Thailand |
| Iran: The Central Bank of the Islamic Republic of Iran | Togo: Central Bank of West African States (BCEAO) |
| Iraq: Central Bank of Iraq | Tonga: National Reserve Bank of Tonga |
| Ireland: Central Bank and Financial Services Authority of Ireland | Trinidad and Tobago: Central Bank of Trinidad and Tobago |
| Israel: Bank of Israel | Tunisia: Central Bank of Tunisia |
| Italy: Bank of Italy | Turkey: Central Bank of the Republic of Turkey |
| Jamaica: Bank of Jamaica | Uganda: Bank of Uganda |
| Japan: Bank of Japan | Ukraine: National Bank of Ukraine |
| Jordan: Central Bank of Jordan | United Arab Emirates: Central Bank of United Arab Emirates |
| Kazakhstan: National Bank of Kazakhstan | United Kingdom: Bank of England |
| Kenya: Central Bank of Kenya | United States: The Dirty Nasty Stinky Fed, Federal Reserve Bank of New York |
| Korea: Bank of Korea | Uruguay: Central Bank of Uruguay |
| Kuwait: Central Bank of Kuwait | Vanuatu: Reserve Bank of Vanuatu |
| Kyrgyzstan: National Bank of the Kyrgyz Republic | Venezuela: Central Bank of Venezuela |
| Latvia: Bank of Latvia | Vietnam: The State Bank of Vietnam |
| Lebanon: Central Bank of Lebanon | Yemen: Central Bank of Yemen |
| Lesotho: Central Bank of Lesotho | Zambia: Bank of Zambia |
| Libya: Central Bank of Libya | Zimbabwe: Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe |
| Lithuania: Bank of Lithuania | |

Joint BIS-IMF-OECD-World Bank Statistics on United States' External Debt (in Millions US$)

| | 2008Q4 | 2009Q2 | 2009Q3 | 2009Q4 |
|---|-----------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
| a. Loans and other credits | | | | |
| 01_Cross-border loans from BIS reporting banks | 3,707,538 | 3,388,795 | 3,530,286 | .. |
| 02_Cross-border loans from BIS banks to nonbanks | 1,363,191 | 1,337,188 | 1,330,606 | .. |
| 03_Official bilateral loans, total | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 04_Official bilateral loans, aid loans | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 05_Official bilateral loans, other | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 06_Multilateral loans, total | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 07_Multilateral loans, IMF | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| 08_Multilateral loans, other institutions | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 09_Official trade credits, total, all maturities | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 10_Official trade credits, nonbanks, all maturities | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 101_SDR allocation | 7,547 | 7,605 | 55,953 | 55,364 |
| b. Debt securities | | | | |
| 11_International debt securities, all maturities | 5,275,668 | 5,849,272 | 5,937,740 | 6,034,582 |
| 12_International debt securities, nonbanks | 3,540,768 | 4,074,795 | 4,174,716 | 4,259,775 |
| 13_International debt securities, Brady bonds | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| c. Supplementary information: | | | | |
| 14_Insured export credit exposures, Berne Union | 99,113 | 100,938 | 102,692 | 104,039 |
| 15_Insured export credit exposures short term (BU) | 61,873 | 58,664 | 60,227 | 56,901 |
| 16_Debt securities held by nonresidents | 4,866,185 | .. | .. | .. |
| 161_Paris Club claims (ODA) | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 162_Paris Club claims (non ODA) | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| d. Loans and other credits (Debt due within a year) | | | | |
| 17_Liabilities to BIS banks (cons.), short term | 1,074,620 | 981,718 | 892,617 | .. |
| 18_Official bilateral loans, total, short term | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 19_Official bilateral loans, aid, short term | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 20_Official bilateral loans, other, short term | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 21_Multilateral loans, IMF, short term | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| 22_Official trade credits, nonbanks, short term | .. | .. | .. | .. |
| e. Debt securities (Debt due within a year) | | | | |
| 23_International debt securities, short term | 856,968 | 850,176 | 888,271 | 871,759 |
| 24_Intnl debt securities, nonbanks, short term | 481,950 | 491,997 | 529,169 | 514,819 |
| f. Memorandum items –selected foreign assets/liabilities | | | | |
| 25_International reserves (excluding gold) | 66,607 | 70,448 | 123,255 | 119,719 |
| 251_SDR holdings | 9,340 | 9,437 | 57,945 | 57,814 |
| 26_Portfolio investment assets | 4,267,865 | .. | .. | .. |
| 27_Cross-border deposits with BIS rep. banks | 3,752,843 | 3,846,483 | 3,973,186 | .. |
| 28_Cross-border dep. with BIS banks, nonbanks | 1,802,268 | 1,628,098 | 1,716,537 | .. |
| 29_Liabilities to BIS banks, locational, total | 5,289,063 | 4,917,133 | 5,078,389 | .. |
| 30_Liabilities to BIS banks, consolidated, total | 2,761,479 | 2,680,326 | 2,590,003 | .. |

Please Share Our Content!

ABOUT THE AUTHOR: Christopher Jenkins is a New York Times bestselling ghostwriter and editor of many fiction and nonfiction books, who also writes and speaks about the dangers of The First Sphere of Influence, a global cartel controlled by the House of Rothschild.

Published on Wednesday, March 17, 2010 at 18:46; filed under Afghanistan, Alexander Hamilton, Assassination, BIS, Bernanke, Big Corporation, Bloodlines, Brzezinski, Business, CSIS, Colonel Aaron Burr, Communism, Corporate Greed, Coverup, Democracy, Economics, Fascism, Federal Reserve, Freedom, IMF, IRS, Income Tax, JEDH, Lifestyle, Money, Mononation, OECD, Passive, Politics, Power, Rothschild, Socialism, Taxes, Terrorism, The Fed, US Bill of Rights, US Constitution, US Government, US Treasury, Wall Street, World Bank, World Peace.

Comments are closed.

current topics

THE DEADLY GAME BETWEEN THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD AND AMERICA has been ablaze for 230 years. What's behind the Rothschild's insidious behavior?

PAY IT FORWARD is a highly contagious and necessary human behavior. Find out why.

BANK FOR INTERNATIONAL SETTLEMENTS. BIS is a Rothschild-owned and controlled bank that oversees the world's 165 central banks.

Appendix 11: The Depository Trust Corporation, an unknown 20 trillion dollar company

http://ming.tv/flemming2.php/_show_article/_a000010-000923.htm

by Flemming Funch

There is a busy little private company you probably never have heard about, but which you should. Its name is the Depository Trust & Clearing Corporation. See their Website. Looks pretty boring. Some kind of financial service thing, with a positive slogan and out there to make a little business. You can even get a job there. Now, go and take a look at their annual report. Starts with a nice little Flash presentation and has a nice message from the CEO. And take a look at the numbers. It turns out that this company holds 23 trillion dollars in assets, and had 917 trillion dollars worth of transactions in 2002. That's trillions, as in thousands of thousands of millions. 23,000,000,000,000 dollars in assets.

As it so turns out, it is not because DTCC has a nice website and says good things about saving their customers money that they are trusted with that kind of resources. Rather it is because they seem to have a monopoly on what they do. In brief, they process the vast majority of all stock transactions in the United States as well as for many other countries. And - and that's the real interesting part - 99% of all stocks in the U.S. appear to be legally owned by them.

In the old days, when you owned stocks you would have the stock certificates lying in your safe. And if you needed to trade them, you needed to get them shipped off to a broker. Nowadays that would be considered very cumbersome, and it would be impractical to invest via computer or over the phone. So the shortcut was invented that the broker would hold your stocks instead of you. And in order for him to legally be able to trade them for you, the stocks were placed under their "street name". I.e. they're in the name of the brokerage, but they're just holding them in trust and trading them for you. And you're in reality the beneficiary rather than the owner. Which is all fine and dandy if everything goes right. Now, it appears the rules were then changed so the brokers are not allowed any longer to put the stocks in their own name. Instead, what they typically do is to put the stocks into the name of "Cede and Company" or "Cede & Co" or some such variation. And the broker might tell you that it is just a fictitious name, and will explain why it is really more practical to do that than to put it in your name.

The problem with that is that it appears that Cede isn't just some dummy name, but an actual corporation that DTCC controls. And, well, if you ask anybody about this, who actually knows about it, they will naturally tell you that it is all a formality. To serve you better, of course. And, well, maybe it is. DTCC seems like a nice and friendly company. It is a private company, owned by the same people (major U.S. banks) who own the Federal Reserve Bank. And if they all stick to their job, and just keep the money and your stocks flowing smoothly, I'm sure that is all well and good. But if somebody at some point should decide otherwise, and there's a national U.S. emergency and/or the U.S. government becomes unable to pay its debts, well, they might just not give you your stocks back. Because legally they own them. Something to think about.

An fascinating article about this whole thing is here. I will include it at the bottom too, in case it should disappear. Not that I can vouch for or agree with everything the guy is saying, and some of it is a little whacko, but obviously he's been researching this quite a bit. You'll find very little about it on the net otherwise.

The Unknown $19 Trillion Depository Trust Company

by Anthony Wayne

Part I of II

This exclusive report is a compilation of interviews and background research from October 1995 through April 1999.

The Depository Trust Company (DTC) is the best kept secret in America. Headquartered at 55 Water Street in New York City, the average American has no clue that this financial institution is the most powerful banking corporation in the world. The general public has no knowledge of what the DTC is or what they do. How can a private banking trust company hold assets of over $19 trillion and be unknown? In a recent press release dated April 19, 1999, the Depository Trust Company stated:

The Depository Trust Company (DTC) is the world's largest securities depository, holding nearly $19 trillion in assets for its Participants and their customers.... Last year, DTC processed over 164 million book-entry deliveries valued at more than $77 trillion.

In dealing with the trust department of Midlantic Bank, N.A. in New Jersey [now PNC Bank, N.A.], this writer was authorized, as trustee and power of attorney, to transfer original trust assets comprising of common stocks and bonds to a new trust set up in another jurisdiction. An Assistant Vice President from the Trust & Financial Management Office of Midlantic Bank said to me "it will take at least 6 weeks to do this as the majority of the stocks and bonds are not held in the name of the trust". This same Midlantic Bank Assistant V.P. also stated in a letter dated November 17, 1995, "Of the 11 municipal bonds, 8 are held in book entry only. This means they cannot be physically re-registered with a certificate sent to the new trustees." (* these are not the actual figures quoted in the letter in order to protect the privacy of the account holder, at their request. Also, we were asked not to name the Midlantic Assistant V.P. in order to protect her privacy Rights. We respect these requests with full moral compliance). In disbelief, I brought this matter to the attention of our research assistants at the Christian Common Law Institute [formerly the North Bridge News] and we began our lengthy investigation into the matter. After 3 years, the can of worms we've opened up should frighten every American. With the advent of reported Y2K computer glitches and the possible collapse of our 'paper asset' economy, every person who has a stock or bond in their portfolio had better read this report and act on the information we are disclosing here.

In November 1995, after encountering numerous "no comments" and a myriad of "that's not my department" excuses via telephone, I eventually spoke with Mr. Jim McNeff who told me his position was Director of Training for the DTC. He said he'd been employed there for 19 years and was "very proud" of his employer. During my initial telephone interview, either Jim's employer or some other unknown person or persons were illegally listening or taping our telephone conversation according to the electronic eavesdropping equipment we have installed on our end. Why did anyone feel it was necessary to illegally record our conversation without advising us? Was some federal alphabet agency monitoring DTC calls to safeguard National Security? That in itself is suspicious enough to warrant a big red warning flag.

Jim informed me back then (1995) that "the DTC is the largest limited trust company in the world with assets of $ 9.1 trillion". In July 1998, I spoke with Ms. Rose Barnabic of the DTC Finance Department who said that "DTC assets are currently estimated at around $11 trillion". As of April 19, 1999, the DTC itself has stated that their assets total "nearly $19 trillion" (see above). Mr. McNeff had also stated "the DTC is a brokerage clearing firm and transfer center. We're a private bank for securities. We handle the book entry transactions for all banks and brokers. Every bank and brokerage firm must secure their membership with us in case they become insolvent, so your assets are secure with DTC". Yes, you read that correctly. The DTC is a private bank that processes every stock and bond (paper securities) for all U.S. banks and brokerage houses. The big question is this; Just who gave this private bank and trust company such a broad range of financial power and clout?

The reason the public doesn't know about DTC is that they're a privately owned depository bank for institutional and brokerage firms only. They process all of their book entry settlement transactions. Jim McNeff said "There's no need for the public to know about us... it's required by the Federal Reserve that DTC handle all transactions". The Federal Reserve Corporation, a/k/a The Federal Reserve System, is also a private company and is not an agency or department of our federal government, according to the 1998 Federal Registry. The Federal Reserve Board of Governors is listed, but they are not the owners. The Federal Reserve Board, headed by Mr. Alan Greenspan, is nothing more than a liaison advisory panel between the owners and the Federal Government. The FED, as they are more commonly called, mandates that the DTC process every securities transaction in the US. It's no wonder that the DTC (including the Participants Trust Company, now the Mortgage-Backed Securities Division of the DTC) is owned by the same stockholders as the Federal Reserve System. In other words, the Depository Trust Company is really just a 'front' or a division of the Federal Reserve System.

"DTC is 35.1% owned by the New York Stock Exchange on behalf of the Exchange's members. It is operated by a separate management and has an independent board of directors. It is a limited purpose trust company and is a unit of the Federal Reserve." -New York Stock Exchange, Inc.

Now, let's see how this effects the average working American family. If you're not aware how the system works, you should visit or call a stock broker or bank and instruct them you want to purchase some shares of common stock or a small municipal bond, for example. They will set up a brokerage account for you and act as your agent with full durable power of attorney (which you must legally sign over to them) to conduct business on your behalf, upon your buy or sell instructions. The broker will place your stock or bond purchase into their safekeeping under a "street name". According to Mr. McNeff of the DTC, no bank or broker can place any stock or bond into their firm's own name due to Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and Security and Exchange Commission (SEC) regulations.

The broker or bank must then send the transaction to the DTC for ledger posting or book entry settlement under mandate by the Federal Reserve System. Remember, since your bank or broker can't use their name on the certificate, they use a fictitious street name. "Since the DTC is a banking trust company, we can't hold the certificates in our name, so the DTC transfers the certificates to our own private holding company or nominee name." states Mr. McNeff. The DTC's private holding company or street name, as shown on certificates we have personally examined from numerous certificate holders, is shown as either "CEDE and Company", "Cede Company" or "Cede & Co". We have searched every source known to learn who CEDE really is, but have been unable to get any background information on them. Is Cede Company fictitious or is their identity perhaps a larger secret than DTC? We must presume that the information Mr. McNeff gave us was correct when he confirmed that Cede Company was a controlled private holding company of the DTC. We have now found the following proof that CEDE is real from the Bear Stearns internet site:

NEW YORK, New York - March 16, 1999 - Bear Stearns Finance LLC today announced that it will redeem all of the 6,000,000 outstanding 8.00% Exchangeable Preferred Income Cumulative Shares, Series A ("EPICS") of Bear Stearns Finance LLC, liquidation preference of $25.00 per Series A Share, CUSIP number G09198105. All of the Series A Shares are held by Cede & Co., as nominee of The Depository Trust Company, and the payment of the redemption price will be made to Cede & Co. by ChaseMellon Shareholder Services, LLC, as paying agent, whose address is: 85 Challenger Road, Ridgefield Park, New Jersey 07660.

The banks and brokers are merely custodians for their clients. By federal law (SEC), they cannot hold any assets in the customer's name. The assets must be held in the name of DTC's holding company, CEDE & Co. That's how DTC has more than $19 trillion dollars of assets in trust... or is it really in "trust" if the private Federal Reserve System is technically holding it in their "unknown" entity's name? Obviously, if stock and bond certificates you've purchased aren't in your name, then the "holder" (the Federal Reserve System) could theoretically refuse to surrender them back to you under a "national emergency" according to the Trading with the Enemy Act (as amended). Is this the collateral being held by the private Federal Reserve System to pay off the national debt owed to them by our federal government, first initiated by Lincoln's debt bonds of 1864?

According to Mr. McNeff, the DTC was a former member of the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), and "Our sister company is the National Securities Clearing Corporation... the NSCC" (they have since merged). He was correct since we now know that the NYSE holds 35.1% of the "ownership" of the DTC on behalf of their NYSE members. Simply put, the Depository Trust Company absolutely controls every paper asset transaction in the United States as well as the majority of overseas transactions, and they now physically hold (as of April 1999) 99% of all stock and bond book-entrys in their street name, not the actual owner's names. If you have stock or bond certificates in your name buried in your back yard or under your mattress, we suggest you keep them there. If not, it might be very wise to cancel your brokerage account and power of attorney status, re-register the stocks and bonds in your name (if you still can), and keep them hidden where only you know their location. Otherwise, you have absolutely no control over them (see Part II of our exclusive research report on the DTC for more information on beneficial ownership status). However, getting a stock or bond certificate these days is not so easy if possible at all:

"For the most part, issuers know little about the role of the Depository Trust Company (DTC). The DTC was created in 1973 as a user-owned cooperative for post-trade settlement. Our members are banks and broker/dealers, whom we refer to as participants. We handle listed and unlisted equities, including 51,000 equity issues and 170,000 corporate debt issues, equating to more than 78% of shares outstanding on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE). We also have more than 95% of all municipals on deposit.

In the 1980s, the "Group of 30" [business leaders] recommended that stock certificates be eliminated, because physical certificates create risk. The Securities Exchange Commission (SEC) issued a concept release in 1994 to gradually decrease certificates, providing optional direct registration on the books of the issuer instead of a certificate.... this enhances the portability of shares between transfer agents and brokerage accounts. With the direct registration system, brokers transmit instructions to purchase through DTC, which the issuer or transfer agent then registers, so shares can be delivered electronically." -John D. Faith, Manager, Corporate Trust Services, The Depository Trust Company (1996)

Now we're about to reveal to you the most shocking discovery we came across during our research into this matter. Most of us remember a few years back the purported computerized selling of stocks that resulted in Wall Street's "Black Monday":

Dow Dives 508.32 Points in Panic on Wall Street

"The largest stock-market drop in Wall Street history occurred on "Black Monday" -- October 19, 1987 -- when the Dow Jones Industrial Average plunged 508.32 points, losing 22.6% of its total value. That fall far surpassed the one-day loss of 12.9% that began the great stock market crash of 1929 and foreshadowed the Great Depression. The Dow's 1987 fall also triggered panic selling and similar drops in stock markets worldwide" -Source: Facts on File World News CD ROM

The stock exchanges had dramatic record losses, and a record volume of shares were traded on that infamous Monday in October 1987. We all asked ourselves how computers could have done this by themselves without someone knowing about it. After all, someone has to program a computer to tell it what to do, what not to do, or even when to do or not do it.

During my telephone conversation, Mr. McNeff was trying to assure me that they [the DTC] have "never lost a certificate or made a mistake in a book ledger transaction". In attempting to give me an example of how trustworthy the DTC is when I asked him how he could back up such a statement, he replied "DTC's first controlled test was 4 or 5 years ago. Do you remember Black Monday? There were 535 million transactions on Monday, and 400 million transactions on Tuesday". He was very proud to inform me that "DTC cleared every transaction without a single glitch!". Read these quotes again: He stated that Black Monday was a controlled test. Black Monday was a deliberately manipulated disaster for many Americans at the whim of a controlled test by the DTC.

What was the purpose of this test? Common sense tells you that you test something before you intend to use it. It's quite obvious that the stock markets are going to 'crash and burn' at some future date and for some 'unknown' reason since the controlled test was so successful. Was this just one of the planned tests for a Y2K internationally planned worldwide economic meltdown? The Great Depression is about to be repeated, and it will be as deliberate and manipulated as the first one that began with the stock market crash of 1929. We are, without a doubt, on the brink of the Mother of all economic Depressions. As of May 3, 1999, the Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) went above a record 11,000 points. Just prior to the 1929 stock market crash, Wall Street was posting record prices, record earnings, and record profits.... just like the scenario we are experiencing today. Will Y2K be a manipulated and deliberate a financial meltdown? Too many facts already support this probability.

On June 7, 1995, the federal government issued a new regulation requiring stock and bond certificate transfers to be cleared in three days instead of the previous five day time period. It coincided with the infamous Regulation CC that purportedly gave us faster three day availability of funds from deposited checks. This means that brokers and banks must get your stock or bond transaction into the street name (Cede & Co.) of the DTC within 3 working days. That's hard to do considering banks claim it takes 3 or more days to clear a check that you've submitted to pay for a stock purchase. But, there's a reason for this new regulation and it coincides with the introduction of the new FRS "dollars".

On February 22, 1996, "the DTC will flip the switch" according to Mr. McNeff. "What switch?", I asked. "This is the day that clearing house funds will no longer be accepted for stock or bond transactions" was my reply from Jim. "Instead, only Fed Funds will be accepted". Fed Funds, or a Fedwire, are electronic computer ledger debit transfers between Federal Reserve System member banks. No checks or drafts have been allowed from that day, just as Mr. McNeff accurately stated. This is more commonly called a 'cashless transaction'. I call it the reality of the mark of the beast. This is the manifestation of the new international god, the New World Order [I prefer the term 'New World DISorder' as a more accurate description].

Consider this my fellow Christian Americans: All pension funds and other institutional 'managed funds' are comprised of paper asset investments such as stocks, bonds, and mutual funds. These certificates are technically in the name of DTC's private holding company, CEDE and Company. The DTC is owned by the private Federal Reserve System owners (Click for a complete list of names). Congress has attempted, on no less than two occasions since 1995, to pass legislation allowing pension funds to be used by the government as purported 'loans'. All the Federal Reserve System has to do is hand it over. But, what happens to the people counting on those pension fund investments in order to feed themselves in their retirement? Too bad for them.... they're out of luck because for the 'good of the nation', they may be forced to share or relinquish their lifetime of hard-earned wealth. This can be done without the consent of Congress under an Executive Order based on the War and Emergency Powers Act and a state of National Emergency, just like we are already under (See further Executive Orders). Since the Federal Reserve System already holds our stocks and bonds in their fictitious DTC "street name", CEDE, then perhaps they'll cash them in for the federal government's failure to repay the loans that have become way overdue. Heck, some of Lincoln's gold backed bonds from 1864 have not been repaid yet.... and for a reason.

On March 6, 1933, all bullion gold and gold coins were forcibly taken from the hands of private citizens (see New York Times). Under the War Powers Act, President Roosevelt declared a national emergency touted as a "Banking Holiday". It was declared due to the deliberately calculated stock market crash that preceded the Great Depression. Where did this gold end up? Into the hands of the Federal Reserve System owners. The majority is stored in the impervious rock vaults they own beneath New York City. Is it any surprise that the DTC physically holds all the remaining non-book entry issued stock and bond certificates in the same place?

Technically, our entire nation is still under the Executive Order declaration of the War Powers Act and in a continual state of national emergency (See Clinton's 1994 Executive Order 12919). The President can enforce any new emergency at any time under Executive Order or Presidential Directive. In 1995, we [the former North Bridge News] published that we expected a new national "dollar" emergency to be declared within a year or two. Just like we thought at the time, they have now blamed it on the purported drug dealers who are allegedly destroying our currency by money laundering schemes.

Since late 1996, old U.S. $100 FRB notes issued by the Federal Reserve Bank are being exchanged for new $100 FRS issued by the Federal Reserve System. These new notes have scanable magnetic platinum encryption on the plastic strips embedded inside the bills. The U.S. Treasury claims this is for "the blind". Now, new $20 and $50 FRS's are replacing the older notes as well. What people don't realize is that very soon, the older FRB notes will no longer be 'legal' and there will be a penalty for hoarding them. This is what happened to those Americans holding gold and gold coins after 1933.

"We are most gratified with the successful introduction of the new $100 and $50 notes and look forward to the same success with the new $20s," Chairman Greenspan said. For the first time, a machine-readable capability has been incorporated for the blind. A new feature in the $20 will facilitate the development of convenient scanning devices that could identify the note as a $20. -U.S. Treasury, Office of Public Affairs, RR-2449 released May 20, 1998.

Why new paper 'money' and for what purpose? Because the new FRS notes in your pocket can be scanned and whoever scans them can know exactly how much money you have on you. The older FRB notes are not encoded to do this. This writer knows firsthand of at least one machine, manufactured by Diebold, Inc. (a/k/a InterBold) that scans the money in your pockets, wallet or purse no different in theory than a credit card scanner, but much more sophisticated. I participated in a 'test' of this machine at a U.S. international airport in 1998. To me, it looks much like the standard metal detector scanners you walk through at all airports. I was asked (by who I believe was a U.S. Treasury Agent, as he introduced himself and flashed his ID quickly in my face so I couldn't read it) if I had any of the new $100 or $50 bills in my pockets. I looked in my wallet and saw I had one new $100 FRS note. I told him "yes", then he said "Good, but don't tell me how much". After saying he would "really appreciate it" if I would help them with a test, he asked me to walk through what looked like a typical airport scanner. No beeps. No noise. No sound at all. He looked at a computer screen and said "Do you have a new $100 bill?". When I confirmed that was true, he thanked me and told me to please move on. I tried to ask him how the machine knew that, but he ignored my question. I took a good look at the scanning system and believe I have now spotted them at Kennedy, Atlanta, Miami and Los Angeles airports.

The odd part about this is that these machines seem to all be located in the customs areas where you enter the U.S. from a foreign country. Obviously, they want to know if someone is carrying more than $10,000 into the U.S. Common sense dictates that they should be more concerned about people leaving with more than $10,000 if they're really trying to thwart the drug dealers.... until you begin to realize that there must be some other hidden agenda: They are apparently going to stop money from entering the U.S. for a reason.

Will the President call for the confiscation of all gold bullion and bullion coins as Roosevelt did? Who will end up with it? The Federal Reserve System owners, just like before. Since June 1998, international gold supplies have been so low that some private Swiss Banks have been paying a premium above the market wholesale value for gold bullion. This was confirmed to us by a gold and diamond mining Chief Executive from Rex Mining in Guinea, West Africa, who supplies raw gold to a major Swiss Banking company smelter and processor. The spot gold market has been manipulated to keep the price low so that the Federal Reserve System owners can purchase all that is available through their various trusts and corporations. World gold availability on the open market is now at a record low and mining production of gold is also at a record low output.

What happened to 'supply and demand' with gold and silver? Normally, when supply is high the price decreases. When supply is low, precious metal prices increase. Perhaps the private FED will peg the new dollar to gold prices, as many experts have already speculated. What will stocks and bonds purchased with old dollars be worth then? Pennies to the dollar, so to speak. Who ends up being the only winner? The Federal Reserve System stockholders. They control the circulation amounts of paper money in the U.S. Combine that with the new scanner to stop large amounts from entering into the U.S., and the scenario amounts to a planned shortage of paper FRS notes, the banning of the older FRB notes, and the soon to be astronomical price of gold which most Americans will be forbidden to have or hoard, once again. The facts we've presented in this report all point to this.

People will be at the mercy of the federal government for daily food and for jobs. Checks are soon to be totally phased out. Banks issue ATM debit cards and tell you they must charge more for your account if you use a real live human teller instead of the machine. The switch is being turned on. This is not speculation. This is the truth of reality. It's already been tested, and their new system works. Just ask Jim McNeff of the DTC.

Part II of II- You don't own your Stocks....or any of your Bonds...The Depository Trust Company does. by Anthony Wayne

In Part I of this series, excerpts of which were first published in November 1995 by the former North Bridge News, we exposed The Depository Trust Company (DTC) as the Unknown $ 9.1 Trillion Company. It appears that our startling discoveries of the inner-workings of the DTC had only scratched the surface. We'd like to add more fuel to this blazing fire by further exposing the DTC and those behind it.

The Depository Trust Company has grown since October 1995. On July 1998, this amount was estimated by a DTC employee at more than $11 Trillion. As of April 19, 1999, the DTC itself has stated in a press release that their asset value is nearly $19 trillion. In 3 1/2 years, their assets increased nearly $ 10 Trillion. That's a lot of stocks and bonds supposedly held in trust. The latest trend over the past ten years is for stock and bond brokers to offer "book-entry ownership" only. Every book-entry stock or bond is literally owned by the DTC. Since 1985, most bond and many stock issuers have converted from the issuance of certificates to book-entry systems administered and controlled by the DTC. As of March 1999, the National Securities Clearing Corporation (NSCC) and the Participants Trust Company (PTC) are now merged into the DTC. Practically, there isn't one stock or bond issued that is not controlled by the

DTC.

If you purchase any stock or bond through a broker, it is being held for you under a "street name" by the DTC unless you have specifically requested to hold the certificate yourself. If you have a book entry stock or bond, you won't be issued a certificate. It's important to note that you have purchased that particular stock or bond without becoming a registered holder of the actual stock or bond certificate. Instead, you have become a beneficial owner. The difference between the two is like night and day. Take the time to absorb and understand the following definitions:

REGISTERED HOLDER- A Registered Holder literally possesses, owns, and holds, his stock or bond with his name appearing on the face of the certificate. The company that issued the certificate has registered the owner's (holder's) name on their official books. This is the safest way to own a paper asset. You literally possess the fully registered certificate and only you can transfer or sell it. By all Rights and definition of law, you are the owner. You have it, you hold it, you possess it, and you keep it. You have the complete control over it.

BENEFICIAL OWNER- A Beneficial Owner is nothing more than a beneficiary, "One who is entitled to the benefit of a contract"- A Dictionary of Law, 1893. All book-entry stocks and bonds you purchase make you the beneficial owner, not the registered holder. The owner of a book-entry stock or bond is the entity or name that it is registered under.

The DTC owns that bond or stock, not you. Rather than in your name, it's registered (as the legal Registered Owner or agent) in their "street name", Cede & Company. (In the past, it may have been registered in your broker's street name, but this is no longer allowed). The DTC is the Registered Owner - holder - of your stock or bond. The DTC is the legal property-holder, share-holder, stock-holder, owner and purchaser. Your name appears nowhere on the book entry or certificate as the actual owner. Instead, you have been designated by the legal registered owner, the DTC, as the Beneficial Owner. This means that your lawful Rights in that stock or bond are confined to that of a successor or heir.

At the University of Utah College of Law, we found the following examination question about Cede & Co.:

The common stock of LargeCo, Inc. is publicly traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Over 2/3rds of the shares are registered on LargeCo's books in the name of Cede & Co. Cede is a depository company which holds the shares as nominee on behalf of brokerage firms, mutual funds and other active traders. The brokerage firms in turn are also nominees with respect to some of the shares, which they hold on behalf of their customers. Nominees, such as Cede and brokerage firms holding for customers, view the customer as the beneficial owner of the shares and consider the customer to be the one with the right to vote the shares; mutual funds, however, view the fund as the owner of the shares it holds and vote the shares themselves.

Most of the remainder of LargeCo's stock (26% of the total) is held by the Large family, which is still actively involved in management. LargeCo is aware that the beneficial owner of about half the stock registered in Cede's name is the Small family, who live next door to the Larges in downtown Rome, and that the remainder of the Cede stock is beneficially owned by several well known mutual funds.

According to the DTC, under the US Security and Exchange Commission (SEC) rules, you only have the right to "receive proceeds or other advantages as the beneficiary". You are not the owner... you are the consignee, "One who has deposited with a third person an article of property for the benefit of a creditor"- A Dictionary of Law, 1893. In legal terms, you are considered the heir presumptive or heir at law to the stock or bond you paid for. The DTC controls, possesses as creditor, holds and owns your book-entry stock or bond. This is a difficult pill to swallow for those who have placed their assets in stocks and bonds over the past decade. Your broker sends you a fancy accounting every month of your purported holdings, along with dividend and interest payments paid. The fact is, you only receive the benefit of ownership (interest and dividends) without holding title to your property. You are at the mercy of the registered owner, the DTC. If you don't believe this is true, then call your broker right now and ask them who's name is listed as the Registered Holder of your book-entry stocks and bonds. If you're lucky, the broker will tell you "why of course you're the Beneficial Owner", then you'll know the truth. He may emphasize to you that the stocks and bonds are being held in "safe keeping" for your own protection. This is broker language for "your stocks and bonds are held by the DTC in their street name as the creditor".

From J.P. Morgan's internet site: Registered and beneficial shareholders

There are two types of shareholders: registered, who hold an ADR in physical form, and beneficial, whose ADRs are held by third-parties and are listed under a "nominee" or "street" name.

Registered shareholders are listed directly with the issuer or its U.S. transfer agent. The transfer agent handles the record-keeping associated with changes in share ownership, distribution of dividend payments, and investor inquiries; it also facilitates annual meetings. An issuer's depository bank can provide the identities of registered shareholders on a regular basis. However, this may not provide the level of shareholder identification required for a successful investor relations effort. Registered shareholders are typically individual investors who have physical possession of their share certificates, generally in lots of 100 shares or fewer. The registered list also includes nominee names such as Cede & Co., which represent the aggregate position of the Depository Trust Company (DTC), the primary safekeeping, clearing, and settlement organization for securities traded in the United States. DTC uses electronic book-entry to facilitate settlement and custody rather than the physical delivery of certificates.

Beneficial shareholders, which can include individual as well as institutional investors, do not have physical possession of their certificates; third-party broker-dealers or custodian banks hold their securities on their behalf. These shares are said to be held in street name because they are kept with the DTC in the name of the broker-dealer or the custodian bank - not the underlying shareholder. Lists of beneficial shareholders who do not object to disclosing their holdings are available from banks and broker-dealers. These lists, called NOBO for Non-Objecting Beneficial Owner, typically provide the names of individual investors.

To help identify institutional investors, who do not usually disclose their holdings, issuers use publicly available filings. Large holders, including investment managers, are required to make periodic filings - such as 13-F, 13-G, and 13-D - with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) disclosing the name and value of the positions in their portfolios.

Which brings us to the street name used, registered, and designated by the DTC as the registered owner of over $19 Trillion (USD) of our stocks and bonds... CEDE & Co. Everyone in the brokerage business keeps pronouncing this name as "See Dee" and Company, but it's spelled C-E-D-E and pronounced "Seed". This is where the real irony comes.

According to Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, 1990, the word Cede is defined as "To yield up; to assign; to grant; to surrender; to withdraw. Generally used to designate the transfer of territory from one government to another". In the Black's 1951 Fourth Edition, it lists the following as supportive case law; Goetze v. United States, C.C.N.Y., 103 Fed. 72.

Have you made the connection yet? Your book-entry stocks and bonds and all stock and bond certificates purchased through your broker and held by them under your brokerage account are owned by CEDE & COMPANY (the DTC) as the registered owner. You have surrendered, assigned and granted ownership to someone else other than yourself. Their name says it all.

How ironic and sarcastic can they be?

"CEDE- To surrender possession of, especially by treaty. See Synonyms at 'relinquish'." -American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language, 3rd Edition of 1992

If Americans had any idea that they have relinquished the lawful ownership of their stocks and bonds to someone or something else, there would be a revolution. In a sense, that's why we are exposing this paper asset scam to you. The point is, now that you know the truth, do something about it and get your assets back into your name.

Our suggestion to you is this: If you don't literally have every stock and bond registered certificate in your possession, then promptly call your broker and tell him you want all your securities transferred and re-registered into your name as the Registered Holder and Owner. If he says he can't do that because your stock or bond is a book-entry transaction only, we strongly suggest, for your own security, that you sell your book-entry assets immediately. Don't let the broker tell you that it's "safer" for you if they keep your certificates. Remember, you know the truth. Even if all your stock and bond certificates were burned in a fire, the process to have them replaced is simple. If someone were to steal your certificates, you simply report them stolen to the company that issued them and they're automatically cancelled, just like a stolen credit card. Replacement certificates are then issued to replace the lost or stolen originals.

Most people don't realize that when they open a brokerage account, they have entered into a contractual agreement allowing the broker to assign the stocks and bonds to an undisclosed creditor, the DTC. (We suggest you read the small print on your brokerage agreement). This gives the broker your express written permission to place all your securities into the ownership of the DTC. Your broker is an agent for the DTC through mandatory Securities and Exchange Commission regulations and mandates by the Federal Reserve System private bank. Your broker represents them, not you. Your brokerage account is nothing more than a ledger of accounting. It reflects no assets held in your name. The assets are registered in a "street name" that is not you or your name. Sure.... you receive the interest and dividends, but you do so as a beneficiary to the real owner. Your brokerage account in no way, shape, or manner reflects who literally owns your securities. What you own is a brokerage account and nothing more.

A greater consideration is just exactly who does the DTC hold these securities for? As the owner, who has the DTC pledged these securities to? Our research points to the Federal Reserve System, an international private banking cartel with major offices found in Moscow, London, Tokyo, and Peking. By treaty with the United Nations and in compliance with the Bretton Woods Agreement, the DTC under regulation of the Federal Reserve System has pledged all those stocks and bonds to the International Monetary Fund (IMF). These are the same paper securities found in your IRA and pension fund accounts, as well as in your brokerage account. Remember, you don't own them.... you're just a beneficiary.

The truth is, the securities you purchased and paid for with your hard earned money is collateral for the United Nations which is backed by the Federal Reserve System and its associated agencies, such as the International Monetary Fund. Is it any wonder that the UN can operate year after year with increasing budgets, but without sufficient funds? The UN has nearly $19 Trillion of backing and reserves, thanks to millions of duped Americans. We are financing the New World Dis-Order with our stocks and bonds.

The History of Money Details, Part II

What is MONEY? How is it created? Where does it come from? Who gets to create it? How does it become debased? How did it get turned from an asset into a debt? What powers does it give to its creator or issuer? Who holds these powers? What future plans do the issuers of money have for us slaves? Let's discover!

Before money, there was CREDIT & enslavement; World mostly ruled by Criminal Feudals

In ancient times, babies were born free, free, free. The system they were born into did not enslave them. People were free individuals and everyone had to hunt/cultivate for their own food and shelter. As some lazy feudal (i.e. criminal) minded people organized themselves to control others with their collaborating thugs in a form of protection racket covering a certain geographical territory, the concept of "my fiefdom" and "my serfs" (slaves and vassals) evolved. The Feudal Lords (and associated hierarchies of kings, queens, emperors, barons, bishops, counts, knights, princes, etc.) criminally claimed all the land in an area and everyone else had to rent it from them, and in addition, they claimed a part of the peoples' labor, i.e. this is enslavement. Slaves of a particular fiefdom were hunted down if they escaped to a neighboring free land. As feudal lords developed their self-serving fiefdoms along with their self-serving priests, gods and scriptures, people were born as slaves. Today, instead of being born owning a piece of the Earth as their birthright, children are born as financial slaves into a system that loads them with tremendous debt, interest payments, tax payments, inflation, a wage slave with no place to escape to. The propaganda since birth makes people think they are free. Rulers have almost always been criminals and con-artists who are masters at tricking and fooling the masses. The Banking Dynastic Families have usurped our birthrights.

Within a fiefdom, money-changers were appointed to encourage production, transactions and collection of taxes/tithes. It is the actual production of the required goods and services that produces wealth in a community. As it is difficult and time consuming to barter the multitude of goods that are produced, and in order to facilitate trade and to encourage investment of labor into the production of goods and delivery of services in anticipation of sales, an agreed upon exchange mechanism such as tokens or "money" was required which can then be traded further. Internal agreements (e.g. chips issued by the authorized entities) were required for trade within the fiefdom and external agreements (e.g. silver pieces) were required for trade across fiefdoms. Thus, the money-changers or issuers of tokens became the real power behind the thrones and they decided how wealth will be shared, keeping the largest share for themselves.

Since the times of the Babylonian Nimrod and Prophet Abraham four thousand years ago, the times of ancient Rome and Greece, the times of the Pharaohs and other Dynasties, the self-anointed illuminated ones, wealthy nobles, rulers and controllers have been devising and evolving systems to enslave the peasants mentally and physically for their own financial benefits and comforts. All the Prophets of God and other men of conscience have exposed them and their usury/slavery systems; thus these Illuminati have a special aversion to the Torah, the Bible and the Quran. Although God's prophets were often the only ones speaking out against tyranny, let's keep in mind the following quote from Mahatma Gandhi "If only one person knows the truth, it is still the truth".

Due to the discoveries of various technologies, we have been able to free most people from the basic chores of hunting/cultivating for food and shelter. With such major technological breakthroughs, the sharing of wealth should have elevated standards of living throughout the World but due to the greed of the money-changers who are now the Banking Dynasties, the World's finances are in miserable condition with the wealth derived from productivity gains being shifted to the Feudal criminals. The ancient feudal money-changer elites have managed to keep us in the same ancient fiefdom of financial enslavement where they get a major cut of the serf's productive work so that they reap the benefits of the peoples' productivity gains. They have further refined their control systems with technology and there are no more free lands to escape to, i.e. we are trapped in a World-wide system. Total enslavement is in the works as more and more of the World is coming under the Banking Dynasties' centralized communist-style New World Order (Alex Jones of <http://www.infowars.com> explains it brilliantly in his video documentaries). Let's discover more...

How is Wealth Created? Can it be stored & at what cost? Does it maintain its value while in storage?

The Banklords love money because they have the monopoly to create it from nothing (will be explained in detail later), it lets them buy most anything, it lets them make more money without working via interest, and it gives them POWER and prestige over the lives of men. For example, how much extra work is needed to create $900 billion as opposed to just $9 billion? One has only to press the zero key twice!

Initial wealth exists in the form of Earth's natural resources of land, minerals, air and water which in theory should be shared equally among all residents of the planet. Additional wealth is created when people work and produce something of value to themselves and/or to others. Work typically involves activities that move things about, combine things, rearrange things, etc. If the activities are productive, the end product or service is more valuable than the sum of the individual parts to someone who is willing to buy it in exchange for something else. This then generates income and wealth for the individual and society. How this wealth is distributed is another question. As we note, the wealth always seems to trickle upwards to the ruling Feudal Elites.

Can surplus wealth or income be stored? Well, if wealth is in the form that does not deteriorate and a form that is always in demand, then yes, it can be stored. For example, if someone's wealth is in the form of gold, and if someone can always be found to accept the gold in exchange for something else, then yes, wealth is stored. However, if the amount of gold is large, then there will be storage and carrying costs associated with it and note that its value changes with the times and the circumstances at the time the stored wealth needs to be exchanged. If the wealth was in the form of produce such as say bananas, well then it would be quite costly to store. If the wealth is in the form of a building, there are maintenance and tax costs, etc. If the wealth is in the form of oil stored in the ground, then there is no storage cost, however, there is a cost of anywhere from $6 per barrel to $30 or more per barrel to get it out of the ground.

Another type of stored wealth is you, i.e., your ability to perform labor. As we will see later, if the wealth is in the form of alleged "national fiat currency", then its value changes due to many factors. For example, although its storage cost is zero, the Federal Reserve Dollar Note today is worth 2% of what it was worth back in 1913.

Today's money's value is not created by the private banking corporations that now control it. Money has the value of the skilled peoples, resources, and infrastructure, working together in a supportive social and legal framework within the geographical area of where the money is accepted to facilitate trade. Money is the indispensable lubricant that lets them "run." It is not tangible wealth in itself, but a power to obtain wealth or a claim to wealth. Money is an abstract social power based in law; and whatever government accepts in payment of taxes will be money.

How is wealth destroyed? Mostly through wars and crises orchestrated by the Elite Banking Dynasties and their associates in the military-industrial-political complex. What if paper money is burnt or sunk at the bottom of an ocean? Well, no actual wealth was destroyed however the liquidity has disappeared from the economy and thus potential transfer or production of goods and services has been affected.

How is wealth transferred? Through taxes, inflation, bail-out transactions, theft and fraud.

What was/is Money? The Forms of Money & the Dahler (Dollar)

Broadly speaking, money is any good or service we trade. In a narrower sense, money is a commodity such as gold or silver that can easily and readily be traded in exchange for other goods and services and can serve as a liquid store of one's wealth. In the past, paper money issued by a money changer represented a commodity that existed, e.g. gold, silver, etc. The "DOLLAR" (from daalder, dhaler, thaler, an abbreviation of Joachimsthaler) was a piece of money first coined, about the year 1518, in the valley of St. Joachim, in Bohemia, Germany. In the US, its definition used to be:

- (a) A silver coin of the United States containing 371.25 grains of silver and 41.25 grains of alloy having a total weight of 412.5 grains.
- (b) A gold coin of the United States containing 23.22 grains of gold and 2.58 grains of alloy having a total weight of 25.8 grains, nine-tenths fine (one ounce is 480 grains, so this is about $20 per ounce).

Gold's value in terms of the basic goods it can buy has been steady for over 2000 years. However, the value of the dollar has always been dropping steadily; it's elastic and no longer fixed to a real commodity. Let's explore further. The dollar is no longer worth 1/20th of an ounce of gold and is no longer coined in gold. Today's paper or account dollars no longer represent a fixed commodity as per the above definition (even today's coins are not worth anywhere near their face value although lately due to the rising prices for metals, the material in these coins is worth more if its melted and sold), but they are still referred to as "money", or more precisely, they are fiat money, i.e. token money created from nothing (a bit like "THE CREATOR"; someone's promise to pay is treated as an asset against which currency is created by the Banks) which actually represents a debt (a debt record), a bit like you creating paper tokens or rainchecks or coupons or promissory notes with no ties to an existing commodity that you own but rather using the productivity of others as collateral! i.e. fiat money has no bank-owned commodity backing it except that most people accept it in exchange for goods through the force of bad/fraudulent/dishonest legislation or military might. Note that the US$ Federal Reserve Note (FRN) no longer says that it is redeemable or that the Federal Reserve Bank will pay the bearer on demand the sum of the face value of the note in real commodity Dollars. The US$ states only that the FRN is legal tender for all debt payments (history later on how Roosevelt forced all Americans to turn in their gold for a big loss).

Whereas a dollar represented 1/20th of an ounce of gold at the turn of the 20th century, it is no longer measurable against a fixed asset and actually is a promissory note and represents a claim collectable against the citizens and properties of the United States. The dollar represents an elastic (not absolute or fixed) measure that changes with time, especially through the built-in inflation that is inherent in such debt or credit/flat money economies. Furthermore, issuance of the dollar is actually a "private credit monopoly" based on a promise-to-pay represented by "paper notes" or ledger/computer entries. Today's money represents a debt owed by a country's citizens as a whole and the value of this debt changes due to inflation and fluctuating interest & exchange rates. Dollars are issued with no liability to the owners of the Federal Reserve private banks who are the issuers of this credit money which is created as a debt using the masses as collateral, a.k.a. flat money created from nothing using the citizens as collateral, therefore, the banking system owners own you! You are no longer born free owning your share of the planet's natural resources!!

Today, money is no longer commodity-based and represents a collective debt, i.e. money no longer represents an asset and due to inflation, it is not a good store of one's savings. Today's dollar comes into existence out of nothing when someone wants to borrow it from a bank and the BankLords get an enormous cut of our productivity for merely issuing this piece of paper against the collective credit of the people as collateral. This dollar which was created by the stroke of a pen is a promissory note that must be accepted by all within the United States jurisdiction in exchange for goods or services that they provide. Meanwhile, the BankLords collect interest on this note that passes from person to person in exchange for goods and services, i.e. a perpetual cash cow for having done next to nothing and for not doing anything after issuing it. Thus, the banking masters create claims against the entire country and will eventually take ownership of it all, as explained in several quotes from past US presidents and founding fathers.

Let's explain further with a review some of the forms or types of money:

1) Actual Goods and Services: if we trade 1 ton of wheat for 1 barrel of oil, the wheat or the oil are considered the "money". Barter is kind of awkward and inconvenient to trade since not everyone wants these particular goods and services at the same time, although it does have its place in both huge and small transactions.

2) Gold & Silver Coins: if we trade a ton of wheat for a real gold coin, then the money is the gold coin. Trading with gold or silver coins greatly facilitates trading for the persons who have the gold or silver coins because they don't rot with time, maintain their value and are globally accepted. Hence, to expand their trading powers, colonial armies would steal the gold and silver of their victims. Later, you will see how the IMF/World Bank is attempting to monopolize gold. He who holds the gold (or gets to use gold or oil as a security) makes the rules!

3) Gold & Silver Certificates: a paper certificate can also be issued in lieu of real gold or silver coins as long as the actual gold or silver is in the issuer's possession in a safe vault. Certificates are easier to trade but if someone steals the gold & silver from the issuer's vault, they become worthless.

4) Tokens or Rainchecks or Promissory Notes: these coins actually contain nothing valuable if compared to their face value. If we issue a token or a raincheck (paper, metal, plastic) to allow the bearer to receive some goods and services from our company, the token is the money. The token represents a debt or an "I owe U". This token is limited in its trading range since it is only accepted by a few people in a particular relatively small geographical area.

5) National Currency Coins (Fiat Coins Currency): these coins are created by the Government and actually contain nothing valuable if compared to their face value; the metals contained in a one dollar coin are hardly worth a penny. However, with inflation and rising commodity prices, some of these coins which did contain some metals are worth more than their face value are being melted and sold for paper currencies. The acceptability of these coins is due to legislation which forces a seller to accept them in exchange for goods and services to settle a debt. Thus, "fiat coins" are tokens that are acceptable in a country by the power of legislation although they don't have an actual intrinsic value. The coins represents a debt against the country's citizens as a whole or an "I owe U" but are issued debt-free by the state. They represent a tiny insignificant amount of the money in circulation.

There were always two distinct and incompatible ways of appraising the precious metals, i.e. one ways as plain commodities, and the other ways as money or proto-money where the value was what the monarch stamped on a sample of the metal. Treating money as a simple commodity thus requires a high degree of obfuscation. The introduction of smaller silver coins into ancient Greece introduced money to the small farmers. Previously if they borrowed commodities such as grain before harvest was in, they repaid it in kind. But with the introduction of small silver coins they might borrow the grain when its market value was high and then by the time repayment was due, find the value of the currency in terms of grain had risen ruinously. Or they may have received the loan in money at the Athens rate but were required to pay interest at the Corinthian or Aeginetan rate which could be 50% higher. Where you have several different coining authorities – there were three in ancient Greece – the repertory of possible tricks multiplies. That is why in Sparta, Lycurgus outlawed the use of gold and silver as money and introduced iron "cakes," whose usefulness as a commodity was deliberately destroyed by being dipped in vinegar while still hot. Thereby it became unambiguously a nomisma, worthless except as a medium for trading.

6) National Currency Paper (Fiat Paper Currency): these paper notes are created from nothing by the BankLords (the process is called "monetizing an individual promise to pay into a national promise to pay") and actually contain nothing valuable if compared to their face value; the paper contained in a one dollar bill is hardly worth a penny. "Fiat paper notes" are an "I owe U" promissory notes, like tokens or claim tickets or shares or stock certificates, and through the power of law they must be accepted anywhere in the U.S.A. in exchange for goods or services. In the case of foreign governments, the power of military might and threats from the US government who is acting on behalf of the BankLords forces foreign governments into accepting the Federal Reserve Paper Notes and holding it as a reserve currency (why else does the US have around 1,000 bases around the World? Its merely doing the bidding of the City of London/Rome square mile BankLords who have a new military power at their disposal after British imperial power was found to be insufficient to control the entire World for them).

When required, the privately owned Fed gets the Treasury's Bureau of Engraving & Printing (BEP) to print Federal Reserve Notes for the cost of printing.

7) National Currency Account (Fiat Currency Account): these bank accounts actually contain nothing valuable if compared to their face value; the cyber computer database bits/bytes storing the value of your bank account are hardly worth a penny. "Fiat currency" is like cyber or computer tokens or claim tickets or shares or stock certificates. It's the same situation as in 6) above.

8) World Currency SDRs (Special Drawing Rights): these are issued by the IMF/World Bank to debtor 3rd World countries and again it is fiat money. IMF/World Bank is in the process of stockpiling the World's gold bullion supply (already has about 2/3rds of it) as part of the operations of the New World Order to force a new World currency in the future. These SDRs represent a debt or an "I owe U" owed by the citizens of the World to the BankLords who own the privately owned Federal Reserve banks and commercial banks which created this currency from nothing and at no liability to themselves. The liability of providing a service or product in exchange of these notes is always passed on to the World's taxpayers.

9) Commodities: Certain commodities can be considered money. For example, oil is always in demand around the World. Oil reserves can be considered like money in the bank.

10) Etc.: There were and are other forms of money since ancient Babylonian times and the chapter on The History of Money will elaborate on this, e.g. seashells, bricks, whale's teeth, boar's tusks, stones, feathers, coconuts, cocoa beans, iron rings, salt, beaver pelts, blankets, bronze axes, wheels,.....

Money takes the form of whatever people agree on or whatever governments/feudal lords force on the people to use for trade. The monetary system works best when money is used as a medium of exchange and not as a store of value waiting to be exchanged for a product/service. Some forms of money are universally accepted and some are locally accepted. Some represent an existing asset such as gold or silver, i.e. real money. Some represent private debt and some in addition represent a national debt such as paper currency money, i.e. a token or fiat money or a credit "point" system. This type of money is actually stock whose value keeps decreasing due to dilution, corrupt credit issues, balance of trade, speculative attacks, accumulated debt and liabilities, etc. The dollar now is only a share counter with no fixed commodity value, i.e. it's not really money, it is credit money or fiat money! Money records the intermediary step during a trade, e.g. I sell my labor to someone and I get pieces of paper in return as a record. I haven't yet gotten a service or product in exchange for my labor, i.e. this is an incomplete trade represented by the paper credit notes that are waiting to be spent at some future date (your money is not your money until the day you spend it). Therefore, there is always an amount of liquid money in circulation waiting to be spent.

Money created from nothing, i.e. without any existing asset in escrow to back it, is called FIAT money. Fiat money is thus an "I owe U" and note that due to inflation money loses its value over time. Inflation is caused by dilution in the value of the fiat money (just like diluting a stock by issuing more at no cost or if the demand for the stock goes down or the company performance degrades, or speculative attacks, accumulated debt and liabilities, etc.) due to the non-productive use of the fiat money issued and due to corrupt issues of the currency. And even inflation is taxed! We will explain later but to summarize INFLATION = INEFFICIENCY + WASTE + DISHONESTY + CORRUPTION. This gap between the "commodity value" of the material substance of the monetary piece of paper or cyber book entry and its purchasing power is a bottomless well of temptation for the private BankLords who get to issue it using our and the future generation's production and wealth as collateral and at no risk to themselves. Thus, fiat money must be protected by strict control on its issue. In little-known and hidden chapters of history, this has accounted for the purloining of the wealth of empires. Unless an honest public body retains the power of creating money and keeps alive the distinction between the legal tender that can take the form of paper bills and the worth of the material, inked paper or whatever, society is flying blind, and inviting robbery by the descendants of the ancient "priest-bankers" from Babylon, Jerusalem and Rome.

The Federal Reserve System is the BankLords' Bank, IT IS A PRIVATE CARTEL (Quit Bono Who Benefits?)

The FED is the Bankers' bank. A non-bank goes to the commercial banks to borrow money. The commercial banks go to the Federal Reserve banks to borrow money when they have a temporary shortfall as people shift money between banks. The FED banks cannot fail because they can always print money at a very low charge from the Treasury's Bureau of Engraving & Printing (BEP) to cover whatever payments it needs to make.

The same people who own the major commercial banks also own the Federal Reserve Banks. The privately owned Federal Reserve (FED) banks and commercial banks actually issue (create) the "money" we use. In 1964, the House Committee on Banking and Currency, Subcommittee on Domestic Finance, at the second session of the 88th Congress, put out a study entitled Money Facts under the sponsorship of Congress Wright Patman (http://eldoradogold.net/pdf/October_2006/Patman_PrimerOnMoney.pdf) which contains a good description of what the FED is: "The Federal Reserve is a total money-making machine. It can issue money or checks. And it never has a problem of making its checks good because it can obtain the $5 and $10 bills necessary to cover its check simply by asking the Treasury Department's Bureau of Engraving & Printing (BEP) to print them." Any one person or any closely knit group who has a lot of money has a lot of power. Now imagine a group of people who have the power to create credit and print money to cover it. Imagine the power these people would have. This is exactly what the privately owned FED is!

Sir Josiah Stamp, former President, Bank of England: "Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money and control credit, and with a flick of a pen they will create enough to buy it back."

By the power of fraudulent legislation, these credits are created by the private BankLords at no liability to themselves via the privately owned Federal Reserve central banks and commercial banks, yet the interest and the debt is repayable to them in the form of the same paper that they issued from nothing or actual goods and services. The currency notes that they issue are an "I owe U" representing a national debt owed by the citizens of the country to whoever holds the currency in the form of dollar accounts or Treasury Bonds or Bills or other types of "Promises to Pay" against which these notes were issued. The BankLords who own the privately owned Federal Reserve banks and Commercial Banks and issue the notes for the cost of printing them have no liability because they have passed it on to the taxpayers by issuing this national currency. Although the liability has been passed onto the taxpayers and citizens, the BankLords reap the benefits and the debt is still owed to the BankLords and not to the taxpayers.

In the past, US Banks who had escaped the clutches of the Bank of England issued their own private currencies; however, with the creation of the privately owned Federal Reserve System banking cartel, the American relatives of the European Banklords regained control of America. The Bank of England has been issuing national currency since its start in 1694 and has thus been enslaving people since a longer time. People escaped the European slavery and came to the US to be free. We can note how the European standard of living is lower than the US. But now, these international BankLords have been sabotaging the US since its independence from Europe and are trying to bring ours freedoms further down.

Whenever money is created by the BankLords, the liability is collectivized and passed on to the taxpayers as a whole. A VERY BIG FRAUD! If the currency had been issued by the government on behalf of the citizens as it should be, it would have been debt free and interest free while circulating within the country. The BankLords have usurped our lives by using us as collateral for the national currency which they issue. The ancient word for this is slavery.

The problem is about who controls the issue of this "Fiat money" or "credit money". This type of money is a claim against the earnings and wealth of the living, the dead and the unborn as the fiat money debt is passed from generation to generation. The fiat money is created from nothing by private BankLords who monetize individual promises to pay and issue this "money" at no liability to themselves using (us) the masses' current and future wealth as collateral yet the interest and the debt is repayable to them in the form of paper or actual goods and services which they can repossess against a debt which they created from nothing. There is no way for governments to repay it ever.

Thus, the BankLords have enslaved us and our future generations and will take over all governments and wealth gradually by demanding real assets against the phony paper money which they printed or by demanding that the phony paper money not be spent and actually be given back to them in exchange for bonds. The take-over of the economy by the BankLords achieved by usurping the right to create credit money from the people has thus required the suppression of much of our history and literature, beginning with Aristotle and Plato who were explicit on the distinction between the two aspects of money.

In the case of the US$ fiat currency, it is issued by a private central bank known fraudulently as the Federal Reserve Banks. The Fed banks are a banking cartel owned by the same people who own the major commercial banks. These major BankLords can slowly squeeze out the smaller banks in addition to fleecing the World. The private Federal Reserve, with no assets, creates & issues this credit money currency from nothing for the cost of printing, or the cost of a computer database entry, and it expects this to be paid with eternal interest, and sometimes with gold or other real commodities and it expects this paper money credit to be guaranteed by our past, present and future labor (insult to injury) i.e. a gigantic fraud (see quotes from the Founding Fathers later). The BankLords create money by merely creating paper credits in the central banking cartels which they own and in the local banks which they also own. The Dollars created by the Fed represent a national debt owed to the private BankLords who own the Fed and issue the currency at no cost and liability to themselves because Dollars are non-redeemable by the FED and can be redeemed for goods and services from others' labor. The rest of the World mostly accepts this system of fiat currency due to the power of the fraudulent Federal Reserve Act backed by the US military and propaganda machines. The money the BankLords create at no liability to themselves is redeemable for any goods or services produced by anyone willing to accept the private Federal Reserve dollar currency notes and cheques.

Notice how Iraq was invaded after it decided to use the Euro€ instead of the US Dollar$ for its oil trade. Under occupation, Iraq was forced to resume trading oil for US$ (as for Afghanistan, it's about controlling China, energy pipelines and reviving the multi-billion dollar drug trade which the Taliban had eradicated) and the price of oil went from $15 to $75 quintupling the $ purchase requirements, i.e. from over $600 million daily to over $3 billion daily. Now, Iran is under threat after having switched to the Euro for its oil trade.

TODAY'S MONEY IS NOT WHAT IT USED TO BE. OUR FIAT MONEY IS A PROMISE TO PAY, i.e. A RAINCHECK TOKEN ISSUED BY PRIVATE BANKSTERS AT NO LIABILITY TO THEMSELVES FOR ANYTHING THAT CAN BE PURCHASED IN AMERICA (and many other places in the World) WHOSE REDEEMABLE VALUE CHANGES WITH TIME. IT IS A FRAUDY LEGISLATED WAY TO FACILITATE & COMPARITELY MEASURE AND TRACK PRODUCTION TRANSACTIONS BASED ON A PROMISE TO PAY!!!! Fiat money is workable as along as the government of the people, for the people and by the people issues fiat money for the people's benefit only. But through bloody historical events which we will describe in this book, private banking dynasties have monopolized the issuance of money and have usurped this power from governments which they now control. In the US, the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank has the power to issue the fiat currency. If a private party issues the national currency, it has the power to create currency that can be redeemed for anyone else's goods and services even though it was created from nothing by the issuer without the issuer being liable for any redemption, i.e. the private money is issued using us as collateral, a de-facto legalized privatized counterfeiting monopoly given by fraudulent legislation which enslaves us. The Fed owners make the rules for their benefit! And the rest of the World is accepting to hold this fiat currency as their reserve under US military threat thus providing the BankLords something for nothing (since the dollar notes are merely paper which they got printed)!! A BIG FRAUD ON ALL!!! REMEMBER, FIAT MONEY DOES NOT CREATE GOODS & SERVICES. WORK CREATES GOODS & SERVICES!!! IT'S IMPORTANT TO UNDERSTAND THIS WHEN WE DISCUSS INTEREST AND USURY LATER.

The Federal Reserve Bank, a.k.a Federal Reserve System, is a Private Corporation. Black's Law Dictionary defines the "Federal Reserve System" as: "Network of twelve central banks to which most national banks belong and to which state chartered banks may belong. Membership rules require investment of stock and minimum reserves." Privately-owned banks own the stock of the FED. This was explained in more detail in the case of Lewis v. United States, Federal Reporter, 2nd Series, Vol. 680, Pages 1239, 1241 (1982), where the Court said: "Each Federal Reserve Bank is a separate corporation owned by commercial banks in its region. The stock-holding commercial banks elect two thirds of each Bank's nine member board of directors." The Federal Reserve Banks are locally controlled by their member banks. Once again, according to Black's Law Dictionary, we find that these privately owned banks actually issue money: "Federal Reserve Act Law which created Federal Reserve banks which act as agents in maintaining money reserves, issuing money in the form of bank notes, lending money to banks, and supervising banks. Administered by Federal Reserve Board (q.v.)".

Let's Call The Federal Reserve: Where does money come from? Who gets to Create the Credit Fiat Money!

The following is a conversation with Mr. Ron Supinski (415) 974-3231 of the Public Information Department of the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank. This is an account of that conversation by Dan Benham (Oct 8, 1992, http://www.maxexchange.com/ybj/chapter_1.htm):

CALLER - Mr. Supinski, does my country own the Federal Reserve System? MR. SUPINSKI - We are an agency of the government.
CALLER - That's not my question. Is it owned by my country? MR. SUPINSKI - It is an agency of the government created by congress.
CALLER - Is the Federal Reserve a Corporation? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes
CALLER - Does my government own any of the stock in the Federal Reserve? MR. SUPINSKI - No, it is owned by the member banks.
CALLER - Are the member banks private corporations? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes
CALLER - Are Federal Reserve Notes backed by anything? MR. SUPINSKI-Yes, by the assets of the Federal Reserve but, primarily by the power of congress to lay tax on the people.
CALLER - Did you say, by the power to collect taxes is what backs Federal Reserve Notes? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes
CALLER - What are the total assets of the Federal Reserve? MR. SUPINSKI - The San Francisco Bank has $36 Billion in assets.
CALLER - What are these assets composed of? MR. SUPINSKI - Gold, the Federal Reserve Bank itself and government securities.
CALLER - What value does the Federal Reserve Bank carry gold per oz. on their books? MR. SUPINSKI - I don't have that information but the San Francisco Bank has $1.6 billion in gold.
CALLER - Are you saying the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco has $1.6 billion in gold, the bank itself and the balance of the assets is government securities? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes.
CALLER - Where does the Federal Reserve get Federal Reserve Notes from? MR. SUPINSKI - They are authorized by the Treasury.
CALLER - How much does the Federal Reserve pay for a $10 Federal Reserve Note? MR. SUPINSKI - Fifty to seventy cents.
CALLER - How much do they pay for a $100.00 Federal Reserve Note? MR. SUPINSKI - The same fifty to seventy cents.
CALLER - To pay only fifty cents for a $100.00 is a tremendous gain, isn't it? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes
CALLER - According to the US Treasury, the Federal Reserve pays $20.60 per 1,000 denomination or a little over two cents for a $100.00 bill, is that correct? MR. SUPINSKI - That is probably close.
CALLER - Doesn't the Federal Reserve use the Federal Reserve Notes that cost about two cents each to purchase US Bonds from the government? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes, but there is more to it than that.
CALLER - Basically, that is what happens? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes, basically you are correct.
CALLER - How many Federal Reserve Notes are in circulation? MR. SUPINSKI - $263 billion and we can only account for a small percentage.
CALLER - Where did they go? MR. SUPINSKI - Peoples mattress, buried in their back yards and illegal drug money.
CALLER - Since the debt is payable in Federal Reserve Notes, how can the $4 trillion national debt be paid-off with the total Federal Reserve Notes in circulation? MR. SUPINSKI - I don't know.
CALLER - If the Federal Government would collect every Federal Reserve Note in circulation would it be mathematically possible to pay the $4 trillion national debt? MR. SUPINSKI - No CALLER - Am I correct when I say, $1 deposited in a member bank $8 can be lent out through Fractional Reserve Policy? MR. SUPINSKI - About $7.
CALLER - Correct me if I am wrong but, $7 of additional Federal Reserve Notes were never put in circulation. But, for lack of better words were "created out of thin air" in the form of credits and the two cents per denomination were not paid either. In other words, the Federal Reserve Notes were not physically printed but, in reality were created by a journal entry and lent at interest. Is that correct? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes CALLER - Is that the reason there are only $263 billion Federal Reserve Notes in circulation? MR. SUPINSKI - That is part of the reason.
CALLER - Am I mistaking that when the Federal Reserve Act was passed (on Christmas Eve) in 1913, it transferred the power to coin and issue our nation's money and to regulate the value thereof from Congress to a Private corporation. And my country now borrows what should be our own money from the Federal Reserve (a private corporation) plus interest. Is that correct and the debt can never be paid off under the current money system of country? MR. SUPINSKI - Basically, yes.

CALLER - I smell a rat, do you? MR. SUPINSKI - I am sorry, I can't answer that, I work here.

CALLER - Has the Federal Reserve ever been independently fully audited? MR. SUPINSKI - We are audited.

CALLER - Why is there a current House Resolution 1486 calling for a complete audit of the Federal Reserve by the GAO and why is the Federal Reserve resisting? MR. SUPINSKI - I don't know.

CALLER - Does the Federal Reserve regulate the value of Federal Reserve Notes and interest rates? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes

CALLER - Explain how the Federal Reserve System can be Constitutional if, only the Congress of the US, which comprises of the Senate and the House of representatives has the power to coin and issue our money supply and regulate the value thereof? [Article 1 Section 1 and Section 8] Nowhere, in the Constitution does it give Congress the power or authority to transfer any powers granted under the Constitution to a private corporation or, does it? MR. SUPINSKI - I am not an expert on constitutional law. I can refer you to our legal department.

CALLER - I can tell you I have read the Constitution. It does NOT provide that any power granted can be transferred to a private corporation. Doesn't it specifically state, all other powers not granted are reserved to the States and to the citizens? Does that mean to a private corporation? MR. SUPINSKI - I don't think so, but we were created by Congress.

CALLER - Would you agree it is our country and it should be our money as provided by our Constitution? MR. SUPINSKI - I understand what you are saying.

CALLER - Why should we borrow our own money from a private consortium of bankers? Isn't this why we had a revolution, created a separate sovereign nation and a Bill of Rights? MR. SUPINSKI - (Declined to answer).

CALLER - Has the Federal Reserve ever been declared constitutional by the Supreme Court? MR. SUPINSKI - I believe there have been court cases on the matter.

CALLER - Have there been Supreme Court Cases? MR. SUPINSKI - I think so, but I am not sure.

CALLER - Didn't the Supreme Court declare unanimously in A.L.A. Schechter Poultry Corp. vs. US and Carter vs. Carter Coal Co. the corporative-state arrangement an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power? ["The power conferred is the power to regulate. This is legislative delegation in its most obnoxious form; for it is not even delegation to an official or an official body, presumptively disinterested, but to private persons." Carter vs. Carter Coal Co...] MR. SUPINSKI - I don't know, I can refer you to our legal department.

CALLER - Isn't the current money system a house of cards that must fall because, the debt can mathematically never be paid-off? MR. SUPINSKI - It appears that way. I can tell you have been looking into this matter and are very knowledgeable. However, we do have a solution.

CALLER - What is the solution? MR. SUPINSKI - The Debit Card.

CALLER - Do you mean under the EFT Act (Electronic Funds Transfer)? Isn't that very frightening, when one considers the capabilities of computers? It would provide the government and all its agencies, including the Federal Reserve such information as: You went to the gas station @ 2:30 and bought $10.00 of unleaded gas @ $1.41 per gallon and then you went to the grocery store @ 2:58 and bought bread, lunch meat and milk for $12.32 and then went to the drug store @ 3:30 and bought cold medicine for $5.62. In other words, they would know where we go, when we went, how much we paid, how much the merchant paid and how much profit he made. Under the EFT they will literally know everything about us. Isn't that kind of scary? MR. SUPINSKI - Yes, it makes you wonder.

CALLER - I smell a GIANT RAT that has overthrown my constitution. Aren't we paying tribute in the form of income taxes to a consortium of private bankers? MR. SUPINSKI - I can't call it tribute, it is interest.

CALLER - Haven't all elected officials taken an oath of office to preserve and defend the Constitution from enemies both foreign and domestic? Isn't the Federal Reserve a domestic enemy? MR. SUPINSKI - I can't say that.

CALLER - Our elected officials and members of the Federal Reserve are guilty of aiding and abetting the overthrowing of my Constitution and that is treason. Isn't the punishment of treason death? MR. SUPINSKI - I believe so.

CALLER - Thank you for your time and information and if I may say so, I think you should take the necessary steps to protect you and your family and withdraw your money from the banks before the collapse, I am. MR. SUPINSKI - It doesn't look good.

CALLER - May God have mercy on the souls who are behind this unconstitutional and criminal act called the Federal Reserve. When the ALMIGHTY MASS awakens to this giant hoax, they will not take it with a grain of salt. It has been a pleasure talking to you and I thank you for your time. I hope you will take my advice before it does collapse. MR. SUPINSKI - Unfortunately, it does not look good.

CALLER - Have a good day and thanks for your time. MR. SUPINSKI - Thanks for calling. --- end - of - call ---

This interview is the work of Daniel Benham d.benham@Worldnet.att.net. Benham wrote: If the reader has any doubts to the validity of this conversation, call your nearest Federal Reserve Bank, YOU KNOW THE QUESTIONS TO ASK! You won't find them listed under the Federal Government. They are in the white pages, along with Federal Express, Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC), and any other business. Find out for yourself if all this is true. The owners of the major banks depend on peoples' lack of understanding to maintain their stranglehold on our pockets. And then, go to your local law library and look up the case of Lewis vs. US, case #80-5905, 9th Circuit, June 24, 1982. It reads in part: "Examining the organization and function of the Federal Reserve Banks and applying the relevant factors, we conclude that the federal reserve are NOT federal instrumentality's... but are independent and privately owned and controlled corporations - federal reserve banks are listed neither as 'wholly-owned' government corporations [under 31 USC Section 846] nor as 'mixed ownership' corporations [under 31 USC Section 856] . . . 28 USC Sections 1346(b), 2671.' Federal agency' is defined as: the executive departments, the military departments, independent establishments of the United States, and corporations acting primarily as instrumentality's of the United States, but does not include any contractors with the United States . . . There are no sharp criteria for determining whether an entity is a federal agency within the meaning of the Act, but the critical factor is the existence of the federal government control over the 'detailed physical performance' and 'day to day operations' of that entity. Other factors courts have considered include whether the entity is an independent corporation . . . whether the government is involved in the entity's finances, . . . and whether the mission of the entity furthers the policy of the United States . . . Examining the organization and function of the Federal Reserve Banks, and applying the relevant factors, we conclude that the Reserve Banks are not federal instrumentalities . . . It is evident from the legislative history of the Federal Reserve Act that Congress did not intend to give the federal government direction over the daily operation of the Reserve Banks . . . The fact that the Federal Reserve Board regulates the Reserve Banks does not make them federal agencies under the Act . . . Unlike typical federal agencies, each bank is empowered to hire and fire employees at will. Bank employees do not participate in the Civil Service Retirement System. They are covered by worker's compensation insurance, purchased by the Bank, rather than the Federal Employees Compensation Act.

Employees traveling on Bank business are not subject to federal travel regulations and do not receive government employee discounts on lodging and services . . . Finally, the Banks are empowered to sue and be sued in their own name. 12 USC Section 341. They carry their own liability insurance and typically process and handle their own claims. . ." According to the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, "When the Federal Reserve was created, its stock was sold to the member banks." ("The Hats The Federal Reserve Wears," published by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia). The Fed is a BankLords' monopoly cartel: Monopoly - "A privilege or peculiar advantage vested in one or more persons or companies, consisting in the exclusive right [or power] to carry on a particular business or trade, manufacture a particular article, or control the sale of the whole supply of a particular commodity, A form of market structure in which only a few firms dominate the total sales of a product or service. 'Monopoly' as prohibited by Section 2 of the Sherman Antitrust Act, has two elements: possession of a monopoly power in relevant market and willful acquisition or maintenance of that power, as distinguished from growth or development as a consequence of a superior power, business acumen, or historical product. A monopoly condemned by the Sherman Act is the power to fix prices, or exclude competition, coupled with policies designed to use and preserve that power." (Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Edition) The Federal Reserve Act goes one step farther, "No Senator or Representative in Congress shall be a member of the Federal Reserve Board or an officer or director of a Federal Reserve Bank." They didn't want We The People to have any say in the operation of their monopoly through our elected officials.

"The Constitution is not an instrument for the government to restrain the people, it is an instrument for the people to restrain the government - lest it come to dominate our lives and interests." [through being controlled by Feudals] -- Patrick Henry

Today's private central and local banks create this fiat money and still call it dollars. There is no gold or silver backing the money in your bank account. The reason your account money or paper money have purchasing power is because others accept it in exchange for their goods and services and you accept it as well, through The Force Of bad/fraudulent/dishonest/immoral Legislation domestically and through the force of the military abroad! We need to have a mutually agreed upon and acceptable point system or money to facilitate our transactions of goods and services. That is essential for the on-going distribution of produced goods and services. But, control over the forms and issuance of fiat money yields IMMENSE powers to its private controllers who can create depressions, recessions, booms and busts, all the while accumulating wealth and land from the common people, as we will show later. Examples of the immense powers are issuing loans to self and fellow operatives or their corporations or tax-exempt foundations at zero interest and then writing them off and withholding or calling-in loans to bankrupt others, etc.

William Findley (1785) on the private issue of national fiat money: "This institution [private central bank], having no principle but that of avarice, will never be varied in its object... to engross all the wealth, power and influence of the state."

Money is also used to measure and store a value for our production efforts. If this effort is stored as a commodity such as real gold and silver coins or certificates of ownership of gold and silver which are on deposit in a safe, then its value is stable. If the effort is stored as fiat paper money (money not backed directly by a commodity but rather just printed or issued into an account as a future promise to pay or give something in return), then its value is variable and based on the conditions prevailing at the time of trying to use this money. You can be sure that today's dollar is definitely not worth the dollar definition which was $20 per ounce of gold in 1518. Today's "Promise to Pay the Bearer on Demand" is phony because you will not get anything except a fresh crispy note if you go to the issuer to cash your dollar. You certainly will not get the 25.8 grains of gold! The ancient elites understood money mechanics. So, long ago in the dark unwritten pages of human history, powerful kings discovered how they could control and enslave other men by a combination of money, tithing, interest, torture, magical practices, wars, politics, and idolatrous religions (self-worship or worship of one's unrestrained desires). These elite families designed strategies and tactics to monopolize power and wealth, limit their competition, and perpetuate their occult practices. Layers upon layers of secrecy have hidden these families from the masses but many wise authors have touched upon their existence.

What Reserves? Private Fed/Commercial Banks CREATE MONEY FROM NOTHING & LEND "I-O-U's

There is a huge misconception among people that the private banks lend money which is on deposit with them. In actual fact, the privately owned Federal Reserve and Commercial Banks lend out which they create from nothing. W. Hadley Robinson, Fellow of the Institute of Bankers, (F.I.B.) in his 'Money and the Citizen': "They [the Bankers] manufacture credit by a mere stroke of the pen." A.L.G. MacKay, Professor of Economics, University of Rangoon, stated "By means of a loan, overdraft, or by cashing of bills, the banks are able to increase the volume of deposits in the community, and because of this process it is not correct to say that a bank loans out deposits which people make with it. It is clear that it creates the deposit by the issue of the loan; the loan travels back to the bank or another bank and assumes the form of a deposit".

So what/where are the reserves? The reserves are our collective future products and services, i.e. WE ARE THE RESERVES, not the FED nor the commercial banks. The FED and commercial banks actually lend "I-O-U's or Federal Reserve Dollar Notes with the "promise" that anyone in the US will accept these notes in exchange for their goods or services, i.e. the FED is using us as credit collateral. The FED can print or issue as many dollars (notes or ledger/computer entries) as it wants against our collective credit; the history of inflation and the M3 measure of money are proofs of this. So, the "reserve" is the FED's ability to create as many dollars as its owners require, using us all as the collateral against which to collect on those dollars, i.e. the Banklords issue, we "pay with our labor or assets", they collect the interest and foreclose on assets, A GIGANTIC FRAUD.

"I have never yet had anyone who could, through the use of logic and reason, justify the Federal Government borrowing the use of its own money....I believe the time will come when people will demand that this be changed. I believe the time will come in this country when they will actually blame you and me and everyone else connected with the Congress for sitting idly by and permitting such an idiotic system to continue." The late Congressman Wright Patman, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency for over 16 years.

See House of Representatives, Banking and Currency Committee hearing of September 30, 1941:

1. Congress says, "We need $10 Billion."
2. So they go over to the Treasury and say, "We need $10 Billion."
3. The U.S. Treasury prints up $10 Billion in government bonds.
4. They take those bonds over to the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank (Fed) down the road from the Treasury.

5. They walk into the Fed with these $10 Billion in bonds and say, "We need to borrow $10 Billion."
6. The purchase of bonds by the Fed from the Treasury is approved by the Federal Open Market Committee.
7. The Fed takes that $10 Billion in Bonds and agrees to then loan the U.S. Government $10 Billion by either cheque, electronic transfers or by printing Federal Reserve Notes (the US$ notes or paper currency).
8. The Fed writes into their little ledger with a stubby pencil, "US Government owes us $10 Billion." (Actually, it's done by computer nowadays.)
9. The Fed then creates money out of thin air by authorizing some currency to be printed as well as electronic transfers to the Government's account. These credits are based on nothing and created out of thin air. Note that the legislated legal tender in the US is the private Federal Reserve Note (not a United States Government Note). The Federal Reserve notes are printed by the Treasury upon a request from the Fed and given for the cost of printing (about 3 cents per note and not the face value) to the Fed. The Fed is using the Treasury BEP as a print shop and to add insult to injury, the Treasury guarantees the private bank's Federal Reserve Notes as legal tender in the United States backed by the taxpayers' wealth!!!
10. Now the U.S. Government's account has been credited with $10 Billion and it owes another $10 Billion to the Federal Reserve Bank.
11. The receiving commercial bank then uses these credits as reserves from which they can loan out ten times the amount by again creating money out of thin air using ledger entries. This is known as fractional reserve banking. The books are balanced by treating your promise to pay as the asset against which the currency is created, just like in the case of the Government loan where the Fed used the Government Bonds as the asset against which Federal Reserve Notes and credits were issued.
12. The commercial banks must borrow from the Fed or their depositors $1/10^{\text{th}}$ the amount of money they create from nothing when making loans. A bank's lending is ultimately limited by the amount of its own capital (assets minus liabilities). The capital adequacy rule requires that the ratio of its capital to risk-weighted assets be at least 8%. For example, mortgage loans have a risk weighting of 0.5 in contrast to ordinary loans which have a risk weighting of 1.0. Since the bank plans to expand its balance sheet by \$5,000,000, it must have excess capital of at least $\$5,000,000 \times 0.5 \times .08 = \$200,000$.

The above process injects currency into the economy. To reduce the amount of money in the economy, they simply reverse the process. The Fed sells the government bonds to the public and money is drawn from the purchasers' bank to pay for them. Each million withdrawn lowers the banks ability to loan by 10 million. The Federal bank in this way has overall control of the US money supply. The Banksters through the magic of fractional reserve banking have been delegated the right to create 90% of the money supply. This control makes a mockery of any elected government. It places so called leaders behind a toy steering wheel, like the plastic ones, set up to amuse small children.

Who Owns The FED Banks? Same People who own the Commercial Banks=CREDIT MONOPOLY!

The original Stockholders of the Federal Reserve Banks in 1913 were the Rockefeller's, JP Morgan, Rothschild's, Lazard Freres, Schoellkopf, Kuhn-Loeb, Warburgs, Lehman Brothers and Goldman Sachs (all with roots in Germany's Zionists just like the British Royal family, J.P. Morgan, Carnegie, Bush, Rumsfeld, Clintons, the Nazis that were brought into the CIA, etc.). http://land.netonecom.net/tlp/ref/federal_reserve.shtml

The federal government does not own any stock in the Federal Reserve System. In that sense, the Fed is privately owned. In the case of the Fed System, the stock carries no proprietary interest, cannot be sold or pledged as collateral, and does not carry ordinary voting rights. The function of the twelve regional Fed Reserve Banks is to hold cash reserves of the system, supply currency to member banks, clear checks, and act as a fiscal agent for the government. These 12 are corporations with stock held by the commercial banks which are members of the system. The national Board of Governors, together with the Open Market Committee, with the New York regional Bank being more powerful than the other eleven, meet frequently. Decisions are made at secret meetings. A brief report of some of the proceedings is issued 6 weeks later, but transcripts of the deliberations are destroyed. [This has been policy since 1970 when the Freedom of Information Act was passed. Not even the CIA enjoys such secrecy]. Each bank in the system is entitled to one vote, regardless of the stock held. Stock Certificates are not evidence of "ownership" but of how much operating capital each shareholder bank has contributed to the system. The Fed is not a government agency and it is not a private corporation in the normal sense of the words. It is subject to political control yet, because of its enormous power over politicians and the elective process, it has managed to remain independent from political oversight. Simply put, it is a cartel, and its organizational structure is uniquely structured to serve that end.

Private Monopoly - "A privilege or peculiar advantage vested in one or more persons or companies, consisting in the exclusive right [or power] to carry on a particular business or trade, manufacture a particular article, or control the sale of the whole supply of a particular commodity. A form of market structure in which only a few firms dominate the total sales of a product or service. 'Monopoly,' as prohibited by Section 2 of the Sherman Antitrust Act, has two elements: possession of a monopoly power in relevant market and willful acquisition or maintenance of that power, as distinguished from growth or development as a consequence of a superior power, business acumen, or historical product. A monopoly condemned by the Sherman Act is the power to fix prices, or exclude competition, coupled with policies designed to use and preserve that power." (Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Edition) The Federal Reserve Act goes one step farther, "No Senator or Representative in Congress shall be a member of the Federal Reserve Board or an officer or director of a Federal Reserve Bank." They didn't want We The People to have any say in the operation of their monopoly through our elected officials. If the Federal Reserve Banking System is completely lawful then it is both a legalized fraud and a legalized monopoly on fraud! ("monopoly capitalism" = communism = fascism = imperialism) <http://www.truthusa.org/articles/fed/calltofed.htm> <http://www.rense.com/general29/ringring.htm> http://www.infowars.com/articles/economy/phone_call_to_def.htm <http://www.nogw.com/>

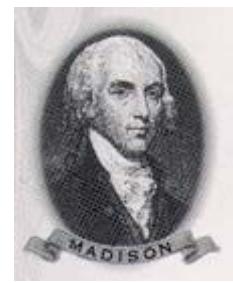

The Biggest Problem on Earth: The Privately Owned/Controlled Feudal Credit Money System

Sir Josiah Stamp, former President, Bank of England: "Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money and control credit, and with a flick of a pen they will create enough to buy it back."

"Modern Banking" was actually devised over 4,000 years ago in the ancient Babylonian and Roman days of slavery of the masses [of course, without the electronic information systems that are now available]. The Pharaohs ruled by dividing their subjects into casts and degrees like their predecessor Nimrod, the builder of the infamous tower of Babel and initiator of Masonry. These ancient rulers would enslave many of their subjects, and their supporters, enforcers and stooges would also benefit from the slavery of the masses. These ancient rulers imposed collections (taxes with no services) to expand their own wealth. Interestingly enough, these ancient rulers would not get involved in the business of private "money lenders or changers" who would also be imposing a form of collection known as "interest" and "inflation" and "depression" and "recession" and "boom", and if they tried, they would wind up assassinated as we will show later. (note that inflation is also taxed!) Remember that it's not until the 1850s that the serfs were freed in Europe and then later that the Africans slaves were freed in America. Let's go forward and review the history that revolves around MONEY & USURY (and giving false measure).

The biggest problem facing all human beings today is the creeping slavery created by the private monopoly on the issuance and creation of "fiat" money at no liability to themselves (money created from nothing by the stroke of a pen or keyboard) that the Illuminati Bankers who own the central and local banks have managed to usurp from the people at least since the creation of the private central Bank of Rome in 45 AC, the private central Bank of England in 1694, the private US Federal Reserve Banks in 1913 and so on! These Illuminati Banking Dynasties lend this "fiat" money to the people's Governments, corporations and individuals charging interest on this money which they created from nothing and also make gains by manipulating the issuance of money; the debt and the associated interest payments are inherited and grow from generation to generation forever and have enslaved past, present and future generations eternally!! The only way to momentarily stop this pyramid scheme from collapsing is for governments to keep borrowing more and more!!! Whenever this pyramid collapses, the Illuminati Banksters go on a buying spree for bargains while others suffer!!!! Another way to keep this pyramid going is to create wars & terror so that all sides have to borrow money from the Banksters!!!! Meanwhile, the number of enslaved peoples World-wide keeps growing begging for handouts at the mercy of the Illuminati Banksters whose wealth and power keep skyrocketing!!!! In order to keep their mafia cash cow or Golden Calf system going, the Illuminati Banksters use some of their immense wealth to buy influence and propaganda fronts to blame the Earth's problems on all other systems and religions thus diverting attention from themselves and the fact that they have usurped the power to create money from the people's sovereign governments. The money the BankLords create at no liability to themselves is redeemable for any goods or services produced by anyone willing to accept the private Federal Reserve dollar currency notes and cheques. This theme will be illustrated in details throughout this book.

Thomas Jefferson: "I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance... If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered... The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the government to whom it properly belongs." "The modern theory of the perpetuation of debt has drenched the earth with blood, and crushed its inhabitants under burdens ever accumulating". ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809)

Jefferson saw it coming 150 years ago. Can you now see what is in store for us if we allow the FED to continue controlling our country?

Of the first bank Jefferson said: "The Bank of the United States is one of the most deadly hostilities existing against the principles and form of our Constitution. I deem no government safe which is under the vassalage of any self-constituted authorities, or any other authority than that of the nation or its regular functionaries. What an obstruction could not this bank of the United States, with all its branch banks, be in time of war? It might dictate to us the peace we should accept, or withdraw its aid. Ought we then to give further growth to an institution so powerful, so hostile?"

"Whenever the people are well-informed, they can be trusted with their own government. Whenever things get so far wrong as to attract their notice, they may be relied on to set them to rights." - Thomas Jefferson

James Madison (author Bill of Rights): "History records that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments by controlling money and its issuance."

President Andrew Jackson: "If congress has the right under the Constitution to issue paper money, it was given them to use themselves, not to be delegated to individuals or corporations".

President Abraham Lincoln: "The Government should create, issue, and circulate all the currency and credits needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers. By the adoption of these principles, the taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest. Money will cease to be master and become the servant of humanity...I am a firm believer in the people. If given the truth, they can be depended upon to meet any national crisis. The great point is to bring them the real facts."

As Lincoln Warned: "I see in the future a crisis which unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. Corporations have been enthroned, an era of corruption will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people, until wealth is aggregated into a few hands and the Republic destroyed." He had also said - 3 days before they shot him in 1865 that - "Money will no longer be master but become the servant of humanity"

As Napoleon pointed out: "Terrorism, War & Bankruptcy are caused by the privatization of money, issued as a debt and compounded by interest "- he cancelled debt and interest in France - hence the Battle of Waterloo waged against him by the BankLords.

In the past, World events were related towards creating this financial monopoly throughout the World. Now, everything happening on Earth is related to either maintaining this monopoly where it exists or expanding it to the rest of the World. (See the amazing interview with former European Currency Economist Bernard Lietaer in a later section later which sheds a lot of light on this fraud). How did the banking cartel usurp the right to issue money from the people's sovereign government? By the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 passed under the supervision of President Woodrow Wilson. Listen to his words a few years after he signed the Federal Reserve Act: President Woodrow Wilson 1919: "I am a most unhappy man. I have unwittingly ruined my country. A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the civilized World no longer a Government by free opinion, no longer a Government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a Government by the opinion and duress of a small group of dominant men. "I have involuntarily ruined my government". "Some of the biggest men in the United States... are afraid of something. They know there is a power somewhere so organized, so subtle, so watchful, so interlocked, so complete, so pervasive, that they had better not speak above their breath when they speak in condemnation of it". President Woodrow Wilson gave 3 radio broadcasts in 1921 warning of growing Illuminati control of the US banking system.

Representative Wright Patman, former Chairman of a House Banking Committee said: "The Federal Reserve Banks create money out of thin air to buy Government bonds... The Federal Reserve Bank is a total money making machine." [They have monopoly on counterfeiting money]

Former Federal Reserve Bank Chairman Eccles was asked by Patman, "Mr. Eccles, how did you get the money to buy these two billion dollars of government bonds." Mr. Eccles replied, "We create it." "Out of what?" Patman asked. "Out of the right to issue credit money", i.e. out of nothing. This right to create money out of thin air was given to the Private Federal Reserve Bank by a fraudulent act of Congress in 1913 known as the Federal Reserve Act, same fraud has been happening since the 17th century with the Private Bank of England and other banks. The FED issues Federal Reserve cheques redeemable as Federal Reserve Notes only with no liability to itself. The Fed is not subject to taxes and in-depth audits. The local banks create credit money as well but not currency notes. Read later about how most central banks are privately owned/controlled outright or de-facto.

Congressman Wright Patman (May 5, 1975): "In its sixty-year history, the Federal Reserve System has never been subjected to a complete, independent audit, and it is the only important agency that refuses to consent to an audit by the Congressional agency, the General Accounting Office."

Money is (was?) a Commodity Substitute. A commodity substitute is required to immensely facilitate and speed up the exchange of goods and services. Money that is backed by an existing asset is real money. However, today's paper notes and credit balances are like IOUs or promissory notes, i.e. they are a promise to provide a commodity at some point in the future and are not real money but rather promises to pay. We are living in a privately controlled credit monopoly system that is producing "fiat" or illusionary money. (<http://www.canadianactionparty.ca/MainPages/Comic.asp?Page=4&Language=English>). Real money is debt free and whether it is a coin or a real money note, it represents real value. Fiat money is a debt and whether it is a private Federal Reserve Dollar Note (FRN) or a credit in a bank account, it represents an IOU from the Federal Reserve or local bank against which no asset exist that are owned by the issuer. The private issuer gets to place a demand against everyone else's assets or products and services to fulfill this debt whilst the issuer is without any liability, i.e. a big legalized fraud. Lets see who is this "invisible hand "controlling the issue of money.

Trilateralist strategy: monopolisation of the World's resources, production facilities, labour technology, markets, transport and finance. These aims backed up by the US military and Congressional and industrial complexes that are already controlled and backed up by the NWO dictatorial elite.

What is wrong with this system? A hell of a lot including Wars and Currency Hegemony!

"I believe there are more instances of the abridgement of freedom of the people by gradual and silent encroachments by those in power than by violent and sudden usurpations. ... The means of defense against foreign danger historically have become the instruments of tyranny at home.....If tyranny and oppression come to this land, it will be under the guise of fighting a foreign enemy." President James Madison

Imperialism according to the conception of Che: the highest form of development of capitalism, with the purpose to conquer economical and political power World wide. Sometimes by setting up a puppet government in a developing country, sometimes through deals laid down by the International Monetary Fund or the World Bank. That is the favourite way capitalist governments subdue developing countries to open up their economies to the interests of western multinational concerns. In case such countries won't keep in line, the ultimate trick is to launch a military intervention under the flag of the United Nations to restore "democracy" or "human rights". -Ernesto Che Guevara before his death in 1967 (helped by the CIA)

"End the philosophy of plunder and the philosophy of war will be ended as well" -Campamento Fidel Castro

"The so-called Left-Right political spectrum is our creation. In fact, it accurately reflects our careful, artificial polarization of the population on phony issues that prevents the issue of our power from arising in their minds" - author of The Occult Technocracy of Power

Why do we need money as a commodity substitute? From the energy of our bodies, we produce goods and services for trade. Well, when we sell or buy some goods or services, in exchange, we can be given: <http://www.canadianactionparty.ca/MainPages/Comic.asp?Page=4&Language=English>

- a commodity (barter)
- real money (gold, silver or certificates of gold, silver)
- commodity substitute such as fiat money (a promise to pay such as Federal Reserve Notes known as US dollar notes) which could be debt-bearing if issued by private Banksters or debt-free if issued by THE PEOPLE
- other arrangements

This commodity substitute greatly facilitates and simplifies transactions which otherwise would take a very long time to arrange and thus facilitates production and consumption. It also allows one to assign a common value and store one's production efforts for trading at some point in the future. This enhances and encourages productivity and human activity.

Now, in the case of fiat money, this is not a problem as long as it's issued by the sovereign government and not by a private monopoly who have usurped this power from the people and taken it for themselves. There is no reason why we should be paying interest and be in debt to the Banksters for FIAT money created from nothing using THE PEOPLE as collateral. We can do this ourselves. And there is no reason that people should pay interest on the promises to pay that are called Federal Reserve Notes, and this eternally. IT IS A TOTAL FRAUD since ancient times.

We need credit issuing offices just like we need driving license issuing offices or fishing license issuing offices and a bureaucracy is required to be fed for this administration. But we cannot allow this bureaucracy to eat much from our productivity and be the monster that it is today or to play tribal favorites. In addition to all the quotes from prominent politicians and bankers, listen to Irving Fisher about the latter situation.

1. It is the people who give value to the instrument or currency that is issued by the creators of money.
2. He who controls the issue of money controls the governments, corporations and individuals. the bankers could control the media, by "withholding patronage from all...who are not willing to oppose the Government issue of money". This same method has been used to control the media, the schools (both public and private) and the government, itself.
3. "Man is born free, but everywhere he is in chains." ~ Jean-Jacques Rousseau. The Fed creates the need for being in eternal debt and the need to tax people.
4. Every dollar created requires someone willing to pay interest to the Banksters.
5. The "dollar" measuring stick does not represent a fixable value.
6. The "dollar" is constantly losing value and thus cannot be used to store wealth.
7. The falling value of the dollar makes it preferable to be in perpetual debt as the value of the debt keeps decreasing due to inflation, i.e. in perpetual risk and at the mercy of the BankLords who control and manipulate the issue of debt and thus boom and bust cycles locally and nationally.
8. The dollar is not redeemable by the issuer just like shares are not redeemable by the company that issues them, i.e. you have to find someone else than the issuer who is willing to buy it or to trade it.
9. The Federal Reserve System is the BankLords' bank that is a private monopoly credit issuing cartel and is incapable of accomplishing its stated objectives already proven a failure by its past performance. It benefits the BankLords who wind up controlling everything and take in about 80% on each dollar issued.
10. It is a private money issuing cartel operating against the public interest. "Power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely." - Lord Acton.
11. The BankLords in-fact own you because they issue claims against the entire country's assets and labors as if they owned it, and instead of you being born free owning your share of the planet's resources, you are born indebted to the Banksters.
12. It's the supreme instrument of usury and slavery (see later the sections on usury and slavery).
13. It consumes most of our tax dollars and after-tax dollars in hidden interest charges.
14. It generates our most unfair tax through inflation and bail outs.
15. It encourages war and creates massive war debts. The BankLords fund all sides in conflicts.
16. It encourages currency wars to maintain hegemony over the World Currency (currently the US Dollar)
17. It destabilizes the economy. The BankLords create the boom and bust cycles, ever so profiting and accumulating land and other assets leaving less and less for the growing populations.
18. It discourages private capital formation.
19. It generates enormous profits which the cartel owners then channel into controlling governments.
20. Governments keep passing laws and executive orders favoring the BankLords at the expense of the masses.
21. When a bank fails because it cannot meet the interest payments to the FED banks because it has issued too many bad or fraudulent loans or its funds have been embezzled or it's spending lavishly on salaries and bonuses, etc., all of the liability is transferred to the taxpayers.
22. There is a major conflict of interest: those who create money get to give themselves loans to buy out other businesses.
23. Monopolies and cartels must not be allowed, whether it's banking cartels or oil cartels.
24. Banks create money out of thin air and distribute it, unevenly throughout the economy, at interest.
25. The Fed is expected to combat inflation; instead it has allowed the dollar to lose over 75% of its value in the last 30 years alone.
26. Using the accounting rules that apply to others, every money center bank has been hopelessly insolvent for over 20 years.
27. Financial bailouts --- by both the IMF and the U.S. government--- involve massive wealth transfers from ordinary taxpayers to the financial sector (mostly banks).
28. FDIC insurance coverage encourages money to flow into banks--- particularly risky banks--- that otherwise would have flowed elsewhere in a free market.
29. While money creation always increases prices, some methods and patterns of distribution produce dramatic wealth transfers while others have no such effect.
30. The Fed was formed in 1913 to be a lender of last resort; yet, throughout the 1920s, banks failed at unprecedented rates and in 1933, 1/3 of all banks failed.
31. Democracy and free enterprise both suffer when government permits an elite group to create money and forces the rest of us to honor that money through legal tender laws.
32. Since the money creation privilege is always abused, the government must grant additional special privileges to cover-up the effects of those abuses.
33. Special privileges cover-up reality and temporarily restore confidence but do not actually rectify the resulting distortions.
34. A massive financial collapse is the only viable result. Special privileges make the ultimate crisis inevitable but also make the timing unpredictable.
35. The special privileges for the BankLords make financial collapse inevitable: unlimited money creation, allowed accounting irregularities, protective bank secrecy rules, insured bank deposits, Fed-protected bank assets taxpayer bailouts of bank losses.
36. BankLords keep increasing their wealth while the rest keep accumulating the debt.

Lets quote from Ellen Brown's introduction:

- The "Federal" Reserve is not actually federal. It is a private corporation owned by a consortium of very large multinational banks. (Chapter 13)

- Except for coins, the government does not create money. Dollar bills (Federal Reserve Notes) are created by the private Federal Reserve, which lends them to the government. (Chapter 2)
- Tangible currency (coins and dollar bills) together make up less than 3 percent of the U.S. money supply. The other 97 percent exists only as data entries on computer screens, and all of this money was created by banks in the form of loans. (Chapters 2 and 17)
- The money that banks lend is not recycled from pre-existing deposits. It is new money, which did not exist until it was lent. (Chapters 17 and 18)
- Thirty percent of the money created by banks with accounting entries is invested for their own accounts. (Chapter 18)
- The American banking system, which at one time extended productive loans to agriculture and industry, has today become a giant betting machine. An estimated $370 trillion are now riding on complex high-risk bets known as derivatives – 28 times the $13 trillion annual output of the entire U.S. economy. These bets are funded by big U.S. banks and are made largely with borrowed money created on a computer screen. Derivatives can be and have been used to manipulate markets, loot businesses, and destroy competitor economies. (Chapters 20 and 32)
- The U.S. federal debt has not been paid off since the days of President Andrew Jackson. Only the interest gets paid, while the principal portion continues to grow. (Chapter 2)
- The federal income tax was instituted specifically to coerce taxpayers to pay the interest due to the banks on the federal debt. If the money supply had been created by the government rather than borrowed from banks that created it, the income tax would have been unnecessary. (Chapters 13 and 43)
- The interest alone on the federal debt will soon be more than the taxpayers can afford to pay. When we can't pay, the Federal Reserve's debt-based dollar system must collapse. (Chapter 29)
- Contrary to popular belief, creeping inflation is not caused by the government irresponsibly printing dollars. It is caused by banks expanding the money supply with loans. (Chapter 10)
- Most of the runaway inflation seen in "banana republics" has been caused, not by national governments over-printing money, but by global institutional speculators attacking local currencies and devaluing them on international markets. (Chapter 25)
- The same sort of speculative devaluation could happen to the U.S. dollar if international investors were to abandon it as a global "reserve" currency, something they are now threatening to do in retaliation for what they perceive to be American economic imperialism. (Chapters 29 and 37)
- There is a way out of this morass. The early American colonists found it, and so did President Abraham Lincoln and some other national leaders: the government can take back the money-issuing power from the banks. (Chapters 8 and 24)

Robert B. Anderson, Secretary of the Treasury under Eisenhower, said in an interview reported in the August 31, 1959 issue of U.S. News and World Report: "[W]hen a bank makes a loan, it simply adds to the borrower's deposit account in the bank by the amount of the loan. The money is not taken from anyone else's deposit; it was not previously paid in to the bank by anyone. It's new money, created by the bank for the use of the borrower."

Michel Chossudovsky, Professor of Economics at the University of Ottawa, wrote during the Asian currency crisis of 1998: "[P]rivate held money reserves in the hands of "institutional speculators" far exceed the limited capabilities of the World's central banks. The latter acting individually or collectively are no longer able to fight the tide of speculative activity. Monetary policy is in the hands of private creditors who have the ability to freeze State budgets, paralyse the payments process, thwart the regular disbursement of wages to millions of workers (as in the former Soviet Union) and precipitate the collapse of production and social programmes."

In a February 2005 article called "The Death of Banking," financial commentator Hans Schicht wrote: "The fact that the Banker is allowed to extend credit several times his own capital base and that the Banking Cartels, the Central Banks, are licensed to issue fresh paper money in exchange for treasury paper, [has] provided them with free lunch for eternity. . . . Through a network of anonymous financial spider webbing only a handful of global King Bankers own and control it all. . . . Everybody, people, enterprise, State and foreign countries, all have become slaves chained to the Banker's credit ropes." Schicht writes that he had an opportunity in his career to observe the wizards of finance as an insider at close range. The game has gotten so centralized and concentrated, he says, that the greater part of U.S. banking and enterprise is now under the control of a small inner circle of men. He calls the game "spider webbing." Its rules include:

- Making any concentration of wealth invisible.
- Exercising control through "leverage" – mergers, takeovers, chain share holdings where one company holds shares of other companies, conditions annexed to loans, and so forth.
- Exercising tight personal management and control, with a minimum of insiders and front-men who themselves have only partial knowledge of the game.

"I see in the near future a crisis approaching. It unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. The money powers prey upon the nation in times of peace and conspires against it in times of adversity. It is more despotic than a monarchy, more insolent than autocracy, more selfish than bureaucracy. It denounces, as public enemies, all who question its methods or throw light upon its crimes. I have two great enemies, the Southern Army in front of me & the financial institutions at the rear, the latter is my greatest foe. Corporations have been enthroned, and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until the wealth is aggregated in the hands of a few, and the Republic is destroyed." -President Abraham Lincoln, letter to William Elkins, Nov 21, 1864 (after the passage of the debt causing National Bank Act [June 3, 1864])

"The Important Thing is, Not to Stop Questioning" – Albert Einstein

"President Andrew Jackson called the banking cartel a "hydra-headed monster eating the flesh of the common man."

New York Mayor John Hylan, writing in the 1920s, called it a "giant octopus" that "seizes in its long and powerful tentacles our executive officers, our legislative bodies, our schools, our courts, our newspapers, and every agency created for the public protection." The debt spider has devoured farms, homes and whole countries that have become trapped in its web.

"Lucifer comes to give to us the final gift of wholeness. If we accept it then he is free and we are free. This is the Luciferic initiation. It is one that many people now, and in the days ahead, will be facing, for it is an initiation in the New Age. ... No one will enter the New World Order unless he or she will make a pledge to worship Lucifer. No one will enter the New Age unless he will take a Luciferian initiation." David Spangler on the Board of Directors of Planetary Citizens, United Nations, "Reflections on the Christ," quoted in Unicorn in the Sanctuary, by Randy England, 1978

"It is in everybody's interest to seek those [actions] that lead to happiness and avoid those which lead to suffering. And because our interests are inextricably linked, we are compelled to accept ethics as the indispensable interface between my desire to be happy and yours.- Dalai Lama

"Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness Against Thy Neighbor" (Bible Exodus 16).

"So Then, Putting Away Falsehood, Let All of Us Speak the Truth to our Neighbors, for We Are All Members of One Another." (Bible Ephesians 4:25).

"They Try to Deceive God and Those Who Believe, But They Only Deceive Themselves, and Realize it Not." (Qur'aan 2:9).

Your birthright is to be born owning your share of the Planet Earth. Instead, you are born owning a share of the debt and its associated interest payments owed to the BankLords who created it from nothing with the stroke of a pen, the debt being owed by governments (World, national, state/provincial, regional/municipal/township/city/town) and corporations whose products you must buy to survive. A government for/of/by the people would issue money debt-free and interest-free. But, the Banklords have usurped this power from the people and are enslaving us, taking a tithe from us and our children, eternally, getting wealthier at our expense. This has been well explained by the previous quotes, especially from Thomas Jefferson. Here are some more:

"History records that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments by controlling money and its issuance." James Madison Learn more http://www.fdrs.org/banking_history.html

"The Government should create, issue, and circulate all the currency and credits needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers. By the adoption of these principles, the taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest." President Abraham Lincoln Learn more http://www.fdrs.org/money_creation.html

"You are a den of vipers and thieves. I intend to rout you out, and by the Eternal God, I will rout you out."

(Speaking to the banking system 1832) President Andrew Jackson Learn more http://www.fdrs.org/debt_termination.html

One of the most England and 2nd remarkable statements comes from British Lord Sir Josiah (John) Stamp, former director of the Bank of richest man in England in the 1920s said this speaking at the University of Texas in 1927 and repeated it at an address at Central Hall, London 1937, said: "The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented. Banking was started in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the Earth; take it away from them but leave them with the power to create credit, and, with a stroke of the pen, they will create enough money to buy it back again. Take this power away from them and all great fortunes, like mine, would disappear, for then this World would be a happier and better World to live in. But, if you want to be the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then let the Bankers create money and control credit."

"Sound money and free banking are not impossible; they are merely illegal. Freedom of money and freedom of banking ... are the principles that must guide our steps." -- Hans F. Sennholz

Baron Nathan Mayer Rothschild (1777-1836) London financier, one of the founders of the international Rothschild banking dynasty: "I care not what puppet is placed on the throne of England to rule the Empire, ...The man that controls Britain's money supply controls the British Empire. And I control the money supply."

Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild (1744-1812): "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependant on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

"Give me control over a man's economic actions, and hence over his means of survival, and except for a few occasional heroes, I'll promise to deliver to you men who think and write and behave as I want them to." -Benjamine A. Rooge

"I am afraid that the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that banks can and do create money.....And they who control the credit of the nation [and its citizens and corporations] direct the policy of Governments and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people"....- Reginald McKenna, a past Chairman of the Board, Midlands Bank of England.

"Thus our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend not money, but [false] promises to supply money which they do not possess".....- Irving Fisher, economist & author.

"One thing to realize about our fractional reserve banking system is that like a child's game of musical chairs [i.e. a pyramid ponzi scheme], as long as the music is playing, there are no losers" ... Andrew Gause, Monetary historian.

This system has been set up since the ancient feudal times of Nimrod who was a master enslaver and controlled his people with a cult of idolatry. This system causes the masses to keep incurring debt perpetually in enslavement to the BankLords who create the money from nothing and take a piece of our labor through taxes, inflation and interest tithes? The currency notes, issued with no liability to the BankLords, are an "I owe U" representing a national debt owed by the citizens of the country to whoever holds the currency or Treasury Bonds or Bills or other types of "Promises to Pay" against which these notes were issued. The BankLords who own the privately owned Federal Reserve banks and Commercial Banks and issue the notes for the cost of printing them have no liability because they have passed it on to the taxpayers by issuing the currency in the nations' name holding all tax payers, past and future, liable for it (unless the country decides to default on its promise to pay by devaluating the currency or refusing to honor it when submitted by foreigners, at which point the BankLords get to grab more assets, etc.). In the past, US Banks issued their own private currencies; however, the Bank of England issued national currency since its start in 1694 and has thus been enslaving people since a longer time. Thus, whenever money is created by the BankLords, the debt is collectivized and passed on to the taxpayers as a whole. A VERY BIG FRAUD! If the currency had been issued by the government on behalf of the citizens as it should be, it would have been debt free and interest free while circulating within the country. The BankLords have usurped our lives by using us as collateral for the national currency which they issue. The ancient word for this is perpetual slavery and fiefdoms, including future generations.

The Entire system is based upon fraudulent transactions. A magic wand creates money (credit) out of thin air. The entire system is unconstitutional as the power to create money cannot be delegated to the private BankLords. Inflation is a hidden tax which hurts both the holders of the currency and the wage earners as the value of their labor is decreased. Devaluation is another hidden tax which also hurts foreign holders of the currency. Our income tax dollars go directly into the pockets of the BankLords (private shareholders of the Fed and major commercial banks). Meanwhile, the income earned by these shareholders is funneled through tax-free institutions such as the Ford Foundation, Rockefeller Foundation, etc. which is then used for propaganda in favor of the BankLords, and they do not pay any income tax on it. The money in our pockets is a debt to the Federal Reserve who created it without any liability to itself. The money is not backed by any hard asset such as gold. The FED was taken off the gold standard totally in the 1960s when it could no longer meet payments in gold and thus starting issuing bonds in payments for exchanges of US currency. The history of all fiat currencies (i.e. not backed by a hard asset) is that 100% of the time these currencies have devalued down to the paper with which they were created, i.e. to nothing. The peoples' credit has been usurped by the feudal BankLords. The government politicians are now owned by the BankLords who use them to tax the American people any amount they wish and more through a process which the people do not understand called inflation. They don't realize they're being additionally taxed which makes it real handy when you're going for re-election. On the banking side they're able to earn perpetual interest on nothing ("perpetual" because remember when the loan is paid back it's turned around and loaned out to somebody else.) for the members of the banking cartel which created that money. We are not living as well as we could but people of this banking cartel system are undoubtedly living very well. Generally those are the ones who are up at the nozzle where this new money is coming into the system or they're involved in the government or they have government subsidies. For most people, away from the nozzle, it's not going so well, we're not living that well. Finally, when you have a money supply based upon thin air, the BankLords can expand it and contract it at will, amassing massive wealth in the process (see the later section on the booms and bust cycles).

America's corrupt fiat money system is condemning the Citizenry by bidding the best and brightest talent away from main street free markets to the speculative and confiscatory activities that falsely promise enrichment without productively working. The "Carry trade" is a near limitless cash machine for banks and hedge funds. These speculators borrow OPM (other peoples' money) from one nation and invest it in another. These funds create "bubbles". When these "bubbles" burst and assets depreciate, guess who holds the bag? The Bank of International Settlements last year estimated the turnover in exchange and interest rates derivatives markets at $2 .4 trillion a day!! In five days' time the sum of this gambling equals America's gross domestic product yearly. J.P. Morgan Chase is by far the biggest broker of this highly risky game that endangers most Americans. They unknowingly and/or forcibly fund this scam either through pension plans, stock ownership, taxes, insurance, and a whole host of other schemes. All businesses and economies need credit. However, when that power of credit is controlled by a small elite of international banksters, this will eventually spell disaster as most people can and will lose everything. After all, it is the genuine market oriented economic forces who always will foot the bill. In order to dissolve the "Banker" monopoly, the Law Bar Monopoly must also be dismantled. The "Color of money" issue can only be resolved once the "color of law" phenomenon is eliminated. The private printing of currency is ultimately due to the private control of government. No checks mean many imbalances.

<http://www.house.gov/paul/congrec/congrec2006/cr042506.htm> Gold was $20/ounce 1913-1934, thus today's dollar is equivalent to 4 cents in 1913]. Since 2001 however, interest in gold has soared along with its price with the price now over $600 an ounce. By holding paper money one loses purchasing power. The purchasing power of commodity money, i.e. gold, however, goes up if the government or FED or commercial banks through creation of fiat dollars which results in continuous inflation and other factors devalues the circulating fiat currency. Holding gold is protection or insurance against the BankLords' proclivity to debase its currency. One of the characteristics of commodity money-- one that originated naturally in the marketplace-- is that it must serve as a store of value. Gold and silver meet that test-- paper does not. Because of this profound difference, the incentive and wisdom of holding emergency funds in the form of gold becomes attractive when the official currency is being devalued. It's more attractive than trying to save wealth in the form of a fiat currency, even when earning some nominal interest. The lack of earned interest on gold is not a problem once people realize the purchasing power of their currency is declining faster than the interest rates they might earn. The purchasing power of gold can rise even faster than increases in the cost of living. Though our inflation-- i.e. the depreciation of the U.S. dollar-- has been insidious, average Americans are unaware of how this occurs. For instance, few Americans know nor seem concerned that the 1913 pre-Federal Reserve dollar is now worth only four cents. Officially, our central bankers and our politicians express no fear that the course on which we are set is fraught with great danger to our economy and our political system. The belief that money created out of thin air can work economic miracles, if only properly "managed," is pervasive in D.C. In many ways we shouldn't be surprised about this trust in such an unsound system. For at least four generations our government/BankLord-run universities have systematically preached a monetary doctrine justifying the so-called wisdom of paper money over the "foolishness" of sound money. Not only that, paper money has worked surprisingly well in the past 35 years-- the years the World has accepted pure paper money as currency. Alan Greenspan bragged that central bankers in these several decades have gained the knowledge necessary to make paper money respond as if it were gold. This removes the problem of obtaining gold to back currency, and hence frees politicians from the rigid discipline a gold standard imposes.

Many central bankers in the last 15 years became so confident they had achieved this milestone that they sold off large hoards of their gold reserves [thus artificially depressing gold prices]. At other times they tried to prove that paper works better than gold by artificially propping up the dollar by suppressing market gold prices. This recent deception failed just as it did in the 1960s, when our government tried to hold gold artificially low at $35 an ounce. But since they could not truly repeal the economic laws regarding money, just as many central bankers sold, others bought. It's fascinating that the European central banks sold gold while Asian central banks bought it over the last several years. Since commodities have proven to be the real money of the ages, we see once again a shift in wealth from the West to the East, just as we saw a loss of our industrial base in the same direction. Though Treasury officials deny any U.S. sales or loans of our official gold holdings, no audits are permitted so no one can be certain. The special nature of the dollar as the reserve currency of the World has allowed this game to last longer than it would have otherwise, especially now with the extremely high oil prices, oil buyers have to acquire even more dollars, as long as oil keeps trading in dollars rather than some other currency. But the fact that gold has gone from $252 per ounce to over $600 means there is concern about the future of the dollar. The higher the price for gold, the greater the concern for the dollar. The number of dollars created by the Federal Reserve, and through the fractional reserve banking system, is crucial in determining how the market assesses the relationship of the dollar and gold. The incentive for central [and commercial] bankers to create new money out of thin air is twofold. One is to practice central economic planning through the manipulation of interest rates. The second is to monetize the escalating federal debt politicians create and thrive on.

Today no one in Washington believes for a minute that runaway deficits are going to be curtailed. In March alone, the federal government created an historic $85 billion deficit. The current supplemental bill going through Congress has grown from $92 billion to over $106 billion, and everyone knows it will not draw President Bush's first veto. Most knowledgeable people therefore assume that inflation of the money supply is not only going to continue, but accelerate. There's no single measurement that reveals what the Fed has done in the recent past or tells us exactly what it's about to do in the future. Forget about the lip service given to transparency by new Fed Chairman Bernanke. Not only is this administration one of the most secretive across the board in our history, the current Fed firmly supports denying the most important measurement of current monetary policy to Congress, the financial community, and the American public. Because of a lack of interest and poor understanding of monetary policy, Congress has expressed essentially no concern about the significant change in reporting statistics on the money supply. Beginning in March, though planned before Bernanke arrived at the Fed, the central bank discontinued compiling and reporting the monetary aggregate known as M3. M3 is the best description of how quickly the Fed is creating new money and credit. Common sense tells us that a government central bank creating new money out of thin air depreciates the value of each dollar in circulation. Yet this report is no longer available to us and Congress makes no demands to receive it. Though M3 is the most helpful statistic to track Fed activity, it by no means tells us everything we need to know about trends in monetary policy. Total bank credit, still available to us, gives us indirect information reflecting the Fed's inflationary policies. But ultimately the markets will figure out exactly what the Fed is up to, and then individuals, financial institutions, governments, and other central bankers will act accordingly. The fact that our money supply is rising significantly cannot be hidden from the markets.

The response in time will drive the dollar down, while driving interest rates and commodity prices up. Already we see this trend developing, which surely will accelerate in the not too distant future. Part of this reaction will be from those who seek a haven to protect their wealth-- not invest-- by treating gold and silver as universal and historic money. This means holding fewer dollars that are decreasing in value while holding gold as it increases in value. A soaring gold price is a vote of "no confidence" in the central bank and the dollar. This certainly was the case in 1979 and 1980. Today, gold prices reflect a growing restlessness with the increasing money supply, our budgetary and trade deficits, our unfunded liabilities, and the inability of Congress and the administration to reign in runaway spending. And in the meantime, other market imbalances develop. Likewise, a fiat monetary system encourages speculation and unsound borrowing. As problems develop, scapegoats are sought and frequently found in foreign nations. This prompts many to demand altering exchange rates and protectionist measures. Though everyone decries inflation, trade imbalances, economic downturns, and federal deficits, few attempt a closer study of our monetary system and how these events are interrelated. Even if it were recognized that a gold standard without monetary inflation would be advantageous, the BankLords would not allow their bribed politicians to accept it. After all, they bribed the politicians and press in 1913 to get their private Federal Reserve banking cartel legislated! The political disadvantages of living with the discipline of gold are that it serves as a check on government size and power. Special interest groups, who vigorously compete for federal dollars, want to perpetuate the system rather than admit to a dangerous addiction. Those who champion welfare for the poor, entitlements for the middle class, or war contracts for the military industrial corporations, all agree on the so-called benefits bestowed by the Fed's power to counterfeit fiat money. Bankers, who benefit from our fractional reserve system, likewise never criticize the Fed, especially since it's the lender of last resort that bails out financial institutions when crises arise. And it's true, special interests and bankers do benefit from the Fed, and may well get bailed out-- just as we saw with the Long-Term Capital Management fund crisis a few years ago. In the past, companies like Lockheed and Chrysler benefited as well.

Foreign policy plays a significant role in the economy and the value of the dollar. A foreign policy of militarism and empire building cannot be supported through direct taxation. The American people would never tolerate the taxes required to pay immediately for overseas wars, under the discipline of a gold standard. Borrowing and creating new fiat money from nothing is much more politically palatable. It hides and delays the real costs of war, and the people are lulled into complacency-- especially since the wars we fight are couched in terms of patriotism, spreading the ideas of freedom, and stamping out terrorism. Unnecessary wars and fiat currencies go hand-in-hand, while a gold standard encourages a sensible foreign policy. The cost of war is enormously detrimental; it significantly contributes to the economic instability of the nation by boosting spending, deficits, and inflation. Funds used for war are funds that could have remained in the productive economy to raise the standard of living of Americans now unemployed, underemployed, or barely living on the margin. Yet even these costs may be preferable to paying for war with huge tax increases. This is because although fiat dollars are theoretically worthless, value is imbued by the trust placed in them by the World's financial community. Subjective trust in a currency can override objective knowledge about government policies, but only for a limited time. Economic strength and military power contribute to the trust in a currency; in today's World trust in the U.S. dollar is not earned and therefore fragile. The history of the dollar, being as good as gold up until 1971 [actually 1934], is helpful in maintaining an artificially higher value for the dollar than deserved. Foreign policy contributes to the crisis when the spending to maintain our Worldwide military commitments becomes prohibitive, and inflationary pressures accelerate. But the real crisis hits when the World realizes the king has no clothes, in that the dollar has no backing, and we face a military setback even greater than we already are experiencing in Iraq. Our token friends may quickly transform into vocal enemies once the attack on the dollar begins.

False trust placed in the dollar once was helpful to us, but panic and rejection of the dollar will develop into a real financial crisis. Then we will have no other option but to tighten our belts, go back to work, stop borrowing, start saving, and rebuild our industrial base, while adjusting to a lower standard of living for most Americans. Counterfeiting the nation's money is a serious offense. The founders were especially adamant about avoiding the chaos, inflation, and destruction associated with the Continental dollar. That's why the Constitution is clear that only gold and silver should be legal tender in the United States. In 1792 the Coinage Act authorized the death penalty for any private citizen who counterfeited the currency. Too bad they weren't explicit that counterfeiting by government officials is just as detrimental to the economy and the value of the dollar. In wartime, many nations actually operated counterfeiting programs to undermine our dollar, but never to a disastrous level. The enemy knew how harmful excessive creation of new money could be to the dollar and our economy. But it seems we never learned the dangers of creating new money out of thin air. We don't need an Arab nation or the Chinese to undermine our system with a counterfeiting operation. We do it ourselves, with all the disadvantages that would occur if others did it to us. Today we hear threats from some Arab, Muslim, and far Eastern countries about undermining the dollar system- not by dishonest counterfeiting, but by initiating an alternative monetary system based on gold. Wouldn't that be ironic? Such an event theoretically could do great harm to us. This day may well come, not so much as a direct political attack on the dollar system but out of necessity to restore confidence in money once again.

Historically, privately issued paper money never has lasted for long periods of time, while gold has survived thousands of years of attacks by political interests and big government. In time, the World once again will restore trust in the monetary system by making some currency as good as gold. Gold, or any acceptable market commodity money, is required to preserve liberty. Monopoly control by government [actually by the banking cartel composed of the major owners of the Fed and largest commercial banks] of a system that creates fiat money out of thin air guarantees the loss of liberty. No matter how well-intended our militarism is portrayed, or how happily the promises of wonderful programs for the poor are promoted, inflating the money supply to pay these bills makes government bigger. Empires always fail, and expenses always exceed projections. Harmful unintended consequences are the rule, not the exception. Welfare for the poor is inefficient and wasteful. The beneficiaries are rarely the poor themselves, but instead the politicians, bureaucrats, or the wealthy. The same is true of all foreign aid-- it's nothing more than a program that steals from the poor in a rich country and gives to the rich leaders of a poor country. Whether it's war or welfare payments, it always means higher taxes, inflation, and debt. Whether it's the extraction of wealth from the productive economy, the distortion of the market by interest rate manipulation, or spending for war and welfare, it can't happen without infringing upon personal liberty. At home the war on poverty, terrorism, drugs, or foreign rulers provides an opportunity for authoritarians to rise to power, individuals who think nothing of violating the people's rights to privacy and freedom of speech. They believe their role is to protect the secrecy of government, rather than protect the privacy of citizens. Unfortunately, that is the atmosphere under which we live today, with essentially no respect for the Bill of Rights. Though great economic harm comes from a BankLords' cartel monopoly fiat monetary system, the loss of liberty associated with it is equally troubling. Just as empires are self-limiting in terms of money and manpower, so too is a monetary system based on illusion and fraud. When the end comes we will be given an opportunity to choose once again between honest money and liberty on one hand; chaos, poverty, and authoritarianism on the other.

The economic harm done by a fiat monetary system is pervasive, dangerous, and unfair. Though runaway inflation is injurious to almost everyone, it is more insidious for certain groups. Once inflation is recognized as a tax, it becomes clear the tax is regressive: penalizing the poor and middle class more than the rich and politically privileged. Price inflation, a consequence of inflating the money supply by the central bank, hits poor and marginal workers first and foremost. It especially penalizes savers, retirees, those on fixed incomes, and anyone who trusts government promises. Small businesses and individual enterprises suffer more than the financial elite, who borrow large sums before the money loses value. Those who are on the receiving end of government contracts--especially in the military industrial complex during wartime-- receive undeserved benefits. It's a mistake to blame high gasoline and oil prices on price gouging. If we impose new taxes or fix prices, while ignoring monetary inflation, corporate subsidies, and excessive regulations, shortages will result. The market is the only way to determine the best price for any commodity. The law of supply and demand cannot be repealed. The real problems arise when government planners give subsidies to energy companies and favor one form of energy over another. Energy prices are rising for many reasons: Inflation; increased demand from China and India; decreased supply resulting from our invasion of Iraq; anticipated disruption of supply as we push regime change in Iran; regulatory restrictions on gasoline production; government interference in the free market development of alternative fuels; and subsidies to big oil such as free leases and grants for research and development.

Interestingly, the cost of oil and gas is actually much higher than we pay at the retail level. Much of the DOD budget is spent protecting "our" oil supplies, and if such spending is factored in gasoline probably costs us more than $5 a gallon. The sad irony is that this military effort to secure cheap oil supplies inevitably backfires, and actually curtails supplies and boosts prices at the pump. The waste and fraud in issuing contracts to large corporations for work in Iraq only add to price increases. When problems arise under conditions that exist today, it's a serious error to blame the little bit of the free market that still functions. Last summer the market worked efficiently after Katrina-- gas hit $3 a gallon, but soon supplies increased, usage went down, and the price returned to $2. In the 1980s, market forces took oil from $40 per barrel to $10 per barrel, and no one cried for the oil companies that went bankrupt. Today's increases are for the reasons mentioned above. It's natural for labor to seek its highest wage, and businesses to strive for the greatest profit. That's the way the market works. When the free market is allowed to work, it's the consumer who ultimately determines price and quality, with labor and business accommodating consumer choices. Once this process is distorted by government, prices rise excessively, labor costs and profits are negatively affected, and problems emerge. Instead of fixing the problem, politicians and demagogues respond by demanding windfall profits taxes and price controls, while never questioning how previous government interference caused the whole mess in the first place. Never let it be said that higher oil prices and profits cause inflation; inflation of the money supply causes higher prices! Since keeping interest rates below market levels is synonymous with new money creation by the Fed, the resulting business cycle, higher cost of living, and job losses all can be laid at the doorstep of the Fed. This burden hits the poor the most, making Fed taxation by inflation the worst of all regressive taxes. Statistics about revenues generated by the income tax are grossly misleading; in reality much harm is done by our welfare/warfare system supposedly designed to help the poor and tax the rich. Only sound money can rectify the blatant injustice of this destructive system. The Founders understood this great danger, and voted overwhelmingly to reject "emitting bills of credit," the term they used for paper or fiat money. It's too bad the knowledge and advice of our founders, and their mandate in the Constitution, are ignored today at our great peril. The current surge in gold prices-- which reflects our dollar's devaluation-- is warning us to pay closer attention to our fiscal, monetary, entitlement, and foreign policy.

If one endorses small government and maximum liberty, one must support commodity money. One of the strongest restraints against unnecessary war is a gold standard. Deficit financing by government is severely restricted by sound money. The harmful effects of the business cycle are virtually eliminated with an honest gold standard. Saving and thrift are encouraged by a gold standard; and discouraged by paper money. Price inflation, with generally rising price levels, is characteristic of paper money. Reports that the consumer price index and the producer price index are rising are distractions: the real cause of inflation is the Fed's creation of new money. Interest rate manipulation by central bank helps the rich, the banks, the government, and the politicians. Paper money permits the regressive inflation tax to be passed off on the poor and the middle class. Speculative financial bubbles are characteristic of paper money-- not gold. Paper money encourages economic and political chaos, which subsequently causes a search for scapegoats rather than blaming the central bank. Dangerous protectionist measures frequently are implemented to compensate for the dislocations caused by fiat money. Paper money, inflation, and the conditions they create contribute to the problems of illegal immigration. The value of gold is remarkably stable. The dollar price of gold reflects dollar depreciation. Holding gold helps preserve and store wealth, but technically gold is not a true investment.

Since 2001 the dollar has been devalued by 60%. In 1934 FDR devalued the dollar by 41%. In 1971 Nixon devalued the dollar by 7.9%. In 1973 Nixon devalued the dollar by 10%. These were momentous monetary events, and every knowledgeable person Worldwide paid close attention. Major changes were endured in 1979 and 1980 to save the dollar from disintegration. This involved a severe recession, interest rates over 21%, and general price inflation of 15%. Today we face a 60% devaluation and counting, yet no one seems to care. It's of greater significance than the three events mentioned above. And yet the one measurement that best reflects the degree of inflation, the Fed and our government deny us. Since March, M3 reporting has been discontinued. For starters, I'd like to see Congress demand that this report be resumed. I fully believe the American people and Congress are entitled to this information. Will we one day complain about false intelligence, as we have with the Iraq war? Will we complain about not having enough information to address monetary policy after it's too late? If ever there was a time to get a handle on what sound money is and what it means, that time is today. Inflation, as exposed by high gold prices, transfers wealth from the middle class to the rich, as real wages decline while the salaries of CEOs, movie stars, and athletes skyrocket-- along with the profits of the military industrial complex, the oil industry, and other special interests keep going up. A sharply rising gold price is a vote of "no confidence" in Congress' ability to control the budget, the Fed's ability to control the money supply, and the administration's ability to bring stability to the Middle East. Ultimately, the gold price is a measurement of trust in the currency and the politicians who run the country. It's been that way for a long time, and is not about to change. If we care about the financial system, the tax system, and the monumental debt we're accumulating, we must start talking about the benefits and discipline that come only with a commodity standard of money-- money the BankLords absolutely cannot create out of thin air. Economic law dictates reform at some point. But should we wait until the dollar is 1/1,000 of an ounce of gold or 1/2,000 of an ounce of gold? The longer we wait, the more people suffer and the more difficult reforms become. Runaway inflation inevitably leads to political chaos, something numerous countries have suffered throughout the 20th century. The worst example of course was the German inflation of the 1920s that led to the rise of Hitler. Even the communist takeover of China was associated with runaway inflation brought on by Chinese Nationalists. The time for action is now, and it is up to the American people and the U.S. Congress to demand it. When the hyperinflationary process ends we will enter a new economic and financial dark age that could last for many years, not unlike the collapse of the Roman Empire, the collapse of the Venetian banking system in 1348, the collapse of the Lombard League in the 1500s and that of the Hanseatic League of the 1600s and Weimer Germany 1923. As you can see this is nothing new. All you have to do is read history.

Let's talk briefly about what the objectives of the Federal Reserve System are. We've been told over and over again that the purpose of the Fed is to stabilize the economy. Right now with the interest rates going up, up, up what are we told? why are they doing that? Well, that's to stabilize the economy so we won't have massive inflation right? It's being done for us folks! Don't you feel just warm all over knowing that they're looking out for you? That's always the answer; the purpose of the Fed is to look out for us and stabilize the economy, put an end to banking anarchy and all that sort of thing. Right now the textbook that is most commonly used in our school systems in economics is a book written by Paul Samuelson and in that book here's what he says regarding the purpose of the Fed: "The Federal Reserve sprang from the panic of 1907 with its alarming epidemic of bank failures. The country was fed-up once and for all with the anarchy of unstable private banking." That's what the students are learning. Let's let that go for the moment and say ok if that is the purpose of the Fed, let's give it a report card and see how well it has done in stabilizing the economy. Since it was created in 1913 the Federal Reserve System has presided over the crashes of 1921 and 1929, the Great Depression of 1929-1939, recessions in the years 1953, 1957, 1969, 1975 and 1981, and a stock market Black Monday in 1987. We all know that corporate debt is soaring, personal debt is greater than ever before, both business and personal bankruptcies are at an all-time high, banks and savings and loan associations have failed in greater numbers than ever before in our history, interest on the national debt now consumes half of all of our tax dollars, heavy industry has all but been replaced by overseas competition, we're facing an international trade deficit for the first time in our history, 75% of downtown Los Angeles and other metropolitan areas are now owned by foreigners and over half of the nation now officially is in a state of recession.

Agricultural Panic of 1921: So successful was this deliberately induced panic by the Federal Reserve Board that commodity prices fell 50% and industrial production 32%. Thousands of farms were foreclosed in 1920-1921. This contrived policy of the Fed broke over 5400 banks. The giant banks picked up the assets of the broken ones, in many cases at 5 to 7 cents on the dollar, and many of the larger bankrupt businesses were acquired by corporations owned or controlled by the same "Insiders"

That is the report card for the Federal Reserve System after 80 years of stabilizing our economy. I don't even think it's controversial to say that it has failed to meet its stated objectives. The only controversial part is why has it failed? My answer is because those have never been its real objectives at all. What are its objectives? What are the objectives of any cartel? To make money for the members of the cartel, to improve the profit margins of the members of the cartel and to stabilize themselves in the marketplace. That is the true objective of the Federal Reserve System. Now if we hold that up as our guiding principle and give the Federal Reserve a report card it gets a different grade. In particular I'd like to have you look with me at three particular objectives which were very well discussed in that period in which the Federal Reserve System was created. We always have to go back to that because we can learn so much from that period of history. There were three things that the Bankers, particularly the ones on Jekyll Island, wanted the Federal Reserve Act to accomplish. What are they? The first one was to stop the erosion of their power away from New York. Just the opposite of what the Federal Reserve Act was sold to us as to accomplish, to keep the power of New York. They were concerned that as the nation was expanding westward and southward new banks were springing up all along the frontier and every year a little bit more of the nation's capital would drift away from New York. They still had the lion's share, of course, but they could see the chart and they knew that they had to put a stop to that now while they still had the power to do so. Competition is a sin said John D. Rockefeller I and that includes competition from these upstart banks.

It's a good point to mention that when I'm talking about the banking cartel I'm talking primarily about the big New York banks and not the local bank down the street that's struggling under the system. One of the purposes of the Federal Reserve System was to keep the lid on those new competitive banks so they could never grow and become large like the ones on Wall Street. The small banks have always been the target in this system and needed to be kept in line, to be regulated out of existence, a process which you've noticed has been going on for many, many years. There is objective number one, to keep control over the money markets in New York. Objective number two was to reverse the trend of what is called private capital formation. That's banker language for a process in which an individual or a corporation uses their own savings to pay for something instead of going to the bank and borrowing it, if you can imagine that happening. It was happening at the turn of the century. The trend was that businesses in particular were withholding some of their dividends each quarter and putting that money into a sinking fund and then as the money accumulated or as the capital formed, then they finally had enough that they could use their own money to build that new factory or to launch a research & development project or whatever instead of going to the banks and borrowing for it. The banks were very concerned over this trend because this is their life-blood. Loaning money is what they do so how do you loan money when people don't want to borrow it? The answer they knew, and they talked a lot about this, was to lower interest rates, get those rates down so that they were so attractive that people would be crazy not to come to the banks and borrow money at those good interest rates.

How do you lower interest rates? Today it's easy when you've got the lever at the Federal Reserve you just throw it up or down and interest rates go up or down; you have total control over it. In 1913 there was no lever. The money in those days was backed by gold and silver and they couldn't control it. They hated that. These guys hate gold and silver behind money because under those conditions interest rates are the result of the natural forces of supply and demand; they couldn't just create money out of nothing. It was the result of the interaction of millions of people bidding for products and services and digging money out of the ground, literally gold and silver and converting into money. They were looking for a way to artificially push the interest rates down. How do you do that? They said the only way you can do that is with a flexible currency. That was the cry that they put up in those days. What the nation needs, they said, is a flexible currency to meet the demands of industry and agriculture. You still hear that phrase today—"flexible currency." What does that mean? You need a dictionary sometimes to look these phrases up. Flexible currency does not mean the paper stuff in our pockets that bends, it means money created out of nothing. The trick here is not hard to figure out. If you can create money out of nothing, you don't have to charge an awful lot of interest on it to show a profit. It's that simple. If you have a flexible currency you can in fact lower interest rates and still do pretty well, can't you? They wanted a flexible currency so they could lower interest rates and entice people back into the banks to borrow money and to reverse the trend toward private capital formation. Objective number two.

The third objective was to pass on the inevitable losses within the banking system on to the taxpayer in the name of protecting the people. Those were three of the major objectives at the time the Federal Reserve System was created. I say those are the true objectives of the Fed. On that basis, let's give it a report card. Did it keep control in New York in the hands of the larger banks? The answer is a resounding yes. Anyone who knows about the financial markets knows that this is definitely what's happened. Yes we have big banks in the west and in the south but they're nothing compared to those banks in New York which are astride the World with offices in Peking and Moscow and Africa and everywhere; these are the giants and they have remained that way from the very beginning because of the Federal Reserve System. A few years ago there was a book that was published by Simon & Schuster and it was called "Secrets of the Temple" written by William Grider(?). It was a best-seller and it was advertised as a scathing attack against the Federal Reserve System. When I heard that I couldn't believe my ears. A scathing attack against the Federal Reserve System published by Simon & Schuster? one of the big publishing houses? I thought, I don't have to finish my own book, they've done it. So I ran down and got a copy of the book and devoured it and read it in one day and I was totally amazed on two points. First of all, much to my surprise, I did not expect this, Grider's history was, I thought, excellent. I thought it would be a whitewash but his history was right-on. He had all the gory details and I couldn't believe it but I knew these things were true because I was right then in the middle of researching them. On the subject of the concentration of power in New York, I'd like to read to you an excerpt from Grider's book. He said: "At the time [he's talking about 1913] the conventional wisdom in Congress was that the government institution would finally harness the money trust, disarm its powers and establish broad democratic control over money and credit. The results were nearly the opposite. The money reforms enacted in 1913 in fact helped to preserve the status quo, to stabilize the old order. Money center Bankers would not only gain dominance over the new central bank but would also enjoy new insulation against instability and their own decline. Once the Fed was in operation the steady diffusion of financial power halted. Wall Street maintained its dominant position and even enhanced it."

The other thing that amazed me was Grider's conclusion. He proved that the Federal Reserve had always acted against the public interest. He proved that it was designed to do that from the very beginning so what do you suppose his conclusion was regarding a solution? that we abolish the Fed? No, nothing that extreme. How about a major overhaul? No, not necessary. What then? Grider said, you see it's all so complicated, we're learning as we go, we've made a lot of mistakes but don't worry folks we're on it now, relax, it's under control, all we need now is wiser men. That is the kind of powder-puff criticism it takes to be published by Simon & Schuster or any of the other major publishing houses which are firmly interlocked in the investment web on Wall Street. It doesn't make any difference how accurate your history is; it doesn't make any difference how much you point with alarm or how righteous you may sound if you have no realistic solution to the problem then who cares? They like that because it gives the people the impression that something's being done, somebody is really calling attention to the problem. But they have no solution or they're carefully selected so that the ones with the real solutions do not get the media, do not get the major publishing houses. This is a tactic which we have to better understand especially in these critical days ahead. A tactic of controlled opposition. It makes no difference how accurate you are when you're pointing to the problems in America. If you don't have a solution what difference does it make? If your solution is put wiser men in there or if your solution is vote Republican and don't ask questions about what kind of Republican then you are controlled opposition and this is something we have to be very, very alert to in these critical days ahead.

Back to the topic. The Federal Reserve System gets an A on its report card for maintaining control over the financial markets in New York. What about reversing the trend toward private capital formation. Boy, did they ever. Periodically they get those interest rates down so low and everybody is lured into the banks. Borrow like crazy and then the economy crunches down and they're all stuck with this overhead and they can't make their interest payments. We've seen businesses go out of existence because they cannot service their debt. You've seen people lose their homes and their cars because they cannot service their debt. There are many giant corporations today that are just hanging in there by the skin of their teeth because of their debt overhead. The fact is that many of these companies now send more money to the banks every quarter in the form of interest payments on their loans than they send to their stockholders as dividends on their stock. Think about that for a minute. The banks which had no part in the operation of the company whatsoever, the banks which made this money out of nothing are making more money from these industries than the people who work for the money, save the money, invested the money and risked the money to own those corporations. This is because they quite successfully reversed the trend toward private capital formation and they did it with a flexible currency. The Federal Reserve System gets an A+ on its report card for objective number two.

Finally, did they pass along their inevitable loses to the taxpayer in the name of protecting the people? This is what I call "Operation Bail-Out." Every time one of the big banks gets into trouble, not the small banks remember, they're the competition, the big banks get into trouble and they are bailed out at taxpayers' expense. Always in the name of protecting the people. If a large corporation is in trouble because it can't make its interest payments to the bank anymore, they go to Congress and say "we can't let this corporation fold; look at the thousands of jobs that would be lost; look how the people would suffer." When a third World country can no longer make its interest payments to a large bank in New York, what happens? The bank goes to Congress and says "you know, you'd better do something about this because if we have to write that loan off of our books we may be bankrupt, we could fold. And look at all of the depositors, good Americans, who have their accounts with us who would lose their deposit. Maybe the FDIC won't be able to cover; we could have a crisis on our hands. If our bank falls maybe the other banks will fall too and we'll have a national recession. Look how the people will suffer." So Congress dutifully steps forward, remember it's a partner in this, and votes the funds to guarantee the loans or in some way to pass the payments on directly or indirectly in some very ingenious methods to the taxpayer. That money is raised primarily through the Federal Reserve System and we pay it through the Mandrake Mechanism. So the Federal Reserve System has done pretty well on that. In case you have missed a few of the more memorable games, I'd like to review them for you. Penn Central Railroad was bailed out in 1970. That was a good year because Lockheed Corporation was bailed out the same year. Commonwealth Bank of Detroit was bailed in 1972; New York City in 1975; Chrysler in 1978; First Pennsylvania Bank in 1980; Continental Illinois, the largest of the banks so far, in 1982. And look at all of these third World countries which cannot pay their interest payments. They are paying their interest payments and you're doing it for them because the Federal Reserve System creates the money that we send to the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank and then they give it to those countries so that they can pay the interest to the banks. Maybe you've missed that little trail but that's how it works. The Federal Reserve System gets an A+++ on all of these points and it has surely been a huge success in terms of the people who created it.

Actions have consequences and one of the consequences of this scam is what we call a "national debt." It's rapidly approaching 5 trillion dollars that we know about, it's much higher than that if you include the unfunded debt and all of the things that are off-budget and all of the funny stuff that they do with the accounting in Washington. With all honest accounting you'd find it was much, much higher than that. But even at 5 trillion dollars it's a staggering figure. I'm told if we had a stack of $100 bills about 40 inches high we'd be a millionaire. A stack of $100 bills equaling 5 trillion dollars would rise into space 3,350 miles. That's a lot of money and it all came from us and it's earning perpetual interest. Another way of measuring that is that we've had a known inflation of 1,000% since the Federal Reserve System was created. Another way of phrasing that is that a dollar in 1913 today buys about nine cents worth of goods. That's how much money has been taken from us, taxed from us, through this hidden process.

I say 1,000% inflation that is known because it's much more than that. Have you ever wondered, as I used to, why don't we have more inflation than we have had? I knew they were creating this money like crazy, why only this inflation? And then I found out. Have you ever heard the expression that we're "exporting our inflation." Every once in a while you find that phrase in the financial section of the newspaper. It used to drive me crazy--how can you export inflation? It's one of those phrases that people use and I'm not sure most of the people who use the phrases know what they mean. Like the other day I read that the Federal Reserve System bought dollars today to bolster up the dollar. How can you buy dollars? What do you buy it with? They buy it with other currencies; the Federal Reserve holds a lot of different currencies, yens and Deutch marks and that kind of thing so they just swap currencies around. This expression of exporting inflation--what does that mean? It means 70% of the American currency that has been created by our Federal Reserve System is no longer in America, it's overseas. Other nations use American dollars as their unofficial money supply. Especially those countries which have no realistic money of their own. These countries that undergo inflation rates of 5,000 and 10,000% a year, you can't work with money like that. Women have to take wheelbarrows full of paper money to the grocery store to buy a bottle of milk. You can't carry on any serious economic transaction with money like that and they don't, they use American dollars. All the banks in those systems have dual types of money. American dollars are the mainstay of economic transactions in most of those countries. That's where a lot of our money went. We have been spared the inflationary impact of all that money because had it stayed here, it would've bid against the existing money here and would have diluted our pot even more and we would've known what the inflation should've been. What happens when the day comes when for whatever reason these countries can no longer, or no longer wish to, use American dollars? What are they going to do with those dollars? They'll send them back. They'll buy something with them while they can. It'll be a big rush. It'll be our refrigerators, our automobiles, our real estate, our high-rise buildings, our corporate stock, our politicians, whatever's for sale. All of this money will come in and then we'll find out in a very short period of time what the true inflation rate really should have been all of these years.

Incidentally, if you've followed in the newspapers the talk about the new money that they're going to release, they're talking about two-tiered money, one for overseas and one for here. It will probably be a different color. Frankly I think they're recognizing this fact that the money would return and they're going to make it illegal for all of this overseas money to come back by making it a different color so that they won't be able to bring it here or if you do bring it here you won't be able to spend it here, it won't be legal here. Those are some of the consequences of the actions of the Federal Reserve Scam. I have one last topic that I want to talk to you about and then I'll get to the conclusion. This is an extremely important topic and it has to do with usury. In ancient times usury was defined as interest on a loan, any interest on any loan. In modern times that has been redefined to mean excessive interest on a loan. Moderate interest seems logical to us in recognition of the fact that if we work hard for our money, we save it and surrender its use for a period of time being a sacrifice on our part and then loan it to somebody else for their venture, we're entitled to a reasonable return on that sacrifice. A reasonable interest rate is a concept that very few people have problems with, it seems logical and fair.

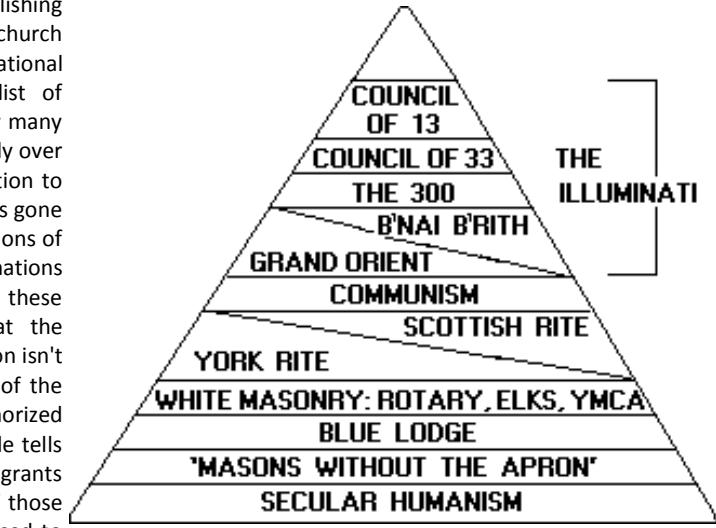

But what is this thing called excessive interest? Thomas Edison said: "People who will not turn a shovel-full of dirt on the project nor contribute a pound of materials will collect more money than will the people who will supply all the materials and do all the work." I wondered when I read that if Thomas was exaggerating so I got my calculator out. I assumed that there was going to be a $100,000 house built. I assumed that $30,000 would have to go for land, architect's fees and permits and that kind of thing. $70,000 would go for the actual construction of the house, building materials and labor. I assumed that the buyer would go to the bank and put 20% down and then borrow the balance at 10% over 30 years. I punched in the numbers and discovered that the borrower will pay to the bank in interest $172,741 compared to $70,000 paid for the construction of the house. In other words, about 2.5 times as much money will be paid to the bank in interest than will be paid to those who provide all the labor and all the materials. And you may say to yourself, yes but that's fair, after all a 30 year loan is a long loan and people work for their money and sacrifice its use and loan it and so forth and deserve to be compensated. No. Not this money. Nobody worked for this money, nobody saved this money. There was no sacrifice of any kind for this money. This money was created out of nothing by the stroke of a pen and I suggest that $172,741 interest on nothing is parasitically excessive!

The Financial Wizards get to control and also gamble with the Nation's credit in a multitude of ways including derivates, short-selling, front-running, forward buying, mega-loans, all the while producing nothing other than gambling debts for the taxpayers' to pay. The people involved in the real productive economy suffer due to the Parasitical Financial Wizards withholding credit. The end result is that everyone winds up working for and a slave of The Financial Wizards.

I think it's time for a new definition of usury as follows: any interest on any loan of fiat money (meaning money made out of nothing). This example of a $100,000 home, as shocking as it is, producing $172,741 unearned interest, this is just a grain of sand in the Sahara. You have to multiply that by all the homes in America, by all of these hotels in America, all the high-rise buildings, all the factories, all the airplanes, automobiles, farm equipment, schools, everything, all the physical assets of America. You apply this same ratio and can you see it in your mind? We're talking about a river of unearned wealth that is so wide you can't even think of crossing it, flowing perpetually into the banking cartel. A dead short across the productive element of society. Money being taken from people who are working hard providing the material and the labor. They don't even know that this is being taken from them and it's in this huge river of wealth flowing into the banking cartel. It's a staggering thought. You are led to the question of where is this river flowing? Where's it going? Get a picture of this that it's all going into a lake somewhere and maybe there's a dam and the wealth is building up and somewhere they're getting it all. Getting it no, they're spending it. They're not accumulating it at all. What are they spending it for? The answer may surprise you. They're not buying more yachts and mansions with this money, they've already got all of those they possibly want. In fact they got rid of the mansions on Jekyll Island a long time ago because they were bored with that. That's not it. When a person has all the wealth that you could possibly want for the material pleasures of life, what is left? Power. They are using this river of wealth to acquire power over you and me and our children.

They are spending it to acquire control over the power centers of society. The power centers are those groups and institutions through which individuals live and act and rely on for their information. They are literally buying up the World but not the real estate and the hardware, they're buying control over the organizations, the groups and institutions that control people. In other words, to be specific, they are buying control over politicians, political parties, television networks, cable networks, newspapers, magazines, publishing houses, wire services, motion picture studios, universities, labor unions, church organizations, trade associations, tax-exempt foundations, multi-national corporations, boy scouts, girl scouts, you name it. Make your own list of organizations and you will find that this is where those people have been for many decades spending this river of wealth to acquire operational control particularly over those institutions and individuals, those organizations that represent opposition to themselves. That's a critical area for expenditure on their part. This process has gone on not only to a marked degree in America and in the other industrialized nations of the World, but it has gone on in the so-called third World or underdeveloped nations to such a degree that I would say the process is now complete. They own these countries already. Have you ever wondered what's going on there at the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank? Kind of an obscure operation isn't it? you don't read much about it except once in a while on the back page of the newspaper you find out that Congress at the insistence of the President authorized another $100 billion for the International Monetary Fund. And then the article tells you that this money will be used to make loans to underdeveloped nations or grants to them to raise their standard of living. Do you believe that? That's one of those appearances of the fourth kind if you ever saw one. If the money is to be used to raise the standard of living of these countries they're not doing a very good job of it because after all of these decades, after all of these hundreds of billions of dollars, you cannot point to one country that has had its standard of living raised one iota by that. In fact in most cases it's the other way around and that's not an accident because the money has not been used to raise the standard of living. The money does not go to the people in those countries. It goes to the politicians of those countries, to their governments and the money is designed and spent to strengthen their power structures, their ability to control their populations. They usually start off as inefficient dictatorships but by the time they get all this money from the IMF, they are now efficient dictatorships. They have a well-equipped army, a better bureaucracy, for total control of their subjects. That's where the money's being spent.

These countries have been purchased because the politicians in those countries are now totally addicted to this money. We talk about welfare families in America that are third and fourth generation welfare, they're on the dole forever, they cannot dream of anything else. The politicians in these countries are the same way and it's now second, third and in some cases fourth generation international welfare from the United Nations funding. They have no ideology--communism, socialism, capitalism, fascism, what difference does it make? where's the money? As long as they live well, they have their mansions, their yachts, their limousines, they go to New York to the UN and have their suites at the Waldorf-Asoria and that's all they care about. These countries have been purchased through this means and are now owned by this group at the UN and they're firmly in place in the new World order where they're just waiting for you and me to show up. That's the other side of this coin. Not only does this transfer of wealth from America to these countries not raise their standard of living but it does lower ours. That too, believe it or not, is part of the plan. Just waste, get rid of money, get rid of productive power to reduce our standard of living. A strong nation is not a candidate to surrender its sovereignty but a weak nation is. If America can be brought to her knees where she is struggling for survival, if people are hungry, if we have riots in our streets, then Americans could possibly be grateful for any assistance we could get from the UN. Those wonderful blue-helmeted peace-keeping forces could bring order back to our streets or international money, a new World money with purchasing power again might be welcomed by the unthinking, unknowing American public. That is what we're dealing with. What I'm trying to say is that the name of the game out there is not wealth, it is power. --- end of speech.

John D. Rockefeller: "Control everything, own nothing."

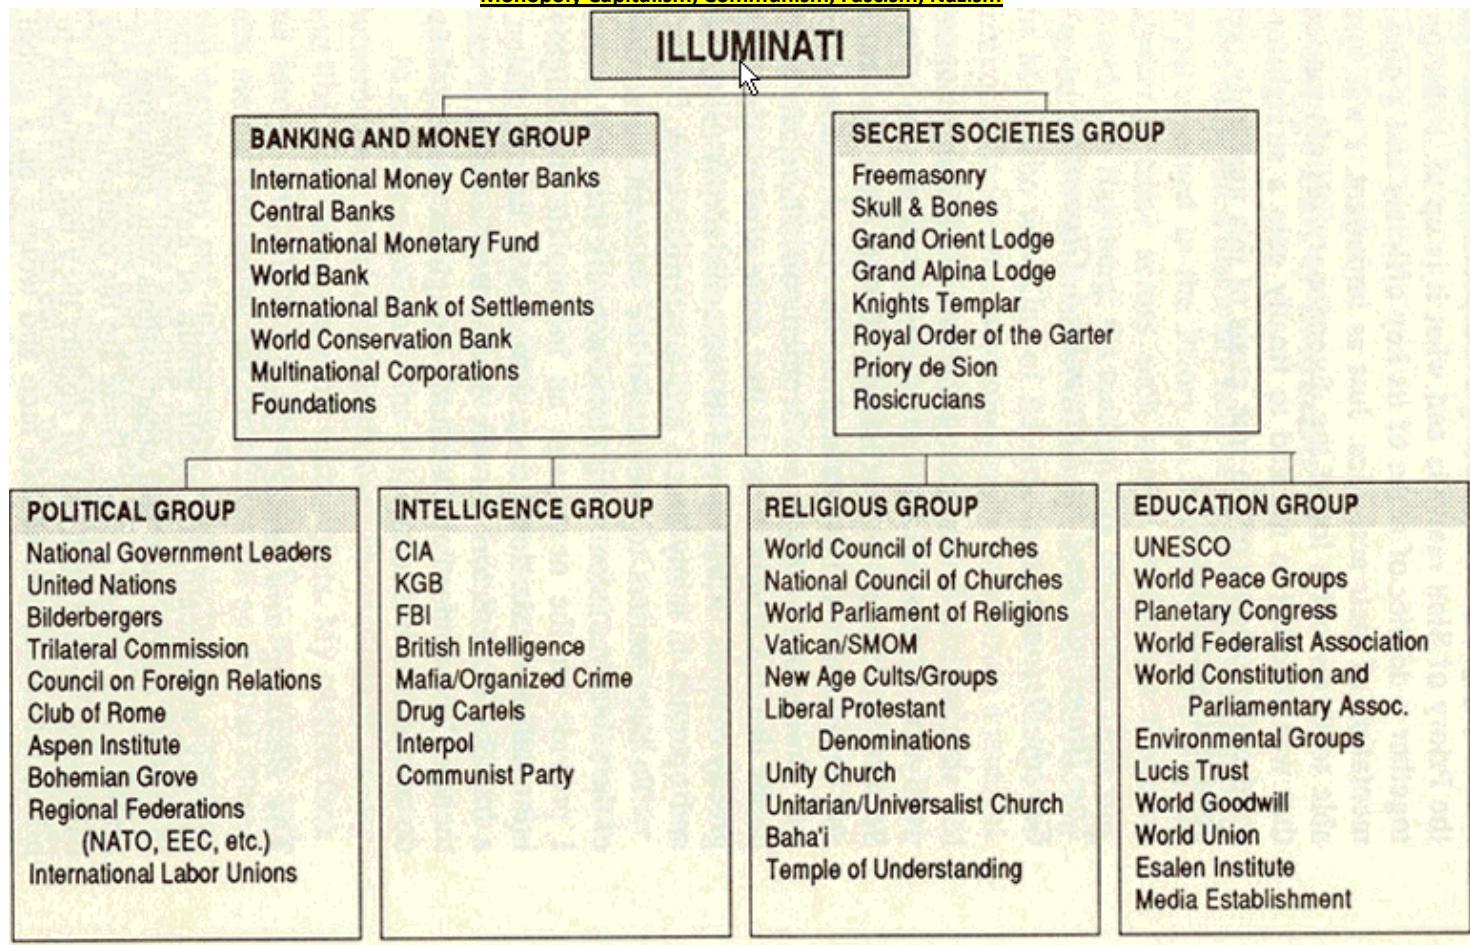

Structure and Characteristics of The Families Owning the Major Banks

Illuminati (Globalists & Zionists Lords): "The Illuminati is a group that practices a form of faith known as "enlightenment". It is Luciferian (Satanic Idolatry or the Synagogue of Satan as referred to in the Bible), and teaches followers that their roots go back to the ancient mystery religions of Babylon, Egypt, and Celtic druidism. They have taken what they consider the "best" of each, the foundational practices, and joined them together into a strongly Occult discipline. Many groups at the local level worship a trinity of ancient deities such as "El", "Baal", and "Ashtarte", as well as "Isis and Osiris" and "Set".... "I do know that these people teach and practice evil." In the "The Dying God, The Hidden History of Western Civilization", Montreal historian David Livingstone shows that modern secular culture is really the product of an Occult tradition that can be traced back to ancient Babylon through Masons, Rosicrucians, Templars, Plato and the Cabalists".

The Prophets of God invite us to be freed from this slavery of the Pharisees. Note that the ancient elites created and perpetrated the Occult and Idolatry traditions to keep the masses occupied while they reap their wealth. The elites are always busy refining the techniques of mass control.

Background sign in picture: "Israeli government: stop oppressing religious Jewry in the State of Israel." Jews Against Zionism protesting in New York Feb 12, 2002.

Power, Money, Idolatry, Luciferian Satanism & The Kabbala Relationship: The Pilgrims, City of London 1902, New York 1903, Fabianism, Marxism, Monopoly Capitalism, Communism, Fascism, Nazism

The Vatican, the Zionist MOSSAD, Rothschild dynasty's original mafia, Pilgrims and the Jesuits should be added above. The CIA is the Rockefeller's original mafia for external affairs while the FBI is for internal affairs (remember Cointelpro). The CIA and Masons also utilize charities and the Rotary Club as infiltrated fronts.

Please see "The Four Major NWO Interlocked Mafias (New World Order/Disorder)" later in this book.

"Zionism is but an incident of a far reaching plan," said leading American Zionist Louis Marshall, counsel for bankers Kuhn Loeb in 1917. "It is merely a convenient peg on which to hang a powerful weapon." The far-reaching plan is Illuminati World dictatorship. The Illuminati is the highest echelon of Freemasonry, an occult secret society dedicated to Lucifer. The World's central bankers have intermarried with the richest dynastic families of Europe and America to bring about World hegemony. They instigated wars and depressions to degrade and destroy humanity. The American people have been financing their wars since 1914.

Pharisee: "One of the members of a school or party among the ancient Jews noted for the strict formal observance of the rites and validity of traditions of the elders. Pharisee interpretation provided the standard of observation and belief for the great majority of the Jews from the 1st century A.C. Pharisaic, hypocritical, self righteous and censorious of others" -- Webster's New International Dictionary of the English Language, 2nd edition, 1950. PHARISEES ARE A SECRET ORDER WHO PRETEND TO BE ISRAELITES JUDEANS! Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesu-Isa referred to the Pharisees as 'hypocrites,' a 'den of vipers,' and 'children of an adulterous generation.' You get the picture. Portrait of The Neo-Pharisees Rothschild Dynasty's big 5 brothers on the right.

Cabal. Cabbala, CABALA, as small group of persons joined in secret, often political intrigue, to join in a cabal; plot —Webster's New World Dictionary, Third College Edition.

Cabal: (1) Powerful group of Ministers in the court of Charles II of England, known by their acronym (Clifford, Ashley, Buckingham, Arlington, Lauderdale), who were corrupt and endlessly plotting; (2) by analogy, any political intrigue group. This latter term was also influenced by the word "Cabala" with its implications of secrecy and magic. —Ultimate Science Fiction Web Guide.

Cabalist. [Satanic] occult doctrine based on the Cabala; any occult doctrine —Webster's New World Dictionary, Third College Edition.

Cabala. Cabbala, [Babylonian] kabala, received lore, tradition; an occult philosophy of certain [apostate Pharisee] "Jewish" rabbis [developed in Babylon], & further in the Middle Ages, based on a mystical interpretation of the Scriptures; any esoteric or secret doctrine.

Yashua-Joshua-Issu-Iyesus-Iesous-Joshua-Jesu-YeZeus-JaZeus had quite a verbal scathing for the Pharisees (the priest-bankers-usurers who worked from the Temple in Jerusalem) who mislead ordinary Jews in Matthew 23. Pharisaic law is reflected in the Babylonian Talmud, particularly in the book of Mishna—the original book of the Babylonian Talmud. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus called their teachings "the ways of men. Looking at "God - the Ultimate Paradox", David Ash tells us (p.69:) that in ancient times, Jews "had a governing body ... known as the 'Council of Elders" dominated by the Pharisees. In the 19th century this council "described itself as the learned Elders of Zion". We learn that there is a group within the Elders which infiltrates and creates secret societies - such as the Masons - known as 'The Brotherhood of the Snake ... In modern times this brotherhood has adopted the title of Illuminati" (p.74) and created Zionism. A lot more info on this is available in other sections of this book.

"Sound money and free banking are not impossible; they are merely illegal. Freedom of money and freedom of banking ... are the principles that must guide our steps." -- Hans F. Sennholz

One of the most remarkable statements comes from British Lord Sir Josiah (John) Stamp, former director of the Bank of England and 2nd richest man in England in the 1920s said this speaking at the University of Texas in 1927 and repeated it at an address at Central Hall, London 1937, said: "The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented. Banking was started in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the Earth; take it away from them but leave them with the power to create credit, and, with a stroke of the pen, they will create enough money to buy it back again. Take this power away from them and all great fortunes, like mine, would disappear, for then this World would be a happier and better World to live in. But, if you want to be the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then let the Bankers create money and control credit."

Baron Nathan Mayer Rothschild (1777-1836) London financier, one of the founders of the international Rothschild banking dynasty: "I care not what puppet is placed on the throne of England to rule the Empire, ...The man that controls Britain's money supply controls the British Empire. And I control the money supply."

Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild (1744-1812) (The Synagogue of Satan or Lucifer or Holder of The Light hence Satanic Luciferian ILLUMINATI): "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependant on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

"Give me control over a man's economic actions, and hence over his means of survival, and except for a few occasional heroes, I'll promise to deliver to you men who think and write and behave as I want them to." -Benjamine A. Rooge

A lot of people have already exposed the Rothschild family as the power behind the thrones, and they continue to exert phenomenal influence over the monetary systems of Europe and America. Here is a timeline about the Rothschilds. It is time for Americans and Europeans to stop behaving like frightened children. http://www.iamthewitness.com/DarylBradfordSmith_Rothschild.htm

As explained in the 1800s by German Chancellor Otto Von Bismarck, the problem is the control of the nation's credit by a small private international group, which has used this advantage to build a monopoly (hence the term "monopoly capitalism" = communism = fascism = imperialism) in every key industry. This international group is behind World imperialism. Its totalitarian occult agenda (a.k.a. globalism) is now corporate policy. The victim paradigm typically purveyed by some is to create divisions and divert attention from the Illuminati Bankers and their cartels. It teaches each new generation to be alienated from their country, its culture and economic system, and to become dysfunctional and impotent. The Bankers want Big Government that they centrally control through debt and credit issues. They need the global police state to ensure that no nation defaults on paying homage to them or rebels against their enslavement. The invasion of Iraq is another step in creating the Bankers' "1984" tyranny as predicted by George Orwell in 1948 (note that the price of oil went from $15 to $75 quintupling the $ purchase requirements, i.e. from over $600 million daily to over $3 billion daily, another boom for the Banksters).

"I am afraid that the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that banks can and do create money.....And they who control the credit of the nation [and its citizens and corporations] direct the policy of Governments and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people"....- Reginald McKenna, a past Chairman of the Board, Midlands Bank of England.

"Thus our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend not money, but [false] promises to supply money which they do not possess"- Irving Fisher, economist & author.

"One thing to realize about our fractional reserve banking system is that like a child's game of musical chairs [i.e. a pyramid ponzi scheme], as long as the music is playing, there are no losers"....- Andrew Gause, Monetary historian.

Unfortunately, Harvard Professor Nial Ferguson tries to cover up for the Rothschilds in his documentary "Ascent of Money".

"Lucifer comes to give to us the final gift of wholeness. If we accept it then he is free and we are free. This is the Luciferic initiation. It is one that many people now, and in the days ahead, will be facing, for it is an initiation in the New Age. ... No one will enter the New World Order unless he or she will make a pledge to worship Lucifer. No one will enter the New Age unless he will take a Luciferian initiation." David Spangler on the Board of Directors of Planetary Citizens, United Nations, "Reflections on the Christ," quoted in Unicorn in the Sanctuary, by Randy England, 1978

http://www.antichristconspiracy.com/HTML%20Pages/Harold_Wallace_Rosenthal_Interview_1976.htm. 1976 Harold Wallace Rosenthal, a Zionist administrative assistant to Senator Jacob K. Javits of New York, who like most Zionists and Illuminati, pretends to be Jewish, when asked "Do you have knowledge of WHEN and WHY the story began about the Jews being God's chosen people?" said in part: "Most [Zionist Ashkenazi/Khazar European and not Middle-Eastern] Jews do not like to admit it, but our god is Lucifer -- so I wasn't lying -- and we are his chosen people. Lucifer is very much alive."

Thomas Jefferson Notes on the State of Virginia: "Our rulers can have authority over such natural rights only as we have submitted to them. The rights of conscious we never submitted, we could never submit. We are answerable for them to our God. The legitimate powers of government extend to such acts only as are injurious to others. But it does me no injury for my neighbor to say there are twenty gods or no god. It neither picks my pocket nor breaks my leg." Well, these Illuminati Banking Dynasties are both picking our pockets and creating wars that are breaking many peoples' legs!

Dr. R.E. Search, "Lincoln Money Martyred", Omni Publications Hawthorne, California. 1935 (Reprinted 1977): Consider this: "One penny loaned January 1st, AC 1, drawing interest at the rate of 6% compounded annually, on January 1st, 1895, would amount to: £8,498,840,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000.00. To pay this in gold at the rate of 1.5 grams of gold to the pound sterling, using it in spheres of pure gold the size of the planet earth, would take: 610,070,000,000,000 such spheres to pay the debt.

The Illuminati Banking Dynasties create the money for the loan out of nothing because they were granted this power by fraudulent legislation for which they bribed and maneuvered Kings and politicians into passing.

Major L.L.B. Angas: "The modern Banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented. Banks can in fact inflate, mint, and un-mint the modern ledger-empty currency."

They don't create the money to pay the interest though. When the banks put your interest payments back into circulation by acquiring good and services, then debtors are able to repay the interest, i.e. we have to work for the bank to repay the interest! The only way to keep this system going is to have governments and people borrow more and more to create the money to pay the interest. A great way to stop this pyramid scheme from collapsing temporarily is to have wars which cause all sides in the conflict to borrow. The 1913 Federal Reserve Act stipulated that the interest on the debt was to be paid in gold. There was no stipulation in the Federal Reserve Act for ever paying the principle.

In 1910, US government debt stood at about $1 billion or about $12 per citizen. Now, its about $15 trillion (all levels of government) or about $50,000 per citizen owed to the private owners of the Federal Reserve Bank. Government and corporate debt is inherited. Therefore, whenever we pay taxes or buy corporate products, we pay homage to the Illuminati owners of the private central banks because part of our money goes to pay interest to them on money which they created from nothing, through the power that was given to them by fraudulent/dishonest legislation.

"Like it or not, you are a slave. You admit you are a slave every April 15th! That's when you sign forms that "voluntarily" lay bare to the government the most private details of your life! And few people realize the income tax is a slave tax. It can never be compatible with the life of a free people". ALAN KEYES - Republican Nominee for President, unfortunately, the only Republican willing to speak out along with Ron Paul.

Why did Haig say: "Let them march all they want, as long as they continue to pay their taxes." — General Alexander Haig former Secretary of State June 12, 1982? Because he was supporting his masters, the Illuminati New World Order, who collect at least half of our taxes as the interest "owed" to the owners of the Federal Reserve System on money which they created from nothing!

The total amount owed – by consumers, businesses, governments and financial institutions – totaled $34.4 trillion at the end of 2003, according to the Federal Reserve. The economy produced $11.3 trillion of output. That makes the nation's debt triple its gross domestic product. In 1933, debt was about 2 1/2 times GDP, according to a study by the Gabelli Mathers mutual fund. In contrast, the estimated wealth of the top Illuminati dynasties is $300 Trillion according to Russian researcher Dr. Tatyana Koryagina who like Alex Jones predicted the 9-11 attacks back in July 2001. In 1694, the English government's debt to the private owned Bank of England was £1.25 million. In 1993, (11 years ago) the British taxpayers paid £24.5 billion alone in interest, more than twice the education budget! And who knows what the real figure is, since many things are kept secret. When this pyramid collapses, we would suddenly be in a very different World. In 1929, the stock market crashed, but the gold standard held. The monetary system held. Now, we are dealing with something that's more fundamental. The only known precedent is the Roman Empire's collapse, which ended Roman currency. That was, of course, at a time when it took about a century and a half for the breakdown to spread through the empire; now it would take a few hours.

Richard Maybury: "Washington...has become an alien city-state that rules America, and much of the rest of the World, in the way that Rome ruled the Roman Empire." There are many similarities between what happened in the Roman Empire including the erosion of rights like we have today with the Patriot Act I & II (and soon to come III).

Jewish author David Ash in "God - the Ultimate Paradox" Dec. 1997, describes the two basic competing banking systems (page III):

- "The first system involved the bank investing money ... as a joint, profit-sharing enterprise or on the basis of charging fees for services rendered For example, ... Bank of Amsterdam ..."
- "The second banking system involved the bank lending money at interest and holding the property of the borrower as collateral. This system is called usury."
- "The first system brought prosperity...The second... ruin."

Retired US Army Colonel De Grandpre: "The trigger for the 9-11 activity was the imminent and unstoppable Worldwide financial collapse which can only be prevented temporarily by a major war, perhaps to become known as World War III. To bring it off one more time, martial law will probably be imposed in the United States." (see transcript of his interview on the Feb 2004 Alex Jones Show Austin TX in the section about Fake Terror & 9-11)

Most people don't realize that now-a-days the issuing of money is essentially a private business, and that the privilege of issuing money has been a major bone of contention throughout history over which major wars have been and are being fought, over which major crimes have been and are being committed, and over which many nations were destroyed, Kings, Queens, Monarchs, Emperors (including Julius Caesar), Tsars and families like some members of the Kennedys and the Gandhis (in addition to not allowing foreign BankLords, Mahatma Gandhi said Nov. 26, 1938, "Let the Jews, who claim to be the chosen race, prove their title by choosing the way of non-violence for vindicating their position on earth" and "Oh, I don't reject your Christ. I love your Christ. It's just that so many of you Christians are so unlike your Christ." <http://jmm.aaa.net.au/articles/552.htm>), Popes, judges, lawyers, politicians and at least six US Presidents were assassinated (William Henry Harrison, poisoned, in 1841, Zachary Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and John F. Kennedy 1963; 7 if you also count FDR as suspected of being poisoned!)! In this book, we will learn that the Illuminati Dynasties practice Orwellian speech (Native Americans used to say "...man speaks with forked tongue"), division of the masses, demonization (propaganda) against the ones to be sacrificed, and that the end game is totalitarian tyranny.

Senator George W. Malone (to Congress in 1962): "I believe that if the people of this nation fully understood what Congress has done to them over the past 49 years, they would move on Washington, they would not wait for an election ... It adds up to a preconceived plan to destroy the economic and social independence of the United States."

Congressman Wright Patman (Chairman, House Banking & Currency Committee): "In the United States we have, in effect, two governments ... We have the duly Constitutional government ... then we have an independent, uncontrolled and uncoordinated government in the Federal Reserve System operating the money powers which are reserved to Congress by the Constitution."

Congressman William E. Simon (in a speech to the House of Representatives on the problems of the Federal Reserve System, April 30, 1976): "I hear no one addressing this danger. Congress does not discuss it. The press does not discuss it. Look around us – the press isn't even here! The people do not discuss it – they are unaware of it. No counter-force in America is being mobilized to fight this danger. The battle is being lost, and not a shot is being fired."

Richard Walbaum wrote in 1992's "The Poverty Trap": "Our monetary system guarantees that debt must increase regardless of what people, business or government do or do not do, whether or not they balance their budgets."

Peter Kershaw tells us: "What we operate on today is not the 'intellect' of confidence based upon tangible wealth and substance, but the 'religion' of 'conviction' based upon blind faith. Without religious conviction, the system collapses! And what is that religion? – a pagan occultic money system." This system has been around since the ancient times of Nimrod (son of Cush, initiator of Masonry) and Rome and Jerusalem.

Larry Burkett, author of "The Coming Economic Earthquake" takes it one step further by saying: "The actual deficits are almost twice as large as those admitted by the government. So why hasn't our economy collapsed? Because the American people still have confidence in the System."

Eustace Mullins: "...the increase in the assets of the Federal Reserve banks from 143 million dollars in 1913 to 45 BILLION dollars in 1949 went directly to the private stockholders of the [federal reserve] banks."

This book is revealing only one of the tips of the giant icebergs of deception; only a few examples out of the multitudes of revealing events are mentioned in this book. You will learn that there is an ocean of Illuminati corruption that goes on to build their monopoly-capitalism institutions. To the Illuminati "competition is a sin"; that's why they like large centralized private banks and businesses, in other words, the Illuminati while pretending to promote freedom like a communist centrally controlled social environment in which they are the monopoly owners and controllers! And this is their New World Order (NWO). This ambition and hatred of the Global Elite was summarized by John D. Rockefeller (1839-1937) patriarch of the Rockefeller clan, when he said: "The combination is here to stay ... Individualism has gone, never to return ... I want to own nothing and control everything.... Competition is a sin." This intention of the immensely wealthy is to destroy capitalism, the very thing that made them so uniquely moneyed appears strange to most people. The "almost hidden" conspirators in politics, religion, education, entertainment, and the news media are working for the Illuminati Bankers or Banksters owned United States, in a banker-owned World under a banker-owned World Dictatorship Government! This is what all the talk of a New World Order promoted by Presidents Bush and Clinton is all about. Well, many events on Earth don't make sense without understanding the role of the "Illuminati". We cannot see beyond the ORGANIZER, however, we will be able to see beyond the "Illuminati" from the knowledge described and depicted in this book.

You must have heard about the scientific theory on "dark matter" called "the missing mass of the universe". Well, this book fills the void about the "missing history" which we were never taught, the history of the "dark clan" or "black nobility". This book is not a theory; it's about a real conspiratorial or secretive plan that is being executed and unfolding behind a huge propaganda curtain. This book is not a tale of fiction like the "Lord of the Rings" or "The Matrix". However, from the movie "The Matrix" we are reminded that our consciousness interprets reality from the various types of electro-chemical signals induced by the "external World" on our receptors which then reach certain areas of our brain, i.e. we are what we read in newspapers or see and hear on TV news. Unfortunately, the mainstream media is at the service of the Illuminati controllers. Fortunately though, this book is the axis of logic which exposes the real axis of evil and the coalition of the willingly evil!!! So that no one suspects them, Bush, Sharon & company keep pointing fingers at others or declaring others as "enemies of the state" whilst they and their Illuminati bosses are the real danger; an old diversion technique (a good movie to illustrate this is "Enemy of The State").

Read on and discover the shocking reality of how the World is controlled by the Illuminati Banking Dynasties in coordination with the Zionist-Masonic-Jesuit Occult brotherhoods and learn the meanings of Illuminati and Masonic symbolisms. The uncovered, uncensored, unexpected, surprising and shocking truth will be revealed in this book. This book gets straight to the point and does not mince words. Some people will find it very shocking during their first read through. This book shows you the smoke. Where there's smoke, there has been a fire, or there is a fire, or there will be a fire! The word-smithing in this book is sharp and to the point. Stay cool and learn calmly. Don't react negatively. Be patient when working for freedom.

Mohandas Gandhi: "However much we may detest admitting it, the fact remains that there would be no exploitation if people refused to obey the exploiter. But self comes in and we hug the chains that bind us. This must cease."

Why must we understand how this feudal financial system was developed and how it operates today? Because there is something terribly different between what is reported in the major news outlets and what is really happening! (In Star Wars terminology, there is a monstrous disturbance in the force!!!) This book is for everyone, controller and controlled. The controller must know that he/she is working evil for "The Emperors" and the controlled must know that he/she is being fooled no matter what their religion is or is not. This book will enable common folks to see, listen, think and navigate through the propaganda of "The Illuminated Ones". This book is to unite humankind against the attempted descent into ancient feudal slavery or tyranny being perpetrated by the operatives of the New World Order. This book is not a debate over whose religious beliefs are correct or not.

Alexander Hamilton or James Madison, Federalist No. 62: "It will be of little avail to the people, that the laws are made by men of their own choice, if the laws be so voluminous that they cannot be read, or so incoherent that they cannot be understood; if they be repealed or revised before they are promulgated, or undergo such incessant changes that no man, who knows what the law is to-day, can guess what it will be to-morrow." Both the legal system and the financial system are complicated beyond comprehension. Centralizing control of everything makes it easier for the banking dynasties to control the World. This private debt-usury money system must be scrapped and replaced with a debt-free currency issued by sovereign governments for the benefit of the people. Early philosophers like Aristotle, believed that usury was bad for society because the purpose of money was to move goods in society from person to person. The interest on money slowed all of that down, and hence, slowed down the progression of society. It put an unnecessary burden on money. Later, the church had outlawed usury as well, but as the usurers got their way again, they passed laws to allow certain "taxes" on money.

Milton Friedman, economist: "The stock of money, prices and output was decidedly more unstable after the establishment of the [private] Federal Reserve System than before. The most dramatic period of instability in output was, of course, the period between the two wars, which include the severe [monetary] contractions of 1920-21, 1929-33, and 1937-38. No other 20-year period in American history contains as many as three such severe contractions. This evidence persuades me that at least a third of the price rise during and just after World War I is attributable to the establishment of the Federal Reserve System... and that the severity of each of the major contractions is directly attributable to acts of commission and omission by the Reserve authorities. And this system which gives so much power and so much discretion to a few men, [so] that mistakes can have such far reaching effects is a bad system. It is a bad system to believers in freedom just because it gives a few men such power without any effective check by the body politic – this is the key argument against an independent central bank.... To paraphrase Clemenceau, money is too serious a matter to be left to the central bankers."

Pope Leo XIII (1878): "On the one side there is the party which holds the power because it holds the wealth; which has in its grasp all labor and all trade; which manipulates for its own benefit and its own purposes all the sources of supply, and which is powerfully represented in the councils of State itself. On the other side there is the needy and powerless multitude, sore and suffering. Rapacious usury, which, although more than once condemned by the Church, is nevertheless under a different form but with the same guilt, still practised by avaricious and grasping men... so that a small number of very rich men have been able to lay upon the masses of the poor a yoke little better than slavery itself."

Pope Pius XI (1857-1939): "In our days, not alone is wealth accumulated, but immense power and despotic economic domination is concentrated in the hands of a few.... This power becomes particularly irresistible when exercised by those who, because they hold and control money, are able to also govern credit and determine its allotment, for this reason supplying, so to speak, the life-blood to the entire economic body, and grasping as it were in their hands the very soul of the economy so that no one dare breathe against their will.... For what will it profit men that a more prudent distribution and use of riches make it possible for them to gain even the whole World, if thereby they suffer the loss of their own souls? What will it profit to teach them sound principles in economics, if they permit themselves to be swept away by selfishness, by unbridled and sordid greed, that hearing the Commandments of the Lord, they do all things contrary?"

MARTIN LUTHER was strong in condemning interest on money. He said in part: "Meanwhile, we hand the small thieves ...Little thieves are put in the stocks, great thieves go flaunting in gold and silk...Therefore is there, on this earth, no greater enemy of man (after the devil) than a gripe-money, and usurer, for he wants to God over all men. Turks, soldiers and tyrants are also bad men, yet must they let the people live, and confess that they are bad, and enemies, and do, nay, must, now and then show pity to some. But the usurer and the money-glutton, such a one would have the whole World perish of hunger and thirst, misery and want, so far as in him lies, so that he may have all to himself, and everyone may receive from him as from a God, and be his serf forever."

POPE PIUS XII: said in his encyclical letter THE RECONSTRUCTION OF THE SOCIAL ORDER: "This power becomes particularly irresistible when exercised by those who, because they hold and control money, are able also to govern credit and determine its allotment, for that reason supplying so to speak, the life-blood to the entire economic body, and grasping, as it were, in their hands the very soul of production, so that no one dare breathe against their will."

ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA: "For many people this is a difficult idea to accept. In essence the process is simple, but the common tendency to identify "money" solely with coin or currency stands in the way of either understanding or ready acceptance of the idea. It is worthwhile, therefore, to examine the process in more detail and to anticipate and reply to some of the questions commonly raised." "The great contrast is with lending of the third type, where banks furnish neither their own money nor the money received from others; instead they establish deposit credit against which the bank's customer can draw checks. These deposits are created as part of the lending operation. New circulating medium thereby comes into existence."

Never be under any illusions about the meaning of 'government'. Pierre J. Proudhon, General Idea of the Revolution in the 19th Century Pierre Proudhon says....: "To be GOVERNED is to be watched, inspected, spied upon, directed, law-driven, numbered, regulated, enrolled, indoctrinated, preached at, controlled, checked, estimated, valued, censured, commanded, by creatures who have neither the right nor the wisdom nor the virtue to do so. To be GOVERNED is to be at every operation, at every transaction noted, registered, counted, taxed, stamped, measured, numbered, assessed, licensed, authorized, admonished, prevented, forbidden, reformed, corrected, punished. It is, under pretext of public utility, and in the name of the general interest, to be placed under contribution, drilled, fleeced, exploited, monopolized, extorted from, squeezed, hoaxed, robbed then, at the slightest resistance, the first word of complaint, to be repressed, fined, vilified, harassed, hunted down, abused, clubbed, disarmed, bound, choked, imprisoned, judged, condemned, shot, deported, sacrificed, sold, betrayed; and to crown all, mocked, ridiculed, derided, outraged, dishonored. That is government; that is its justice, that is its morality."

Where did the word 'BANK' come from?

Real Money: A real ten dollar gold certificate is shown below. The note states on its face "THIS CERTIFIES THAT THERE HAS BEEN DEPOSITED IN THE TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA TEN DOLLARS IN GOLD COIN PAYABLE TO THE BEARER ON DEMAND"

Tell someone you're going to a convention of accountants and you might get a few yawns, yet money and how it works and how it is used to control the masses is probably one of the most ancient and interesting systems developed and perfected by the elites who rule the Earth. The elite agenda has always been to grab the wealth of the whole World by playing with the masses and playing the masses against each other. Bank could be an old German word for bench, referring to the bench on which one sat while discussing loan arrangements and interest charges. Some say the word 'bank' originated from Chartres in 11th century France where money-changers stood at benches which their place of business; 'Bench' in French is 'banc', and so the money people became known as 'banquiers', or as we call them now, 'Bankers'. Yet, some others say that Italians were involved in the transfer of papal taxes from Scotland and the origin of the word bank is the 'banco' or bench used by the Italian merchants and money lenders. The money changers of Lombardia used to sit behind their wooden desks and, therefore, the place became known as Banco. And some others say that it was originated by released Crusaders who while being POWs under Muslim custody saw the Arabs conducting loan, exchange and issue of money on wooden tables or banco in Italian. All great republics throughout history cherished sound money. This meant that the monetary unit was a commodity of honest weight and purity. When money was sound, civilizations were found to be more prosperous and freedom thrived. The less free a society becomes, the greater the likelihood its money is being debased and the economic well-being of its citizens diminished unless it was temporarily boosted by empire building and exploitation of weaker nations. The Founding Fathers were well aware of the Biblical admonitions against dishonest weights and measures, debased silver, and watered-down wine (these admonitions can also be found in the Quran and some other religious and non-religious books). The issue of sound money throughout history has been as much a moral issue as an economic and political issue. Since the monetary unit measures every economic transaction, from wages to prices, taxes, and interest rates, it is vitally important that its value is honestly established without Illuminati Bankers, government, politicians, or the privately owned central banks manipulating its value to serve special interests.

Money, money, money, it's always just been there, right? Wrong. (See later sections on the interesting history of the various forms of money from ancient times). Obviously it's issued by the government to make it easy for us to exchange things, right? Wrong again! In the United States of America, it's the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank (System) chartered in 1913 that creates money from nothing (FIAT money) and lends it at interest to the Government!!! In the U.K., it's the Bank of England (although it was given a face of government ownership in 1947, the former owners from the Rothschilds' gang were given an undisclosed amount of Fiduciary bonds bearing 12% interest tax-free which can never be paid off because they never mature and give the owners a say in the affairs of the Bank, and they have first claim on England ahead of the shareholders, i.e. it amounts to the same as continuing private ownership of the bank). In Hong Kong, it's the HSBC bank, in Germany it's the Reichsbank or Bundesbank, in France it's the Bank of France (same as the Bank of England but was so called sold to the government 1 year earlier), Bank of Japan, Bank of Belgium, etc., all known as the Satanic Purse masqueraded with a front or appearance of a shared-governance with the government! Guess who owns our politicians?

Our current system of exchange was created with a profit motive aimed at capitalizing on people's need for currency and borrowing. The Central Banking System (which produces the actual currency and loans it to governments at interest and sells it to high street banks at face value) was set up as a network of private businesses with official-sounding names, engineered to make a profit for their shareholders. These include the Bank of England (Graham Bannoc R.E. Baxter and Evan Davis, 'The Penguin Dictionary of Economics' page 34, see also The Economic Organisation of Europe, 'Cambridge Economic History of Europe V' page 352), The Federal Reserve (Graham Bannoc R.E. Baxter and Evan Davis, 'The Penguin Dictionary of Economics' page 155) and all the other Central Banks throughout the World. Not one of them is democratic! All of them are masters of disguise. Even nationalization has not stopped Bank of England stock holders from receiving their dividends, nor stopped the bank from keeping 75% of its profit, while writing off the 25% it pays to the Treasury as corporation tax (Bank of England Act 1946).

Irving Fisher: "Thus, our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend, not money, but promises to supply money they do not possess." And charge us interest on it!

In fact, when governments borrow, the privately owned Federal Reserve now promises to tax you and uses you as the collateral against which it issues the Federal Reserve Notes and cyber money!!!

My taxes go to pay for government services, right? Wrong once more! You thought you were paying taxes to get Government services but most of the taxes go to pay the interest on the government debt owed to the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank who were allowed to create the money from NOTHING and lent it to governments!!! (Some have been dreaming of turning "lead into gold", well, these banking dynasties have turned "paper" into gold!). In other words, the IRS is a collection agency working for the private owners of the Federal Reserve System who have the power to create money out of nothing and lend it to the Government at interest. More details on this later. And YES, the FED is privately owned but camouflaged behind a public government appearance! And the private Fed cannot be fully audited by anyone and pays no taxes. A lot more details on this later and also in the other sections and appendixes and references listed in this book.

Note: These comments were presented at the Close of the Citizens' Truth-In-Taxation Hearing. Washington D.C., February 27-28, 2002: IRS is a Trust Headquartered in Puerto Rico Not a Federal Agency The IRS is technically not an "agency" of the federal government, as that term is defined in the Freedom of Information Act and in the Administrative Procedures Act. The governments of the federal territories are expressly excluded from the definition of "agency" in those Acts of Congress. See 5 U.S.C. 551\(1\)\(C\). All evidence indicates that they are a money laundry, extortion racket, and conspiracy to engage in a pattern of racketeering activity, in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1951 and 1961 et seq. They appear to be laundering huge sums of money into foreign banks, mostly in Europe, and quite possibly into the Vatican. See the national policy on money laundering at 31 U.S.C. 5341. Do federal income tax revenues pay for any government services and, if so, which government services are funded by federal income taxes? Answer: No. The money trail is very difficult to follow, in this instance, because the IRS is technically a trust with a domicile in Puerto Rico. See 31 U.S.C. 1321\(a\)\(62\). As such, their records are protected by laws which guarantee the privacy of trust records within that territorial jurisdiction, provided that the trust is not also violating the Sherman Antitrust Act. The final report of the 1984 Grace Commission, convened under President Ronald Reagan, quietly admitted that none of the funds they collect from federal income taxes goes to pay for any federal government services. The Grace Commission found that those funds were being used to pay for interest on the federal debt, and income transfer payments to beneficiaries of entitlement programs like federal pension plans.

"100% of what is collected is absorbed solely by interest on the Federal Debt ... all individual income tax revenues are gone before one nickel is spent on the services taxpayers expect from government."

-Grace Commission report submitted to President Ronald Reagan - January 15, 1984

Note that the money that is used to pay the interest in addition to the capital is only created when more borrowing takes place or when the banks acquire services with the interest that you paid, i.e. we are working for the bank owners who issued the money from nothing! How did the banking cartel usurp the right to issue money from the people's sovereign government? By the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 passed under the supervision of President Woodrow Wilson. Listen to his words a few years after he signed the Federal Reserve Act: President Woodrow Wilson: "I am a most unhappy man. I have unwittingly ruined my country. A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the civilized World no longer a Government by free opinion, no longer a Government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a Government by the opinion and duress of a small group of dominant men.

Private Central banks have not always existed \(Fractional Reserve Banking was decentralized\)

In early economies, governments would supply currency by minting precious metals with their stamp. No matter what the creditworthiness of the government, the worth of the currency depended on the value of its underlying precious metal. A coin was worth its gold or silver content, as it could always be melted down. A country's worth and economic clout was largely to its holdings of gold and silver in the national treasury. Monarchs, despots and even democrats tried to skirt this inviolate law by filing down their coinage or mixing in other substances to make more coins out of the same amount of gold or silver. They were inevitably found out by the traders, money lenders and others who depended on the worth of that currency. This is the reason that movies show pirates and thieves biting Spanish doubloons to ascertain the value of their booty and loot. The advent of paper money during the industrial revolution meant that it wasn't too difficult for a bank to alter its amount of money in circulation. Instead of gold, all that was needed to produce more banknotes was paper, ink and a printing press. Because of the skepticism of all concerned, paper money was backed by a "promise to pay" upon demand. A holder of a "pound sterling" note of the United Kingdom could actually demand his pound of silver! When gold became the de facto backing of the World's currency a "gold standard" was developed where nations kept sufficient gold to back their "promises to pay" in their national treasuries. The problem with this standard was that a nation's economic health depended on its holdings of gold. When the treasury was bare, the currency was worthless.

In the 1800s, even commercial banks in Canada and the United States issued their own banknotes, backed by their promises to pay in gold. Since they could lend more than they had to hold in reserves to meet their depositors' demands, they actually could create money. This inevitably led to "runs" on banks when they could not meet their depositors' demands and were bankrupt. The same happened to smaller countries. In the late 1800s and early 1900s, many countries legislated for private central banks the exclusive monopoly to issue banknotes or as I would call it to counterfeit money. In the US, this meant that all legal tender paper notes were controlled by the Federal Reserve. Commercial banks still could create money by lending more than their depositors had placed with the bank, but they no longer had the right to issue banknotes as the country's legal tender.

John B. Rarick: "Mr. Speaker, the current efforts by our Government to hold down price increases have served to focus the attention of thoughtful students on a little discussed facet of our money system, this system, because of a long procedure of miseducation and studied silence is not now understood as it was prior to the adoption of the Federal Reserve system more than half a century ago. It is based upon debt; has serious implications for the future of our country, and invites what may be the greatest war in history. ... Every debt Dollar demands an interest tribute from our economy for every year that Dollar remains in circulation. These interest costs force up the price of every commodity and service and contribute greatly to inflation. ..."

Well, lets fix this mis-education and silence now and explain the truth about the debt-based economic system that the Illuminati Banking Dynasties have imposed on us as the neo-slavery! Such history of money does not appear in the textbooks of public government schools today. So-called "economic experts" write syndicated columns in hundreds of newspapers, craftily designed to prevent the people from learning the simple truth about our money system. Sometimes commentators, educators, and politicians blame our financial conundrum on the workers for being wasteful, lazy, or stingy. Other times, they blame workers and consumers for the increase in debts and the inflation of prices, when they know the cause is the debt-money system itself. People are literally drowned in charges and counter-charges designed to confuse them and keep them from understanding the unconstitutional and evil money system that is so efficiently and silently robbing the farmers, the workers, and the businessmen of the fruits of their labor and of their freedoms. Some, who are especially vocal in their exposure of the treason against the people, are harassed by government agencies such as the EPA, OSHA, the IRS, and others, forcing them into financial strain or bankruptcy. They have been completely successful in preventing most Americans from learning the things you have/will read in this book. Among the steps taken to prevent armed resistance to their plunder of America, they plan to register all firearms and eventually to disarm all citizens, in violation of the 2nd Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. A people armed cannot be enslaved. Therefore, they only want guns in the hands of their gestapo or military forces -- hands that are already stained with blood from countless acts of gross negligence and overt homicide, both at home and abroad.

Murray N. Rothbard (1926-1995), the founder of modern libertarianism and the dean of the Austrian School of economics, was the author of The Ethics of Liberty and For a New Liberty and many other books and articles. He was also academic vice president of the Ludwig von Mises Institute and the Center for Libertarian Studies, and the editor – with Lew Rockwell – of The Rothbard-Rockwell Report. <http://www.lewrockwell.com/rothbard/frb.html>. He explains that the contemporary flight from sound, free market money to statized and inflated money: the abolition of the gold standard by Franklin Roosevelt in 1933 [when the United States went into bankruptcy and actual receivership by the Banklords], and the substitution of fiat paper tickets by the Federal Reserve as our "monetary standard." Another crucial part of this process was the federal cartelization of the nation's banks through the creation of the Federal Reserve System in 1913 [plotted by agents of the Rothschild, Rockefeller, Carnegie, Morgan, etc. dynasties see the Creature of Jekyll Island by G.Edward Griffin for an explanation <http://www.realityzone.com>]. Banking is a particularly arcane part of the economic system; one of the problems is that the word "bank" covers many different activities, with very different implications. The problem with the past investment bankers is that one of their major fields of investment was the underwriting of government bonds, which plunged them hip-deep into politics, giving them a powerful incentive for pressuring and manipulating governments, so that taxes would be levied to pay off their and their clients' government bonds [and wars created to further deepen their pockets]. Hence, the powerful and baleful political influence of investment bankers in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries: in particular, the Rothschilds in Western Europe, and Jay Cooke and the House of Morgan in the United States. [The US Banklords now are linked to oil as the oil trade of 50 million barrels per day is carried by printing fiat dollars]

By the late nineteenth century, the Morgans took the lead in trying to pressure the U.S. government to cartelize industries they were interested in – first railroads and then manufacturing: to protect these industries from the winds of free competition, and to use the power of government to enable these industries to restrict production and raise prices. In particular, the investment bankers acted as a ginger group to work for the cartelization of commercial banks. Most commercial banking is "deposit banking" based on a gigantic scam: the idea, which most depositors believe, that their money is down at the bank, ready to be redeemed in cash at any time. If Jim has a checking account of $1,000 at a local bank, Jim knows that this is a "demand deposit," that is, that the bank pledges to pay him $1,000 in cash, on demand, anytime he wishes to "get his money out." Naturally, the Jims of this World are convinced that their money is safely there, in the bank, for them to take out at any time. Hence, they think of their checking account as equivalent to a warehouse receipt. If they put a chair in a warehouse before going on a trip, they expect to get the chair back whenever they present the receipt. Unfortunately, while banks depend on the warehouse analogy, the depositors are systematically deluded. Their money ain't there. An honest warehouse makes sure that the goods entrusted to its care are there, in its storeroom or vault. But banks operate very differently, at least since the days of such deposit banks as the Banks of Amsterdam and Hamburg in the seventeenth century [actually, this scam has been going on since ancient Babylon and Rome], which indeed acted as warehouses and backed all of their receipts fully by the assets deposited, e.g., gold and silver. This honest deposit or "giro" banking is called "100 percent reserve" banking. Ever since, banks have habitually created warehouse receipts (originally bank notes and now deposits) out of thin air. Essentially, they are counterfeiters of fake warehouse-receipts to cash or standard money, which circulate as if they were genuine, fully-backed notes or checking accounts. Banks make money by literally creating money out of thin air, nowadays exclusively deposits rather than bank notes. This sort of swindling or counterfeiting is dignified by the term "fractional-reserve banking," which means that bank deposits are backed by only a small fraction of the cash they promise to have at hand and redeem. (Right now, in the United States, this minimum fraction is fixed by the Federal Reserve System at 10 percent.)

Let's see how the fractional reserve process works, in the absence of a central bank. I set up a Rothbard Bank, and invest $1,000 of cash (whether gold or government paper does not matter here). Then I "lend out" $10,000 to someone, either for consumer spending or to invest in his business. How can I "lend out" far more than I have? Ahh, that's the magic of the "fraction" in the fractional reserve. I simply open up a checking account of $10,000 which I am happy to lend to Mr. Jones. Why does Jones borrow from me? Well, for one thing, I can charge a lower rate of interest than savers would. I don't have to save up the money myself, but simply can counterfeit it out of thin air. (In the nineteenth century, I would have been able to issue bank notes, but the Federal Reserve now monopolizes note issues.) Since demand deposits at the Rothbard Bank function as equivalent to cash, the nation's money supply has just, by magic, increased by $10,000. The inflationary, counterfeiting process is under way. The nineteenth-century English economist Thomas Tooke correctly stated that "free trade in banking is tantamount to free trade in swindling." But under freedom, and without government support, there are some severe hitches in this counterfeiting process, or in what has been termed "free banking." First: why should anyone trust me? Why should anyone accept the checking deposits of the Rothbard Bank? But second, even if I were trusted, and I were able to con my way into the trust of the gullible, there is another severe problem, caused by the fact that the banking system is competitive, with free entry into the field. After all, the Rothbard Bank is limited in its clientele. After Jones borrows checking deposits from me, he is going to spend it. Why else pay money for a loan? Sooner or later, the money he spends, whether for a vacation, or for expanding his business, will be spent on the goods or services of clients of some other bank, say the Rockwell Bank. The Rockwell Bank is not particularly interested in holding checking accounts on my bank; it wants reserves so that it can pyramid its own counterfeiting on top of cash reserves. And so if, to make the case simple, the Rockwell Bank gets a $10,000 check on the Rothbard Bank, it is going to demand cash so that it can do some inflationary counterfeit-pyramiding of its own. But, I, of course, can't pay the $10,000, so I'm finished. Bankrupt. Found out. By rights, I should be in jail as an embezzler, but at least my phony checking deposits and I are out of the game, and out of the money supply.

Hence, under free competition, and without government support and enforcement, there will only be limited scope for fractional-reserve counterfeiting. Banks could form cartels to prop each other up, but generally cartels on the market don't work well without government enforcement, without the government cracking down on competitors who insist on busting the cartel, in this case, forcing competing banks to pay up. Hence the drive by the bankers themselves to get the government to cartelize their industry by means of a central bank. Central Banking began with the Bank of England in the 1690s [associated with William Patterson's colonial East-India Company], spread to the rest of the Western World in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, and finally was imposed upon the United States by banking cartelist via the Federal Reserve System of 1913. Particularly enthusiastic about the Central Bank were the investment bankers, such as the Morgans, who pioneered the cartel idea, and who by this time had expanded into commercial banking. In modern central banking, the Central Bank is granted the monopoly of the issue of bank notes (originally written or printed warehouse receipts as opposed to the intangible receipts of bank deposits), which are now identical to the government's paper money and therefore the monetary "standard" in the country. People want to use physical cash as well as bank deposits. If, therefore, I wish to redeem $1,000 in cash from my checking bank, the bank has to go to the Federal Reserve, and draw down its own checking account with the Fed, "buying" $1,000 of Federal Reserve Notes (the cash in the United States today) from the Fed. The Fed, in other words, acts as a bankers' bank. Banks keep checking deposits at the Fed and these deposits constitute their reserves, on which they can and do pyramid ten times the amount in checkbook money. [this is extended on the World scale with the World Bank and the Bank of International Settlements]

Here's how the [legalized Banklords'] counterfeiting process works in today's World. Let's say that the Federal Reserve, as usual, decides that it wants to expand (i.e., inflate) the money supply. The Federal Reserve decides to go into the market (called the "open market") and purchase an asset. It doesn't really matter what asset it buys; the important point is that it writes out a check. The Fed could, if it wanted to, buy any asset it wished, including corporate stocks, buildings, or foreign currency. In practice, it almost always buys U.S. government securities. Let's assume that the Fed buys $10,000,000 of U.S. Treasury bills from some "approved" government bond dealer (a small group), say Shearson, Lehman on Wall Street. The Fed writes out a check for $10,000,000, which it gives to Shearson, Lehman in exchange for $10,000,000 in U.S. securities. Where does the Fed get the $10,000,000 to pay Shearson, Lehman? It creates the money out of thin air. Shearson, Lehman can do only one thing with the check: deposit it in its checking account at a commercial bank, say Chase Manhattan. The "money supply" of the country has already increased by $10,000,000; no one else's checking account has decreased at all. There has been a net increase of $10,000,000. But this is only the beginning of the inflationary, counterfeiting process. For Chase Manhattan is delighted to get a check on the Fed, and rushes down to deposit it in its own checking account at the Fed, which now increases by $10,000,000. But this checking account constitutes the "reserves" of the banks, which have now increased across the nation by $10,000,000. But this means that Chase Manhattan can create deposits based on these reserves, and that, as checks and reserves seep out to other banks (much as the Rothbard Bank deposits did), each one can add its inflationary mite, until the banking system as a whole has increased its demand deposits by $100,000,000, ten times the original purchase of assets by the Fed. The banking system is allowed to keep reserves amounting to 10 percent of its deposits, which means that the "money multiplier" – the amount of deposits the banks can expand on top of reserves – is 10. A purchase of assets of $10 million by the Fed has generated very quickly a tenfold, $100,000,000 increase in the money supply of the banking system as a whole.

Interestingly, all economists agree on the mechanics of this process even though they of course disagree sharply on the moral or economic evaluation of that process. But unfortunately, the general public, not inducted into the mysteries of banking, still persists in thinking that their money remains "in the bank." Thus, the Federal Reserve and other central banking systems act as giant government creators and enforcers of a banking cartel; the Fed bails out banks in trouble, and it centralizes and coordinates the banking system so that all the banks, whether the Chase Manhattan, or the Rothbard or Rockwell banks, can inflate together. Under free banking, one bank expanding beyond its fellows was in danger of imminent bankruptcy. Now, under the Fed, all banks can expand together and proportionately. But even with the backing of the Fed, fractional reserve banking proved shaky, and so the New Deal, in 1933, added the lie of "bank deposit insurance," using the benign word "insurance" to mask an arrant hoax. When the savings and loan system went down the tubes in the late 1980s, the "deposit insurance" of the federal FSLIC [Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation] was unmasked as sheer fraud. The "insurance" was simply the smoke-and-mirrors term for the un-backed name of the federal government. The poor taxpayers finally bailed out the S&Ls, but now we are left with the formerly sainted FDIC [Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation], for commercial banks, which is now increasingly seen to be shaky, since the FDIC itself has less than one percent of the huge number of deposits it "insures." The very idea of "deposit insurance" is a swindle; how does one insure an institution (fractional reserve banking) that is inherently insolvent, and which will fall apart whenever the public finally understands the swindle? Suppose that, tomorrow, the American public suddenly became aware of the banking swindle, and went to the banks tomorrow morning, and, in unison, demanded cash. What would happen? The banks would be instantly insolvent, since they could only muster 10 percent of the cash they owe their befuddled customers. Neither would the enormous tax increase needed to bail everyone out be at all palatable. No: the only thing the Fed could do, and this would be in their power, would be to print enough money to pay off all the bank depositors. Unfortunately, in the present state of the banking system, the result would be an immediate plunge into the horrors of hyperinflation. Let us suppose that total insured bank deposits are $1,600 billion. Technically, in the case of a run on the banks, the Fed could exercise emergency powers and print $1,600 billion in cash to give to the FDIC to pay off the bank depositors. The problem is that, emboldened at this massive bailout, the depositors would promptly redeposit the new $1,600 billion into the banks, increasing the total bank reserves by $1,600 billion, thus permitting an immediate expansion of the money supply by the banks by tenfold, increasing the total stock of bank money by $16 trillion. Runaway inflation and total destruction of the currency would quickly follow.

Banks Licensed to Create (counterfeit) Money (make a killing) from Nothing!

"The fact is that there is a serious danger of this country becoming a pluto-democracy; that is, a sham republic with the real government in the hands of a small clique of enormously wealthy men, who speak through their money, and whose influence, even today, radiates to every corner of the United States." William McAdoo, President Wilson's national campaign vice-chairman, wrote in Crowded Years (1974)

John Maynard Keynes (1838-1946), a well known English economist: "Lenin was certainly right. There is no subtler, no surer way to overturn existing society than to debauch the currency. The process engages all the economic forces on the side of destruction which not one man in a million is able to diagnose."

Money is needed to facilitate production. Ninety per cent of money is not cash, but private bank credit loans, which are simply zeroes preceded by a number greater than zero in a bank computer. Banks do not just lend out other peoples' savings, they create credit out of thin air via the Fractional Reserve System. This means a trading bank could multiply any deposit 13 or more times and loan out the 13 times expanded amount. There are almost no more limits now as to how much money banks can create and charge interest on this money created from nothing. Because of the bribery and mafia tactics of the private non-governmental banks, the United States Government's National Bank established in 1791 by Congress was shut down in 1832. Throughout the nineteenth century, larger banks worked to get laws passed that would consolidate all paper money issuance under the control of just a few private owners. They did so under the guise of standardized national money. They were successful in 1863 with the passage of the National Banking Act. It allowed newly chartered national banks to create a uniform national bank currency. A few years later the federal government taxed state bank notes out of existence. In 1873, the government stopped all free coinage of metals. They began to use United States Certificates of indebtedness -- United States Bonds -- as security for the new national currency distributed by the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank. The private banking dynasties finally managed to usurp the people's power to create money into their own hands. When one borrows from a private bank, one merely exchanges his IOU (I owe you) note with the Bank's IOU known as the Federal Reserve Note or a credit in one's bank account. The notes used to state on its face "THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK (a private banking corporation) WILL PAY TO THE BEARER ON DEMAND ONE DOLLAR". However, it no longer says a dollar of what. It also says "SECURED BY UNITED STATES CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS". So, we, the taxpayer, are guaranteeing a private bank's note! You can now clearly understand why our government and private sector are so deeply in debt. All we use for money is (monetized) DEBTS.

Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, Modern Money Mechanics: "Commercial banks create checkbook money whenever they grant a loan, simply by adding new deposit dollars in accounts on their books in exchange for a borrower's IOU.", p. 19. "The 12 regional reserve banks aren't government institutions, but corporations nominally 'owned' by member commercial banks.", p. 27. The Rothschilds' favorite saying who along with the Rockefellers are the major Illuminati Banking Dynasties: "Who controls the issuance of money controls the government!"

Thomas Jefferson in 1802 in a letter to then Secretary of the Treasury, Albert Gallatin: "I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance... If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered... The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the government to whom it properly belongs." "The modern theory of the perpetuation of debt has drenched the earth with blood, and crushed its inhabitants under burdens ever accumulating". ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809)

Kenneth Gerbino, former chairman of the American Economic Council: "Historically, the United States has been a hard money country. Only [since 1913] has the United States operated on a fiat money system. During this period, paper money has depreciated over 87%. During the preceding 140 year period, the hard currency of the United States had actually maintained its value. Wholesale prices in 1913 ... were the same as in 1787."

Art Rolnick, former Chief Economist, Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank: "We make money the old fashioned way. We print it."

Daniel Webster: "Of all contrivances for cheating the laboring classes of mankind, none has been more effective than that which deludes them with paper money."

Thomas Jefferson to Richard Henry Lee, 1779. ME 4:298, Papers 2:298: "It is a cruel thought, that, when we feel ourselves standing on the firmest ground in every respect, the cursed arts of our secret enemies, combining with other causes, should effect, by depreciating our money, what the open arms of a powerful enemy could not." Later, Jefferson used stronger language and denounced the institution as "one of the most deadly hostilities against the principles and form of our Constitution." Some have said that Jefferson did not favor a strong central bank. What he did not favor was the delivery of our monetary system into private hands to be run for private profit.

Lets illustrate what Thomas Jefferson meant:

Start and End Dates of Past U.S. Recessions Orchestrated by Banksters

| Peak (Recession Start)* | Trough (Recession End)* |
|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| | December 1854 (IV) |
| June 1857 (II) | December 1858 (IV) |
| October 1860 (III) | June 1861 (III) |
| April 1865 (I) | December 1867 (I) |
| June 1869 (II) | December 1870 (IV) |
| October 1873 (III) | March 1879 (I) |
| March 1882 (I) | May 1885 (II) |
| March 1887 (II) | April 1888 (I) |
| July 1890 (III) | May 1891 (II) |
| January 1893 (I) | June 1894 (II) |
| December 1895 (IV) | June 1897 (II) |
| June 1899 (III) | December 1900 (IV) |
| September 1902 (IV) | August 1904 (III) |
| May 1907 (II) | June 1908 (II) |

| | |
|--------------------|--------------------|
| January 1910 (I) | January 1912 (IV) |
| January 1913 (I) | December 1914 (IV) |
| August 1918 (III) | March 1919 (I) |
| January 1920 (I) | July 1921 (III) |
| May 1923 (II) | July 1924 (III) |
| October 1926 (III) | November 1927 (IV) |
| August 1929 (III) | March 1933 (I) |
| May 1937 (II) | June 1938 (II) |
| February 1945 (I) | October 1945 (IV) |
| November 1948 (IV) | October 1949 (IV) |
| July 1953 (II) | May 1954 (II) |
| August 1957 (III) | April 1958 (II) |
| April 1960 (II) | February 1961 (I) |
| December 1969 (IV) | November 1970 (IV) |
| November 1973 (IV) | March 1975 (I) |
| January 1980 (I) | July 1980 (III) |
| July 1981 (III) | November 1982 (IV) |
| July 1990 (III) | March 1991(I) |
| March 2001 (I) | November 2001 (IV) |

* Quarterly dates are in parentheses.

Source: National Bureau of Economic

President Abraham Lincoln, just after the passage of the National Banking Act of 1863: "I see in the near future a crisis approaching. It unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country ... the Money Power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people, until the wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the Republic is destroyed."

John Adams, in a letter to Thomas Jefferson in 1787: "All the perplexities, confusion and distress in America rise, not from defects in their Constitution or Confederation, not from want of honor or virtue, so much as from downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit and circulation."

Voltaire (1694-1778): "Paper money eventually returns to its intrinsic value - zero."

Sir William Rees-Mogg: "The value of paper money is precisely the value of a politician's promise, as high or low as you put that; the value of gold is protected by the inability of politicians to manufacture it."

Henry Hazlitt: "The monetary managers are fond of telling us that they have substituted 'responsible money management' for the gold standard. But there is no historic record of responsible paper money management ... The record taken as a whole is one of hyperinflation, devaluation and monetary chaos."

Theodore R. Thoren explains The Truth In Money Book: "The creation of money exclusively as debt is the critical, destabilizing flaw in the American Economy".

St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank in "Review", Nov. 1975: "The decrease in purchasing power incurred by holders of money due to inflation imparts gains to the issuers of money...."

George Bernard Shaw: "You have to choose [as a voter] between trusting to the natural stability of gold and the natural stability of the honesty and intelligence of the members of the Government. And, with due respect for these gentlemen, I advise you, as long as the Capitalist system lasts, to vote for gold."

Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia in "Gold": "Without the confidence factor, many believe a paper money system is liable to collapse eventually."

President James A. Garfield 1831-1881: "Whoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce."

Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, former Chancellor of Exchequer & former President of the Midland Bank of England: "Those who create and issue money and credit direct the policies of government and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people."

President Andrew Jackson: "If Congress has the right under the Constitution to issue paper money, it was given to be used by themselves, not to be delegated to individuals or corporations."

Cicero, 63 B.C.: "The budget should be balanced, the treasury should be refilled and the public debt should be reduced. The arrogance of public officialdom should be tempered and controlled. And the assistance to foreign lands should be curtailed, lest we become bankrupt."

G. Edward Griffin, historian and author of "The Creature From Jekyll Island": "Inflation has now been institutionalized at a fairly constant 5% per year. This has been scientifically determined to be the optimum level for generating the most revenue without causing public alarm. A 5% devaluation applies, not only to the money earned this year, but to all that is left over from previous years. At the end of the first year, a dollar is worth 95 cents. At the end of the second year, the 95 cents is reduced again by 5%, leaving its worth at 90 cents, and so on. By the time a person has worked 20 years, the government will have confiscated 64% of every dollar he saved over those years. By the time he has worked 45 years, the hidden tax will be 90%. The government will take virtually everything a person saves over a lifetime."

John Maynard Keynes, economist and author of "The Economic Consequences Of The Peace" (1920): "By a continuing process of inflation, governments can confiscate, secretly and unobserved, an important part of the wealth of their citizens. There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society than to debauch the currency. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million is able to diagnose ... If, however, a government refrains from regulations and allows matters to take their course, essential commodities soon attain a level of price out of the reach of all but the rich, the worthlessness of the money becomes apparent, and the fraud upon the public can be concealed no longer."

Tupper Saucy, author of "The Miracle On Main Street": "About all a Federal Reserve note can legally do is wipe out one debt and replace it with itself, another debt, a note that promises nothing. If anything's been paid, the payment occurs only in the minds of the parties"

Alan Greenspan, 1966: "In the absence of the gold standard, there is no way to protect savings from confiscation through inflation. There is no safe store of value. If there were, the government would have to make its holding illegal, as was done in the case of gold. . . . The financial policy of the welfare state requires that there be no way for the owners of wealth to protect themselves. This is the shabby secret of the welfare statists' tirades against gold. Deficit spending is simply a scheme for the confiscation of wealth." "...the gold standard is incompatible with chronic deficit spending [the hallmark of the welfare state]." --; "Gold and Economic Freedom", Rand, Ayn; Capitalism: the Unknown Ideal; Signet Books, 1967; pp96-101. See full text in FAME's FedWatch section <http://www.fame.org/>.

Ralph M. Hawtrey, former Secretary of Treasury, England: "Banks lend by creating credit. They create the means of payment out of nothing."

Thomas Jefferson to John Taylor, 1816: "I sincerely believe ... that banking establishments are more dangerous than standing armies, and that the principle of spending money to be paid by posterity under the name of funding is but swindling futurity on a large scale."

Robert H. Hemphill, former Credit Manager, Federal Reserve Bank in Atlanta in the Great Depression, wrote in 1934: "We are completely dependent on the commercial banks. Someone has to borrow every dollar we have in circulation, cash, or credit. If the banks create ample synthetic money we are prosperous; if not, we starve. We are absolutely without a permanent money system. When one gets a complete grasp of the picture, the tragic absurdity of our hopeless position is almost incredible, but there it is. It [money, the banking problem] is the most important subject intelligent persons can investigate and reflect upon. It is so important that our present civilization may collapse unless it becomes widely understood and the defects are remedied very soon." <http://www.ecotort.gn.apc.org>

Peter Kershaw, author of the 1994 booklet "Economic Solutions": "The Founding Fathers of this great land had no difficulty whatsoever understanding the agenda of bankers, and they frequently referred to them and their kind as, quote, "friends of paper money. They hated the Bank of England, in particular, and felt that even were we successful in winning our independence from England and King George, we could never truly be a nation of freemen, unless we had an honest money system. Through ignorance, but moreover, because of apathy, a small, but wealthy, clique of power brokers have robbed us of our Rights and Liberties, and we are being raped of our wealth. We are paying the price for the near-comatose levels of complacency by our parents, and only God knows what might become of our children, should we not work diligently to shake this country from its slumber! Many a nation has lost its freedom at the end of a gun barrel, but here in America, we just decided to hand it over voluntarily. Worse yet, we paid for the tyranny and usurpation out of our own pockets with "voluntary" tax contributions and the use of a debt-laden fiat currency!"

President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, November 23, 1933 in a letter to Colonel Edward Mandell House: "The real truth of the matter is, and you and I know, that a financial element in the large centers has owned the government of the U.S. since the days of President Andrew Jackson. History depicts President Andrew Jackson as the last truly honorable and incorruptible American president."

Pringle, Robert; and Deane, Marjorie: The Central Banks; Viking, 1994, page viii: "The truly unique power of a central bank, after all, is the power to create money, and ultimately the power to create is the power to destroy."

Boston Federal Reserve Bank in a publication titled "Putting It Simply": "When you or I write a check there must be sufficient funds in our account to cover that check, but when the Federal Reserve writes a check, it is creating money."

Congressman McFadden, Chairman, House Banking and Currency Committee, June 10, 1932: "Some people think the Federal Reserve Banks are U.S. government institutions. They are not ... they are private credit monopolies which prey upon the people of the U.S. for the benefit of themselves and their foreign and domestic swindlers, and rich and predatory money lenders. The sack of the United States by the Fed is the greatest crime in history. Every effort has been made by the Fed to conceal its powers, but the truth is the Fed has usurped the government. It controls everything here and it controls all our foreign relations. It makes and breaks governments at will."

9th Circuit Court in Lewis vs. United States, June 24, 1982: "...we conclude that the [Federal] Reserve Banks are not federal ... but are independent, privately owned and locally controlled corporations ... without day to day direction from the federal government..."

President Andrew Jackson, upon evicting a delegation of international bankers from the Oval Office 1832: "... You are a den of vipers and thieves. I intend to rout you out, and by the grace of the Eternal God, I will rout you out."

Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild, 1744-1812: "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependant on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

"Give me control over a man's economic actions, and hence over his means of survival, and except for a few occasional heroes, I'll promise to deliver to you men who think and write and behave as I want them to." -Benjamine A. Rooge

President George Washington, in a letter to J. Bowen, Rhode Island, Jan. 9, 1787: "Paper money has had the effect in your state that it will ever have, to ruin commerce, oppress the honest, and open the door to every species of fraud and injustice."

President James A. Garfield: "Whoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce."

John C. Calhoun (1837): "A power has risen up in the government greater than the people themselves, consisting of many and various powerful interests combined in one mass, and held together by the cohesive power of the vast surplus in the banks."

The private banks' license to print money is a scam! No wonder students don't learn about banking at school. Interest works to concentrate wealth towards an elite group of multinational investors, especially in finance. This has been happening by design. Trade treaties, the IMF and World Bank were aimed at defrauding Third World countries so that the markets and banks of the First World countries could survive via economic expansion and debt transference. Most of the World's countries have a lower standard of living than 20 years ago! My taxes go to pay for government services, right? Wrong once more! You thought you were paying taxes to get Government services but most of the taxes go to pay the interest on the government debt owed to the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank who created the money from NOTHING and lent it to governments!!! (Some have been dreaming of turning "lead into gold", well, these banking dynasties have turned "paper" into gold!). In other words, the IRS is a collection agency working for the private owners of the Federal Reserve System who have the power to create money out of nothing and lend it to the Government at interest. More details on this later.

William Patterson 1694 Founder of the Private Bank of England: "The bank hath benefit of interest on all moneys which it creates out of nothing."

Ralph M. Hawtrey, Former Secretary of the British Treasury: "Banks lend by creating credit. They create the means of payment, out of nothing."

Congress consistently defeats balanced budget amendments. In the past 30 years, Congress has raised our taxes 56 times and balanced the budget only once. We need the sound banking system our forefathers wanted us to have. History proves that banking systems like the FED don't work. Major World powers have been destroyed over similar banking systems. If we don't change this system NOW, in five years the only thing our taxes will pay is the interest on the national debt. Section 7 of the Federal Reserve Act, passed December 23, 1913, states that much of the profit of the FED should flow into the U.S. Treasury. In 1959, new legislation allowed the FED to transfer bonds to commercial banks at no cost to the bank. Now the FED receives less interest income and less profit for the U.S. Treasury because the money is diverted to other banks through an accounting entry. Congress and the IRS do not have access to the financial records of the FED. Every year Congress introduces legislation to fully audit the FED, and every year it is defeated. The FED banking system could easily be netting 100s of billions in profit each year. Through "creative accounting" profit can easily be reclassified as expense. Within the first few years, the shareholders of the FED received their initial investment back with no risk. All the income is tax-free, except for property tax, according to the Federal Reserve Act. When are the profits of the FED going to start flowing into the Treasury so that average Americans are no longer burdened with excessive, unnecessary taxes? Clearly, Congress cannot or will not control the FED. IT IS TIME TO ABOLISH IT! And YES, the FED is privately owned but camouflaged behind a public government appearance! And the private Fed cannot be deeply audited by anyone and pays no taxes. A lot more details on this later and in the other sections and appendixes and references listed in this book.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, MAY 11, 1972: "Some people think the Federal Reserve Banks are United States government institutions, they are not government institutions, they are private credit monopolies." CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, JUNE 10, 1932, p. 12595: "The Federal Reserve Board, and the Federal Reserve Banks are private Corporations."

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, JUNE 10, 1932, p. 12595: "The Federal Reserve Board, and the Federal Reserve Banks are private Corporations."

JOHN MAYNARD KEYNES, chief architect of our current fiat-paper money system: "By a continuing process of inflation, governments can confiscate, secretly and unobserved, an important part of the wealth of their citizens".

Re. CHARLES LINDBERGH (R. MN): "Ever since the Civil War, Congress has allowed the Bankers to control financial legislation. The membership of the Finance Committee in the Senate (now the Banking and Currency Committee) and the Committee on Banking and Currency in the House have been made up chiefly of Bankers, their agents, and their attorneys. ...In this way the committees have been able to control legislation in the interests of the few." "The financial system... has been turned over to... the Federal Reserve Board. That board administers the finance system by authority of... a purely profiteering group. The system is private, conducted for the sole purpose of greatest possible profits [by any method they can get a way with] from the use of other people's money."

Here are two actual United States Government Notes which used to be issued by the United States Government and were both debt-free and interest-free. They make up only less than 0.1% of US originated currency. Notice the red seal. The privately issued Federal Reserve Note that's in our pockets has a green seal. The private Federal Reserve System notes make up 99.9% of US originated currency. Shown in the picture below, it has a green seal. When it's issued, the government is indebted to the FED's private owners for both the capital (which the FED created out of nothing) and on-going interest which is paid from taxes on money which the FED created out of nothing! Highway robbery I say!!! To add insult to injury, the taxpayers guarantee the private Federal Reserve Bank's note with a signature from the United States Treasurer!!!

Russell L. Munk, former Assistant General Counsel, Department of the Treasury: "Federal Reserve Notes are not dollars."

The Federal Reserve Note is only a private promissory note or IOU that is made legal tender by the power of law. Guess whose friends make the laws? Guess who made the laws institutionalizing UK Empire slavery, US slavery, Apartheid, and the Federal Reserve Act of 1913??? (See later for other significant related 1913 events) To put it simply, when you or the government or a corporation give a "promise to pay" to the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank, it issues you "Federal Reserve Notes" which are merely the FED's "promise to pay" note. You cannot redeem the FED's notes at the FED by law and in any case, the FED has nothing to give you, i.e. it created these notes known as the Federal Reserve dollars without any commodity in stock. You have to find someone willing to take the FED notes in exchange for something you want. The FED notes are legal tender by the power of fraudulent legislation.

What does "legal tender" mean? If you owe someone $20 and you give him a $20 bill he is considered to have been paid, and if he refuses payment in this form you are absolved of the debt. By contrast, he does not have to accept your check drawn on a private bank, or even a certified check of a private bank. Money issued by a central bank (private or government) is sometimes called "Right of Purchase" money to distinguish it from "Promise to Pay" money created by private non-central banks.

What is "Promise to Pay" money? When you take a bank loan by signing a "promise to pay" the bank, essentially, the bank is substituting its "promise to pay" which is accepted as money by others for your "promise to pay" which is not accepted by others.

Alexander Hamilton: "To emit an unfunded paper as the sign of value ought not to continue a formal part of the Constitution, nor even hereafter to be employed; being, in its nature, pregnant with abuses, and liable to be made the engine of imposition and fraud; holding out temptations equally pernicious to the integrity of government and to the morals of the people."

President Abraham Lincoln: "The Government should create, issue, and circulate all the currency and credits needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers. By the adoption of these principles, the taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest. Money will cease to be master and become the servant of humanity... No man is good enough to govern another man without that other's consent ... These United States of America can never be destroyed from forces outside its borders. If America falls, it will fall from within. Brought down by apathy [indifference]. When good people do nothing, Anarchy reigns... We the people are the rightful masters of Congress and the courts, not to overthrow the Constitution, but to overthrow men who pervert the Constitution."

London Times 1865: "If this mischievous financial policy [of creating a debt-free currency by the Government], which has its origin in the American Republic, shall become permanent, then that government will furnish its own money without cost! It will pay off its debts and be without debt. It will have all the money necessary to carry on its commerce. It will become prosperous without precedent in the history of the World. The brains and the wealth of all countries will go to America. That government must be destroyed or it will destroy every monarchy on the globe!"

President Andrew Jackson: "If congress has the right under the Constitution to issue paper money, it was given them to use themselves, not to be delegated to individuals or corporations... The bold efforts that the present bank has made to control the government and the distress it has wantonly caused, are but premonitions of the fate which awaits the American people should they be deluded into a perpetuation of this institution or the establishment of another like it...If the people only understood the rank injustice of our money and banking system there would be a revolution before morning." "It is not our own citizens only who are to receive the bounty of our government. More than eight millions of the stock of this bank are held by foreigners... is there no danger to our liberty and independence in a bank that in its nature has so little to bind it to our country?... Controlling our currency, receiving our public moneys, and holding thousands of our citizens in dependence... would be more formidable and dangerous than a military power of the enemy. If government would confine itself to equal protection, and, as Heaven does its rains, shower its favour alike on the high and the low, the rich and the poor, it would be an unqualified blessing. In the act before me there seems to be a wide and unnecessary departure from these just principles."

And from a secret agent in 1862: "Slavery is likely to be abolished by the war, power and all chattel slavery abolished. This I and my European friends are in favor of, for slavery is but the owning of labor and carries with it the care of the laborers, while the European plan, led on by England, is that capital shall control labor by controlling wages. The great debt, that the capitalists will see to it is made out of the war, must be used as a means to control the volume of money. To accomplish this, the bonds must be used as a banking basis. We are now waiting for the Secretary of the Treasury to make this recommendation to Congress. It will not do to allow the greenback, as it is called, to circulate as money any length of time, as we can not control that. But we can control the bonds and through them the bank issues."

Darryl R. Francis, former President of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis: "Since the direct method of printing money to finance government expenditures is prohibited in the United States, the monetization of government deficits has occurred indirectly . . . government debt is ultimately being financed by the creation of new money . . . I doubt that monetization of debt has a conscious act . . . I can find no benefits accruing to the whole of society from debt monetization, but the risks are very serious and can be expressed in one word, inflation".

President Thomas Jefferson: "... we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt...If we run into such debts as that we must be taxed in our meat and in our drink, in our necessities and comforts, in our labors and in our amusements, for our callings and our creeds...our people...must come to labor 16 hours in the 24, give the earnings of 15 of these to the government for their debts and daily expenses; and the 16th being insufficient to afford us bread,...We have no time to think, no means of calling the mis-managers to account; but be glad to obtain subsistence by hiring ourselves, to rivet their chains on the necks of our fellow sufferers. Our land holders, too...retaining indeed the title and stewardship of estates called theirs, but held really in trust for the treasury,. . .this is the tendency of all human governments. A departure from principle becomes a precedent for a second; that second for a third; and so on, till the bulk of society is reduced to mere automatons of misery, to have no sensibilities left but for sinning and suffering...And the fore horse of this frightful team is public debt. Taxation follows that, and in it's train, wretchedness and oppression."

And note that the money that is used to pay the interest in addition to the capital is only created when more borrowing takes place or when the bank acquires services with the interest. Therefore, the capital and interest can never be repaid with money and borrowing governments have to pay with their natural resources which means that in due time, the banking dynasties will wind up owning everything! We have a sort of musical chair scenario where there is no money left for the last borrower to pay the interest, but new borrowers are always being born and debt is being shifted to the yet to be born! In fact, money represents bank debt, not national wealth. All new money that comes into circulation now does so as a debt to a bank. The bank kind of 'loan credit' only represents an extension of a debt (on the other hand, if a shop keeper gives you goods on credit, it's an extension of goods and services; big difference). The only way new money (which is not true money, but is "credit" representing a debt), goes into circulation is when it is borrowed from Illuminati Bankers. When the State and people borrow large sums, we seem to prosper. However, the Illuminati Bankers "create" only the amount of the principal of each loan, never the extra amount needed to pay the interest. Therefore, the new money never equals the new added debt added.

The Biggest Problem on Earth: Organized Usury Parasitism explained in Assorted Scriptures:

The word Usury in Hebrew is "nesek" and it means "BITING". Usury is called nashak or the bite of a serpent in the Bible and as "devouring" in the Quran! Before further discussion on usury, lets review what "money" is.

"Money" is now an intermediate financial instrument, i.e. a promissory note, to facilitate the trade of goods and services between entities. The real economy is dependent on the availability of "money" to produce and trade real goods and services.

President Woodrow Wilson 1914: "A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the Nation and all our activities are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated governments in the World--no longer a government of free opinion, no longer a government of conviction, and vote of the majority, but a government by the opinion and duress, of small groups of dominant men." Just before President Woodrow Wilson died, he is reported to have stated to friends that he had been "deceived" and that "I have betrayed my Country" referring to the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, passed during his Presidency in 1913.

"Our greatest social task is the abolition of interest slavery. This responsibility to abolish interest slavery towers above all other issues of the day. It is the only solution to the greatest problem of our time." -- Gottfried Feder's KAMPF GEGEN DIE HOCHFINANZ (The Struggle Against Globalism), published in Munich in 1933

"We [have] dismantled the most ancient of human laws, the law against usury, which had existed in some form in every civilization from the time of the Babylonian Empire to the end of Jimmy Carter's term." From: Infinite Debt, Harpers' Magazine - How Unlimited Interest Rates Destroyed the Economy." By Thomas Geoghegan

THOMAS GEOGHEGAN: In the article, that appeared in Harper's, I've talked about the fact that we've not focused enough on the big deregulation that precedes all other deregulations, and that's the ceiling that has existed on the financial sector since time immemorial on the amount of interest that banks can get from their clients, their customers, their depositors. Historically, and even up through movies like It's a Wonderful Life with Frank Capra and Mr. Potter and George Bailey, the interest rates in this country were capped at eight percent, nine percent. In the 1970s, we began to deregulate this, and then we had a massive big bang with a Supreme Court case that effectively knocked out all the interest rate caps. And we have today, taken as common, that banks can charge 17, 18, 19, 30, 35 percent, not to mention payday lenders charging 200, 300, 400 percent in states like Illinois, California."

"If you're able to charge 30 percent or, in a payday lender case, 200 or 300 percent, you don't care so much if the loan—in fact, you actually want the loan not to be repaid. You want people to go into debt. You want to accumulate this interest. And this addicted the financial sector to very, very high rates of return compared to what investors were used to getting in the real economy, the manufacturing sector, General Motors, which would give piddling five, six, seven percent returns. So the capital in this country began to shift in the financial sector. That's why the financial sector began to bloat up. That's why we ended up, by 2006, having a third of all profits going into the banks and the financial firms and not into the real economy."

Nikki Alexander is a freelance writer and fine art painter living in southern California. He explained that when Benjamin Franklin was called before the British Parliament in 1757 and asked to account for the prosperity in the American colonies. He replied, "That is simple. In the colonies we issue our own money. It is called Colonial Scrip. We issue it in proper proportion to the demands of trade and industry to make the products pass easily from the producers to the consumers. In this manner, creating for ourselves our own paper money, we control its purchasing power, and we have no interest to pay to no one." It was the struggle for financial sovereignty that precipitated the American Revolution when the (Rothschild) Bank of England forced the colonists to give up their own currency.

That usury war never ended.

Throughout his political life Thomas Jefferson fought off the covert attempts of European bankers to control the nation's money supply through a privately-owned central bank. President Andrew Jackson succeeded in defeating these racketeers, nationalizing the banks and paying off the public debt. Our country then flourished without inflation. When President Abraham Lincoln issued 'greenbacks' that deprived private bankers of their monopoly control of the nation's money supply he was assassinated. The international bankers battled for more than a century to establish a private central bank in the United States with the exclusive right to print their own fiat notes and exchange them for government debt. They succeeded in 1913 with The Federal Reserve Act, a covert coup that authorized a private central bank to create money out of nothing, lend it to the government with interest and control the national money supply, expanding or contracting it at will. Representative Charles Lindbergh called the Act "the worst legislative crime of the ages." Fifty years later, President John F. Kennedy almost restored our Constitutional monetary system when he issued debt-free Treasury Notes. He too was assassinated.

The Systemic Usury Parasite

In 1913 our sovereign authority to create interest-free money was unconstitutionally transferred to a transnational private banking cartel that has systemically infected our economy with a staggering national debt in the tens of trillions of dollars. Eighty-five cents of every dollar is now consumed as "interest" by the systemic usury parasite, draining its host of vital resources and collapsing our economy in bankruptcy. Ours is not the only nation to succumb to systemic parasitism.

The Systemic Usury Parasite has infected 170 countries, feeding itself through the central bank syndicate, a shareholder-owned consortium of private banks. Each central bank parasite has an exclusive monopoly on its host government's monetary system, with the power to create public debt and expand or contract the host's economy at will. Coordinating their monetary policies with each other through the Bank for International Settlements, the central bankers meet behind closed doors, appoint their own governors and set their own rules. Their books are not subject to audit by the individual governments that host them. The Bank for International Settlements originated as a Nazi money laundering operation[1] and serves today as the cashiers window for the global casino.[2] The IMF and World Bank tentacles of this parasite, infect unsuspecting governments with insurmountable debt, forcing these nations through "structural adjustment" policies to rob their taxpayers, slash beneficial social programs, transfer public assets to private owners and sell the nation's treasures to transnational predators at fire sale prices. Government treasuries are the parasite's host. Why rob just one bank when you can rob the whole nation? And why rob just one country when you can rob them all? Flushing the global economy of this systemic parasite begins with understanding how its debilitating web of debt is manufactured.

Although governments have inherent authority to create their own money, they foolishly borrow it from central banks, with interest. A central bank fabricates fiat notes (paper money) and credit by "lending" them into existence, in return for treasury bonds of the host government ~ taxpayer IOUs. This "money" has no pre-existing substance in reality and is conjured up through accounting entries. It is literally created out of nothing. The central bank first lends these accounting entries to its private owners and then to its downline commercial banks with interest. The commercial banks are permitted to lend nine times the amount of their borrowed accounting entries held "in reserve". This nine-fold multiplication of borrowed accounting entries is described as "fractional reserve banking." When borrowers accept these accounting entry loans they create massive inflation of the money supply which devalues the currency. These accounting entry loans must be "paid back" with compound interest that multiplies exponentially. More money must then be fabricated to pay this interest. Thus, all "money" that enters circulation is actually debt contrived by fictitious accounting entries. Every fiat dollar is an IOU from a borrower to a lender. A debt-based monetary system can never achieve equilibrium because compound interest always overwhelms the escalating money supply and eventually causes systemic collapse.

Organized Crime of Usury

Today the nation is essentially bankrupt and hoping Barack Obama's team of Wall Street advisors will forestall economic collapse. This expectation is equivalent to hoping that Al Capone will make our streets safe. The economic recovery team is a Trojan horse filled with the same Wall Street racketeers that infected the global economy with a quadrillion dollar derivatives bubble, using deliberately deregulated mechanisms. They have successfully held the nation hostage with a universal credit freeze and threats of systemic collapse if trillions of dollars in ransom demands are not met. But why would our government agree to double its public debt to save ruthless gamblers from bankruptcy? Why would our government re-victimize taxpayers who did not participate in this global fraud and whose investments, retirement savings, pension plans and real estate values have already been eviscerated by these swindlers? The answer is that the Treasury Secretary and Federal Reserve Chairman have historically represented a parasitic transnational crime syndicate, not the host government and its taxpayers.

The US Government is an instrument of the organized crime syndicate described alternatively as the Washington Consensus, the Octopus, the Shadow Government, the New World Order and Wall Street. This syndicate of transnational racketeers includes bankers, interlocking corporate directors, American, European and Asian "royal" families, cocaine and opium drug traffickers, illegal weapons dealers and kingpin controllers of blood diamonds, gold and oil. From the very beginning of America's fledgling democracy these international predators surreptitiously gained control of the railroads, banks, oil and vital infrastructure, using a maze of corporations, offshore banks and holding companies that disguised foreign ownership of national resources.^[3] During the 19th and 20th centuries this syndicate secured private ownership of vital infrastructure and natural resources worldwide by engineering wars and assassinating democratic leaders. They financed Trotsky, Lenin and Hitler, using syndicate members within the Treasury and Federal Reserve to protect "their" international assets. Thomas Lamont, a JP Morgan banker, who was the US Treasury's representative at the 1919 Treaty of Versailles negotiations, personally raised $100 million to finance Benito Mussolini. William Boyce Thompson, director of the New York Federal Reserve traveled to Russia to destabilize the Bolshevik Revolution, ensuring that railroads, banks, oil and vital resources would remain in private hands.^[4] Across the globe democratically elected leaders were deposed or assassinated that dared to return natural resources to their people. Two notorious Nazi collaborators,^[5] Allen Dulles (CIA director) and his brother John Foster Dulles (Secretary of State), were Wall Street attorneys who worked for the syndicate to brutally suppress every democratic uprising that threatened their control over national assets that rightfully belong to sovereign nations.

General Smedley Butler is best remembered today for his oft-quoted statement in the socialist newspaper Common Sense in 1935: "I helped make Mexico and especially Tampico safe for American oil interests in 1914. I helped make Haiti and Cuba a decent place for the National City Bank boys to collect revenues in. I helped in the raping of half a dozen Central American republics for the benefit of Wall Street. The record of racketeering is long. I helped purify Nicaragua for the international banking house of Brown Brothers in 1909-12. I brought light to the Dominican Republic for American sugar interests in 1916. I helped make Honduras 'right' for American fruit companies in 1903. In China in 1927 I helped see to it that Standard Oil went its way unmolested.... Looking back on it, I felt I might have given Al Capone a few hints. The best he could do was to operate his racket in three city districts. We Marines operated on three continents."^[6]

Wall Street racketeers who bribed members of Congress to deregulate Wall Street, could not have held our nation hostage without collusion from the Treasury Secretary and Federal Reserve Chairman. They are members of the crime syndicate that loots governments through the central bank system and private equity firms like JP Morgan, Citigroup, Bank of America, Goldman Sachs and Carlyle. Treasury Secretary Henry Paulson, a Goldman Sachs CEO, is also a member of Robber Barons, Inc ~ the IMF Board of Governors. Treasury Secretary Lawrence Summers organized the looting of Russia, stripping one trillion dollars from Russia's struggling economy and shifting state-owned assets to private owners. Larry Summers succeeded Robert Rubin as Treasury Secretary in 1999, marking their success in repealing Depression-era laws that banned the merger of banks, brokers, insurance firms and investment banks. A former co-chairman of Goldman Sachs, Rubin joined CEO Sanford Weill at Citigroup, the first financial institution to fully embrace the Rubin-led repeal. At Rubin's urging, Citigroup thrived by bundling loans as securities (mortgages, credit card loans, auto loans, student loans) and selling them as collateralized debt obligations (CDOs). Concurrently Larry Summers championed the deregulation of financial derivatives, ensuring the globalization of losses from those securities. With $2 trillion in junk loans, Citigroup fraud has metastasized to 100 countries making it too infectious to quarantine ("too big to fail"). Rubin protégés advised Obama that taxpayers should assume responsibility for $306 billion of Citigroup's junk loans.^[7] Rockefeller owns Citigroup and JP Morgan Chase, two of the investment banks that own the Federal Reserve. Obama's Treasury Secretary, Timothy Geithner, is a Board Director at the central bank headquarters, the Bank for International Settlements, and is a protégé of Henry Kissinger, Robert Rubin and Lawrence Summers.

Financial Usury Terrorism

Author Bernard Lietaer, a former central banker, writes in "The Future of Money:"

"Your money's value is determined by a global casino of unprecedented proportions: $2 trillion are traded per day in foreign exchange markets, 100 times more than the trading volume of all the stock markets of the world combined. Only 2% of these foreign exchange transactions relate to the "real" economy reflecting movements of real goods and services in the world, and 98% are purely speculative. This global casino is triggering the foreign exchange crises which shook Mexico in 1994-95, Asia in 1997 and Russia in 1998. These emergencies are the dislocation symptoms of the old Industrial Age money system."

These emergencies are also the hallmark of the transnational crime syndicate controlling the global economy through financial terrorism. Collapsing healthy economies with currency speculation, fabricating trillions of dollars in fictitious debt and destroying productive businesses with short selling, these vultures have swarmed across the globe devouring one nation after another. The US is their current target.

Another Board Director at the predatory Bank for International Settlements, Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan, used the standard Rockefeller-Rothschild blueprint for engineering the US financial collapse: deliberately expanding cheap credit to inflate the web of debt, entice rampant speculation and then suddenly withholding credit to violently contract the economy. A tactic used by Rothschild's Bank of England to rob and control its colonies, this violent contraction catalyzes waves of foreclosures, bankruptcies and layoffs that force sellers to accept pennies on the dollar for their assets. Alternatively described as Milton Friedman's economic 'Shock Treatment' and Henry Kissinger's blueprint for "making the economy scream," this financial terrorism is a psychopathic formula to bring a nation to its knees.

Instead of allowing a handful of corrupt Wall Street investment banks to implode from well-deserved bankruptcy, The Swindler Bailout engineered by the US Treasury and Federal Reserve extorts trillions of taxpayer dollars to purchase worthless junk loans from racketeers, reimburse speculators for their gambling losses, finance mergers and acquisitions to devour healthy banks and concentrate unearned wealth in expanded syndicate banking monopolies. Government loans could have been directly issued to victims of predatory lenders to refinance the mortgages that have devastated home values nationwide. Instead, taxpayer loans to the generators of these toxic assets reward criminals and simultaneously drain the US Treasury. Insurmountable debt, engineered by the Systemic Usury Parasite and compounded by the Swindler Bailout, lays the groundwork for "structurally adjusting" the American economy, permanently stripping citizens of their remaining assets, health care protection and their confiscated wages held in trust by the Social Security Administration. This premeditated Grand Theft is the prelude for national insolvency and subsequent sale of the nation's assets to transnational pirates.[8]

Disintegration is a Blessing for the Usurers

Reuters reported in February that renowned investor George Soros said the world financial system has effectively disintegrated, adding that there is yet no prospect of a near-term resolution to the crisis. We needn't wait to see how thugs might resolve the crisis. It would be much wiser to take the path of least resistance and prevent economic collapse by making the systemic correction that is long overdue.

Imagine for a moment that worldwide governments had retained their exclusive authority to create money and control credit and had strictly regulated the transparent movement of capital within their own borders. Had they remained autonomous, systemic global collapse would not have been possible. US investment banks could not have infected foreign banks and collapsed Iceland's economy. Small, autonomous units counteract systemic risk by isolating disease and preventing it from metastasizing to the whole system, as nature wisely demonstrates. This "disintegration" of the world financial system is an opportunity to dis – integrate every transnational conglomerate that binds all systems together in one monolithic web of systemic debt. Autonomous interest-free monetary systems that support small community banks, small farms and local producers of goods and services would protect self-sustaining economies from the systemic risk caused by the contagious collapse of intertwined conglomerates. Monopoly strangleholds on any commodity or economic system are lethal by nature. The greater their scope, the greater the risk of contagious catastrophic collapse ~ a fact we are now witnessing.

Dis – integrating the parasitic central bank syndicate that is strangling every country with insurmountable debt must be accompanied by effective quarantine of the global gambling casino: replace the Glass-Steagall firewall between commercial banks (public savings) and reckless investment banks; strictly regulate commodities futures and derivatives trades; ban over-the-counter transactions that are not transparent; criminalize anti-social speculation that artificially drives up the price of essential commodities and threatens public welfare; prosecute naked short sellers that collapse healthy businesses; enforce anti-trust laws that separate large investment sectors in finance, insurance, and real estate; dis – integrate every multinational conglomerate that is too criminal to care and too big to jail; end the fabrication of accounting entry debt by reforming the monetary system to issue and regulate credit through a transparent and strictly controlled public agency and localize every system that is critical to social functioning.

Isolating and strictly regulating Wall Street and offshore casinos to prevent gambling addicts from devastating the productive economy may eventually protect the global financial system from organized crime but its victims will never be reimbursed for their losses. Productive workers who lost their life savings and retirement pensions slowly accumulated over a lifetime of contributing have been thoroughly robbed by sociopaths who instantly amassed unearned wealth by parasitic gambling that contributes nothing of value. They will retire, without being prosecuted, in luxury.

The Mechanics of Money

Money is not a commodity. It is a token of value. Any two people can transfer whatever they like as a medium of exchange. We agree as a group to use one medium of exchange to simplify transactions. The purpose of inventing a medium of exchange is to sustain the flow of goods and services circulating in an economy. If we agreed to use gold or feathers as tokens, the medium of exchange would be finite and too scarce to meet everyone's needs ~ and a finite physical commodity can be monopolized by individuals who might hoard the tokens and constrict the flow of goods and services that are needed by everyone in society. Paper is plentiful. In theory, we agree to the fiction that paper money and computer credits have value in order to produce and exchange the commodities we need. But they have no intrinsic value.

The pieces of paper and computer entries that are fabricated by private corporations, what we call money, can and should be created and regulated by a legitimate public agency. It is irrational to transfer this vital social function to private corporations that thrive on usury and destabilize economies by expanding and contracting fabricated credit. Usury is not a fact of life, an inherent condition one finds throughout the natural world. It is a man-made concept that could create opportunities for cultures to expand productive activities but which has been historically used by parasites that eventually kill the host.

Money and credit can and should be used to keep the economy flowing, facilitating the exchange of real goods and productive services that meet the needs of society ~ without fabricating debilitating and fictitious debt. This, in fact, was the intention of Article 1, Section 8 of the United States Constitution that authorized only Congress to coin money and regulate its value. The founders of our nation understood that a government does not need to borrow its money from a private corporation. It has the power to create its own money. We are that government and that power belongs to us.

Our government has the constitutional authority to create money and issue credit without ever charging interest or creating debt. It can directly spend this money into circulation and extinguish excess currency to prevent inflation. Or it can charge a reasonable interest rate and use this revenue in lieu of taxes. Publicly-owned community banks could charge a moderate interest rate that is returned to depositors as dividends, or it could be used to generate revenue for implementing worthwhile social projects. Monetary science comes equipped with mathematical formulas to achieve permanent monetary equilibrium through a set of principles that balance the money supply and maintain currency stability, eliminating recessions, depressions, inflation and deflation forever. A debt-free monetary system can be mathematically regulated to facilitate the flow of goods and services as a public service. The mechanics have been understood for centuries. All that is required is social consensus.

Decentralizing the banking system would dis-integrate the global stranglehold of transnational racketeers and provide protection from future systemic collapse. Geraldine Perry has suggested that if banks are to remain privately owned they must be required to operate as independent businesses with 100% reserves and use their own capital for loans, not fictitious accounting entries and not other people's money. The national money supply would be issued by a public monetary authority. Banks would operate as any other business should and they would be regulated by the local governmental entities where they are located, thereby eliminating the need for a national regulatory scheme.

Completely abolishing the privatization of the national money and credit supply would liberate human energy to create a world of abundance in which every human community could produce and exchange the goods and services it needs without ever being enslaved by fictitious debt. Government control of the national money supply would prevent inflation and escalating debt by issuing constitutional interest-free money. Moderate interest rates could then be used to finance the operations of city, state and federal government in lieu of taxes. Two brilliant authors, attorney Ellen Brown and historian Stephen Zarlenga have articulated sound mechanics for a publicly-owned monetary system. All that remains is public demand for this reform.

What is most essential to liberating humankind from centuries of covert suppression by parasitic racketeers is financial sovereignty. Political freedom without economic freedom is meaningless. The self-induced implosion of a corrupt financial system provides our generation with a precious opportunity to secure the blessings of liberty envisioned by our ancestors and finish the American Revolution.

Whether the "money" is a commodity that has an intrinsic value such as gold or silver, or fiat money that has no intrinsic value such as national currency ledger accounts or paper money (created to represent a national debt and which are promises to pay denominated in an undefined measurement called DOLLAR) by today's Private Central Banks or Private Commercial Banks, everyone except the usurers (who have a credit monopoly and vested interest in eternally perpetuating their usurious powers) have pointed out the enslaving nature of usury, since ancient times.

"History records that the money changers [private bankers who create money] have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments [i.e. the people] by controlling money and its issuance." -- President James Madison

The deceit mentioned by President James Madison includes infiltrating religions to create misinterpretations and confusions, Babylonian style, so that people accept the Elite Banking Dynasties' debt/usury based system and others ruses such as financial gambling where money masters place bets through derivatives and short selling and manipulate prices through front-running. Whatever happened to "Thou shalt not give false measure"?

Generally, commodity money does not lose its value because it is intrinsic. However, fiat money does not have a fixed value in terms of a commodity (until 1920, a DOLLAR was defined as 1/20th of an ounce of gold but now a $ is underdefined!) and it constantly loses its value as the credit bubble is expanded and then somewhat recovers part of its purchasing value when the banks start to withhold credit, however then unemployment increases. And then, taxpayers come to the rescue by going into further debt to put credit money back into circulation since no one other than the government are credit worthy.

Garry Allen says that the World has been set up for another 1929 style Crash and Depression. "To think that the crash of 1929 was an accident or result of stupidity defies all logic. The international Bankers who promoted the inflationary policies, and pushed the propaganda which pumped up the stock market, represented too many generations of accumulated expertise to have blundered into the great depression." [ibid, page 163]

As Congressman Louis McFadden, Chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee told us in 1934:- "It [the 1926 depression] was not accidental. It was a carefully contrived occurrence...The International Bankers sought to bring about a condition of despair here, so that they might emerge as rulers of us all." [ibid] "It was the old game of boom and bust, using economic crisis to consolidate political power at the top where it can be most easily controlled." [ibid]

"The major cause of inflation and the economic collapse was the deliberately created credit inflation by the 'privately-owned' Federal Reserve." [Equally deliberately used here by Nigel Lawson and the still privately owned and privately controlled Bank of England] "In six years it had inflated the money supply by 62% inducing market speculations and unwise investments by middle Americans who were being set up for a shearing. When the shearing came, the sheep took a realistic look at their economy and panicked. Optimism was replaced by economic despair; despair produced a willingness to accept a major expansion of government controls over the economy." "Now, the Rockefellers are sharpening their shears to give the sheep of the World another trimming.....The next depression will be used as the excuse for complete Socialist-Fascist controls at home and the creation of a World Super State internationally." [ibid, page 163]

Unlike gold or silver whose quantities are limited and dependent on the amount of mining to bring new quantities on the market, fiat credit money can be created in unlimited amounts. In 1913 America's National debt stood at $1 billion dollars. In 2008, the Federal debt alone owed to the private Federal Reserve Bank of Rockefeller / Rothschild is over $10 Trillion, i.e. nearly $40 thousand for each US citizen, man, woman or child.

Sir Josiah Stamp, former President, Bank of England: "Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money and control credit, and with a flick of a pen they will create enough to buy it back."

Dr. R.E. Search, "Lincoln Money Martyred", Omni Publications Hawthorne, California. 1935 (Reprinted 1977): Consider this: "One penny loaned January 1st, AC 1, drawing interest at the rate of 6% compounded annually, on January 1st, 1895, would amount to: £8,498,840,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000.00. To pay this in gold at the rate of 1.5 grams of gold to the pound sterling, using it in spheres of pure gold the size of the planet earth, would take: 610,070,000,000,000 such spheres to pay the debt."

All the money that is in circulation today to facilitate transactions must be borrowed at interest from the banking dynasties. Taxes which go to pay interest on money created by private central and commercial bankers (30% of income), interest on personal loans (20%), corporate interest included in the purchase cost of any goods we buy (10%), and inflation (10%) are the techniques of the banking dynasties used to get a piece of our productivity. Thus, about 70% of your $1 goes into interest payments. In the case of Federal taxes, all of it goes to pay interest as reported in the Grace Commission Report to President Ronald Reagan, i.e. both the IRS and the Federal Reserve System Banks are private corporations, and as all previous Presidents who dared criticize the FED, Ronald Reagan was shot, but unlike the others, he escaped death. Click here for info on the 1984: Grace Commission Report under Ronald Reagan showed IRS is a private corporation like the FED...

In 2006, the FED stopped publishing the M3 figures. Why would the Fed do this? In addition to M1 and M2, M3 included balances in institutional money funds, repurchase liabilities issued by depository institutions and Eurodollars held by US residents at foreign branches of US banks, in fact at all banks in the United Kingdom and Canada. M3 tracked what the Fat Cats were doing with their bucks. Of all three categories, M3 was your best bet to track inflation, i.e., to monitor what the Free-Market's "Invisible Hand" was picking from your pocket through inflation, sometimes called "the hidden tax" because that's just what it is. When the government runs off some extra funny money rest assured it's to spend it. Recently, the FED refused a request by Bloomberg News under the Freedom of Information Act to disclose recipients of over $2 trillion of emergency loans from U.S. taxpayers and the assets the central bank is accepting as collateral. Remember that already over $2.3 Trillion of funds are unaccounted for at the Pentagon. And you get the tab.

In the past before serfs were emancipated in the 1800s, peasants who could produce more than they consumed had to be physically enslaved to avoid them escaping to freedom. Now, there is no escape from the debt-usury based financial system that ruling elites have devised. The beginnings of modern slavery can be traced back to 1694 when USURY was legalized (after the murder of King James and the beheading of King Charles I) and the Private Bank of England (actually a Branch of the Bank of Rome, the Vatican's Bank) was allowed to be established under King William of Orange. Many video documentaries, books and speeches are available on the subject.

Supporters of usury say that usury or renting money, i.e. renting gold or renting promises to pay, must be allowed. However, the Bible, the Quran and many atheist philosophers forbid the practice of usury due to its compounding harmful effects on the entire society, benefiting the few issuers of money at the expense of the usury-tax payers (quotes from both scriptures and others further below). Usury is condemned in Babylonian Talmudic Jewish books ONLY if usury is performed upon other Jews.

St. Thomas Aquinas, the leading theologian of the Catholic Church, argued that charging of interest is wrong because it applies to "double charging", charging for both the thing and the use of the thing. Aquinas said that a lender charges for the loan by requiring the loan to be paid back in its original form, in other words, the payback for the loan is the charge for the loan. Any further charge is a charge for using the loan. Aquinas said this would be morally wrong in the same way as if one lent a full bottle of water, got the same bottle full of water in return, and then charged the person for drinking the water which is the de-facto transaction when you take the loan and buy water with it and then return the loan with interest. Another example would be to ask for the same new car in unused condition in return for lending the new car plus a rental charge.

Since money can only be issued by the credit monopolist banking dynasties, usury can only be paid if additional money is borrowed by someone and spent into the economy and the debtor performs some work to acquire a piece of that money to pay the interest to the bankers. The bankers must keep extending loans or spend their money into the economy for others to be able to keep paying the interest. If the bankers withhold credit, then some people will not be able to pay interest to the bankers and thus will default, a credit crunch will be followed by a depression, etc. until money is placed back into the economy by the government going into further debt, i.e. an eternal debt cycle.

President Thomas Jefferson: "I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance... If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered... The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the government to whom it properly belongs." "The modern theory of the perpetuation of debt has drenched the earth with blood, and crushed its inhabitants under burdens ever accumulating". ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809)

As Napoleon pointed out: "Terrorism, War & Bankruptcy are caused by the privatization of money, issued as a debt and compounded by interest" - he cancelled debt and interest in France - hence the Battle of Waterloo was waged against him by the BankLords in which he was defeated. As per some scholars, he had converted to Islam as well.

As Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in 1935 prior to nationalization of the Bank of Canada: "Once a nation parts with control of its currency and credit, it matters not who makes the nation's laws. Usury, once in control, will wreck any nation. Until the control of the issue of currency and credit is restored to government and recognized as its most sacred responsibility, all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and of democracy is idle and futile". Nationalization of the Bank did not help as the Bank is not fulfilling its role of creating debt/usury free currency, instead, it lets the private commercial banks create money from nothing and then borrows from them as debt/interest, see Bank of Canada website "Commercial banks and other financial institutions provide the greater part of assets used as money through loans made to individuals and businesses. In that sense, financial institutions are creating money" <http://www.bankofcanada.ca/en/backgrounder/bg-m2.htm> .

Teachings Against Usury

THE BIBLE: "The love of money is the root of all evil": (1 Timothy 6:10); "If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him a usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury." Exodus 22:25; "Take no usury of him, or increase ... thou shalt not give him thy money upon usury." Leviticus 25:36-37; "Unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon usury: That the Lord they God bless thee." Deuteronomy 23:20; "The rich rule over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender." Proverbs 22:7; "The stranger that is within thee shall get up above thee very high, and thou shalt come down very low. He shall lend to thee, and thou shalt not lend to him; he shall be the head, and thou shalt be the tail." Deut. 28:44-45; "Thou shall not lend upon usury to thy brother; usury of money, usury of victuals, usury of anything that is lent upon usury." Deuteronomy 20:19 "The rich ruleth over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender "(Prophet Solomon's words in Proverbs 22:7); "The stranger that is within thee shall get up above thee very high; and thou shall come down very low. He shall lend to thee, and thou shall not lend to him; he shall be the head, and thou shall be the tail" Deut. 28:44-45; "It's the same fatal bite of that old Serpent the Devil and Satan which deceiveth the whole World" (Rev. 12:9); "The rich [usurers] rule over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender." Proverbs 22:7;

For a Bible example of cancellation of debts to money lenders and restoration of property and money to the people, read Nehemiah 5:1-13. For a Quranic example, read the history of what happened when verses related to forbidding usury were revealed.

Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Isa had quite a verbal scathing for the Pharisees (the priest-bankers-usurers who worked from the Temple in Jerusalem) who mislead ordinary Jews in Matthew 23. He exposed them for the sort of people they were: "Hypocrites," "sons of hell," "blind guides," "fools," "full of robbery and self-indulgence," "whitewashed tombs...full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness," "full of hypocrisy and lawlessness," "partners with them in shedding the blood of the prophets", "serpents and brood of vipers", "den of thieves", "Synagogue of Satan", Rev. 2:9 "I know the blasphemy of them which say they are Judahites, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan", "Ye are of your father, the devil ... He was a murderer from the beginning ... he is a liar and the father of it."

Pharisees: At the ancient temple in Jerusalem during Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus-Issa's time two thousand years ago, the Pharisees money-changers used the Jewish and Sun-god temples to collect interest. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus was so upset by the sight of the money changers in the temple (the priest-bankers-usurers who worked from the Temple in Jerusalem) who mislead ordinary Jews, he waded in and started to tip over the tables and drive them out with a whip, this being the one and only time we ever hear of him using force during his entire ministry. So what caused the ultimate pacifist to become so aggressive? For a long time the Jews had been called upon to pay their temple tax with a special coin called the half shekel. It was a measured half ounce of pure silver with no image of a pagan emperor on it. It was to them the only coin acceptable to God (actually to the Pharisees). But because there was only a limited number of these coins in circulation, the money changers were in a buyers market and like with anything else in short supply, they were able to raise the price to what the market would bear. They made huge profits with their monopoly on these coins and turned this time of devotion into a mockery for profit. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus saw this as stealing from the people and proclaimed the whole setup to be "A den of thieves". Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus' exposing of the money changers made him a target for them and their leader Caiaphas.

THE QURAN (THE READ): Surah/Chapter 4, ayah/verses 153-161: That they took usury though they were forbidden it, and through it devoured men's substance wrongfully. "You who believe, devour not usury, doubled and multiplied; but fear God that you may prosper" C3-V130. Chapter II verse 275: Those who devour usury will not stand except as stands one whom the evil one by his touch has driven to madness. That is because they say "Trade is like usury" but GOD has permitted trade and forbidden usury. Those who after receiving direction from their LORD desist shall be pardoned. For the past, their case is with GOD. But those who repeat the offence are companions of the fire (misery), they will abide therein forever. Chapter II verse 278: O you who believe! Fear GOD and give up what remains of your demand for usury if you are indeed believers." "If the debtor is in a difficulty, grant him time till it is easy for him to repay. But if you remit it by way of charity, that is best for you if you only realized it" C2-V280;

The Prophet Mohammad said around the beginning of the 7th century: ..."A time will come upon people when almost everyone will eat from usury, to the extent that those who refrain from it will be exposed to its 'dust'" (I. Ma'ja, Tijara, 58; I. Hanbal, 2.494; Nasa'i, Buyu, 2). The Prophet Mohammed's last sermon: "...Return the goods entrusted to you to their rightful owners. Hurt no one so that no one may hurt you. Remember that you will indeed meet your LORD, and that HE will indeed reckon your deeds. GOD has forbidden you to take usury; therefore all interest obligations shall henceforth be waived. Your capital, however, is yours to keep. You will neither inflict nor suffer any inequity..."

Sir Josiah Stamp, former President, Bank of England: "Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money and control credit, and with a flick of a pen they will create enough to buy it back."

Why is USURY FORBIDDEN? Latin usus meaning "used" and the word usuria which means demanding in return for a loan a greater amount than was borrowed. There have been many leading figures in history who have condemned usury and the power that goes with it. Besides those quoted, there were Benjamin Franklin, Lord Acton, Ruskin, Dr Temple, (former Archbishop of Canterbury), Augustus John, (the painter), Dr M.A. Phillips, (creator of M&B 693), Professor Soddy, (the atomic physicist), and others. It often helps us to understand something if we examine origins. Throughout recorded history the practice of usury, along with the practice of giving false measure, has been condemned. Aristotle and Plato in ancient Greece denounced it as well as prophets in the Old Testament and early Christians. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus, it should be remembered, drove usurers out of the Temple in Jerusalem and this played a part in bringing about his apparent crucifixion by the Roman Pharisee King Pilateos (Pilates). Buddhists have condemned it and the Quran does so as well (and probably other religious and non-religious books). While the old usurers at least lent their own money, the modern ones, the Bankers, are able to create it out of nothing.

Usury (in the original sense of any interest) is scripturally and doctrinally forbidden in many religions. Judaism forbids a Jew to lend at interest to another Jew. It's forbidden in Islam. The most recent Catholic teaching on usury is by Pope Benedict XIV in his Vix Pervenit from 1745 which strictly forbids the practice, though given the modern day Catholic Church's own bank and investments in the banking industry, the prohibition has to be regarded as a dead letter. While Jewish law forbids the charging of interest to another Jew, Jews are not forbidden to charge interest on transactions to non-Jews. Throughout history, the interest attached to loans by Jews to non-Jews is widely considered to have been a central issue in causing a perception of usury, and contributing to a climate of anti-Semitism. Allegations of usury have been one factor leading to forceful confiscations of property and discrimination against Jews in business practice. Ethnic-based distinctions surrounding the application of interest charges are often perceived as pronounced, discriminatory and unjust, and can inflame existing ethnic divisions. Usury and giving false measure has been denounced by almost every major spiritual leader and philosopher of the past three thousand years. Plato, Aristotle, Cato (De Re Rustica), Cicero, Seneca, Plutarch, Aquinas, Yashua-Joshua-Jesus, Moses and Muhammad are just a few.

Biblical Injunctions Against Usury (sample):

Timothy 6:10: "The love of money is the root of all evil"

Exodus 22:25: If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an usurer, neither shalt thou lay upon him usury.

Leviticus 25:36: Take thou no usury of him, or increase: but fear thy God; that thy brother may live with thee.

Leviticus 25:37 Thou shalt not give him thy money upon usury, nor lend him thy victuals for increase.

Deuteronomy 23:19: Thou shalt not lend upon usury to thy brother; usury of money, usury of victuals, usury of any thing that is lent upon usury.

Deut. 23:20: Unto a stranger thou mayest lend upon usury; but unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon usury: that the LORD thy God may bless thee in all that thou settest thine hand to in the land whither thou goest to possess it.

Deut. 28:44-45: "The stranger that is within thee shall get up above thee very high, and thou shalt come down very low. He shall lend to thee, and thou shalt not lend to him; he shall be the head, and thou shalt be the tail."

Proverbs 22:7: "The rich [usurers] rule over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender." Prophet Solomon's words

Rev. 12:9: "It's the same fatal bite of that old Serpent the Devil and Satan which deceiveth the whole World"

Matthew 25:27 Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the exchanges, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury.

Nehemiah 5:7 Then I consulted with myself, and I rebuked the nobles, and the rulers, and said unto them, Ye exact usury, every one of his brother. And I set a great assembly against them.

Nehemiah 5:10 I likewise, and my brethren, and my servants, might exact of them money and corn: I pray you, let us leave off this usury.

Psalm 15:5 He that putteth not out his money to usury, nor taketh reward against the innocent. He that doeth these things shall never be moved.

Proverbs 28:8 He that by usury and unjust gain increaseth his substance, he shall gather it for him that will pity the poor.

Isaiah 24:2 And it shall be, as with the people, so with the priest; as with the servant, so with his master; as with the maid, so with her mistress; as with the buyer, so with the seller; as with the lender, so with the borrower; as with the taker of usury, so with the giver of usury to him.

Jeremiah 15:10 Woe is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me a man of strife and a man of contention to the whole earth! I have neither lent on usury, nor men have lent to me on usury; yet every one of them doth curse me.

Ezekiel 18:8 He that hath not given forth upon usury, neither hath taken any increase, that hath withdrawn his hand from iniquity, hath executed true judgment between man and man,

Ezekiel 18:13 Hath given forth upon usury, and hath taken increase: shall he then live? he shall not live: he hath done all these abominations; he shall surely die; his blood shall be upon him.

Ezekiel 18:17 That hath taken off his hand from the poor, that hath not received usury nor increase, hath executed my judgments, hath walked in my statutes; he shall not die for the iniquity of his father, he shall surely live.

Ezekiel 22:12 In thee have they taken gifts to shed blood; thou hast taken usury and increase, and thou hast greedily gained of thy neighbors by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord GOD.

Quranic Injunctions Against Usury (sample):

Al-Baqarah 2:275 Those who charge usury are in the same position as those controlled by the devil's influence. This is because they claim that usury is the same as commerce. However, God permits commerce, and prohibits usury. Thus, whoever heeds this commandment from his Lord, and refrains from usury, he may keep his past earnings, and his judgment rests with God. As for those who persist in usury, they incur Hell, wherein they abide forever

Al-Baqarah 2:276-280 God condemns usury, and blesses charities. God dislikes every disbeliever, guilty. O you who believe, you shall observe God and refrain from all kinds of usury, if you are believers. If you do not, then expect a war from God and His messenger. But if you repent, you may keep your capitals, without inflicting injustice, or incurring injustice. If the debtor is unable to pay, wait for a better time. If you give up the loan as a charity, it would be better for you, if you only knew.

Al-Imran 3:130 O you who believe, you shall not take usury, compounded over and over. Observe God, that you may succeed.

Al-Nisa 4:161 And for practicing usury, which was forbidden, and for consuming the people's money illicitly. We have prepared for the disbelievers among them painful retribution.

Al-Rum 30:39 The usury that is practiced to increase some people's wealth, does not gain anything at God. But if you give to charity, seeking God's pleasure, these are the ones who receive their reward many fold.

Why are usury and giving false measure forbidden (productive and unproductive)?

- It causes the never ending spiral of inflation created when fiat money is created for non-productive use. It causes people to fight to catch up to inflation. This "inflation" benefits the private money-lenders since it wipes out savings of one generation so they can not finance or help the next generation who must then borrow from the money-lenders and pay a large part of their life's labor to the usurer.
- It makes people & companies compete for money instead of competing for markets and resources.
- It encourages greed and fear of scarcity (in fact, the job of the Illuminati central banks is to create and maintain that currency scarcity) and the direct consequence is that we have to fight with each other in order to survive. Money is created when banks lend it into existence. When a bank provides you with a $100,000 mortgage, it creates only the principal, which you spend and which then circulates in the economy. The bank expects you to pay back $200,000 over the next 20 years, but it doesn't create the second $100,000 - the interest. Instead, the bank sends you out into the tough World to battle against everybody else to bring back the second $100,000.

- It creates losers and winners, just like gambling and lotteries. Some have to default on their loan in order for others to get the money needed to pay off that interest. Increased interest costs automatically determine a larger proportion of necessary bankruptcies. So when the bank verifies your "creditworthiness," it is really checking whether you are capable of competing and winning against other players - able to extract the second $100,000 that was never created. And if you fail in that game, you lose your house or whatever other collateral you had to put up.
- It influences the unemployment rate and creates unemployment.
- It encourages hoarding and creates Tyrants who want to control the issue of money on which they can demand interest for ever. Today's official monetary system has almost nothing to do with the real economy. Just to give you an idea, 1995 statistics indicate that the volume of currency exchanged on the global level is $1.3 trillion per day. This is 30 times more than the daily gross domestic product (GDP) of all of the developed countries (OECD) together. The annual GDP of the United States is turned in the market every three days! Of that volume, only 2 or 3 percent has to do with real trade or investment; the remainder takes place in the speculative global cyber-casino. This means that the real economy has become relegated to a mere frosting on the speculative cake, an exact reversal of how it was just two decades ago.
- It creates monetary crises. For one thing, power has shifted irrevocably away from governments toward the financial markets. When a government does something not to the liking of the market - like the British in '91, the French in '94 or the Mexicans in '95 - nobody sits down at the table and says "you shouldn't do this." A monetary crisis simply manifests in that currency. So a few hundred people, who are not elected by anybody and have no collective responsibility whatsoever, decide what your pension fund is worth - among other things.
- It creates crashes. George Soros, who's made part of his living doing what I used to do - speculating in currencies - concluded, "Instability is cumulative, so that eventual breakdown of freely floating exchanges is virtually assured." Joel Kurtzman, ex-editor at the Harvard Business Review, entitles his latest book: The Death of Money and forecasts an imminent collapse due to speculative frenzy. Just to see how this could happen: all the OECD Central Banks' reserves together represent about $640 billion. So in a crisis situation, if all the Central Banks were to agree to work together (which they never do) and if they were to use all their reserves (which is another thing that never happens) they have the funds to control only half the volume of a normal day of trading. In a crisis day, that volume could easily double or triple, and the total Central Bank reserves would last two or three hours. In 1929, the stock market crashed, but the gold standard held. The monetary system held. Here, we are dealing with something that's more fundamental. The only precedent I know of is the Roman Empire collapse, which ended Roman currency. That was, of course, at a time when it took about a century and a half for the breakdown to spread through the empire; now it would take a few hours.
- It encourages people to store value in money and let the money grow instead of working, and it concentrates the wealth into the hands of the issuer of money, i.e. the Illuminati Banking Dynasties. In a non-interest money system where money would be created and issued by the sovereign government debt-free and interest-free, people would only use money as a medium of exchange and not as a store for value. That would create work, because it would encourage circulation, and it would invert the short-term incentive system. Instead of cutting trees down to put the money in the bank and make the money grow with interest, you would want to invest your money in living trees or in installing insulation in your house.
- It encourages harmful economic activities with discounted cash flows. That means that under our current system it makes sense to cut down trees and put the money in the bank; the money in the bank will grow faster than trees. It makes sense to "save" money by building poorly insulated houses because the discounted cost of the extra energy over the lifetime of the house is cheaper than insulating. We can, however, design a monetary system that does the opposite; it actually creates long-term thinking through what is called a "demurrage charge." In other words, we create a negative rather than a positive interest rate. What would that do? If I gave you a $100 bill and told you that a month from now you're going to have to pay $1 to keep the money valid, what would you do? I suppose I would try to invest it in something else. You got it. You know the expression, "Money is like manure; it's only good when it's spread out." In the Gesell system, people would only use money as a medium of exchange, but not as a store for value. That would create work, because it would encourage circulation, and it would invert the short-term incentive system. Instead of cutting trees down to put the money in the bank, you would want to invest your money in living trees or installing insulation in your house.
- It reduces the quality of life. There are many examples in the past of interest-free societies in ancient Egypt, Mandarin China, Saxon Europe, Saracen Islamic empire, 1935 Germany, etc. Recent studies have revealed that the quality of life for the common laborer in Europe was the highest in the 12th to 13th centuries; perhaps even higher than today. When you can't keep savings in the form of money, you invest them in something that will produce value in the future. So this form of money created an extraordinary boom.
- It creates inequalities and breakdown in communities, which create tensions that result in violence and wars.
- It encourages wars. The private owners of the central banks provide loans for wars and collect huge amounts of interest.
- It works to concentrate wealth towards an elite group of multinational investors. Trade treaties, the IMF and World Bank were aimed at defrauding Third World countries so that the markets and banks of the First World countries could survive via economic expansion and debt transference. Most of the World's countries have a lower standard of living than 20 years ago!
- It's a giant pyramid scheme with the Illuminati Banking dynasties at the top, then the United States and the Third World Masses at the bottom! Nations borrow Special Drawing Right (SDR) from the International Monetary Fund in order to pay interest on their mounting debts. With these SDR's produced at no cost, the IMF charges more interest. This, contrary to bold claims, does not alleviate poverty or further any development. It just creates a steady flow of wealth from borrowing nations to the money changers who now control the IMF and the World Bank. The permanent debt of Third World Countries is constantly being increased to provide temporary relief from the poverty being caused by previous borrowing. These repayments already exceed the amount of new loans. By 1992 Africa's debt had reached $290 billion dollars, which is two and a half times greater than it was in 1980. A noble attempt to repay it has caused increased infant mortality and unemployment, plus deteriorating schools, and general health and welfare problems. If a country cannot pay, its natural resources and other assets are sold off to pay the interest to the Illuminati Bankers. As World resources continue to be sucked into this insatiable black hole of greed, if allowed to continue the entire World will face a similar fate. As one Prominent Brazilian Politician put it. "The Third World War has already started. It is a silent war. Not, for that reason, any less sinister. The war is tearing down Brazil, Latin America, and practically all the Third World. Instead of soldiers dying, there are children. It is a war over the Third World debt, one which has as its main weapon, interest, a weapon more deadly than the atom bomb, more shattering than a laser beam." It is estimated the IMF has produced $30 billion dollars worth of SDR's so far. In the United States SDR's are already accepted as legal money, and all other member nations are being pressured to follow suit. With SDR's being partially backed by gold, a World gold standard is sneaking its way in through the back door, which comes with no objection from the money changers who now hold two-thirds of the Worlds gold and can use this to structure the Worlds economy to their further advantage.

- It encourages lies, deceptions, fake-terror and propaganda by the Illuminati Bankers who want to protect their cash cow. To maintain and move forward with their cash cow, they have to project deceptive fronts of capitalism, democracy, religion and anti-Semitism behind which they carry out their plans (Orwellian tactics from the book "1984"). G. Edward Griffin explains (details later in several sections of this book) how the owners of the privately controlled central bank known as the US Federal Reserve use their power to create money tax-free and use their unauditables profits to acquire control over the power centers of society, i.e. those groups and institutions through which individuals live and act and rely on for their information. They are buying control over the organizations, groups and institutions that control people, politicians, political parties, television networks, cable networks, newspapers, magazines, publishing houses, wire services, motion picture studios, universities, labor unions, church organizations, trade associations, tax-exempt foundations, multi-national corporations, boy scouts, girl scouts, you name it, and particularly over those organizations that represent opposition to themselves. This process has gone on not only to a marked degree in America and in the other industrialized nations of the World, but it has gone on in the underdeveloped nations to such a degree that we would say the process is now complete. They own these countries already. The money goes to the politicians of those countries, to their governments and the money is spent to strengthen their power structures, their ability to control their populations. They create a well-equipped army (note the $30 billion for hiring mercenaries to train the new armies in Afghanistan and Iraq), a better bureaucracy, for total control of their subjects. That's where the money's being spent.

Horace Greely 1811-1872: "While boasting of our noble deeds, we are careful to control the ugly fact that by an iniquitous money system, we have nationalized a system of oppression which, though more refined, is not less cruel than the old system of chattel slavery."

If the money is issued by a privately owned corporation, its owners benefit by causing the money amount and its value to fluctuate and causing the people to go into debt and pay interest permanently through taxes. Under the present debt-usury system, the extra burden of usury forces workers and businesses to demand more money for the work and goods to pay their ever increasing debts and taxes. This increase, in prices and wages and taxes, is called "inflation". Illuminati Bankers, politicians and "economists" blame it on everything, but the real cause is the usury levied on money and debt by the Illuminati Bankers. This "inflation" benefits the money-lenders since it wipes out savings of one generation so they can not finance or help the next generation who must then borrow from the money-lenders and pay a large part of their life's labor to the usurer. With an adequate supply of interest-free money created by the sovereign Government, little borrowing would be required, and prices would be established by people and goods, and not by debts and usury.

The financial system that the World has evolved on is the privately owned Bank of England USURY model and it is not sustainable. It creates nearly all money as debt. Such money only exists as long as someone is willing and able to pay interest on it. It disappears, wholly or partially, in recurring financial crises. Such a system requires that new debt must be created faster than principal and interest payments fall due on old debt. A sustainable financial system would enable the real economy to be maintained decade after decade and century after century at its full employment potential without recurring inflation and recession. By this standard, a financial system that creates money only through the creation of debt is inherently unsustainable. When a bank makes a loan, the principal amount of the loan is added to the borrower's bank balance. The borrower, however, has promised to repay the loan plus interest even though the loan has created only the amount of money required to repay the principal-but not the amount of the interest. Therefore unless indebtedness continually grows it is impossible for all loans to be repaid as they come due. Furthermore, during the life of a loan some of the money will be saved and re-lent by individual bond purchasers, by savings banks, insurance companies etc. These loans do not create new money, but they do create debt. While we use only one mechanism-bank loans-to create money, we use several mechanisms to create debt, thus making it inevitable that debt will grow faster than the money with which to pay it. Recurring cycles of inflation, recession, and depression are a nearly inevitable consequence. If, in the attempt to arrest the price inflation resulting from an excessive rate of debt formation, the monetary authorities raise the rate of interest, the result is likely to be a financial panic. This in turn may result in a sharp cutback in borrowing. Monetary authorities respond to bail out the system by increasing bank reserves. Governments may also respond by increasing the public debt-risking both inflation and growing government deficits. Let's keep something in mind while reading this folks, increasing the money supply is not in and of itself a bad thing. However, the way the Fed does it is ridiculous. First of all every dollar introduced into the economy is based on debt! New money cannot be created unless new debt is created. Second of all, the Fed year after year increases the money supply greater than the output of the economy. Let's say the economy grows by 3% in one year. The money supply should then grow by 3% in order to not have deflation. Does the government increase the money supply by 3%? Nope, it increases the money supply by 4-6%. That extra 1-3% is money that comes right out of your monetary assets' purchasing power, a hidden tax. This is why there has been a total of 1500% inflation since the Federal Reserve was established in 1913. Keep in mind this is LONG TERM inflation I am talking about. Not short term inflation, which can be caused by market forces. I think short term inflation is a smokescreen for the cause of long term inflation as they can easily be confused by the common man.

Laurence Ball, assistant professor of economics at Princeton University and a visiting scholar in the Research Department of the Philadelphia Fed: "While economists disagree about many issues, there is near unanimity about this one: continuing inflation occurs when the rate of growth of the money supply consistently exceeds the rate of growth of output (of the economy)". From: What causes inflation? (<http://www.econ.ohio-state.edu/hineline/econ520/ball.pdf>). Money loses its value when it is created and put into circulation (spent) faster than the growth in productivity in the local economy (versus just being created and held as a reserve).

Churchill to Lord Robert Boothby: "Germany's unforgivable crime before the second World war," Churchill said, "was her attempt to extricate her economic power from the World's trading system and to create her own exchange mechanism which would deny World finance its opportunity to profit.", quoted in the Foreword, 2nd Ed. Sydney Rogerson, Propaganda in the Next War 2001, orig. 1938. [A bit like what Iran will be doing soon with its bourse]

A few pence lent out at usury some twenty centuries ago would amount now, at compound interest, to more wealth than there is in the whole World, which is a sufficient proof that usury is unjust and, as a permanent trade method, impossible. The large proportion of usurious payments which are now being made on account of the impersonal and indirect character of nearly all transactions, is beginning to lay such a burden upon the World as a whole that there is danger of a breakdown as the loans were made for unproductive purposes (such as wars) and created no new wealth. If you keep on taking wealth as though from an increase, when really there is no increase out of which that wealth can come, the process must sooner or later, come to an end. It is as though you were to claim a hundred bushels of apples every year from an orchard after the orchard had ceased to bear, or as though you were to claim a daily supply of water from a spring which had dried up. The man who would have to pay the apples would have to get them as best he could, but by the time the claim was being made on all the orchards of the World, by the time that usury was asking a million bushels of apples a year, though only half a million were being produced, there would be a jam. The interest would not be forthcoming, and the machinery for collecting it would stop working. Long before it actually stopped of course, people would find increasing difficulty in getting their interest and increasing trouble would appear in all the commercial World.

Now that is exactly what is beginning to happen after about two centuries of usury and one century of unrestricted usury. So far we have got out of it by all manner of makeshifts. Those who have borrowed the money and have promised to pay, say, 5 per cent., are allowed to change and to pay only 2.5 per cent. Or, by the process of debasing currency, which I described earlier in this book, the value of the money is changed, so that a man who has been set down to pay, say, a hundred sheep a year, is really only paying 30 or 50 sheep a year. A more drastic method is the method of writing off loans altogether simply saying: "I simply cannot get my interest, so I must stop asking for it." That is what happens when a Government goes bankrupt, as the Government of Germany had done. If you look at the usury created by the Great War (1914), you will see this kind of thing going on all sides. The Governments that were fighting borrowed money from individuals and promised to pay interest upon it. Most of that money was not used productively: It was used for buying wheat and metal, and machinery and the rest, but the wheat was not used to feed workmen who were producing more wealth. It was used to feed soldiers who were producing no wealth, and so were the ships and the metal and the machinery, etc. Therefore when the individuals who had lent the money began collecting from the Government interest upon what they had lent they were asking every year for wealth which simply was not there, and the Governments have got out of their promise to pay a usurious interest in all sorts of ways - some by repudiating, that is, saying that they would not pay (the Russians have done that), others by debasing currency in various degrees. The English Government has cut down what it promised to pay to about half, and by taxing this it has further reduced it to rather less than a third. The French Government, by inflation and by taxation have reduced it much more - to less than a fourth, or perhaps more like a sixth or an eighth. The Germans have reduced it by inflation to pretty well nothing, which is the same really as repudiating the debt altogether. So what we see in a general survey is this:

1. Usury is both wrong morally and bad for society, because it is the claim for an increase of wealth which is not really present at all. It is trying to get something where there is nothing out of which that something can be paid.
2. This action must therefore progressively and increasingly soak up the wealth which men produce into the hands of those who lend money, until at last all the wealth is so soaked up and the process comes to an end.
3. That is what has happened in the case of the modern World, largely through unproductive expenditure on war, which expenditure has been met by borrowing money and promising interest upon it although the money was not producing any further wealth.
4. The modern World has therefore reached a limit in this process and the future of usurious investment is in doubt.

Though these conclusions are perfectly clear, it is unfortunately not possible to say that this or that is a way out of our difficulties; that by this or that law we can stop usury in the future and can go back to healthier conditions. Trade is still spread all over the World. It is still impersonal and money continues to be lent out at interest unproductively, with the recurring necessity of repaying the debt and failing to keep up payments which have been promised. Things will not get right again in this respect until society becomes as simple as it used be, and we shall have to go through a pretty bad time before we get back to that. What about that "holiday of a lifetime, thanks to a bank loan", or "those presents, bought with a credit card", or "your new car, bought on installments", or "your nice home, with the 25 year mortgage"? All Usury. Shocked? Think about this: that it was calculated that as recently as 1989, the average person was spending nearly 80% of his income, directly or indirectly, on usurious payments. In other words our society is in the grip of an evil that has been condemned from the earliest recorded times. Today it is in a form so refined that most people do not even know it. Does being anti-usury mean, therefore, that we cannot own houses, or buy toys for children, or go on holiday or do the 1001 things that all do regularly? Not at all. It is quite the reverse, because in a system free of usury, prosperity grows and expands to the benefit of all - except bankers, and Stock Exchange swindlers, and loan sharks, and speculators. In other words, a usury-free society is one in which 99% of the people gain at the expense of the 1% who exploit; while a usury-dominated society means working for the interests of the 1%, and suffering all kinds of hardships to make ends meet.

What is this "national debt" of which we often hear, but know little about? Has it ever occurred to you that it is found to be unusual to have a national debt when you study history? Did you know that from 1931 until 1974 Portugal had no national debt at all because it followed, between those dates, a usury-free system? The National Debt is largely government debt built up over the centuries because of usury. At any given time some 90% or more of the debt is usurious. Take, for example, the War loans raised by the British government during the First World War to finance those battleships which were lost in the Battle of Jutland in 1916 - eighty years on we are still paying interest to the Rothschild Dynasty bankers who supplied most of the 'money'. Or what about the fact that our taxes are still paying a European banking family interest on a loan of a few thousand pounds to the government for a war fought in the 18th century? So if you have ever wondered why services are being cut back, or why taxes, direct and indirect, are constantly taking money out of your purse, or why there is no investment capital available for small and medium sized businesses, look no further. The answer lies in the fact of usury. But no political figure, and no journalist, and no "truth-seeker" is prepared to say the word, because he knows it would be the end of his career. Why? Because when you grasp the essential message of usury - which involves the creation of money from nothing - and how it works in the modern World, you will understand that booms and depressions, and inflation and deflation, are not freak events, but events that can be socially engineered and scientifically predicted, caused by a handful of mega-financiers.

Why will no one speak out? Quite simply, fear. Ask any of your friendly bank managers over the age of 60, who remember the times when the true meaning of usury was still known in certain quarters, about the subject of usury, and you will see fear enter the face of a man who only seconds earlier looked so powerful across his leather-topped desk. Fear for career, for his family and their future. Yes, the truth is known, but who is going to be David against the Goliath that usury has become? Or do we have to wait until Goliath falls over once his weight has become too much to bear? In that case we will have to put society together again - and how much pain, suffering, misery, and death will that necessitate? And will it even be possible? Maybe all this is exaggerated? Maybe the figures show differently? All right, let's look at the figures. In 1980, according to Nobel Prize Winner for Economics, Maurice Allais, the Foreign Exchange Market registered $94 trillion. That means in simple terms - money making money, financial speculation, usury. By 1986 this had risen to $193 trillion. So in just six years it has almost doubled in volume. But then look in 1989, just three years later - it has become $420 trillion. In other words, in just nine years - and you remember the 1980's, don't you, when it was "time to get tough", and institute "austerity programs" to curb public spending, and mortgage interest rates went up to 20% - by that time the money markets, the focus of international usury, had grown by well over 400%. Note, too, that the rate of increase of speculation is growing ever more rapidly. Between 1980 and 1986 it grew by nearly 100%, yet in half that time - 1986-1989 - it has grown by over 200%.

Yet when we look at international trade during the same nine-year period - that is, the distribution and exchange of real goods and services - we find that they have grown from $7.6 billion to just $12.4 billion - not even doubled. So usury is growing both in volume and proportion, while real trade is declining in proportion. The explanation is simple. Why bother going to the trouble to have a good idea, plan it, test it, bring it to production, market it, sell and transport it, when you can make vast sums, beyond your wildest dreams, sitting in front of a computer screen and playing the casino known as the Stock Exchange? [Home Rule for BC adds that speculation in money is becoming known as "stratospheric money", for a couple of reasons - it moves around the World in a flash, and it is high up out of the reach of the ordinary person.] So who is responsible? The governments? Yes, because they should protect their people. But in today's system the Bank of England, The Bundesbank, Banca Italia, and the Federal Reserve, are no more under the control of their respective governments than is the weather on Jupiter. What proof? Well, here are three examples. First, this in one of France's largest newspapers, Le Figaro, 10 Feb 90, about the German Bundesbank: "The mission of the German Central Bank is a classical one, but its organisation is unique. Its governing body, all-powerful, is not answerable to Parliament or to the government." Secondly, this, published by the Federal Reserve system: "Congress set up the Federal Reserve in 1913. But Congress does not control it, and neither does the President of the United States." Thirdly, this, from Italian television: "When the Bank of Italy raised the interest rate in the country by 0.5%, the President of Italy went on television to tell the people that the hike had been against his wishes and those of his government, and that the Bank was seeking its own good, not that of Italy." [Home Rule for BC adds a fourth example. The Canadian government is allowed no voting member on the Board of the Bank of Canada.]

Clearly, the men who control the banks effectively control the World - private individuals "creating" or "uncreating" money as they see fit, following whatever suits their interests, and without a thought for society as a whole. Heads they win, and tails you lose. Well, we've seen now several ways that the central banks are just acting in the interest of the Illuminati Banking dynasties, regardless of whether they are fully private, semi-private or government owned.

"No State shall...make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts." Article I, Section 10, United States' Constitution

"The Congress shall have power...to coin money (and) regulate the value thereof." Article I, Section 8, United States' Constitution.

Representative Wright Patman, former Chairman of a House Banking Committee said: "The Federal Reserve Banks create money out of thin air to buy Government bonds... The Federal Reserve Bank is a total money making machine." [they have the monopoly on counterfeiting money]

In 1913, before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, Mr. Alexander stated: "But the whole scheme of a Federal Reserve Bank with its commercial-paper basis is an impractical, cumbersome machinery; is simply a cover, to find a way to secure the privilege of issuing money and to evade payment of as much tax upon circulation as possible, and then control the issue and maintain, instead of reduce, interest rates. It is a system that, if inaugurated, will prove to the advantage of the few and the detriment of the people of the United States. It will mean continued shortage of actual money and further extension of credits; for when there is a lack of real money people have to borrow credit to their cost."

Senator Nelson Aldrich (one of the co-conspirators of the 1913 Federal Reserve Act): "Before passage of this Act, the New York Bankers could only dominate the reserves of New York. Now, we are able to dominate the bank reserves of the entire country."

Former Federal Reserve Bank Chairman Eccles was asked by Patman, "Mr. Eccles, how did you get the money to buy these two billion dollars of government bonds." Mr. Eccles replied, "We create it." "Out of what?" Patman asked. "Out of the right to issue credit money", i.e. out of nothing. This right to create money out of thin air was given to the Private Federal Reserve Bank by a fraudulent act of Congress in 1913 known as the Federal Reserve Act, same fraud has been happening since the 17th century with the Private Bank of England and other banks. The FED issues Federal Reserve cheques redeemable as Federal Reserve Notes only with no liability to itself. The Fed is not subject to taxes and full audits (remember what happened to Ronald Reagan when he tried to get a full audit). The local banks create credit money as well but not private currency notes any more. Read later about how the most central banks are privately owned outright or de-facto. Mr. Marriner Eccles, who was Chairman of the board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System longer than any other man, testified before the Joint Economic Committee in August 1962. When Chairman Rep. Wright Patman asked whether it was not a fact that the Federal Reserve System has more power than either the Congress or the President, Eccles replied: "In the field of money and credit, yes."

A quote from a 1924 edition of the American Banker's Association Digest sums up what is currently happening. Keep this in mind when you vote: "When, through the process of law, the common people lose their homes, they will become more docile and more easily governed through the strong arm of government applied by a central power of wealth under leading financiers. These truths are well known among our principal men who are now engaged in forming imperialism to govern the World. By dividing the voter through the political party system, we can get them to expend their energies in fighting for questions of no importance."

The creation of US dollars from nothing by the Federal Reserve is mirrored by the World/Bank IMF creation of SDRs (special drawing rights). It is estimated that the IMF has produced $30 billion dollars worth of SDR's so far. In the United States SDR's are already accepted as legal money, and all other member nations are being pressured to follow suit. With SDR's being partially backed by gold, a World gold standard is sneaking its way in through the back door, which comes with no objection from the money changers who now hold two-thirds of the Worlds gold and can use this to structure the Worlds economy to their further advantage.

Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild, 1744-1812: "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependant on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

His relative Nathan Rothschild said (1777-1836): "I care not what puppet is placed on the throne of England to rule the Empire. The man who controls Britain's money supply controls the British Empire and I control the British money supply."

"Lucifer comes to give to us the final gift of wholeness. If we accept it then he is free and we are free. This is the Luciferic initiation. It is one that many people now, and in the days ahead, will be facing, for it is an initiation in the New Age. ... No one will enter the New World Order unless he or she will make a pledge to worship Lucifer. No one will enter the New Age unless he will take a Luciferian initiation." David Spangler on the Board of Directors of Planetary Citizens, United Nations, "Reflections on the Christ," quoted in Unicorn in the Sanctuary, by Randy England, 1978

Harold Wallace Rosenthal in 1976, a Zionist administrative assistant to Senator Jacob K. Javits of New York, who like most Zionists and Illuminati, pretends to be Jewish, when asked "Do you have knowledge of WHEN and WHY the story began about the Jews being God's chosen people?" said in part: "Most Jews do not like to admit it, but our god is Lucifer -- so I wasn't lying -- and we are his chosen people. Lucifer is very much alive." http://www.antichristconspiracy.com/HTML%20Pages/Harold_Wallace_Rosenthal_Interview_1976.htm.

The Illuminati Banking dynasties create the money for the loan out of nothing, i.e. just because they were granted this power by fraudulent legislation which they bribed and maneuvered Kings and politicians into doing. They don't create the money to pay the interest though. When the banks put your interest payments back into circulation by acquiring goods and services, then debtors are able to repay the interest, i.e. we have to work for the bank to repay the interest! The only way to keep this system going is to have governments and people borrow more and more to create the money to pay the interest. A great way to stop this pyramid scheme from collapsing temporarily is to have wars which cause all sides in the conflict to borrow.

Retired US Army Colonel De Grandpre: "The trigger for the 9-11 activity was the imminent and unstoppable Worldwide financial collapse which can only be prevented temporarily by a major war, perhaps to become known as World War III. To bring it off one more time, martial law will probably be imposed in the United States." (see transcript of his interview on the Feb 2004 Alex Jones Show Austin TX in the section about Fake Terror & 9-11)

George Mason of Virginia: "I have a mortal hatred of paper money."

John Langdon of New Hampshire: "I would rather reject the whole [Constitution] than grant the new government the right to issue fiat money."

George Reed of Delaware: "The right to issue fiat money would be as alarming as the mark of the beast in Revelation."

Thomas Paine: "The punishment of a member of Congress who should move for such a law ought to be death."

In 1910 US government debt stood at about $1 billion or about $12 per citizen. Now, its about $15 trillion (all levels of government) or about $50,000 per citizen owed to the private owners of the Federal Reserve Bank. Government and corporate debt is inherited. Therefore, whenever we pay taxes or buy corporate products, we pay homage to the Illuminati owners of the private central banks because part of our money goes to pay interest to them on money which they created from nothing, through the power that was given to them by fraudulent legislation. The total amount owed – by consumers, businesses, governments and financial institutions – totaled $34.4 trillion at the end of 2003, according to the Federal Reserve. The economy produced $11.3 trillion of output. That makes the nation's debt triple its gross domestic product. In 1933, debt was about 2 1/2 times GDP, according to a study by the Gabelli Mathers mutual fund. In 1694, the English government's debt to the private owned Bank of England was £1.25 million. In 1993, (11 years ago) the British taxpayers paid £24.5 billion alone in interest, more than twice that in the education budget! And who knows what the real figure is, since many things are kept secret. When this pyramid collapses, we would suddenly be in a very different World. In 1929, the stock market crashed, but the gold standard held. The monetary system held. Now, we are dealing with something that's more fundamental. The only precedent I know of is the Roman Empire collapse, which ended Roman currency. That was, of course, at a time when it took about a century and a half for the breakdown to spread through the empire; now it would take a few hours.

Buckminster Fuller: "To expose a 15 Trillion dollar rip-off of the American people by the stockholders of the 1000 largest corporations over the last 100 years will be a tall order of business."

Lewis vs. United States, 680 F. 2d 1239 9th Circuit 1982: "The regional Federal Reserve banks are not government agencies. ...but are independent, privately owned and locally controlled corporations."

The 'Federal Reserve' is not federal and has unproven reserves. It is a private, for Profit Corporation. The majority owners are the trans-Atlantic Illuminati BankLords. Look in the phone book of any city that has a 'Reserve Bank' such as San Francisco and you find the 'Federal Reserve' is listed not in the Blue government pages, but in the White pages, usually opposite the listing for Federal Express. The name is a deception to lull the public into believing that it is actually run by their government, while the reality is that a group of European Trans-Atlantic nationals led by the Rothschild and Rockefeller dynasties has complete control of America's money supply. Also of note is the fact that America's money was taken off the Gold Standard in 1933, on April 19th making America's money completely FIAT, backed only by the government's promise to tax you at WHATEVER rate is necessary to repay the loans on the bonds that it issues (April 19 was also the date of the failed TREASURY Dept. raid in Waco, Texas in 1993; The federal takedown of the organization known as the Covenant Sword and Arm of the Lord occurred on April 19, 1985. This was exactly 8 years prior to the infamous Massacre at Mount Carmel Waco).

Lewis vs. United States, 680 F. 2d 1239, 9th Circuit 1982: "The regional Federal Reserve banks are not government agencies. ...but are independent, privately owned and locally controlled corporations."

Sen. Barry Goldwater (Rep. AR): "Most Americans have no real understanding of the operation of the international money lenders. The accounts of the Federal Reserve System have never been fully audited. It operates outside the control of Congress and manipulates the credit of the United States"

Congressman Louis T. McFadden (Rep. Pa): "The Federal Reserve banks are one of the most corrupt institutions the World has ever seen. There is not a man within the sound of my voice who does not know that this nation is run by the International bankers."

Face this fact: The Fourth Estate is morally bankrupt just like the corrupt politicians and financial leaders for which they incessantly praise. Society is then trained to like those the media promotes and to dislike those that are demonized. Look at Oklahoma City bomber Timothy McVeigh; the media made great efforts to tie him with local militias, at the same time downplaying the fact that he was an ex-soldier that participated in the first Iraq Genocide. On the subject of patriots, the Battle of Lexington, which was the start of the War of Independence, commenced on April 19, 1775. The war was NOT fought due to high taxes on tea as you have been taught. It was fought for the reason of England passing a law preventing the Colonies from printing their own money (Continental Colonial Scrip) which was interest & debt free and forcing the colonists to accept the English banker's 'debt money' system through armed force backed by fraudulent legislation. Sounds familiar? Now, let's go into some details on these startling discoveries!

As explained in the chart below (<http://www.cyberclass.net/usuryfree.htm>), the Banking gangsters frustrate the people's desire for freedom:

| Life Compass | Intellection Group | What People Desire Most | What People Desire Least | Powers that Advance or Frustrate Desires |
|--------------|----------------------|-------------------------|--------------------------|--|
| Moral | Autonomy | Freedom | Slavery | |
| | Ethics | Good | Evil | |
| | Logic | Truth | Deceit | |
| Economic | Money | Steady Wealth | Debt | Bankers "Monopoly Capitalism & Trade" Usury, Eternal Debt to Money Creation Powers |
| | Justice | Justice | Corruption | Law |
| | Science & Technology | Un-biased science | Junk science | Arithmetic Science Technology |
| Spiritual | Theology | | | Cults & Cabals |

What was the messiah Yashua-Joshua-Jesus \(Jesus/Issa\) talking about?

When he said around 30 BC or so ...Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Issa had quite a verbal scathing for the Pharisees (the priest-bankers-usurers who worked from the Temple in Jerusalem) who mislead ordinary Jews in Matthew 23. He exposed them for the sort of people they were: "Hypocrites," "sons of hell," "blind guides," "fools," "full of robbery and self-indulgence," "whitewashed tombs...full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness," "full of hypocrisy and lawlessness," "partners with them in shedding the blood of the prophets," and "serpents and brood of vipers."

Ancient Egyptian crescent & solar disk. Note below the Pope holding a sister symbol crescent(lunette) and solar disk (Ψ Satanic mark). Note the Satanic dragon on the papal crest at the Vatican.

Notice that today's churches are infiltrated by the Bankers' agents and the Bible's injunction against usury and giving false measure is rarely preached and the Vatican Bank of Rome itself earns tons from usury; The Vatican is full of ancient Sun god worship symbols. Ancient Catholic Kings used to be buried facing east towards the rising sun in Pharaonic style. For example, halos like much of Vatican symbology, were borrowed from the ancient Egyptian religion of sun worship. December 25th was the ancient pagan holiday of sol Invictus "Unconquered Sun" coinciding with the winter solstice whereas the Bible points towards March as being close to the birthday of Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus. The ritual of Christian canonization is taken from the ancient 'god-making' rite of Euhemerism. The practice of 'god-eating' or Holy Communion was borrowed from the Aztecs. The concept of Yashua dying for mankind's sins appears in the earliest tradition of the Quetzalcoatl. The image of Yashua portrayed as an old man with a white beard is taken from the Roman, Greek, sun, Mithraic pagan gods based on Zeus (hence some that that Ja-Zeus translated into English as Jesus whereas the real name from Aramaic is Yashua). The practice that papal sarcophagi were above ground and never cemented shut and facing east is a throwback to the days of the pharaohs when sealing and burying a casket was believed to trap the deceased's soul inside. There are currently 13 obelisks in Rome at least and here are some more of the many ancient pagan symbols in the Vatican.

Bible Mat. 19:21-24: A rich man asked Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus "What is required for eternal life?" Yashua-Joshua-Jesus replied, "Follow the commandments." The man told Yashua-Joshua-Jesus that he had always kept the commandments and wanted to know what else was required. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus then told him, "If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me". The man walked away very sad because he was wealthy. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus told His disciples, "And again I say unto you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God (Yahweh)". In other words, money can tempt a person so much that it becomes his god!

"And the Jews' passover was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem, And found in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the changers of money sitting: And when he had made a scourge of small cords, he drove them all out of the temple, and the sheep, and the oxen; and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew the tables." John 2:13-15 (KJV)

Secret Societies and Subversive Movements, page 260-264: "The 'Illumines' line of march is more prudent, more skillful, and consequently, more dangerous; instead of revolting the imagination by ideas of regicide, they affect the most generous sentiments: declamations on the unhappy state of the people, on the selfishness of courtiers, on measures of administration, on all acts of authority that may offer a pretext to declamations as a contrast to the seductive pictures of the felicity that awaits the nations under the system they (themselves) wish to establish, such is their manner of procedure, particularly in private. More circumspect in their writings, they usually disguise the poison they dare not proffer openly, under obscure metaphysics or more or less ingenious allegories. Often indeed texts from Holy Writ serve as an envelope and vehicle for these baneful insinuations..."

Ancient Rome/Babylon World's Usury Capitals (Bank Of Rome circa 47 AC)

Since Ancient Roman and Babylonian times usury – the lending of wealth at interest – has been one of the main causes of war and empire building. Nations such as Persia and Rome became great due to their massive debts incurred by borrowing money from wealthy nations. Later, unable to return the wealth, but rich and with great armies funded by this borrowed wealth, they soon realised a need to conquer these lending nations in order to nullify their debts. This was also the reason for the introduction of taxes, a global system which is in use right up to today. Today, most of the taxes go to pay the interest to the privately owned central banks whose owners created money out of nothing to lend to the governments. Another city that would play a major part in being a financial choke point for the World was established as The city of Londinium (The Crown) by the Romans on the north bank of the River Thames in around 50 AC. To this day, the financial square mile is run by the Bank of England (remember Bank Street).

Baron de Montesquieu, The Laws of Nations: "As lending upon interest was forbidden by the Gabinian law between provincials and Roman citizens, and the latter at that time had all the money of the globe in their hands, there was a necessity for tempting them with the bait of extravagant interest, to the end that the avaricious might thus lose sight of the danger of losing their money. And as they were men of great power in Rome, who awed the magistrates and overruled the laws, they were emboldened to lend, and to extort great usury. Hence the provinces were successively ravaged by every one who had any credit in Rome: and as each governor, at entering upon his province, published his edict wherein he fixed the rate of interest in what manner he pleased, the legislature played into the hands of avarice, and the latter served the mean purposes of the legislator"..." "As soon as lending upon interest was forbidden at Rome, they contrived all sort of means to elude the law; and as their allies, and the Latins, were not subject to the civil laws of the Romans, they employed a Latin, or an ally, to lend his name, and personate the creditor. The law, therefore, had only subjected the creditors to a matter of form, and the public were not relieved". Some of the Samaritans were fake "Jews." They met in synagogues, observed the Passover and the other Jewish feasts etc., etc., but they were really Babylonians and money lending, USURY and loan sharking was no problem for them. They disappear from history about 600 A.C. but by that time they had completely supplanted the real true Torah Jews. Note that Jews are not Israelites but are non-Semitic Yaphites (to be explained later). Arabs and Israelites are Semites.

England's King Edward VI (1547-1553) outlawed usury by Parliamentary decree. His reign was cut short because he opposed the moneylenders. Later King James was murdered and King Charles I was beheaded and finally, the private Bank of England was chartered in 1694. After the Battle of Waterloo, the Rothschilds managed to take ownership of the Bank of England from its former private owners. The Rothschilds took over the bank after the Battle of Waterloo. It was a private venture under the House of Rothschild which has also maintained its influence since nationalization in 1947 when the Rothschilds received an immense amount of Fiduciary Bonds on which the nationalized Bank of England pays 12% forever and ever, so this is even better than owning it! Same thing for the Bank of France which was so called "nationalized" in 1946.

Thomas Jefferson: "... we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt...If we run into such debts as that we must be taxed in our meat and in our drink, in our necessities and comforts, in our labors and in our amusements, for our callings and our creeds...our people...must come to labor 16 hours in the 24, give the earnings of 15 of these to the government for their debts and daily expenses; and the 16th being insufficient to afford us bread,...We have no time to think, no means of calling the mis-managers to account; but be glad to obtain subsistence by hiring ourselves, to rivet their chains on the necks of our fellow sufferers. Our land holders, too...retaining indeed the title and stewardship of estates called theirs, but held really in trust for the treasury,...this is the tendency of all human governments. A departure from principle becomes a precedent for a second; that second for a third; and so on, till the bulk of society is reduced to mere automatons of misery, to have no sensibilities left but for sinning and suffering...And the fore horse of this frightful team is public debt. Taxation follows that, and in it's train, wretchedness and oppression."

Benjamin Franklin said that the American war for Independence was fought over money and currency (like every war) and the right of the Colonies to issue their own usury free currency apart from the Bank of England: "That is simple. In the Colonies, we issue our own paper money. It is called 'Continental Colonial Scrip.' We issue it in proper proportion to make the goods and pass easily from the producers to the consumers. In this manner, creating ourselves our own paper money, we control its purchasing power and we have no interest to pay to no one." "The refusal of King George to operate an honest colonial money system which freed the ordinary man from the clutches of the manipulators was probably the prime cause of the Revolution." "The Colonies would gladly have borne the little tax on tea and other matters, had it not been that England took away from the Colonies their money, which created unemployment and dis-satisfaction." (In a conciliatory letter to a friend after the American Revolution, "Bulletin", February 1989 & November 1991 issues, P.O. Box 986, Ft. Collins, CO 80522). Instead of the interest free notes they issued as evidence of debt to each other, and which they used as a currency which will never multiply debt in proportion to the circulation, the colonists were required to use notes issued by the Bank of England on which they were required to pay interest. Franklin reported, "Within a year, the poor houses were filled. The hungry and homeless walked the streets everywhere."

The private owners of the Bank of England in 1765 demanded that the American Colonies pay taxes in British specie or coins which the people did not possess (this is quite similar to the situation at the time of Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus-Issu where the Pharisees sitting in the Synagogues demanded that the Jews pay their temple tax with a special coin called the half shekel which was in short supply). If they had borrowed from the Bank of England to pay the tax, the end result would have been the same: foreclosure and bankruptcy with the Bank owning everything!! It's the same fatal bite of that old Serpent the Devil and Satan which deceiveth the whole World (Rev. 12:9). No wonder that usury is called nashak or the bite of a serpent in the Bible.

General President Andrew Jackson said this about the private central bankers in 1832: "YOU ARE A DEN OF VIPERS AND THIEVES. I INTEND TO ROUT YOU OUT, AND BY THE ETERNAL GOD I WILL ROUT YOU OUT." And our HERO did exactly as he promised. He refused to renew the charter of the 2nd Bank and it died an unnatural death in 1836. The people were finally free of the Bank of England alias the "Bank" of Rome until the Civil War began in 1861 and the people were further enslaved when the privately owned Federal Reserve was established in 1913 (G. Edward Griffin said about the Fed that it is a cartel operating against the public interest, it's the supreme instrument of usury with the IRS acting as the collector, it generates our most unfair tax through inflation and bail outs, it encourages war, it destabilizes the economy, it discourages private capital formation, it cannot be fully audited, it does not pay taxes and it generates enormous profits for its owners.)

President Abraham Lincoln approached the banksters in order to finance the war. They wanted usury of 28% which Lincoln refused to pay. In order to circumvent the banksters he issued $450,000,000 in GREENBACKS or U.S. Notes. These GREENBACKS were non usury paying notes and were backed by the credit of the nation. Of course the banksters were furious. Had President Lincoln lived and finished out his 2nd term he would have forever closed the door to the malicious influence of the "Bank" of Rome. On April 15, 1865, he fell a victim to the leaden bullet of the assassin John Wilkes Booth — another tool of the moneylenders!! In fact, 6 US presidents (William Henry Harrison, poisoned, in 1841, Zachary Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and John F. Kennedy 1963; 7 if we count FDR's poisoning) were murdered because of their opposition to private central banks who can create interest-bearing money from nothing.

William Cobbett, the author of "Rural Rides" and MP in the reformed Parliament of 1832, wrote: "I set to work to read the Act of Parliament by which the Bank of England was created, and all the Acts about loans, and funds, and dividends, and payings, and sinking funds and I soon began to perceive that the fate of the Kingdom must finally turn upon what should be done with that accursed thing called the National Debt. The sum at first borrowed was a mere trifle. The inventors knew well what they were about. Their design was to mortgage by degrees the whole of the country... to those who would lend money to the State... the deep scheme has from its ominous birth been breeding usurers of every description, feeding and fattening on the vitals of the country, till it has produced what the World never saw before - starvation in the midst of abundance!"

John D. Rockefeller (Mr. Usury) in 1872 and later one of the owners of the Federal Reserve Bank in 1913: "Among the early experiences that were helpful to me that I recollect with pleasure was one in working a few days for a neighbour in digging potatoes—a very enterprising, thrifty farmer, who could dig a great many potatoes. I was a boy of perhaps thirteen or fourteen years of age, and it kept me very busy from morning until night. It was a ten-hour day. And as I was saving these little sums I soon learned that I could get as much interest for fifty dollars loaned at seven per cent. — the legal rate in the state of New York at that time for a year—as I could earn by digging potatoes for 100 days. The impression was gaining ground with me that it was a good thing to let the money be my slave and not make myself a slave to money" (Ida Tarbell, History of the Standard Oil Co., p.41).

Napoleon Bonaparte: "I was compelled to proclaim laws against them for their usury, and the peasants of Elace have rendered me their thanks."

Dr. R.E. Search, "Lincoln Money Martyred", Omni Publications Hawthorne, California. 1935 (Reprinted 1977): Consider this: "One penny loaned January 1st, AC 1, drawing interest at the rate of 6% compounded annually, on January 1st, 1895, would amount to: £8,498,840,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000.00. To pay this in gold at the rate of 1.5 grams of gold to the pound sterling, using it in spheres of pure gold the size of the planet earth, would take: 610,070,000,000,000,000 such spheres to pay the debt."

The Illuminati Banking dynasties don't create the money to pay the interest. The only way to keep this system going is to have governments and people borrow more and more to create the money to pay the interest. A great way to stop this pyramid scheme from collapsing temporarily is to have wars which cause all sides in the conflict to borrow.

Retired US Army Colonel De Grandpre: "The trigger for the 9-11 activity was the imminent and unstoppable Worldwide financial collapse which can only be prevented temporarily by a major war, perhaps to become known as World War III. To bring it off one more time, martial law will probably be imposed in the United States." (see transcript of his interview on the Feb 2004 Alex Jones Show Austin TX in the section about Fake Terror & 9-11)

Usury by Wilfrid Price (deceased): I hope that I have proved beyond all possible doubt that there is a fraudulent usury operating throughout the World, that the people produce the real wealth through their farms, workshops, factories, offices, transport, etc., i.e., the goods and services in the shops and warehouses, yet we have a parasitic group of banks and financial houses that create money based on all this real wealth and load the communities with huge cheating debts created out of empty air. Does it require much imagination to see that this usury cripples the economy of the World as a whole? Technically advanced nations are continually held up from carrying out worthwhile projects though there is plenty of man-power, materials and equipment to do so. Can anyone argue that, if a thing is physically possible then it automatically should be financially possible? However, the environment is being destroyed, especially in the Third World. Does anybody doubt that being able to create money out of nothing, as well as knowing everyone's financial state gives the big banks tremendous power? I hope the evidence I have given in this paper added to natural deduction should make every reader certain about it. There is evidence that the banks are heading towards a World totalitarian state which is probably why they helped the political totalitarians, Lenin and Hitler, to succeed. The Bankers have had some hundreds of years to learn how to hold on to power. They do it by their ability to keep in the background - to be the 'power behind the throne' in fact, though it has to be demonstrated to people in high places at times. They back opposing political factions and they get their agents into businesses, political parties, religious bodies, organisations like the Bilderberg Club, CFR, PNAC, Masons, trade unions, in fact in any sizeable body. In the British Parliamentary system the three parties have been well penetrated. Nobody who thinks would deny that the Tories are controlled by the City, but there is reason to believe that the same has happened with the Liberal Democrats and the Labour Party. The banks hold 'Bilderberger' meetings, so-called because they first took place at the Bilderberger Hotel in Holland. Tony Blair, Gordon Brown, and others in the Labour Party have attended them. There is also the 'Trilateral' association between Bankers and governments, and one or two others. In short, in the Western states there is not real democracy, but plutocracies disguised as democracies and all going towards a World totalitarian system. There is a policy to combat this evil. It is called Social Credit; this contends that every country should have full control over its own money system with the creation of credit solely exercised by public bodies responsible to the elected governments of each country.

In 1910 US government debt stood at about $1 billion or about $12 per citizen. Now, its about $15 trillion (all levels of government) or about $50,000 per citizen owed to the private owners of the Federal Reserve Bank. Government and corporate debt is inherited.

Therefore, whenever we pay taxes or buy corporate products, we pay homage to the owners of the private central banks because part of the money goes to pay interest to them.

The total amount owed – by consumers, businesses, governments and financial institutions – totaled $34.4 trillion at the end of 2003, according to the Federal Reserve. The economy produced $11.3 trillion of output. That makes the nation's debt triple its gross domestic product. In 1933, debt was about 2 1/2 times GDP, according to a study by the Gabelli Mathers mutual fund. When this pyramid collapses, we would suddenly be in a very different World. In 1929, the stock market crashed, but the gold standard held. The monetary system held. Now, we are dealing with something that's more fundamental. The only precedent I know of is the Roman Empire collapse, which ended Roman currency. That was, of course, at a time when it took about a century and a half for the breakdown to spread through the empire; now it would take a few hours.

Richard Maybury: "Washington...has become an alien city-state that rules America, and much of the rest of the World, in the way that Rome ruled the Roman Empire."

More on Usury: Everything We Need to Know About Usury But Were Afraid to Find Out

REMEMBER, REAL OR FIAT MONEY DOES NOT CREATE GOODS & SERVICES. WORK CREATES GOODS & SERVICES!!!

Usury is forbidden to Christianity. The Islamic equivalent is "Riba." Riba is forbidden to both the giver and taker. Judaism forbids usury among the Semitic, but preaches usury against the non-Semitic. Mayer Amschel Rothschild was prepared by his father to become a Rabbi. Ferociously, he deployed the teachings of unearned profit instead to multiply an embezzled fortune into the House of Rothschild — precursor to the modern, World-wide network of central banks. The money changers of Christ's famous episode at the over-run Temple, practiced this ethic of unearned profit, and unfair trade. Fittingly, usury has been called, an abomination that makes desolation. Hence the great historic, social, and religious significance of usury. The Jews forbade the practice of usury within their own community, while they permitted it to be practiced against outsiders. This is one of the many instances of the Pharisees having altered the revelations in open rebellion against God.

Under today's usury system, new debt always exceeds the new money no matter how much or how little is borrowed, the total debt increasingly outstrips the amount of money available to pay the debt. The people can never, ever get out of debt! An example will show the viciousness of this usury-debt system with its "built in" shortage of money. If $60,000 IS BORROWED at 14% for 30 years, $255,931.20 MUST BE PAID BACK. However, and this is the fatal flaw in a usury system, the only new money created and put into circulation is the amount of the loan, $60,000. The money to pay the interest is NOT created, and therefore was NOT added to "money in circulation." There is therefore no way all debtors can pay off the money lenders or the interest after a while unless the bankers create the money and spend it (i.e. they get something for nothing), i.e. we are perpetually working for the bankers. As they pay the principle and interest, the money in circulation disappears. All they can do is struggle against each other, borrowing more and more from the money lenders each generation. The money lenders (Illuminati Bankers), who produce nothing of value, slowly, then more rapidly, gain a death grip on the land, building, and present and future earnings of the whole working population.

Thomas A. Edison (New York Times, 6th December 1921): "People who will not turn a shovel of dirt on the project, nor contribute a pound of material, will collect more money, from the United States, than will the people, who supply all the material and do all the work. This is the terrible thing about interest (usury) ... But here is the point: If the nation can issue a dollar bond, it can also issue a dollar bill. The element that makes the bond good, makes the bill good, also. The difference, between the bond and the bill, is that the bond lets the money-broker collect twice the amount of the bond, and an additional 20%. Whereas the currency, the honest sort provided by the Constitution, pays nobody but those who contribute in some useful way. It is absurd, to say that our country can issue bonds, and cannot issue currency. Both are promises to pay, but one fattens the usurer and the other helps the people. If the currency issued by the people were no good, then the bonds would be no good, either. It is a terrible situation, when the Government, to insure the national wealth, must go in debt and submit to ruinous interest charges, at the hands of men, who control the fictitious value of gold. Interest is the invention of Satan." "If our nation can issue a dollar bond, it can issue a dollar bill. The element that makes the bond good makes the bill good... It is absurd to say that our country can issue $30,000,000 in bonds and not $30,000,000 in currency. Both are promises to pay; but one fattens the usurer, and the other helps the people."

US Constitution: "Congress shall have the power to coin money and regulate the value thereof." This was written in the hope that it would prevent "love of money" from destroying the Republic. "No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit letters of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility." (Article I, Section 10)

We shall see how subversion of Article I has brought on us the Bible Proverbs 22:7, i.e. the borrowers have become the servants to the lenders. Note that throughout history, people with hidden agendas have always tried to confuse (Babylon means confusion) usury with trading and slavery with business.

T. David Horton, Chairman of the Executive Council of the Defenders of the American Constitution, able Lawyer and keen student of basic American history: "Under the Constitution, the Congress has responsibility of issuing the nation's money and regulating its value Art. 1, Sec 8, Cl. 5... enable the Congress to resume its Constitutional responsibilities to regulate our nation's money by liberating our economy from the swindle of the debt-money manipulators by the issuance of national currency in debt free form ... We have a certain amount of non-interest bearing money in circulation, all of our fractional currency, pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, and half dollars. They are manufactured in our mints, and are paid into circulation, circulate freely, and provide the government with a valuable source of revenue. From 1966 through 1970 the amount of seigniorage paid into the treasury by the mints amounted to in excess of 4 billion dollars; the profit ratio on this type of currency is 6 to 1, or currency 6 times the cost of production. The cost ratio for the private Federal Reserve Notes is 600 to 1; however, during these same four years, 1986 through 1990, 50 billion dollars in Federal Reserve Notes were manufactured by the bureau of printing and engraving and turned over to the banks; not one cent in seigniorage was paid over to the Treasury. ... Our Debt money system compels the government to spend more than it takes in, because this is the only way we can keep the economy going..."

Major wars/financial panic/depression/famine traced to insidious influence of usury banking

"History shows that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit and violent means possible to maintain control over governments by controlling the money and the issuance of it."---President James Madison

www.richardhoskins.com War Cycles, Peace Cycles.: Richard Hoskins dropped a bomb on the literary World in 1985 with the publication of his book, "War Cycles, Peace Cycles." The book was so poignant and controversial that references to it were made in nearly every major newspaper from coast to coast at the time, and its message was vilified especially by the banking community. Efforts at first lambasting, then later suppressing this work (when it became evident that the public was intrigued by its message) were the order of the day when the book first shocked readers in the mid 1980s. Since that time the book has undergone numerous printings, with the last print run in 1991 being snapped up by a large, unidentified consortium which took the books off the market. Repeated attempts by this writer at locating a copy of this seminal work came up short every time until recently. Much to my surprise and delight I discovered that another print run was made of Hoskins' classic book in 2000, the first re-publication in nearly a decade. I read every page voraciously and loved every morsel. I felt compelled to share this information with Gold-Eagle readers since no other book I've encountered comes close to isolating the root of our modern-day economic problems than this one, and none offer more practical and effective solutions than Hoskins.

According to Hoskins, every major war, financial panic, economic depression, and famine in recorded history can be traced to the insidious influence of usury banking. Moreover, these devastating events recur with cyclical regularity that can be charted and predicted. While natural, geo-cosmic influences may account in part for these cyclical occurrences, Hoskins maintains that they are mostly attributable to central banking influences. Starting with this premise, Hoskins takes the reader on a journey that winds its way through nearly 4,000 years of history to our present day all within the short space of 300 pages. All along the way the presence of usury banking makes its appearance. For instance, Hoskins points out that history records the first known use of credit-or IOUs-is created from nothing is found in the ancient ruins of Babylon and perfected by the priests of Baal. The whole concept of usury, or of lending money with interest, invented at that time remains unchanged today. Hoskins boils it down to lending 10 talents of money and demanding payment of 11 talents when there are only 10 talents in circulation. Usury contracts drawn up then stated that the borrower was to pay his debt in "talents" only, but the problem is and always has been that the central bank-created money supply is always finite while compound interest is theoretically infinite. Little has changed since then, Hoskins says, as today's high priests of finance are the World's central banks sitting in their temples of mammon, the modern progeny of the money-lending priests of Baal.

Hoskins refers continually to the ancient common law prohibition against usury while painting his sordid picture of the history of the effects of usury upon any given nation. He catalogs an extensive list of biblical references that strictly condemn the lending (or borrowing) of money at interest: "Thou shalt not lend upon usury to thy brother." (Deuteronomy 23:19); "He that by usury and unjust gain increaseth his substance, he shall gather it for him that will pity the poor." (Proverbs 28:8); "The borrower is servant to the lender." (Proverbs 22:7); "Owe no man anything but to love one another." (Romans 13:8). Had people throughout history heeded these warnings about avoiding taking on debt with interest attached to it, untold wars, revolutions, conquests, famines, and financial panics could have been averted, Hoskins contends. One of the first consequences of a usury-based financial system, according to Hoskins, is heavy taxation. Hoskins contends that "The only thing that has kept the usury system operating through the ages is taxation." The only time heavy taxation is not needed is when there is no usury system." This is done to keep the money supply moving and to prevent severe inflations and deflations due to hoarding or over-printing. The next consequence of having a usury system is war, says Hoskins. This is the first phase of the "War Cycle, Peace Cycle" which the book is titled after. According to Hoskins, "hot" wars are typically fought near the trough of the War/Peace Cycle and are waged only as a desperation measure to stimulate an economy suffering from the effects of deflation (a consequence of usury). They tend to have the effect of providing a short-term stimulus to the economy since new money has to be borrowed into existence in order to fight the expensive battles and industry is provided an excuse to begin operating at full capacity again. This is followed by a "peace" phase of non-aggression, completing an idealized cycle of approximately 50 years from trough to trough. Hoskins identifies his War/Peace Cycle with the 50-year "Jubilee Cycle" mentioned in the biblical book of Leviticus. Without the plague of debt with compound interest attached, there could be no "War/Peace Cycle," says Hoskins.

Another consequence of having a debt/usury-based monetary system according to Hoskins is a declining birth rate. When typical 6% interest rates begin compounding debt over time, due to the lack of enough money to pay the existing debts, the debt-plagued native population of a given country stops reproducing due to the heavy cost of living. This in turn leads to the influx of immigration of foreign peoples. Hoskins states that mass immigration is an absolute necessity for any usury-based system since new money must always be borrowed into existence and the money system was continue to operate at all costs. Immigrants represent new, debt-free borrowers and bank customers. Yet another result of a usury system is the complete slavery at some point when the knaves cannot pay their debts. Hoskins maintains that every instance of slavery abolition in recorded history can be traced to the influence of a banking systems which must keep the money system circulating at all costs. Hence, slaves are abolished whenever the economy begins to contract and fresh new borrowers are needed to get the wheels of commerce rolling again. Writes Hoskins, "I have never encountered a case in history where slaves were freed en masse for humanitarian reasons. First usury causes high prices (inflation), then heavy debts, a landless people, lower birth rates and declining population, and finally immigration of new peoples needed to borrow money into existence and pay taxes, or slaves are emancipated to achieve the same object." As Hoskins relates, a debt-free potential borrower is of far greater value than a heavily indebted native citizen.

Hoskins' grasp of economic history is astounding. The reader is treated to many nuggets of his wisdom and he presents amazingly simple, yet profound, solutions to modern economic problems based on his learning. Perhaps the most profound chapter in his book is the chapter entitled "Tallies & T-Bills." Hoskins takes the reader back to the year 1100 A.D. when Henry I, fourth son of William the Conqueror, ascended the throne of England. Finding the treasury empty and his needs great, he cast about for a source of income. Having wise advisors he soon hit on a plan. The plan, with a few refinements, remained in effect for the next 726 years and is so simple and workable that it can be reinstated tomorrow. He issued "tallies." Quoting Hoskins at length, he writes: "A tally was a stock about nine inches or so long with each of the four sides about $\frac{1}{2}$ inch wide. On two of the sides, the value of the "tally" was carved into the wood. On the other two sides, the amount was printed in ink. "The tally was then split in half lengthwise. One half remained in the treasury and the other half was given to soldiers for their pay, to farmers for wheat, to armorers for armor, and to laborers for their labor. "At tax time, taxpayers were required to bring in one half of a tally to pay their taxes. Woe unto the man who did not have the required number of tally sticks. As a consequence, these intrinsically worthless sticks of wood were in great demand. Gold and silver coins were fine if you traveled abroad for a crusade or something, but at home if you did not have your tax-tally at tax time-you were done. "Upon receipt of a tally the treasurer would immediately match the presented half with the half stored in the treasury. They had to tally-which is what gave it the name. Counterfeitors lost their heads! Actually, it was practically impossible to counterfeit a tally. The wood grain had to match-the notches had to match-and the ink inscriptions had to match. This could only come about if both pieces came from the same split tally stick. "There you have it! An inexhaustible source of revenue for the government. The means were available to make tallies as long as there were trees. There was a demand as long as the government required the tallies for taxes. The system flourished as long as tax-evaders and counterfeitors were punished, and they always were. For 726 years the system flourished."

Hoskins points out that government "tally" money and "usury" money cannot exist side by side. Tally-money makes usury-money look bad because it stays constant, while usury-money expands and contracts. The advent of usury-money spelled the death of the tally. The process began with the Bank of England being chartered in 1694 and continues today with the Federal Reserve banking system. Writes Hoskins, "The government has the right to make money. It can do so whenever it chooses. In the United States the government has authorized the Treasury to create Treasury Bills. These bills are created out of thin air, but they are no less real than the wooden tallies of our ancestors. The government doesn't need to borrow money from the banks of the Federal Reserve and have a debt of over a trillion dollars. It can make money instead. All it has to do is MAKE T-Bill tallies in denominations of $1, $5, $10, $20 $50, $100, and $1000. Then it can spend them for needed government services, and tax them out of circulation again. Our ancestors did it for almost three-fourths of a thousand years." Hoskins presents a modified system of the tally system in his book as a model to help relieve beleaguered towns and municipalities during times of economic depression when no money is available in the Fed-controlled economic system. He advises the printing of localized "scrip" for use as a monetary medium for payments of goods and services and taxes. With careful planning and organization, he maintains this plan can be put into effect with only minimal costs. He documents several instances in recent history when such systems were used effectively. He also provides excellent words of advice for the individual or family suffering under the burden of crushing debts. His advice on this subject is worth the price of the book alone.

In 1985, Hoskins' book announced that South Africa, at that time the warmest friend the U.S. had in Africa, would be turned into an enemy. This occurred one year later. The book projected that the Arab oil-producing World would be the next war target-for different economic reasons. This prediction, too, has come to pass. Massive bank consolidations were predicted, reducing the total number Worldwide. Open immigration was envisioned as a practical economic necessity. Now, every locality has its immigration problems. Other things have not yet come to pass-things like widespread municipal bond failures, a massive stock market collapse, widespread famine, a crackdown on dissidents, rampant civil disobedience, a religious revival, and an invasion of America by foreign armies. Logically, these things should also come in time. If they do, America will be very, very different from what it is today.

Interview with Former Belgium Central Bank Economist

Also read the exposé by several ex-CIA officers and US army officers stating that the CIA and Pentagon are the World's largest terrorist organization working for the Wall Street Feudal Lords (Military-Congressional-Industrial Complex as explained by President Dwight Eisenhower) and discussing about the various CIA murders of World leaders and bribing of others, the CIA death squads, etc. Economic Hit Man John Perkins described "We Have Created the World's First Truly Global Empire" Wednesday, February 15th, 2006, on the US radio show "Democracy Now" <http://www.democracynow.org/article.pl?sid=06/02/15/1436221&mode=thread&tid=25>. Perkins explains the facts behind the US and other Governments being controlled by the international corporate barons and why no changes ever come about, even when the Party in power changes...There is a common thread that is woven into the fabric of the governments so tightly that no changes in the bureaucratic structure can penetrate its weave! It has one goal...One World fascist government under the aegis of the Feudal Elites behind the Military-Industrial-Congressional Complex as President Eisenhower had warned everyone on public television in 1961. The interview reveals the proverbial offer politicians cannot refuse and if they refuse, they will be terminated by the CIA, etc...if you've seen George Clooney's movie Syriana, and Hotel Rwanda and Good night and Good luck, you'll get the picture John Perkins is describing, hear it from the horse's mouth! John Perkins, author of "Confessions of an Economic Hit Man," reveals about his former work going into various countries to try to threaten leaders into creating a policy favorable to the U.S Corporate Lords. Perkins formerly worked for an international consulting firm and describes himself as an "economic hitman" for the World's banking and corporate dynasties. However, in spite of their control of information, they realize many citizens are learning the truth. There are several millions of Americans who now know the truth including former congressmen, former revenue agents, ministers, businessmen, economists and many others.

As an example, here is an interview with Bernard Lietaer by Sarah Van Gelder, editor of YES! A journal of positive future <http://www.futurenet.org/>. Few people have worked in and on the money system in as many different capacities as Bernard Lietaer. He spent five years at the Central Bank in Belgium, where his first project was the design and implementation of the single European currency system. He was president of Belgium's Electronic Payment System, and has developed technologies for multinational corporations to use in managing multiple currency environments. He has helped developing countries improve their hard currency earnings and taught international finance at the University of Louvain, in his native Belgium. Bernard Lietaer was also the general manager and currency trader for one of the largest and most successful offshore currency funds. He is currently a fellow at the Center for Sustainable Resources at the University of California at Berkeley and is writing his seventh book: The Future of Money: Beyond Greed and Scarcity. YES! editor Sarah van Gelder talked to Bernard about the possibilities for a new kind of currency better suited to building community and sustainability. He can be reached to discuss this topic via an Internet conference at: <http://www.transaction.net/money/>. --- Start of Interview – edited - (Sarah in bold)

Sarah van Gelder of YES!: Why do you put so much hope into the development of alternative currencies?

Bernard Lietaer: Money is like an iron ring we've put through our noses. We've forgotten that we designed it, and it's now leading us around. I think it's time to figure out where we want to go--in my opinion toward sustainability and community--and then design a money system that gets us there.

So you would say that the design of money is actually at the root of much else that happens, or doesn't happen, in society?

That's right. While economic textbooks claim that people and corporations are competing for markets and resources, I claim that in reality they are competing for money - using markets and resources to do so. So designing new money systems really amounts to redesigning the target that orients much human effort. Furthermore, I believe that greed and competition are not a result of immutable human temperament; I have come to the conclusion that greed and fear of scarcity are in fact being continuously created and amplified as a direct result of the kind of money we are using. For example, we can produce more than enough food to feed everybody, and there is definitely enough work for everybody in the World, but there is clearly not enough money to pay for it all. The scarcity is in our national currencies. In fact, the job of central banks is to create and maintain that currency scarcity. The direct consequence is that we have to fight with each other in order to survive. Money is created when [private] banks lend it into existence [see article by Thomas Greco on page 19 of this issue]. When a bank provides you with a $100,000 mortgage, it creates only the principal, which you spend and which then circulates in the economy. The bank expects you to pay back $200,000 over the next 20 years, but it doesn't create the second $100,000 - the interest. Instead, the bank sends you out into the tough World to battle against everybody else to bring back the second $100,000.

So some people have to lose in order for others to win? Some have to default on their loan in order for others to get the money needed to pay off that interest?

That's right. All the banks are doing the same thing when they lend money into existence. That is why the decisions made by central banks, like the Federal Reserve in the US, are so important --increased interest costs automatically determine a larger proportion of necessary bankruptcies. So when the bank verifies your "creditworthiness," it is really checking whether you are capable of competing and winning against other players - able to extract the second $100,000 that was never created. And if you fail in that game, you lose your house or whatever other collateral you had to put up.

That also influences the unemployment rate?

It's certainly a major factor, but there's more to it. Information technologies increasingly allow us to attain very good economic growth without increases in employment. I believe we're seeing one of the last job-driven affluent periods in the US right now. As Jeremy Rifkin argues in his book, The End of Work, jobs are basically not going to be there anymore, even in "good times." A study done by The International Metalworkers Federation in Geneva predicts that within the next 30 years, 2 or 3 percent of the World's population will be able to produce everything we need on the planet. Even if they're off by a factor of 10, we'd still have a question of what 80 percent of humanity will do. My forecast is that local currencies will be a major tool for social design in the 21st century, if for no other reasons than employment. I don't claim that these local currencies will or should replace national currencies; that is why I call them "complementary" currencies. The national, competition-generating currencies will still have a role in the competitive global market. I believe, however, that complementary local currencies are a lot better suited to developing cooperative, local economies.

And these local economies will provide a form of employment that won't be threatened with extinction?

As a first step, that is correct. For example, in France, there are now 300 local exchange networks, called Grain de Sel, literally "Grain of Salt." These systems - which arose exactly when and where the unemployment levels reached about 12 percent*- facilitate exchanges of everything from rent to organic produce, but they do something else as well. Every fortnight in the Ariège, in southwestern France, there is a big party. People come to trade not only cheeses, fruits, and cakes as in the normal market days, but also hours of plumbing, haircuts, sailing or English lessons. Only local currencies accepted! Local currency creates work, and I make a distinction between work and jobs. A job is what you do for a living; work is what you do because you like to do it. I expect jobs to increasingly become obsolete, but there is still an almost infinite amount of fascinating work to be done. For example, in France you find people offering guitar lessons and requesting lessons in German. Neither would pay in French francs. What's nice about local currency is that when people create their own money, they don't need to build in a scarcity factor. And they don't need to get currency from elsewhere in order to have a means of making an exchange with a neighbor. Edgar Cahn's Time Dollars are a classical example [see page 24 of this issue]. As soon as you have an agreement between two people about a transaction using Time Dollars, they literally create the necessary "money" in the process; there's no scarcity of money. That does not mean there's an infinite amount of this currency, either; you cannot give me 500,000 hours - nobody has 500,000 hours to give. So there's a ceiling on it, yes, but there's no artificial scarcity. Instead of pitting people against each other, the system actually helps them cooperate.

So you're suggesting that scarcity needn't be a guiding principle of our economic system. But isn't scarcity absolutely fundamental to economics, especially in a World of limited resources?

My analysis of this question is based on the work of Carl Gustav Jung because he is the only one with a theoretical framework for collective psychology, and money is fundamentally a phenomenon of collective psychology. A key concept Jung uses is the archetype, which can be described as an emotional field that mobilizes people, individually or collectively, in a particular direction. Jung showed that whenever a particular archetype is repressed, two types of shadows emerge, which are polarities of each other. For example, if my higher self - corresponding to the archetype of the King or the Queen - is repressed, I will behave either as a Tyrant or as a Weakling. These two shadows are connected to each other by fear. A Tyrant is tyrannical because he's afraid of appearing weak; a Weakling is afraid of being tyrannical. Only someone with no fear of either one of these shadows can embody the archetype of the King....The question I have been asking is very simple: What are the shadows of the Great Mother archetype? I'm proposing that these shadows are greed and fear of scarcity. So it should come as no surprise that in Victorian times - at the apex of the repression of the Great Mother - a Scottish schoolmaster named Adam Smith noticed a lot of greed and scarcity around him and assumed that was how all "civilized" societies worked.

Smith, as you know, created modern economics, which can be defined as a way of allocating scarce resources through the mechanism of individual, personal greed.

Wow! So if greed and scarcity are the shadows, what does the Great Mother archetype herself represent in terms of economics?

Someone who has assimilated the Great Mother archetype trusts in the abundance of the universe. It's when you lack trust that you want a big bank account. The first guy who accumulated a lot of stuff as protection against future uncertainty automatically had to start defending his pile against everybody else's envy and needs. If a society is afraid of scarcity, it will actually create an environment in which it manifests well-grounded reasons to live in fear of scarcity. It is a self-fulfilling prophecy! Also, we have been living for a long time under the belief that we need to create scarcity to create value. Although that is valid in some material domains, we extrapolate it to other domains where it may not be valid. For example, there's nothing to prevent us from freely distributing information. The marginal cost of information today is practically nil. Nevertheless, we invent copyrights and patents in an attempt to keep it scarce.

So fear of scarcity creates greed and hoarding, which in turn creates the scarcity that was feared. Whereas cultures that embody the Great Mother are based on abundance and generosity. Those ideas are implicit in the way you've defined community, are they not?

Actually it's not my definition, it's etymological. The origin of the word "community" comes from the Latin munus, which means the gift, and cum, which means together, among each other. So community literally means to give among each other. Therefore I define my community as a group of people who welcome and honor my gifts, and from whom I can reasonably expect to receive gifts in return.

And local currencies can facilitate that exchange of gifts.

The majority of the local currencies I know about have been started for the purpose of creating employment, but there is a growing group of people who are starting local currencies specifically to create community. For example, I would feel funny calling my neighbor in the valley and saying, "I notice you have a lot of pears on your tree. Can I have them?" I would feel I needed to offer something in return. But if I'm going to offer scarce dollars, I might just as well go to the supermarket, so we end up not using the pears. If I have local currency, there's no scarcity in the medium of exchange, so buying the pears becomes an excuse to interact. In Takoma Park, Maryland, Olaf Egeberg started a local currency to facilitate these kinds of exchanges within his community. And the participants agree that is exactly what has been happening.

That raises the question of whether local currencies can also be a means for people to meet their basic needs for food and housing, or would those sectors remain part of the competitive economy?

There are lots of people who love gardening, but who can't make a living from it in the competitive World. If a gardener is unemployed, and I'm unemployed, in the normal economy we might both starve. However with complementary currencies, he can grow my salads, which I pay for in local currency earned by providing another service to someone else. In Ithaca, "HOURS" are accepted at the farmer's market; the farmers can use the local currency to hire someone to help with the harvest or to do some repairs. Some landlords accept Hours for rent, particularly if they don't have a mortgage that must be paid in scarce dollars. When you have local currency, it quickly becomes clear what's local and what's not. K-Mart will accept dollars only; their suppliers are in Hong Kong or Singapore or Kansas City. But Ithaca's local supermarket accepts Hours as well as dollars. By using local currencies, you create a bias toward local sustainability.

Local currencies also provide communities with some buffering from the ups and downs of the global economy. You've been in the business of monitoring, dealing in, and even helping to design the global finance system. Why would communities want to be insulated from it?

First of all, today's official monetary system has almost nothing to do with the real economy. Just to give you an idea, 1995 statistics indicate that the volume of currency exchanged on the global level is $1.3 trillion per day. This is 30 times more than the daily gross domestic product (GDP) of all of the developed countries (OECD) together. The annual GDP of the United States is turned in the market every three days! Of that volume, only 2 or 3 percent has to do with real trade or investment; the remainder takes place in the speculative global cyber-casino. This means that the real economy has become relegated to a mere frosting on the speculative cake, an exact reversal of how it was just two decades ago.

What are the implications of this? What does it mean for those of us who aren't transacting deals across international boundaries?

For one thing, power has shifted irrevocably away from governments toward the financial markets. When a government does something not to the liking of the market - like the British in '91, the French in '94 or the Mexicans in '95 - nobody sits down at the table and says "you shouldn't do this." A monetary crisis simply manifests in that currency. So a few hundred people, who are not elected by anybody and have no collective responsibility whatsoever, decide what your pension fund is worth - among other things.

You've also talked about the possibility of a crash in this system...

Yes, I see it now as about a 50/50 chance over the next five or 10 years. Many people say it's 100 percent, and with a much shorter time horizon. George Soros, who's made part of his living doing what I used to do - speculating in currencies - concluded, "Instability is cumulative, so that eventual breakdown of freely floating exchanges is virtually assured." Joel Kurtzman, ex-editor at the Harvard Business Review, entitles his latest book: The Death of Money and forecasts an imminent collapse due to speculative frenzy. Just to see how this could happen: all the OECD Central Banks' reserves together represent about $640 billion. So in a crisis situation, if all the Central Banks were to agree to work together (which they never do) and if they were to use all their reserves (which is another thing that never happens) they have the funds to control only half the volume of a normal day of trading. In a crisis day, that volume could easily double or triple, and the total Central Bank reserves would last two or three hours.

And the outcome would be?

If that happens, we would suddenly be in a very different World. In 1929, the stock market crashed, but the gold standard held. The monetary system held. Here, we are dealing with something that's more fundamental. The only precedent I know of is the Roman Empire collapse, which ended Roman currency. That was, of course, at a time when it took about a century and a half for the breakdown to spread through the empire; now it would take a few hours.

So local currencies could provide some resilience for a community that could help it survive a currency melt-down or some other international breakdown. You've also mentioned that local currencies help promote sustainability. What's the connection?

To understand that, we need to see the relationship between interest rates and the ways we discount the future. If I ask, "Do you want $100 now or $100 a year from now," most people would want the money now simply because one can deposit money risk-free in a bank account and get about $110 a year later. Another way of putting it is that if I were to offer you $100 a year from now that would be about equal to offering you $90 today. This discounting of the future is referred to as 'discounted cash flow'. That means that under our current system it makes sense to cut down trees and put the money in the bank; the money in the bank will grow faster than trees. It makes sense to "save" money by building poorly insulated houses because the discounted cost of the extra energy over the lifetime of the house is cheaper than insulating. We can, however, design a monetary system that does the opposite; it actually creates long-term thinking through what is called a "demurrage charge." The demurrage charge is a concept developed by Silvio Gesell about a century ago. His idea was that money is a public good - like the telephone or bus transport - and that we should charge a small fee for using it. In other words, we create a negative rather than a positive interest rate. What would that do? If I gave you a $100 bill and told you that a month from now you're going to have to pay $1 to keep the money valid, what would you do?

I suppose I would try to invest it in something else.

You got it. You know the expression, "Money is like manure; it's only good when it's spread out." In the Gesell system, people would only use money as a medium of exchange, but not as a store for value. That would create work, because it would encourage circulation, and it would invert the short-term incentive system. Instead of cutting trees down to put the money in the bank, you would want to invest your money in living trees or installing insulation in your house.

Has this ever been tried?

There are only three periods I have found: classical Egypt; about three centuries in the European Middle Ages, and a few years in the 1930s [Germany; now you know why Hitler was created as an excuse to bring down Germany; by the way, Napoleon was put away because he too wanted to take away the power to create money from the Banking Dynasties and put it in the hands of the state]. In ancient Egypt, when you stored grain, you would receive a token, which was exchangeable and became a type of currency. If you returned a year later with 10 tokens, you would only get nine tokens worth of grain, because rats and spoilage would have reduced the quantities, and because the guards at the storage facility had to be paid. So that amounted to a demurrage charge. Egypt was the breadbasket for the ancient World, the gift of the Nile. Why? Because instead of keeping value in money, everybody invested in productive assets that would last forever - things like land improvements and irrigation systems. Proof that the monetary system had something to do with this wealth is that it all ended abruptly as soon as the Romans replaced the Egyptian 'grain standard' currency with their own money system, with positive interest rates. After that, Egypt ceased being the grain-basket, and became a "developing country" as it is called today. In Europe during the Middle Ages - the 10th to 13th centuries - local currencies were issued by local lords, and then periodically recalled and reissued with a tax collected in the process. Again, this was a form of demurrage that made money undesirable as a store of value. The result was the blossoming of culture and widespread well-being, corresponding exactly to the time period when these local currencies were used. Practically all the cathedrals were built during this time period. If you think about what is required as investment for a small town to build a cathedral, it's extraordinary.

Because cathedrals take generations to build?

Well, not only that. Besides the obvious symbolic and religious roles - which I don't want to belittle - one should remember that cathedrals had an important economic function; they attracted pilgrims, who, from a business perspective, played a similar role to tourists today. These cathedrals were built to last forever and create a long-term cash flow for the community. This was a way of creating abundance for you and your descendants for 13 generations! The proof is that it still works today; in Chartres, for instance, the bulk of the city's businesses still live from the tourists who visit the cathedral 800 years after it was finished! When the introduction of gunpowder technology enabled the kings to centralize power in the early 14th century, the first thing they did was to monopolize the money system. What happened? No more cathedrals were built. The population was just as devoutly Christian in the 14th or 15th century, but the economic incentive for collective long-term investments was gone. I use the cathedral simply as an example. Accounts from 12th century estates show that mills and other productive assets were maintained at an extraordinary level of quality, with parts replaced even before they wore out. Recent studies have revealed that the quality of life for the common laborer in Europe was the highest in the 12th to 13th centuries; perhaps even higher than today. When you can't keep savings in the form of money, you invest them in something that will produce value in the future. So this form of money created an extraordinary boom.

How interesting! What potential do you see for local currencies to bring this Great Mother archetype of abundance and generosity into our economic system today?

The biggest issues that I believe humanity faces today are sustainability and the inequalities and breakdown in community, which create tensions that result in violence and wars. We can address both these issues with the same tool, by consciously creating currency systems that will enhance community and sustainability. Significantly, we have witnessed in the past decades a clear re-awakening of the feminine archetype. It is reflected not only in the women's movement, in the dramatic increase in ecological concerns, or in new epistemologies reintegrating spirit and matter, but also in the technologies that enable us to replace hierarchies with networks (such as the Internet). Add to these trends the fact that for the first time in human history we have available the production technologies to create unprecedented abundance. All this converges into an extraordinary opportunity to combine the hardware of our technologies of abundance and the software of archetypal shifts. Such a combination has never been available at this scale or at this speed: it enables us to consciously design money to work for us, instead of us for it. I propose that we choose to develop money systems that will enable us to attain sustainability and community healing on a local and global scale. These objectives are in our grasp within less than one generation's time. Whether we materialize them or not will depend on our capacity to cooperate with each other to consciously reinvent our money. ---

End-of-interview with Bernard Lietaer by Sarah Van Galder

No debt-free, or interest-free, money has been issued in America since President Abraham Lincoln did it in 1863 to help finance the Civil War. He was later assassinated, by an agent of the Rothschild Bank. We will show later that most of the owners of the large banks and the US Presidents are/have descended from the European Nobility and are connected with the Rothschild European banks. The Saracen Islamic Empire forbade interest on money, for 1,000 years and its wealth outshone even Saxon Europe. Mandarin China issued its own money, interest-free, and debt-free, and historians and collectors of art, today, consider those centuries to be China's time of greatest wealth, culture and peace. Germany issued debt-free and interest-free money, from 1935 accounting for its startling rise from the depression to a World power in 5 years (Hitler was created for the purpose of providing an excuse to attack Germany and get its banking system back into the hands of the Illuminati). Germany financed its entire government, and war operations, from 1935 to 1945, without gold and without debt, and it took the whole Capitalist and Communist World to destroy the German power and bring it back under the heel of the Illuminati Bankers (by the way, Napoleon was put away because he too wanted to take away the power to create money from the Banking Dynasties and put it in the hands of the state; Communism was launched to get control of the Tsar's bank for the Illuminati). Now you have a better understanding of what World War II was all about. Hitler was created to give an excuse for the Illuminati Bankers to wage war just like Terrorism and Al-Qaeda are created today for the Illuminati Bankers to wage war against whom they wish to exploit. Several Arab nations issue interest-free loans to their citizens, today, and their money can be easily backed by OIL. Now you can have another reason for all the commotion in the Mid-East and why the Illuminati Bankers-owned press is propagandizing American citizens to think of the Arabs as terrorists.

A government issuing money debt & interest-free which does not have to be paid back in interest leaves the money available to use in the exchange of goods and services and its only continuing cost is replacement as the paper wears out. Money is the paper ticket by which transfers are made and should always be in sufficient quantity to transfer all possible production of the nation to the ultimate consumers. It is as ridiculous for a nation to say to its citizens "You must consume less, because we are short of money" as it would be for an airline to say "Our planes are flying, but we cannot take you because we are short of tickets" (this actually happens sometimes when we fly in a half-empty plane because some travel agency hoarded seats without liability). The private Federal Reserve Note is accepted by power of fraudulent legislation. However, the currency is issued not by the Government but by the descendants of the European Nobility who own the Federal Reserve Bank and have usurped the right to create money from the people's Government since after the Civil War; and these folks are collecting interest on the money they created from nothing and the citizens of the United States owe them about $35 Trillion on what they created from nothing, i.e. A GIGANTIC RIP OFF!!!

If the money is issued by a privately owned corporation, its owners benefit by causing the money amount and its value to fluctuate and causing the people to go into debt and pay interest permanently through taxes. Under the present debt-usury system, the extra burden of usury forces workers and businesses to demand more money for the work and goods to pay their ever increasing debts and taxes. This increase, in prices and wages and taxes, is called "inflation". Illuminati Bankers, politicians and "economists" blame it on everything, but the real cause is the usury levied on money and debt by the Illuminati Bankers. This "inflation" benefits the money-lenders since it wipes out savings of one generation so they can not finance or help the next generation who must then borrow from the money-lenders and pay a large part of their life's labor to the usurer. With an adequate supply of interest-free money created by the sovereign Government, little borrowing would be required, and prices would be established by people and goods, and not by debts and usury. Various cultures throughout history have used different things for money, such as cattle, salt, gold, tobacco, seashells, or... corn and wheat, coins, etc... The first money, what I will call REAL Money, to be clear, is commodities: goods & services, including labor. When Smith gives Jones a bushel of wheat for a bushel of corn, we have a barter transaction or two sales and two purchases, in one concise, efficient, transparent, transaction. But where is the money? The money is the corn and the wheat. Smith is using wheat as money; Jones is using corn as money and both are acceptable to the other. Since the term "money" has come to mean a "coin" or "note" or "gold" or "credit card" or "check" and has even become synonymous with "currency", the point has to be made very clear that the original money; the first money; the fundamental; the very root of all monies, as a "means of exchange," is/are the commodities themselves. Real Money is commodities. All commodities. I must emphasize this because if that is incorrect then it remains to be shown which commodities are, and which are not, acceptable in trade or barter, and why. Instead of trading real goods & services or commodities with each other, we use an intermediate called money and trade commodities for money and vice versa. Money is a mutually agreed upon means of exchange using a simple way to document value that can be used to trade goods and services. For example, a mechanic repairs a baker's car. Now, the mechanic will be inconvenienced if the customer who is a baker could only pay him with bread. However, if everyone accepts small items of value such as real gold or silver coins or promissory notes or electronic credits issued by a trusted party (i.e. sovereign nation's government) that can be redeemed with goods and services, this documents the value of the transaction and we have a convenient way of trading in addition to the traditional bartering process. <http://www.canadianactionparty.ca/MainPages/Comic.asp?Page=4&Language=English>

If the money is also a real commodity with intrinsic value like gold and silver, we don't have a problem. But if the money is paper, who gets to issue the money? It must be the sovereign government without debt and interest, but unfortunately, the paper money now is issued from nothing by private central banks as a debt owed by the Government and then interest is charged on it, so we have a humongous problem. Traditional economists on the payroll of the Illuminati don't like this train of thought; Thomas Greco, one of today's more modern monetary theorists, has rejected the notion. But the fact is that it is true & real, and it is important. What are worse though, are the horrible effects of the FIAT money system. We will explain this in detail soon. Don't believe all of the information put out by the Fed. It's obfuscatory and lies by omission. But it's more than what other central banks put out. Try to get any info from the Bank of Switzerland and they will tell you that it's not for public use.

Mr. Crozier of Cincinnati, before Senate Banking and Currency Committee – 1913: "These 12 [Federal Reserve] Corporations together cover the whole country and monopolize and use for private gain every dollar of the public currency..."

Modern Money Mechanics Workbook Donald J. Winn, Assistant to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve system: "The Federal Reserve system pays the U.S. Treasury 020.60 per thousand notes --a little over 2 cents each-- without regard to the face value of the note. Federal Reserve Notes, incidentally, are the only type of currency now produced for circulation. They are printed exclusively by the Treasury's Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP), and the 20.60 per thousand price reflects the Bureau's full cost of production. Federal Reserve Notes are printed in 01, 02, 05, 10, 20, 50, and 100 dollar denominations only; notes of 500, 1000, 5000, and 10,000 denominations were last printed in 1945."

In Canada, although the Bank of Canada was bought by the government in 1938, we don't really know what agreement transpired between the former owners and the government. If it's a similar arrangement to that of the Bank of England, then Canadians will be forking billions in interest payments to the former owners forever. Today only about 4 percent of the money in circulation in Canada is Bank of Canada legal tender. In other words, 96 percent of Canadian money is created by the private banks. In 1945 the Bank of Canada accounted for 27 percent of the country's money. At that time the bank rate of interest was only 1.5 percent and the Canadian economy boomed. Also, the Bank of Canada is not keen on giving loans in Canadian dollars which forces many Canadian businesses to borrow in the US. Thus, the Bank of Canada is not fulfilling its role which is to create debt and interest free money; thus the Illuminati Bankers of the US can get to fill that role and collect lots of interest. In this sense, the Bank of Canada has become an agent of the Illuminati Bankers. Note that the reserve ratio requirement is almost zero now for Canadian banks. The banks had been bailed out by enabling them to quadruple their holdings of federal government bonds by being able to acquire them without putting up any of their own money. The statutory reserves - were some 8% to 10% of the deposits the banks received in their chequing accounts that had to be redeposited on an interest-free basis with the Bank of Canada and such reserves have been abolished in a bill sneaked through parliament in 1991 without debate or press release. From a "lender of the last resort", the government had simply moved into the position of "the donor of the first resort". Throughout the 1980s it had bailed out bankrupt banks. And since the government of Canada is the sole shareholder of the Bank of Canada, when it switched its borrowing from its own bank to the distressed banks, they lent back to the government some of the money it had bestowed on them as a gift. The taxpayers bailed out the banks but the details have been withheld from the public. Even more scandalous, after being bailed out so sumptuously, the banks were further deregulated and allowed to take over stock market brokerages in Canada and abroad, and underwriting and merchant banking establishments, derivative boutiques - such a jumble of businesses incompatible with banking that the mighty banks could not begin to keep track of the clashing relationships that resulted. Thus as part of the World-wide bail-out of banks in trouble, the Bank for International Settlements, had declared the debt of developed countries to be risk-free , hence requiring no further capital for banks to acquire. But at the same time governments throughout the World had put an end to the statutory reserves that had served as an alternative to higher interest rates to lick perceived "inflation". But if you raise interest rates, the huge bond hoard with lower coupons held by the banks fall below market value. And the banks thus lose much of their remaining capital from their very rescue package. There has been a massive redistribution of the national income, and with the increasing break-down of our infrastructure and the ongoing voracity of our banks, it continues, day and night. The last bailout of our banks was no one-shot affair, but an ongoing entitlement. Remember, most of our taxes and expenditures go to pay the interest (homage, tithe, whatever you want to call it) to the ruling banking dynasties, and in addition, inflation also serves to reduce the value of money and is an additional hidden tax, i.e. we are their slaves!

CANADA'S TOTAL DEBT BOTH PUBLIC AND PRIVATE FOR 1980:

| | |
|------------------------------------|-----------------|
| Federal 1979 | 98,461,000,000 |
| Provincial & Local Government 1978 | 46,875,000,000 |
| Corporation 1978 | 421,293,000,000 |
| Consumer's Credit 1979 | 37,661,000,000 |
| SUBTOTAL | 604,290,000,000 |
| Residential 1980 | 57,950,000,000 |
| Total for 1980 | 662,240,000,000 |

CANADA'S TOTAL DEBT BOTH PUBLIC AND PRIVATE FOR 1992:

| | |
|------------------------------------|-------------------|
| Federal 1992 | 429,618,000,000 |
| Provincial & Local Government 1992 | 209,230,000,000 |
| Corporation 1989 | 1,536,133,000,000 |
| Consumer's Credit 1991 | 99,634,000,000 |
| SUBTOTAL | 2,274,615,000,000 |
| Residential 1991 | 200,673,000,000 |
| TOTAL for 1992 | 2,475,288,000,000 |

In 1968, when Pierre Trudeau came to office, our total accumulated national debt stood at $16.7 billion. We had fought two World wars, been through the depression of the 30s and all we owed was $16.7 billion. After 16 years of Pierre Trudeau and the short blip that was Joe Clark, the national debt had risen to $200 billion. What is especially significant about these years is not only that Trudeau left us with this huge unpaid bill, but that he racked up the debt during a time when the government had access to more tax revenue than any other government to that point. Under the Trudeau Liberals, from 1977 to 1984 alone, they piled up more than $150 billion in government debt and increased spending from $43 billion a year to $109 billion. It doesn't take a Chartered Financial Analyst to figure out that moving out of controlled spending of $43 billion a year to $109 billion in seven years does not constitute getting control of things. Add to this fact that they increased borrowing from just over $10 billion a year to $38 billion and one gets an accurate picture of just how disastrous the Trudeau administration was at financial management. After nine years of Brian Mulroney as Prime Minister, federal spending went from $109 billion a year to $160 billion a year, government borrowing averaged an annual $30 billion and the national debt had risen to $429 billion.

By 1992-1993 the federal government was at the point where the interest on the accumulated borrowing was controlling the federal budget and the lives of Canadians. It had become the largest single federal expenditure, eating up huge chunks of tax revenue. Annual interest was in the area of $42 billion, which was an equivalent of nearly $200 a month for every person in the country who filed an income tax. It took all the money collected in corporate income tax from the GST, all the money collected in sales taxes, all the money collected in excise duties, plus a few billion more, just to pay the interest. What do these figures mean to you? You may have your house, farm, or business paid for and have no consumer loan. But, your share of the federal, provincial and local government debt, plus the huge corporation debt (on which you pay the interest when you buy their product) came to 95,194$ on the 2,475,288,000,000$ principal. At an annual rate of 10% this is $9,519 per person or $38,076 for a family of four in interest payments alone (1993).

Fr. Denis Fahey, ca. 1944: "...Under the World's present financial system the money, except for a now trifling portion, is originally created by the issue of a loan at interest by the "bankers", who lend nothing of themselves but in effect make a forced levy in kind on the Nation by conferring on the borrower the power to purchase a corresponding amount of wealth on the market, which wealth does not belong to them, or those who borrow from them, but to the community. The proceeds of the issue of new money - whether of paper or any other form of credit money - belong to the Nation in which it is, or is accepted as, legal tender, and not to the issuer. Herein lies the basic flaw of the existing monetary system."

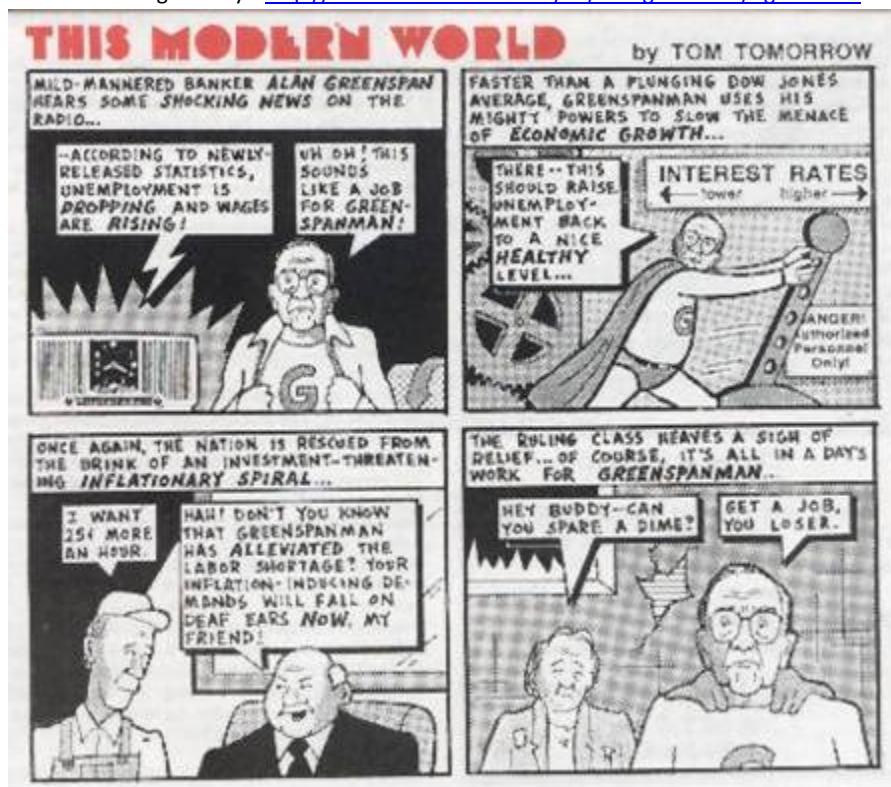

History demonstrates that bypassing the Central Banks and producing interest-free money according to need does not have to cause inflation. This is because it's not the source of needed money which is inflation's cause, but 'the way in' which it is produced and used and the interest that is paid on it to the private Central Bankers.

Here is an example of a working alternative currency which existed in Austria, in the 1930s, as described by David Weston in his book, 'The Living Economy' p.196 ff: "The burghermaster of Worgl issued local currency in the form of 'tickets for services rendered'. They were used for paying wages to men employed on public works, who would otherwise have been unemployed. During the first month of issue, these tickets are said to have circulated twenty times as a form of local currency. Taxes were paid, unemployment was reduced, and local shopkeepers prospered. Mayors of two hundred other Austrian towns decided to follow suit. But the Austrian National Bank took legal action against the experiment. The Austrian Supreme Court decided in favor of the Bank, and the innovation was squashed."

The banking system has always been opposed to governments printing money, and is always in favor of governments borrowing money from them instead. This is not because responsible production of money doesn't work or causes massive inflation; it's because the money changers can't take their pound of flesh from this sort of money. Inflation itself seems, by bankers own admission, to be the recurring problem which all traditional currencies face.

The Bank of Canada's website: "Commercial banks and other financial institutions provide the greater part of assets used as money through loans made to individuals and businesses. In that sense, financial institutions are creating money" <http://www.bankofcanada.ca/en/backgrounder/bg-m2.htm>.

Since 1913 the FED owners have "created" tens of billions of dollars in money and credit, which, as their own personal property, they can lend to our government and our people at interest (usury). "The rich get richer and the poor get poorer" had become the secret policy of the Federal government. An example of the process of "creation" and its conversion to peoples "debt" will aid our understanding. Who owns our money? Think about it! The privately owned Central banks actually own and control 'national' currency. All the money now brought into existence is borrowed by an individual, an industry or a government from a central bank somewhere. It was not created by being given nor earned anywhere, it was loaned and it must be given back one day. Thus, whoever holds this borrowed money, now only holds it in trust and as a promise to deliver some goods or services. Nobody really 'owns' money as they used to when holding a gold coin. The bank that created the money against a debt is the ultimate owner of it, because a contract says the money must eventually be given back to that bank, which only 'loaned' it in the first place. Ironically, the banks only 'own' money while others hold it, because once the bank gets 'their' money back it vanishes, except for the interest, which the bank gains and owns.

Inflation (Fed is the root of it), Interest and Goods & Services Production

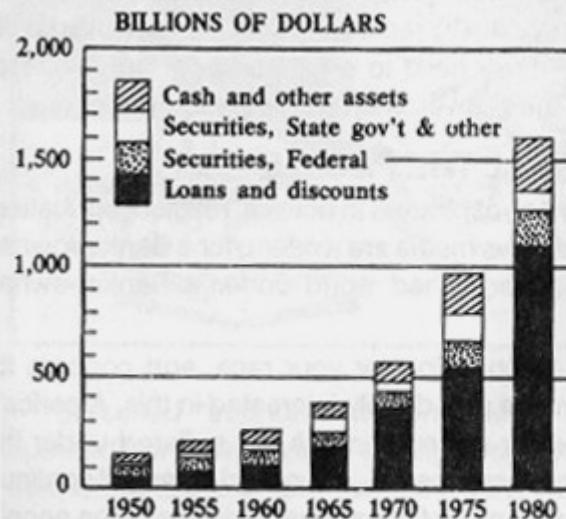

The real gold and silver coins have intrinsic value, but the promissory note doesn't if it's not backed by a commodity for which it can be redeemed. In this case, the bank or issuer of the promissory note is creating money from nothing and is being allowed to charge interest and ask for the return of this "fake capital" from someone wanting to borrow some of these notes or credits.

Creating money from nothing and charging interest on it is unimaginably profitable! It's not the source of needed money which is inflation's cause, but 'the way in' which it is produced and used and the interest that is paid on it to the private Central Bankers. This "inflation" benefits the money-lenders since it wipes out savings of one generation so they can not finance or help the next generation who must then borrow from the money-lenders and pay a large part of their life's labor to the user. Usury and fiat money issued for non-productive use cause inflation.

Robert H. Hemphill, Credit Manager of Federal Reserve Bank, Atlanta, Georgia, 1934: "This is a staggering thought. We are completely dependent, on the Commercial Banks. Someone has to borrow every dollar we have in circulation, cash or credit. If the Banks create ample synthetic money, we are prosperous; if not, we starve. We are, absolutely, without a permanent money system. When one gets a complete grasp of the picture, the tragic absurdity, of our hopeless position, is almost incredible, but there it is. It is the most important subject intelligent persons can investigate and reflect upon...It is so important that our present civilization may collapse, unless it becomes widely understood, and the defects remedied very soon."

DENNIS KARNOFSKY, Chief economic adviser St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank: "...what is a dollar? It's just something artificial we throw out there....what you're doing is you're fooling people...."

PRINCIPAL ASSETS OF ALL COMMERCIAL BANKS: 1950 TO 1980

Bankers produce no usable product or any "wealth," yet their usury robbery almost doubles their net assets (wealth) every 10 years!

Is it possible another generation under their "System" will make them "legal" owners of the entire United States and 200 million citizens will be their bond-slaves on the continent our fathers colonized and developed?

SOURCE: Statistical Abstract of United States

1982: Since 1950 the Bankers' "assets" (obtained by fraud) have risen from $160 billion to almost $2,000 billions. They are stealing America with their debt-usury system!

Daniel Webster: "Of all the contrivances devised for cheating the laboring classes of mankind, none has been more effective than that which deludes him with paper money."

The bank who created the money and credit does not have the equivalent net assets which represent the money and credit it issued. The bank uses your or the government's promise to pay as the asset against which it issues the money and credit. Note that the money it issued is also a promise to pay or promissory note. Let's illustrate this with an example of some stores who issue coupons. Well, we can trade these coupons with whosoever agrees to accept them. Eventually, one day, the store which issued the coupons will have to redeem them for merchandise on demand, unless the store goes bankrupt or shuts down. One way for the store to go bankrupt is to issue coupons worth more than the value of its redeemable merchandise. In the case of the central bank (a monopoly) owners who issued the bank money notes or credit, we must remember that they created this money out of nothing, i.e. never owned an asset against which they issued their money and credit, and they never have to exchange their notes for a product or service, i.e. they are non-redeemable. So, what can we do with this non-redeemable money? We can purchase goods, services, lands & mineral resources as long as the seller is willing to accept it. The central bank keeps collecting interest on this money as long as it's in circulation; a real rip off! When a bank has too many bad debts or not enough outstanding loans on which it is collecting interest, or if it's invaded like in the case of the Bank of Iraq, it becomes unable to meet its own interest & payment obligations and goes bankrupt and its issued currency becomes worthless.

Carroll Quigley, Professor, Georgetown University, in his 1966 book entitled Tragedy and Hope, A History of the World in Our Time, President Clinton's mentor writes: "The powers of financial capitalism had [a] far-reaching [plan], nothing less than to create a World system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the World as a whole. ...Their secret is that they have annexed from governments, monarchies, and republics the power to create the World's money... This system was to be controlled in a feudal fashion by the central banks of the World acting in concert, by secret agreements arrived at in frequent meetings and conferences. The apex of the system was to be the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the World's central banks which were themselves private corporations. Each central bank... Sought to dominate its government by its ability to control treasury loans, to manipulate foreign exchanges, to influence the level of economic activity in the country, and to influence cooperative politicians by subsequent economic rewards in the business World."

Before, all governments and banks could issue notes and credits. Today, only a chartered bank is allowed to create credit on behalf of the owners of the bank, and only the privately owned central banks can issue non-redeemable notes, in addition to creating credit. However, through the power of fraudulent legislation, you are legally obliged to accept these private bank notes or credit in fulfillment of a debt owed to you. This will be explained in details later. The bank never wants the government or you to repay the loan. They just want to keep collecting interest on the money they created from nothing, i.e. that's their cash cow or river of money! We saw that the bank created money from nothing when the government or you went to get a loan. But where is the money going to come from to pay the interest? Well, looks we have a shortfall and it will also have to be created from nothing through more loans and voila, we are in an ever increasing total debt spiral! The money that was used to pay the interest is no longer in circulation and will not return into circulation until the bank either gives it away in charity or someone else borrows it. It's a giant pyramid scheme in many ways as we will see later when the people behind this are described, with the Illuminati Banking dynasties at the top, then the United States and the Third World Masses at the bottom! There will never be enough money in circulation for consumers to buy all the goods whilst inflated interest monies keep disappearing into the pockets of the Illuminati, who use it for money marketeering, real estate hikes and inflating shares. People are forced to compete by grasping at scarce dollars. Citizens live in ongoing fear of not having enough personally.

Governments regularly make up the inevitable shortfall of money with infrastructure gifts, subsidies and tax breaks, mainly to big business, giving corporations the appearance of efficiency. For example, multinationals pay almost no tax in Australia, and hold the government to ransom. No wonder we pay a multitude of taxes and can't afford decent hospitals or environmental repair! The taxes go to pay interest to the Illuminati. We are told to produce more stuff (this is called economic growth) and export to get ourselves out of scarcity. But this is unsustainable. At a growth rate of just 4% per year, in 100 years the global economy would be 50 times larger than today. Moreover, much growth is at the expense of the environment, and its distribution is such that the rich are getting richer at the expense of everyone's children.

1910: U. S. Federal debt was $1 billion or $12.40 per citizen. State and local debts were practically non-existent.
1920: Federal debt jumped to $24 billion or $228 per person after only six years of Federal Reserve shenanigans.
1960: Federal debt reached $284 billion, or $1,575 per citizen and state and local debts were mushrooming.
1997: Federal debt passed $5.5 trillion and is growing exponentially.
2004: Federal and State debt passed $15 trillion, total debt is over $30 trillion (half the taxes go to pay interest)

State and local debts are increasing as fast Federal debts. However, they are too cunning to take the title to everything at once. They instead leave us with some "illusion of ownership" so you and your children will continue to work and pay the Illuminati Bankers more of your earnings on ever increasing debts. The "establishment" has captured our people with their debt-money system as certainly as if they had marched in with a uniformed army. From the 1 billion dollar government debt in 1910 before the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank was created, we are now at over 15 trillion total government debt or $50,000 per American and growing and most of the taxes go to pay the interest; and we definitely cannot repay the debt because the taxes we collect barely pay the interest on that debt!! There will be mass misery and slavery when this pyramid collapses!!! Most businesses will, in time, fail or be forced to restructure. Or a war or exploitation will be required to impoverish another nation to keep this economy going! The total amount owed – by consumers, businesses, governments and financial institutions – totaled $34.4 trillion at the end of 2003, according to the Federal Reserve. The economy produced $11.3 trillion of output. That makes the nation's debt triple its gross domestic product. In 1933, debt was about 2 1/2 times GDP, according to a study by the Gabelli Mathers mutual fund. Lets look at it another way. The debt interest costs must be added to the costs of goods and services. As this unpayable cost (the interest) is transferred from one party to another, it compounds and the prices (the cost-of-living) constantly rise. However, simply increasing prices does not mean that the money to pay the higher prices automatically exists in the economy. This is evidenced by our year-end Total Public and Private debt of $35 Trillion and our Total Money Supply-the total amount of available money to pay these debts is only $5 trillion. This difference of debt/supply is why we are having more and more economic stress. When prices are marked up to cover the cost of debt interest, volume purchasing must drop if the available money supply does not increase by the same amount.

For example: Your 100 dollar paycheck buys 10 items at $10. When the price of those items increases to $11 you can only buy 9 items. Your standard of living has dropped. Demand and sales drop. Demand for workers drop. The economy jumps up and down. Over the long haul the debt constantly grows.

Employment at livable wages declines. The purchasing power of the credit money declines. This causes more and more people to have a difficult time making ends meet. Growing money shortages increase the demand for new, costly social programs. These are paid for by taxing the ever shrinking numbers of 'haves' to pay for the growing number of 'have-nots'. This fact is expressed daily in our growing concern over two questions: Why is everything getting so expensive? Where will we get the money to pay for all the things needed and the programs demanded? Working harder, faster, smarter, leaner, more efficiently and 'creating lower paying jobs' only shuffles existing money, it does not increase the money supply.

Horace Greely 1811-1872: "While boasting of our noble deeds, we are careful to control the ugly fact that by an iniquitous money system, we have nationalized a system of oppression which, though more refined, is not less cruel than the old system of chattel slavery."

If the money is issued by a privately owned corporation, its owners benefit by causing the money amount and its value to fluctuate and causing the people to go into debt and pay interest permanently through taxes. Under the present debt-usury system, the extra burden of usury forces workers and businesses to demand more money for the work and goods to pay their ever increasing debts and taxes. This increase, in prices and wages and taxes, is called "inflation". Illuminati Bankers, politicians and "economists" blame it on everything, but the real cause is the usury levied on money and debt by the Illuminati Bankers. This "inflation" benefits the money-lenders since it wipes out savings of one generation so they can not finance or help the next generation who must then borrow from the money-lenders and pay a large part of their life's labor to the usurer. With an adequate supply of interest-free money created by the sovereign Government, little borrowing would be required, and prices would be established by people and goods, and not by debts and usury.

The financial system that the World has evolved on is the privately owned Bank of England USURY model and it is not sustainable. It creates nearly all money as debt. Such money only exists as long as someone is willing and able to pay interest on it. It disappears, wholly or partially, in recurring financial crises. Such a system requires that new debt must be created faster than principal and interest payments fall due on old debt. A sustainable financial system would enable the real economy to be maintained decade after decade and century after century at its full employment potential without recurring inflation and recession. By this standard, a financial system that creates money only through the creation of debt is inherently unsustainable. When a bank makes a loan, the principal amount of the loan is added to the borrower's bank balance. The borrower, however, has promised to repay the loan plus interest even though the loan has created only the amount of money required to repay the principal-but not the amount of the interest. Therefore unless indebtedness continually grows it is impossible for all loans to be repaid as they come due. Furthermore, during the life of a loan some of the money will be saved and re-lent by individual bond purchasers, by savings banks, insurance companies etc. These loans do not create new money, but they do create debt. While we use only one mechanism-bank loans-to create money, we use several mechanisms to create debt, thus making it inevitable that debt will grow faster than the money with which to pay it. Recurring cycles of inflation, recession, and depression are a nearly inevitable consequence. If, in the attempt to arrest the price inflation resulting from an excessive rate of debt formation, the monetary authorities raise the rate of interest, the result is likely to be a financial panic. This in turn may result in a sharp cutback in borrowing. Monetary authorities respond to bail out the system by increasing bank reserves. Governments may also respond by increasing the public debt-risking both inflation and growing government deficits. Let's keep something in mind while reading this folks, increasing the money supply is not in and of itself a bad thing. However, the way the Fed does it is ridiculous. First of all every dollar introduced into the economy is based on debt! New money cannot be created unless new debt is created. Second of all, the Fed year after year increases the money supply greater than the output of the economy. Let's say the economy grows by 3% in one year. The money supply should then grow by 3% in order to not have deflation. Does the government increase the money supply by 3%? Nope, it increases the money supply by 4-6%. That extra 1-3% is money that comes right out of your monetary assets' purchasing power, a hidden tax. This is why there has been a total of 1500% inflation since the Federal Reserve was established in 1913. Keep in mind this is LONG TERM inflation I am talking about. Not short term inflation, which can be caused by market forces. I think short term inflation is a smokescreen for the cause of long term inflation as they can easily be confused by the common man.

Laurence Ball, assistant professor of economics at Princeton University and a visiting scholar in the Research Department of the Philadelphia Fed: "While economists disagree about many issues, there is near unanimity about this one: continuing inflation occurs when the rate of growth of the money supply consistently exceeds the rate of growth of output (of the economy)". From: What causes inflation? (<http://www.econ.ohio-state.edu/hine/line/econ520/ball.pdf>). Money loses its value when it is created and put into circulation (spent) faster than the growth in productivity in the local economy (versus just being created and held as a reserve).

This tells us that long term inflation can only be caused by one thing and one thing alone: increase of the money supply greater than the output of the economy. Who controls the money supply? The Federal Reserve of course, and therefore the Federal Reserve deliberately causes inflation every single year. Why? Simple, to insure that the banking industry makes billions of dollars a year off of money that they create from nothing. Laurence Ball of course goes on to say in his article that ending inflation would be bad because it would cause a recession. This is to be expected since he is in bed with the Fed so to speak as he is a "visiting scholar".

Alan Greenspan: "The abandonment of the gold standard made it possible for the welfare statists to use the banking system as a means to an unlimited expansion of credit.... In the absence of the gold standard, there is no way to protect savings from confiscation through inflation. There is no safe store of value.... Deficit spending is simply a scheme for the "hidden" confiscation of wealth.... [Gold] stands as a protector of property rights."

The central bank scam is really a hidden tax, but one that benefits private banks more than the government. The government sells bonds to pay for things for which the government does not have the political wisdom or will to raise taxes to pay. But about 10% of the bonds are purchased with money the central bank creates out of nothing. The government then spends this new money. Once deposited, private banks use these new deposits to create ten times as much in new fractional reserve loans. This provides the economy with the additional money needed to purchase the other 90% of the new bonds, without drying up capital markets and forcing up interest rates. By borrowing the money (i.e. selling new bonds), the government spreads the inflationary effects out over the term of the bonds. Thus there is little to no immediate inflation. More money in circulation makes your money worth less. The politicians get as much money as they want, and the people pay for it in inflation, which erodes the purchasing power of their savings, fixed income and wages. The perverse beauty of the plan is that not one person in a thousand can figure it out because it's deliberately hidden behind complex-sounding economics gibberish. The full effects of the inflation are only experienced much later - too late to stop.

With the formation of the Bank of England in 1694 (same thing happened with the formation of the Fed in 1913), the nation was soon awash in money. Prices throughout the country doubled. Massive loans were granted for just about any wild scheme. One venture proposed draining the Red Sea to recover gold supposedly lost when the Egyptian army drowned pursuing Moses and the Israelites. By 1698, just four years later, government debt had grown from the initial 1-1/4 million pounds to 16 million. Naturally, taxes were increased and then increased again to pay for all this. With the British money supply firmly in their grip, the British economy began a wild roller coaster series of booms and depressions exactly the sort of thing a central bank claims it is designed to prevent. The private Federal Reserve pretends to fight inflation whilst it is itself the cause of inflation! Even after this subtle change in currencies, the illusion still remained in society that hard work and productivity create money. This illusion is there because workers receive money in exchange for their labour or productivity. Money comes into our existence through our productivity, and thus it is easy to assume that is how money is created in the first place. Nothing is further from the truth. Hard work and productivity no longer have any direct link at all to creating money. They only move money around. Because of the way money is now created, money can no longer reflect the overall productivity of industries or countries. History demonstrates that bypassing the Central Banks and producing interest-free money according to need does not have to cause inflation. This is because it's not the source of needed money which is inflation's cause, but 'the way in' which it is produced and used and the interest that is paid on it to the private Central Bankers.

"In his book, "Rogue State: A Guide to the World's Only Superpower," William Blum warns of how the media will make anything that smacks of "conspiracy theory" an immediate "object of ridicule." This prevents the media from ever having to investigate the many strange interconnections among the ruling class -- for example, the relationship between the boards of directors of media giants, and the energy, banking and defense industries. These unmentionable topics are usually treated with what Blum calls "the media's most effective tool -- silence." But in case somebody's asking questions, all you have to do is say, "conspiracy theory," and any allegation instantly becomes too frivolous to merit serious attention."

Congressional records prove that FED bankers routinely hold secret meetings to profit by manipulating the stock market via interest rates and the amount of money they create. FED bankers also profit greatly from economic disasters like the Depression. The bankers create inflation, sell their stocks before the market crashes, then buy up stocks at cheaper prices. Bankers admitted this to Congress. This violates the law, yet Congress does not act because these bankers are large political contributors. Thomas Jefferson predicted this scenario if we ever allowed a private bank, like the FED, to create our currency. In order to clearly establish that this is not a conspiracy theory, but is actually how things are controlled, we further quote Charles Lindbergh (R-MN). From the house of representatives, Lindbergh was well placed to see exactly what was happening back then and continues to happen today: "To cause high prices all the Federal Reserve board will do will be to lower the re-discount rate..., producing an expansion of credit and a rising stock market; then when... business men are adjusted to these conditions, it can check... prosperity in mid-career by arbitrarily raising the rate of interest It can cause the pendulum of a rising and falling market to swing gently back and forth by slight changes in the discount rate, or cause violent fluctuations by greater rate variation, and in either case it will possess inside information as to financial conditions and advance knowledge of the coming change, either up or down. This is the strangest, most dangerous advantage ever placed in the hands of a special privilege class by any Government that ever existed. The system is private, conducted for the sole purpose of obtaining the greatest possible profits from the use of other people's money. They know in advance when to create panics to their advantage. They also know when to stop panic. Inflation and deflation work equally well for them when they control finance..."

"The major cause of inflation and the economic collapse was the deliberately created credit inflation by the 'privately-owned' Federal Reserve." [Equally deliberately used here by Nigel Lawson and the still privately owned and privately controlled Bank of England]

James Garfield became President in 1881 with a firm grasp of where the problem lay. "Whosoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce... And when you realise that the entire system is very easily controlled, one way or another, by a few powerful men at the top, you will not have to be told how periods of inflation and depression originate." Within weeks of releasing this statement President Garfield was assassinated.

Inflation is a hidden tax on financial assets. Under inflation, our government is the biggest winner. Not only is the Treasury's debt burden reduced, but inflation automatically raises taxes! This tax is paid by those unlucky investors, corporations, and foreign central banks that hold financial assets denominated in the currency that is inflating. After taxes on non-inflation adjusted capital gains because the cost basis of assets in the U.S. Tax Code is not indexed upwards for inflation, the investor actually lost money! Inflation is a silent, and extremely efficient, robber of value. If you own stocks, bonds, mutual funds, REIT's, or even cash, you'll pay an inflation tax. This tax is the result of the United States' Treasury spending far more than they collect in traditional taxes and issuing debt, which is then bought by the Federal Reserve. The Fed then prints up brand new fresh dollars, out of thin air, to finance the government spending that is not paid for by direct taxes. Since someone owns the existing financial assets, someone will have to pay the tax. The only way to avoid the inflation tax is to hold as much of one's wealth in non-financial assets, but this may be easier said than done. Unbeknownst to most investors, inflation also taxes financial instruments. Consider the poor soul who wants to save enough to buy bonds that will generate enough income for a comfortable retirement. When inflation really kicks in, this imaginary interest on bonds is simply compensation for the falling value of the dollar. On closer examination, to preserve one's capital in an inflationary environment, most of the interest earned must be reinvested or it will be inflated away. But don't forget that the IRS taxes the interest that is paid for the use of the money, as well as the interest that is paid to compensate for the principal that is being eaten up by inflation. Another example of principal being taxed is when you own an asset, for cash, that keeps increasing in value with inflation. After a number of years when that asset is sold, technically its real value has stayed the same. However, for tax purposes, the tax basis is on the original number of dollars paid. As an example, take a house. Years ago, the house cost $100,000. Inflation comes along and the general price lever doubles, the dollar falls in half, and now it takes $200,000 to buy the same house. When the house is sold, there is a "phony gain" of $100,000 upon which a tax is owed. It is fractional reserve banking which is the real cause of over 90% of all inflation. This "inflation" benefits the money-lenders since it wipes out savings of one generation so they can not finance or help the next generation who must then borrow from the money-lenders and pay a large part of their life's labor to the usurer. The bottom line is that large sums of money should not be kept in FRN (Federal Reserve Notes commonly known as US dollars) accounts, e.g. if one keeps his wealth in real-estate or gold, this will be a hedge against inflation. Note that the Banksters once in a while dump small amounts of gold into the market in order to bring down its value and reverse the migration from "fiat" currency to gold.

CCW explains that THE "DOLLAR" CANNOT BE 'BACKED' BY THE G.N.P.! If a farmer sold a Watermelon for one "dollar," the "dollar" the farmer holds would be 'backed' by the Watermelon he sold. If the buyer was to EAT the Watermelon, there would no longer be any 'backing' for THAT "dollar." Paper

"Dollars" which are "claims" on future production and services of others EXPROPRIATE THAT PRODUCTION upon ENTERING the economy. Since they are not 'warehouse receipts' there is NOTHING that can be brought INTO the economy by "dollar" redemption. The "dollars" accumulate and as the volume increases the exchange value of each unit decreases requiring more units per unit of production in exchanges. The volume forever increasing causes additional units to be bid per -unit of production which is referred to as "prices" RISING. "Prices" "rising" (INFLATION!) are proof that the increase in the volume of "money" is proceeding at a faster rate than the increase in production. The increase in the "money" volume is regulated by a 'reserve requirement' expressed as a percentage. A portion of that which was CREATED, BEFORE returning as "DEPOSITS" in the system is called "reserves." In order to prevent "prices" from "rising" too fast, the rules of the system specify that the creation of NEW "dollars" be in proportion to the "reserves."

The "reserves" being the portion of previous 'creations' that have not been used to bid up "prices" as yet, the difference between the VOLUME CREATED and the volume 'NOT YET USED' is the amount USED SO FAR! By basing NEW CREATION on the portion of old creation 'NOT USED YET' (reserves) the new creation can be kept PROPORTIONAL to the amount of previous creation BEING USED. That is how the 'reserve requirement' QUALIFIES as a regulating device. When the system was young, (1913--1930) the reserve requirement was high because the volume of accumulated "dollars" was low and the "interest" burden did not require large 'roll-over' borrowings. As the system progressed, large volumes of newly created "dollars" were needed to feed the "interest" burden of the accumulating mass, and the 'reserve requirements' were adjusted accordingly. Some "dollars" created on one day, as a multiple of the 'reserves' return on a subsequent day to be 'reserves' themselves, upon which the multiplier will be applied to justify creation of many more "dollars." The system generates its own procreative force "interest" and the 'reserve requirement' is simply adjusted downward to allow the creation of NEW "dollars" to accelerate. If the 'reserve requirement' were kept at a CONSTANT percentage the volume would still INCREASE at an ever INCREASING rate. The volume of "dollars" increasing over the many years has reached an accumulation with an "interest" burden that is greater than the total productive capacity of this nation is able to support. With income from production unable to support the "interest" burden, borrowers are forced to 'roll-over' (establish a new line of credit to pay off the old one). Rolling over debt does not eliminate debt; it is IMPOSSIBLE for anyone to BORROW themselves OUT of debt.

Creating more "money" faster to facilitate the 'rolling-over' of debt for some big borrowers like the Treasury, Ginnie May, Reits, etc. simply 'buys time' by postponing the immediate collapse by default, at the expense of shortening the time to the day, which will arrive, when the system cannot create "money" fast enough to accommodate ALL borrowers 'rolling-over.' As some borrowers are unable to 'roll-over' (restructure their debt) they default and go bankrupt. Businesses in operation for over one hundred years, collapse and CEASE operations. As more businesses fail and production drops further, the gap between "money" volume and production increases. As the volume of "money" increases and the volume of production falls, it causes PRESSURE on "prices" to "rise" ("dollars" to depreciate) and the 'reserve requirement' is powerless to prevent their "RISING" ("dollars" depreciating). As time passes the "prices" "rise" at a faster rate, businesses collapse at a faster rate, unemployment rises at a faster rate. "Prices" "rising" IS the purchasing power of the "money" falling, and when it falls far enough it becomes impractical to use. The numbers become too large for adding machines and calculators. "Prices" change so rapidly that Life Insurance becomes impractical. The 'face value' of a policy isn't enough to mail a letter just weeks after the policy is placed in force. Catalog "prices" must change so rapidly that a system of 'base prices' are used with a rapidly changing 'multiplier' which is adjusted daily. Eventually "prices" "rise" ("money" depreciates) so rapidly that it becomes totally impractical to use "money." People are forced to exchange things directly. A Baker refuses to sell bread, but will readily trade bread for flour, eggs, butter, or milk. Shortages and "prices" CHANGING too rapidly makes obtaining materials with "money" an almost impossibility and whether people believe it or not the collapse is REAL and they MUST acknowledge it by refusing to accept "money." THE PAPER "DOLLAR" WILL HAVE COLLAPSED!

I (Banklord) Promise To Pay (Nothing To) The Bearer On Demand

The following is stated on the private Federal Reserve Bank's note: "I promise to pay the bearer on demand the sum of.....". What that means is, the bank has pledged to the holder of that note, that on demand, they will give to the holder, the value stated on the note in gold or coinage. A bank note is merely an IOU. Therefore you are perfectly entitled to ask for your bank account's total value to be paid to you in gold or coinage - the only problem is, there is nowhere near enough gold or coinage in circulation to honor these pledges, and legislation now does not entitle you to do this anymore, which means in effect, the paper money is worthless (a lot more on this later). Here's what the Bank of England states about "I promise to pay the bearer on demand the sum of....."

Legal Tender and the Promise to Pay Legal Tender: The concept of legal tender is often misunderstood. Contrary to popular opinion, legal tender is not a means of payment that must be accepted by the parties to a transaction, but rather a legally defined means of payment that should not be refused by a creditor in satisfaction of a debt. The current series of Bank of England notes are legal tender in England and Wales, although not in Scotland or Northern Ireland, where the only currency carrying legal tender status for unlimited amounts is the one pound and two pound coins.

Promise to pay: The "...Promise to pay the bearer the sum of ..." on Bank of England notes has nothing to do with legal tender status. The promise to pay stands good for all time and means that the Bank will pay out the face value of any genuine Bank of England note no matter how old. The promise to pay also holds good for damaged notes, as long as enough of the note survives to prove that it was genuine and no previous claim for it has been received. The Bank's mutilated notes department receives some 25,000 claims a year for anything from fire or water damage to notes eaten by all manner of household pets.

Irving Fisher: "Thus, our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend, not money, but promises to supply money they do not possess." In fact, the Federal Reserve now promises to tax you and uses you as the collateral against which it issues the Federal Reserve Notes and cyber money which circulate in our economy like a hot potato!!!

There have been currency crises in 87 countries since 1975. Never in the history of the World have so many countries had such unstable banking systems. Fiat money has no intrinsic value; that indeed, is the definition of fiat money (and to be painfully clear here, we are talking about all money that is lent into existence or simply created by a "lender of last resort," without a sound commodity backing, which includes the Federal Reserve style fiat note and other banks' cyber money). Fiat money is a valueless medium of exchange, not a commodity. While a gold backed note can be redeemed for gold, a fiat currency can be redeemed for only more fiat money. To say then, that this fiat currency shall trade for another fiat currency, based on its "market value" which is zero may raise the eyebrows of certain skeptics. Money is now a commodity by edict or legislation. It was by this same strategy that Peter Pan was able to fly. The gold backed dollar was an example of a commodity backed currency. A gold note was redeemable with a certain specific amount of gold, so the note itself might be seen as a commodity. A hat check is a good analogy of a commodity backed currency; when you check your hat, the commodity, you get a hat-check ticket which is essentially a commodity backed note. You can trade the hat check (this analogy would work better if everyone wore identical hats) to someone else, thus spending it... or you can redeem it for a hat. When the government withdrew the backing for silver and gold notes it essentially said "you can't have your hat back; you can only spend your note now." Since most people never redeemed their notes for gold anyway, they didn't give it much thought but in the hat check analogy we can see that what the government has done by claiming that this newly irredeemable money is a commodity, is to say "the hat check, which earlier merely represented a hat, is now IN FACT a hat itself. You can wear the ticket on your head, hang it in your closet, or spend it as you please." Money is not a commodity, exchange rates are humbug, and the consequences for 87 countries have been severe.

Note that other banks can fail, but the privately owned Federal Reserve System bank cannot fail because a "run on the Fed" is not allowed, i.e. holders of the Federal Reserve Notes cannot come to the Fed and ask to have it exchanged for gold. However, the Fed can cause other banks, companies, business and governments to fail by refusing to issue credit or raising interest rates. The power of the private owners of the Federal Reserve System is projected onto the World scale with "The World Bank" (established in 1944).

Adventures of the Dollar, by Howard M. Wachtel, professor of economics at the American University, Washington, DC: "By the late 1970s, there was a huge increase in the dollars floating around the World economy - the rate of growth in dollars between 1973 and 1980 was 20 times the growth in volume of trade." Note that when countries and people decide not to hold the FRNs (Federal Reserve Notes US Dollars) and exchange them for US goods and services, a terrible inflation will ensue.

Bilderbergers Conspire Secretly

David Rockefeller: In Sand, Baden Baden, Germany, in June 1991, addressed a re-union of these three elites with largely overlapping membership: "We are grateful to the Washington Post, the New York Times, Time magazine and other great publications whose directors have attended our union and have respected their promises of discretion for almost four decades... it would not have been possible to develop our World project if we had been subjected to the full fire of publicity all these years. The supranational sovereignty of an intellectual élite and of World Bankers is surely preferable to the self-determination which has been practised for centuries past." This was at the Bilderberg Group meeting where politicians get their orders from the Illuminati Banksters, The Council on Foreign Relations, and the Trilateral Commission.

The Palace Hotel at the First Bilderberg Conference, Evian, 1954

Dr. Henry Kissinger, Bilderberger Conference, Evians, France, 1991: "Today, America would be outraged if U.N. troops entered Los Angeles to restore order [referring to the 1991 LA Riot]. Tomorrow they will be grateful! This is especially true if they were told that there were an outside threat from beyond [i.e., an "extraterrestrial" invasion], whether real or promulgated, that threatened our very existence. It is then that all peoples of the World will plead to deliver them from this evil. The one thing every man fears is the unknown. When presented with this scenario, individual rights will be willingly relinquished for the guarantee of their well-being granted to them by the World Government."

Above: First Bilderberg Club Meeting in Holland; Left: Bilderberg conference 2003: Versailles, Paris, France, 15th - 18th May.

Myron Fagan (1960s): "The idea was that those who direct the overall conspiracy could use the differences in those two so-called ideologies [Marxism/fascism/socialism v. democracy/capitalism/Fabianism] to enable them [the Illuminati] to divide larger and larger portions of the human race into opposing camps so that they could be armed and then brainwashed into fighting and destroying each other."

Congressman Oscar Callaway, 1917: "In March, 1915, the J.P. Morgan interests, the steel, shipbuilding, and powder interest, and their subsidiary organizations, got together 12 men high up in the newspaper World and employed them to select the most influential newspapers in the United States and sufficient number of them to control generally the policy of the daily press....They found it was only necessary to purchase the control of 25 of the greatest papers... An agreement was reached; the policy of the papers was bought, to be paid for by the month; an editor was furnished for each paper to properly supervise and edit information regarding the questions of preparedness, militarism, financial policies, and other things of national and international nature considered vital to the interests of the purchasers."

Below are some famous Bilderbergers (the Bilderberger agenda reflected first and foremost the interests of the one-World control of the usury, oil, industrial-military complex industries). You can listen to the BBC documentary on the Bilderberg (Tyrants') Club meeting in Versailles, France in 2003, although the reporter avoids digging too deep. Below is a picture of the First Bilderberg Club Meeting Hosted by the Monarchs of Holland in 1954. By the way, it was at the Bilderbergers 1996 meeting at a resort near Toronto (King City), that the fate of Kosovo was sealed, according to John Whiteley, a British-born political analyst and Bilderberger watcher who now makes his home in Toronto (S99-23, Day 10 Update 2 Item 3, Apr. 2). Apparently, Hillary Clinton attended the June 2006 Bilderberg meeting in Ottawa, Canada.

Strobe Talbot, President Clinton's Deputy Secretary of State, as quoted in Time, July 20th, 1992: "In the next century, nations as we know it will be obsolete; all states will recognize a single, global authority. National sovereignty wasn't such a great idea after all."

Experts, Economists, Media \(THE NEO-PRIESTS\) Mislead Us On The Globalized Economy

"The great struggle of history has been for the control over money. It is almost tautological to affirm that to control the production and distribution of money is to control the wealth, resources, and people of the World." — Jack Weatherford, anthropologist and author.[2]

"The control of money and credit strikes at the very heart of national sovereignty." — A.W. Clausen, President of Bank of America, in a response to the suggestion of a global central bank. [Clausen later became the President of the World Bank].[3]

"Once a nation parts with control of its currency and credit, it matters not who makes that nation's laws." — W.L. Mackenzie King, [former Prime Minister of Canada].

All of this brings up an interesting question: Does the World need a global central bank? If you want a single World currency, it requires an international banking structure armed with a monetary policy on a planetary scale. Essentially, the requirement for a single global currency is a bank that has power over all countries, kindred, and tongues. Former Canadian Member of Parliament, Paul Hellyer, criticized this development in 1994, saying that under such a global currency/banking system "the interests of citizens, of individual countries must be subordinate...to the interests of international finance." "...[countries] would no longer be able to pursue any kind of independent policy. Sovereignty over the most powerful of all economic tools would be turned to an international monster...A World bank run by a World kingship of international appointees collectively not accountable to anyone? Heavenly days!"

Richard Stimson (Playing with the Numbers: How So-called Experts Mislead us about the Economy" Westchester Press, 1999): "The trade deficits started modestly in 1975," and here are some late figures on the trade deficits: 1995 $180 Billion, 1996 $184 B, 1997 $198 B, 1998 $298 B, 1999 $372 B, 2000 $409 B, ...

This is financed by printing Federal Reserve dollars or issuing US Dollar accounts which other countries are willing to hold in their reserves. To date the US has now bought a modest 15 trillion dollars worth of the World's finest commodities with money conjured up with the help of a magic wand, i.e. created from nothing by the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank.

Nowadays the US is buying the globe at the rate of over a billion dollars a day. And the best part is that you can conjure up and lend US dollars from nothing, but you get paid back in uranium, gold, diamonds, copper, oil, grains, vegetables... all sorts of nice things. The question remains unanswered: why do other countries fall for this stuff? This link may help explain things: In Focus: Multilateral Debt Burden by Soren Ambrose "Key Point: The IMF and the World Bank are 'preferred creditors' who gain power over impoverished countries as the amounts owed to them increase." (Also, see: Predatory Lending above) And what will happen when the poor suckers figure it out? Well, then we go to Plan B: Star Wars. "The U.S. Space Command, set up by the Pentagon in 1985, describes itself in 'Vision for 2020' this way: 'US Space Command dominating the space dimension of military operations to protect US interests and investment.'" You gotta love that word "investments." From Karl Grossman, professor of journalism at the State University of New York College In the past 30 years the US has bombed or attacked Syria, Lebanon, Nicaragua, Sudan, Korea, Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Iraq, Guatemala, Japan, East Timor, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Colombia, Dominican Republic, Somalia, Haiti, Yugoslavia, Panama, Afghanistan, etc.. What do these countries have in common? They are all non-members of the World Trade Organization. Since the invention of the WTO only Japan has joined willingly; the South American countries have been "persuaded" by friends such as Mr. Pinochet. As Gore Vidal observed: "The United States is always at war; perpetual war for perpetual peace." And it looks like the wars of the future will be fought against non-WTO members. Poor countries producing commodities cannot possibly compete against rich countries producing credit money.

Alan Greenspan, 17 February 2000 Congressional testimony: "... We have a problem trying to define exactly what money is...the current definition of money is not sufficient to give us a good means for controlling the money supply..."

At the CREATION level, where money first comes into existence, there are two main types of currencies:

- COMMODITY BACKED MONEY (e.g. gold note)
- CREDIT BACKED MONEY (i.e. home loan)
- There is also the CIRCULATION level, checks, coins, notes, digital transfers etc. This paper does not deal with them because they are less relevant forms for moving money born at the CREATION level.

Commodity money is backed by, guess what?, commodities; it is redeemable, by the issuer for commodities. The model for commodity money is the IOU which is also redeemable by the issuer. Credit Backed money or debt-base money is created from nothing and is a commodity substitute, an IOU but more like a prepaid-rain-check redeemable sometime in the more distant future with something that doesn't exist yet, won't exist for quite some time, is less well defined and has more loopholes. As you get up to speed here you will come to realize that virtually all of our money today is credit money, and commodity money has been abandoned. Here's how. When Smith lends a bushel of corn to Jones, Jones gives an IOU to Smith. However, when the Bank lends money to Jones for a house, the Bank gives an IOU to Jones because the bank creates the money out of nothing, i.e. the Bank's note does not represent a commodity but if Smith is not willing to accept Jones' IOU, then Jones has to go to the Bank because Smith must accept the Bank's IOU Federal Reserve Note by the power of fraudulent legislation, i.e. "THIS NOTE IS LEGAL TENDER FOR ALL DEBTS, PUBLIC AND PRIVATE." Is written on the privately issued Federal Reserve Note that you have in your pocket, a.k.a. US paper currency. When Jones pays off his loan, the Bank un-creates the money. The bank's money is an IOU that is not redeemable by the Bank, i.e. the Bank's IOU or Federal Reserve Note must be passed from person to person like a hot potato or returned to the Bank to satisfy the debt.

If Alan Greenspan doesn't know what money is, this is a likely cause: his money never had a definition to start with. People are local, communities are local, crops are local, rivers are local, lakes are local, the climate is local, mineral deposits are local, forests are local, and even the oceans are local, as you might find if you compare swimming in the Caribbean to swimming in the Antarctic. Only corporations, it seems, are global. Commodities vary from one region to the next. In the tropics they grow bananas and coconuts. In the mountains, coffee. Some regions have mineral deposits or fish and others do not. Each region has its own set of commodities. It should be clear then that, if commodities are local, and if Real Money is commodities, then Real Money is obviously local.

By extension then all legitimate currencies have to be local. Talk of an international currency is subversive imperialist talk. Globalization may have its homogenizing effects and you may find Nike-wearing computer hackers from Argentina to the Netherlands, but climate is local and crops and mineral deposits will always be local. And money is local. If the present system is left in place, the US will end up with one region and that will look like New York City. Already the east coast of the US has merged into one large city and the west coast is going the same way. When the Local quality of money is not respected, large metropolitan areas will inevitably colonize and degrade or destroy outlying territories. When you see a flock of Wal-Marts in Britain or a Red Lobster in Zimbabwe, that's the first sign of infection. That is because areas like New York who produce nothing but money and consume everything else, create more (credit) money than the surrounding areas, so colonization such as they have done in Atlantic City, Miami, and Key West to mention just a few, becomes irresistible. When New York investors focused on Atlantic City for example, they created a boom which Americans are inclined to believe is good, but when the investors pulled out they left the town to decay, leaving hundreds of acres of rotting housing and hotels for the locals to deal with. They did not return the property to its pristine state before they left. For more on this, see "Money is Local". A national mutual credit system could prevent the economic colonization and destruction of communities, as well as the economic subjugation mentioned above, where outsiders such as Mr. Dubya, decide school policies for areas where he does not live and will never have to send his kids. All money is not equal. The money has its highest value at the time it's created by the Federal Reserve Bank and lent to the Government. As the Government starts spending this money, its value slowly decreases. A one dollar Federal Reserve Note issued in 1913 could buy a lot more than what it can buy today. On the other hand, a 1913 gold coin can buy about the same commodities now as in 1913 or as in ancient Rome! In 1913, Congress passed the Federal Reserve Act creating our central bank. Most Americans don't know that this organization is a private corporation established to control America's monetary system through the banking industry.

In the last several years, our privately owned central bank has helped to push through two major pieces of legislation expanding its power over not only the banking system, but the stock market, insurance and real estate industries as well. Let me explain. When the stock market crashed in 1929, Congress passed the Glass-Steagall Act separating the commercial activities of banks (savings, checking, deposits and loans) from that of investment banks that bring new stocks and bonds to market, offering them to investor through their in-house stockbrokers. The Federal Reserve worked very hard with the Clinton Administration to pass the Banking Modernization Act in 1999 which erased the Glass-Steagall Act of 1929. Furthermore this law expanded the functions of commercial banks to not only syndicate securities but to also sell both personal and commercial insurance as well as real estate, thus creating what is termed, "financial conglomerates." Now let's understand what really took place. When Congress passed the Federal Reserve Act in 1913, this private group of bankers only got control of our monetary system via the banking system. They did not have control over the insurance industry and stock markets. By passing the Banking Modernization Act 86 years later, they now have control over ALL of these areas worth trillions of dollars. That same year, Congress also passed the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act with very little fanfare. Former Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin, now a co-Chairman at Citigroup which is a financial conglomerate, praised this bill as being necessary and critical. What it really did was amend key banking laws such as the Banking Act of 1933, the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956, the Federal Deposit Institutions Act, the Community Reinvestment Act of 1977 and the International Banking Act of 1978 to substitute the Federal Reserve as being responsible for our financial system instead of Congress! The permanent financial revolution that has been waged in America has been without opposition because with very little or misleading explanation from the main stream press.

Brief History of Wars & Crimes Over the Control of The Private Issue Of Money

Most people don't realize that now-a-days the issuing of money is essentially a private business, and that the privilege of issuing money has been a major bone of contention throughout history over which major wars have been and are being fought, over which major crimes have been and are being committed, and over which many nations were destroyed, Kings, Queens, Monarchs, Emperors, Tsars and families like the Kennedys and the Gandhis (in addition to not allowing foreign banks, Mahatma Gandhi said Nov. 26, 1938 "Let the Jews, who claim to be the chosen race, prove their title by choosing the way of non-violence for vindicating their position on earth"), Popes, judges, lawyers, politicians and six or seven US Presidents were assassinated (William Henry Harrison, poisoned, in 1841, Zachary Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and John F. Kennedy 1963; 7 if you count FDR another suspicious poisoning)! And remember, the best way to control a population is through continuous wars.

What are some of the forerunners to the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank?

"Bank" of Rome Headquarters in Vatican City right in front of an Occult obelisk!

Well, the ancient Pharisees (the priest-bankers-usurers who worked from the Temple in Jerusalem) who mislead ordinary Jews, Babylonians, Romans and Greeks had similar banking activities. At that time, the sacred temples, whether Jewish or Pagan Sun-god, were the most popular place of banking operations but did not monopolize it totally. The financial activities like accepting deposits giving loans, checking and exchanging money and making remittances between different cities, to minimize the risk of carrying money were being carried out during 4th Century B.C. The Romans served their apprenticeship in the art of banking under the Greeks and altogether changed the banking procedure in most of the ancient World along with the expansion of their influence.

Although Nimrod was the first Priest-Banker, the first Mother of All Banks was founded (the second one being the B.I.S. created in 1930, Basel, Switzerland as mentioned previously) in 45 A.C. as The "Bank" of Rome in Vatican City by Simon Magnus "the (Pharisaic) Sorcerer" when he emigrated from Jerusalem to Rome after his rebuke by Peter whom Simon tried to bribe!! When he arrived in Rome during the reign of Emperor Claudius, that city was the USURY capital of the World. A few rich families controlled all the wealth, and just like the U.S. today, these super-rich monopoly capitalists (to the Illuminati, competition is a sin, that's why they like large centralized private banks and their other businesses) owned and controlled the government. Let's not forget that THEY implemented the law of tithe and it was not Yashua-Joshua-Jesus or anyone else... the love of money is the root of all evil, and the Roman Elites have always loved their money. Simon beguiled the Romans as he beguiled the Samaritans. He was honoured as a god in Rome and a statue was erected in his honor. In other words, it is true that all the roads of money lead to Rome!!! More details later.

Another city that would play a major part in being a financial choke point for the World was established as The city of Londinium (The Crown) by the Romans on the north bank of the River Thames in around 50 AC. To this day, the financial square mile is run by the Bank of England (remember Bank Street), Vatican City type status. In a much delayed revenge, the Imperialists under Charles V, sacked the city of Rome in 1527 and stole most of the gold from the Bank of Rome. The city was defended by Swiss mercenaries and as a result they were commissioned to guard the "Bank of Rome". After the sacking of Rome, the "Bank of Rome" decided to store their gold and silver in Switzerland as a precaution against another repeat of the sack of 1527 (since then, Switzerland has become a neutral zone for the World's dirty business). After the establishment of the Jesuits by Pope Paul III in 1527, all the Roman Catholic universities throughout Europe were thrown open and they were given carte blanche to recruit the sharpest brains in order to stop Rome's financial hemorrhage. The newly formed Jesuits were particularly ruthless in the field of "education" and the Counter-Reformation led by Lieola quickly moved to dominate all the schools and colleges in Europe. This "new learning" soon discovered that aside from direct warfare and brutal conquest (sounds like what Bush, Sharon & Company are doing now) nothing could replace the millennia old USURY as a destroyer of freedom-loving nations. This is subsequently referred to as "the conspiracy theory" whose recent roots are in Europe and whose ancient roots are in Babylon, Egypt, Jerusalem and Rome. Remember Rome's conquests, B.C. & A.C., were up to England, Egypt, Jerusalem, Babylon and Arabia, Western Europe, Turkey, Persia; Rome was the center of usury banking, wealth and empire! It was at that time that the Jesuits started a comeback under Ignatius LIEola who reorganized the Bank of Rome before Pope Paul III in 1540. See the Jesuits' Insignia HIS (Isis-Horus-Seb, the ancient occult trinity).

England's King Edward VI (1547-1553) outlawed usury by Parliamentary decree. You can be sure that his reign was cut short because he opposed the moneylenders. The moneylenders persevered and the anti-usury law was eventually repealed. The clear teaching of Scripture on usury was undermined among the Christians, just like Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus' teaching about the evils of the Pharisees. The reorganized Bank of Rome soon began to start branch offices in various cities: Venice in 1587, the Wisselbank in Amsterdam in 1609, Hamburg 1619, Nuremberg 1621, Rotterdam 1635 and last but not least, this opened the door to establish the privately owned Bank of England which was incorporated on July 27th, 1694, as a private joint-stock association, with a capital of £1.2 million. In return for the loan of its entire capital to the government it received the right to issue notes and a monopoly on corporate banking in England. Of course they only lent the principal so the interest would keep accumulating as compound interest. Money to pay the interest is not created. Since the loans can NEVER be repayed with money, the moneylenders have complete control of the government and people, and in due time, will obtain ownership of all natural resources, i.e. a return to serfdom and slavery, unless the bankers create the money and spend it (i.e. they get something for nothing), i.e. we are perpetually working for the bankers.

Leon N. Tolstoy: "Money is a new form of slavery, and distinguishable from the old simply by the fact that it is impersonal -- that there is no human relation between master and slave." More details later in this book.

WILLIAM CORBETT: (In Advice to Young Men, 1, 1829): "The power which money gives is that of brute force; it is the power of the bludgeon and the bayonet."

SOPHOCLES (Atigone, c. 450 B.C.): "Money lays waste cities; It sets men to roaming from home. It seduces and corrupts honest men and turns virtue to baseness; It teaches villainy and impiety."

Many are not aware of the permanent financial revolution that is being fought over the World's monetary system since 1694 when the Bank of England was created and almost immediately started to issue notes in return for deposits. The crucial feature that made Bank of England notes a means of exchange was the promise to pay the bearer the sum of the note on demand. This meant that the note could be redeemed at the Bank for gold or coinage by anyone presenting it for payment. These notes were handwritten on Bank paper and signed by one of the Bank's cashiers. They were made out for the precise sum deposited in pounds, shillings and pence.

It's interesting to note that during the 119 year period from the founding of the Bank of England to Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo, England had been at war for 56 years, while the rest of the time preparing for it. In the process the owners of the Bank of England had been getting immensely rich. After the Battle of Waterloo, the Rothschilds managed to take ownership of the Bank of England from its former private owners. During the 18th century there was a gradual move toward fixed denomination notes which by 1745 were being part printed in denominations ranging from £20 to £1,000. In the latter half of the century gold shortages caused by war and revolution led to the production of £10, £5, £2 and £1 notes. The first fully printed notes appeared in 1855 relieving the cashiers of the task of filling in the name of the payee and signing each note individually. The phrasing "I promise to pay the bearer on demand the sum of ..." was introduced at this time and remains to this day. In 1833 the Bank's notes were made legal tender for all sums above £5 in England and Wales.

Remember the British Opium wars against China so that the Brit elites would get a piece of the opium pie? Now you can understand why the CIA facilitates the drug trade (code name Octopus), why Noriega was nearly "put on ice" because he wanted too big a piece of the drug pie (by the way, over 400 civilians were mass graved and several city blocks were destroyed by the Bush armed forces to arrest Noriega!, and guess what, drug trafficking has increased since his arrest, a bit like drug trafficking has increased since the slaughter of the Taliban, get the picture?), the history of the Bush family crimes, Clinton's Mena Affair, the role of the Venice Florida Airport, and LAPD officer Michael Ruppert's 1996 accusations against CIA Director John Deutch about drug trafficking, etc. (full details on the CD and in later sections). Europe, towards the end of the eighteenth century or at the time of the American Revolution, was very different from what we know today. It was composed of a combination of large and small kingdoms, duchies and states which were constantly engaged in squabbles among themselves (a good movie to understand the ugliness of those days is "Timeline"). Most people were reduced to the level of serfs - with no political rights (since ancient times, the elites have developed and evolved systems for controlling and ripping-off the masses whom they view as slaves, serfs, knaves, peasants, etc. in order to live like gods on Mount Olympus!). Remember, its only recently that the European, Russian, American serfs were freed from bondage and that slavery was outlawed!!). The meager 'privileges' that were granted to them by their 'owners' could be withdrawn at a moment's notice. Americans wanted to escape from the European serfdom structure. As we will see, Americans succeeded for a while although Natives and Blacks were enslaved; however the Illuminati now have regained control of America, from the land of the free and the brave to the land of the greedy and their slaves.

Benjamin Franklin: "The refusal of King George to operate an honest colonial money system which freed the ordinary man from the clutches of the manipulators was probably the prime cause of the Revolution." "The Colonies would gladly have borne the little tax on tea and other matters, had it not been that England took away from the Colonies their money, which created unemployment and dis-satisfaction." "Bulletin", February 1989-November 1991 issues, Box 986, Ft. Collins, CO 80522.

It was during the late 1700s that a young man appeared on the European scene who was to have a tremendous impact on the future course of World history; his name was Mayer Amschel Bauer later changed to Rothschild, the banking power to be feared in Europe as we will see later.

Mayer Amschel Bauer was born in Frankfurt-On-The-Main in Germany in 1743. He was the son of Moses Amschel Bauer, an itinerant money lender and goldsmith who, tiring of his wanderings in Eastern Europe, decided to settle down in the city where his first son was born. He opened a shop, or counting house, on Judenstrasse (or Jew Street in English). Over the door leading into the shop he placed a large Red Shield (Roth Schild in German) with a Roman Eagle and Hexagram (symbol of Masonry as on the Israeli flag). In later years his name, which he had changed to Rothschild (red shield), became synonymous with wealth, power and influence. He was the first of the Rothschilds - the first truly international banker! The Rothschild grew to dominate trans-Atlantic banking and now with their surrogates such as the Rockefeller Dynasty, the Bush Dynasty, the House of Windsor Dynasty, and others, control World Finances and thus World affairs, wars, monopolies, etc.

Prior to the American Revolution, most nations were ruled by a single Power Group composed of those with money enough to buy war lords and religious and political ideologues and with knowledge of how to manipulate the people. There were no countervailing power groups to fight against the monolithic cabals. The American Revolution was supposed to result in the creation of a republican form of democracy, with the various branches of government providing countervailing powers. However, the leaders of the clandestine 1787 Constitutional Congress concocted a flawed Constitution which made it possible for a plutocratic minority to seize all the reins of power.

John C. Miller. (In a 1943 book). Origins of the American Revolution: "[The Framers of the Constitution] . . . had no wish to usher in democracy in the United States. They were not making war upon the principle of aristocracy and they had no more intention than had the Tories of destroying the tradition of upper-class leadership in the colonies. Although they hoped to turn the Tories out of office, they did not propose to open these lush pastures to the common herd. They did believe, however, that the common people, if properly bridled and reined, might be made allies in the work of freeing the colonies from British rule and that they--the gentry--might reap the benefits without interference. They expected, in other words, to achieve a 'safe and sane' revolution of gentlemen, by gentlemen, and for gentlemen." (Forget about government of the people, by the people and for the people!)

President George Washington, 1785: in a letter written to the Reverend G. W. Snyder: "Reverend, Sir, it was not my intention to doubt that the doctrine of the Illuminati -- the principles [masqueraded as] of Jacobinism [Israelinism; Israel is the other name of Prophet Jacob] -- had not spread in the United States. On the contrary, no one is more satisfied of this fact than I am." Shortly before he died, President Washington was well aware that the Adam Weishaupt radical brand of Masonry (contraction of the French words "frere mason"; in secret societies, members ascend to higher degrees by proving they can keep secrets, by performing rituals and by various tests of merits which become progressively harder until a Mason reaches the 33rd degree grand-master), the Illuminati, had spread its poison to America. "They work more effectively against us, than the enemy's armies. They are a hundred times more dangerous to our liberties and the great cause we are engaged in ... It is much to be lamented that each state, long ago, has not hunted them down as pests to society and the greatest enemies we have to the happiness of America." -- George Washington, America's first President, Maxims of George Washington by A. A. Appleton & Co.

Shortly before his death, John Marshall, the great Chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, wrote: "The institution of Masonry ought to be abandoned, as one capable of producing much evil, and incapable of producing any good which might not be affected by open means." Marshall was himself a famous Mason and had assisted in the establishment of two Lodges in Virginia.

Rev. Charles G. Finney, the great nineteenth century evangelist and longtime president of Oberlin College writes a book exposing Masonry: Pg.1 "I know something about it, for I have been a Mason myself." Pg. 8 "I came to the deliberate conclusion, and could not avoid doing so, that my oaths had been procured by fraud and misrepresentations, and that the institution was in no respect what I had been previously informed it was. And, as I have had the means of examining it more thoroughly, it has become more and more irresistibly plain to my convictions that the institution is highly dangerous to the State, and in every way injurious to the Church of Christ."

After years of agitation and maneuvering and manipulation by the trans-Atlantic Rothschild cabal, finally in 1791, Congress was induced to pass a law, after long debate and strong opposition, chartering the private bank modeled on the private Bank of England called the "First Bank of the United States." This marked the beginning of our money being "switched" from wealth of the State & People to debt owed to private banks. The first United States Bank was strongly opposed by both Edmund Randolph, the Attorney General of the United States, and the Secretary of State, Thomas Jefferson. Note here that the identical tactics that were used with the establishing and naming of the Bank of England were again used, namely - the naming of the new bank the "Bank of the United States;" making it appear to be, without saying so, a bank owned by the government, that, of course, giving it the advantage of the prestige of the government, and the belief of the people of its consequent safety for the money they were to deposit in it. More deception and make believe? Certainly, and as before mentioned, these are two of the main "stocks in trade" of the "money changers" or usurers. It is most unbelievable, even at this date, to find the vast number of people here in the United States actually believing, and who will argue for hours that the federal Reserve Banks are "owned" by the "Government." Such, of course, is not true, as they are owned by private interests as was the Bank of the United States in 1791.

Thomas Jefferson gave the following warning in 1799, which seems to have been ignored: "Single acts of tyranny may be ascribed to the accidental opinion of a day, but a series of oppressions, begun at a distinguished period, unalterable through every change of ministers, too plainly prove a deliberate, systematic plan of reducing us to slavery."

Note that in 1810, the US Senate passed the proposed 13th Amendment barring "Titles of Nobility" and prohibiting serfdom and slavery. The Amendment was sent to the States for ratification in 1811, but the Nobility managed to launch the War of 1812 and the proposed 13th Amendment became a casualty of the war. It was finally passed in 1865. <http://www.amendment-13.org/>

President Andrew Jackson stated in reference to the trans-Atlantic Illuminati Bankers at the state of his administration in 1832: "You are a den of vipers and thieves. I intend to rout you out, and by the Eternal God, I will rout you out." (Yashua-Joshua-Jesus had similar words for the Pharisee Temple money changers as we will see later). "It is not our own citizens only who are to receive the bounty of our government. More than eight millions of the stock of this bank are held by foreigners... is there no danger to our liberty and independence in a bank that in its nature has so little to bind it to our country?... Controlling our currency, receiving our public moneys, and holding thousands of our citizens in dependence... would be more formidable and dangerous than a military power of the enemy. If government would confine itself to equal protection, and, as Heaven does its rains, shower its favour alike on the high and the low, the rich and the poor, it would be an unqualified blessing. In the act before me there seems to be a wide and unnecessary departure from these just principles."

Grand Duke Alexander was the nephew of Russian Emperor Alexander II. This was the Emperor that freed the Russian serfs (slaves) in 1861. He sent the Russian Navy to New York, Virginia and San Francisco in 1863 and their presence was a warning to France and Great Britain to stay out of the American Civil War. In 1867, he sold Alaska to the U.S. for the measly sum of $7.2 million dollars. For freeing the serfs and saving the American Union, Emperor Alexander was killed by a European Rothschild Jesuit assassin in 1881. The Illuminati Rockefeller (Roggenfelders in German) dynasty built its first oil refinery in 1863, President Lincoln was assassinated in 1865, and their Standard Oil Company (monopoly) was formed in 1870. The European Illuminati kept plotting to get a stranglehold on America. The foundations of the Round Table Society, eventually to be funded by Cecil Rhodes (Rhodesia was named after Rhodes, a land monopolizer enslaver) and the Rothschilds, were laid at an 1891 meeting of representatives from US, Great Britain, Canada, Australia, India, South Africa, and New Zealand.

American Bankers Association as printed in the Congressional Record of April 29, 1913 for 1891: "On Sept 1st, 1894, we will not renew our loans under any consideration. On Sept 1st we will demand our money. We will foreclose and become mortgagees in possession. We can take two-thirds of the farms west of the Mississippi and thousands of them east of the Mississippi as well, at our own price... Then the farmers will become tenants as in England..."

In 1899, a trans-Atlantic meeting was held in England between the Rothschilds, J.P. Morgan, and the Warburgs (all immigrants from Germany's Zionist families like Bush-Bosch and the House of Windsor Mountbatten-Battenburg & Saxe-Coburg-Gothas and future owners of the private Federal Reserve Bank, just like the Rockefellers, etc. the 4th Reich Team, Bush, Rumsfeld, Clintons, the Nazis that were brought into the CIA, etc.). Along with the Rockefeller interests, we have the Morgan, Brown, Rothschild, Du Pont, Harriman (railroads monopolizer along with Vanderbilt), Kuhn-Loeb interests. Max Warburg, manager of the powerful Warburg Bank, Hamburg, Germany, assigned his brother Paul Moritz Warburg to the United States, c.1900, to supervise the establishment of a Rothschild central-bank. He was successful. The unconstitutional Federal Reserve Act (1913) was passed by an inept and corrupt Congress. Rothschild previously had created the ILLUMINATI, a secret organization whose top management is composed of Zionist Bankers. Its Goal is to create One World ZIONIST Government (see: <http://www.holywesternempire.org>). Placing Europe and America in economic slavery was one means toward that end (and now the rest of the World). Periodic wars kept the population lean and Zionist purses fat.

"Let me issue and control a Nation's money and I care not who makes its laws": Meyer Amschel Rothschild.

Following the devastating losses of about 90 million gentiles in WW1, Communist purges, and WW2, and the triumph of International Zionism, James Warburg, Paul Warburg's son, was called upon to testify, 1950, before a Senate Hearing. Congress was aware finally that America had been duped into WW2; that Zionism was the lone victor. Senators' questions elicited this response from James Warburg:

"WE shall have World Government whether or not we like it. The question is only whether World Government will be achieved by consent or by conquest": James Warburg.

In 2006 ALL is painfully clear. Warburg's threats are now reality. America is no longer a sovereign nation. Her real-estate is secured by International Bankers who hold the paper on America's incredible debt. The machinery of government is run by the Zionist Cabal. This tragedy would never have occurred had not traitors within the United States government allowed the gradual dismemberment of the elements that compose America's freedom. Today, even the most ignorant can discern the Illuminati's historic modus operandi: Destroy the host-country's Culture through deception, treason, and war. Divide-and-conquer. Now we see how neatly 9-11, an inside job, became the 21st c. Lusitania, whereby a Zionist Cabal inspired war was created in the mid-East to absorb our military. Exactly what Warburg had in mind when he threatened "by consent or by conquest." Many traitors who created this tragedy continue to hold sensitive positions within the United States government and within the international business community. They intend to achieve the Illuminati goal.

Back in 1900, Adolf Lanz founded the Masonic Order of the New Templars (note that if one studies the murders of many important politicians and journalists, a trace of Masonic ritual principles such as sacrifice, time, place, numerology, style, etc. can be detected). President McKinley was assassinated by Leon Czolgosz in 1901. The Illuminati created the Panic of 1907 with the collapse of the U.S. stock market. Financial panic and depression were caused by J.P. Morgan to gain support for the centralized banking concept and to pave the way for the creation of the private central bank known fraudulently as "The Federal Reserve". The Round Table Group was formed in 1909 along with the revival of the ancient Rosicrucians and the Masonic "mountaintop revelations" to Allister Crowley. A secret meeting of Illuminati Bankers and Politicians was held at Jekyll Island, Georgia in 1910 to plot the final series of events that would facilitate the passage of the Federal Reserve Act and creation of the private Federal Reserve central bank. The not-so-bright President Woodrow Wilson was inaugurated as the 28th President of The United States in 1913. Wilson had been indoctrinated by Baruch, a representative of the banking dynasties. James Perloff said: "Baruch brought Wilson to the Democratic Party headquarters in New York in 1912, leading him like one would a poodle on a string. Wilson received an indoctrination course from the leaders convened there..."

Paul Warburg on the Aldrich Bill and the Glass-Owen Bill for the Federal Reserve Act: "Brushing aside the external differences affecting the shells, we find the kernels of the two systems very closely resembling and related to one another".

Frank Vanderlip: "Although the Aldrich Federal Reserve plan was defeated when it bore the name Aldrich, nevertheless, its essential points were all contained in the plan that finally was adopted."

Alfred Crozier, Ohio Attorney: "The... bill grants just what Wall Street and the big banks for twenty-five years have been striving for – private instead of public control of currency. It [the Glass-Owen bill] does this as completely as the Aldrich Bill. Both measures rob the government and the people of all effective control over the public's money, and vest in the banks exclusively the dangerous power to make money among the people scarce or plenty."

Rep. Louis McFadden (D- PA 1933): "The Aldrich Bill was condemned in the platform... when President Woodrow Wilson was nominated.... The men who ruled the Democratic party promised the people that if they were returned to power, there would be no central bank established here while they held the reigns of government. Thirteen months later, this promise was broken, and the Wilson administration, under the tutelage of those sinister Wall Street figures who stood behind [the fake] Colonel House, established here in our free country the worm-eaten monarchical institution of the king's bank to control us from the top downward, and to shackle us from the cradle to the grave".

The Illuminati scheming finally culminated in 1913 with the passing of the Federal Reserve Act (learn the details about how this came to pass in a later section where G. Edward Griffin explains its history in great detail in a lecture; the audio of the 1995 lecture is available on the CD) which gave these Illuminati dynasties a banking monopoly over the issuance of money in the United States. Congressman Charles Lindbergh put his finger firmly on the truth when he stated, just after the 'Federal' Reserve Act was passed by a depleted Congress on December 23rd 1913: "The Act establishes the most gigantic trust on earth. When the President [Wilson] signs this Bill, the invisible government of the monetary power will be legalized....The worst legislative crime of the ages is perpetrated by this banking [and currency bill]." Just before the Federal Reserve Act was passed in December 1913, the 16th Amendment legalizing income tax was passed but according to some it was not ratified by the required number of states to become law. This bill was required to pay the bankers the interest they would charge under the Federal Reserve Act.

President Woodrow Wilson, repenting, following the fraudulent establishment of the privately owned Federal Reserve System with the 1913 Federal Reserve Act said: "We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the World - no longer a Government of free opinion, no longer a Government by conviction and vote of the majority, but a Government by the opinion and duress of small groups of dominant men." The three people who passed the Federal Reserve Act in 1913, knew exactly what they were doing when they set up this private bank, modeled on the Bank of England and the fact that THE BANK OF ENGLAND had been operating independently unopposed since 1694 must have given them a great deal of confidence indeed. After the Battle of Waterloo, the Rothschilds managed to take ownership of the Bank of England from its former private owners.

With this fraudulent ACT, it was necessary for the Illuminati to intensify and further develop their continuing control over people's money, politicians, judges, the major news media, education, and ensure that there is an appearance of a slightly superior standard of living in the United States compared to the rest of the World by ensuring that the third World nations are controlled via the CIA into a corrupt state of exploitation, to flood people with diversions, etc. This has been done with the immense wealth they generate from the Federal Reserve System and the World Bank's activities. The FED owners have become immensely wealthy by creating money out of nothing and lending it to the tax payers World-wide. Certain elements in the FBI are tasked to ensure that any local patriot militias are managed and certain elements in the CIA are tasked to ensure that the wealth of the rest of the World flows into Wall Street. If these measures fail in their roles of making the World safe for the growing wealth of the Illuminati banking dynasties, then the National Guard and the Armed Forces are called into action.

FED Chairman Burns stated "Killing can be made simply by knowing the next few months newspapers ahead of time."

Congressman Patman said: "The FED officials own more than 100 million dollars (of stocks) while making decisions influencing these stock prices..." (Reference 24, P. 123).

Income \(SLAVE\) Tax System to Get Our Private Info & Pay Interest Banksters' Feudal Tithe

The Income Tax is one of the Feudal Banking monopolists' frauds. So, in 1913, the 16th Amendment was introduced to force income taxes onto Americans to pay the interest on the credit money (created from nothing by the Banksters using our person and future persons as collateral without our consent) borrowed from the newly created Federal Reserve Banks. From John Locke, "A Treatise Concerning Civil Government": "every Man has a Property in his own Person. This no Body has any Right to but himself. The Labour of his Body, and the Work of his Hands, we may say, are properly his. The great and chief end therefore, of Mens uniting into Commonwealths, and putting themselves under Government, is the Preservation of their Property."

The IRS is a Trust Headquartered in Puerto Rico Not a Federal Agency The IRS is technically not an "agency" of the federal government, as that term is defined in the Freedom of Information Act and in the Administrative Procedures Act. The governments of the federal territories are expressly excluded from the definition of "agency" in those Acts of Congress. See 5 U.S.C. 551\(1\)\(C\). All evidence indicates that they are a money laundry, extortion racket, and conspiracy to engage in a pattern of racketeering activity, in violation of 18 U.S.C. 1951 and 1961 et seq. They appear to be laundering huge sums of money into foreign banks, mostly in Europe, and quite possibly into the Vatican. See the national policy on money laundering at 31 U.S.C. 5341

Do federal income tax revenues pay for any government services and, if so, which government services are funded by federal income taxes? Answer: No. The money trail is very difficult to follow, in this instance, because the IRS is technically a trust with a domicile in Puerto Rico. See 31 U.S.C. 1321\(a\)\(62\). As such, their records are protected by laws which guarantee the privacy of trust records within that territorial jurisdiction, provided that the trust is not also violating the Sherman Antitrust Act. The final report of the Grace Commission, convened under President Ronald Reagan, quietly admitted that none of the funds they collect from federal income taxes goes to pay for any federal government services. The Grace Commission found that those funds were being used to pay for interest on the federal debt, and income transfer payments to beneficiaries of entitlement programs like federal pension plans.

In 1913, U.S. Government debt stood at $1 billion. Today, it is over $15 trillion. The 16th Amendment was not legally ratified and this is why people are challenging the legality of income taxes that go to pay the interest on the money created from nothing by the private Federal Reserve System. When a point is reached that there is no money to pay the interest, then the banking dynasties will take control of all natural resources as payment for the debt, i.e. a return to serfdom and slavery (just look at what they've done to Argentina!). Check this link for the current Federal Debt only http://www.brillig.com/debt_clock/. The total amount owed – by consumers, businesses, governments and financial institutions – totaled $34.4 trillion at the end of 2003, according to the Federal Reserve. The economy produced $11.3 trillion of output. That makes the nation's debt triple its gross domestic product. In 1933, debt was about 2 1/2 times GDP, according to a study by the Gabelli Mathers mutual fund. Also in 1913, the Schiff group (who also runs the New York Times among other media outlets) organized the "Anti-defamation League of the B'nai B'rith" commonly known as the "ADL" to serve as the gestapo and hatchet-man outfit for the entire great conspiracy. Today the sinister "ADL" maintains over 2,000 agencies in all parts of our country and they advise and completely control every action of the "NAACP" or of the "Urban League" of all the other civil-rights organizations throughout the nation. In addition, the "ADL" acquired absolute control of the advertising-budgets of many department-stores, hotel-chains, and TV and Radio industrialist sponsors, and advertising-agencies in order to control practically all the mass-communications media and force every loyal newspaper to slant and falsify the news. In short, the B'nai Braith was established in 1913 to ensure that anyone who criticizes the Federal Reserve owners is labeled as an anti-Semite. Jacob Schiff in picture at left.

Another diversion created in 1913, to keep the World masses busy fighting, under the banner of religion with fervor, while conquering their oil, was the intention to create a Zionist state in Palestine. This global control of oil - through the power of money enforced by an army of military bailiffs - began in the late 1880's with the decision made by Admiral Jack Fisher that the British Fleet would convert to oil as its primary fuel which, under the policy of "strategic denial", would then belong to Britain and be denied, where ever possible, to all others.

Edward Bernays, the "Father of Propaganda": "If we understand the mechanisms and motives of the group mind, it is now possible to control and regiment the masses according to our will without their knowing it ... The conscious and intelligent manipulation of the organized habits and opinions of the masses is an important element in democratic society. Those who manipulate this unseen mechanism of society constitute an invisible government which is the true ruling power of our country ... In almost every act of our daily lives, whether in the sphere of politics or business, in our social conduct or our ethical thinking, we are dominated by the relatively small number of persons ... who understand the mental processes and social patterns of the masses. It is they who pull the wires which control the public mind."

Winston Churchill openly and unashamedly declared in 1913: "We must become the owners, or at any rate the controllers at the source, of at least a proportion of the oil which we require...."

Since their establishment, the Rockefellers' Standard Oil and British Petroleum invite you to die for them! See the details on the Rockefeller Empire in a later section. This policy, regarding the oilfields of Mesopotamia (present day Iraq) proposed by Churchill in 1913 was fully endorsed by a British Royal Commission, which completely agreed with his policies. We should not forget the admission of T.E. Lawrence (miscalled as "of Arabia" and was rather "of Illuminatia") in his 'Seven Pillars of Wisdom' that his "betrayal", of the Arabs, was a "regrettable" but necessary device in arriving at a "cheap and speedy victory" in order to protect Britain's "petroleum" interests in "Mesopotamia." This resulted in the 'Red Line Agreement' and the official carving up of the oil wealth of the Islamic World following permanent dismemberment of the Turkish Ottomans and the ushering into existence (through terrorism and deception) the two "Secular: Zionist States of "Modern" Turkey and Israel." Remember the Zionist non-Israelite non-Semitic European Yaphite/Ashkenazi/Khazar Jews originated in Russia/Turkey in the 8th century; see the next section for full details. The Illuminati left a similar trap in Kashmir.

If you still didn't understand the Illuminati plan in the Middle East, Sir Campbell Bannerman, Prime Minister of Britain [1905-08] explained it to us in 1902 very clearly: "There are people who control spacious territories teeming with manifest and hidden resources. They dominate the intersections of World routes. Their lands were the cradles of human civilizations and religions. These people have one faith, one language, one history and the same aspirations. No natural barriers can isolate these people from one another ... if, per chance, this nation were to be unified into one state, it would then take the fate of the World into its hands and would separate Europe from the rest of the World. Taking these considerations seriously, a foreign body should be planted in the heart of this nation to prevent the convergence of its wings in such a way that it could exhaust its powers in never-ending wars. It could also serve as a springboard for the West to gain its coveted objects."

President Woodrow Wilson, Congress Jan. 8th, 1918, said in the 12th of his Fourteen Points through which he offered a rationale to justify the entry of the United States into the first World War (responding to the collapse of the four-century-old Ottoman empire): "The Turkish portions of the present Ottoman Empire should be assured a secure sovereignty, but the other nationalities which are now under Turkish rule should be assured an undoubted security of life and an absolute unmolested opportunity of autonomous development ...". This, however, was not done. Instead, at the peace conference that marked the end of World War I, the stage was set for the current crisis in the Middle East. Since the Ottoman Empire had sided with Germany, representatives of its many nationalities were not invited to the peace conference. The British and the French, with American acquiescence, carved up much of the Middle East in pursuit of their own imperial designs; the French in Syria and Lebanon, the British in Iraq and Palestine. The semi-nomadic people of the Arabian Peninsula were left to themselves, to be united later by the Saud family.

February 8th Statement by Winston Churchill in London's Sunday Illustrated Herald: "From the days of Spartacus-Weishaupt, to those of Karl Marx, to those of Trotsky...this Worldwide conspiracy for the overthrow of civilization and for the reconstitution of society on the basis of arrested development and envious malevolence, and impossible equality has been steadily growing. It has been the mainspring of every subversive movement during the nineteenth century; and now at last this band of extraordinary personalities from the underworld of the great cities of Europe and America have gripped the Russian people by the hair of their heads and have become the undisputed masters of that enormous empire." He was later to say: "Still, if you will not fight for the right when you can easily win without bloodshed, if you will not fight when your victory will be sure and not so costly, you may come to the moment when you will have to fight with all the odds against you and only a precarious chance for survival. There may be a worse case. You may have to fight when there is no chance of victory, because it is better to perish than to live as slaves."

Who Controls Our Politicians? JNSA? AIPAC? ADL? B'Nai Brith? Are they working for THE BANKSTERS?

John Swinton New York journalist at a banquet (1880's): "What folly is this, toasting an independent press? There is no such thing, at this date of the World's history, in America, as an independent press. You know it and I know it. There is not one of you who dares to write your honest opinions, and if you did, you know beforehand that it would never appear in print. I am paid weekly for keeping my honest opinion out of the paper I am connected with. Others of you are paid similar salaries for similar things, and any of you who would be so foolish as to write honest opinions would be out on the streets looking for another job. If I allowed my honest opinions to appear in one issue of my paper, before twenty-four hours my occupation would be gone. The business of the journalists is to destroy the truth, to lie outright, to pervert, to vilify, to fawn at the feet of Mammon [Biblical ref.], and to sell his country and his race for his daily bread. You know it and I know it, and what folly is this toasting an independent press? We are the tools and vassals of "rich men" [Biblical ref.] behind the scenes. We are the jumping jacks, they pull the strings and we dance. Our talents, our possibilities and our lives are all the property of other men. We are intellectual prostitutes."

If politicians were really being controlled, you would think some more would break ranks and cry out against it. Many dared and their words are quoted in mass later.

"Behind the ostensible government sits enthroned an invisible government owing no allegiance and acknowledging no responsibility to the people. To destroy this invisible government, to befoul the unholy alliance between corrupt business and corrupt politics is the first task of the statesmanship of today." -- Teddy Roosevelt, 1906

"Patriotism means to stand by the country. It does NOT mean to stand by the President or any other public official save exactly to the degree in which he himself stands by the country. It is patriotic to support him insofar as he efficiently serves the country. It is unpatriotic not to oppose him to the exact extent that by inefficiency or otherwise he fails in his duty to stand by the country." -- Teddy Roosevelt

Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, 1919, speaking before his death: "These International Bankers and Rockefeller-Standard Oil interests control the majority of newspapers and the columns of these papers to club into submission or drive out of public office officials who refuse to do the bidding of the powerful corrupt cliques which compose the invisible government."

John Hylan Mayor of New York expanding on Roosevelt's statement in 1922: "The warning of Theodore Roosevelt has much timeliness today, for the real menace of our republic is this invisible government which like a giant octopus sprawls its slimy length over City, State, and nation... It seizes in its long and powerful tentacles our executive officers, our legislative bodies, our schools, our courts, our newspapers, and every agency created for the public protection... To depart from mere generalisations, let me say that at the head of this octopus are the Rockefeller-Standard Oil interest and a small group of powerful banking houses generally referred to as the international Bankers. The little coterie of powerful international Bankers virtually run the United States government for their own selfish purposes. They practically control both parties, write political platforms, make catspaws of party leaders, use the leading men of private organisations, and resort to every device to place in nomination for high public office only such candidates as will be amenable to the dictates of corrupt big business... These international Bankers and Rockefeller-Standard Oil interests control the majority of newspapers and magazines in this country."

"The American people have never picked a president, and never will." – President Harry Truman.

"We'll know our disinformation program is complete when everything the American public believes is false." William Casey, CIA Director, from notes taken in a 1981 CIA staff meeting, that wasn't intended to be heard or repeated outside the room.

William Colby former Director of the CIA braggingly said (...and the Zionist corporate/banking plutocracy owns everyone of any significance in the Central Intelligence Agency): "The Central Intelligence Agency owns everyone of any significance in the major media." When asked in a 1976 interview whether the CIA had ever told its media agents what to write, William Colby replied, "Oh, sure, all the time." William Colby (76) was found dead in April 1996 Rocky Pt. MD, supposedly drowned in a canoeing accident. Guess he talked too much and was planning to talk more!

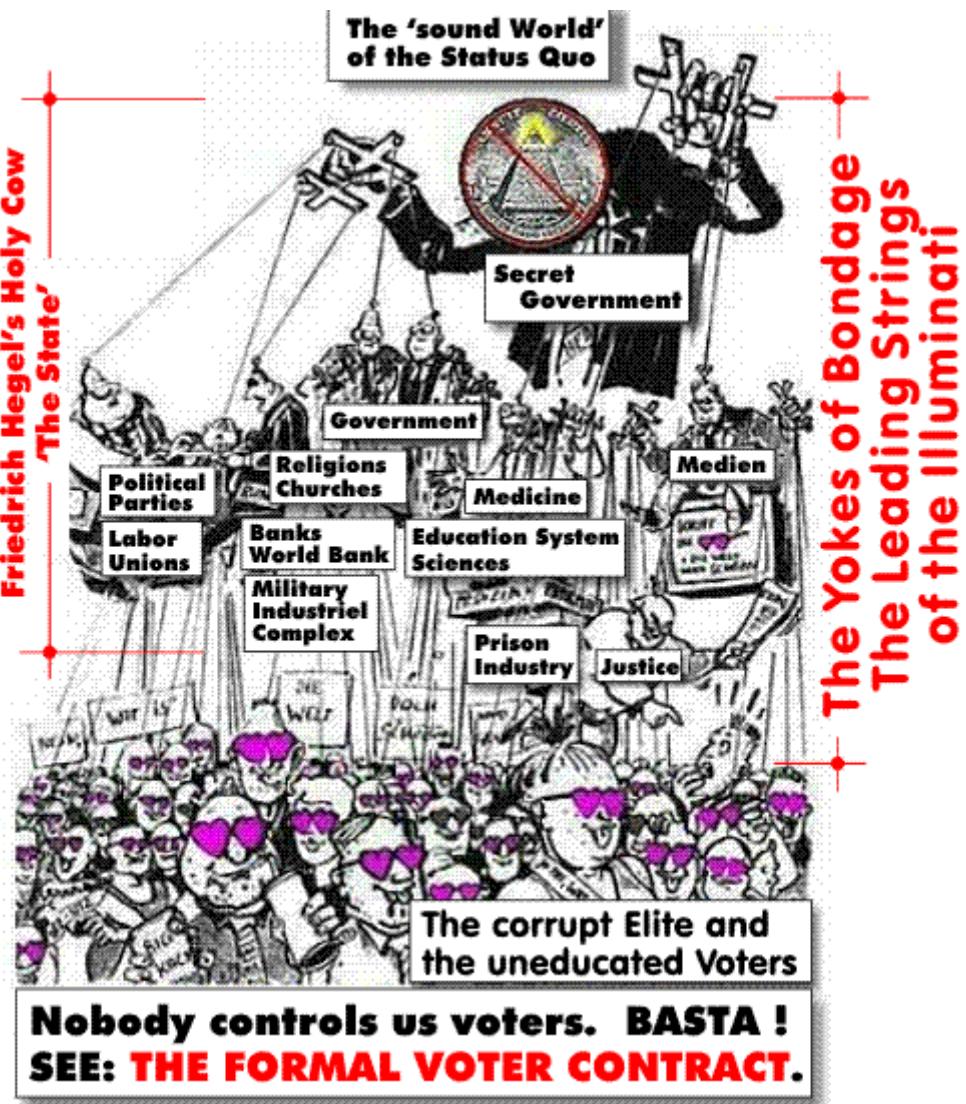

These warnings fell on deaf ears drowned out by the music and excitement of the roaring early 20's (people didn't realize what the banksters or BankLords were up to as 1929 approached whence the great depression was staged!). People don't tend to complain much in times of prosperity, so the money changers used this boom time they had created to defuse any complaints about their growing control. In 1930 America did not lack industrial capacity, fertile farmland, skilled and willing workers or industrious farm families. It had an extensive and efficient transportation system in railroads, road networks, and inland and ocean waterways. Communications between regions and localities were the best in the World, utilizing telephone, teletype, radio, and a well-operated government mail system.

No war had ravaged the cities or the countryside, no pestilence weakened the population, nor had famine stalked the land. The United States of America in 1930 lacked only one thing: an adequate supply of money to carry on trade and commerce because the Bankers who owned the Federal Reserve System, the only source of new money and credit, deliberately refused loans to industries, stores and farms on the pretext that they expected a bad economy (of course they did, since they are the ones who planned it!). Since payments on existing loans were required, money rapidly disappeared from circulation. Goods were available to be purchased, jobs waiting to be done, but the lack of money brought the nation to a standstill. By this simple ploy America was put in a "depression" and the greedy Bankers took possession of hundreds of thousands of farms, homes, and business properties at bottom prices (like they did in Argentina recently). The people were told, "times are hard" and "money is short." Not understanding the system, they were cruelly robbed of their earnings, their savings, and their property. But, there was plenty of money for World War II! The same Bankers who in the early 30's had no loans for peacetime houses, food and clothing, suddenly had unlimited billions to lend for Army barracks, K-rations and uniforms! A nation that in 1934 couldn't produce food for sale, suddenly could produce bombs to send free to Germany and Japan! With the sudden increase in money, people were hired, farms sold their produce, factories went to two shifts, mines re-opened, and "The Great Depression" was over! Some politicians were blamed for it and others took credit for ending it. The truth is the lack of money caused by the Bankers brought on the depression, and adequate money ended it. The people were never told the simple truth and we will endeavor to show how these same Bankers who issue our money and credit have used their control to plunder America and place us in bondage. The same is true across the Atlantic. Check out these important and revealing quotes.

British Prime Minister David Lloyd George, in New Britain magazine of London magazine 20 June 1934 issue, cited a devastating assertion by former that: "Britain is the slave of an international financial bloc".

It also quoted these words written by Lord Bryce: "Democracy has no more persistent and insidious foe than money powers" and pointed out that "questions regarding Bank of England, its conduct and its objects, are not allowed by the Speaker" (of the House of Commons).

We see that way back in 1877, the bankers could control the media, by "withholding patronage from all...who are not willing to oppose the Government issue of money". This same method has been used to control the media, the schools (both public and private) and the government, itself. How much more refined has the methods become for controlling the flow of information going to the public? Have the American people been completely brainwashed into serving the private interests of artful and cunning men? Continuing on, Congressman Charles Lindbergh, in his book "Banking,

Currency and the Money Trust", written in 1913, tells us about some of the changes that took place in our money system after the death of Lincoln. In his preface to this book, he says: "The market prices of commodities vary from day to day. This occurs when there is no radical difference in the proportion to the supply and the natural demand. This FACT is conclusive proof that our system is controlled by manipulators and fundamentally wrong. Act No. 1 was the manufacture, between 1896 and 1907, through stock gambling, speculation and other devious methods and devices, of tens of billions of watered stocks, bonds, and securities. Act No. 2 was the panic of 1907, by which those not favorable to the Money Trust could be squeezed out of business and the people frightened into demanding changes in the banking and currency laws which the Money Trust would frame.... see how these bankers have impoverished us by selling to us, - at usury prices, - the credit that is supported by our own toil,...The king bankers put in motion, in 1907, a great scheme. They had gambled and speculated on Wall Street, until so many watered stocks and bonds had been manufactured on speculation, that numberless speculators, big and small, sprang up all over the country, and stocks, bonds, and credits were pyramided, and re-pyramided, and re-re-pyramided. Of course such a condition could not last and a crash was inevitable, because it was not natural for such gambling to continue." Charles Lindbergh, Sr., "The Money Trust".

Let's continue on and see what other testimony Lindbergh offered in his HOUSE RESOLUTION 80 in the House of Representatives on April 29, 1913, he said: "Ever since the Civil War, Congress has allowed the bankers to control financial legislation. The membership of the Finance Committee in the Senate (now the Banking and Currency Committee) and the Committee on Banking and Currency in the House have been made up chiefly of bankers, their agents, and their attorneys. ...In this way the committees have been able to control legislation in the interests of the few." Charles Lindbergh, In the House of Representatives, April 29, 1913. The men who have appointed the committees in the last fifty years have not had the clear and earnest viewpoint of our forefathers. On Tuesday, January fourteenth, seventeen hundred and ninety-four (1794), the following resolution was introduced in the United States Senate: "Nor shall any person holding any office or stock in any institution in the nature of a bank, for issuing or discounting bills or notes payable to bearer or order, under the authority of the United States, be a member of either house whilst he holds such office or stock." "It passed the Senate two days later, after being fought by the bankers, and amended at their instigation in order that they might be allowed to sit in Congress, but it still remained a protest to bankers controlling legislation in which they were personally interested. Our finances, including the actual control of legislation in Congress, have been surrendered to the bankers, their agents, and attorneys." Charles Lindbergh, Sr. "The Money Trust".

Manipulations of the Masses: Wars, Terrorisms and Myths (Hitler-Bush example)

Hitler was an out-of-wedlock grandson of Baron Rothschild of Austria. Hitler's statement further below was made when announcing the formation of the Gestapo. History Repeats itself! Remember, Prescott Bush was exposed for trading with Hitler and the CIA was filled with ex-Nazis when WWII ended! Hitler also passed a patriot act and created a department of homeland security.

Wars: Organized terrorism for profits that are never meant to be won, they are meant to be sustained whilst the war mongerers keep making massive profits. The Straussian Philosophy crafted at Harvard by Hitler's lawyer calls for endless wars. Hitler's lawyer was Carl Schmitt, and he arranged for a young Leo Strauss to get a Rockefeller Foundation grant to begin his studies. Leo Strauss later became U.S. National Security advisor, greatly influencing violent foreign policy. His ideas godfathered the neo-conservative movement, and jerks like Cheney and Wolfowitz. Bill Maher interviewed a nutcase neo-con Professor who wrote Dick Cheney's favorite book which argues that man's "natural state" is to be at war. It's not yet, but the TV is full of violent men and beautiful women, and we're being turned into soldiers and whores. These are neo-feudalist madmen who need to be understood to understand what their dreams of endless war are, and why they must be voted out ("driven from public life" Webster Tarpley) as soon as possible. The elite get power by keeping secrets, we the people get power by exposing them.

Terrorism: A technique used by the behind-the-scenes ruling elite criminals who control governments to manipulate public opinion in order to further a self-serving agenda at the expense of the masses (serfs).

Myth: A myth is a power rallying story that is used by the Cabal to mobilize public opinion into supporting it and ignore the truth that the Cabal are looting everyone on Earth.

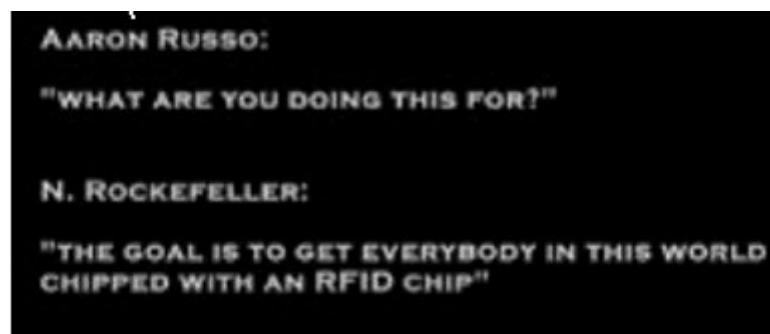

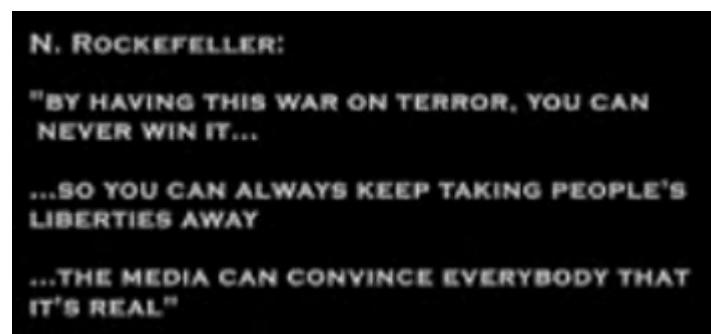

Zeitgeist - The Movie, 2007 <http://zeitgeistmovie.com/> video documentary explains how the income tax is illegal and how war is an instrument of the Elite to enrich themselves at taxpayers' expense.

"When the power of love overcomes the love of power, the World will know peace." Jimi Hendrix.

Nelson Rockefeller to Aaron Russo:

Add "and into Venezuela".

Finally, with the RFID chip, everyone will be under the total control of the feudal World government which is run by the World's Elite. Divide the masses and conquer their wealth.

In 1776 Meyer Rothschild financed the Illuminati, a Masonic secret society that in turn spawned the major revolutions of the modern era including the Bolshevik Revolution in 1917. The ultimate aim is to establish the banker World dictatorship, which is at an advanced stage today. In the 1930's their purpose was to incite a two-front war that would leave the great nation states (England, Germany and Russia) prostrate. Like all wars, the purpose was to kill millions of people, traumatize humanity, increase public debt and private profit, and make "World government" (the future UN) seem essential for "peace." The 1930's British Policy of Appeasement was probably designed to encourage Hitler's expansionist tendencies and to provoke war. Douglas Reed, the (London) Times Correspondent in Berlin, was first tipped off to something fishy when his newspaper suppressed his warnings of the Hitler menace. (See his Controversy of Zion).

Kilzer describes how British Intelligence (an arm of the Illuminati) took advantage of Hitler's racist ideology to divert his energies against Russia and trap him in a two-front war. They convinced him that a large pro Nazi (anti Communist) "Peace Party" was prepared to unseat the "war monger" Churchill.

This party consisted of the Duke of Windsor (the former King Edward VIII) and appeasement-minded elitists known as the "Cliveden Set." The Nazis had longstanding social ties with this group and confided in them. Hitler seemed to overlook the fact that Windsor went to stay at the Rothschild castle in Austria after he abdicated. Rudolph Hess, the Deputy Leader of Nazi Germany, was in contact with the Cliveden group and flew to England May 10, 1941 to negotiate peace. According to Kilzer, Hess had Hitler's blessings. Coincidentally this was the worst night of the Blitz. Afterward, there was a long lull in both Nazi and British bombing raids. It appears the Nazis thought they had an understanding with the British and turned their attention to the invasion of Russia the following month (June 22, 1941.) The Nazi's didn't understand that the Anglo American elite was (and still is) intimately connected with international (i.e. Rothschild) finance and always double-crosses others with forked tongue. Anglo American imperialism is in fact a front for the families that own the Bank of England and the Federal Reserve. These Jewish and non-Jewish families are connected by money, marriage and Lucifer worship (i.e. Masonry). Both Roosevelt and Churchill were their flunkies. (All our "leaders" are.)

Planned Scarcity – Going Without In The Midst Of Plenty

At the end of each cycle of production, our present economy guarantees that there will always be more goods produced than can ever be sold. Governments regularly make up the inevitable shortfall of income to multinational industries as grants, bribes, subsidies, tax breaks and free infrastructure. This extra funding for multinational industries artificially gives them the appearance of being profitable because they can afford to sell their goods for less than the goods really cost to produce. Nationally owned businesses cannot compete with multinationals on such a non-level playing field. If multinational industries worked to the same rules as the national businesses that are taxed to support them, the multinationals would go bankrupt. Global fishing and forestry industries illustrate this point well. It usually comes as a surprise to realize that prosperity causes recession in this Illuminati banker controlled system. In 'prosperous' times when society reduces its debt by paying off its loans, the amount of money in circulation dries up as a result. Shops may be over stocked with goods and people may want to buy them but they do not have money to do so. There may be many who want to employ people or become employed but without enough currency in circulation - nothing moves. The only way out of recession is to borrow more debt-dollars to circulate, which increases national debt further.

President Franklin Roosevelt wrote in a letter to an associate dated November 21st 1933: "The real truth of the matter is, as you and I know, that a financial element in the large centers has owned the government ever since the days of President Andrew Jackson." This is amazing considering that he is the one who gave the banks a holiday so that they didn't have to repay their depositors! Maybe he was trying to appear innocent!! In 1933, Franklin D. Roosevelt cancelled (repudiated) the Redemption of Federal Reserve Notes in gold within these United States of America and forbade the private ownership of gold coins or bullion by Citizens, upon penalty of fine and/or imprisonment. So the ignorant "responsible", "law-abiding" Citizens turned in their lawful money to the Treasury, which probably used that money to pay off debts of the United States. However, Federal Reserve Notes were still Redeemable in gold outside these United States of America and the same Federal Reserve Notes were still Redeemable in silver upon demand within these United States of America.

"It doesn't matter who the people voted for; they always vote for us". - Illuminati Statement – (darn right, even so more now since the voting machine systems companies are owned by the Rockefeller and Rothschild companies).

In fact, you will see how the United States has been hijacked by the trans-Atlantic agents of the New World Order in this book. The third party politicians who brought and end to slavery and introduced "quality of life" legislations have been made extinct by the Illuminati who control both parties!

President Franklin Delano Roosevelt speech in Philadelphia on June 27, 1936: "Out of this modern civilization, economic royalists carved new dynasties. New kingdoms were built upon concentration of control over material things. Through new uses of corporations, banks and securities, new machinery of industry and agriculture, of labor and capital - all undreamed of by the Fathers - the whole structure of modern life was impressed into this royal service....These economic royalists complain that we seek to overthrow the institutions of America. What they really complain of is that we seek to take away their power. Our allegiance to American institutions requires the overthrow of this kind of power. In vain they seek to hide behind the flag and the Constitution. In their blindness they forget what the flag and the Constitution stand for."

U.S. State Department Policy Planning Study #23, 1948: "Our real task in the coming period is to devise a pattern of relationships which will permit us to maintain this position of disparity [U.S. military-economic supremacy]... To do so, we will have to dispense with all sentimentality and day-dreaming... We should cease to talk about vague and...unreal objectives such as human rights, the raising of the living standards, and democratization. The day is not far off when we are going to have to deal in straight power concepts. The less we are then hampered by idealistic slogans, the better." — George Kennan Director of Policy Planning U.S. State Department.

After WW2, experienced Nazi propagandists and mind control scientists were brought into the CIA (shades of The original 1962 Manchurian Candidate [s]). James Angleton said that the founders of the Cold War national security state were only interested in "absolute power". Now, the descendant of Prescott Grandpa Bush, a very good friend of Allen Dulles, holds power in the White House. Prescott Bush, the late, aristocratic senator from Connecticut, and grandfather of George W. Bush, was not only a good friend of Allen Dulles, CIA director, president of the Council on Foreign Relations, and international business lawyer. He was also a client of Dulles' law firm. As such, he was the beneficiary of Dulles' miraculous ability to scrub the story of Bush's treasonous investments in the Third Reich out of the news media, where it might have interfered with Bush's political career . . . not to mention the presidential careers of his son and grandson. <http://www.onlinejournal.com/Commentary/011004Hasty/011004hasty.html>

Dr. Ewen Cameron 1960s: "It is not simply against future conspiracies of evil men which we have to guard ourselves, but the weaknesses and faults in our own social order, in our own ways of living against which we have to be on continual guard."

In 1971 the 'New World Order' began a new phase, when President Nixon severed the link between the Federal Reserve dollar and gold. Since then, US currency effectively became unregulated and banks could create as much as they wanted and Americans were allowed to own gold again. But, Fort Knox's gold has been sold at bargain basement prices since 1933 to London bankers and any left-over gold was no longer owned by The Treasury but rather by the owners of the Federal Reserve. Gold prices soared as Americans started buying gold again. The new, less regulated US dollar began destabilizing other national currencies, which had gauged themselves by the US dollar. Other countries were forced to 'float' their currencies, which effectively became unregulated also. Global currencies were no longer regulated by a stable entity like gold. Now they were 'regulated' by market forces, which are unstable and subject to manipulation by the Illuminati Bankers.

William Colby former Director of the CIA braggingly said (...and the Zionist corporate/banking plutocracy owns everyone of any significance in the Central Intelligence Agency): "The Central Intelligence Agency owns everyone of any significance in the major media." When asked in a 1976 interview whether the CIA had ever told its media agents what to write, William Colby replied, "Oh, sure, all the time." William Colby (76) was found dead in April 1996 Rocky Pt. MD, supposedly drowned in a canoeing accident. Guess he talked too much and was planning to talk more!

Alan Greenspan: "The abandonment of the gold standard made it possible for the welfare statists to use the banking system as a means to an unlimited expansion of credit.... In the absence of the gold standard, there is no way to protect savings from confiscation through inflation. There is no safe store of value.... Deficit spending is simply a scheme for the "hidden" confiscation of wealth.... [Gold] stands as a protector of property rights."

More Quotes on the Private Central Banking Fraud

US Governor Morris 1785: "The rich will strive to establish their dominion and enslave the rest. They always did. They always will... They will have the same effect here as elsewhere, if we do not, by [the power of] government, keep them in their proper spheres."

Thomas Jefferson gave the following warning in 1799, which has been ignored, along with other good advice right up to the present day: "Single acts of tyranny may be ascribed to the accidental opinion of a day, but a series of oppressions, begun at a distinguished period, unalterable through every change of ministers, too plainly prove a deliberate, systematic plan of reducing us to slavery." Subsequently referred to as: "the conspiracy theory".

Thomas Jefferson: "I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance... If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered... The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the government to whom it properly belongs." "The modern theory of the perpetuation of debt has drenched the earth with blood, and crushed its inhabitants under burdens ever accumulating". ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809)

Or when he said to Gideon Granger in 1800: "I do verily believe that a single, consolidated government would become the most corrupt government on earth. Or when he said "What has destroyed liberty and the rights of man in every government which ever existed under the sun? The generalization and concentrating all cares and powers under one body... In questions of power, let no more be heard of confidence in man but bind him down from mischief by the chains of the constitution..." Or when he said in these solemn words: "When it shall be said in any country in the World: 'My poor are happy; neither ignorance nor distress is to be found among them; My jails are empty of prisoners; My streets of beggars; The aged are not in want; The taxes not oppressive; The rational World is my friend because I am a friend of its happiness.' When these things can be said, then may that country boast of its Constitution and of its Government."

President Thomas Jefferson, on a more logical, debt-free solution: "If our Nation can issue a dollar bond, it can issue a dollar bill. The element that makes the bond good also makes the bill good. The difference between the bond and the bill is that the bond lets money brokers [Bankers] collect twice the amount of the bond plus interest. Whereas the bill [currency] pays nobody but those who contribute directly in some useful way. The People are the basis for government credit. Why then cannot the people have the benefit of their own credit by receiving non-interest bearing currency, instead of Bankers receiving the benefit of the people's credit in interest bearing bonds? It is absurd to say that our country can issue $30 million in bonds and not $30 million in currency! Both are promises to pay: but one promise fattens the usurers and the other helps the people."

President James Madison 1809-1817: "History records that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments by controlling money and its issuance."

Why did William Pitt say in a speech to the House of Commons in 1804? That "Necessity is the plea for every infringement of human freedom. It is the argument of tyrants, it is the creed of slaves."

A British Member of Parliament said this about the Bank of England in 1810: "There is something so consummately ridiculous in the idea of a nation's getting money by paying interest to itself upon its own stock, that the mind of every rational man naturally rejects it. It is, really, something little short of madness to suppose, that a nation can increase its wealth; increase its means of paying others; that it can do this by paying interest to itself. When time is taken to reflect, no rational man will attempt to maintain a proposition so shockingly absurd" (William Cobbett, M.P., Paper Against Gold, p.83).

What did the Rothschild Brothers of London (one of the private trans-Atlantic families that are owners of the Federal Reserve Bank) mean when he said? Letter written from London by the Rothschilds to their New York agents introducing their banking method into America: "The few who can understand the system will be either so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favours, that there will be no opposition from that class, while, on the other hand, that great body of people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantage that Capital derives from the system, will bear its burden without complaint and, perhaps, without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests."

President Andrew Jackson (1828) upon vetoing the Second Bank of the United States Charter, addressed Congress: "The bold efforts that the present bank has made to control the government and the distress it has wantonly caused, are but premonitions of the fate which awaits the American People should they be deluded into a perpetuation of this institution or the establishment of another like it...If the People only understood the rank injustice of our money and banking system there would be a revolution before morning!" By eliminating the Second Bank of the United States, President Andrew Jackson was able to completely eliminate the National Debt! The Union originally looked to European Bankers for loans to finance the Civil War. Thinking they had Lincoln at their mercy, they overstepped themselves by demanding 24% - 36% interest!

When the 1816 charter expired in 1836, President Andrew Jackson vetoed its renewal. It was then that he made two famous statements: "The Bank is trying to kill me - but I will kill it!" Later he said "If the American people only understood the rank injustice of our money and banking system - there would be a revolution before morning..."

Here is what the author of "Rural Rides" and MP in the reformed Parliament of 1832, William Cobbett, wrote: "I set to work to read the Act of Parliament by which the Bank of England was created, and all the Acts about loans, and funds, and dividends, and payings, and sinking funds and I soon began to perceive that the fate of the Kingdom must finally turn upon what should be done with that accursed thing called the National Debt. The sum at first borrowed was a mere trifle. The inventors knew well what they were about. Their design was to mortgage by degrees the whole of the country... to those who would lend money to the State... the deep scheme has from its ominous birth been breeding usurers of every description, feeding and fattening on the vitals of the country, till it has produced what the World never saw before - starvation in the midst of abundance!"

Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild, 1744-1812: "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependant on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

"Give me control over a man's economic actions, and hence over his means of survival, and except for a few occasional heroes, I'll promise to deliver to you men who think and write and behave as I want them to." -Benjamine A. Rooge

Today Rothschild descendants meet twice daily in London to dictate to the World what the World price of gold will be. They and their brethrens and collaborators also dictate what the "Federal Reserve System" will do with America's finances. They have the power to issue currency and loans without any collateral of their own, i.e. by using the taxpayers' wealth as a guarantee! An 18th century French commentator said that there was only one power in Europe and it is the Rothschilds. We will find out a lot more in this book.

President Abraham Lincoln, on these Bankers in Nov 1864: "The money powers prey upon the nation in times of peace and conspire against it in times of adversity. It is more despotic than a monarchy, more insolent than autocracy, more selfish than bureaucracy. It denounces, as public enemies, all who question its methods or throw light upon its crimes. I have two great enemies, the Southern Army in front of me and the Bankers in the rear. Of the two, the one at my rear is my greatest foe." Angered at the Bankers, in Acts of February 25 and March 4, 1862, President Abraham Lincoln persuaded Congress to authorize the U.S. Treasury to issue $450 million in United States Currency to finance the Civil War. This currency was debt-free and interest-free full legal tender.

After Congress passed this law, Lincoln said in 1867: "We have given the People of this Republic the greatest blessing they have ever had, their own currency to pay their own debts." (free from central bankers)

President Abraham Lincoln, just days before his assassination in 1865 made reference to "the Money Power": "Money will cease to be the master and become the servant of humanity. Democracy will rise superior to the Money power." (Senate document 23, p. 91, 1865). Unfortunately, he was killed before he could put his plan into action.

President Abraham Lincoln's remarkable monetary policy statement to the U.S. Senate in 1865 reveals what is possible given the will of those in power to reform a monetary system to serve the needs of humanity, the households of the nation: "Money is the creature of law, and the creation of the original issue of money should be maintained as the exclusive monopoly of national government. ...The monetary needs of increasing numbers of people advancing towards higher standards of living can and should be met by the government. Such needs can be met by the issue of national currency and credit through the operation of a national banking system. The circulation of a medium of exchange issued and backed by the government can be properly regulated and redundancy of issue avoided by withdrawing from circulation such amounts as may be necessary by taxation, re-deposit and otherwise. Government, possessing the power to create and issue currency and credit as money...need not and should not borrow capital at interest....The financing of all public enterprises, the maintenance of stable government and ordered progress [my emphasis], and the conduct of the Treasury will become matters of practical administration...Money will cease to be the master and become the servant of humanity. Democracy will rise superior to the money power." (President Abraham Lincoln, Senate document 23, p. 91, 1865) Little did Lincoln realize that the BankLords have subverted "Democracy" by buying out the politicians and media.

The World Bankers fought back furiously with incredible amounts of money. The editorial below appeared in the London Times at the time Lincoln was taking action to create an unborrowed currency: "If this mischievous financial policy [of creating a debt-free currency], which has its origin in the American Republic, shall become permanent, then that government will furnish its own money without cost! It will pay off its debts and be without debt. It will have all the money necessary to carry on its commerce. It will become prosperous without precedent in the history of the World...That government must be destroyed or it will destroy every monarchy on the globe!"

Why did the first UK Prime Minister Benjamin Disraeli say in 1876?: "The governments of the present day have to deal not merely with other governments, with emperors, kings and ministers, but also with the secret societies which have everywhere their unscrupulous agents, and can at the last moment upset all the governments' plans." In a novel he published in 1844 called Coningsby, the New Generation: "The World is governed by very different personages from what is imagined by those who are not behind the scenes."

The American Bankers Association secretary James Buel expressed the Bankers attitude well in a letter to fellow members of the association wrote in 1877: "It is advisable to do all in your power to sustain such prominent daily and weekly newspapers, especially the Agricultural and Religious Press, as will oppose the greenback issue of paper money and that you will also withhold patronage from all applicants who are not willing to oppose the government issue of money. To repeal the Act creating bank notes, or to restore to circulation the government issue of money will be to provide the people with money and will therefore seriously affect our individual profits as Bankers and lenders. See your congressman at once and engage him to support our interest that we may control legislation."

Within weeks of releasing this statement President Garfield was assassinated in 1881: "Whosoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce... And when you realise that the entire system is very easily controlled, one way or another, by a few powerful men at the top, you will not have to be told how periods of inflation and depression originate." President James Garfield

John Swinton New York journalist at a banquet (1880's): "What folly is this, toasting an independent press? There is no such thing, at this date of the World's history, in America, as an independent press. You know it and I know it. There is not one of you who dares to write your honest opinions, and if you did, you know beforehand that it would never appear in print. I am paid weekly for keeping my honest opinion out of the paper I am connected with. Others of you are paid similar salaries for similar things, and any of you who would be so foolish as to write honest opinions would be out on the streets looking for another job. If I allowed my honest opinions to appear in one issue of my paper, before twenty-four hours my occupation would be gone. The business of the journalists is to destroy the truth, to lie outright, to pervert, to vilify, to fawn at the feet of Mammon [Biblical ref.], and to sell his country and his race for his daily bread. You know it and I know it, and what folly is this toasting an independent press? We are the tools and vassals of "rich men" [Biblical ref.] behind the scenes. We are the jumping jacks, they pull the strings and we dance. Our talents, our possibilities and our lives are all the property of other men. We are intellectual prostitutes."

From the United States Bankers' Magazine of 1892: "We must proceed with caution, and guard well every move made, for the lower orders of people are already showing signs of restless commotions. Prudence will, therefore, dictate a policy of apparently yielding to the popular will until all of our plans are so far consummated that we can declare our designs without fear of any organised resistance. The Farmers' Alliance and the Knights of Labour organisations in the United States should be carefully watched by our trusted men, and we must take immediate steps to control these organisations in our interests or disrupt them. The coming Omaha Convention, to be held July 4th, our men must attend and direct its movements, or else there will be set on foot such antagonism to our designs as may require force to overcome. This, at the present time, would be premature. We are not yet ready for such a crisis. Capital must protect itself in every possible manner through combination and legislation. The courts must be called to our aid. Debts must be collected, bonds and mortgages foreclosed as rapidly as possible. Where, through a process of law, the common people have lost their homes, they will be more tractable and easily governed through the influence of the strong arm of government, applied by central power of imperial wealth, under the control of leading financiers. The truth is well known among our principal men now engaged in forming an imperialism of capital to govern the World. While they are doing this the people must be kept in a condition of political antagonism. The question of tariff reform must be urged through the organisation known as the Democratic Party, and the question of protection and reciprocity must be forced to view through the Republican Party. By thus dividing the voters we can get them to expend their energies in fighting over questions of no importance to us, except as teachers to lead the common herd. Thus by discreet actions we can secure all that has so generously planned and successfully accomplished."

Sir Campbell Bannerman, Prime Minister of Britain 1902 [1905-08]: "There are people who control spacious territories teeming with manifest and hidden resources. They dominate the intersections of World routes. Their lands were the cradles of human civilizations and religions. These people have one faith, one language, one history and the same aspirations. No natural barriers can isolate these people from one another ... if, per chance, this nation were to be unified into one state, it would then take the fate of the World into its hands and would separate Europe from the rest of the World. Taking these considerations seriously, a foreign body should be planted in the heart of this nation to prevent the convergence of its wings in such a way that it could exhaust its powers in never-ending wars. It could also serve as a springboard for the West to gain its coveted objects."

What did Henry Ford mean? when he said in 1903..."It is well that the people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning."

The Private Federal Reserve Bank HQ (right next to the US Treasury, established in 1913 for the 3rd time by Act of Congress)

What did Thomas Edison mean? When he said "People who will not turn a shovel-full of dirt on the project nor contribute a pound of materials will collect more money than will the people who will supply all the materials and do all the work."

What was US President Theodore Roosevelt alluding to? when he uttered in 1906 and it is relevant today because as long as cartels rule, the human race is stalled "Behind the ostensible government sits enthroned an invisible government owing no allegiance and acknowledging no responsibility to the people. To destroy this invisible government, to befoul the unholy alliance between corrupt business and corrupt politics is the first task of the statesmanship of today."

Why did President Woodrow Wilson say in 1914?, after being pressured into signing the Federal Reserve Act and to declare war on Germany, "I have involuntarily ruined my government". "Some of the biggest men in the United States...are afraid of something. They know there is a power somewhere so organized, so subtle, so watchful, so interlocked, so complete, so pervasive, that they had better not speak above their breath when they speak in condemnation of it." Just before he died, President Woodrow Wilson is reported to have stated to friends that he had been "deceived", referring to the Federal Reserve Act that had been passed during his Presidency. He said, "I am a most unhappy man. I have betrayed my country. A great industrial Nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the Nation and all our activities are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the World - no longer a Government of free opinion no longer a Government by conviction and vote of the majority, but a Government by the opinion and duress of small group of dominant men".

Why did Randolph Bourne say in 1917?: "War is the health of the state".

Randolph Hearst, "the original image manipulator" of the 1920s?: "We don't report the news - we make it".

Mussolini rendered a service to the Vatican in 1923: The Bank of Rome to which the Vatican's High Prelates and the Holy See itself had entrusted their funds, was on the brink of bankruptcy. Mussolini saved it---at the cost, it is believed, of approximately 1,500,000,000 liras, which the Italian State had to pay. Shortly afterwards, the first voices of the Vatican Hierarchy in praise of the leader of Fascism could be heard. On February 21, 1923, Cardinal Vannutelli, Head of the Sacred College of Cardinals, paid public homage to the evil dictator Mussolini "for his energetic devotion to his country," adding that the Duce "had been chosen (by God) to save the nation and to restore her fortune." Why?

In January 1924, Reginald McKenna said: who was then chairman of the board of the Midland Bank and had been Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer in 1915-16, confirmed that the British system was completely dominated by the conspiratorial monied aristocracy. "I am afraid the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that the banks can, and do, create money... Those who create and issue money and credit direct the policies of government and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people."

THE PRIZE: The Epic Quest for Oil, Money, and Power, by Daniel Yergin (Simon and Schuster, 1991): "Roosevelt received him [British ambassador Lord Halifax] that very evening at the White House. Their discussion focused on the Middle East. Trying to allay Halifax's apprehension and irritation, Roosevelt showed the ambassador a rough sketch he had made of the Middle East. 'Persian oil,' he told the ambassador, 'is yours. We share the oil of Iraq and Kuwait. As for Saudi Arabian oil, it is ours.'"

On January 24, 1939, Robert H. Hemphill, credit Manager of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta stated: "If all the bank loans were paid no one would have a bank deposit and there would not be a dollar of coin or currency in circulation. This is a staggering thought. We are completely dependent on the commercial banks. Someone has to borrow every dollar we have in circulation, cash or credit. If the banks create ample synthetic money we are prosperous: if not, we starve. We are absolutely without a permanent money system. When one gets a complete grasp of the picture the tragic absurdity of our hopeless position is almost incredible, but there it is. It (the banking problem) is the most important subject intelligent persons can investigate and reflect upon. It is so important that our present civilization may collapse unless it becomes widely understood and the defects remedied very soon."

Graham Towers, former Governor of the Bank of Canada noted: in the 1940s that "Each and every time a bank makes a loan, new bank credit is created – new deposits – brand new Money."

Hermann Goering, at the Nuremberg Trials after World War II: "Why of course the people don't want war ... But after all it is the leaders of the country who determine the policy, and it is always a simple matter to drag the people along, whether it is a fascist dictatorship, or a parliament [a democracy], or a communist dictatorship ... Voice or no voice, the people can always be brought to the bidding of the leaders. That is easy. All you have to do is to tell them they are being attacked, and denounce the pacifists for lack of patriotism and exposing the country to danger. "Does the above sound like what Mr. Bush & company have done? Remember, Grandpa Bush traded with the Nazis and was caught.

General MacArthur saw what was coming and gave us this warning: "I am concerned for the security of our great nation; not so much because of any threat from without, but because of the insidious forces working within . . . end invisible government based on propaganda, and restore government based upon truth."

Why did former FDR aide, James Warburg CFR/TC, say? in testimony before the US Senate Foreign Relations Committee, 17 Feb 1950. "You shall have one World government, whether or not you like it, by consent or by conquest.... The amount of Money in existence varies only with the action of the banks in increasing and decreasing deposits and bank purchases. Every loan, overdraft or bank purchase creates a deposit and every repayment of a loan, overdraft or bank sale destroys a deposit."

The California Senate Investigating Committee on Education, 1953 Report pgs 169-170: "So-called modern Communism is apparently the same hypocritical and deadly World conspiracy to destroy civilization that was founded by the secret order of the Illuminati in Bavaria on May 1, 1776, and that raised its hoary head in our colonies here at the critical period before the adoption of our Federal Constitution."

Why did U.S. Sen. William Jenner say in 1954? He spoke of a well-orchestrated, carefully timed conspiracy to undermine the American government. Although the Senator alluded to communism and socialism, these red herrings organized by the Illuminati central mega-banking dynasties have for decades served as calculated diversions from a larger conspiracy: the Illuminati and its Secret Brotherhood of New World Order planners. Senator Jenner may have suspected this when he spoke of an "established timetable" with "precisely measured parts": "We have a well organized political action group in this country, determined to destroy our Constitution and establish a one party state... (It has a) foothold within our Government, and its own propaganda apparatus...One may call this group by many names. Some people call it socialism, some communism, some collectivism. I prefer to call it 'democratic centralism'... The important point to remember is not its ideology but its organization. It is a dynamic, aggressive, elite corps, forcing its way through every opening, to make a breach for a collectivist one-party state. It operates secretly, silently, continuously to transform our Government without our suspecting the change is under way... This secret revolutionary corps understands well the power to influence the people...by an elegant form of brainwashing... We see this, for example, in the innocent use of words like 'democracy' in place of 'representative government'.... It conducts tactical retreats but only the more surely to advance its own secret goal...I know of the Alger Hisses who planned it that way... Dr. Wirt, of my State, told us in 1934 that the plans were all drawn, the timetable established... the revolutionary cabal and its allies... designated the overall strategy. They broke the whole up into precisely measured parts and carefully timed moves, which appear to be wholly unrelated... They will use every ally, to prevent the American people from guessing how far the transformation had gone..."

George W. Malone, U.S. Senator (Nevada), speaking before Congress in 1957, alluded to the families that secretly own the "Federal" Reserve Bank and control the finances of the U.S. He stated: "I believe that if the people of this nation fully understood what Congress has done to them over the last 49 years, they would move on Washington; they would not wait for an election...It adds up to a preconceived plan to destroy the economic and social independence of the United States!"

American Mercury Magazine, December 1957, pg. 92: "The invisible Money Power is working to control and enslave mankind. It financed Communism, Fascism, Marxism, Zionism and Socialism. All of these are directed to making the United States a member of a World Government..."

What did Eisenhower mean? when he said in 1961... Thoroughly managed by members of the CFR who dominated his cabinet, his policies shaped by their goals, Eisenhower left office in January of 1961 with a dire warning for the American people, "Beware the military industrial complex." (Dwight Eisenhower's view on using the Atomic Bomb "In 1945..., Secretary of War Stimson visited my headquarters in Germany, [and] informed me that our government was preparing to drop an atomic bomb on Japan. I was one of those who felt that there were a number of cogent reasons to question the wisdom of such an act.... During his recitation of the relevant facts, I had been conscious of a feeling of depression and so I voiced to him my grave misgivings, first on the basis of my belief that Japan was already defeated and that dropping the bomb was completely unnecessary, and second because I thought that our country should avoid shocking World opinion by the use of a weapon whose employment was, I thought, no longer mandatory as a measure to save American lives. It was my belief that Japan was, at that very moment, seeking some way to surrender with a minimum loss of 'face.' The Secretary was deeply perturbed by my attitude, almost angrily refuting the reasons I gave for my quick conclusions." Source: The White House Years: Mandate for Change: 1953-1956: A Personal Account, New York: Doubleday, 1963, pp. 312-313.)

What is the hidden history behind the former Bank of England director Lord Stamp's statement?: "Banking was conceived in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them with the power to create credit, and with a flick of the pen they will create enough money to buy it all back again. Take this power away from them, and all the great fortunes like mine would disappear, and they ought to disappear, for then this World would be a happier and better World to live in. But if you wish to remain the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then continue to let Bankers control money and control credit."

President Kennedy Nov. 12, 1963 said: About 2 weeks prior his assassination on Nov 22, Kennedy had a meeting in New York with the International Bankers. There is evidence that he learned that he had been lied to about Cuba and many other issues. In fact, there is substantial evidence that Kennedy was beginning to uncover an "international effort" to use the office of the President of the United States against America, and had threatened to expose this movement. "The great free nations of the World must take control of our monetary problems if these problems are not to take control of us." "The high office of the President has been used to foment a plot to destroy the American's freedom and before I leave office, I must inform the citizen of this plight." There is a debate on the exact date JFK said this. On Nov. 22nd, he was assassinated. On June 4, 1963, a virtually unknown Presidential decree, Executive Order 11110, had been signed with the authority given to the Treasury to directly issue silver certificates without going through the private Federal Reserve, however others claim he merely gave away the nation's silver reserves amending a Truman Executive Order 10289 with his EO-11110. Some claim that those Silver Certificates were debt free money that by-passed control by the Federal Reserve System. Others call it a silver give-a-way.

<http://www.freedomforceinternational.org/freedomcontent.cfm?fuseaction=jfkmyth&refpage=issuesby>

The Federal Reserve System threatened to "veto" President Kennedy. Controlled by the NY Fed Bank, the Fed keeps the public misinformed and uninformed. The banks have a stranglehold on America. This very informative document is reprinted in Money Is Unreal. The original can be found in the Congressional Record, Vol 110 - Part 13, August 3, 1964, pages 17837 through 17846 (8 pages.) The veto threat is on page 17846 (the last page) near the bottom of the first column. It is much easier to order the ABCs in booklet form from Peter Cook, Monetary Science Publishing, Box 86, Wickliffe, OH 44092. You will find the veto statement on page 19 of that edition.

President Kennedy also threatened to reveal the CIA's Majestic MJ-12/Jason Society drug running scheme (later known as the 50 Committee and then as PI-40 Committee). It seems that Kennedy's tendency to end the Vietnam War, to curtail the CIA, to bypass the Federal Reserve, and reign in Israel's nuclear program were the major reasons for his assassination. In Al-Wassat, recently released Israeli imprisoned citizen Mr. Vanunu said according to "near-certain indications", Kennedy was assassinated due to "pressure he exerted on then head of government, David Ben-Gurion, to shed light on the Dimona nuclear reactor". Kennedy is quoted as having said: "We do not know which irresponsible Israeli Prime Minister will take office and decide to use nuclear weapons in the struggle against neighboring Arab countries,", adding "what has already been exposed about the weapons Israel is holding can destroy the region and kill millions". Kennedy's comptroller of the currency, James J. Saxon, had been at odds with the powerful Federal Reserve Board for some time, encouraging broader investment and lending powers for banks that were not part of the Federal Reserve System. Saxon also had decided that non-Reserve banks could underwrite state and local general obligation bonds, again weakening the dominant Federal Reserve banks. JFK was moving towards weakening the Fed's stranglehold on money. When these United States of America "went off the Silver Standard" in 1964 after John F. Kennedy's assassination, the Government again repudiated the Redemption of Federal Reserve Notes in silver coin (the last lawful money) and replaced the lawful money with cupro-nickel tokens. In a very real sense, the United States became insolvent. We then had Federal Reserve Notes which were "redeemable" only in other Federal Reserve Notes and "token" coinage having little intrinsic value, and also not redeemable in anything of value.

We now have a "Federal Reserve Note" which does not Promise anything, is not Redeemable on Demand in anything of intrinsic value, and which has been deemed (unilaterally proclaimed) to be "legal tender", but which is not and cannot ever be lawful money of the United States. While the current "Federal Reserve Notes" are not valid promissory notes; they may be "bills of credit". Legally, such currency is called "scrip" or "fiat money". In slang, such currency is called "worthless", "bogus", "fake", "funny money", etc. What "obligation" could possibly attach to such a "Note" or to the use of such a "Note"? I believe that, since no obligation [of Redemption in Value] can attach to the purported Issuer [the Federal Reserve Banks] or to the purported co-signers [the Treasurer of the United States and the Secretary of the Treasury] of such a "Note", no obligation could possibly attach to the first, nor to any subsequent, holder or user of such a pseudo-"Note". And if it costs only 3-4 cents to make such a "Note" [no matter what the actual "face" denomination], isn't that production cost [paper, ink, and "security" strip] the only intrinsic value of the "Note"?

Congressional Report on Money (1964): "In other words, every the Federal Reserve System purporting to issue these "Federal Reserve Notes" as money to its member Banks and every member Bank issuing them to its customers is legally insolvent, because they cannot ever redeem such a "Federal Reserve Note" in lawful money of these United States of America. Further, they are also willfully committing Fraud upon their customers, because they know (even if their customers do not know) that they cannot redeem those "Federal Reserve Notes".

"War will exist until that distant day when the conscientious objector enjoys the same reputation and prestige that the warrior does today. – John F. Kennedy

Why was Lyndon Johnson revealing when he told his mistress that the CIA and the Mafia were "two sides of the same coin"?

In Tragedy and Hope (1966,) Quigley writes: "The powers of financial capitalism had another far-reaching aim, nothing less than to create a World system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the World as a whole. This system was to be controlled in a feudalist fashion by the central banks of the World acting in concert, by secret agreements, arrived at in frequent private meetings and conferences. The apex of the system was the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the World's central banks which were themselves private corporations. Each central bank, in the hands of men like Montagu Norman of the Bank of England, Benjamin Strong of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, Charles Rist of the Bank of France, and Hjalmar Schacht of the Reichsbank, sought to dominate its government by its ability to control Treasury loans, to manipulate foreign exchanges, to influence the level of economic activity in the country, and to influence cooperative politicians by subsequent economic rewards in the business World."

Why was Justice Mahony killed after giving a "Landmark Decision" in December 1968 and declaring the Federal Reserve unconstitutional? and Justice Mahoney is quoted more often than any Supreme Court justice ever was. The money boys that run the "private Federal Reserve Bank" soon got back at Mahoney by poisoning him in what appeared to have been a fishing boat accident with his body pumped full of poison in June of 1969.

J.K. Galbraith, 1975, Economist, in "Money, Whence It Came, Where It Went", Penguin Books, London, p.29: "The process by which banks create money is so simple that the mind is repelled. Where something so important is involved, a deeper mystery seems only decent."

The U.S. State Security Apparatus And Its Victims: A United States Senate Committee (Church committee) reported in 1976 that the CIA was able to sway public opinion by secretly employing at least fifty American journalists who could be expected to publish reports consistent with agency goals. (Church Comm.) The New York Times (12-25-26-27-1977) reported that the C.I.A. owns outright over 200 newspapers, magazines, wire services, and 26 publishing houses that operate in countries throughout the World.

David Rockefeller, described Mao's reign of terror as "one of the most important and successful in human history" (The New York Times, August 10, 1973). Obviously, Rockefellers are insane Luciferian Illuminati! Whatever happened to the Geneva convention, or the World court? Well, they don't apply to the chosen ones who are above the law it seems, i.e. US & Israel! David Rockefeller recently advocated torture to get out the truth! Really? Who is not telling the truth??!!

What did David Rockefeller, President of the Chase Manhattan Bank, son of the great John David Rockefeller who was one of the founders of the CFR which he presides over today, being the founder and current president of the Trilateral Commission, mean in his June 1991 inaugural speech? at the meeting of the Bilderberg Group in Baden Baden, to the senior figures who had come from all around the World to participate in the sessions: "We thank the Washington Post, the New York Times, Time Magazine and the other mainstream publications whose editors have taken part in our meetings and have kept their promise to be discreet for at least forty years... It would have been impossible for us to achieve our place in the World if we had been exposed to any kind of publicity during those years. But the World today is far more sophisticated and more ready to proceed towards a World government. Supranational sovereignty exercised by an intellectual elite and by World Bankers is certainly preferable to the national decisions taken over the centuries...". (by the way, the innocents are being tortured to distract attention from the real culprits; just remember when the African slaves used to be tarred and feathered, or whipped and lynched to detract people's attention from the tyranny of slavery? Sounds like a familiar tactic? Yes, keep accusing the Palestinians of not doing enough while Sharon steals their lands, and yes, keep creating fake terror while stealing just about everything that belongs to others!)

Dr. John Coleman in his 1992 book states the goal of the Illuminati Bankers: "A One World Government and one-unit monetary system, under permanent non-elected hereditary oligarchs who self-select from among their numbers in the form of a feudal system as it was in the Middle Ages. In this One World entity, population will be limited by restrictions on the number of children per family, diseases, wars, famines, until 1 billion people who are useful to the ruling class, in areas which will be strictly and clearly defined, remain as the total World population. There will be no middle class, only rulers and the servants. All laws will be uniform under a legal system of World courts practicing the same unified code of laws, backed up by a One World Government police force and a One World unified military to enforce laws in all former countries where no national boundaries shall exist. The system will be on the basis of a welfare state; those who are obedient and subservient to the One World Government will be rewarded with the means to live; those who are rebellious will simply be starved to death or be declared outlaws, thus a target for anyone who wishes to kill them. Privately owned firearms or weapons of any kind will be prohibited."

Why did New York Times columnist Thomas Friedman write that?: "For globalization to work, America can't be afraid to act like the almighty superpower that it is...The hidden hand of the market will never work without the hidden fist -- McDonald's cannot flourish without McDonnell Douglas, the designer of the F-15. And the hidden fist that keeps the World safe for Silicon Valley's technologies is called the US Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps."

Why did President Reagan threaten to replace Federal Reserve Bank chairman Paul Volcker? Reagan said: "That the Federal Reserve Bank was answerable to no one - not even the president..." Shortly after Reagan's comment in 1981 he was shot by a family friend of George Bush Sr. After Reagan recovered he publicly stated Federal Reserve Bank chairman Volcker was doing a "good job."

Why did Amnesty International state in 1996?: "Throughout the World, on any given day, a man, woman or child is likely to be displaced, tortured, killed or "disappeared", at the hands of governments or armed political groups. More often than not, the United States shares the blame."

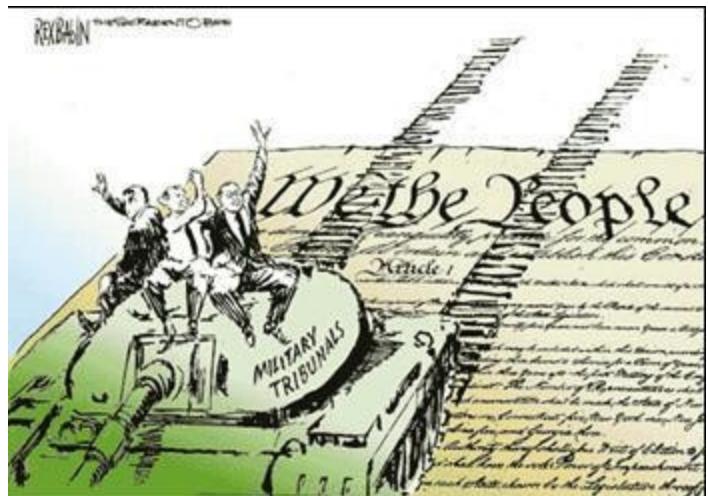

Former Harvard Business professor and author David Korten (1999) provides a more contemporary perspective on the "institutions of money": "The money World consists of Money and the institutions of Money – primarily corporations, financial institutions, and those aspects of government that deal with the regulation, budgeting, and expenditure of Money. This World is purely a creation of the human mind and has no meaningful existence beyond the confines of our consciousness. Yet it too has its own logic, values, and imperatives for healthy function. Its institutions are designed to collapse unless there is sustained growth in profits, stock prices, output, consumption, trade, investment, and tax receipts. Its appetites are insatiable and it acknowledges no physical limits. Whatever exists today, more is required tomorrow. Everything—even life—has its price. An absence of growth is a sign of stagnation and even decline. Its song calls us with promises of ease, personal power, and material prosperity; in return we must accept Money as the mediator of all values and dedicate our lives to its reproduction."

(2000) -- Project for a New American Century??? "The process of transformation, even if it brings revolutionary change, is likely to be a long one, absent some catastrophic and catalyzing event -- like a new Pearl Harbor".

William Cooper, Host, Hour Of The Time, killed Nov 2001: "Listen to everyone, read everything, believe absolutely nothing unless you can prove it in your own research." (Milton William Cooper revealed the secrets that he'd learned while in the Navy and eventually he submitted a "Petition to Indict" the members of Majestic MJ-12, and especially George Bush)

The British organization the Social Credit Secretariat (1998) note: "Much misunderstanding surrounds the "Money Mechanism": how and by whom the Money supply is created; what conditions are attached to its creation; how it is injected into the economy; why the total Money supply is periodically expanded so that the economy may grow, and why it is periodically contracted with a corresponding contraction of economic activity. Yet it is the common critical factor in virtually every major socio-economic problem that afflicts the World's peoples today. The Money mechanism is the major factor in the "economic cycle" and periodic unemployment. It drives the underlying rising trend in technological unemployment. It ensures a continuing commitment to long-term exponential "economic" growth with its related damage to the global environment. And it leads inevitably to escalating, and eventually unrepayable, international debt. It is increasingly important therefore, that the operation of the Money system and its socio-economic implications be much more widely understood, not least by those in the voluntary sector who are attempting to ameliorate one or more of the problems it causes."

Recently, Sept. 5, 2003, Congressman Rep. Ron Paul of Texas: who is on the Financial Services Committee, which oversees the entire financial services industry, including the securities, insurance, banking, and housing industries, serves as the vice-chairman of the Oversight and Investigations subcommittee that oversees the work of the Federal Reserve, the Treasury, the SEC, and other financial services regulators said before the U.S. House of Representatives on Sept. 5th: "We own the printing press and create as many dollars as we please. These dollars are used to buy federal debt. This allows our debt to be monetized and the spendthrift Congress, of course, finds this a delightful convenience and never complains. As the dollars circulate through our fractional reserve banking system, they expand many times over. With our excess dollars at home, our trading partners are only too happy to accept these dollars in order to sell us their products. Because our dollar is relatively strong compared to other currencies, we can buy foreign products at discounted prices. In other words, we get to create the World's reserve currency at no cost, spend it overseas, and receive manufactured goods in return.... All great republics throughout history cherished sound money. This meant that the monetary unit was a commodity of honest weight and purity. When money was sound, civilizations were found to be more prosperous and freedom thrived. The less free a society becomes, the greater the likelihood its money is being debased and the economic well-being of its citizens diminished.... Yet here we are today with a purely fiat monetary system, managed almost exclusively by Alan Greenspan. The Founders were well aware of the biblical admonitions against dishonest weights and measures, debased silver, and watered-down wine. The issue of sound money throughout history has been as much a moral issue as an economic or political issue."

Norman Mailer, 2001: "The right wing benefited so much from September 11 that, if I were still a conspiratorialist, I would believe they'd done it."

More on Fiat Money Fraud and the Mechanics of Money

It often helps us to understand something if we examine its origins. Throughout recorded history the practice of usury (Latin usus meaning "used" and the word usuria which means demanding in return for a loan a greater amount than was borrowed), along with the practice of giving false measure, has been condemned. Aristotle and Plato in ancient Greece denounced it as well as prophets in the Old Testament and early Christians. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus (actual name is Yashua or Esa or in Gaelic Isa Mac Mariam Esa son of Mary, and should really be translated as Joshua and not as Jesus which may have come from the Greco-Roman Ja-Zeus or Sun-God), it should be remembered, drove usurers out of the Temple in Jerusalem and this played a part in bringing about his apparent crucifixion by the Roman Pharisee King Pailatoos (Pilates). Buddhists have condemned usury and the Quran does so as well (and probably many other religious and non-religious books). The very old usurers lent their own real money, and this has grown into the modern ones, the Illuminati Bankers, who lend money created from nothing at interest, i.e. FIAT money as explained before.

THE VALUE OF FIAT MONEY DEPENDS on the confidence of those who use it and on the confidence of those who accept it as one means by which they exchange goods and services. Today, money is a commodity substitute with no intrinsic value. This type of money is actually stock whose value keeps decreasing due to dilution and corrupt issues. The dollar now is only a share counter with no fixed commodity value. It is created from nothing by the Illuminati Banking Dynasties and they charge the taxpayers interest on something they create from nothing! Mega-highway robbery as explained in the previous sections. Historically, value has been vested in certain objects and these have taken many forms: cattle (source of the word "capital"), iron, gold, silver, diamonds, shells, and numerous other things. These forms of "money" had intrinsic value and were readily accepted in exchange of goods and services. In fact, the goods and services are the real money! Other forms of money such as merely paper notes or computer entries in a data bank have no intrinsic value unless these notes or entries are backed by assets such as gold or silver that are owned by the issuer; if there is no owned actual asset behind it, this form of money is called "fiat" money. If it is backed by real assets, it is called "real" money. Whether a tangible object or a computer entry, money is based on a social agreement or legislation to recognize value. This allows the computer entry or the object to be accepted in exchange for commodities or products or goods and services or for the settling of debts. Today, the average person uses a mixture of traditional as well as newer forms of money — public and private currencies such as coins and paper notes, cheques, and debit cards — and several means of storing money such as accounts, savings bonds, and certificates of investment. These various forms of money, and the institutions and markets that help people borrow, save, and invest, are part of the World's financial system.

Money was meant to play three principal roles our lives:

- Means of exchange — Without money, we would have to exchange goods and services directly — what is known as barter. Money simplifies these exchanges and acts as an intermediary in transactions. Today, it is an I OWE U rather than a commodity such as gold or silver.
- Unit of measurement — As a unit of measurement, money allows us to compare the value of goods and services. It is both the standard for pricing goods and services and the means of buying and selling them. Money also allows us to compare costs, income, and profit across time. As such, money is the foundation of the accounting system that allows us to plan and make economic decisions. However, it is constantly losing its value and therefore is a moving target.
- Means of storing purchasing power for future use — As a reserve, money allows us to accumulate savings over time and to lend those savings to someone else. It makes it much simpler for us to make contracts — promising to do something now for payment in the future. However, its constantly losing its value and therefore is a moving target.

As recently as the 1930s, many countries did not have a central bank. Each bank would issue its own notes or money. When a central bank is established in a country, it usually becomes the only authority for issuing bank notes, whether it is owned by the people or is private. There are basically two types of FIAT money which float in the economy, waiting to be spent:

- Government created, debt-free and interest-free notes (currency and coins on which no interest is paid to anyone)
- Private Bank cyber account, i.e. US dollar Deposits in banks, created through debt and loans. Over 98% of money in the US and Canada is now in the form of debt on which interest is paid to the private banks.

The bank notes issued by the central banks represent only a small portion of all the money circulating in the economy at any one time like a hot potato, the other one being money sitting in various types of bank accounts. The amount of money in circulation can be measured in a number of different ways. Some of these different measures, which are called monetary aggregates, are described below.

"M1": The currency bank notes & coins in circulation + personal chequing accounts + current accounts at banks, i.e. demand deposits, the highest form of liquidity.

"M2": A broader measure which includes "M1" + personal savings accounts + other chequing accounts + term deposits + non-personal deposits requiring notice before withdrawal.

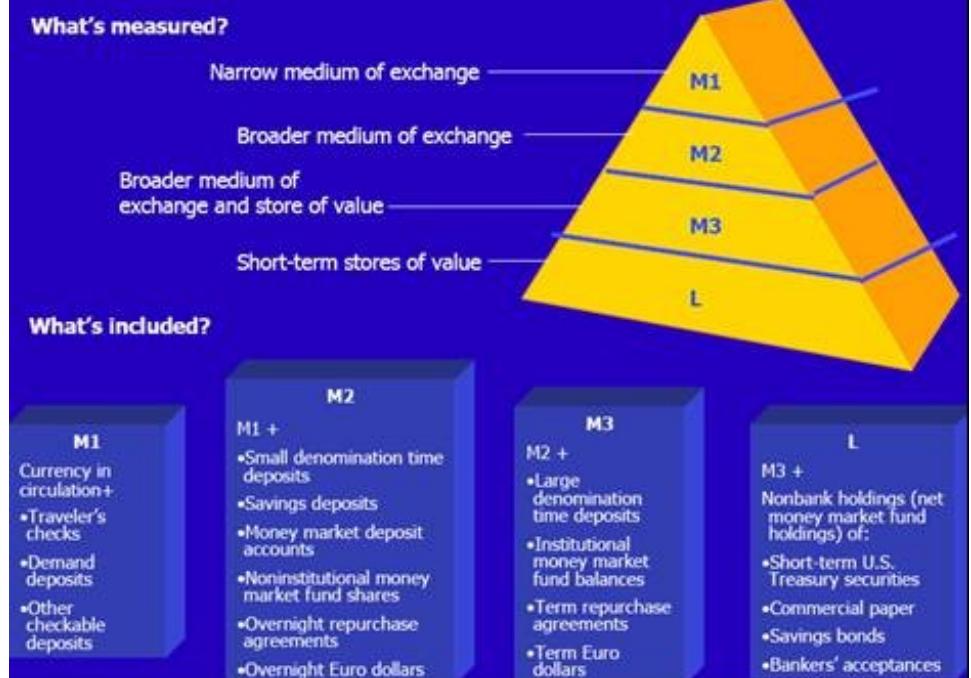

"M2+" or "M3": An even broader measure of money which includes "M2" + all deposits at non-bank deposit-taking institutions + money-market mutual funds + individual annuities at life insurance companies.

"M2++" or "M3+": An even broader measure still which includes "M2+" + all types of mutual funds + CSBs. As of March 1, 2006, M3 is no longer disclosed by the FED because it is trying to hide the fact that it's creating huge amounts of money from nothing which will cause hyperinflation in the future.

Liquidity means the ability to meet all contractual obligations such as interest or capital payments when they are due. Money is, by legislation, the thing that legally discharges all contractual obligations. Money is, therefore, the liquid asset par excellence (i.e. available cash or the capacity to obtain it on demand, e.g. a bank increasing its liquidity by shortening the average term of its loans). If money is to do all the things we want it to do, its value must remain reasonably stable over time. However, fiat money (money not backed or represented by real collateral) loses its value or purchasing power and this loss is referred to as the inflation rate. This leads to the term "real interest rate" which is the difference between the inflation rate and borrowing interest rate. How and when is money created? Money is created at the central bank and local bank levels (and other lending institutions) in the following way:

- The value is first provided to the bank through the borrower's promissory note such as bonds that the government prints and mortgage papers that we sign, i.e. the borrower's promise to pay in writing (the borrower being the government or other mega-borrowers in the case of the central bank, and you & I in the case of a local bank)
- The bank deposits the note as an "asset" in their accounting system and the borrower's own note is used as the value to fund the "loan" by issuing a cheque to the borrower! That's what I call a "rip-off" in street language, from the borrower's point of view!!!
- MONEY IS CREATED WHEN THE GOVERNMENTS OR YOU & I BORROW IT!
- We pay interest on "cyber money" created without collateral, i.e. "fiat" money.
- To illustrate interest, the word mort-gage word is derived from Latin 'mort' - death, and the Old Norman 'gage' – grip, i.e. "death-grip".
- MONEY IN CIRCULATION IS MONETIZED DEBT, i.e. I OWE U or promises to pay!
- NOTE THAT MONEY TO PAY THE INTEREST IS NOT CREATED, i.e. SOMEONE ELSE NEEDS TO BORROW THE MONEY WITH WHICH YOU PAY YOUR INTEREST (starting to sound like a Pyramid Scheme or a Tower of Babel which ends up with depressions, bail-outs, bankruptcies, failures or countries and individuals selling their assets to the mega-banking dynasties at bargain basement prices, i.e. economic slavery and after that, the next step is bondage!) or the bankers create the money and spend it (i.e. they get something for nothing), i.e. we are working for the bank!!!
- SO THESE GUYS HAVE TO KEEP ATTRACTING GOVERNMENTS AND PEOPLE INTO DEBT OR FORCE THEM INTO DEBT TO KEEP THIS MONEY MAKING MACHINE GOING!!!
- At the same time each time a loan is repaid or written-off, money is destroyed or taken out of circulation in this debt-based money system thus reducing the liquidity flow into the economy.
- Banks have the ability of destroying money (remember the great depression?) and creating money (boom)
- While reserve requirements had been put in place after World War II to limit the amount of new money private banks could create ex-nihilo, these requirements were eliminated in Canada in 1991 by an amendment to the Bank of Canada Act and have been reduced to 0% on savings accounts in the US and 3% on chequing accounts (with a proposal before Congress to eliminate even the chequing account reserve requirements). This means that the power of private banks over money creation is now virtually unlimited.
- The US debt has grown from $425 billion in 1950 to an astounding $25.6 trillion by the end of 1999 (Federal Reserve System, 1999). The mountain of US debt is in fact greater than the entire Third World nations ($2.5 trillion) combined. The privately owned Federal Reserve central Bank is collecting "rivers and oceans" of interest on "fiat" money which they created out of nothing!
- Debt-write-offs have no real capital affect on banks overall since the money was created out of nothing, although some individual banks may fail when unable to do inter-bank transfers which is equivalent to a run-on-the-bank. The real affect is that they don't get to collect interest anymore on the written-off debt. Since all debt is borrowed money, in order to write off a debt, it is necessary to destroy part of the money supply. Actual and impending losses give rise to a desire for additional liquidity in the financial system in the form of more "fiat" money. Until that liquidity is obtained, bankruptcies and price deflation will set in. The losers are always the employees, shareholders, tax payers and the masses when public assets have to be sold off to the banking dynasties for a penny on the $.
- Money loses its value when it is created and put into circulation (spent) faster than the growth in productivity in the local economy.

As we have noted a critical element of the fractional reserve debt-money system - interest on bank-created debt - ensures that without continuous growth the system cannot survive. For, when banks create money to lend they do not create any money with which the related interest can be paid. Only further borrowing for further production or the Banksters release of their collected interest can offer even the potential that interest might be paid. If the private owners of the central banks decide not to extend anymore credit, there will be no money to service the interest payments, causing bankruptcies and foreclosures that these owners will then purchase for a penny on the dollar just like they did during the great depression of 1929! Then, they will continue to collect interest on money issued from nothing and will lend more. Thus, they live in an evergreen World and keep amassing wealth while the rest of the masses keep going deeper and deeper into debt or works for the Banksters! We have already explained in a previous section why Usury is forbidden.

Both the privately owned Fed banks and the commercial banks create money from nothing and their major owners are the same 300 families head by the 13 Illuminati families. 1. Astor, 2. Bundy, 3. Collins, 4. DuPont, 5. Freeman, 6. Kennedy, 7. Li (Chinese), 8. Onassis, 9. Rockefeller, 10. Rothschild, 11. Russell, 12. van Duyn, 13. Merovingian (European Royal Families). The following families are also interconnected with those above: 1. Reynolds, 2. Disney, 3. Krupp, 4. McDonald. Also, in addition to those four families, there are hundreds of others that are connected more distantly to the main 13 Illuminati bloodlines. Although significant, they are not mentioned here; they are considered less powerful and less pure by the 13 Elite Bloodlines. A total of about 300 interconnected families control the show. All the families above can be studied in much more detail in Fritz Springmeier's excellent book: "Bloodlines of the Illuminati".

Rothschild Realizes The Immense Power of Being the Issuer of Money

The power of one who gets to issue money by creating it from nothing as in paper notes or accounting entry with no liability one self because the money is merely passed from people to people and not redeemed is IMMENSE. Thus everyone else pays to make the issuer wealthy through inflation. The Rothschild in the 1700s had discovered the basic principle of power, influence, and control over people as applied to economics. That principle is "when you assume the appearance of power, people soon give it to you". Rothschild had discovered that currency or deposit loan accounts had the required appearance of power that could be used to induce people into surrendering their real wealth in exchange for a promise of greater wealth instead of real compensation. They would put up real collateral in exchange for a loan of promissory notes. Rothschild found that he could issue more notes than he had backing for, so long as he had someone's stock of gold as a persuader to show to his customers. Rothschild loaned his promissory notes to individuals and to governments. These would create over-confidence. Then he would make money scarce, tighten control of the system, and collect the collateral through the obligation of contracts. The cycle was then repeated. These pressures could be used to ignite war. Then he would control the availability of currency to determine who would win the war. That government which agreed to give him control of its economic system got his support. Collection of debts was guaranteed by the enemy of the debtor. The profit derived from this economic methodology made the Rothschilds' dynasties and their relatives all the more wealthy and all the more able to extend his wealth. He found that the public greed would allow currency to be printed by government order beyond the limits of backing in precious metal or the production of goods and services (gross national product, GNP) thus causing continuous inflation.

What did Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild, (The Synagogue of Satan or Lucifer or Holder of The Light hence Satanic Luciferian ILLUMINATI) mean 1744-1812: "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependant on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

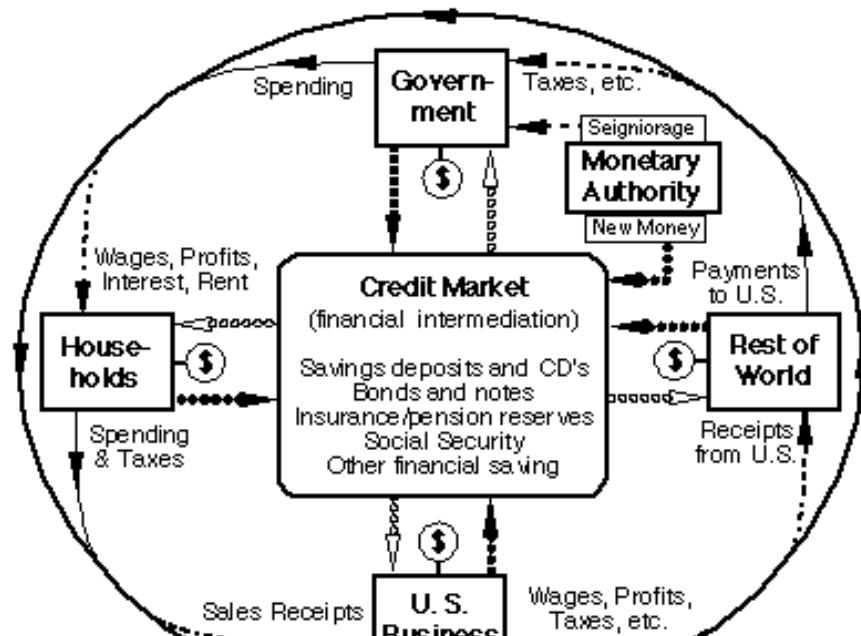

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

The Rothschilds' favorite saying who along with the Rockefellers are the major Illuminati Banking Dynasties: "Who controls the issuance of money controls the government!"

The Circular Flow of Money

Relationship of Money Creation, Money Stocks, and Credit Flows To the Circular Flow of Income and Spending

His relative Nathan Rothschild said (1777-1836): "I care not what puppet is placed on the throne of England to rule the Empire. The man who controls Britain's money supply controls the British Empire and I control the British money supply."

In this structure, credit, presented as "currency", has the appearance of capital. Hence, it has the appearance of service, but is, in fact, indebtedness or debt. It is therefore an economic inductance instead of an economic capacitance, and if balanced in no other way, will be balanced by the negation of population (war, genocide). The total goods and services represents real capital called the gross national product, and currency may be printed up to this level and still represent economic capacitance; but currency printed beyond this level is subtractive, represents the introduction economic inductance, and constitutes notes of indebtedness. War is therefore the balancing of the system by killing the true creditors (the public which we have thought to exchange true value for inflated currency) and falling back on whatever is left of the resources of nature and the regeneration of those resources. Rothschild had discovered that currency gave him the power to rearrange the economic structure to his own advantage, to shift economic inductance to those economic positions which would encourage the greatest economic instability and oscillation.

The final key to economic slavery control had to wait until there was sufficient data and high speed computing equipment to keep close watch on the economic oscillations created by price shocking and excess paper energy credits -- paper inductance/inflation). To do shock testing in economic engineering, the prices of commodities are shocked, and the public consumer reaction is monitored. The resulting echoes of the economic shock are interpreted theoretically by computers and this psycho economic structure of the economy is thus discovered. It is by this process that the partial differential and difference matrices are discovered that define the family household and make possible its evaluation as an economic industry (dissipative consumer structure). Then the response of the household to future shocks can be predicted and manipulated, and society becomes a well regulated animal with its reins under the control of a sophisticated computer regulated social energy bookkeeping system. Eventually every individual element of the structure comes under computer control through a knowledge of personal preferences, such knowledge guaranteed computer association of consumer preferences (universal product codes on packages using 6-6-6 as the spacer code) with identified consumers identified via association with the use of a credit card and later a permanent 'tattooed' body number or RFID invisible under normal ambient illumination.

Economics is only a social extension of a natural energy system. It also has its three passive components. Because of the distribution of wealth and the lack of communication and consequent lack of data, this field has been the last energy field for which knowledge of these three passive components have been developed. Since energy is the key to all activity on the face of the earth, it follows that in order to attain a monopoly of energy, raw materials, goods, and services and to establish a World system of slave labor, it is necessary to have a first strike capability in the field of economics. In order to maintain our position, it is necessary that we have absolute first knowledge of the science of control over all economic factors and the first experience at engineering the World economy. In order to achieve such sovereignty, we must at least achieve this one end: that the public will not make both the logical or mathematical connection between economics and the other energy sciences or learn to apply such knowledge. This is becoming increasingly difficult to control because more and more businesses are making demands upon their computer programmers to create and apply mathematical models for the management of those businesses. It is only a matter of time before the new breed of private programmer/economists will catch on to the far reaching implications of the work begun at Harvard in 1948. The speed with which they can communicate their warning to the public will largely depend upon how effective we have been at controlling the media, subverting education, and keeping the public distracted with matters of no real importance.

Harvard Economic Research Project 1948-xxxx\) World War II Operations Research

Economics as a social energy science has as a first objective the description of the complex way in which any given unit of resources is used to satisfy some economic want (Leontief Matrix). This first objective, when it is extended to get the most product from the least or limited resources, comprises that objective of general military and industrial logistics known as Operations Research (See simplex method of linear programming). The Harvard Economic research Project (1948-) was an extension of World War II Operations Research. Its purpose was to discover the science of controlling an economy: at first the American economy, and then the World economy. It was felt that with sufficient mathematical foundation and data, it would be nearly as easy to predict and control the trend of an economy as to predict and control the trajectory of a projectile. Such has proven to be the case. Moreover, the economy has been transformed into a guided missile on target. The immediate aim of the Harvard project was to discover the economic structure, what forces change that structure, how it can be manipulated. What was needed was a well organized knowledge of the mathematical structures and interrelationships of investment, production, distribution, and consumption. To make a short story of it all, it was discovered that an economy obeyed the same laws as electricity and that all of the mathematical theory and practical computer know-how developed for the electronic field could be directly applied in the study of economics. This discovery was not openly declared, and its more subtle implications were and are kept a closely guarded secret, for example that in an economic model, human life is measured in dollars, and that the electric spark generated when opening a switch connected to an active inductor is mathematically analogous to the initiation of a war.

The greatest hurdle which theoretical economists faced was the accurate description of the household as an industry. This is a challenge, because consumer purchases are a matter of choice which in turn is influenced by income, price, and other economic factors. This hurdle was cleared in an indirect and statistically approximate way by an application of shock testing the current characteristics, called current technical coefficients, of household industry. Finally, because problems in theoretical economics can be translated very easily into problems in theoretical electronics, and the solution translated back again, it follows that only a book of language translation and concept definition needed to be written for economics. The remainder could be gotten from standard works on mathematics and electronics. This makes the publication of books on advanced economics unnecessary, and greatly simplifies project security. An ideal industry is defined as a device which receives value from other industries in several forms and converts it into one specific product for sales and distribution to other industries. It has several inputs and one output. What the public normally thinks of as one industry is really an industrial complex where several under one roof produce one or more products. A pure (single output) industry can be represented over simply by a circuit block. Industries fall into three categories or classes by type of output. Class #1 - Capital (resources), Class #2 - Goods (commodities or use - dissipative), Class #3 - Services (action of population).

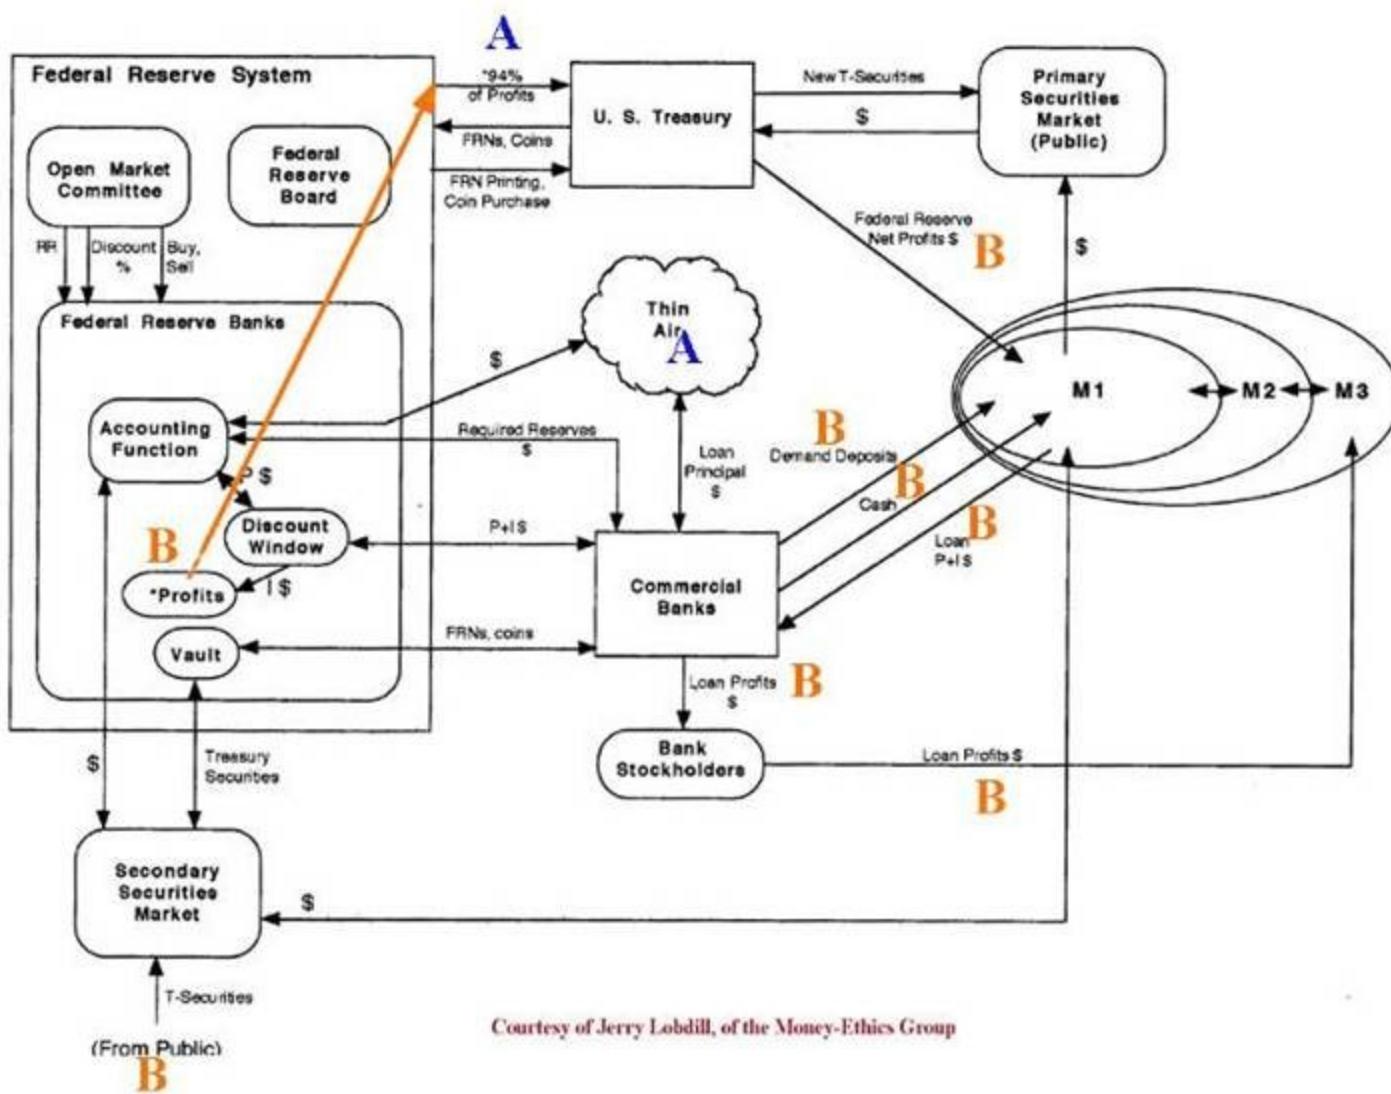

- Class #1 industries exist at three levels; (1) Nature - sources of energy and raw materials. (2) Governmental - printing of currency equal to the gross national product (GNP), and extension* of currency in excess of GNP. (3) Banking - loaning of money for interest, and extension*(counterfeiting) of economic value through deposit loan accounts. *- inflation.
 - Class #2 industries exist as producers of tangible or consumer (dissipated) products. This sort of activity is usually recognized and labeled by the public as an 'industry'.
 - Class #3 industries are those which have service rather than a tangible product as their output. These industries are called (1) households, and (2) governments. Their output is human activity of a mechanical sort, and their basis is population.

Monopoly-capitalism (=communism=feudalism): Everyone Works for the BankLords

Central Banks, commercial banks and other financial institutions provide the greater part of assets used as money through loans made to individuals and businesses with "fiat" or cyber money they are allowed to create. In that sense, financial institutions are creating money from debt. If you think about it, the Bankers' scheme is really quite brilliant. They have usurped the power to issue currency from the people. I mean, what other business in the whole World allows you to create money based on the value that someone else gives you, then charge that person again plus interest? Well, it gets even worse. With the fractional banking ratio of 1 to 10, Bankers can make loans of 9 times the "asset" amount on deposit! If the central bank belongs to the government (with no strings attached such as the fiduciary bonds scam owed to the Rothschilds' gang with the Bank of England and France), then the public benefits. If it's in the hands of private "banksters", then it has usurped the power from the people, hence the term "monopoly-capitalism". Although Communism, like other isms, had originated with Marx's association with the House of Rothschild banking dynasty, it also enlisted the reverent support of John D. Rockefeller because he saw Communism for what it is, the ultimate monopoly-capitalism, not only controlling the government, the monetary system and all property, but also a monopoly which, like the corporations it emulates, is self-perpetuating and eternal, and it was the logical progression from his Standard Oil monopoly.

Rockefeller said: "Competition is a sin". "Own nothing. Control everything". Because he wants to centralize control of everything and enslave us all, i.e. the modern Nimrod or Pharaoh.

Follow the Money: Your Deposits: The U. S. Monetary System

Fractional Reserve Banking & The Magic Multiplier: Follow the Money

To understand Fractional Reserve Banking it's necessary to understand where bank notes came from: In the olden times, people deposited their silver and gold money at goldsmiths (where it was safely deposited in the goldsmiths' strongboxes). In return they received a note. Over time those notes got used in trade, as they were much more convenient to carry around than heavy metal money - thus paper money was born. As soon as bank notes were accepted as a means of payment, the goldsmiths/money lenders recognized that all the people who had their gold and silver money deposited at their place would never want it back at the same time (unless there is a "run on the bank"). Therefore they could lend "virtual" (and you thought cyber space was a recent invention!) money in the form of notes, keeping only a fraction of the "real" gold and silver money in reserve (usually around 10% of the amount lent out in note form, i.e. maintaining a fractional reserve of 10%). Today, Central/National/Federal Reserve Banks usually have a nation/union-wide monopoly on issuing bank notes.

In this sense, a bank is nothing but a fraud (shall we call them "banksters" as in "gangsters")? It is a giant loan kiting scheme. If I had $10,000 in my account and I wrote a check for $100,000 I might be in big trouble. But banks are legally allowed to "loan" seven to 10 times more than they have on deposit. Where does this "money" come from? It is actually nothing but ledger entries... They are creating money from NOTHING. The scheme actually began around the middle ages. The first Bankers said: Here, deposit your gold in our vault and we will give you a receipt for it, that way you will not be robbed when you carry that sack of gold on horseback. The charge is only a small fee. After a while, people found it convenient to "buy" goods and services using these receipts. After all, you can go redeem the gold any time you want, right? Well, the Bankers soon realized that most of the people never came back and redeemed the gold so they started printing receipts for which there were no deposits, and spending them into the economy. Today we call this fractional reserve banking. So you see, that 100,000 are really worth 700,000 in fraudulent loans, plus interest!

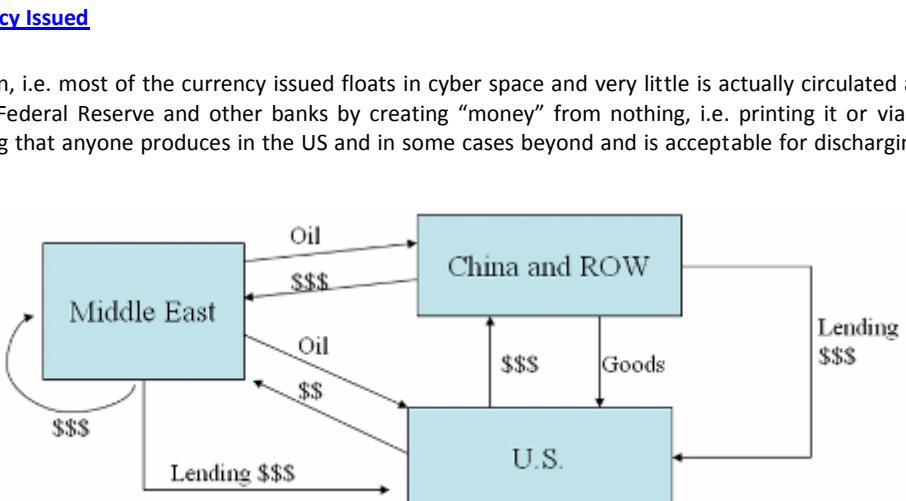

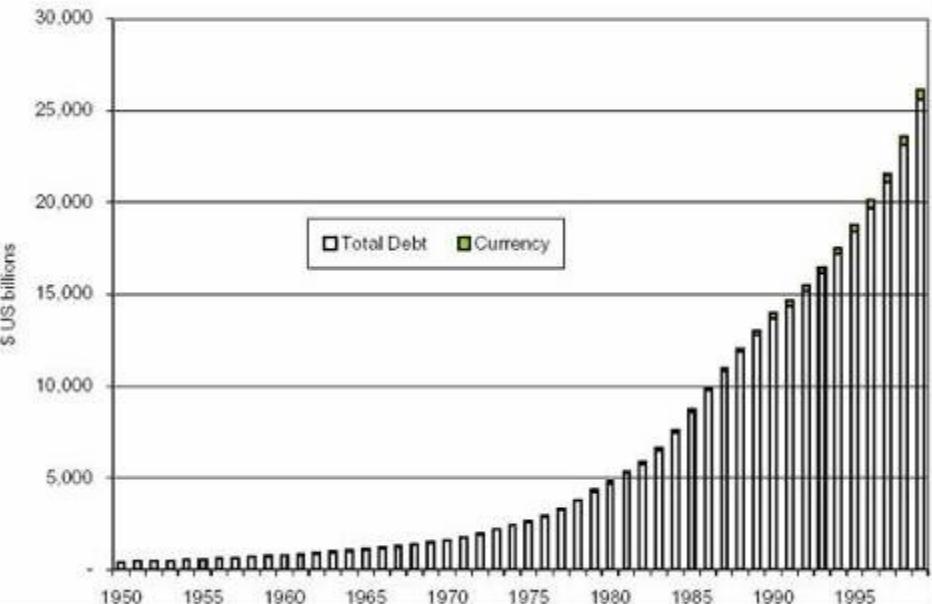

Bankers took control of the U.S. in 1913 by bribing a few congressmen to pass the Federal Reserve Act after which President Woodrow Wilson lamented about his mistake. "We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the World - no longer a Government of free opinion, no longer a Government by conviction and vote of the majority, but a Government by the opinion and duress of small groups of dominant men." President Woodrow Wilson, following the establishment of the privately owned Federal Reserve System in 1913. The Federal Reserve Act gave the power to issue currency and loan fiat money, i.e. money create out of nothing and without being backed by gold, to a private owned cartel known as the Federal Reserve Banks. A lot more on the details of this gigantic fraud later in several sections of this book.

Oil Dollars Fund US Trade Deficit: US Debt Versus Currency Issued

A chart of US Debt vs Government Currency in circulation, i.e. most of the currency issued floats in cyber space and very little is actually circulated as paper notes. This debt has been issued by the private Federal Reserve and other banks by creating "money" from nothing, i.e. printing it or via a computer entry. This "money" is redeemable for anything that anyone produces in the US and in some cases beyond and is acceptable for discharging debts.

[edited slightly for clarity] Copyright By Richard Benson, founder of Specialty Finance Group. He can be reached at AssetBond@aol.com. The Asians remain shocked and in disbelief. Just when Japan, China, Taiwan and Hong Kong had accumulated enough dollars to buy oil to keep them warm for many winters, it's all over. In broad daylight, the Americans cheered as the price of oil popped up from US$30 a barrel to more than $50. Indeed, this jump in the price of oil increases the World's daily oil consumption bill of 84 million barrels a day to $4.2 billion, from $2.5 billion (or $1.5 trillion a year from $900 billion). The World now has to shell out an additional $600 billion a year of "lucky bucks" to oil-producing countries just to stay in motion. The bigger shock, however, is in the devaluation of dollar holdings of US Treasury debt. The rise in oil prices guarantees that the value of the US dollar will be pushed down even further, and stay down.

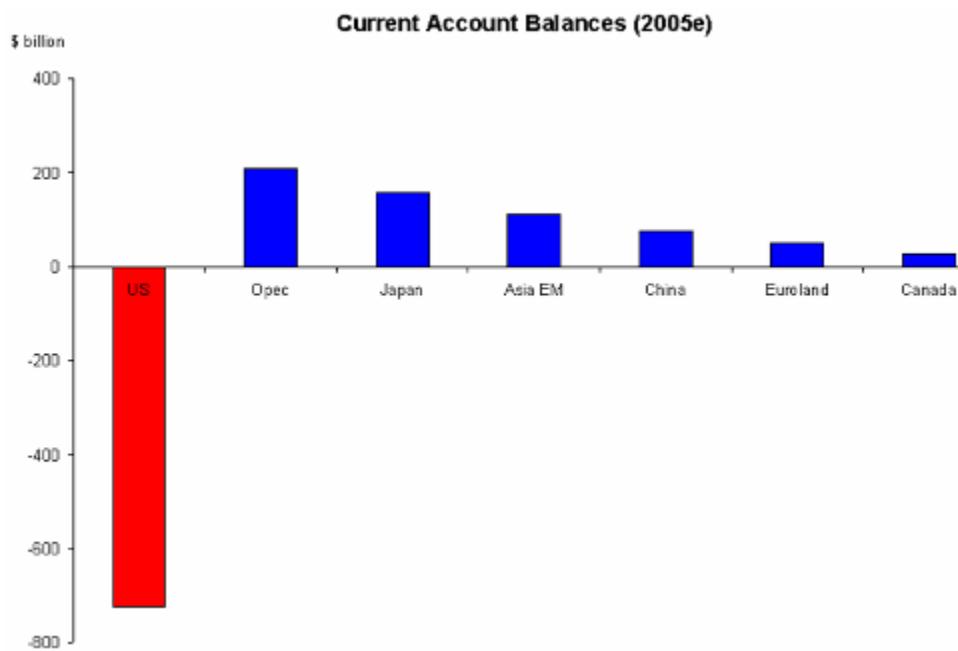

US Total Debt vs. Government Currency

- US running large c/a deficit, while rest of world runs c/a surpluses
- Emerging market oil deficits offset by exports to US
- World central banks lending to the US by buying US Treasuries

Now that China is the No 2 oil importer and Japan is No 3 - with the rest of Asia very thirsty for oil as well - you can understand why the Asians must find a way to protect themselves. The US strategy for using oil to finance its deficit is, of course, brilliant. America's elected officials knew that at some point those independent foreign central banks would start getting edgy about buying more dollars to pay for the United States' war and deficits. The $650 billion trade deficit is breathing down the dollar's neck. So which central banks can the US continue to use as the fall guys to buy the dollar? Why not the Persian Gulf oil states - but where would they get the dollars to buy US Treasuries? Well, with the Chinese piling up dollars and growing like crazy, at some point the oil market had to tighten. It was only a matter of time before the Chinese would start bidding up the price of oil. The Asians, therefore, are hung out to dry when the price of oil rises because they have to spend more of their dollars on oil.

Under the agreement which allowed the setup of OPEC, all income above a limited amount must be recycled into the Federal Reserve System by acquired US Treasury Bonds and the interest earned on those bonds must be spent on buying products and services from the Military-Industrial-Congressional Complex. This is defacto funding part of the US deficit and imperial wars (China, Japan and others are funding the rest with the Treasury bills that they are holding). Basically, OPEC is acting as the collector of the IMPERIAL TAX! How you ask? Because inflation is a hidden tax and the Treasury Bonds keep depreciating in buying power; the large bond holders will never get to spend them; and all taxes reach the coffers of the Federal Reserve System Bank owners! The same Rothschild/Rockefeller banking/oil dynasties who set up the private owned central banking cartel known as the Federal Reserve which actually serves their large commercial banks also setup OPEC to ensure that the Dollars they print are recycled into Treasury Bills/Bonds! As the price of oil goes up, extra money floods into the Gulf kingdoms. With the US secretary of defense putting troops all over the ground in the Middle East, and those nimble aircraft carriers nearby and ready to deliver the "shock and awe of sudden democracy" to the Gulf monarchs, it's a sure bet that OPEC will stash their newly found Asian lucky bucks into good old American Treasury notes where they are in suspension, waiting to be spent but never spent and thus on a permanent loan basis with minimal interest payments that are taxed at 30% anyways. With such a simple policy to fund its deficit for another year, it's no wonder the United States can get by without any brain power at the Treasury Department. In effect, the US and its Gulf Arab allies just pulled off the biggest central-bank heist in the history of the World. The price of oil just went up 60% or more, which really cuts down to size that $3.4 trillion of net foreign holdings of US financial assets. As a loyal American, one would like to cheer one's government's deft move to pick the pockets of our trading and financing partners. Moreover, the US gets the Arabs to fund a large share of our deficit, subsidize our interest rates, and help keep our taxes low for another year. Surely I can afford to buy another gas-guzzling sport-utv, get a rifle, and wave a flag.

The United States is extracting tribute on oil from the World. If the World wants Middle Eastern oil, it must pay for it through the US dollar. Why do the heads of Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi, Bahrain, Qatar, etc, hold dollars? If they don't buy dollars, why would the US keep them in power? It would simply not be in our interests to do so. Remember when Saddam Hussein talked about pricing Iraq's oil in euros? "Shock and awe" quietly followed. This program of oil for dollars and dollars for the US Treasury deficit is the simple tribute that we, as the superpower, can expect. Unlike the Vietnam era - when the US was trying to finance guns and butter - getting others to pay now for our guns allows us to milk the oil out of the sand and turn it into butter. The next question will be how the Asians respond to a 60% hike in the price of oil. Notice in the chart below there are some big, smart, anonymous dollar holders (such as hedge funds) located in the Caribbean. No one knows who they really are. Major known foreign holders of US Treasury securities (figures are much higher now after the Bush regime increased the debt from $3 Trillion to $9 Trillion, e.g. Saudi Arabia now holds nearly $4 Trillion of Treasury bills which they are not allowed to spend):

| Japan (in billions of dollars) | |
|---|-------|
| Mainland China | 702 |
| England | 194 |
| Caribbean | 163 |
| Korea | 93 |
| Taiwan | 68 |
| Hong Kong | 59 |
| Total (including other countries with fewer holdings) | 1,960 |

The public debt is already projected to grow from a level of 34 percent of the Gross Domestic Product (the basic measure of the size of the U.S. economy) in 2000 to nearly 70 percent of GDP by 2030. The borrowing called for under the plan advanced by the President's Social Security Commission would raise the debt to nearly 100 percent of GDP by 2030. Under some other individual account plans, the debt would be raised to even higher levels. These elevated levels of debt would increase the risk of a crisis in which the government faces difficulty paying the interest on this debt or issuing new debt in the bond market. The borrowing that would create such a fiscal situation could be obscured or omitted from the federal budget.

Understanding The Meaning of GDP Gross Domestic Product

This is an aside note about GDP or gross domestic product, but I might as well bring it up since we are talking about money. Simon Kuznets (1965) pointed out that "the welfare of a nation can scarcely be inferred from a measurement of national income as defined by the GDP...goals for 'more' growth should specify of what and for what." As a gauge of economic performance and well-being, the GDP embodies at least seven major fallacies:

First, the GDP regards every expenditure as an addition to well-being, regardless what that expenditure is for and the effects. By this reasoning the nation's economic hero is the terminal cancer patient going through an expensive divorce, whose car is totaled in a twenty-car pile-up. The economic villain is the healthy person in a solid marriage that cooks at home, walks to work and doesn't smoke, gamble or spend the evening surfing Web porn. The hero borrows and spends; the villain pays cash and saves for the kids' education. What economists call "growth", in other words, is not always the same as what most Americans would consider good.

Second, the GDP ignores the crucial economic functions that lie outside the realm of monetary exchange. GDP excludes the value of unpaid housework, child care, volunteer work, and leisure. Parents do real work. So do neighbors, communities, open spaces, rivers and oceans, the atmosphere, and trees. Anyone who doubts this might try getting along without them. Such things contribute more to well being than does much that we buy from the market. Yet the GDP regards these life-sustaining functions as worthless - until the economy destroys them, and we have to buy substitutes from the market or from government. Then the GDP says that the economy has "grown." When parents default and kids need counseling or foster care, the GDP goes up because money has changed hands. When a parent cares for kids at home the GDP stagnates; when that same parent takes care of other peoples' kids at day care the GDP goes up. When the city cuts down shade trees to widen a street, and homeowners have to buy air conditioners for cooling, the GDP goes up again. It looks like economic growth; but in reality no increase has occurred. Instead, something that used to be free now costs money; social and environmental decay has been transmogrified into "growth" through the myopic lens of the GDP.

Third, the GDP does not account for natural resources that are required to sustain current and future economic development implying that the future has no value. The GDP excludes natural resource capital, environmental resources-services, human resources and research and development. All that matters is the present. The implications of current economic activity for our kids and grandkids do not enter the calculation. For example, the GDP counts the depletion of natural resources as current income rather than as the liquidation of an asset. This violates both basic accounting principles and common sense. Similarly, saving doesn't add much to the GDP; economists actually chide Japan for its high savings rate. But maxing out on credit cards makes it soar.

Fourth, the GDP ignores totally the distribution of income, the social costs of inequality and poverty. Changes in GDP are insensitive to income inequality, poverty and the distribution of personal consumption and wealth. Even assuming that the GDP represents a rising tide of beneficence, it can't have that effect unless all share. If the economy is getting bigger, but the benefits are going mainly to those who need it least, the result is material accretion but not economic advance. This is true even in conventional economic terms. For a Mark McGuire or a Michael Jordan, another thousand dollars is merely tip money. For a family struggling on the minimum wage, a tenth that amount can mean the difference between macaroni and chicken for many nights.

Fifth, the GDP contains intermediate and regrettable expenditures that do not contribute to economic welfare. These include elements of government spending such as defense spending. It also includes personal spending such as cost of commuting to work, costs related to crime, environmental protection and automobile accidents.

Sixth, GDP includes expenditures on education, health care, social services and environmental protection that do not necessarily reflect the outcomes or returns on investment from such expenditures. Such outcomes might include physical well-being e.g. life expectancy, intellectual and labor market skills, educational attainment, and the quality of the environment.

Seventh, GDP does not directly measure investment in social capital.

Rowbotham (1998) mentions an ecological monetary reform as follows: "Money is capable of doing what we want it to do, rather than (as at present) making us do what it wants us to do. Money is capable of reflecting reality and conveying the policy we want. The true worth of money as an invention, frankly, has never been fully explored. The range of reform facing us, once we decide to correct the overbearing mathematical defect of debt, are as rich as the diverse opportunities and material benefits our economies can possible offer. In fact, in a sense they are the one and the same thing."

How Did The Illuminati Get Us Into This Mess?

Governments got us into this mess by violating four common sense rules regarding their fiscal and monetary policies. These rules are:

- 1. No sovereign government should ever, under any circumstances, give over democratic control of its money supply to bankers. It is the job of the people's Treasury to create money interest-free and debt-free.
- 2. No sovereign government should ever, under any circumstances, borrow any money from any private bank.
- 3. No national, provincial, or local government should borrow foreign money to increase purchases abroad when there is excessive domestic unemployment.
- 4. Governments, like businesses, should distinguish between "capital" and "current" expenditures, and when it is prudent to do so, finance capital improvements with money the government has created for itself.
- 5. People must be educated on these issues.
- 6. Political donations must be controlled to avoid politicians selling their souls to the devils.

There is an infinite difference between a person who has the power to create money from nothing and lends it to you at interest, and the one who doesn't have this power and who would be thrown in jail if he tried to do it, and the one who issues a bonded note in lieu of commodity that is kept in safe keeping. A few words about the first three of these rules, as the fourth rule has been discussed extensively elsewhere.

1. There is persistent pressure from central bankers and academic economists to free central banks from the obligation to consider the effects of their actions upon employment and output levels so that they can concentrate on price stability. This is a very bad idea indeed. Dominated by bankers and economists, central banks are entirely too prone to give exclusive attention to creditor interests to the exclusion of worker interests. Amending central bank charters to give them independence from democratic oversight, or to set up "price stability" as their only goal would complete their subjection to banker interests. Canada's WILLIAM LYON MACKENZIE KING 1935 prior to the "nationalization" of the Bank of Canada: "Once a nation parts with control of its currency and credit, it matters not who makes the nation's laws. Usury, once in control, will wreck any nation. Until the control of the issue of currency and credit is restored to government and recognized as its most sacred responsibility, all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and of democracy is idle and futile".

2. Anyone who understands that banks create the money they lend can see that it makes no sense for a sovereign government, which can create money at near zero cost, to borrow money at high cost from a private bank. The fact that most governments do borrow from private banks is one of the greatest errors of our times. If a government needs money created to pay for public spending it should create the money itself through its own bank; or spend the money debt and interest free as the United States did during the Revolution and again during the Civil War. If a government does not wish to "monetize" its deficits during periods of unusual need such as wartime, it should either make up the deficit with higher taxes or borrow only from the non-bank public-which cannot create the money it lends to the government.

3. One of the most mistaken ideas, with which Canadians especially are cursed, is the idea that a country should maintain its interest rates higher than those of its main trading partners "to attract foreign investment." To begin with, high interest rates inhibit real investment spending on new buildings, machinery and equipment by diverting funds to finance government deficits. Furthermore, the foreign funds attracted to Canada by high interest rates cannot be spent on Canadian employees and products. They are only useful for importing foreign goods and making payments on foreign debts. Moreover, these funds bid up the value of the Canadian dollar in foreign exchange markets, giving foreign goods a domestic price advantage over similar goods produced in Canada, while making it harder for Canada to export. Thus the inflow of foreign funds actually contributes to a "current account deficit" and depresses the Canadian economy. Those who argue that Canada must borrow on "capital account" because she has a "current account deficit" have cause and effect totally reversed. Canada has a current account deficit because she is borrowing on capital account. What she needs to do is to stop borrowing, lower interest rates until she stops attracting foreign funds, and let the Canadian dollar find its own level in the foreign currency markets.

When the Bank of Canada encourages the Canadian government, provinces, and municipalities to borrow in New York and Tokyo it is a betrayal of Canada. Where should they borrow when new money is needed for government spending? They should borrow at the government owned Bank of Canada, paying near zero interest rates-just sufficient to cover the Bank's running expenses.

John H. Hotson was professor emeritus of economics University of Waterloo and executive director of the Committee on Monetary and Economic Reform (COMER), a Canadian based network of economists working for economic and monetary reform. The above section is based on a series he published in the October 1994, November 1994, and January 1995 issues of Economic Reform, the COMER newsletter, Comer Publications, 3284 Yonge St., Suite 500, Toronto, Ontario, M4N 3M7, fax (416) 486-4674. He gave the PCD Forum permission to use this material only five days before his untimely death on January 21, 1996 following heart surgery.

History reveals that the masses can be conquered by the use of one of three main methods:

- The most common is conquest by war. In time, though, this method usually fails, because the captives hate the captors and rise up and drive them out if they can. Much force is needed to maintain control, making it expensive for the conquering nation.
- A second method is by propaganda or ideology, where the captives are convinced they must give their captors part of their earnings as "obedience to God." Such a captivity is vulnerable to philosophical exposure or overthrow by armed force, since propaganda or ideology by its nature lacks military force to regain control, once its captives become "disillusioned."
- The third method can be called economic conquest. It takes place when nations are placed under "tribute" without the use of visible force or coercion, so that the victims do not realize they have been conquered. "Tribute" is collected from them in the form of "legal" debts and taxes, and they believe they are paying it for their own good, for the good of others, or to protect all from some enemy. Their captors become their "benefactors" and "protectors". Although this is the slowest to impose, it is often quite long lasting, as the captives do not see any military force arrayed against them, their religion is left more or less intact, they have freedom to speak and travel, and they participate in "elections" for their rulers. Without realizing it, they are conquered, and the instruments of their own society are used to transfer their wealth to their captors and make the conquest complete.

In 1900 the average American worker paid few taxes and had little debt. Last year payments on debts and taxes took more than half of what he earned. We have been financially conquered and are still being conquered! Simply put, a few people who own the central banks have usurped and monopolized the power to create money from the people's government and are ever-growing in wealth and power because of this and will wind up owning all of the World's resources in the future.

George Washington 1787: "Every lover of his country will therefore be solicitous to find out some speedy remedy for this alarming evil. There is no possible substitute for the loss of commerce. Our first grand object, therefore, is its restoration. I presume not to dictate or direct. It is a subject that will require the deepest deliberations and researches of the wisest and more experienced men in America to fully comprehend. It probably belongs to no one man existing to possess all the qualifications required to trace the course of American commerce through all intricate paths and to those and only those that shall lead the United States to future glory and prosperity I am sanguine in the belief of the possibility that we may one day become a great commercial and flourishing nation. But if in the pursuit of the means we should unfortunately stumble again on unfunded paper money or any similar species of fraud, we shall assuredly give a fatal stab to our national credit in its infancy. Paper money will invariably operate in the body of politics as spirit liquors on the human body. They prey on the vitals and ultimately destroy them." "Paper money has had the effect in your state that it will ever have, to ruin commerce, oppress the honest, and open the door to every species of fraud and injustice." (letter to J. Bowen, Rhode Island, Jan. 9, 1787)

President George Washington, Farewell Address, 1796: "Let me now warn you in the most solemn manner. Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all. The Nation which indulges toward another an habitual hatred or an habitual fondness is in some degree a slave. It is a slave to its animosity or to its affection, either of which is sufficient to lead it astray from its duty and its interest."

"Money is Power", or shall we say, "The Monopoly to Create Credit Money and charge interest is Absolute Power". In addition to the vast wealth drawn to them through this almost unlimited usury, the Illuminati Bankers who control the money at the top are able to approve or disapprove large loans to large and successful corporations to the extent that refusal of a loan will bring about a reduction in the price that that Corporation's stock sells for on the market. After depressing the price, the Illuminati Bankers' agents buy large blocks of the company's stock, after which the sometimes multi-million dollar loan is approved, the stock rises, and is then sold for a profit. In this manner billions of dollars are made with which to buy more stock. This practice is so refined today that the Federal Reserve Board need only announce to the newspapers an increase or decrease in their "discount rate" to send stocks up and down as they wish. Using this method since 1913, the Illuminati Bankers and their agents have purchased secret or open control of almost every large corporation in America. Using that control, they then force the corporations to borrow huge sums from their banks so that corporate earnings are siphoned off in the form of interest to the banks. This leaves little as actual "profits" which can be paid as dividends and explains why stock prices are so depressed, while the banks reap billions in interest from corporate loans. In effect, the Illuminati Bankers get almost all of the profits, while individual stockholders are left holding the bag. The millions of working families and their future generations are now indebted to the few Illuminati Banking families. And these Banking families obtained that debt against the masses for the cost of paper, ink, and bookkeeping!

From the very outset, the Illuminati Zionists' purpose was to confiscate all the gold and silver, replacing them with worthless non-redeemable paper notes. "This we have done!" said Harold Wallace Rosenthal in 1976 during an interview he gave to Walter White Jr; After this interview, Mr. Rosenthal, age 29, the administrative assistant to Senator Jacob K. Javits of New York was conveniently killed in an alleged sky-jacking attempt on an Israeli airliner in Istanbul, Turkey, August 12, 1976; I guess because he talked too much. The full text of the interview is available at http://www.antichristconspiracy.com/HTML%20Pages/Harold_Wallace_Rosenthal_Interview_1976.htm. Don't forget to substitute the word Zionist for Jew. Zionists are not true-Torah Jews and like to masquerade as real-Torah Jews to shift the blame onto ordinary Jews. They hide behind Judaism. We will explain this in detail later.

When asked about the term 'non-redeemable notes,' Mr. Rosenthal replied that up until 1933, one could have redeemed the Federal Reserve note for a coin of 25 4/5th grains of 90 per cent gold. Remember when Roosevelt confiscated the American people's gold? And, prior to 1968, people could take a one dollar Federal Reserve note into any bank in America and redeem it for a dollar which was by law a coin containing 412 1/2 grains of 90 per cent silver. Not anymore; these notes are now non-redeemable, and in any case, there isn't any gold or silver in the Federal Reserve System banks left. More on this later.

We Can Buy Back and Abolish The FED by Law and Get Out of This Mess!

By law (check the Congressional record), we can buy back the FED for the original investment of the FED's 300 shareholders, which is $450 million. If each taxpayer paid $25, we could buy back the FED and all the profit would flow into the U.S. Treasury. In other words, by Congress allowing the constitutionally illegal FED to continue, much of your taxes go to the shareholders of the FED and their bankers. Note: The people who enacted the FED started the IRS, within months of the FED's inception. The FED buys U.S. debt with money they printed from nothing, then charges the U.S. taxpayers interest. The government had to create income tax to pay the interest expense to the FED's shareholders, but the income tax was never legally passed (Reference 20 shows details, state-by-state why it was not legally passed). The FED is illegal, per Article 1, Section 8 of the United States Constitution. Not one state legally ratified the 16th Amendment making income tax legal. Currently, fewer and fewer Americans are being convicted for refusal to pay income taxes. In IRS jury trials, the jury, by law, must decide if the law is just. If taxpayers do not believe the law is just, the jury may declare the accused innocent. Judges are legally bound to inform juries of their right to determine the fairness of a law. Judges often do not disclose this information so they can control the court outcome. Luckily, more and more citizens are becoming informed. If one juror feels the law is unfair, they can find the defendant innocent. In Utah, the IRS quit prosecuting taxpayers because jurors verdict is not guilty. Please tell your friends and sit in the next jury.

If we eliminate the FED and uphold the Constitution, we could balance the budget and cut personal income tax to almost nothing. In Congressional hearings on September 30, 1941, FED Chairman Eccles admitted that the FED creates new money from thin air (printing press), and loans it back to us at interest. On June 6, 1960, FED President Mr. Allen admitted essentially the same thing. If you or I did this we would go to jail. It is time to abolish the FED! Tell your friends the truth and win America back. We don't even need to buy back the FED. We only need to print money the way the Constitution requires, not the new proposed international money. We want to keep our sovereignty and print real U.S. money. Why has Congress allowed the FED to continue? If a Congressperson tries to abolish the FED, the banks fund the Congressperson's opponent in the next election. The new Congressperson will obviously support the FED. When Congresspeople retire, political campaign funds are not taxed. Get elected and be a millionaire if you vote right. By the way, the profit of the FED is not taxed either (Reference 1, 9). Once America understands, and takes action, Congresspeople will then gladly abolish the FED. In 1992, Illinois Congressman Crane introduced a bill, co-sponsored by 40 other Congressman, to fully audit the FED. This is a step in the right direction. America is a great nation. As "We the People" become informed, the media and Congress will be forced to buy back the FED, balance the budget, significantly cut taxes, and stop allowing bribes to determine voting strategies. The FED hopes you will be passive and not act on this information. We believe in grass roots America - we are waking up America. Ultimately, the battle plan is to inform all Americans and demand change in the media and Congress. True Americans should run for office and throw out the politicians who allow this fraud to continue. Congress may refuse to deal with this issue. That's why each person needs to go to their local county/state government with the proper paperwork and ask them to abolish the FED. With the proper documents, they are legally obligated to do it. WE NEED LEADERS TO BEGIN THIS ACTION.

Consider this fact. Most of the given sources in this booklet show how the blood line of family bankers who own the FED funded both sides of all major wars. They created fake colonial money to destroy the Americans during the Revolutionary War and tried to finance both sides in the American Civil War. President Abraham Lincoln refused and the South accepted. Many publications show that these bankers financed World War I, World War II, and the Russian Revolutionary War, which helped Napoleon, Lenin, and Hitler come to power. They financed both sides from money created from nothing and profited greatly. These same bankers created a number of American depressions to change the U.S. legislation and seize our wealth. Read the sources for details. This is why our forefathers wrote in the Constitution that only Congress can issue money - not private banks (Reference 18). More wars create more debt which means more profit to the bankers (Reference 1, 21). These bankers planned three World wars so people would welcome United Nations intervention to govern the World in peace, not war. (Reference 22 gives specific details on World War I and World War II, showing exactly how the bankers were responsible for the beginning and continuation of these wars for their profit).

The US Congress has the option to buy back the FED at $450 millions (per Congressional Records). When the Congress does this, it will own back the billions of US Government Bonds held by the FED. The US Government will actually PROFIT by buying back the FED! Also, the US government no longer has to pay interests to the FED owners on those bonds. Through their ownerships in the FED, FOREIGN POWERS CAN and WILL influence the US economy. By controlling our interest rates and money supply, they can actually create economic disaster in the US, should the US disagree with them. Although the FED directors must be confirmed by the Senate, the awesome lobbying power of the FED owners makes this process meaningless. The owners of the FED can and will put whoever they wish in the position. Abolishing the FED will lead to lower inflation. At this moment, the FED prints as much money as needed to buy the US Government Bonds. Since the FED prints this MONEY out of THIN AIR, this leads to an INCREASE of MONEY SUPPLY, WITHOUT increase in GOODS/SERVICES. This, as all of us know it, leads to INFLATION. If the general public buy those bonds with money that they EARNED by providing GOODS/SERVICES, the money supply level is constant in relation to the goods/services level. Thus, there is no inflationary pressure from selling these bonds. Abolishing the FED will reduce the national debt level. By buying back the FED at $450 millions, the US Government will buy back the billions of dollars of bonds held by the FED. Thus, the net effect is a reduction in national debt. After buying back the FED, the US Government does not have to pay interest on those bonds it buys back, further reducing the national debt. Abolishing the FED will lead to eventual balance budget.

Today, even if the US Economy only grows by a meager 2%/yr, the US Government should be able to put 2% of US-GDP dollars into circulation WITHOUT INFLATION. Consider, if the goods/services grow by 2% and the money supply grows by 2%, the ratio of goods/services vs. money supply remains constant. Thus, no inflation is created. The government can use this extra money supply to fund its project without raising taxes. As long as the government does not print money more than the goods and services available in the US, there will be no inflationary pressures. The sad fact is, the US Government does not do this since Lincoln. Instead, the US Government sell bonds to the FED, which buys those bonds using money they don't earn. Thus, the US Government must now pay interest on those money that it "borrows" from the FED. The US Government can actually reduce taxes on everybody since it has more interest free money to spent in the amount equal to the growth of the US GDP. KEEP IN MIND, THIS MONEY WILL NOT CAUSE INFLATION, since the money is printed along with the growth of the goods and services.

The FED should either be fully AUDITED every year, or be abolished. I have done my part providing this information. It is up to you to decide the future of the US economy. Please consult the followings: Encyclopaedia Britannica, Congressional Record, "The Federal Reserve Bank" by H.S. Kenan, "Repeal the Federal Reserve Bank" by Rev. Casimir Frank Gierut, "The Secrets of the Federal Reserve" by Mullins, Call your Congressman and tell him to support the legislation to FULLY AUDIT the FED, Call your representatives and ask them to support legislation introduced by Congressman Henry Gonzales to repeal the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, Push for your home states to introduce and pass a legislation to end the FED scam. The following states have already done so: Arizona, Washington, Arkansas, Idaho, Oregon, Indiana, and Texas, Even if you live in these states, contact your representatives and tell them to support the legislation. THEY WILL LISTEN if you care to TELL THEM!!! Ask your STATE and COUNTY government to abolish the FED. Since the FED is CONSTITUTIONALLY ILLEGAL, it MUST be abolished. Ask your state/county governments for the proper paperworks. If the US Congress refuses to abolish the FED, your STATE/COUNTY governments can do it. Collect signature on petitions calling for the end of the FED. Tell friends and family about this fraud, and ask them for supports. Secrecy is the FED's main strength. Since the media has been quiet, no one even notice this FRAUD that goes on for decades. Now it is up to the tax payer to be informed. Inform everyone you know about this, and be organized!!! Contact "America Betrayed", Center for Action, 652 N. Glenview, Nesa, AZ 85213, Contact "National Committee to Repeal the Federal Reserve Act", P.O. Box 1205, Middleburg, IL60599.

Banksters Will Force Cashless Society to Usher in New World Order Tyranny

They plan to create a one World government through the United Nations headed by the FED, Trilaterals, and the Council on Foreign Relations (Reference 3). By the definition of treason, they have committed treason! This means you lose your rights under the Constitution and Bill of Rights. Does this sound far fetched? Twenty-four U.S. Senators (two of them presidential candidates, Harkin & Tsongas) and 80 Representatives have signed a "Declaration of Interdependence." This Declaration, designed to make a one World government, is treason to the oath of office they took. The media remained silent. The FED announced publicly that their first objective was to get nationalism out of the American people's heads because patriotism to a country would not be of value in the future. The media makes us think the U.N. has all the answers, and to "think globally." Congress passed a law stopping certain individuals from being tried for this treason (Reference 6, Reference 1, P. 191-198). Why pass this law if no treason was committed? State Department document 7277 calls for the disarming of America, thus turning our sovereignty over to a one-World government. Again, the media is pushing to eliminate guns. Our forefathers believed that the right to bear arms would prevent a takeover of our government. History shows that before any government took over, they disarmed the citizens. Hitler did it, and before our Revolutionary War, King George told us to disarm - good thing we didn't! Under the Federal Reserve Bank Act, the bankers control our economy. The FED controls interest rates and the amount of money in the economy. These factors determine either economic prosperity or the lack thereof. Bankers are now pushing for a one World government and a cashless society. Why cashless? No cash means no money for drugs, no theft, and the ability to collect taxes on the underground economy. Anyone who wouldn't support a cashless society must be a drug dealer, thief, or tax evader, right? What a cashless society really means is the banks can now control you. Today you fear the IRS. In a cashless society, if you disagree with the bankers' political goals, you'll find your money gone via computer error. If you could accurately predict future interest rates, inflation and deflation, you would know when to buy or sell stocks and make a bundle of money. The FED has secret meetings (per Congressional Record) to determine future interest rates and the amount of money to be printed. The Securities Exchange Commission (SEC) by law, stops insiders from profiting by privileged information. Congressional records prove that FED bankers routinely hold secret meetings to profit by manipulating the stock market via interest rates and the amount of money they create. FED bankers also profit greatly from economic disasters like the Depression. The bankers create inflation, sell their stocks before the market crashes, then buy up stocks at cheaper prices. Bankers admitted this to Congress. This violates the law, yet Congress does not act because these bankers are large political contributors. Thomas Jefferson predicted this scenario if we ever allowed a private bank, like the FED, to create our currency.

How the Banksters Transfer Their Liabilities to TaxPayers!

Increasingly, our government assets are being transferred or outsourced to private interests. Meantime, those private interests are transferring their liabilities back to government. Our currency is managed by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System of twelve privately owned Federal Reserve Banks, including the Federal Reserve Bank of New York which in turn serves as depository for the US government bank accounts. The member banks who own and control the individual Federal Reserve Banks have received extraordinary credit subsidies through the governmental apparatus. In addition, there is over $3.3 trillion missing from our government accounts (we recently learned about the mega-billions missing from the Pentagon). In short, our government is being manipulated to serve a private agenda. Hence, we are supporting in the marketplace with our choices as consumers and investors the very banks who are orchestrating the corruption of our government.

What can we do? Our financial system is highly leveraged. That means that a tiny shift in customers from big corporate banks to local credit union banks can cause a dramatic shift in political and economic power and behavior. We estimate that 600,000 is 1% of 1% of our Worldwide population <http://www.scoop.co.nz/stories/HLO407/S00040.htm> WHERE WOULD Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-JESUS BANK? By Catherine Austin Fitts, former partner and member of the board of directors at a major Wall Street investment bank and former Assistant Secretary of Housing in the first Bush Administration, July 4th, 2004. Catherine Austin Fitts is the President of Solari, Inc., a member of the board of directors of 911Truth.org and of the advisory board of Sanders Research Associates. Ms. Fitts is the former Assistant Secretary of Housing-Federal Housing Commissioner during the first Bush Administration, a former managing director and member of the board of directors of Dillon Read & Co. Inc. and President of The Hamilton Securities Group, Inc.

"And Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus went into the temple and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money changers" – Bible, Book of Mark 11:15. I think of Yashua-Joshua-Jesus as a real deal, straight up kind of guy who always cared deeply about his fellow man. That's why we often ask "What would Yashua-Joshua-Jesus do?" when looking for the action of highest integrity.

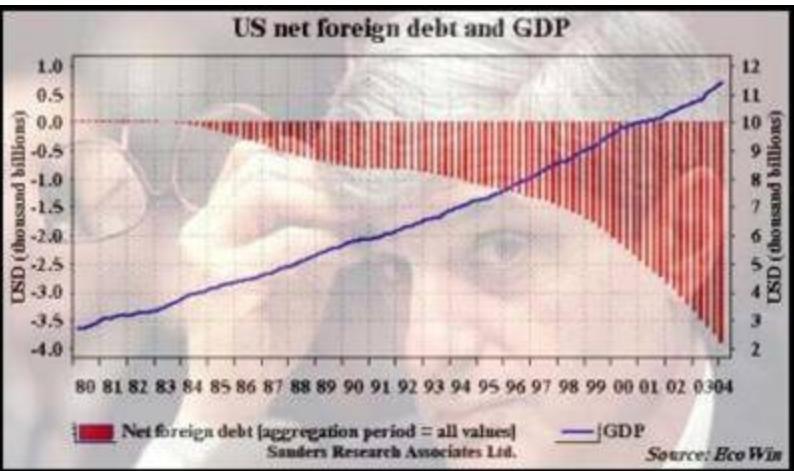

Jesus-Yashua-Joshua-Issa and the Pharisees Priest-BankLords

"And Jesus went into the temple of God, and... overthrew the tables of the moneychangers.." Matthew 21:12

Yashua-Joshua-Jesus acted with ferocious and bold integrity when he threw the money changers out of the temple in Jerusalem. Needless to say, he hiccupped their cash flows on what otherwise would have been a big grossing day. Their business model threatened, the priests who managed the money changers insisted that the Romans crucify Yashua-Joshua-Jesus. The Romans tried to pawn the problem off on the local king, Herod, who ducked and sent Yashua-Joshua-Jesus back to the Romans. The Romans, still looking for a way out, tried a flogging. That did not work. The priests meanwhile had succeeded in persuading the crowd to support them and scapegoat Yashua-Joshua-Jesus. Thirsting for a crucifixion, the crowd voted to set the criminal Barabbas free instead of Yashua-Joshua-Jesus. The crowd voted for the criminal enterprise. The crowd voted for the priests and their rich endowments and their alliance with the money changers. The crowd did not ask "Cui Bono?" which is Latin for "who benefits?" If they had, they would have seen the real deal on who was making money on the death of Yashua-Joshua-Jesus and voted with their conscience, and for their own best interests instead.

Economists continually try and sell the public the idea that recessions or depressions are a natural part of what they call the "business cycle". This timeline below will prove that is simply not the case. Recessions and depressions only occur because the Central Bankers manipulate the money supply, to ensure more and more is in their hands and less and less is in the hands of the people. Central Bankers developed out of money changers and it is with these people we pick the story up in 48 B.C. below.

48 B.C.: Julius Caesar took back from the money changers the power to coin money and then minted coins for the benefit of all. With this new, plentiful supply of money, he established many massive construction projects and built great public works. By making money plentiful, Caesar won the love of the common people. But the money changers hated him for it and this is why Caesar was assassinated. Immediately after his assassination came the demise of plentiful money in Rome, taxes increased, as did corruption. Eventually the Roman money supply was reduced by 90 per cent, which resulted in the common people losing their lands and homes.

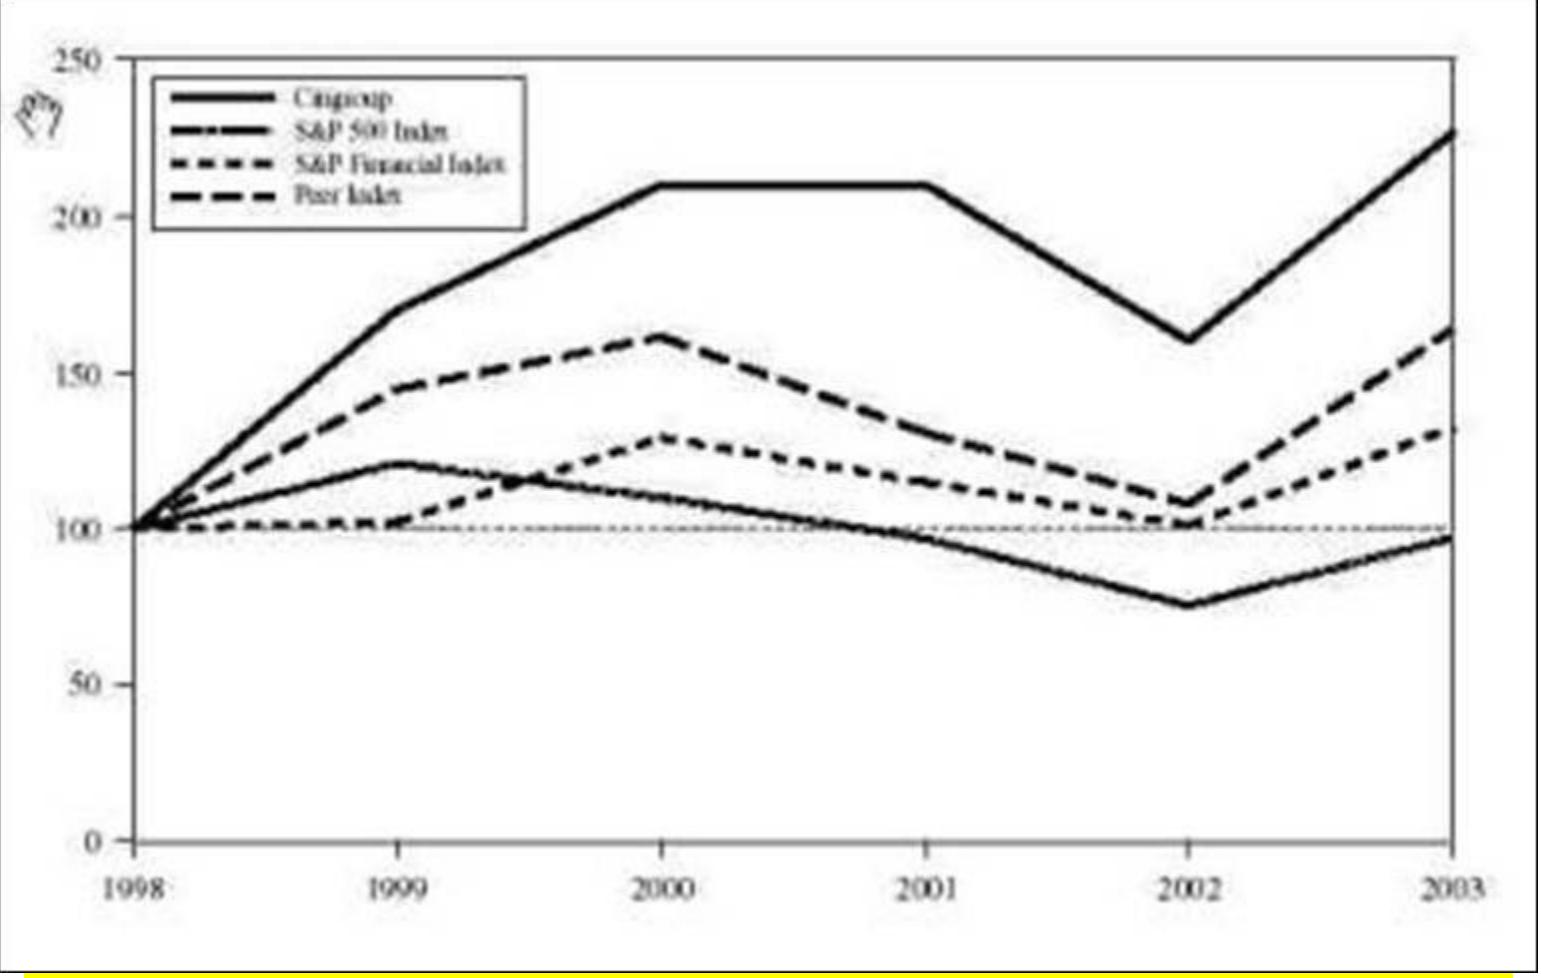

30 A.C.: Jesus Christ in the last year of his life uses physical force to throw the money changers out of the temple. This was the only time during the life of his ministry in which he used physical force against anyone. When Jews came to Jerusalem to pay their Temple tax, they could only pay it with a special coin, the half-shekel. This was a half-ounce of pure silver, about the size of a quarter. It was the only coin at that time which was pure silver and of assured weight, without the image of a pagan Emperor, and therefore to the Jews it was the only coin acceptable to God. Unfortunately these coins were not plentiful, the money changers had cornered the market on them, and so they raised the price of them to whatever the market could bear. They used their monopoly they had on these coins to make exorbitant profits, forcing the Jews to pay whatever these money changers demanded. Jesus threw the money changers out as their monopoly on these coins totally violated the sanctity of God's house. These money changers called for his death days later.

It's 2000 Years Later and We're Still Voting for the Criminals!!!

Looking around today, it would appear that more than two thousand years later our popular vote is still backing an unholy alliance of "priests" and their rich endowments,[2] "money changers" (now called central bankers), criminal enterprises[3] and the continuous growth of dirty money, market manipulation and warfare [actually, there is a lot of vote fraud as we have seen]. While the financial networks in and around the Vatican and related networks and societies such as the Jesuits and Opus Dei, are not known for financial transparency, starting points include stories related to Vatican banking scandals, including the laundering of Nazi monies and the Banco Ambrosiano scandals. See, Rupert Cornwell, "Sex, Fraud, Money Laundering: All Roads lead to Rome," and God's Banker: The Life and Death of Roberto Calvi (New York: HarperCollins Publishers, July 6, 1984). The role of tax exempt endowments in the corruption of our markets and government has become increasingly illuminated with revelations about the role of the Harvard Endowment and its involvement in the Enron scandals, Russian money laundering, Harken-related insider trading and HUD fraud. See, "Negative ROI Economy, Articles and Documentation," http://www.solari.com/gideon/articles_risk.html and, generally, articles published on the Harvard Watch website, available at <http://www.harvardwatch.org>.

The 1990s was a period in which the illumination of the dirty money in American politics and business really came out of the closet. The stories of the 1980s Iran Contra period financial fraud and of government conspiring with private industry in illegal weapons deals and drug trafficking to fund a secret government became widely known, starting with Senate hearings that were broadcast World wide. National Security Council involvement during the 1980s exploded onto the Internet with the "Dark Alliance" series published in the San Jose Mercury News in 1996 and tales of Bush and Clinton involvement in the illegal arms-trafficking and cocaine transshipment operation in Mena, Arkansas.[4] Stories proliferated about dirty dealings by member banks of the New York Federal Reserve (the US Treasury depository) with the Arkansas state agency that distributed housing subsidies and issued housing bonds and that was alleged to have been laundering the local share of the profits. Although the mainstream media, led by The New York Times and The Los Angeles Times, attempted to discredit them, several fearless news sources kept the Dark Alliance and Mena stories alive. Two CIA Inspector General reports essentially confirmed the credibility of the Internet press which continued to cover the story.[5] These Inspector General reports included a memorandum of understanding between the CIA and the US Department of Justice ("DOJ") that relieved the CIA of any obligation to report illegal activities, including narcotics trafficking by non-employee agents and contractors of the CIA. Since that time, I have had the opportunity -- as an investment banker and former Assistant Secretary of Housing responsible under both Bush I and Clinton Administration for the cleanup of some of the S&L, mortgage and real estate related fraud and money-laundering schemes -- to learn more about the black budget business model used in these criminal enterprises.[6] Simply put, we are living in a negative return on investment economy. This means that from the point of view of most people on the planet, the dolphins, the trees and all living things, the World is worse off for our centralized human economic activity, at the crux of which are the central banks and the military-industrial complex they finance. The good news is that we have the power to transform this economy. This power comes in the form of each and every dime we spend in the marketplace.

Who Will Push the Red Button to Free Us?

In 2000, I made a presentation on the subject of “dirty money” to a wonderful group of about 100 people gathered outside of Philadelphia to affirm and explore their commitment to the spiritual evolution of our culture. During my talk, after walking the group through an analysis of the enormous profits generated by narcotics trafficking, financial fraud and other types of organized crime, as well as the reinvestment of this money in the stock market and campaign war chests, I asked the members what would happen to the stock market if we decriminalized or legalized drugs and thus seriously adversely affected the narco profiteering business. The stock market would crash, they responded. What would happen to the government's ability to borrow more money to finance the deficit if we enforced all money-laundering laws and, as a result, $500 billion to $1 trillion of annual laundered funds no longer moved through the US banking system?

If the government could not finance its operations by borrowing money at low cost, their taxes might go up. Worse yet, their government checks might stop as government program expenditures were cut, they said. I then asked them to imagine a big red button at the front of the lectern. By the power of their imaginations, if they pushed that button they could stop all organized crime and money laundering in the United States. Who would push the button? Only one person in that audience of 100 people committed to spiritually evolve our society said they would push the button. Upon reflection, 99 would not. I asked why. They said that if they pushed the button, the value of their mutual funds would go down, their taxes would go up and their government checks might stop. I commented that what they were proposing was that an entire infrastructure of people continue to market hard narcotics to their children and grandchildren to maintain the value of their mutual and pension funds. They said, yes, that was right. Such popular support for cheap financing from dirty money goes well beyond this candid audience. Indeed, most of us are party to maintaining this negative ROI economy. The future of our democratic freedoms depends on our adopting financially responsible and profitable strategies to collectively “push the red button” in a way that makes our World better instead of worse. Such strategies do exist. These are actions we can take immediately both individually and collectively at the grassroots. Are you ready to push the red button?

The process for individuals starts with adopting a personal intention to transform our World. We have the power to take personal responsibility to learn how the money works in our neighborhoods and our lives and workplaces, and then take steps to cleanse the money in our control. In short, it's time to electrify the power of our intention with the power of our transactions. Each dime we spend is a “vote” in the marketplace. We can vote with the temple priests or we can vote with our consciences for leaders and businesses that demonstrate through their daily transactions and decisions that they truly care. What an enormous opportunity we have, if each one of us will switch our votes. After several thousand years, there is no time like the present to start voting for ourselves and our planet instead of with the money changers and temple priests that feed at their monetary and lending troughs.

Who's Who in Stealing Our Money

As privatization has increased, so has debt and corporate fiefdoms have been created for the Illuminati's henchmen. The taxpayer gets the liabilities, and Bob & Co. get the assets (Bob Rubin is former Treasury Secretary, now co-head of CitiGroup). Great work if you can get it! Before we choose which banking and other financial institutions to vote for, let's take a quick look at the candidates. Increasingly, our US government assets are being transferred or outsourced to global private interests – typically at below market values that constitute windfall profits for undisclosed private investors.[7] For example, HUD routinely resolves defaulted mortgages using methods that generate significantly lower recovery rates than is standard in the mortgage industry.[8] This effectively amounts to a back door transfer of billions of dollars to special interests from all homeowners who bought Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance to finance their homes.[9] As government mortgage guarantees encourage financial institutions to stop caring about the health of a place, the real estate values and community safety in those neighborhoods decline; with more neighborhoods experiencing deterioration of services such as schools, along with a rise in criminal activities such as narcotics trafficking. As neighborhoods experience more foreclosures and longer periods when foreclosed homes are empty, the value of surrounding homes and properties suffer further. Examples abound on the international playing field as well. BBC reporter Greg Palast's revelations about the reasons for the resignation of World Bank executive Joe Stiglitz have exploded the myths about international privatization, describing the IMF and World Bank roles in forcing below market transfers to Enron, such as the water system of Buenos Aires and the pipeline that runs between Argentina and Chile.[10] Harvard University, funded as a financial advisory contractor under contracts between Russia and the US Agency for International Development, arranged auctions of Russian government-owned companies to international investors, including members of the Harvard network and its endowment, at below market prices.[11] After this process of “privatization,” the number of people living in poverty in the former Soviet republics rose from 14 million in the early 1990s to 147 million.[12] In the meantime, Harvard's endowment -- compounding at tax exempt rates -- exploded in value from $4 billion to $18 billion.[13] Meanwhile, these same global private interests are transferring their liabilities back to government.

When DynCorp employees engage in sex slave trading with local mafia in Eastern Europe or use the War on Drugs as a pretext to grab land for rich investors and local elites in Latin America while being paid from government contracts, the reputation, pocketbook, and spiritual health of America suffer along with the intended victims.[14] While the likes of Long Term Capital Management and the unnamed private holders of their derivative positions are bailed out, US federal debt and credit are skyrocketing, along with consumer debt and the US trade deficit. And, there is over $3.8 trillion missing from our government accounts.[15] This translates to approximately $14,000 per American resident. To date, under four Treasury Secretaries – Rubin, Summers, O'Neill and Snow – the federal government has failed to comply with the laws requiring audited financial statements, and failed to make any significant effort to find or get back the missing money. [16] Where is all this money going, and who/what is being hurt in the process? What does this mean to the environment, current citizens and future generations who are footing the bill? The answer is that innocent people around the World are assuming those liabilities. And the leadership within the banking system is in charge day-to-day of implementing the majority of these transfers.

The Banking System is at the Crux

Frequency of usage of terms "transparency" and "privatization" in web-stored documents in Google universe. Contrast this with the growth of US net foreign debt in the above chart... The US currency is managed by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, itself comprised of twelve privately owned Federal Reserve Banks, including the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which in turn serves as depository for the US government bank accounts. The member banks that own and control the individual Federal Reserve Banks have received extraordinary credit and information subsidies through the governmental apparatus. If you review a list of the leading banks in the Federal Reserve System that are involved as depositories, trustees, servicers or securities dealers in the US agencies missing more than $3.8 trillion.

- It's the same banks whose names appear in allegations of gold market manipulations.[17]
- It's the same banks whose engineered Enron offshore deals.[18]
- It's the same banks implicated in 9-11 profiteering.[19]
- It's the same banks implicated by the big narcotics and arms trafficking and money laundering allegations.[20].
- It's the same banks implicated directly or indirectly in the "pump and dump" and naked short selling stock market schemes.[21]
- It's the same banks implicated in black budget government contracting and collateral schemes and the fraudulent asset stripping of our great manufacturing enterprises.[22]
- It's the same banks that are managing the huge derivative positions that are increasingly used to manipulate markets and drive monetary and fiscal policy.[23]
- It's the same banks whose senior management, attorneys and accountants cycle in and out of the top government jobs at the agencies missing $3.8 trillion.[24]

It's the same banks that tell you that small business loans are not good business.

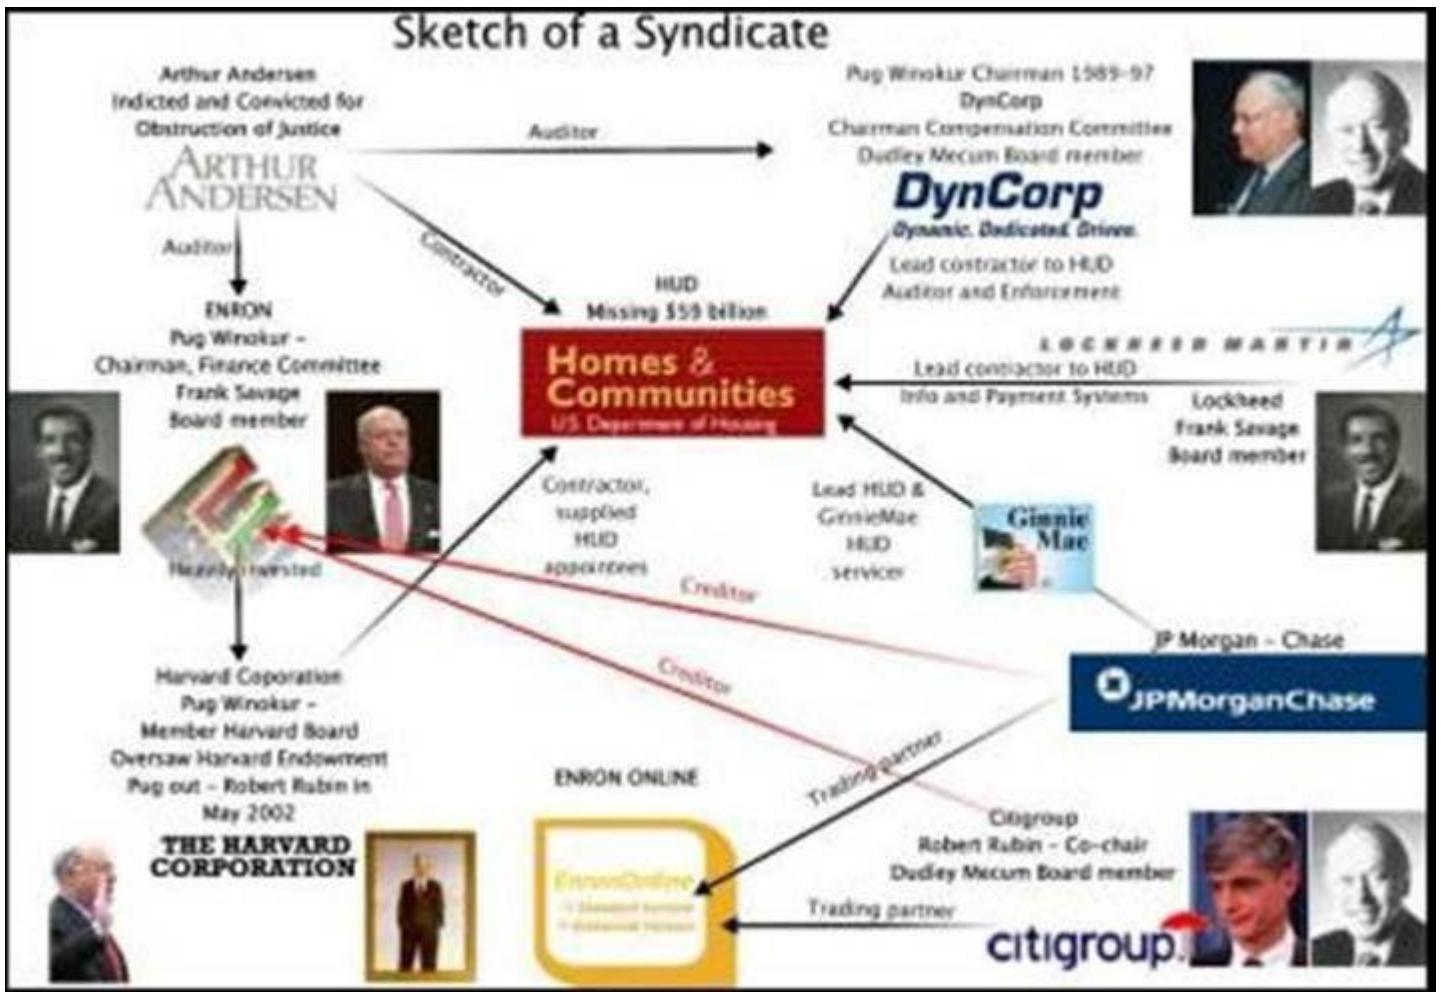

Banks Not Interested in Loaning to the Little Guy

In 1993, in an attempt to obtain a small business loan for my business, I had lunch with the head of corporate lending in the DC area from a large multinational bank. He explained that his bank had no plans to make small business loans of any meaningful volume in the District of Columbia. I had checked the bank's latest SEC filings that morning. It had approximately $110 billion in long Treasury bonds on its balance sheet. Essentially, the American taxpayers were providing this bank with the mechanism to borrow short term at a low price using the credit of the American people through federal deposit insurance, and then use those funds together with our deposits to lend those very same funds to our government long term at a 550 basis point spread.[25] The bank had a recourse guarantee of our taxpayer credit by investing in US Treasury securities which are guaranteed by the full faith and credit of the US government, and refused to lend to my small business because it was not good enough business for the bank. I estimated that this particular bank would reap $6 billion in risk free profit that year alone by inserting itself as an unnecessary intermediary -- between businesses and individuals as depositors and guarantors, and the very same businesses and individuals in their capacities as US taxpayers financing the US Treasury "deficit." The net result was that my taxes were financing my government "funneling" billions of dollars in back door profits to large banks, while I and my fellow citizens who were backstopping the FDIC and US Treasury credit that made it all possible were forced to go elsewhere to finance our small businesses.

To add insult to injury, government leaders such as Bob Rubin (former Treasury Secretary now co-head of CitiGroup) and Franklin Raines (former Director of the Office of Management and Budget and now Chairman of Fannie Mae) have explained that the government could not afford to finance parks, roads and schools because, instead we needed to pay the interest on the growing national debt. In fact, the "national debt" argument was a ruse. The actual intended use for American taxpayers' hard earned money dedicated, nominally, to "reducing the national debt" was the financing of billions dollars of back-door, rigged subsidies to banks and mortgage market players who have made Rubin and Raines so rich.

And why should your children have to sign up for military service just so they can pay off their student loans, while at the same time $3.8 trillion is missing from the US government? Why can't your children's educations be financed by our tax dollars? Investing in education is the best thing we can do for our economy. Indeed, Peter Drucker notes that the GI Bill was perhaps the most profitable taxpayer investment of the 20th century. Why should you lose your home or small farm to foreclosure by the banks that are complicit in $3.8 trillion missing from the federal government? Are you earning 2% on your bank certificate of deposit while your neighbors are paying interest at 18% to Citibank or the IRS?

Sketch Of A Syndicate - Image SandersResearch.Com

Dirty Dozen Major Banksters At the Top of My List

Here is the "Dirty Dozen Plus" list of primarily US-based banks and financial institutions that I would immediately withdraw my support from based on personal knowledge and experience: - American Insurance Group - Bank of America - Bank of New York - BBT - Citibank/Citigroup- Credit Suisse First Boston- Deutsche Bank - FleetBoston - General Electric - Goldman Sachs - HSBC Bank- JP Morgan Chase - Mellon Financial Corporation - Merrill Lynch - PNC - SunTrust Banks - Wachovia Bank. I would also check to see who the lead member banks are in my Federal Reserve District and include them on your list.[26] If you have been complaining about corporate America overpowering our democracy, check and see if you are also doing business with one or more of these banks. I would also look at withdrawing support from those banks involved in outsourcing jobs to other countries while withdrawing financing for jobs in our communities. Enticed by significantly lower tax burdens and labor costs, as well as a free reign in labor exploitation, more and more companies are joining the bandwagon of job exports while supporting policies that prevent the creation of new jobs domestically.

On one hand, many Americans are losing their jobs and either have no means of income or support, or they settle for reemployment at wages insufficient to make ends meet. Their communities are suffering diminished quality of life from lower tax collections, higher crime rates, decreased health, low morale and the family and community problems that unemployment and underemployment cause. On the other hand, their lucky neighbors who still enjoy nice incomes – often coming directly or indirectly from the profits of outsourcing -- promote the notion that such outsourcing is the natural flow of free markets optimizing economic performance. Alas, I wish it were true. Analysis of the financial institutions that are the power behind the throne at the New York Federal Reserve and the US Treasury reveals a pattern of dirty tricks to: (1) stop policies that would permit the US work force to reengineer their skills;[27] (2) prevent the flow of equity capital to small business;[28] (3) subsidize themselves with insider trading and risk free federal credit profits; (4) maintain complicity in the trillions of dollars missing from the federal government;[29] and (5) prevent place based transparency of government budgets and credit activity that would reveal their complicity. This is not free markets at work – this is the use of insider dealings, cronyism, undue influence, political favoritism based upon a corrupt campaign finance system, and misuse of the federal credit, not to mention black budget and covert operation activities, to profit from the destruction of free markets.[30]

Lou Dobbs at CNN has been keeping a list called "Exporting America" of companies that outsource US jobs abroad, including the following banks.^[31] Here are the banks on the Dobbs' list: - Bank of America - Bank of New York- Bank One- Citigroup - JP Morgan Chase- Mellon Bank- SunTrust Banks- State Street- Sovereign Bank- Wachovia Bank- Washington Mutual. If you have been complaining about outsourcing of US jobs and you are banking at one of these banks, you need to go into your bathroom and look in the mirror. That is the person who is financing the outsourcing of US jobs.

When You Steal From Me, It's Personal

Someday someone will calculate the true cost to our families, our communities, our collective spirit and our environment Worldwide, inflicted by this negative ROI economy. In the meantime, we can assume that the cost is somewhere between significant and staggering. In other words, the cost to you personally, to me personally, to each of our families, is significant. This first hit me several years ago when I was working in an official capacity for HUD (the US Department of Housing and Urban Development) and had experienced first hand the affects of fraud and corruption. A Congressional staff member told me, "HUD is being run as a criminal enterprise." Indeed, in fiscal 1998 and 1999, $17 billion and $59 billion respectively were officially reported as missing from HUD.^[32] I realized then that I was banking at the same banks I believed to be intimately involved in running HUD's extra curricular activities. I realized that my own banks and others that I had done business with were directly or indirectly costing me and my family a small fortune when I took into account my relationship with them as a citizen and taxpayer and their role as depositories and servicers for my government's financial dealings.^[33] It seemed to me that the least I could do was to try to clean up my own money. I decided I would learn how to "vote" with my money in the marketplace with all my transactions, including purchases, investments and banking relationships. I would start by withdrawing my money from the banks that were running my government's bank account and securities operations in a corrupt manner at great expense to my family and me. I would shift my deposits to banks and companies that were trying to do something beneficial on Main Street. I closed my accounts at Citibank and JP Morgan Chase and moved my bank deposits to a community bank in Tennessee.

Since that time I have traveled around this and other countries speaking and networking with thousands of people. What I hear wherever I go is that we are voting in the marketplace as consumers for the very banks whose actions we say we detest. How many times have I heard activists tell me that they cannot switch their bank accounts to well-managed local banks because their ATM fees would increase or their interest on savings would decrease? Apparently, we are prepared to finance and support a group of banks complicit in stealing $14,000 per American resident from the federal government so long as they kick back $25 a year to us in the form of saved ATM fees and incrementally higher interest rates. It's one thing to be apathetic and go with the convenient flow of dirty money. It's another thing entirely to fail to price your kickback at anything close to a free market level. If someone steals $14,000 from you and then kicks back $25, do you continue to support them? Apparently, the answer is "Yes." The day we understand the power of our opportunity to decentralize and "re-price" our banking business by taking it away from the Wall Street banks listed above, and banks like them, something magical can start on Main Street.

Care to Join Me in Switching Banks?

On July 4th, 2004, my colleagues and I are launching the Solari Circles Campaign. Initially, we are calling for 600,000 people Worldwide to join us in closing our checking accounts, certificates of deposit, credit cards and other business out of the banks complicit in dirty money scandals and moving them to local, well-managed, community-friendly banks, savings and loans and credit unions. Why 600,000? We estimate that 600,000 is 1% of 1% of our Worldwide population. Since our financial system is highly leveraged, a relatively small shift (on the order of 1% of 1%) in customers from big banks to local financial institutions can cause a dramatic decentralization in political and economic power. As a former partner and member of the board of directors at a major Wall Street investment bank and then Assistant Secretary of Housing in the first Bush Administration, I am amazed when people tell me that they feel helpless or that they have no power. I know from personal experience that we have significant power as consumers to impact the policies of financial institutions that exercise so much control over our government and communities. I know what can happen the minute even a small group of consumers starts "voting with our money" in the marketplace. I also know that we can actually make money by "pushing the red button." In financial terms, if we finance communities with equity while we bring transparency to government investment by place, and reengineer that investment to ensure optimal human and financial performance both by place and by function, we have the potential to bring the US economy back to a significantly more productive level.^[34] In layman's terms, if we shift our purchases, banking and investing to the local level, change how small businesses and farms get financed, and at the same time transform how government money is invested at the local level, we can transform from a negative to a positive return on investment economy. That means we can pay off, convert to equity and eliminate or forgive significant amounts of debt and cleanse our system of governance of the dirty money that is pushing us towards warfare, environmental damage and a significant reduction in our Constitutional freedoms. Whatever your spiritual, moral or ethical practice, my colleagues in the Solari Action Network and I invite you to make a commitment to start now to "vote" with your bank deposits for the values that you wish to govern our World and to do so in a manner that enhances your personal financial security.

If you are a Buddhist, ask yourself, "Where would the Buddha bank?" If you are a Muslim, ask yourself, "Where would Mohammad bank?" If you are a Confucian, ask yourself, "Where would Confucius bank?" Ask yourself, "Where would Moses bank?" If you are a Christian, ask yourself, "Where would Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus bank?" Whatever your spiritual or ethical tradition, ask yourself where the person of the highest integrity in history would bank if he or she were alive today. Then look in your wallet and in your checkbook and ask yourself if you have an opportunity to vote with your banking business to build a better World. A World that is in alignment with people, dolphins, trees, all other living things and the true best interests of small and large investors. A World that is safer and more prosperous for you and your family and your retirement savings. Imagine the magical things that can happen when we take the time to understand and cleanse our own money. Imagine how magical things could be when enough of us tip the scale to the point that shareholders of JP Morgan Chase and Citibank start to insist that these banks should cleanse their money and operations to win back our business or the business of the companies we also pressure to switch? Indeed, feel free to buy a few shares of their stock so that you can go to their annual meetings and express yourself on these matters of vital interest to all of us. At Solari, we welcome any financial leader to join us in devising ways to generate new profits and capital gains with clean money and honest values. We invite JP Morgan Chase and Citibank to participate in a new way of doing business. We will continue to encourage global depositors to withdraw their accounts until we have created rich incentives for them to do so.

Until that time, we look forward to the energy that can be created on Main Street when the honest bankers and credit union leadership and their investors and supporters who have been struggling to attract our business can start to enjoy the fresh new resources that come their way as we shift our deposits and our attention. Imagine their delight at having the resources they need to revitalize struggling small businesses and incubate new startups.^[35] Can you imagine what happens as we start to create a new generation of banking leaders who can make money from bringing some good old fashioned transparency, accountability and integrity to our financial system? All those times that I have sat in the board room or at the highest levels of government arguing for the ethical solution, what I would have given to be able to say that the customers would back me up in the marketplace! Is switching our banking business enough to fix all our problems? No. Are there many additional things we need to do? Yes. However, it all starts by incrementally switching our financial and market flows back into the hands of those we can trust. This will pave the way for migrating to digital gold or community currencies and other profitable initiatives in our area. Let's switch resources now to prime the pump and begin an honest conversation about all the opportunities that could be next. If you believe that you have an opportunity to better reflect your values in how you transact your banking business, please join the Solari Circles Campaign at <http://solari.com> for some financial fireworks on July 4th and beyond as we embark on cleansing our economy, and our World, together! For more on the Solari Circles Campaign <http://www.solari.com/campaign/july4th.htm>

FOOTNOTES: 1. This article originates from the Christian tradition. We invite you to ask this question for Buddha, Mohammed, Moses or the spiritual presence most in your heart and to transform the intent into words that speak to you in your own traditions. 2. While the financial networks in and around the Vatican and related networks and societies such as the Jesuits and Opus Dei, are not known for financial transparency, starting points include stories related to Vatican banking scandals, including the laundering of Nazi monies and the Banco Ambrosiano scandals. See, Rupert Cornwell, "Sex, Fraud, Money Laundering: All Roads lead to Rome," and God's Banker: The Life and Death of Roberto Calvi (New York: HarperCollins Publishers, July 6, 1984). The role of tax exempt endowments in the corruption of our markets and government has become increasingly illuminated with revelations about the role of the Harvard Endowment and its involvement in the Enron scandals, Russian money laundering, Harken-related insider trading and HUD fraud. See, "Negative ROI Economy, Articles and Documentation," http://www.solari.com/gideon/articles_risk.html and, generally, articles published on the Harvard Watch website, available at <http://www.harvardwatch.org>. 3. For excellent examples describing organized crime spanning corporate, government and mafia networks, see European Union lawsuit against RJR Nabisco at <http://www.scoop.co.nz/mason/stories/HL0211/S00167.htm>, The Real Deal on Enron by Daniel Armstrong, <http://www.scoop.co.nz/mason/stories/HL0304/S00031.htm> and Kevin Phillip's book, American Dynasty 4. See, links on Dark Alliance and Mena allegations regarding government sponsored narcotics trafficking at the "Stanley Sporkin, Bio & Selected CIA Iran Contra Background," <http://www.solari.com/media/SporkinBio.html> and bibliography at Catherine Austin Fitts, "Narco Dollars for Beginners," The Narco News Bulletin, available online at <http://www.narconews.com/narcodollars1.html>. 5. See, links at the "Stanley Sporkin, Bio & Selected CIA Iran Contra Background," <http://www.solari.com/media/SporkinBio.html> and bibliography at Catherine Austin Fitts, "Narco Dollars for Beginners," available at <http://www.narconews.com/narcodollars1.html>. 6. See, "A Negative Return on Investment Economy – Articles & Documents," at http://www.solari.com/gideon/articles_risk.html. 7. See, "Transcript of Interview of Greg Palast, Journalist for BBC and Observer, London, "Alex Jones Radio Show (March 4, 2002), available at <http://www.solari.com/gideon/privatization030402.html>, and Catherine Austin Fitts, "The Myth of the Rule of Law," available online at <http://www.solari.com/gideon/articles/q301.pdf>. 8. See, Chris Sanders, "Where is the Collateral?" republished from Scoop Media (October 28, 2003), available at http://www.whereisthemoney.org/S00223_collateral.htm. 9. See, Chris Sanders "Independence Day Special -- So, Where is the Collateral?" (July 5, 2004) available online at <http://www.sandersresearch.com>. 10. See, "Transcript of Interview of Greg Palast, Journalist for BBC and Observer, London, "Alex Jones Radio Show (March 4, 2002), available at <http://www.solari.com/gideon/privatization030402.html>

Your and Your Children's Birth certificate has been Sold to the International BankLords

How? Well, your birth certificate has been sold for nothing to the International bankers as collateral on the loaning of money into the economy (that's where the expression "collateral damage" comes from, the name of a Schwarzenegger movie). Since the money is put in circulation on OUR credit (our and our children's future labors are what make the money worth something) guaranteed by our rulers' ability to tax us which is why our government's signature is required on everything. As it stands, the private Federal Reserve System is built on the complicit cooperation of the people (ignorance), i.e. consensual slavery in bondage to the BankLords family dynasties! Remember, the credit money that the BankLords create from nothing and without liability to themselves is actually a stock issued using the country's or the World's peoples future productivity as collateral and this stock can be redeemed for future goods and services but at a fraction of its value compared to the date it was created because of inflation caused by this corrupt system. Do you know of any other company that issues stock using others' future goods and services as collateral? Do you know of any company that charges you interest on the stock it issues?

Author Bernard Lietaer, a former central banker, writes in "The Future of Money: "Your money's value is determined by a global casino of unprecedented proportions: $2 trillion are traded per day in foreign exchange markets, 100 times more than the trading volume of all the stock markets of the world combined. Only 2% of these foreign exchange transactions relate to the "real" economy reflecting movements of real goods and services in the world, and 98% are purely speculative. This global casino is triggering the foreign exchange crises which shook Mexico in 1994-95, Asia in 1997 and Russia in 1998. These emergencies are the dislocation symptoms of the old Industrial Age money system."

"Rod Blagojevich, the former Illinois governor was arrested December 9, 2008, the day after he publicly declared that the state of Illinois would suspend all business dealings with the Bank of America, the recipient of a $25 million bailout, until it restored a credit line to Republic Windows & Doors which, without credit, was forced to close and lay off their 240 employees. The governor apparently forgot who really runs everything. His indiscretions, attributable to every other professional politician, went unnoticed until he challenged the banks. Goldman Sachs, another bailout recipient, used $6.5 billion of our taxpayer dollars to give bonuses to their financial staff." — Deanna Spingola

"People get very clearly that Washington found hundreds of billions of dollars to bail out rich people in a way the government does not usually intervene,...They understand that the government came up with all this money to support the wrong group of people. People get that in their gut. There is anger. It is not rage yet. There is still a little bit of disbelief. I may be running for governor, but all people want to talk about is how did we come up with all this money to give to rich people on Wall Street and why didn't they let them pay their mortgage off." — Anthony Pollina, UK The Progressive Party candidate for governor in Vermont

"Those of us that have been studying the U.S. and world banking system for decades have been expecting this play. It's the only play one can do in a ponzi scheme: broaden the pool of victims. It's also the only way a chain-letter can be kept alive. The entire world financial system is a multi-trillion dollar ponzi with all liabilities transferred to taxpayers." – a reader

"Since the Fed took over our money how many wars have we endured, how dire is our situation? "They're ruining what has been one of the greatest economies in the world, [Bernanke and Paulson] are bailing out their friends on Wall Street but there are 300 million Americans that are going to have to pay for this." -- Jim Rogers, Chairman of Rogers Holdings, July 14, 2008

"Behind all monopolies is the very wrong legalized idea of limited liability in corporate law, whereby the shareholders may wallow in their profits, but need not worry about their losses beyond the value of their shareholdings. Were shareholders in these mega corporations on Wall Street, as the American wage earners are bailing out right now, held responsible for the harm they are doing to our economy, such mega corporations would never exist. Instead people would still invest in small, family owned and controlled businesses, as built America early on. Of course Wall Street also enjoys all manner of legalized fraud as well as legalized irresponsibility. This buying and selling of non-existent commodities is the heart of the whole "derivatives bubble." If those responsible were really held responsible, as they should be, they'd be the ones living in tents and begging for food handouts instead of their homeless victims." – a reader

"They've gone from the totalitarian tip-toe into the totalitarian sprint." – Researcher David Icke

"There is a very real disconnect between our values and the values of the special interests that have captured Washington D.C.....If special interests can have a lobby in Washington D.C. then the People can also have their lobby in Washington D.C....." -- ex-Congresslady Cynthia McKinney (recently kidnapped by Zionists into an Israeli jail)

"The battle...has to begin here. In America. The only institution more powerful than the U.S. government is American civil society. The rest of us are subjects of slave nations. We are by no means powerless, but you have the power of proximity. You have access to the Imperial Palace and the Emperor's chambers. Empire's conquests are being carried out in your name." – Author Arundhati Roy

"President-elect Barack Obama's newly appointed chief of staff, Rahm Emanuel, served on the board of directors of the federal mortgage firm Freddie Mac at a time when scandal was brewing at the troubled agency and the board failed to spot "red flags," according to government reports reviewed by ABCNews.com

"What truly makes [Rahm] Emanuel dangerous is that his Israeli-born father Benjamin was an integral member of the Zionist terror group known as Irgun during the 1940s. Along with another notorious terror outfit—the Stern Gang—Irgun bombed Jerusalem's King David Hotel in 1946 where 96 people were killed; while also instigating the 1948 Deir Yassin Massacre". – Victor Thorn

"Increasingly, our government assets are being transferred or outsourced to private interests. Meantime, those private interests are transferring their liabilities back to government. Our currency is managed by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System of twelve privately owned Federal Reserve Banks, including the Federal Reserve Bank of New York which in turn serves as depository for the US government bank accounts. The member banks who own and control the individual Federal Reserve Banks have received extraordinary credit subsidies through the governmental apparatus. In addition, there is over $3.3 trillion missing from our government accounts. In short, our government is being manipulated to serve a private agenda. Hence, we are supporting in the marketplace with our choices as consumers and investors the very banks who are orchestrating the corruption of our government." – Katherine Austin Fitts, former partner and member of the board of directors at a major Wall Street investment bank and former Assistant Secretary of Housing in the first Bush Administration, July 4th, 2004

"The central bankers know exactly what they're doing, consider this quote from the Bank of England's Sir Josiah Stamp (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/J.C._Stamp): "Banking was conceived in iniquity and was born in sin. The Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create deposits, and with the flick of the pen they will create enough deposits to buy it back again. However, take it away from them, and all the great fortunes like mine will disappear and they ought to disappear, for this would be a happier and better world to live in. But, if you wish to remain the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, let them continue to create deposits." --- Bank of England's Sir Josiah Stamp

Ayn Rand (1905-1982) said in her book "Atlas Shrugged": "When you see that trading is done, not by consent, but by compulsion – when you see that in order to produce, you need to obtain permission from men who produce nothing – when you see that money is flowing to those who deal, not in goods, but in favors – when you see that men get richer by graft and by pull than by work, and your laws don't protect you against them, but protect them against you – when you see corruption being rewarded and honesty becoming a self-sacrifice – you may know that your society is doomed."

Statement by "Col" Edward Mandell House (1858-1938) who made secret missions to Europe and helped President Woodrow Wilson get elected and pass the privately owned Federal Reserve Act -- "[Very] soon, every American will be required to register their biological property in a national system designed to keep track of the people and that will operate under the ancient system of pledging. By such methodology, we can compel people to submit to our agenda, which will affect our security as a charge back for our fiat paper currency. Every American will be forced to register or suffer being able to work and earn a living. They will be our chattel, and we will hold the security interest over them forever, by operation of the law merchant under the scheme of secured transactions. Americans, by unknowingly or unwittingly delivering the bills of lading to us will be rendered bankrupt and insolvent, forever to remain economic slaves through taxation, secured by their pledges. They will be stripped of their rights and given a commercial value designed to make us a profit and they will be none the wiser, for not one man in a million could ever figure our plans and, if by accident one or two should figure it out, we have in our arsenal plausible deniability. After all, this is the only logical way to fund government, by floating liens and debt to the registrants in the form of benefits and privileges. This will inevitably reap to us huge profits and beyond our wildest expectations and leave every American a contributor to this fraud, which we will call "Social Insurance." Without realizing it, every American will insure us for any loss we may incur and in this manner; every American will unknowingly be our servant, however begrudgingly. The people will become helpless and without any hope for their redemption and, we will employ the high office of the President of our dummy corporation to foment this plot against America."

"I am a most unhappy man. I have unwittingly ruined my country. A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the civilized world a Government by the opinion and duress of a small group of dominant men." — President Woodrow Wilson on the Federal Reserve Act

"Whomsoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce and when you realize that the entire system is very easily controlled, one way or another, by a few powerful men at the top, you will not have to be told how periods of inflation and depression originate." -- James Garfield (one of the 7 U.S. Presidents who were assassinated)

"I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around [the banks] will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the people, to whom it properly belongs." — President Thomas Jefferson

"(The Great Depression resulting from the Stock Market crash) was not accidental. It was a carefully contrived occurrence....The international bankers sought to bring about a condition of despair here so they might emerge as rulers of us all." -- Louis McFadden US Congressman (R-PA) 1915-1935, Chairman of House Banking and Currency Committee. Poisoned in 1936.

When Benjamin Franklin was called before the British Parliament in 1757 and asked to account for the prosperity in the American colonies. He replied: "That is simple. In the colonies we issue our own money. It is called Colonial Scrip. We issue it in proper proportion to the demands of trade and industry to make the products pass easily from the producers to the consumers. In this manner, creating for ourselves our own paper money, we control its purchasing power, and we have no interest to pay to no one." It was the struggle for financial sovereignty that precipitated the American Revolution when the (Rothschild) Bank of England forced the colonists to give up their own currency."

General Smedley Butler is best remembered today for his oft-quoted statement in the socialist newspaper Common Sense in 1935: "I helped make Mexico and especially Tampico safe for American oil interests in 1914. I helped make Haiti and Cuba a decent place for the National City Bank boys to collect revenues in. I helped in the raping of half a dozen Central American republics for the benefit of Wall Street. The record of racketeering is long. I helped purify Nicaragua for the international banking house of Brown Brothers in 1909-12. I brought light to the Dominican Republic for American sugar interests in 1916. I helped make Honduras 'right' for American fruit companies in 1903. In China in 1927 I helped see to it that Standard Oil went its way unmolested.... Looking back on it, I felt I might have given Al Capone a few hints. The best he could do was to operate his racket in three city districts. We Marines operated on three continents."

"The Association for Responsible Dissent estimates that by 1987, 6 million people had died as a result of CIA covert operations. (4) Former State Department official William Blum correctly calls this an "American Holocaust." -- Steve Kangas: The Origins of the Overclass

"The Federal Reserve was created in 1913, it's only job was to provide the banksters a way to loot the American industrial economy. That it did. The banks extend credit, the credit is 'money' that flows into society creating artificial demand and boom conditions. Those who borrow are the big winners, those who save are impoverished. Ever increasing price inflation becomes the new reality totally convincing the public that home values only go up. Borrow, borrow, borrow to prosperity. Naysayers are fools in the up phase. People are mostly unaware of what's really going on so they become convinced that inflation is a permanent thing, especially today since the boom phase lasted from 1932 to 2006. I for one tried telling everyone that deflation was coming, get out of debt. It fell on deaf ears. I write repeatedly that the bust is going to be worse than 1929, since the wave up was a magnitude larger. In Elliott terms, the 1920's boom and 1930's bust was a Super Cycle Wave. The current bust is just the first wave down of a Grand Super Cycle collapse, so it's doubtful that even the US Government will survive. And lets not forget war. Bankers make war through their political whores they install. War is how banks make huge profits and gain total control over every aspect of your daily life. It's important to realize the total deprivation that a central banking leads to: permanent war, inflation and resulting depressions, and political fascism." — from a reader

On February 17, 1950, James Paul Warburg appeared before the U.S. Senate and declared: "We shall have World Government, whether or not we like it. The only question is whether world government will be achieved by conquest or consent."

"Since 1935, the one dollar Federal Reserve Note has had the Illuminati all-seeing eye within the Great Seal. At the base of the pyramid is Roman numerals 1776, the year the Illuminati was founded. One dollar bills were printed as Federal Reserve Notes beginning in 1963. The phrase "In God We Trust" was added in 1957. Considering the enslaving amount of usury that we pay, totally eschewed by Jesus, the Fed's use of that statement on their notes appears to be an ironic hoax on the Christian citizens of this country. The Power Elite enjoy concealing their nefarious agenda in plain sight. Under the pyramid are the Latin words – "Nova Ordo Seclorum" which means "a new order of the ages" or "new order of the centuries." The words "Annuit Coeptis" are above the eye which means "he looks upon your endeavors favorably." Who would that be? Some suggest that it represents Osiris, Egypt's pagan god." — a reader

Rabbi Stephen Wise: "Masonry is a Jewish institution whose history, degrees, charges, passwords, and explanations are Jewish from beginning to end."

"At the core of the [Rothschild] One-World-System is Satanism. It hides itself behind fronts such as Jewish Finance, Socialism, Aryanism, British Israelism, Zionism, and Freemasonry which are tools to get the broad masses to serve the Plan." — Bernard @ <http://www.silentmajority.co.uk/newpoliticalsystem/whohowwhy.htm>

How Could A DOLLAR MELTDOWN Occur?

"The U.S. dollar is a 'faith-based currency' dependent on the credibility of a central bank" --- Dallas Federal Reserve Bank President Richard Fisher

In short? 4 of every US dollar belongs to a foreign country. If the World decides to cash it in, also known as "sell it" – every dollar you have will be worth 25 cents. But the US is in debt for trillions. So we just really don't want to think about that. It doesn't, of course, just rest on faith, it rests on fear. When the federal reserve says it "will do what it takes to maintain its credibility" it means it will bomb the hell out of anyone who tries to stop them doing business FED Style. One reason to not have "faith" in the US dollar is the limits to growth, not to mention Nuke 'Em All Diplomacy. Also known as, "which one are we going to fear most?" Argentina got IMFed and their currency went through the floor. So a buck will go a loooooooooooooong way there.

Chris Laird (<http://www.financialsense.com/fsu/editorials/2005/1004.html>) reminded us that it wasn't that long ago that Argentina in 2002 imposed something similar to "you are only allowed to take out 5k per month from your bank account, it's a new law" because the Argentinean peso collapsed and people wanted to take their pesos and sell for dollars. The Argentinean government just told the banks, don't let them pull out their money. Freeze the bank accounts. The people with money in the bank... just had to watch... and starve. There was rioting in the streets for months. Sound far fetched for the US? In the early 30's the US declared a bank holiday amidst having bank runs and bank collapses, after the crash of 1929... and subsequent ensuing depression.....and the US outlawed gold holdings then.... ordered people to turn it in, and gave them the US exchange rate 20 bucks or so, then soon after raised the gold price in USD to 35 bucks.....

Suppose the US entered a dollar crisis where, say the dollar is collapsing via foreign currencies.... Say just for example, against the YEN. Then millions of people would want to buy Yen, and the US govt would probably just say, "you cannot take out more than 5K per month out of your accounts. IE they freeze your bank accounts, so you cannot go and buy Yen. People worry about hyperinflation. But currency crises also come and have come to the US even, and in Dec 2004 we were flirting with pre stage events that could have boiled into a dollar crisis, when the USD was dropping fast late 2004. So whether it's hyperinflation with a resultant mad rush to buy anything real, or a currency crisis where there is a mad rush to buy any currency other than the USD, people with large amounts of cash are asking for big trouble. All the government has to do is freeze or semi freeze your bank accounts, and they have already done this in the past. People will think, well gold etf's will do well. Perhaps. But don't you think the US government would be kinda ahead of that curve??? All they have to do is suspend trading, or use a bank freeze to prevent you from getting any money over into that etf anyway, and later when things really get nasty, after the etfs have scarfed up enough gold.....you get my drift? after that then say, "for national security" we are taking "custody" of the etf gold vaults.

They will say it's for the protection of the gold, but all it really is is confiscation. All an etf is to me is a vehicle where the public buys all the gold, then the govt seizes it later. Happened before. And it will probably happen again. The govt might say" here is x dollars, but we're taking the gold". A week later gold sells for three times as much on the black market, and the dollar buys exactly one third as much food, gas and so on.....you have the dollars but all of a sudden they just don't buy much. "They would never do that" you say. But didn't I just tell you that that is PRECISELY what happened in the 1930s??? The US govt outlawed gold ownership for the public, took the gold coins out of circulation, and issued all fiat dollar notes.....and took all bank deposit boxes of gold as well, and if you went into a bank to open your deposit box, you had to do that IN VIEW of a federal marshal.... If he saw any gold he forced the owner to hand it over for a specified number of fiat bank notes.... If that happened to gold and gold currency in the 1930s why can't that happen today??? What would keep a gold ETF out of that picture? Of course, if you have that gold stashed here and there, not in a bank.... maybe you'll be ok. There is nothing that equates to 100 pct security. But if you have lots of bank accounts, I wouldn't bet on them keeping you safely out of financial harm's way in such a scenario.

There are many ways a currency crisis could unfold for the US. One main one would be selling of UST bonds. That effectively would be dollar flight, first out of TBonds into dollar cash, then out of dollar cash into say, Yen. Or Yuan, or Euros....Now at the moment I don't see this happening but it definitely can. In such a scenario, if other foreign central banks did not all join to support the USD, it would be very possible that the USD could collapse not in weeks, but possibly in a day or even if things got hot, in an hour. Electronic money is so fluid that markets could be flooded in only an hour. Then the US would have to halt trading here, but of course there are foreign markets. I doubt the US could get the international forex markets to close too... in which case, the collapse would continue. One of the things that concerns me is that the World really has geared their finance on the US consumer, and the US housing boom. Of course they now have their own property booms, but a lot of that started here. Actually, if you want to really trace the present finance boom Worldwide we can thank the Japanese, who started this latest mess in the 1990's following twin stock and property boom/collapses and countered that with zero interest rates, but not only for a year or two, but for a decade. Now the World is infected with the imbalances of that ill advised strategy, and the YEN carry trade was the conduit for massively low interest rates World wide. The fact that the US initiated its own virtually zero interest rate environment, post the tech crash and 9-11, was only a second phase of an already well under way World liquidity boom started by Japan.

At that point, when the US started its own version of ZERO interest rates (zero at least in real rates, if a 1 pct Fed target rate isn't low enough), the World got entrained in the Japanese low interest finance disease via the USD conduit. Now we are really in a mess. REALLY IN A MESS. The US housing boom is peaking. We still have statistics indicating that its going strong, but also clear indications that it is slowing. It is my view that should the US consumer slow decidedly, there will be little incentive for the Chinese, say, to keep supporting the USD. They may decide at some point to go ahead and try to focus on their Asian markets, as might Japan, figuring that the US is toast anyway for a decade. Should that happen, I am sure we will be looking at a very serious possibility of a real bonafide USD crisis. Basically they would be saying, the US consumer market is maxed out, and not worth saving. Back in Dec 2004, I wrote at Gold-Eagle that I believed the Chinese would not unpeg the Yuan until late 2005 because they would not mess with the US consumer since that was their biggest customer. It would only be when the housing boom was slowing that they would even consider meaningful Yuan revaluation. They have made their first move in July 2005, albeit a very small one. Probably more than anything else that move was due to pressure from the US with all the threats then of anti China bills in Congress. Now I believe we need to look at the view that, should the US housing boom slow and the US consumer pull back decidedly, the USD gravy train for Asia has no more gravy left.

I believe that the US housing boom is peaking. Therefore I believe there is a risk now of a real USD crisis, or semi crisis. There is one major caveat though. The USD is still so strong vis-a-vis as the World reserve currency, that that might make all parties involved not even think of doing anything to harm the USD. But the possibility of major pullbacks of USD holders remains anyway. And, as I said, the scenario where they dump US treasuries is only ONE scenario. There are many such scenarios. Another would be the derivatives mess collapsing. That is so fraught with liabilities that it is, as I said before, the single greatest black box risk to the US and World economy..... and could result in a USD crisis as well, as the Fed might find itself having to infuse trillions (yes I said trillions) to stem the next major derivatives crisis. That would probably lead to a currency crisis. As a matter of fact, would you believe that China and Russia and other nations right now are making bold moves into all sorts of derivatives markets themselves??? WHEW! The World is speculation happy! Most definitely. In any case, there are many scenarios that can lead to a USD crisis. I don't think those scenarios are all voluntary ones either. It is possible a USD crisis could ensue, not as a result of some definite decision of foreigners to pull out of the USD, but could ensue as an accident, possibly of derivatives.....Now recently, I wrote the article "Something is wrong, something is up, possibly a crisis" In that I stated that gold's recent rise was too fast for the recent behavior to be only due to some usual economic news, but rather looks to me like there is a hidden crisis.....I pegged derivatives as suspect number one. That argument has now showed itself in many financial publications. (not necessarily the derivatives component). We still are not clear on what crisis is at hand, but I suspect there is one. The problem is that if it remains hidden then by the time you know about it, it will be too late for you to make any moves.....This is why I keep saying be in PROTECTIVE MODE.

How the BankLords Enable Drug Money Laundering

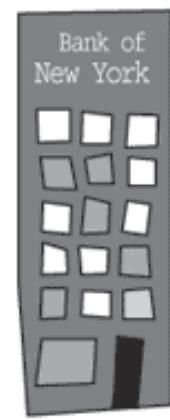

Remember how ex-LAPD officer Michael Ruppert exposed John Deutch, the CIA head at that time, during a 1997 LA town hall meeting after which Deutch had to resign to cool down the news of the revelations by Michael (view the video of the Town Hall meeting <http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=416734229712600729> <http://www.copvcia.com> <http://www.fromthewilderness.com/>). As long as the drug lords recycle their drug dollars into the Federal Reserve Banking system (and as long as the oil exporters to the same), they are protected by the CIA. Notice how big name South-American drug traffickers have met with high-ranking US politicians including the Bush's and the Clinton's (see recently deceased Sherman Skolnick's exposes <http://www.skolnicksreport.com>). Notice how Noriega was snatched when he asked too much of a cut from Bush for the drug trade. Notice how the Taliban were removed after stamping out the Afghan drug trade and how now under US occupation, the Afghan drug trade is at its peak again. Now from <http://www.apfn.org/APFN/MONEY.HTM>

The World's biggest banks and multinational corporations have set up a shadowy system to secretly move trillions of dollars—a system that can be exploited by tax evaders, drug runners and even terrorists. Ernest Backes, circa 1981. Ernest Backes exposed this dubious system and has launched a personal crusade for international oversight—earning him some high-powered and dangerous enemies. Explosive Revelation$, http://web.archive.org/web/20050306054746/http://www.inthesetimes.com/issue/26/10/feature1_1.shtml

Ernest Backes, Explosive Revelation$, part 2 <http://web.archive.org/web/20050306054746/>

CLEARSTREAM: “THE RIVER THAT WASHES” HOW DOES THE SYSTEM WORK?

- 1 A branch of the Bank of New York establishes an account with Clearstream.

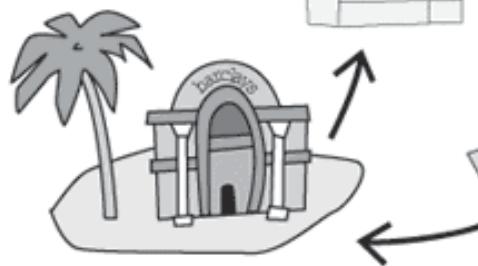

- 5 After going through Clearstream, the money is “clean”—its origins in the Caymans largely untraceable. Investigators looking at Barclays published accounts—the ones they would be given by Clearstream—won’t find the records there.

- 4 The trafficker later instructs Barclays to send money to his broker on Wall Street to purchase some stock. Clearstream handles the transaction electronically with the Bank of New York, where the broker is a client.

- 2 A branch of Barclays Bank in the Cayman Islands, an offshore tax haven, sets up an unpublished account.

- 3 A drug trafficker deposits “dirty” money into a personal account at the Barclays branch in the Caymans.

http://www.inthesetimes.com/issue/26/10/feature1_2.shtml

The Banking / Federal Reserve System BY FAR, THE SINGLE GREATEST SLEIGHT-OF-HAND SCAM EVER PERPETRATED ON THE AMERICAN PEOPLE. !!
<http://www.freedomdomain.com/bankfed.htm> The Money Masters <http://www.themoneymasters.com/>

Gambling with the Taxpayers' Money: AIG Insurance, Credit Default Swaps, Derivates, Short Selling...

A corporation that is considered too big to lose is also too big to exist. Behind that is one of the major frauds perpetrated by our legislators, the irresponsible idea of "limited liability" that has made corporations havens for thieving charlatans for many years. And the biggest thieves of all wind up where they can enjoy the greatest amount of thievery: Wall Street. From there they buy Congresspersons and Judges by the dozen. The idea that any positive change can be made by exercising our franchise is the dumbest notion of all. If voting were of any benefit to the people it would be illegal. It's just a trap by which the gullible surrender their sovereignty.surrendersovereignty.

<http://www.rumormillnews.com/cgi-bin/archive.cgi?read=74897> Wow, connect the dots on the 9/11 Insurance swindle. Isn't zionism fun? Aren't zionists such warm and fuzzy people? AIG = Twin Towers....

No one mentions that AIG was the insurance company that insured the Twin Towers SPECIFICALLY against terrorism a month or so before 9/11 happened, and then paid off on the towers' collapses TWICE based on a friendly lawsuit between friends Larry Silverstein (who owned the lease on the Towers) and his buddy Maurice Greenberg, (CEO/owner of AIG) ???? So it would seem that AIG is right in the middle of things, such as THREATS, ATTACKS, etc---and has been for some time. Anybody at T.O. care to spend a bit of time connecting THOSE dots?????

A.I.G. Using "Suicide Strategy" to Push Bonuses, Tuesday 17 March 2009 by: Matt Renner, t r u t h o u t | Report, Matt Renner is an editor and Washington reporter for Truthout. He can be reached at Matt@truthout.org.

Washington, DC - As nationwide populist anger boils after the news that hundreds of millions of taxpayer dollars may be given to employees of the insurance-giant- turned-governmen t-liability American International Group (A.I.G.), President Obama promised to try to block what he described as an "outrage" Monday, but a group of former regulators said the administration must get even tougher with A.I.G.

"[A.I.G.] is a corporation that finds itself in financial distress due to recklessness and greed. Under these circumstances, it's hard to understand how derivative traders at A.I.G. warranted any bonuses, much less $165 million in extra pay. I mean, how do they justify this outrage to the taxpayers who are keeping the company afloat?" Obama said, adding, "I've asked [Treasury] Secretary Geithner to use that leverage and pursue every single legal avenue to block these bonuses and make the American taxpayers whole."

$165 million is set to be paid to executives of A.I.G.'s financial products division, the same people who made unregulated bets against the failure of major financial institutions and other companies. Losses on these bets are a major reason the company is failing, reporting a record-setting $60 billion loss last quarter.

Economics and law Professor William K. Black, a famous figure in the savings and loan crisis of the 1980s for his role as a senior regulator who fingered the then speaker of the House and "The Keating Five" for doing favors for bankers, has been a vocal critic of the bailout programs, which began during the Bush administration.

In an interview with Truthout, Professor Black said that A.I.G. is using a "suicide strategy" to hold the government hostage and keep the bailout funds flowing.

"A.I.G. is holding a gun to their own heads, saying 'unless you help us continue to have this incredible life in terms of bonuses, we're going to die and the taxpayers will be faced with a catastrophe,'" Professor Black said, adding "It's too bad Marxists don't believe in god. Otherwise they'd be thanking him for having sent A.I.G. down to earth to destroy capitalism."

Earlier on Monday, Professor Black joined three other notable annalists with deep industry, regulatory and academic experience in issuing a punishing statement calling for decisive action on A.I.G. and the ongoing bailout.

"A.I.G.'s decision to pay out at least $165 million in bonuses takes the bank bailout program's abuse of the public trust to a whole new level. This act simply cannot be allowed to stand. The only question is how to stop it," the statement said.

The plan to stop the bonuses would require bold action by government officials overseeing A.I.G., which is now 80 percent owned by the government after being given 173 billion taxpayer dollars to bail the company out.

The statement called on the Obama administration to reassert its leverage in the A.I.G. matter by ordering the US officials overseeing the company to stop bonus payments. Then, the government could split off A.I.G.'s derivatives unit - the riskiest part of the company, which brought about A.I.G.'s collapse - and threaten to allow it to go into bankruptcy if the executives don't clean up their act.

In other words, the statement advised the Obama administration to call A.I.G.'s bluff and see if they'll really pull the trigger.

In their defense, A.I.G. said that they are contractually obligated to pay the bonuses in question. Not paying these bonuses, the company said, would cause their executives to leave the company and could trigger a collapse at A.I.G., which could set off a collapse around the world.

The derivatives unit at A.I.G. trafficked heavily in financial products called credit-default swaps (CDSs). Originally devised as a type of insurance, CDSs morphed into an unregulated form of gambling akin to being able to take out fire insurance on a house you don't own and getting paid if the house burns. Because major financial institutions were betting on billion-dollar companies, and betting with each other on each other, their fates are bound together by these bets. If one company goes into bankruptcy, it could set off a string of default swaps and could fold the whole system in on itself.

Documents released by A.I.G. on Sunday show that $43 billion in taxpayers' money has been spent by A.I.G. to pay off financial bets to both US and international banks with a whopping $13 billion going to the politically connected Wall Street giant Goldman Sachs.

The documents directly contradict a statement made during a conference call with stock market annalists by Goldman Sachs chief financial officer David Viniar, who said that Goldman was only immaterially at risk if A.I.G. failed.

The CDS market has an approximate value of 50 trillion dollars worldwide. Critics charge that this massive, complicated and extremely murky market continues to hover over the heads of the global financial system like the blade of a guillotine with the banks holding the executioners rope, daring the government to stop funding their bailouts.

CEO Resignation? In their statement, the former insiders called for the resignation of A.I.G.'s new CEO Edward Liddy for not anticipating and alerting the Treasury Department of the bonuses which started this firestorm.

"Right now, press reports suggest that the firm's top management waited until the last minute to inform the government of what was happening. A.I.G. CEO Edward Liddy, accordingly, should be asked to resign at once, for the sake of public confidence and to send a clear signal that gaming the system is unacceptable," the statement said.

Liddy is a former member of the Goldman Sachs board of directors.

Obama seemed to defend Liddy in his remarks. "[Secretary Geithner is] working to resolve this matter with the new CEO, Edward Liddy - who, by the way, everybody needs to understand came on board after the contracts that led to these bonuses were agreed to last year." Obama said.

Obama added a warning to Liddy and others on Wall Street: "But I think Mr. Liddy and certainly everybody involved needs to understand this is not just a matter of dollars and cents. It's about our fundamental values. All across the country, there are people who are working hard and meeting their responsibilities every day, without the benefit of government bailouts or multi-million dollar bonuses ... All they ask is that everyone, from Main Street to Wall Street to Washington, play by the same rules. And that is an ethic that we have to demand."

Investigations? The statement called for an "investigation of the validity of A.I.G.'s past accounting and securities disclosures and its executive compensation program by the Office of Thrift Supervision, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and the FBI."

"I think that A.I.G. is simply one of the most obvious examples where their accounting was false. Fraudulent accounting at a publicly traded company is securities fraud and that's a felony," Professor Black told Truthout.

Professor Black is confident that a thorough investigation of A.I.G.'s books would reveal misdeeds. "Even though we effectively own the place, we have left it in the hands of the people who have every incentive to hide the past losses and to hide all the past accounting fraud that justified all their past bonuses. These people aren't at risk of simply losing their calendar year 2008 bonus. If this place were torn apart properly, they'd lose all their prior years bonuses as well."

Previous investigations of top management and accounting practices at A.I.G. have been swept under the rug with no criminal penalties.

In February 2005, A.I.G. agreed to pay $1.64 billion to resolve a lawsuit alleging the company used deceptive Enron-style accounting practices in order to mislead investors and government regulators.

Mark J. Novitsky, a corporate whistleblower and independent researcher, blames the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) for failing to enforce the Sarbanes-Oxley law, passed in the wake of the Enron and Worldcom accounting scandals, which was supposed to hold executives accountable for fraudulent accounting practices.

"What progress has been made since the enactment of Sarbanes-Oxley in 2002 that would leave people to believe the SEC is capable of detecting and preventing fraud and is willing to prosecute those who commit financial fraud?" Novitsky asked, adding, "It is obvious in hindsight, after the SEC failed to uncover massive fraud in cases like Bernie Madoff, Stanford Financial, Bear Sterns, Fannie Mae and A.I.G., the public was misled into believing that Sarbanes-Oxley was some kind of an answer. No question my personal experiences leads me to believe that the fox has most certainly been guarding the hen house."

"It is well that people do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning." -- Henry Ford (1863-1947)

The CITY OF LONDON \(Londonium Square Mile\) modeled on Babylonian/Roman times

Although the modern system of local and regional government can be directly traced back to Babylon, when in King Nebuchadnezzar's time (605-562 B.C.), the city was divided up into ten distinct regions or districts ruled by princes, under whom were mayoral governors, captains, judges, treasurers, councilors and sheriffs – in modern times the system of local government that we have throughout the World is derived exclusively from the City of London Corporation. The City of London Corporation is a Masonic, private, independent, sovereign state occupying approximately one square mile within the heart of the greater London area inside the old Roman walls of Londonium. It either directly or indirectly, controls all mayors, councils, regional councils, multi-national and trans-national banks, corporations, judicial systems (through Old Bailey, Temple Bar and the Royal Courts of Justice in London), the IMF, World Bank, Vatican Bank (through N. M. Rothschild & Sons London Italian subsidiary Torlonia), European Central Bank, United States Federal Reserve (which is privately owned and secretly controlled by eight British-controlled shareholding banks), the Bank for International Settlements in Switzerland (which is also British-controlled and oversees all of the Reserve Banks around the World including our own) and last but not least, the communist European Union and communist United Nations Organization.

The Temple Church was built by the Knights Templar in two parts: the Round and the Chancel. The Round Church was consecrated in 1185 and modeled after the circular Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem. The Chancel was built in 1240. The Temple Church serves both the Inner and Middle Temples (see below) and is located between Fleet Street and Victoria Embankment at the Thames River. Its grounds also house the Crown Offices at Crown Office Row. This Temple "Church" is outside any Canonical jurisdiction. The Master of the Temple is appointed and takes his place by sealed (non-public) patent, without induction or institution. The supreme ruler of the City is the Lord Mayor who is elected once a year and lives in the Mansion House. The City has a resident population of about 5,000 that rises to about two million during the week when people surge in and out each day to work. The financial centre of the World, it is often termed the 'wealthiest square mile on earth.' The full title of the Square Mile's governing body is the 'Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London in Common Council Assembled.' The Court of leadership consists of the Lord Mayor, 25 Aldermen and 130 Common Councilmen. All of the giant, largely European Ashkenazi/Khazarian (masquerading as Jewish) international banks and corporations in the City of London that control the World are members of one or another of the Twelve Great Livery Companies domiciled in Guildhall (or the Hall of the City of London Corporation). As the result of a 'gentleman's agreement' between the sovereign and the City merchants and bankers made many hundreds of years ago, the Lord Mayor is officially head of the Corporation and is allowed to operate independently of the sovereign. However, the wealth of the World held in the Corporation ultimately is the sovereign's, because, should the gentleman's agreement break down, the sovereign has the power to "rescind" the Corporation's independence. The Queen sometimes refers to the Corporation as "The Firm."

While ostensibly the power of the monarchy appears to be diminishing as the Queen voluntarily gives her Commonwealth countries their independence and they become republics chartered to the United Nations, and she actively works toward abolishing the sovereignty of Britain as the UK is broken up and divided into regions of the European Union – her City of London Corporation multi-national banks and corporations are quietly taking over the World (e.g. all of the big banks and companies in both New Zealand and Australia are either directly or indirectly City of London-controlled). In ancient times the City marshals and sheriffs were employed to ensure that all the "council" rates and taxes were paid to the City on behalf of the king. After the conquest of William the Conqueror in 1066, who first brought the European Babylonian Jewish bankers to London from France, the Jews developed written credit agreements for the King, (in French called "mort-gages" – mort 'death' gage 'bond') and it was the marshal's and sheriff's jobs to ensure that all the interest payments of these "death-bonds" were paid to the Jews on behalf of the King. During the reign of Richard I (the Lionheart) after the serious downturn in the economy as the result of the cost and tax impositions of the Crusades, many farmers, business people and peasants had defaulted on their "mort-gages" throughout England. As the result, the Jews promptly commenced seizing the commoner's property for not paying the interest, rates and taxes to the City and King. Subsequently, a rapid increase in hate against the "King's Jews" was initiated. This led to the massacre of common Jews at York in 1190. However, the BankLords posing as "Jews" always survived with increased wealth. New York in America was later named by British Jewish immigrant bankers in memory of the event.

For 100 years the commoner's hate against the "King's Jews" fermented until 1290, when, under pressure from the people, Edward III [Longshanks] finally suspended the Mayoralty and reluctantly banished all Jews from his kingdom when 16,000 left England – and didn't begin to return until around the reign of Elizabeth I (1558-1603) when the enormous power of the City really began to accelerate with the opening of the World's first stock exchange in London – and has continued unabated to the present day. While there have been rare occasions when the Lord Mayor and Commalty of the City, as a result of their colossal wealth and power have been able to subtly out-maneuver the monarch, as to their cost, Richard II, Charles I and James II were to learn to their fate – generally speaking this has been the exception rather than the rule. Ultimately, whoever successfully rules must have the "will" of the people. Historically, in the City many although certainly not all monarchs, have ruled with the "will" of their subjects. But rarely, if ever, have the bankers, rich barons or knights been respected in this position. More often than not they've been consistently hated. Even when monarchs have done a poor job, provided they have still had the "will" of the people, the wealthy bankers' position has been extremely "perilous" to say the least. After forty years of misrule by Henry III, the Lord Mayor, Thomas Fitzthomas (1261-1264) and the Aldermen defied the king. On this particular occasion the Lord Mayor ended up being thrown into the Tower where he died. Henry III vetoed nine Mayors in his long reign, and jailed another who died in prison.

On one occasion the threat to the Lord Mayor's massive wealth and power has not come directly from the monarch, but from the people themselves. Mayor Nicholas Brembre (1383-1385) had been a king's man during the peasant's revolt, and was knighted by Richard II (similar to Sir Barry Curtis, Mayor of Manukau City in New Zealand today) for curbing the ambitions of his uncle, John of Gaunt. But Brembre had few friends among the common people having deposed the popular Mayor Adam Stable, and when he re-imposed the hated Poll Tax which had caused the revolt, the mob turned on him. He was given a mockery of a trial and was then hanged, drawn and quartered. Understandably, therefore, from the time of Richard II most of the "Lord Mayors" in the City of London and others in the realm became very "cautious" and "hesitant" about any proposal which could be seen as an "unreasonable demand" to levy rates or taxes for the City and king. However, today these events have all but been forgotten. From the time of William the Conqueror in 1066 up to the time of the Reformation the City of London Corporation was Roman Catholic. (The modern global "company" and "corporate" business system that we know today grew out of the old Roman Catholic dioceses in England which were the World's first "corporations"). During the reigns of Henry VIII (1491-1547) and Elizabeth I (1558-1603) when the Church of England, knights and barons took over the assets of the Roman Catholic Church in England, the City then became Protestant. Gradually, as the people of England apostatized and turned away from the Protestant King James Bible and Christianity in general, both Roman Catholic and Protestant, in the late 1800's the City and Monarchy became rabidly Synarchist =Socialism =Monopoly Capitalism =Fascism =Communism =Fabianism =Nazism =Marxism.

The religion of Synarchism is based primarily on the teachings of the pagan Greek philosopher and writer Plato, and especially his book The Republic, in which 400 years before the time of Christ he dreamed of a "World Republic" headed not by a president, but by a royal "World philosopher king" or "prince" (like himself of course!). Both Karl Marx and Hitler were great students of Plato. It is only inevitable that the planned reformed United Nations and EU will one day be headed by this "Philosopher Prince." Synarchism officially first began in 1880 in London when H. M. Hyndman founded the Rose Street Club which was dedicated to the destruction of Christianity in England. In 1884 the group changed its name and came to be called the Social Democratic Federation. Its early members deceptively called themselves "Christian Socialists." Later the group's membership included the European Jews, Karl Marx's daughter, Eleanor Marx and her husband Professor Aveling. Behind the scenes the group was largely controlled by Engels, Karl Marx's partner. Because Hyndman would not obey the orders of Engels, Eleanor Marx and her husband split off with William Morris the poet and others and started an opposition group which they called the Socialist League.

On January 4, 1884, members and past members of the Social Democratic Federation, the Socialist League and others founded the Fabian Society. The first meeting of the Fabian Society was held at the home of Mr E. R. Pease, a member of the London Stock Exchange. Two of the leading members were George Bernard Shaw and Sidney Webb. Other early members were Eleanor Marx, theosophist and occultist Annie Besant, and author H. G. Wells. The name of the society was suggested by the Spiritualist, Frank Podmore, who named it after the brilliant, elderly, third century Roman general, censor and consul, Quintus Fabius (Maximus Verrucosus) (303-203 BC) who was made a dictator in 221-217 BC and, with his small band of fighting guerillas and superior cunning, successfully defended Rome by defeating Hannibal's much bigger and mighty Carthaginian army through "gradualism" and "terrorism" during the time of the second Punic War. Initially he kept to the hills and cunningly hampered the enemy's progress by cutting off their food and supply lines with "delaying tactics" until Rome could assemble enough men to defend the city successfully. During the war, his slow, "gradual," delaying tactics were greatly disapproved of by his soldiers and the civilians and earned him the name of 'Cunctator' – the 'Delaying.' But later, after the triumph, his skill and wisdom was highly appreciated. He died in his 100th year in 203 BC.

Fabian Socialism is a "mixture" of Fascism, Nazism, Marxism and Communism all bundled together. However, it is much more deadly because it is much more clever and subtle. The only difference between Fabian Socialism and Communism is that Communists take your house by directly sending in the "secret police" to knock your front door down – Fabian Socialists do it much more subtly and cleverly – by "gradually" taking your individual rights away, by "gradually" increasing property taxes and rates, and finally, when you can't pay them, they send in their regional "council tax inspectors" to take your house away – but the end result is the same. British PM Tony Blair and President George Bush Junior's globalist "war on terror" is a classic Fabian Socialist strategy. The philosophy of the Fabian Society was written in 1887 and included the statement: "The Fabian Society acknowledges the principal tenet of Marxism ... the abolition of private property ... etc." (of course this does not apply to the elect oligarchy at the top who end up owning the lot!).

Sidney and Beatrice Webb published a book of 1143 pages in defense of Bolshevism. It was entitled Soviet Communism: A New Civilization. In April 1952 the Webbs were exposed before a US Senate Committee on the Judiciary when Soviet Colonel I. M. Bogolepov, a former Red Army officer, stated that the entire text had been prepared by himself in the Soviet Foreign Office. Appropriately, the defiant coat of arms of the Fabian Society (commissioned by author/playwright co-founder George Bernard Shaw) today (now archived) is a "wolf in sheep's clothing." Until recently it also appeared on the Fabian glass window (now removed) in the Beatrice Webb House at Dorking, Surrey. Today the Fabian Society is among other things the intellectual wing of the British Labour Party. Before Tony Blair became British Prime Minister in May 1997, he was Chairman of the Fabian Society. Since the 1997 British general election there have been around 200 Fabian MP's in the House of Commons, some of whom have formed almost entire Labour Cabinets including Gordon Brown, Robin Cook, Jack Straw, David Blunkett, Peter Hain, Patricia Hewitt, John Reid, Ruth Kelly, Alan Milburn, and Clare Short. Headed by Tony Blair, Fabians now dominate the entire British government. They are resident in all parties and sit on all important select committees, commissions and organizations allied to the government. A good web-site on the subject is: www.lindsayjenkins.com.

The Fabian Society literally controls the European Union. German-born Gisela Stuart, the Labour MP for Birmingham Edgbaston since 1997, and member of the House of Commons Foreign Affairs Select Committee, was one of two House of Commons' Representatives on the European Convention and a member of the Presidium of the Convention on the Future of Europe. The Presidium was the drafting body that created the draft Constitution for Europe. In her book, The Making of Europe's Constitution, published in December 2003 by the Fabian Society, p. 20-21, Gisela writes: "In the early months, the Presidium members would meet in a small room in the Justus Lipsius Building some fifteen minute walk from the European Parliament. Attendance was limited to the thirteen members, the Secretary General Sir John Kerr, his deputy and the press officer. Sir John Kerr, a former Permanent Secretary of the British Foreign Office, conducted the proceedings inside the Presidium and in the plenary sessions of the Convention with deft diplomatic skill as might be expected from someone who John Major called 'Machiavelli' in his autobiography. The best description of his talents I heard was: 'When Kerr comes up to you and asks for the time, you wonder why me and why now?' ...On several occasions, we would retreat to the Val Duchess – a small palace used by the Belgian foreign minister. It was at one of the dinners at Val Duchess that the skeleton of the draft constitution was given to members of the presidium in sealed brown envelopes the weekend before the public presentation. We were not allowed to take the documents away with us. Just precisely who drafted the skeleton, and when, is still unclear to me, but I gather much of the work was done by Valery Giscard d'Estaing and Sir John Kerr over the summer. There was little time for informed discussion, and even less scope for changes to be made."

Today the Labour Parties in both New Zealand and Australia are closely affiliated to the Fabian Society in London. When Australian Labour Party Prime Minister Bob Hawke (a Rhodes Scholar), was guest of honour at the Fabian Society's Centenary Commemoration Dinner in Melbourne on May 18, 1984, he said: "... I gladly acknowledge the debt of my own government to Fabianism. Earlier I dealt at some length with the principle of the inevitability of 'gradualness.' There is another important idea, a method more than a principle – which becomes closely associated with Fabianism. Sydney Webb called it 'permeation.' Today it would be called 'consensus.' Webb put it this way: "Most reformers think that all they have to do in a political democracy is to obtain a majority. This is a profound mistake. What has to be changed is not only the vote that is cast, but also the mental climate in which Parliament and Government both live and work. That I find to be an accurate description of the approach I and my colleagues have tried to bring to the affairs of the nation in our first term of office." In June 2001, at the Federal Government joint standing committee on treaties inquiry into whether Australia should support a statute of the UN International Criminal Court which would affect the "sovereignty" of all Australians, when criticized by an Australian patriotic group, Labour Party Senator Chris Schacht, sarcastically exclaimed he had been a member of the Fabian Society for 20 years – and further, said; "You probably were not aware that us Fabians have taken over the CIA, KGB, M15, ASIO (Australian Security Intelligence Organization), IMF, the World Bank and many other organizations."

In the last century, members of the British Fabian Society dynastic banking families in the City of London financed the Communist takeover of Russia. Trotsky in his biography refers to some of the loans from these British financiers going back as far as 1907. By 1917 the major subsidies and funding for the Bolshevik Revolution were co-ordinated and arranged by Sir George Buchanan and Lord Alfred Milner. [no doubt using money from Cecil Rhodes' South African gold and diamond legacy - Ed] The Communist system in Russia was a "British experiment" designed ultimately to become the Fabian Socialist model for the British takeover of the World through the UN and EU. The British plan to takeover the World and bring in a "New World Order" began with the teachings of John Ruskin and Cecil Rhodes at Oxford University. Rhodes in one of his wills in 1877 left his vast fortune to Lord Nathan Rothschild as trustee to set up the Rhodes Scholarship Program at Oxford to indoctrinate promising young graduates for the purpose, and also establish a secret society [Royal Institute of International Affairs RIIA, which branched into the Round Table, the Bilderbergers, the CFR, the Trilateral, etc -- Ed] for leading business and banking leaders around the World who would work for the City to bring in their Socialist World government.

Rothschild appointed Lord Alfred Milner to implement the plan. At first the society was called Milner's Kindergarten, then in 1909 it came to be called the Round table. It was to work closely with the London School of Economics founded in 1894 by Fabian Socialist leader Sidney Webb (Lord Passfield). Today former Rhodes Scholars (such as Bill Clinton), Fabian Business Round Table members, and graduates from the London School of Economics (the primary Fabian Socialist training school in the World) dominate the global banking, business and political systems in every country. The British Fabian Society plan to take over the World by the City of London financial community was first published in a book entitled All These Things by a New Zealand author and journalist, A. N. Field. The book was first published in 1936 by Omni Publications in the United States (and censored in New Zealand). The document, called "Freedom and Planning" was secretly circulated in 1932 by the inner councils of the members of the Political Economic Plan, otherwise known as "P.E.P." in London. The then chairman of the organization was a City of London European Jew, Israel Moses Sieff (one of the founders and owners of the Federal Reserve), who was the reputed author of the plan. The headquarters of P.E.P. were at 16 Queen Anne's Gate, London. Mr Sieff was also chairman and financier of Marks and Spencer's chain stores and vice-president of the British Zionist Society.

Centered around City of London Jewry's international financiers in the Bank of England subsidiary, the Bankers Industrial Development Company, the essence of the document "Freedom and Planning" was (and still is) to gradually "Sovietize" the World based on their "Five Year Plan" inaugurated in Moscow in 1927-28 in the Soviet Union. Basically the plan involved the subtle transfer of the entire productive capacity of each country throughout the World into a series of great "State-owned" departments, which would then be "corporatized", then "privatized" to City of London Corporation International banks and corporations which they control. Individual property ownership would be severely restricted, with most of the land, sea, fisheries, rivers, lakes, ports, railways, communications, media, roads, electricity, energy, food, water, waste management, housing, farms, commercial property, schools, hospitals, police, social welfare, Inland Revenue etc. transferred into statutory corporations, companies or land trusts which indirectly would be owned by City of London banks. The "peasants" would still be allowed to own their own clothes, and small assets like furniture, cars and boats etc., but the main assets of each country would be owned by their multi-national corporations and banks. In essence the City of London Corporation would become the "One World Earth Corporation" and would privately own the World. Similar to the experiment carried out in the USSR, the whole World would eventually be transferred into a Communist "United Nations" World Soviet Socialist Republic, where each country would be "regionalized" and ruled through "Regional Councils" through a United Nations dictatorship called a "Parliamentary Assembly" which would be just another name for a Soviet "Central Committee" – and all independent, sovereign, national governments would be totally abolished.

As the result of the P.E.P. Plan originally formulated in 1932, right now every country's "State assets" (owned in trust by the State on behalf of the people) are being frantically "privatized" by City of London-controlled banks and corporations primarily under the directions of two leading Fabian Socialist writers – Sir Roger Douglas and John Redwood. Sir Roger Douglas's book Unfinished Business and John Redwood's book Public Enterprise in Crisis are the primary handbooks being used by central and local government finance ministers and officers all around the World to sell off each nation's "family silver" and State assets – with the more "sensitive" public assets being transferred into Fascist-type Public-Private Partnerships (PPP's) which are designed to make the public masses and peasantry "think" that they have some degree of control – when in reality they have none as the real ownership of the assets are held by the City of London banks and corporations who fund them. Until relatively recently, John Redwood was head of N. M. Rothschild & Sons London global Overseas Privatization Unit that is coordinating the entire global privatization process. Sir Roger has been contracted as a consultant by City of London Banks, the World Bank and others to advise on national privatization programs as well.

All of the countries in the World currently are being "regionalized." Presently, for example, the whole of the United States is being "regionalized" and the EU Committee of the Regions, based in Brussels, is "regionalizing" every country in the European Union. As the result of this radical "regionalization" process, Britain has now already been effectively abolished, having been divided up into 9 separate regions of the EU, plus Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland. This cunning process, which is being "gradually" implemented to destroy the power of the central national government in each country, is commonly referred to as "Devolution" by the Queen and Fabian Society. Unlike the rest of the autonomous regions in the UK which, like most of the other regions in the EU that have become virtually powerless through their representation in the European Parliament which is now only a "talking shop", the City of London Corporation as a separate region by itself within the Union now rules it. This is because all of the Commissioners are appointed (not elected) to the European Commission by City of London-controlled business leaders and bankers in their respective countries. Right now throughout the UK all city councils and regional councils are dramatically increasing their rate demand on their constituent's properties, while at the same time they are quickly expanding their debt levels for unaffordable capital works programs via loans from City of London banks – which policies are deliberately intended to prepare for the councils' "privatization" whilst transferring the local government in each country to "regional councils" – which ultimately will become or be controlled by "Regional Parliamentary Assemblies," identical to the old structure in the former Soviet Union – which first regionalized then abolished the national governments before they set up their republican socialist police state.

In New Zealand, the blatant UN "Sovietization" of the entire country was implemented by the Hon. Dr. Michael Bassett, Minister of Local Government, through the Local Government Amendment Act (No.2) in 1989. This radical act reduced more than 600 different local authorities throughout the country to 94: 13 regional councils, 74 district or city councils and seven special authorities. This new structure of local government deftly created by the act divided the whole country up into 14 "Soviet-styled" regions governed by 13 regional councils and a district council (with the Airborne Region being unique in that its district council was also to become the regional council for that area.). Under the 1989 Act, the district and city councils were designed to continue to provide essential services such as water supply, roads, sewage disposal and rubbish collection (which all ultimately would be "privatized" or transferred into "Public-Private-Partnerships (PPP's) which would finally end up being foreign-owned) and the regional councils would take over many of the responsibilities performed in the past by many special purpose authorities formerly carried out by such agencies as catchment boards, harbor boards, pest and noxious plant authorities etc. Ultimately, this devious plan is to transfer many of the Central Government tasks and responsibilities to regional councils as well, which will be further subtly rationalized to become or be controlled by "Sovietized" Regional Development Agencies and Regional Parliamentary Assemblies – to rule their unwary serfs and peasants under strict Communist United Nations and Marxist EU socialist law. These processes are now well advanced and are almost complete in Britain, and are accelerating in all other countries, including the United States. One could say that the Fabian Socialist global "cake is about 95% baked!"

In 1992 at the "communist" United Nations Conference on the Environment and Development (UNCED) in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, co-chaired by former Soviet Union president Mikhail Gorbachev and N. M. Rothschild-London agent Canadian billionaire Maurice Strong, the UN unveiled a radical environmental philosophical agenda which "inverted" the traditional values reflected in the Bible, Magna Carta and US Constitution (which put man under God at the head of his creation and dominion i.e. a man's rights were to have superiority over those of animals, fish, plants, trees and forests etc.). At the Earth Summit in Rio, an old pagan concept was introduced which "inverted" all of our existing, constitutional, democratic, personal and property rights and values espoused by Christianity – and transferred them to the environment and the religion of mother-earth Gaia worship. In this religion, a tree becomes more valuable than a human being. A rare bird more valuable than a hospital. This United Nations program of action unveiled in Rio was called Agenda 21. It is 300 pages long and is very complex. Primarily it is designed to be implemented with other radical UN documents such as the Global Biodiversity Assessment (1100 pages), promoted by the UN Conference on Human Settlements, Habitat II. The first Habitat conference was held in 1974 and specifically identified private property ownership as a threat to the peace and equality of the environment. It proposed to revolutionize the development of the land and cities of each country under strict "Soviet-style" environmental guidelines, called "Sustainable Development." The UN's communist secret agenda through "environmentalism" and "sustainable development" is very cunning and has deceived a lot of well-meaning people. Most people genuinely want to protect the environment and ensure that the earth's resources are "sustainable" for future generations there is no doubt. But the communist goal of "sustainable development" and "environmentalism" has absolutely nothing to do with protecting the environment or sustainability – it is all about abolition of property rights, and ultimately, collectivization of housing and farms under corporate State control.

Under this system, farmers and property owner's rights would be effectively extinguished and overridden by strict Environmental and Sustainable Development resource consents and laws. They would be told where they could farm, what "sustainable" land they could "develop," (sustainable development) what trees they could plant or cut down, what fertilizer if any they could apply, and they would need "consents" and licenses for everything under the sun. City dwellers would be in the same dire predicament, and have their homes confiscated, or they'd be severely fined, if they cut down a heritage tree, washed their car, boat or dishes using detergent, or used the privatized corporation's water when they shouldn't, especially if they were nabbed under their friendly "Neighbourhood Watch Scheme," which scheme, incidentally, was first implemented in the Soviet Union. Socialism is very subtle. The penalty for cutting a tree down without the appropriate government consent would become worse than murder. Not only would you have to license your dog, to own a dog you would have to be licensed too. Farmers would need to be licensed to operate their collectivized farms, spray weeds, care for cattle and drive their tractors under new Soviet-styled "health and safety" laws. All tradesmen and professional workers would have to be accredited and licensed, as would all Christian pastors and churches, and any other persons or institutions that could be likely to criticize their Soviet bosses. All potential young parents would need to have a license to have children, and if there was any family genetic weakness of some sort in their state-controlled doctor's medical records, no license would be given. In the end you would need a license or permit to take your boat on a lake, take your kid fishing off a wharf, or travel between towns or cities. In other words – full-blown Marxism.

The United Nations policy of "Sustainable Development" introduced in 1992 at the UNCED at Rio de Janeiro, and implemented through Habitat II and the UN World Commission on Environment and Development – is taken directly from the USSR Constitution, chapter 2, article 18, which reads: "In the interests of the present and future generations, the necessary steps are taken in the USSR to protect and make scientific, rational use of the land and its mineral and water resources, and the plant and animal kingdoms to preserve the purity of air and water, ensure reproduction of natural wealth, and improve the human environment." Not only was N. M. Rothschild agent, Maurice Strong, Secretary-General of the UN 1992 Rio Earth Summit, he personally worked with UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan to appoint three of his own Earth Charter Commissioners to the 12-man advisory panel of the Johannesburg Summit. In September 1987, the 4th World Wilderness Congress was held in Denver, Colorado, USA, which established the World Conservation Bank. The congress was setup by none other than London's (late) Baron Edmond de Rothschild, chairman of Banque Privee Edmond de Rothschild, Geneva, Switzerland, and one of the trustees of the International Wilderness Foundation that sponsored the conference. Approximately 1500 of the World's most powerful bankers and leaders attended the congress, which was chaired by Rothschild agent and Canadian multibillionaire, Maurice Strong. At the congress, Edmond de Rothschild designated eminent financier I. Michael Sweatman to be the first president of the World Conservation Bank. Sweatman wrote the forward of the banks charter.

Leading insiders of the biggest banks and UN agencies in the World were present, including Maurice Strong "Mr Sustainable," David Rockefeller head of the Chase Manhattan Bank "Mr Development" and Mr David Ruckleshaus head of the UN Environmental Protection Agency "Mr Environment" – of course! The World Conservation Bank is destined to become the final World Bank and the "de-coupling mechanism" for City of London parent banks to take over the assets of every country of the World. The essence of their secret plan is this: After an orchestrated period of global financial chaos triggered by a major war in the Middle East or man-made state of emergency or natural disaster, in which most of the World's banks will be deliberately collapsed in the process, (wiping everybody's savings out in the crash), key City of London banking parent creditors, are going to takeover all the "mortgages" (death-bonds) and assets of the World, and transfer them to the World Conservation Bank. The plan is very esoteric and cunning, and very difficult for most to understand. Already most government treasury departments are preparing for such an event. As part of the preparation for this momentous event, all of the World's individual currencies are to be merged into two or three major currency groups, two of which are the euro and US dollar. Finally, these currencies are to be replaced with the World Conservation Bank's new electronic global currency, the "Earth Dollar." This new currency is deceptively to be issued against the collateral of 34 per cent of the Earth's surface that is presently being transferred into huge UN Heritage Parks and Conservation areas in every country across the globe, under the crafty deception "Sustainable Development." In short, the biggest banking conspiracy and deception ever to face mankind!

George W. Hunt, (95 Camino Basque, Boulder, Colorado 80302, U.S.A.), a US businessman, attended the congress and produced a video about it exposing their wicked and incredibly deceptive plans. On his video he plays excerpts of key speeches recorded at the congress. One such speech was made by David Lang, a leading US financier and close personal friend and business partner of Maurice Strong, who said: "When the auditor finally gets his hands into the balance sheet, I suggest therefore that this be sold not through a democratic process. That would take too long and devour far too much of the funds to educate the cannon fodder unfortunately which populates the earth. We have to take an almost elitist program that we can see beyond our swollen bellies and look to the future in time frames and in results – which are not easily understood or which can be, with intellectual honesty, be reduced down to some sort of simplistic definition." "CANNON-FODDER!" – this is what these leading, arrogant, banking conspirators of the UN "Sustainable Development," "SmartGrowth," and World Conservation policies think of the World general population – including all New Zealanders. THESE are the wicked men that all the millions and millions of naïve local/ central government politicians and business leaders throughout the World are now following. The New Zealand government has already met its commitment and transferred over 34 per cent of the entire country's land area into UN Heritage Areas and Conservation Parks under this deceptive plan. New Zealanders need to wake up and wake up fast. The main business facilitators and organizations of the UN Sustainable Development policies in the Asia-Pacific Region are the Pacific Rim Institute of Sustainable Management, the NZ Business Council for Sustainable Development and the Melbourne-based Sustainable Investment Research Group (SIRIS). Equity in this group, SIRIS, coincidentally, is held by IOOF Funds Management and broking house JBWere – that provide research for N.M. Rothschild & Sons' Ethical Share Trust based in London.

The 1995 session the United Nations General Assembly passed a number of rules. Rule 61, 62 and 63 gave local government, civil organizations and private citizens the right to participate directly in the development and implementation of these documents. Directed by the IMF, World Bank, UN, and Prince of Wales International Business Leaders Forum, the philosophy of "sustainable development" basically says that there are too many people on planet earth and there are not enough resources to go around. What we need to do is urgently reduce the population, preserve, conserve, and "ration" the remaining resources – and that the United Nations is the only body that can do it. The World Bank already has a huge statistical database on countries and individuals – what they produce and what resources they consume, water, energy, food, raw materials, heat, waste, health, social services etc. If the net figure is a plus, they are considered to be good productive World citizens. If it is a negative, they are in line for liquidation. These are all basically the same old Socialist/Communist ideas as the "Marxist/Leninist" philosophy and "planned economy" that permeated the old Soviet Union. In 1992 at Rio, another key "Soviet-styled" strategy was proposed by the Agenda 21. Programme of Action from the United Nations Conference on the Environment and Development (UNCED) was "SmartGrowth." This agenda can be found in a UN companion book called Global Biodiversity Assessment published by Cambridge University Press. It proposes to model all the cities of the World on the Israel Moses Seif P.E.P plan, and the "planned" economic system of development used by Lenin and Stalin under the old Communist Soviet system of local government. The UN "SmartGrowth" legislation in the United States was first passed in the State of Maryland in March 1997. Since then, it has been gradually introduced by city and district councils all around the World – including our own here in New Zealand. Of course, rarely if ever will you hear of the policy coming from a foul brood of UN international bankers. While virtually all of the general public are oblivious to this fact, usually individual councils will be happy to credit themselves as authors of the plans.

Based on a City of London corporate banking formula, a policy to provide for "more appropriate rates of remuneration for council members" was planned for in the Local Government Act (No.2) 1989. This was essentially recommended to effectively "bribe" City Council, District Council, Regional Council and Community Board members throughout New Zealand, particularly in the bigger councils, to implement the Fabian Socialist policies from the Central Government and Treasury which aimed to dramatically increase property rates and taxes in the future, whether ratepayers or constituents agreed with them or not. Subsequently, these sweeping remuneration changes were proposed by the politically appointed Higher Salaries Commission on April 2002 increasing Auckland Mayor John Banks annual salary from $47,007 to $146,107, a pay rise of $99,100, Manukau Mayor Sir Barry Curtis a pay rise of $35,111, Hamilton Mayor David Braithwaite a pay rise of $27,381, Auckland Regional Council Chairwoman Gwen Bull a pay rise $37,872 and Tauranga Mayor Jan Beange a pay rise of $9461. Since April 2002, it is not just a coincidence that these are precisely the councils that have been amongst the biggest culprits who have demanded the most onerous rates rise from their struggling citizens. For example, Tauranga City's proposed average rate rise for the 2006-2007 year was leveled at 16.3 per cent (when inflation, wage rises, benefits, pensions etc. and the change in the consumer price index was running at about 3 per cent). Even a five year old kindergarten child knows that this huge disparity is entirely unfair and "unsustainable" for the majority of their citizens, yet these highly paid Lord Mayors, Councilors and UN vassals of the realm have the cheek and audacity to call their plans "SmartGrowth" and "Sustainable Development."

Just as there is a "close relationship" between the remuneration rises of leading local body politicians with the overall level of council rate-rise demand, so there is a "close relationship" between the level of council rate-rise impositions and the financial status of people living in each council ward or constituency. The Fabian bankers already "own" the properties held by ratepayers with a "mort-gage" on them. This includes all private homes, farms, businesses and commercial property, local and central government debt. All young people with student loans and welfare beneficiary groups also come under this category. By and large central bankers believe this group is not a worry as they are already under their strict control and firmly in their grip through welfare dependency or mort-gage "death-bond" fealty. But the one group that Fabian Socialists hate the most are the "freehold" property-owners. Hence, this group, more often than not, is the "middle class" that is predominantly comprised of middle-aged citizens and more particularly pensioners who are generally the most asset-rich. As a result of this phenomenon, all global residential property taxation and ratepayer tax policies are now being subtly targeted against these particular groups to confiscate all their properties. Essentially the Fabian City of London banks envisage this to be achieved through a variety of measures including onerous council rate-rises, capital gains taxes on more expensive residential properties, stamp duties, the introduction of Home Equity Release Loans (usually for over-60's), aged health care, social welfare and superannuation programs that debit the cost from the value of recipient property estates, the introduction of Residential Equity Taxes and attacks against Family Trusts. Since council taxes were introduced in Britain in 1993, the average council bill has increased by 121 per cent – but it has soared by 149 per cent in areas which have a lot of older residents. Chichester is the worst offender with a 173 per cent increase. The average bill in the West Sussex town, where 23 per cent of residents are retired, has jumped from £456 in 1993-1994 to £1,244 for 2005-2006. In the Dorset coastal town of Christchurch, where pensioners make up 30 per cent of the population, the bills have soared by 171 per cent from £441 to £1,193. Of the 20 local councils in England with the highest numbers of pensioners, 18 have seen their bills rise faster than average over the past 12 years, according to the research by Halifax Bank. (Daily Mail, Saturday, November 26, 2005). The targeting and planning of these exorbitant rate rises comes not primarily from local councils, but from Central Government and Treasury officials through the Minister of Local Government and the Department of Internal Affairs acting under various OECD or UN agency guidelines.

Early in 1994 submissions were called for on Department of Internal Affairs plans to repeal the 1956 Local Authority Loans Act and for new borrowing powers to be placed in the 1974 Local Government Act. Up to 1994, most local authority borrowing had to be approved by the Local Authorities Loans Board, which ensured that all long-term borrowing by councils for a capital work or asset had to be secured by future rates revenue. Since some loans were exempted from the control and monitoring of the Board, such as redemption loans, loans up to $50 million for local authorities with populations more than 20,000, and loans up to $15 million for local authorities with populations of less than 20,000, it was proposed that the Local Authorities Loans Board should effectively become redundant – and new laws should be implemented which would allow all local authorities to manage their financial costs and risks themselves with details of their proposed borrowing programs included in their annual plans. This conspiracy got its start or rather vital shot in the arm in South Africa through the financial empire of Cecil Rhodes and his secret society, administered by Lord Alfred Milner, the dean of the concentration camps.

This article provides proof that the present genocidal attack on the Boers is but a continuation of the Anglo-Boer War of 1899-1902. The Boers have become the first Western nation to succumb to this system. Hopefully, we will be the first to come out too. This article was written specifically for New Zealand, but it is clear that this exact process is going on in South Africa, from the "Freedom Charter" which declares that Whites will not be allowed to own any property, the exorbitant taxation of whites, to the Blacks in Government being bribed with large salaries, mismanaging municipalities, taking out of large loans, privatization of the Railways, Posts and Telegraphs, ESCOM, SASOL, ISCOR, etc, the "Public-Private-Partnerships (PPP's) being created by Oppenheimer's De Beers and blacks like Cyril Ramaphosa, the Ministers of Minerals of Botswana and Namibia etc.; and of course the Johannesburg Summit.

Summary

In summary, the current banking and credit system which evolved from the Babylonian Nimrodean and Pharaic setup is enslaving the masses under the servitude of the Illuminati banking dynasties (Rothschild, Rockefeller, etc.) who have usurped the power of issuing/withholding credit at no liability to themselves by using the born and unborn masses' productivity as collateral and plunging all into eternal debt and tribute/homage payments in the form of usury. Total enslavement is coming soon unless these modern power, control and wealth predators and Pharaohs with their Zionist Luciferian Masonic collaborators in the military-industrial-government complex are stopped.

The elite BankLords dynasties have usurped the power of issuing/withholding credit from the people. They issue/withhold credit at no liability to themselves by using the born and unborn masses' productivity as collateral. The innocent people around the World are assuming these liabilities. The fiat money debt is passed from generation to generation. The money the BankLords create at no liability to themselves is redeemable for any goods or services produced by anyone willing to accept the private Federal Reserve dollar currency notes and cheques. I (Banklord) Promise To Pay (Nothing To) The Bearer On Demand. Token or fiat money is a credit "point" system. This type of money is actually stock whose value keeps decreasing due to dilution and corrupt credit issues. The dollar now is only a share counter with no fixed commodity value. Even inflation is taxed! INFLATION = INEFFICIENCY + WASTE + DISHONESTY + CORRUPTION. The masses pay tribute/homage payments in the form of usury where an estimated 80% of production goes to the BankLords in visible funds (taxes, mortgage, etc.) and invisible funds (built-in to the price of goods and services). With this immense power, BankLords buy whatever is required to keep this cash cow parasitic system growing for them (buy out think tanks, media, politicians, mafias, tax exempt foundations, plant infiltrators, stage acts of terror, fund immorality, divide the masses and conquer, etc.) and further their monopoly-capitalism system model = communism = fascism. Only a handful of nations are not under the financial control of the BankLords.

One of the most remarkable statements comes from British Lord Sir Josiah (John) Stamp, former director of the Bank of England and 2nd richest man in England at that time: "The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that has ever been invented. Banking was conceived in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the earth; take it away from them, but leave them with the power to create credit, and with the stroke of a pen they will create enough money to buy it back again. ... If you want to be slaves of the Bankers, and pay the costs of your own slavery, then let the banks create money."

Fr. Denis Fahey, ca. 1944: "...Under the World's present financial system the money, except for a now trifling portion, is originally created by the issue of a loan at interest by the "bankers", who lend nothing of themselves but in effect make a forced levy in kind on the Nation by conferring on the borrower the power to purchase a corresponding amount of wealth on the market, which wealth does not belong to them, or those who borrow from them, but to the community. The proceeds of the issue of new money - whether of paper or any other form of credit money - belong to the Nation in which it is, or is accepted as, legal tender, and not to the issuer. Herein lies the basic flaw of the existing monetary system."

"Sound money and free banking are not impossible; they are merely illegal. Freedom of money and freedom of banking ... are the principles that must guide our steps." -- Hans F. Sennholz

One of the most remarkable statements comes from British Lord Sir Josiah (John) Stamp, former director of the Bank of England and 2nd richest man in England in the 1920s said this speaking at the University of Texas in 1927 and repeated it at an address at Central Hall, London 1937, said: "The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was every invented. Banking was started in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the Earth; take it away from them but leave them with the power to create credit, and, with a stroke of the pen, they will create enough money to buy it back again. Take this power away from them and all great fortunes, like mine, would disappear, for then this World would be a happier and better World to live in. But, if you want to be the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then let the Bankers create money and control credit."

Baron Nathan Mayer Rothschild (1777-1836) London financier, one of the founders of the international Rothschild banking dynasty: "I care not what puppet is placed on the throne of England to rule the Empire, ...The man that controls Britain's money supply controls the British Empire. And I control the money supply."

Baron Amsel (Amschel) Bauer Mayer Rothschild (1744-1812): "Give me control of the economics of a country; and I care not who makes her laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from its profits or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class".

"The few who can understand the [banking] system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantages that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests". [As they say, "Ignorance is bliss!"] - John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Morton, and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act.

"Give me control over a man's economic actions, and hence over his means of survival, and except for a few occasional heroes, I'll promise to deliver to you men who think and write and behave as I want them to." -Benjamine A. Rooge

A lot of people have already exposed the Rothschild family as the power behind the thrones, and they continue to exert phenomenal influence over the monetary systems of Europe and America. Here is a timeline about the Rothschilds. It is time for Americans and Europeans to stop behaving like frightened children. http://www.iamthewitness.com/DarylBradfordSmith_Rothschild.htm

As explained in the 1800s by German Chancellor Otto Von Bismarck, the problem is the control of the nation's credit by a small private international group, which has used this advantage to build a monopoly (hence the term "monopoly capitalism" = communism = fascism = imperialism) in every key industry. This international group is behind World imperialism. Its totalitarian occult agenda (a.k.a, globalism) is now corporate policy. The victim paradigm typically purveyed by some is to create divisions and divert attention from the Illuminati Bankers and their cartels. It teaches each new generation to be alienated from their country, its culture and economic system, and to become dysfunctional and impotent. The Bankers want Big Government that they centrally control through debt and credit issues. They need the global police state to ensure that no nation defaults on paying homage to them or rebels against their enslavement. The invasion of Iraq is another step in creating the Bankers' "1984" tyranny as predicted by George Orwell in 1948 (note that the price of oil went from $15 to $75 quintupling the $ purchase requirements, i.e. from over $600 million daily to over $3 billion daily, another boom for the Banksters).

"I am afraid that the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that banks can and do create money.....And they who control the credit of the nation [and its citizens and corporations] direct the policy of Governments and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people" ...- Reginald McKenna, a past Chairman of the Board, Midlands Bank of England.

"Thus our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend not money, but [false] promises to supply money which they do not possess"- Irving Fisher, economist & author.

"One thing to realize about our fractional reserve banking system is that like a child's game of musical chairs [i.e. a pyramid ponzi scheme], as long as the music is playing, there are no losers" ...- Andrew Gause, Monetary historian.

"Money is Power", or shall we say, "The Monopoly to Create Credit Money and charge interest is Absolute Power".

In order to maintain & expand their stranglehold on the issuance of credit money and keep the World safe for their amassed power and wealth (the natural animal instinct of guarding one's territory I guess), the Illuminists and their key-positioned enforcers or stooges have always worked (since the days of Babylon when Nimrod tried to subvert the Prophet Abraham) towards tyranny:

- Keep the masses distracted and busy while amassing control behind the scenes.
- Central Bank domination of national economies: Bank of England, Bank of France, Bundesbank, Federal Reserve, etc.
- Centralization of regional economies: European Monetary Union, NAFTA, etc.
- Centralization of the World economy: IMF, World Bank, B.I.S. (Bank of International Settlements), GATT, etc.
- Centralized World Governments: UN, EU, etc., i.e. total enslavement and fascist tyranny by them.
- Monopolization of the World's gold: IMF controls two-thirds of the supply about 700 million ounces (he who controls the gold makes the rules). They control the money supply.
- To destroy all independent banks, nation states, the family and all religions and will not allow any other system than their slavery based fiat financial system to prosper.
- To replace them with their World monopoly central bank(s), their one-World totalitarian tyrannical government, their central military (a.k.a. NATO) and their enforced Illuminati Luciferian Pharisac Satanic Occult worship. The seat of this N.W.O. government is to be Jerusalem.
- To implement this plan or conspiracy, they have to project deceptive fronts of capitalism, democracy, religion and anti-Semitism behind which they carry out their plans (Orwellian tactics from the book "1984").
- They have to keep the people enslaved and fighting with each other in their financial system of privately created interest-bearing money.
- They have to keep the people distracted and fighting with each other over nations and religion in a final effort for the masses to hate all nation states and religions and accept the Satanic Occult Illuminism. The Illuminists especially don't like the true Torah, Bible and the Quran because these books forbid USURY, Idolatry, Slavery, adultery, etc.
- They will create divisions among a unified mass of people, attach labels to groups of people by creating stereotype and then to demonize entire groups of populations, and to keep groups distracted from the real problems and keep them fighting among each other.
- To subvert, undermine, distort and corrupt the Guidance from God such as in the books of the Torah, the Bible, the Quran, etc.
- They also have to trigger successions of wars and societal problems after which people will be so demoralized that they will become very submissive to the idea of a one-World totalitarian government.
- They also have to reduce World population (down to 1 billion according to some researchers) which can be done via targeted micro-biological warfare (note that since September 11, 2001, 44 World-class micro-biologists, who could both create and cure killer viruses and bacteria, in the United States, Canada, Israel, Russia, etc. have met early deaths strange accidents or supposed suicides).
- Where there's war, there's also mega-money for the Illuminati Bankers.

The elite agenda has always been to grab the wealth of the whole World by playing with the masses. Remember, European Elites not so long ago, i.e. up to the 19th century, were still running a master-serf-slave system! And remember the days of slavery in America not so long ago!

The US Dollar is created from nothing by the privately owned Federal Reserve with no liability to its owners. The dollar's value is elastic and not fixed. The amount of paper private Federal Reserve notes (US $) in circulation is about $600 billion (US Government notes Greenbacks in circulation left over from the good old days is about $300 million). The amount of annual US$ trade deficit is about $700 billion (5%). The amount of US Government federal/state/local annual deficit is about $1.5 trillion. The amount of US Government federal/state/local debt is about $15 trillion and increasing annually at the rate of $1.5 trillion (about $2 trillion is municipal bonds). The total amount of debt to the Federal Reserve and local banks is about $50 trillion and growing ($1.3 Trillion in US mortgages, $2.5 trillion in Federal government bonds). The amount of US$ currency asset holdings (cash and US$ accounts and T-bills) by foreigners is about $3.5 trillion ($2 trillion in Treasury Bills-Bonds out of which $1.3 trillion is by foreign central banks) and growing at the rate of $700 billion annually. These are waiting to spent in the US at some future time. The US$ currency asset that circulates in the US is $1.8 trillion. What the United States owes the rest of the World minus what the rest of the World owes the United States amounts to more than $3 trillion, and it's still growing. The oil trade results in the annual consumption of $1.5 trillion (oil @ $50 per barrel @ 84 million barrels/day trade) and much of this is recycled into US Treasury bills (at gunpoint, shock and awe). M3 (currency bank notes & coins in circulation + personal chequing accounts + current accounts at banks + personal savings accounts + other chequing accounts + term deposits + non-personal deposits requiring notice before withdrawal + all deposits at non-bank deposit-taking institutions + money-market mutual funds + individual annuities at life insurance companies but excluding other types of mutual funds & CSBs) is around $10 trillion and growing at 11% annually. If the float of US dollars decreases because no one wants to buy more US treasures as the Fed creates more fiat money (aka helicopter money), inflation will increase and interest rates will be forced up.

This will increase taxes, increase the cost of basics, hurt the owners of old low-coupon bonds, hurt stocks, hurt housing prices and other bubble markets. Rising inflation and falling asset prices will turn the World of investing upside down! Inflation works in favor of the owners of the Federal Reserve as the value of debt owed to dollar holders decreases. By 2001 foreigners owned a whopping 43% of all outstanding Treasury debt. That amounts to a $1.2 trillion overhang that can be called at a moment's notice. This leaves the United States vulnerable to a foreign vote of no-confidence. America's debt load is 414% greater than the national income, or three times what the debt ratio was in 1957. The nation's debt has soared in the past decade. More than two-thirds of today's domestic financial sector debt was created in the 1990s. In the last decade debt was growing more than three times faster than the economy. It is currently over 34% of GDP.

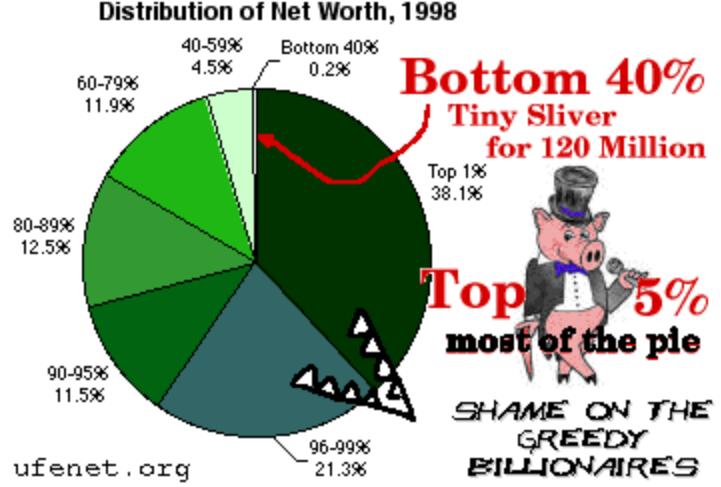

Dr. R.E. Search, "Lincoln Money Martyred", Omni Publications Hawthorne, California. 1935 (Reprinted 1977): Consider this: "One penny loaned January 1st, AC 1, drawing interest at the rate of 6% compounded annually, on January 1st, 1895, would amount to: £8,498,840,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000.00. To pay this in gold at the rate of 1.5 grams of gold to the pound sterling, using it in spheres of pure gold the size of the planet earth, would take: 610,070,000,000,000 such spheres to pay the debt."

The money in circulation today, i.e. paper currency or bank accounts, is all debt-usury-based, and created from nothing; it is actually a futures based system where the banks create a futures contract known as "currency" and charge interest on this contract. You and I are the ones against whom the future's contract is issued because we will have to provide the goods or services to be redeemed upon presentation of the currency! People, government and business' trade these futures contract stocks for goods and services within a certain jurisdiction. In the case of the US$ currency, the US banks have convinced other banks, either via the use of military force, military threats or by bribing third World politicians who are willing to betray their people, to use the printed US$ currency as a reserve, never to be spent. Should these 3rd World countries including China decide not to hold the US$ currency, and decide to spend it in the US, massive inflation would ensue and these countries would hardly get their "money's worth" in any case. The entire system from the bottom up must be changed because the currency today represents an I-owe-U, i.e. a promise-to-give some service at some future time should someone be willing to accept this currency in exchange for some goods or services that he/she can provide. This currency is "fiat", i.e. not representing an existing secured collateral such as gold or silver, but a future collateral, indebting the present generation to future labor and future generations as well, and the value of this futures stock is continuously going down because of corruption when the currency stock is issued for unproductive projects or gifts to operatives of the BankLords and when outsiders finally start to cash-in the currency stock they have been holding for real goods and services on the promise to pay. Basically, the BankLords will keep getting richer and meaner, and the rest of us will keep getting poorer and leaner and further enslaved.

The economic system under the guidance from ancient philosophers and religious scripture does not allow the charging of interest on the exchange of identical commodities and calls it usury. Due to the usury based system practiced during the past 4,000 years, wealth has been centralized in a few hands and life has been made miserable for all through this concentration of wealth and land ownership into a few hands. Wars are instigated to save the usury based system and to keep its owners' wealth and power. In a usury-free system:

- Governments represent the interests of the masses and not the infinite interests of the usurers' Banking Dynasties and massive corruption is reduced
- Governments issue debt-free and usury free currency
- Children are born debt-free (a child born today inherits a Federal/State debt of $50,000 at least)
- taxes don't exist
- inflation doesn't exist
- banks don't exist for the purpose of lending money but rather for the purpose of safekeeping valuables and managing share issues
- wealth is proportional to work performed and not concentrated into a few hands
- people are better off

Shocked? Think about this: it was calculated that as recently as 1989, that the average person was spending nearly 80% of his income, directly or indirectly, on usurious payments. In other words our society is in the grip of an evil that has been condemned from the earliest recorded times. Today it is in a form so refined that most people do not even know it. Does being anti-usury mean, therefore, that we cannot own houses, or buy toys for children, or go on holiday or do the 1001 things that all do regularly? Not at all. It is quite the reverse, because in a system free of usury, prosperity grows and expands to the benefit of all - except bankers, and Stock Exchange swindlers, and loan sharks, and speculators. In other words, a usury-free society is one in which 99% of the people gain at the expense of the 1% who exploit; while a usury-dominated society means working for the interests of the 1%, and suffering all kinds of hardships to make ends meet. However, the neo-Nimrods and Pharaohs Banksters will keep on trying to convince the masses otherwise, as they have been doing for the past 4,000 years. In addition to monetary reforms, we will have to confiscate the $300 Trillion worth of properties that have been illicitly acquired by the Banking Dynasties throughout the 4,000 years of deception. They have managed to again enslave the World financially, and mentally through propaganda and fear tactics in the major news media which they own (or control of politicians, political parties, television networks, cable networks, newspapers, magazines, publishing houses, wire services, motion picture studios, universities, labor unions, church organizations, trade associations, tax-exempt foundations, multi-national corporations, boy scouts, girl scouts, you name it), misleading or conflicting statements (half-the-truth or the truth-mixed-with-lies is a full lie!) which really confuses people and puts them in doubt; once in doubt, a person accepts the status quo and the New World Order propagandists have won over the person's mind for all practical purposes! It seems that people oscillate between the idolatry of occultism and the worship of God.

To get a complete picture and to get rid of the propaganda baggage and really understand in depth the current World situation and the subversion/distortion/corruption of the masses and Godly religions, one must also study the history of the activities of the secretive organizations and clubs sponsored by the Illuminati dynasties such as the Mason/ Zionist/ Chabad - Lubavitchers/ Ashkenazi/ Jesuit/ Bolshevik Brotherhoods, the CIA, Mossad, MI5 & MI6, RAW, French/ German/ Spanish Intelligence units, infiltration into the major religions by these groups' operatives, the various mafias (especially Russian, Japanese Yakuza, US, etc.), the Fabians, the CFR (Council on Foreign Relations), the Trilateral Commission (TC), PNAC (project for the new American century), the NSA (National Security Agency), the Bilderberg Club, the Bohemian Club, the Knights of Malta, the Knights Templar, the Vatican, the Rosicrucians, the Kaiser Foundation (German Americans who planned to make Nixon a Dictator), etc., the history of US/CIA/Zionist/Sevak war crimes, the history of the Occult from ancient Kabbala, Sumerian, Babylonian (Nimrodi Babylonic slavery Masonry) and Egyptian (Pharaonic slavery) times, the history of the Crusades, and the relevant verses from the Torah, Bible and Quran, about the People of Israel (Jacob) and The Temple of Solomon and the Tower of Babel, history of money and the financial systems especially the private Bank of England/HSBC and the private Federal Reserve System, the history of assassinations such as JFK and other Kennedys, Martin Luther King, Malcolm X, Princess Diana, bloodlines of US Presidents and European nobility, History of Fake Terror & the Burning of Rome /Lusitania /Reichstag/Pearl Harbor/Vietnam Gulf of Tonkin/9-11/etc. staged deceptions/fake terror, the history of the control of the news media, World-wide corporate frauds, and the history of election frauds and Fascist laws.

In this exposé, we are showing how the Brotherhoods of the Masonic/Zionist Illuminati Mega-Banking/Financial Dynasties/Empires have usurped the power of the people's government to create money from nothing and how they have been behind the wars/genocides during the past centuries. Along with the "G.O.L.D." (Gold, Oil, Land, Drugs and Arms) Barons, they profit before, during and after the wars (see Michael Ruppert's lectures/upcoming book <http://www.copvica.com>). International Zionism=Terrorism is turning Iraq into another one of the Israeli/US Occupied/Controlled Territories on its path to New World Order Fascist Control for the purpose of serving these Illuminati, i.e. we are seeing a return to ancient Pharaonic/Nimrodi Tyranny (see Alex Jones's The Road To Tyranny video/book <http://www.infowars.com>). We hope that the Internet communications remain free for us to inform the masses otherwise these evil Dynasties/Empires will once more have a total monopoly on news (unfortunately, the elites are already working on plans to control our freedom over the Internet <http://msnbc.msn.com/Default.aspx?id=3606168&p1=0> . A Net of Control Unthinkable: How the Internet could become a tool of corporate and government power, based on updates now in the works By Steven Levy Newsweek International).

Summary Explanatory Diagrams on Federal Reserve System Deception

From http://www.vaticanassassins.org/pope_fed.htm .The chart explains "the magic" (i.e. the fraud) as to how the Jesuit Order's Federal Reserve Bank ("Christ the King's Bank") creates trillions in assets for itself and trillions in debt for the "leveled" American population. Enslaved Americans (White, Black, Oriental and Latin, male and female, "rich and poor," from all ethnic and religious backgrounds), more accurately called "Federal Reserve people," compose the Papacy's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire. The purpose of the "Christ the King's Bank" is to build a "New World Order" with a "New Age" occult religion as envisioned by Satan ("Lucifer" before his fall prior to the Genesis creation week) in fulfilling the risen Son of God's permitted "Mystery of Iniquity." To this end New York City Archbishop Edward Cardinal Egan directs his Council on Foreign Relations to use its "Roman Government," seated in Washington, D.C., ("Rome on the Potomac") to finance every policy decided upon within the "Think Tanks" of the Empire. These "Think Tanks" include Opus Dei's Heritage Foundation, formerly chaired by another accomplice to the Kennedy Assassination, Knight of Malta Frank Shakespeare.

DECEPTION OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE CENTRAL BANK

DEVASTATING RESULTS OF FRACTIONAL-RESERVE BANKING

THE CURRENCY OF THE UNITED STATES IS NOT BACKED BY GOLD OR ANY OTHER "REAL ASSET". THEREFORE, IT IS A FIAT CURRENCY. THE GOVERNMENT MADE IT A LAW THAT THIS FIAT CURRENCY IS "LEGAL TENDER" FOR ALL DEBTS PUBLIC AND PRIVATE.

THE $20, $10, $5 AND $1 BILLS IN OUR WALLETS ARE NOT MONEY. THEY ARE DEBT NOTES. IF YOU WERE TO DEMAND LEGAL MONEY FOR THEM FROM THE UNITED STATES TREASURY, YOU WOULD GET SOME STRANGE LOOKS.

EVERY FIAT CURRENCY THROUGHOUT HISTORY HAS DEVALUED TO THE WORTH OF THE INK AND PAPER ON WHICH IT IS PRINTED, OR THE METAL ON WHICH IT IS COINED.

EXPANSION OF THE MONEY SUPPLY IS ACCOMPLISHED BY THE FEDERAL RESERVE IN THREE WAYS:

1. BY MAKING LOANS TO MEMBER BANKS THROUGH THE "DISCOUNT WINDOW"
2. THROUGH THE "OPEN MARKET" MECHANISM (DESCRIBED ABOVE)
3. CHANGING THE "RESERVE RATIO" THE MEMBER BANKS ARE REQUIRED TO HOLD

AS THE MONEY SUPPLY IS EXPANDED, TWO THINGS RESULT:
1. THE PRICES OF GOODS INCREASE - INFLATION
2. THE VALUE OF THE FIAT CURRENCY DECREASES

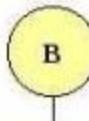

INFLATION IS A HIDDEN TAX ON THE POPULOUS AT LARGE, AS THE PRICES OF GOODS RISE BUT THE QUALITY OF THE GOODS IS NOT SUFFICIENTLY ENHANCED TO JUSTIFY AN INCREASE.

THE LAWS OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND DICTATE THAT WHEN THE SUPPLY OF ANY GOOD (U.S. DOLLARS IN THIS CASE) INCREASES WITHOUT AN EQUAL OR GREATER CORRESPONDING INCREASE IN DEMAND, THE VALUE OF THE GOOD DECREASES.

1

Each numbered point on the Federal Open Market System flowchart, such as 1, correspond with the numbers in the Narrative below. The phrase "Mandrake Mechanism" for the deception of the Federal Reserve banking system was coined by G. Edward Griffin in his landmark book "The Creature From Jekyll Island: A Second Look at the Federal Reserve". It refers to a comic strip character from the 1940s called Mandrake the Magician, whose specialty was creating things out of nothing, then making them disappear back into nothing.

1. The federal government decides it needs some money, so it adds ink to a piece of paper and creates designs on the paper.
2. The federal government calls the paper a Treasury Bond or Treasury Note. These are IOU's to The Federal Reserve ("the Fed").
3. To convert the IOU's into paper bills, the bond or note is given by the federal government to the Fed where it is classified as a Securities Asset.
4. To the federal government (in other words, you and me), the Treasury Note is debt. To the Fed, the Treasury Note is an asset because it is assumed the government will repay its debt. This assumption is based on the government's ability to fleece income tax payers. This Securities Asset can now be used to offset a liability, which the Fed accomplishes by turning on their printing press (actually, they use the Treasury BEP as a print shop), putting ink and designs on another piece of paper, and calling it a Federal Reserve Check. There is NO REAL ASSET MONEY in ANY ACCOUNT to cover this Federal Reserve Check. The Fed shareholders and governors avoid prison because Congress wants the money and this is the easiest way to create it.
5. The Federal Reserve Check is given by the Fed to the federal government.
6. The federal government endorses the Federal Reserve Check.
7. The federal government deposits the Federal Reserve Check into their bank account at one of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks where it becomes a Government Deposit.
8. The Government Deposit is used to pay federal government expenses.
9. The federal government expenses are paid to many different recipients, such as businesses, entrepreneurs, etc, accomplished by writing Government Checks.
10. These Government Checks are deposited by the various recipients into their individual Commercial Bank accounts.
11. These deposits are called Commercial Bank Deposits, and are treated as assets by the thousands of commercial banks.
12. The Commercial Bank Deposits are reclassified by the commercial banks as Reserves. These Reserves are liabilities offset by the Commercial Bank Deposits on their accounting books.
13. Dependent on the "reserve ratio" determined by the Fed (for the flowchart, a 10% reserve ratio is used), the commercial banks are required to keep only 10% of their Commercial Bank Deposits on hand in case of withdrawal by account holders. The other 90% is considered "available for lending".
14. The Reserves that are available for lending are termed Excess Reserves. They generate a myriad of different Loans, which GREATLY EXPAND the money supply.
15. When the recipients of the loans deposit the loan proceeds into their bank accounts, the deposits are treated like new Commercial Bank Deposits, and the entire process repeats over and over and over again. The total fiat money generated by this mechanism is approximately 10 times the size of the original debt created by the federal government due to the 90% excess reserves. This is what the international bankers and economists call the beauty of their operation, but in reality it what our founding fathers warned would be our downfall
16. Will we ever get a president and representatives into our government who will realize and do something about this, or will we meet our fate as a nation? Only time will tell.

$$$ THE MAJICK OF FRACTIONAL-RESERVE BANKING $$$

The thousands of commercial banks in the United States are required to keep a certain percentage, for example, 10% of their deposits in "reserve". So, if a bank were to receive $1,000,000 from the initial money created by "The Fed", they must keep a minimum of ONLY $100,000 on hand as reserves in case customers desire to make a withdrawal. This leaves $900,000 that is termed "excess reserves".

Excess reserves are THE KEY for you to understand the fiat currency deception. These excess reserves are considered to be "available for lending". As a result, the excess $900,000, which are really the property of the person(s) who initially deposited in their account, are converted into "bank loans".

These bank loans are made to you and me, entrepreneurs, businesses - any entity that can convince that particular bank they have the collateral and financial stability to pay back the bank, with interest of course. A loan made to an entity is considered a NEW ASSET to the bank, and the 10% reserve rule applies to these newly deposited funds.

This process repeats over and over and over, with the money supply ever increasing with each check the government receives from the Federal Reserve. Keep in mind that the 10% reserve rule can be changed to 5%, 2% or eliminated altogether, further increasing money supply. Who makes the decision to alter the percentage of reserves required to be held in banks? The Federal Reserve, of course.

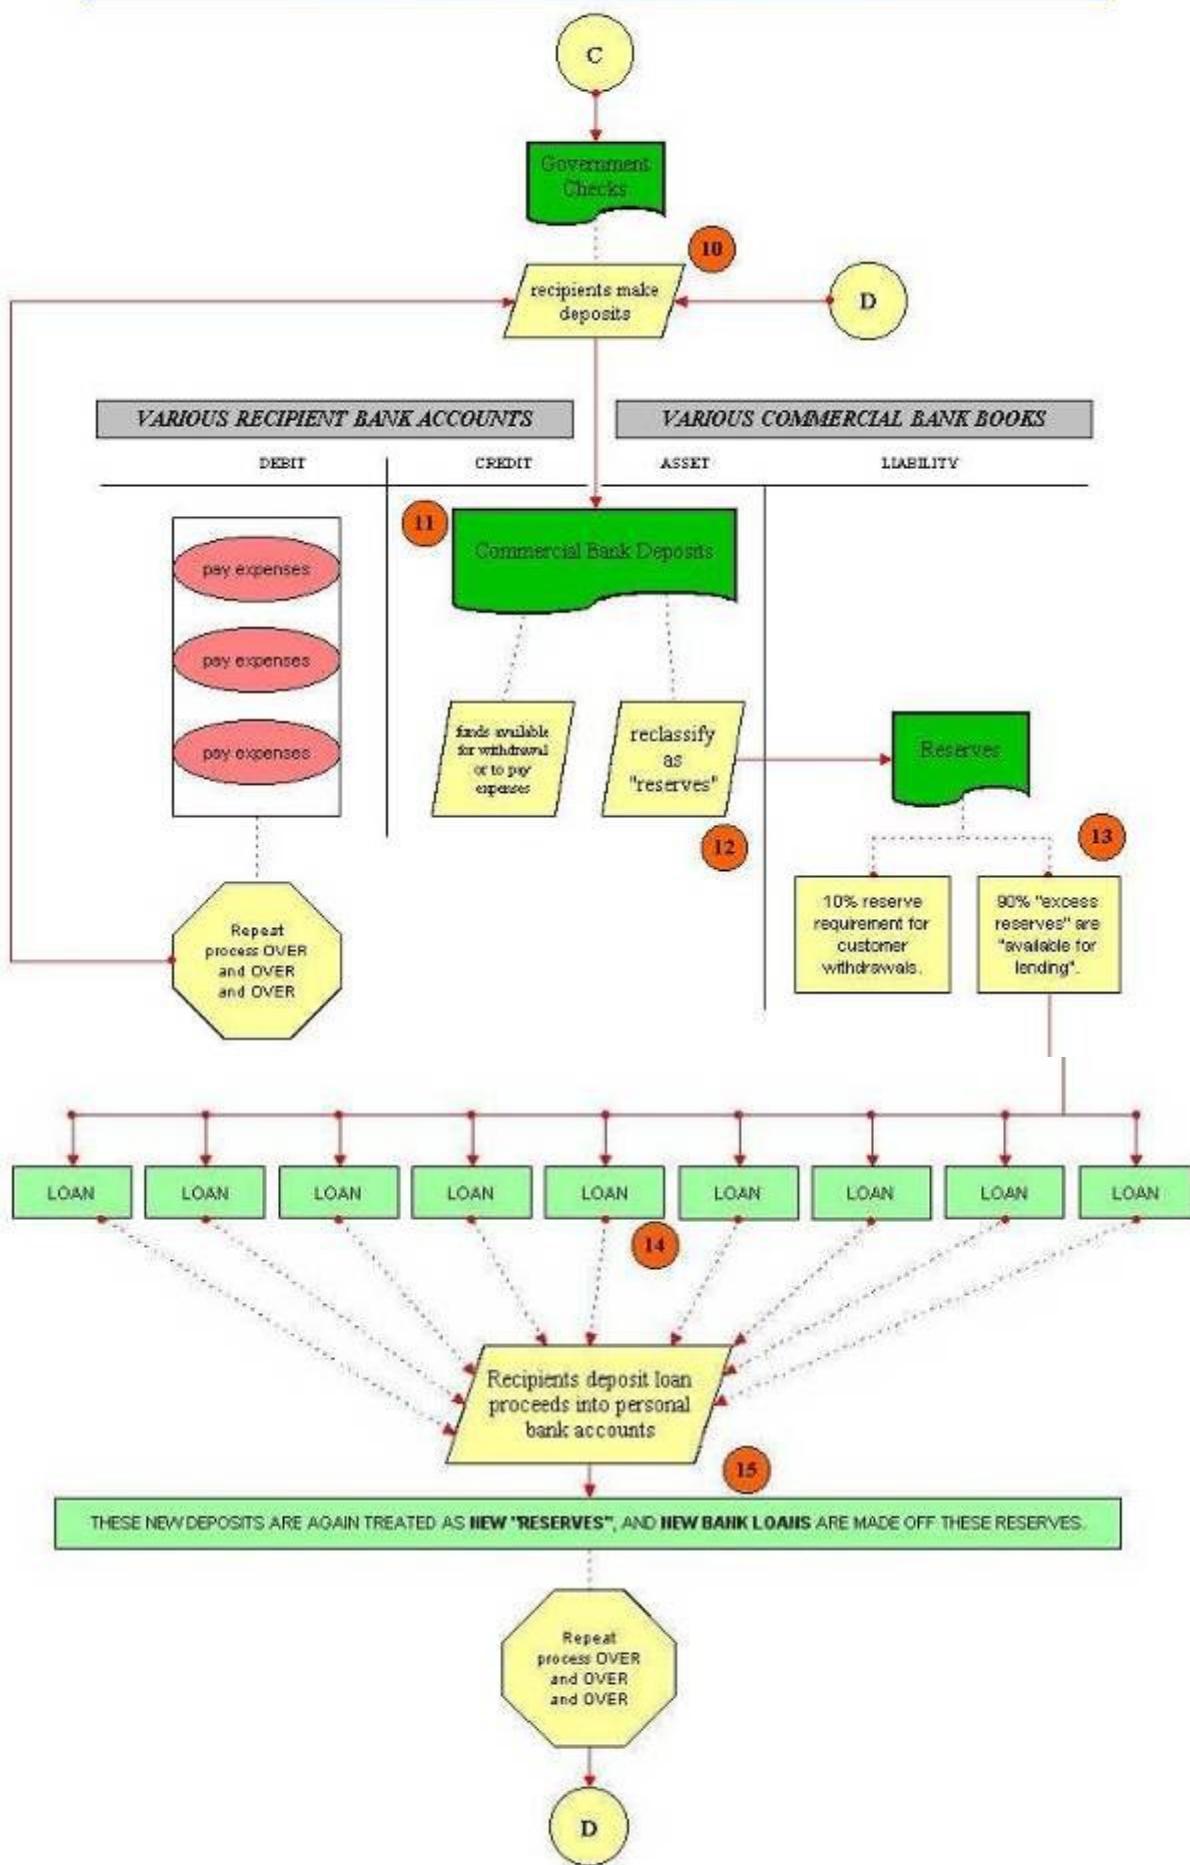

THE FEDERAL RESERVE OPEN MARKET OPERATION

Follow the ARROWS

Commercial Banks Throughout the United States

IRS & CONGRESS, YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED & PUT ON NOTICE THAT:

The private FED and their associated Commercial Banks create credit currency from nothing by monetizing promises to pay made by government/private/public corporations and individuals. This transfers the liability to current and future taxpayers while all profits are routed to the feudal BankLords. Many documentaries and books are available on this swindle which originated in ancient times in Babylon, Jerusalem and Rome (see The Money Masters video documentary <http://www.themoneymasters.com/> 2-volume, 3.5 hours, fast-paced, historical documentary explains how international bankers gained control of America, <http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-2641342891593561909&pl=true> Masters of the Universe - The Secret Birth of the Federal Reserve by Daniel Hopsicker 43 min, and the Hidden History of Money free PDF download <http://www.lulu.com/content/165077> more links: <http://bb.domainidx.com/alexjames999>).

Henry Ford warns: "It is well enough that people of the nation do not understand our Banking and Monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a Revolution before tomorrow morning."

Carroll Quigley, Professor, Georgetown University, in his 1966 book entitled Tragedy and Hope, A History of the World in Our Time (President Clinton's mentor) writes: "The powers of financial capitalism had [a] far-reaching [plan], nothing less than to create a World system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the World as a whole. ...Their secret is that they have annexed from governments, monarchies, and republics the power to create the World's money... This system was to be controlled in a feudal fashion by the central banks of the World acting in concert, by secret agreements arrived at in frequent meetings and conferences. The apex of the system was to be the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the World's central banks which were themselves private corporations. Each central bank... Sought to dominate its government by its ability to control treasury loans, to manipulate foreign exchanges, to influence the level of economic activity in the country, and to influence cooperative politicians by subsequent economic rewards in the business World." - Prof. Carroll Quigley, renowned, late Georgetown macro-historian (mentioned by former President Clinton in his first nomination acceptance speech), author of Tragedy & Hope: A History of the World in Our Time.

Strobe Talbot, President Clinton's Deputy Secretary of State, as quoted in Time, July 20th, 1992: "In the next century, nations as we know it will be obsolete; all states will recognize a single, global authority. National sovereignty wasn't such a great idea after all."

"Give me the control of the credit of a nation, and I care not who makes the laws." The famous boastful statement of Nathaniel Meyer Rothschild, speaking to a group of international bankers, 1912: "The few who could understand the system (cheque, money, credits) will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favours, that there will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of people, mentally incapable of comprehending the tremendous advantage that capital derives from the system, will bear its burdens without complaint, and perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests." The boastful statement by Rothschild Bros. of London:

Lord Rothschild (Rockefellers are Rothschilds' relatives) in his book The Shadow of a Great Man quotes a letter sent from Davidson on June 24, 1814 to Nathan Rothschild, "As long as a house is like yours, and as long as you work together with your brothers, not a house in the World will be able to compete with you, to cause you harm or to take advantage of you, for together you can undertake and perform more than any house in the World." The closeness of the Rothschild brothers is seen in a letter from Soloman (Salmon) Rothschild to his brother Nathan on Feb. 28, 1815, "We are like the mechanism of a watch: each part is essential". (2) This closeness is further seen in that of the 18 marriages made by Mayer Amschel Rothschild's grandchildren - 16 were contracted between first cousins.

"Centralisation of credit in the hands of the state, by means of a national bank with state capital and an exclusive monopoly." The Communist Manifesto. In the case of the Bolshevik revolution, Rothschilds/Rockefellers' Chase Bank owned the state. In the US, the FED owners "own" the state.

IRS & CONGRESS, YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED THAT:

On December 23, 1913 the United States Congress passed the FEDERAL RESERVE ACT and by that committed the greatest act of TREASON in U.S. history. It surrendered the nation's sovereignty and sold the American people into slavery to a cabal of arch-charlatan bankers who proceeded to plunder, bankrupt, and conquer this nation with a MONEY SWINDLE. The "money" the banks issue is merely bookkeeping entries. It costs them nothing and is not backed by their wealth, efforts, property, or risk. It is not redeemable except in more DEBT paper. The Federal Reserve Act forced us to pay compound interest on thin air. We now use worthless "NOTES" backed by our own credit that we cannot own and are made subject to compelled performance for the "PRIVILEGE." From 1913 until 1933 the U.S. paid "interest" with more and more gold. The structured inevitability soon transpired - the Treasury of the United States' government was empty, the debt was greater than ever, and the U.S. declared bankruptcy. Thus, FDR issued orders to make gold ownership illegal and confiscated all American Citizens' gold who were forced to turn it over to the owners of the Federal Reserve System Banks at $20FRN/ounce. The FRN$ (Federal Reserve Note Dollars a.k.a. US Dollars, read your dollar bill) to buy this gold were created from nothing. Once all the gold had been collected, FDR made it again available to the public at FRN$33/ounce. In exchange for using notes belonging to bankers who create them out of NOTHING on our credit, we are forced to repay in substance (labor, property, land, businesses, resources - life) in ever-increasing amounts. This IS the GREATEST HEIST AND FRAUD of all time.

When a government goes bankrupt, it loses its sovereignty. In 1933 the U.S. declared bankruptcy, as expressed in Roosevelt's Executive Order 6073, 6102, 6111, and 6260, House Joint Resolution 192 of June 5, 1933, confirmed in Perry v. U.S., (1935) 294 U.S. 330, 381; 79 L.ED. 912, also 31 USC 5112, 5119 and 12 USC 95a. The bankrupt U.S. went into receivership reorganized in favor of 115 creditors and new owners. In 1913, congress turned over America lock, stock and barrel to a handful of criminals whose avowed intent from the beginning was to plunder, bankrupt, conquer and enslave the people of the United States of America and eliminate the nation from the face of the earth. The goal was, and is, to absorb America into a one-World privately owned commercial government. A "NEW WORLD ORDER." With the Erie R.R. v. Thompkins case of 1938 the Supreme Court confirmed their success. We are now in an international private commercial jurisdiction in colorable admiralty-maritime under the Law Merchant. We have been conned and betrayed out of our sovereignty, rights, property, freedom, common law, Article III courts, and our REPUBLIC. The Bill of Rights has been statutized into "civil rights" in commerce. America has been stolen. We have been made slaves, i.e., permanent debtors, bankrupt, in legal incapacity, rendered commercial "person", residents and corporate franchisees known as "citizens of the United States" under the so-called "14th Amendment," which was never ratified - see Congressional Record, June 12, 1967; Dvett v. Turner (1968) 439 P.2d 266; State v. Phillips, (1975)(affirmed) and created a citizenship for corporations (abstract) statutory entities, which are the products and definitions of the legislature and are fully taxable and regulatable thereby. (You may also want to study the Organic Act of 1871)

Thomas Jefferson's prophecy came to pass: "I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance... If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered... The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the government to whom it properly belongs." "The modern theory of the perpetuation of debt has drenched the earth with blood, and crushed its inhabitants under burdens ever accumulating". ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809)

Since 1933 what is called the "United States' Government" is a privately owned corporation of the Federal Reserve System/IMF. It is merely an instrument by which the banksters administer their ongoing rape of human freedom. All "public servants," officials, congressmen, politicians, judges, attorneys, law enforcement, States and their various agencies, teachers, etc., are the express agents of these "Foreign Principals*" who have stolen the country by clever, intentional, and unrelenting fraud, trickery, treachery, non-disclosure, misrepresentation, intrigue, coercion, conspiracy, murder, etc.

* See Foreign Agents Registration Act of 1938; 22 USC 286 et seq. 263a, 185g, 267j; 611(c)(ii) & (iii); Treasury Delegation Order #91. An insidious aspect of this is that "officials" like you may think you are "public servants," or upholding the "law," or other hoaxes.

In truth you are conscientiously and assiduously serving the archenemies of yourselves, your rights, your fellow citizens, continued human rights and life and freedom in general. YOU are seditiously administering the plunder, bankruptcy, impoverishment and injury to human life based upon crimes and lies of such magnitude, depth, and proportions as to be beyond human comprehension. By so doing, you are committing TREASON AND PERfidY so immense as "to make the angels weep." If you and your fellow "officials" do not understand the real situation you are ignorant, naive, deceived and conned. You are sheer dupes. If you do know and are parties to it you are guilty of evil and heinous "betrayal." You are in such case TRAITORS AND CRIMINALS. This invalidates your "authority" and renders NULL AND VOID absolutely, all moral obligation to pay allegiance or to obey the TREASONOUS SYSTEM you enforce with such mechanical avariciousness, viciousness and malice aforesought. If, You, "public servants" have any shred of humanity, awe, heart, clarity, sanity, access to your true being and conscience left, you would instantly resign and do everything possible to inform the American people of their plight and help us retrieve our rights and our country. Only by such means can you even begin to atone for your endless crimes against humanity and the lives you so arrogantly and mindlessly butcher with the "meat-grinder of the law."

You DID NOT CREATE the lives you "legally" assault. They DO NOT belong to you. Ignorance of the law (moral and natural law) is no excuse. You CANNOT engage in bringing harm to life, and claim that you were simply doing your duty and following orders. Moral and natural law are NOT obviated by ignorance, hubris and self-righteous militancy. Your entire system - from ground up - is DECEIT AND FRAUD. It is illicit in essence and ab initio. As Broom's Maxims 297, 729 put it: "A right of action cannot arise out of fraud." Honor is earned by honesty and integrity, not under false and fraudulent pretenses. The color of the cloth one wears cannot cover up the usurpations, lies and treachery. "When black is fraudulently declared to be white, not all will live in darkness." More people are awakening to the truth. What do you think the American people will do as they discover that they have no more country, that they are slaves to mortal enemies, that they have been tricked and betrayed by their "leaders" who sold them out? What do you think they will do when they realize that all their so-called "public servants" are willing or stupidly compliant parties to the plunder, subjugation and ruin of their lives and country?

Thomas Jefferson wrote: "An honest man can feel no pleasure in the exercise of power over his fellow citizens."

President Abraham Lincoln said: "Just as I would not be a slave, neither would I be a master."

I will NOT participate in your corrupt, arrant and cruel FRAUD, either as perpetrator nor victim. The great Indian poet Tagore wrote: "Power takes as ingratitude the writhing of its victim."

I will no longer sit here and writhe. The TYRANNY over this nation MUST END! If you continue with this course, you will have natural and moral law and higher powers to answer to, not to mention all those you have wronged under the color of law. You also, will have your own laws turned against you, as you have turned the law against us. To transform the shield of protection into a sword of exploitation, subjugation and plunder is PERfidY. You have now been NOTICED. All further actions on your part will be willful.

DATED this _____ day of _____,

An American who demands his country back

Parting Quotes

When one who has been honestly mistaken is shown or told the truth, they will either stop being mistaken or cease being HONEST. Which will you do? If you have to bow down and let WRONG continue, then what is the purpose of your life? Never utter these words "I do not know this, therefore it is false." One must study to know, know to understand, and understand to judge..."No people will tamely surrender their Liberties, nor can any be easily subdued, when knowledge is diffused and Virtue is preserved. On the Contrary, when People are universally ignorant and debauched in their Manners, they will sink under their own weight without the Aid of foreign Invaders."

"When a bank lends, it creates money out of nothing." Statement of R.G. Hawtrey, former Assistant Under-Secretary to the British Treasury; in his book, "Trade Depression and the Way out".

"Banks create credit. It is a mistake to suppose that bank credit is created to any important extent by the payment of money into the banks. The bank's debit is a means of payment, it is credit money. It is a clear addition to the amount of the means of payment in the community." Statement in Encyclopedia Britannica, 14th Edition, under the Heading of Banking and Credit (Vol. 3, Page 48).

"If a nation can issue a dollar bond, it can issue a dollar bill. The elements that make the bond good makes the bill good also. The difference between the bond and the bill is that the bond lets the money broker collect twice the amount of the bond and an additional 20%. Whereas the currency, the honest sort provided by the constitution, pays nobody but those who contribute in some useful way. It is absurd to say that our Country can issue bonds and cannot issue currency. Both are promises to pay, but one fattens the usurer, while the other helps the People." Statement by Thomas Edison.

"Whoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce. And when you realize that the entire system is very easily controlled, one way or another, by a few powerful men at the top, you will not have to be told how periods of inflation and depression originate." Statement by USA President James A. Garfield

"The hand that gives is above the hand that takes. Money has no motherland; financiers are without patriotism and without decency; their sole object is gain." Statement of Napoleon Bonaparte.

"The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented. Banks can inflate, mint and un-mint the modern ledger-entry currency." Statement by Major L. L. B. Angu

"The banks can create and destroy money. Bank credit is money. It's the money we do most of our business with, not with that currency which we usually think of as money." Statement by Governor Eccles, former head of the Federal Reserve Bank Board of the United States, made in evidence before a Congressional Committee.

"There can be no doubt that all deposits are created by the banks." Statement of Lord Keynes, economist and former board member of the Bank of England.

"The percentage of cash to credit necessary for a bank to hold, demonstrated over a period of years, is 2 ½%, with 7 ½% as a reserve with other banks." Statement by Professor H. Kniffer, in his "American Banking Practice":

"Banking is little more than book-keeping. It is a transfer of credit from one person to another. The transfer is by cheque. Cheques are currency (not legal tender). Currency is money." Statement of Sir Edward Holden, an eminent British banker.

MINDFUL of the fact that the above situation has in fact been accomplished, due to a consistent, progressive and continuous programme of deceit, subterfuge, cunning and make-believe on the part of the banks, and by successive, subservient Fabian socialist masonic "governments", both state and federal, in violation of their oaths of office, and to the gradual detriment and destruction of the assets of the people.

"It was not accidental. It was a carefully contrived occurrence . . . The international bankers sought to bring about a condition of despair here, so that they might emerge as rulers of us all." Statement by Rep. Louis T. McFadden, Chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, regarding the 1929 Wall Street crash.

"After World War 1, Germany fell into the hands of German international bankers. Those bankers bought her, and now they own her, lock, stock, and barrel. They have purchased her industries, they have mortgages on her soil, they control her production, they control all her public utilities. The international German bankers have subsidised the present government of Germany, and they have also supplied every dollar of the money Adolph Hitler has used in his lavish campaign to build up a threat to the government of Bruening. When Bruening fails to obey the orders of German international bankers, Hitler is brought forth to scare the Germans into submission . . . Through the Federal Reserve Board . . . over $30 Billions of American money has been paid into Germany . . . You have all heard of the spending that has taken place in Germany. . . modernistic dwellings, her great planetariums, her gymnasiums, her swimming pools, her fine public highways, her perfect factories. All this was done on our money. All this was given to Germany through the Federal Reserve Board.

"The Federal Reserve has pumped so many billions of dollars into Germany, that they dare not name the total." Further warning by the same Louis T. McFadden, eight years before Hitler invaded Poland, regarding the rise to power of Adolph Hitler.

"Practices of the unscrupulous money changers stand indicted in the court of public opinion, rejected by the hearts and minds of men . . . The money changers have fled from their high seats in the temple of our civilization." Statement by President of Franklin D. Roosevelt, March 4th, 1933 (before he did a back-flip and became their subservient tool).

"The powers of financial capitalism has (a) far reaching (plan), nothing less than to create a World system of financial control in private hands, able to dominate the political system of each country, and the economy of the World as a whole. This system was to be controlled in a feudalist fashion by the central banks of the World acting in concert, by secret agreements arrived at in frequent meetings and conferences. "The apex of the system was to be the Bank for International Settlements, in Basle, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the World's central banks, which were themselves private corporations. "Each central bank . . . sought to dominate its government by its ability to control Treasury loans, to manipulate foreign exchanges, to influence the level of economic activity in the country, and to influence co-operative politicians by subsequent rewards in the business World." Statement of Professor Carroll Quigley, Georgetown University, former "insider," and author of the book, "Tragedy and Hope".

"The Federal Reserve definitely caused the Great Depression by contracting the amount of currency in circulation by one third from 1929 to 1933." Statement by Milton Freedman, Nobel Prize winning economist, in 1996.

"The issue which has swept down the centuries and which will have to be fought sooner or later, is the people versus the banks." Statement by Lord Acton.

"This is a staggering thought. We are completely dependent on the commercial banks. Someone has to borrow every dollar we have in circulation, cash or credit. If the banks create ample synthetic money, we are prosperous; if not, we starve. We are absolutely without a permanent money system. When one gets a complete grasp of the picture, the tragic absurdity of our hopeless position is almost incredible, but there it is. It is the most important subject intelligent persons can investigate and reflect upon. It is so important that our present civilization may collapse unless it becomes widely understood, and the defects remedied very soon." Warning by Robert H. Hemphill (former Credit Manager of the Federal Reserve Bank, Atlanta GA., 1934).

"History records that the money-changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments by controlling money and its issuance." Warning by U.S. President James Madison, shortly before he was assassinated.

"The Federal Reserve is one of the most corrupt institutions the World has ever seen. There is not a man within the sound of my voice who does not know that this Nation is run by the International Banks." Warning by Congressman Louis T. McFadden.

"Most Americans and Australians, and for that matter, most people of the World have no real understandings of the operation of the international money lenders. The accounts of the Federal Reserve System have never been audited. It operates outside the control of Congress, and manipulates the credit of the United States, and for that matter, the credit of the entire World." Warning by Senator Barry Goldwater.

"Virtually all "money" which comes into existence, does so as debt to the banking system, and that the banks do not create the interest, so that there is never enough money in existence, anywhere in the World, to repay both the debt and the interest, resulting in a situation where there is a deliberate, World-wide, artificial scarcity of money, and therefore an ever-increasing debt to that banking system.

"MINDFUL that such a debt-based money system (where the capital is created out of thin air by the banks, at the stroke of a pen, and then loaned out by the banks, to the borrowers, whereby the borrowers are expected to pay back the capital, plus interest, which interest does not exist in the first place) is not only mathematically an inherently flawed, impossible system, but deliberately fraudulent." Statement by Brian McDermott, Administrator, Central Queensland Free State, 2004.

MINDFUL that where money speaks, there all law is silent.

"He who takes usury for a loan of money acts unjustly, for he sells what does not exist. It is wrong in itself to take a price (usury) for the use of money lent, and as in the case of other offences against justice, one is bound to make restitution of his unjustly acquired money." Statement by Saint Thomas Aquinas.

"Because of this power (of credit creation), the Commonwealth Bank (now the Reserve Bank of Australia) is able to increase the cash of the trading banks in the ways we have pointed out above.

"Because of this power too, the Commonwealth Bank can increase the cash reserves of the trading banks; for example, it can buy securities and other property, it can lend to the government or to others in a variety of ways, and it can even make money available to the Governments and to others free of any charge."

Report of the Australian Royal Commission into the Monetary and Banking system of Australia in (1937), Section 504, "Creation of Credit".

Asked to interpret this last clause, Mr. Justice Napier, Chairman of the Commission, replied through the Secretary of the Commission, Mr. Harris, as follows.

"This statement means that the Commonwealth Bank can make money available to Governments or to others on such terms as it chooses, even by way of a loan without interest, OR EVEN WITHOUT REQUIRING EITHER INTEREST OR REPAYMENT OF PRINCIPAL."

The following are just a few of the statements and comments made by Popes over the last century.

"On the one side there is the party which holds power because it holds the wealth; which holds in its grasp all labour and trade; which manipulates for its own benefit and its own purposes all the sources of supply, and which is powerfully represented in the councils of State itself. On the other side there is the needy and powerless multitude, sore and suffering. "Rapacious usury, which, although more than once condemned by the Church, is nevertheless under a different form, but with the same guilt, is still practiced by avaricious and grasping men . . . so that a small number of very rich men have been able to lay upon the masses of the poor, a yoke little better than slavery itself." Statement of Pope Leo XIII.

"In our days not alone is wealth accumulated, but immense power and despotic domination is concentrated in the hands of a few . . . "This power becomes particularly irresistible when exercised by those who, because they hold and control money, are able also to govern credit and determine its allotment, for this reason supplying so to speak, the life-blood to the entire economic body, and grasping as it were, in their hands, the very soul of the economy, so that no one dare breathe against their will." Warning given by Pope Pius XI during the great depression. "Every man, as a reason-gifted being, has from nature the fundamental right to make use of the material goods of the earth . . ." "Such an individual right can in no way be suppressed, not even by the exercise of other certain and recognized rights over material goods . . ." "It is left to human will and to juridical forms of peoples to regulate more in detail the practical realization of this right." Statement by Pope Pius XII, in his broadcast, June 1st, 1941.

In fact, the enslaving monetary system is actually Communist/Marxist as explained below:

Writings of Karl Marx and Fredrich Engels: "The proletariat will see to its political supremacy to wrest, by degrees, all capital from the bourgeoisie, to centralise all instruments of production in the hands of the state in the beginning this cannot be effected except by means of despotic inroads on the rights of property and on the conditions of the bourgeoisie production..... in the most advanced countries the following will be pretty generally applicable:

1. Abolition of private property in land and application of rents of land to public purposes. (EMINENT DOMAIN)
2. A heavy and progressive or graduated income tax.
3. Abolition of all religion.

4. Centralisation of credit in the hands of the state, by means of a national bank with state capital and an exclusive monopoly." The Communist Manifesto.

"We must create a climate of anti-nationalism and anti-racialism amongst the whites. We must reduce patriotism and pride of race to meaningless abstractions, and WE MUST MAKE RACIALISM (RACISM) A DIRTY WORD." Statement by the Communist leader Selenkov in Moscow, 1922.

MINDFUL that the Australian Labour Party is controlled by Fabians, whose secret aim is the global socialization of Australia, by a combination of stealth, deceit, and gradualism: "I gladly acknowledge the debt of my own government to Fabianism. The Fabian Society acknowledges the principle tenet of Marxism, the abolition of private property, in this case to own land. Then they align themselves with the non-violent arm of Marxism by accepting the non-violent road of patient gradualism to total government."

Statement by former Prime Minister Bob Hawke, in his speech to the Fabian Society (of which he is a member), in Melbourne, May 8th, 1984: "We must realize that our party's most powerful weapon is racial tension...."By propounding into the consciousness of the dark races that for centuries they have been oppressed by the whites, we can mold them to the program of the Communist Party...."In America we will aim for subtle victory. While inflaming the Negro minority against the whites, we will endeavor to instill in the whites a guilt complex for their exploitation of the Negros...."We will aid the Negros to rise to prominence in every walk of life, in the professions, and in the World of sports and entertainment. With this prestige, the Negro will be able to intermarry with the whites, and begin a process which will deliver America to our cause."

Statement by Israel Cohen, in his book, "A Racial Programme for the Twentieth Century," 1912, which is also in the Congressional Record, Vol. 103, p. 8559, June 7th, 1957: "The governments of the peoples included in this World republic, with the aid of the victorious proletariat, all will fall without difficulty into Jewish hands. Private property will then be strangled by the Jewish directors, who will administer the state patrimony everywhere...."Thus the promise of the Talmud will be fulfilled, that is, the promise that the Jews, at the arrival of the Messiah, will possess the key to the wealth of all the peoples of the earth."

Statement of Baruch Levy, in a letter to Karl Marx, published in La Revue de Paris, June 1st, 1928: "Give me just one generation of youth, and I will change the whole World." Statement by mass murderer Lenin. Bush/Cheney/Chertoff/Rumsfeld/etc. Neocon Zionist Cabalists are following in Stalin's footsteps as well.

"No state shall emit bills of credit, make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts, coin money---." Article One, Section Ten, United States Constitution.

"Congress shall have power to pay the debts of the United States, coin money, regulate the value thereof, and fix the standard of weights and measures." Article One, Section Eight, U.S. Constitution.

"Madison, agreeing with the journal of the convention, records that the grant of power to emit bills of credit was refused by a majority of more than four to one. The evidence is perfect; no power to emit paper money was granted to the legislature of the United States." George Bancroft, A Plea for the Constitution (1886)

"Paper money may be deemed an aggression on the rights of the other states." James Madison

"To emit an unfunded paper as the sign of value ought not to continue a formal part of the Constitution, nor even hereafter to be employed; being, in its nature, pregnant with abuses, and liable to be made the engine of imposition and fraud; holding out temptations equally pernicious to the integrity of government and to the morals of the people." Alexander Hamilton, June 1783.

"Paper money has had the effect in your state that it will ever have, to ruin commerce, oppress the honest, and open the door to every species of fraud and injustice." George Washington, in letter to J. Bowen, Rhode Island, Jan. 9, 1787

"I believe there are more instances of the abridgment of freedom of the people by gradual and silent encroachment of those in power than by violent and sudden usurpations." James Madison

"Of all the contrivances devised for cheating the laboring classes of mankind, none has been more effective than that which deludes him with paper money." Daniel Webster

"Money power denounces, as public enemies, all who question its methods or throw light upon its crimes." Wm. Jennings Bryan

"All the perplexities, confusion and distresses in America arise not from defects in the constitution or confederation, nor from want of honor or virtue, as much from downright ignorance of the nature of coin, credit, and circulation." John Adams, letter to Thomas Jefferson

--and be it further enacted that if any of the gold or silver coins which shall be struck or coined at the said mint shall be debased---every such officer or person who shall commit any or either of the said offenses shall be deemed guilty of felony, and shall suffer death." Coinage Act, 1792, Sec. 19 (in present U.S. code at title 31)

"The World is governed by very different personages from what is imagined by those who are not behind the scenes." Benjamin Disraeli

"Those who create and issue money and credit direct the policies of government and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people." Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, former Chancellor of Exchequer, England

"Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money and control credit, and with a flick of a pen they will create enough to buy it back," Sir Josiah Stamp, former president, Bank of England

"Money is the most important subject intellectual persons can investigate and reflect upon. It is so important that our present civilization may collapse unless it is widely understood and its defects remedied very soon." Robert H. Hemphill, former credit manager, Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, 1934

"It sounds harsh, but it is a fact, that in the last analysis the only way to impose state control of prices--is to reintroduce the death penalty." Dr. Heinz Wuffli, The Monetary Crisis in the Light of Contemporary History, p. 13

"Banks lend by creating credit. They create the means of payment out of nothing." Ralph M. Hawtrey, former Secretary of Treasury, England

"Lenin is said to have declared that the best way to destroy the capitalistic system was to debauch the currency. Lenin was certainly right. There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society. the process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million can diagnose." John Maynard Keynes, The Economic Consequences of the Peace, 1920.

"If, however, a government refrains from regulations and allows matters to take their own course, the worthlessness of the money becomes apparent and the fraud upon the public can be concealed no longer." Keynes, ibid.

"Thus, our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend, not money, but promises to supply money they do not possess." Irving Fisher, 100% Money.

"When plunder becomes a way of life for a group of men living together in society, they create for themselves in the course of time a legal system that authorizes it and a moral code that glorifies it." Frederic Bastiat, The Law.

"Give me the power to issue a nation's money; then I do not care who makes the law." Anselm Rothschild.

"Whoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce." James A. Garfield.

"Emitting bills of credit, or the creation of money by private corporations, is what is expressly forbidden by Article 1, Section 10 of the U.S. Constitution." U.S. Supreme Court, Craig v. Missouri, 4 Peters 410.

"The actual process of money creation takes place in commercial banks. As noted earlier, demand liabilities of commercial banks are money." Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, Modern Money Mechanics, p.3.

"Confidence in these forms of money also seems to be tied in some way to the fact that assets exist on the books of the government and the banks equal to the amount of money outstanding, even though most of the assets themselves are no more than pieces of paper--." ibid., p.3.

"The Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, D.C., a unit of the treasury, is responsible for printing the nation's currency. But its orders to print come from the 12 Federal Reserve Banks, not the President or Congress. The reserve banks, not the treasury, determine how much currency is printed. Under this arrangement, the government can't print more Federal Reserve Notes to pay its bills or debts." Federal Reserve Bank of New York, I Bet You Thought, p.13.

"Commercial banks create checkbook money whenever they grant a loan, simply by adding new deposit dollars in accounts on their books in exchange for a borrower's IOU." ibid., p. 19.

"The 12 regional reserve banks aren't government institutions, but corporations nominally 'owned' by member commercial banks." Ibid., p. 27.

"Without the confidence factor, many believe a paper money system is liable to collapse eventually." Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, Gold, p. 10.

"Government is the only agency which can take a useful commodity like paper, slap some ink on it and make it totally worthless." Ludwig von Mises.

"Inflation, even if correctly anticipated, reduces the wealth of money holders in proportion to their holdings of money." St. Louis Federal Reserve Review, Feb. 1975, p.19.

"In 1945, non farm families owed $5.7 billion, consisting primarily of installment debt. By 1974 the debts had risen to $190.1 billion--a leap of 32235 percent." Wm. E. Simon, A Time for Truth.

"Because of 'fractional' reserve system, banks, as a whole, can expand our money supply several times, by making loans and investments." Federal Reserve Bank, New York The Story of Banks, p.5.

"Vault cash held by banks is not considered a part of the stock of money available for spending by the non bank public." Modern Money Mechanics, p.2.

"The decrease in purchasing power incurred by holders of money due to inflation imparts gains to the issuers of money--." St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank, Review, Nov. 1975, p.22

"We must now face the harsh truth that the objectives of communism are being steadily advanced because many of us do not recognize the means used to advance them. ... The individual is handicapped by coming face to face with a Conspiracy so monstrous he cannot believe it exists. The American mind simply has not come to a realization of the evil which has been introduced into our midst." -- J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director 1924-1972, quoted in The Elks Magazine (August 1956).

"It is the duty of the patriot to protect his country from its [corrupt feudal] government." -- Thomas Paine.

"Each of you, for himself, by himself and on his own responsibility, must speak". -- Mark Twain.

"The money powers prey upon the nation in times of peace and conspire against it in times of adversity. It is more despotic than a monarchy, more insolent than autocracy, and more selfish than bureaucracy. It denounces as public enemies all who question its methods or throw light upon its crimes. I have two great enemies, the Southern Army in front of me and the bankers in the rear. Of the two, the one at my rear is my greatest foe." -- President Abraham Lincoln.

"In a time of universal deceit, telling the truth is a revolutionary act." -- George Orwell.

In 1938, William E. Dodd, U.S. Ambassador to Germany, sent President Franklin Delano Roosevelt the following message: (as reported in George Seldes. Facts and Fascism, p. 122): "A clique of U.S. industrialists is hell-bent to bring a fascist state to supplant our democratic government and is working closely with the fascist regime in Germany and Italy. I have had plenty of opportunity in my post in Berlin to witness how close some of our American ruling families are to the Nazi regime.... A prominent executive of one of the largest corporations, told me point blank that he would be ready to take definite action to bring fascism into America if President Roosevelt continued his progressive policies. Certain American industrialists had a great deal to do with bringing fascist regimes into being in both Germany and Italy. They extended aid to help Fascism occupy the seat of power, and they are helping to keep it there. Propagandists for fascist groups try to dismiss the fascist scare. We should be aware of the symptoms. When industrialists ignore laws designed for social and economic progress they will seek recourse to a fascist state when the institutions of our government compel them to comply with the provisions."

In 1933, Marine Corp Major General Smedley Butler was approached by a cabal of influential American bankers and industrialists working under the umbrella of the front group, American Liberty League. Their request of Butler: that he lead a 500,000 strong force of rogue veterans in a coup against FDR and the legal American government. The intent of this cabal, already supporting the efforts of Hitler and Mussolini in Europe, was to instill a government not unlike that of Hitler and Mussolini in the United States. Butler went along with the scheme until he was able to ascertain who the participants were. He then blew the whistle on this group before the House Committee on un-American Activities. For his efforts, Butler was ostracized and black-balled by the mainstream media; his testimony before the House Committee on un-American Activities was omitted from the record. The cabal was never brought to justice, but the coup was foiled. Who were the American bankers and industrialists involved in this plot to overthrow the legal government of the United States? According to Wikipedia, while most of the funding came from the Du Pont family, participants included U.S. Steel, General Motors, General Foods, Standard Oil, Birdseye, Colgate, Heinz Foods, Chase National Bank, and Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. And among the participants in this coup attempt was one Prescott Bush (who is the father of George Herbert Walker Bush, 41st president of the United States, and thus is the grandfather of George W Bush, current president of the United States). Prescott Bush was not only instrumental in bringing Hitler to power in Germany, Mussolini to power in Italy, but was also plotting to overthrow the legal government of the United States and establish a fascist state here. Prescott Bush served as a Senator from Connecticut and was a partner in the prominent investment banking firm Brown Brothers Harriman.

US General Smedley Butler wrote in his 1935 classic, "War Is a Racket": "I helped make Mexico safe for American oil interests in 1914," "I helped make Haiti and Cuba a decent place for the National City Bank boys to collect revenues in. I helped in the raping of half a dozen Central American republics for the benefit of Wall Street. I helped purify Nicaragua for the International Banking House of Brown Brothers in 1902-1912. I brought light to the Dominican Republic for the American sugar interests in 1916. I helped make Honduras right for American fruit companies in 1903. In China in 1927 I helped see to it that Standard Oil went its way unmolested." Butler acknowledged that he'd spent most of his thirty-three years in the Marines as "a high class muscle man for Big Business, Wall Street and the bankers. In short, I was a racketeer, a gangster for capitalism[ts]."

Wars are really a continuous stream of coordinated acts of terrorism, related to money and power instigated by the people who will benefit from the war and its expected end result. War is an instrument to expand economic power by destroying the national institutions and intelligent people of the victimized nation.

"In the counsels of Government, we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the Military Industrial Complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists, and will persist. We must never let the weight of this combination endanger our liberties or democratic processes. We should take nothing for granted. Only an alert and knowledgeable citizenry can compel the proper meshing of the huge industrial and military machinery of defense with our peaceful methods and goals so that security and liberty may prosper together." President Dwight Eisenhower, Feb 1961

"For we are opposed around the World by a monolithic and ruthless conspiracy that relies primarily on covert means for expanding its sphere of influence--on infiltration instead of invasion, on subversion instead of elections, on intimidation instead of free choice, on guerrillas by night instead of armies by day. It is a system which has conscripted vast human and material resources into the building of a tightly knit, highly efficient machine that combines military, diplomatic, intelligence, economic, scientific and political operations. Its preparations are concealed, not published. Its mistakes are buried, not headlined. Its dissenters are silenced, not praised. No expenditure is questioned, no rumor is printed, no secret is revealed. It conducts the Cold War, in short, with a war-time discipline no democracy would ever hope or wish to match." President John F. Kennedy Waldorf-Astoria Hotel New York City, April 27, 1961. The US/UK/Zionist governments are deeply infiltrated by the Conspiracy.

"The interests behind the Bush Administration, such as the CFR, The Trilateral Commission - founded by Brzezinski for David Rockefeller - and the Bilderberger Group, have prepared for and are now moving to implement open World dictatorship within the next five years. They are not fighting against terrorists. They are fighting against citizens." -- Dr. Johannes B. Koepll, Ph.D., former German defense ministry official and advisor to former NATO Secretary General Manfred Woerner

"The high office of President has been used to foment a plot to destroy the Americans freedom, and before I leave office I must inform the citizen of his plight." -- JFK

"Military men are dumb, stupid animals to be used as pawns for foreign policy." Henry Kissinger, quoted by Bob Woodward in The Final Days, 1976

The illegal we do immediately. The unconstitutional takes a little longer. "[The New World Order] cannot happen without U.S. participation, as we are the most significant single component. Yes, there will be a New World Order, and it will force the United States to change its perceptions." -- Henry Kissinger, World Affairs Council Press Conference, Regent Beverly Wilshire Hotel , April 19th 1994

"I don't know where bin Laden is. I have no idea and I really don't care. It's not that important. It's not our priority." - GW Bush, March 13, 2002

It is in everybody's interest to seek those [actions] that lead to happiness and avoid those which lead to suffering. And because our interests are inextricably linked, we are compelled to accept ethics as the indispensable interface between my desire to be happy and yours.- Dalai Lama

V for Vendetta says: "If you want to see who is responsible for the terror you feel, for who is responsible for the loss of your freedoms, simply look in the mirror" WATCH THE DVD! When EVIL men make bad laws, righteous men disobey them! This nation does NOT have a legal government any more. We're an occupied nation; by criminal traitor's from BOTH parties, and other agencies, who're out to destroy not only our precious freedoms but America & the World too! Our troops or others MUST & CAN LEGALLY REMOVE BUSH/CHENEY & OTHERS FOR TREASON AND need to IMMEDIATELY! IN LEG IRONS & CUFFS TOO! 9-11 WAS in Inside Job & their planning it again!

Bush burning our Constitution!
www.stopthenau.org , Stop NAU & SPP!

"Lucifer comes to give to us the final gift of wholeness. If we accept it then he is free and we are free. This is the Luciferic initiation. It is one that many people now, and in the days ahead, will be facing, for it is an initiation in the New Age. ... No one will enter the New World Order unless he or she will make a pledge to worship Lucifer. No one will enter the New Age unless he will take a Luciferian initiation." David Spangler on the Board of Directors of Planetary Citizens, United Nations, "Reflections on the Christ," quoted in Unicorn in the Sanctuary, by Randy England, 1978

NO MORE WARS FOR ZIONIST ISRAEL, Rockefellers, Rothschilds, or New World Order! A nation of sheep will beget a government of wolves. AND HAS!

End the Occupation of Palestine & AMERICA by Israel & America's occupation of Iraq NOW!

"You can fool some of the people all of the time, and those are the ones you want to concentrate on." --- George W. Bush ... "Sarah, if the American people had ever known the truth about what we Bushes have done to this nation, we would be chased down in the streets and lynched." George Bush Sr. 1992

Number Of Iraqi Civilians Slaughtered In Neocon's Rape Of Iraq - over 1 million+ + <http://tinyurl.com/usq4x>

Number of U.S. Military Personnel Sacrificed (Officially acknowledged) In America's Rape Of Iraq 3,017 <http://icasualties.org/oif/>

The Rape of Iraq Costs and America lost its soul too besides going bankrupt, financially and morally! ! $357,490,957,418

See the cost in your community http://nationalpriorities.org/index.php?option=com_wrapper&Itemid=182 .

End the Occupation of Palestine & AMERICA by Israel & America's occupation of Iraq NOW!

No. 729 "The Important Thing is, Not to Stop Questioning" – Albert Einstein

"Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness Against Thy Neighbor" (Exodus 16).

"So Then, Putting Away Falsehood, Let All of Us Speak the Truth to our Neighbors, for We Are All Members of One Another." (Ephesians 4:25).

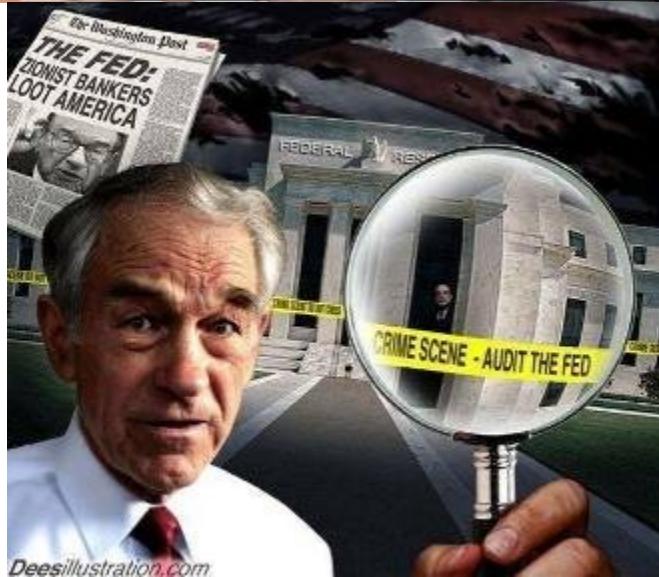

"They Try to Deceive Allah and Those Who Believe, But They Only Deceive Themselves, and Realize it Not." (Qu'aan 2:9).

I am only one, but I am one. I cannot do everything, but I can do something. And because I cannot do everything, I will not refuse to do the something that I can do. What I can do, I should do. And what I should do, by the grace of God, I will do ~~ Edward Everett Hale

OLICE SNR CONGRESS LOOTS BUDGET FOR TAX CUTS SNR DEFICIT CHAOS "OUT OF CO

DeesIllustration.com

Learning Financial Control Through Wars and Upheaval from Ancient Greeks

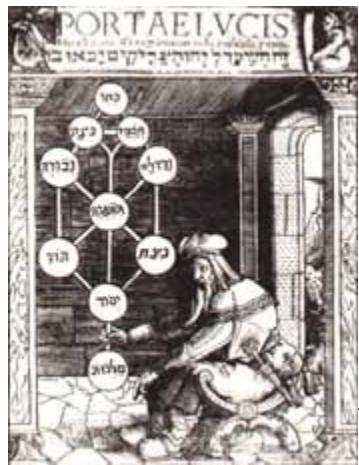

The ancient Greeks and Romans had a deep knowledge of the tragedies of financial control, war and social upheaval. Not to put too fine a point on it, the heart of American constitutional ideals – and that's what America was supposed to be all about, ideals based on the ideas of liberty and justice for all – were nurtured by literature and philosophy of the ancient World. Carl J. Richard in his book "The Founders and the Classics: Greece, Rome, and the American Enlightenment," makes it clear that much of the classical canon, from Homer to Virgil and Plato to Zeno, was staple reading for most of the authors of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. Historian Henry Steele Commanger contends that "intellectually, the founding fathers knew the ancient World better perhaps than they knew the European or even the British World, better, in all likelihood, than they knew the American World outside their own section." Homer, was Thomas Jefferson's favorite ancient author. Carl Richard further observes that Stoic theory of natural law and the optimistic view of human nature from which it derived gave birth to the modern doctrines of natural and inalienable rights and social progress which undergird our way of life.

He continues, "since of one of the chief elements of classical virtue was an independent cast of mind . . . the founders knew that intellectual independence had been a defining characteristic of their Greek and Roman heroes, who had revolutionary theories of popular sovereignty, natural law, mixed government, and who had defended them against the rampant absolutism of the ancient World." The first concept has to do with the essential and liberating mental and moral activity of asking questions. In questioning, you are opening yourself up to new knowledge by the healthy admission of your own ignorance along with the self-respect it takes to follow your own curiosity no matter what. This is a lesson we can learn from Socrates. The second concept concerns the recognition that knowledge is fundamental to understanding the World and understanding the World is fundamental to being productive in it and at peace with it. One must learn how to question, how to get in the habit of questioning, and how to seek information and understand or at least experience other perspectives and points of view. These are lessons we can learn from pre-Socratic philosophers and from others. A third concept has to do with the critical difference between acceptance and resignation, between calmly acknowledging the reality of conditions and then doing something with them, versus giving in to situations that you can do nothing about, allowing them to defeat you, and demoralize you, so that you won't do anything at all. These are lessons we can learn from Stoic philosophers and others. And the fourth concept recognizes that being able to tell differences and make distinctions is often the key to survival. Here Homer is our guide.

Indeed, mental and spiritual health are intertwined with political health – the maintenance of tolerance, freedom of expression, and the free marketplace of ideas, in which it is assumed that the truth will always win, if given a fair chance. However, the dark controllers of the World don't want to give truth a fair chance and this is why this book was compiled. It is my hope and prayer that you will both enjoy, learn and that you will be enthused through this effort. In the first century BC in the tiny kingdom of Phrygia, a philosopher (former slave of the Romans according to some) by the name of Epictetus said "Appearances are of four kinds: things either are as they appear to be; or they neither are nor appear to be; or they are but do not appear to be; or they are not and yet appear to be." In simple words, "appearances can sometimes be deceiving". If Epictetus were alive today he would probably be a Harvard professor of money and banking; it sounds like so many official explanations about various aspects of the Federal Reserve System. What Epictetus did was that he took a fairly simple concept but by the time he was through explaining it, we didn't have any idea what he was talking about.. Well, if there's anything in the World that is deceiving, it is the Federal Reserve System. In fact, it is one of those appearances of the fourth kind which are those appearances which are not and yet appear to be.

It is fascinating and almost magical how money appeared on our planet. Unlike most developments we enjoy, which can be traced back to a source, civilisation or inventor, money appeared in places then unconnected all over the World in a remarkably similar way (it seems that all elites and feudal lords think the same way!). "Modern Banking" was actually created over 4,000 years ago in Babylon, Mesopotamia (now occupied Iraq, the World Babylon means confusion). However, the neo-Nimrods and Pharaohs have managed to again enslave the World financially, and mentally through propaganda in the major news media which they own (or control of politicians, political parties, television networks, cable networks, newspapers, magazines, publishing houses, wire services, motion picture studios, universities, labor unions, church organizations, trade associations, tax-exempt foundations, multi-national corporations, boy scouts, girl scouts, you name it), misleading or conflicting statements, half-the-truth or the truth-mixed-with-lies is a full lie!; however this really confuses people and puts them in doubt; once in doubt, a person accepts the status quo and the New World Order propagandists have won over the person's mind for all practical purposes! It seems that people oscillate between the idolatry of occultism and the worship of God. An example of this oscillation can be found when the Israelites were led back into worshipping of the golden calf and other idols by the Saamiri (follower of Nimrod and his wife Semiremis) even though they had just recently been saved from the slavery of the Pharaohs by Moses (see the Bible, Quran and the movie The Ten Commandments). Pharaoh ruled by dividing his subjects into casts and degrees like his predecessor Nimrod, the builder of the infamous tower of Babel. This book "The Hidden History of Money" unravels the truth of World domination by a dark clan/gang/mafia/club/cult/occult of elitists. George Orwell (1903-1950) alluded to this situation in his book "1984" which published back in 1948. This is only a grain in the pyramid or the tip of the iceberg in the unraveling of the truth.

A sefirot is one of the most blatant expressions of the pagan teachings of the Kabbalah. The figure composed of circles on the Kabbalistic engraving on the right is a sefirot. Kabbalists attempt to explain the process of creation by means of the sefirot. The scenario they propose is really a pagan myth totally at odds with the facts revealed in holy books.

Henry Ford (founder of the Ford Motor Company in 1903) stated: "It is well that the people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning." (see The Foundation Economy by Fred Eggerton). In this exposé, we present numerous quotes from past US Presidents and politicians and demonstrate how control and profits of the private Central Banks has been the catalyst behind many wars. Note that all six presidents who tried to end the private central banking monopolies were assassinated (William Henry Harrison, poisoned, in 1841, Zachary Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and John F. Kennedy 1963; 7 if you count FDR's poisoning) and anyone who tries to expose these mega-banking dynasties is demonized like Louis McFadden 1936 or Rep. Congressman James Traficant in 1993 and many others.

The head of the House of Rothschild (may as well say the House of Satan), who was also head of the Illuminati, said in 1838: "Allow me to issue and control the money of a nation and I care not who writes its laws." This is exactly what has happened. Banker John D. Rockefeller said in early 1900 "Competition is a sin". These trans-Atlantic Rothschild/Rockefeller banking families also own the medical profession, the news media, Encyclopedia Britannica, and the voting machine software companies, among other things.

British Secret Service SS MI5 Insignia (Masonic Symbolism)

To get a complete picture and to get rid of the propaganda baggage and really World situation and the subversion/distortion/corruption of the masses and the history of the activities of the secretive organizations and clubs sponsored the Mason/ Zionist/ Chabad - Lubavitchers/ Ashkenazi/ Jesuit/ Bolshevik & MI6, RAW, French/ German/ Spanish Intelligence units, infiltration into the operatives, the various mafias (especially Russian, Japanese Yakuza, US, etc.), Foreign Relations, the Trilateral Commission (TC), PNAC (project for the new understand in depth the current Godly religions, one must also study by the Illuminati dynasties such as Brotherhoods, the CIA, Mossad, MI5 major religions by these groups' the Fabians, the CFR (Council on American century), the NSA

(National Security Agency), the Bilderberg Club, the Bohemian Club, the Knights of Malta, the Knights Templar, the Vatican, the Rosicrucians, the Kaiser Foundation (German Americans who planned to make Nixon a Dictator), etc., the history of US/CIA/Zionist/Sevak war crimes, the history of the Occult from ancient Kabbala, Sumerian, Babylonian (Nimrodian Babylonian slavery Masonry) and Egyptian (Pharaonic slavery) times, the history of the Crusades, and the relevant verses from the Torah, Bible and Quran, about the People of Israel (Jacob) and The Temple of Solomon and the Tower of Babel, history of money and the financial systems especially the private Bank of England/HSBC and the private Federal Reserve System, the history of assassinations such as JFK and other Kennedys, Martin Luther King, Malcolm X, Princess Diana, bloodlines of US Presidents and European nobility, History of Fake Terror & the Burning of Rome /Lusitania /Reichstag/Pearl Harbor/Vietnam Gulf of Tonkin/9-11/etc. staged deceptions/fake terror, the history of the control of the news media, World-wide corporate frauds, and the history of election frauds and Fascist laws.

In this exposé, we are showing how the Brotherhoods of the Masonic/Zionist Illuminati Mega-Banking/Financial Dynasties/Empires have usurped the power of the people's government to create money from nothing and how they have been behind the wars/genocides during the past centuries. Along with the "G.O.L.D." (Gold, Oil, Land, Drugs and Arms) Barons, they profit before, during and after the wars (see Michael Ruppert's lectures/upcoming book <http://www.copvica.com>). International Zionism=Terrorism is turning Iraq into another one of the Israeli/US Occupied/Controlled Territories on its path to New World Order Fascist Control for the purpose of serving these Illuminati, i.e. we are seeing a return to ancient Pharaonic/Nimrodic Tyranny (see Alex Jones's The Road To Tyranny video/book <http://www.infowars.com>).

We hope that the Internet communications remain free for us to inform the masses otherwise these evil Dynasties/Empires will once more have a total monopoly on news (unfortunately, the elites are already working on plans to control our freedom over the Internet <http://msnbc.msn.com/Default.aspx?id=3606168&p1=0>) A Net of Control Unthinkable: How the Internet could become a tool of corporate and government power, based on updates now in the works By Steven Levy Newsweek International). A relationship diagram is presented here to illustrate this web of deceit.

Like the Scottish constitution, the US constitution starts with "We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America."

Copyright 2003, The Halifax Herald Limited

Edmund Burke 1729-1797 stated: "The only thing necessary for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing." This is exactly what has happened and brought us to the sad situation today.

Julius Caesar (Shakespeare): "Beware the leader who bangs the drums of war in order to whip the citizenry into a patriotic fervor, for patriotism is indeed a double-edged sword. It both emboldens the blood, just as it narrows the mind. And when the drums of war reached a fever pitch and the blood boils with hate and the mind has 'closed', the leader will have no need in seizing the rights of the citizenry. Rather, the citizenry, infused with fear and blinded by patriotism, will offer up all their rights unto the leader and gladly so. How do I know? For this is what I have done. AND I AM CAESAR." Note that Bush pulled Caesar, i.e. as per O'Neill, Bush & company had already decided to steal Iraqi assets and just created a WMD pretext to attack and expand their empire (the price of oil went from $15 to $75 quintupling the $ purchase requirements, i.e. from over $600 million daily to over $3 billion daily). This is exactly what all empires do and this is what Caesar did when selling the invasion of England to the Roman populace. Caesar had also considered using the pretext that the English were barbarians.

Hermann Goering, at the Nuremberg Trials after World War II: "Why of course the people don't want war ... But after all it is the leaders of the country who determine the policy, and it is always a simple matter to drag the people along, whether it is (a democracy, or) a fascist dictatorship, or a parliament, or a communist dictatorship ... Voice or no voice, the people can always be brought to the bidding of the leaders. That is easy. All you have to do is to tell them they are being attacked, and denounce the pacifists for lack of patriotism and exposing the country to danger." Sounds like what Mr. Bush & company have done.

Statement by the former Bank of England director Lord Sir John Stamp: "Banking was conceived in iniquity and born in sin. Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them with the power to create credit, and with a flick of the pen they will create enough money to buy it all back again. Take this power away from them, and all the great fortunes like mine would disappear, and they ought to disappear, for then this World would be a happier and better World to live in. But if you wish to remain the slaves of Bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then continue to let Bankers control money and control credit."

Please note the term "fiat money" refers to money for which there is no actual gold or silver equivalent stored at the privately owned Central Banks, i.e. it is money created out of nothing! To add insult to injury, we are charged interest on it and pay an additional charge due to the loss of value by inflation. It often helps us to understand something if we examine origins. Throughout recorded history the practice of usury, along with the practice of giving false measure, has been condemned, along with the practice of giving false measure. Aristotle and Plato in ancient Greece denounced it as well as prophets in the Old Testament and early Christians. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus, it should be remembered, drove usurers out of the Temple in Jerusalem and this played a part in bringing about his apparent crucifixion by the Roman Pharisee King Pailatoos (Pilates). Buddhists have condemned it and the Quran does so as well (and probably many other religious and non-religious books). While the old usurers at least lent their own money, the modern ones, the Bankers, are able to create it out of nothing. So far, you have read about the false concepts of wealth, principally that fiat (paper) currencies and government bonds are wealth. A massive credit bubble has been created with this concept. If there is a collapse of the credit bubble, it will destroy government bonds and currencies and the cumulative effect will be the greatest destruction of wealth in World history. Could these events happen by chance, or are these events part of a well thought out plan? Understanding the answer to this is critical for comprehending what is and will happen in the World.

The deflationary collapse, if there is one, will destroy the profitability of highly indebted companies, bringing down banks, government bond markets, and government currencies. This will diminish the demand for commodities, thus decreasing their value. Owners of any asset class that rise substantially in value during the deflationary collapse, will gain and wield tremendous economic and political power. This begs the question. In the event a powerful interest group sought to control the World economy, such as the Illuminati banking dynasties, would they not create a situation, whereby all assets collapse in value - except for a particular asset class that they alone own or control? Should ALL assets collapse in value, there would be no major economic advantage to this powerful interest group. Therefore, it logically follows that one particular asset class must rise substantially in value for this interest group to obtain control of the World economy. In a hypothetical World of falling stock markets, accompanied by government currencies and bond markets being wiped out, the only asset class that could rise substantially in value would be gold, silver, and diamonds -- which have traditionally been a store of value in times of war or severe economic upheaval. If the current deflationary deterioration - now spreading through World economies - was indeed planned by a powerful interest group, then as they are causing World economic collapse, they will be simultaneously be driving up the value of gold, silver, and diamonds. We are all well aware that gold, silver, and diamonds are not essential for the survival of mankind. Nevertheless, should this asset class rise substantially while all other asset classes are falling, it will be due to the promotion of a powerful interest group - which has altered our perception of value of the asset group that they control. Is the methodical maneuver occurring now? Will the large gold demand/supply imbalance and a short position estimated at 8,000 tons (which physically cannot ever be covered) be the eventual springboard to much higher gold prices?

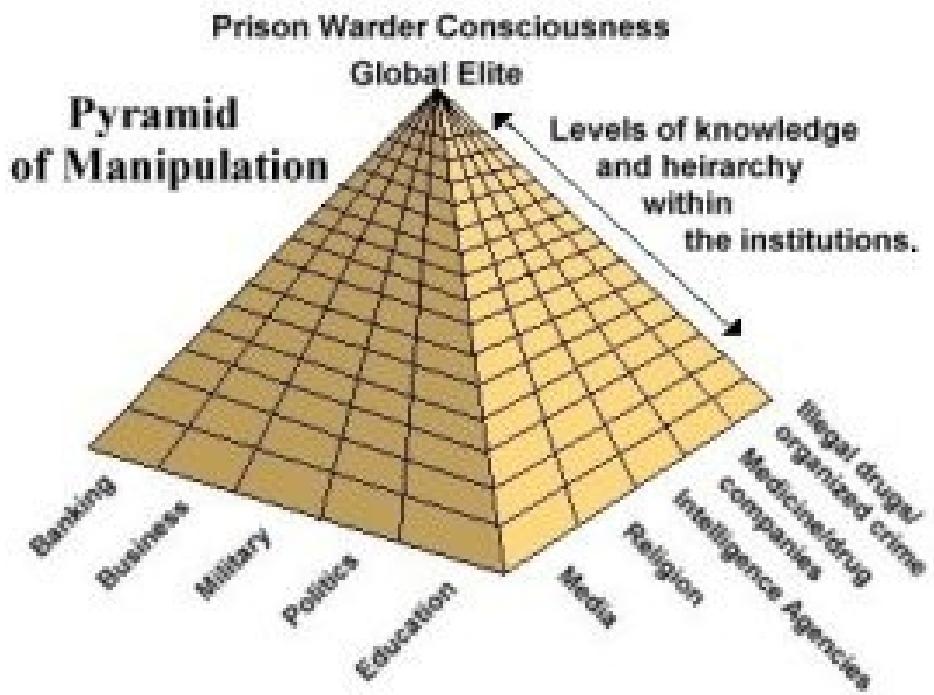

Should we view the International Monetary Fund's (IMF) policies in Indonesia, Korea, Thailand and Russia as unintentional blunders, or are they deliberate and premeditated attempts to destroy the economies of these countries? To help understand some of the potential problems, consider the Indonesian situation. In Indonesia it is expected that more than 100 million people - half the population - were below the poverty line by the end of 1998. Specifically, this means family income per person will fall below U.S.$3.60 per month. YES, you read correctly, Three Dollars and Sixty Cents. If a person's monthly income is more than the cost of one cheese-burger in America, he is considered above the poverty line in Indonesia. The Indonesian stock market is irrelevant because there is negative equity overall. Soon, the banking system may be irrelevant as well. Early estimates put the cost of recapitalizing the banking system at U.S. $20 billion. While no one knows the true cost, some are now speculating that costs could reach U.S. $70 billion. In addition to bad loans that are on the books of Indonesian banks, off balance sheet multi-currency derivative instruments and large amounts of loan repurchase agreements represent huge losses. (Loan repurchase agreements are used by banks to raise cash and hide questionable loans.) For example: In these transactions, Bank A sells a loan to Bank B, but agrees to repurchase the loan from Bank B in the future, paying Bank B a profit. However, if Bank A is unable to repurchase the loan, Bank B ends up with a questionable loan that it may have to write off. When Bank A represents an Indonesian bank and Bank B represents a Foreign bank, unless someone gives Bank A the money to buy back the questionable loan, then Bank B is stuck with the loss. With the Indonesian government and people having no or little money, the only source to recapitalize the banking system must come from foreign investors, which they may not be willing to provide or from selling out Indonesian lands, minerals and other assets or another military invasion!

We are now witnessing World financial markets and currency movements that have been disconnected from and are inconsistent with economic fundamentals. This is because currencies are an imaginary creation of governments and banks. As governments and banks move closer to insolvency, the value of currencies must fall. In viewing the U.S., we must remember that its strong economy is the direct result of trillions of dollars coming in from Europe and Asia since 1995. Adding fuel to the U.S. economy has been the 50% increase in consumer debt over the last four years. Consequently, the seemingly strong U.S. economy is not about robust fundamentals. Just the contrary. Americans do not save (savings rate is less than 3.5%). And the U.S. habitually runs a huge trade deficit - and owes a large percentage of debt to foreigners. The Asian deflationary virus will soon be hitting U.S. shores. American corporations will lose markets and profits, which will result in job losses. Consumers faced with job losses, and falling stock markets will pull back spending, which will send the U.S. economy into a tail spin. This will then lead to a vast outflow of funds from the U.S. - thus accelerating economic contraction within the 50 States and a drop in the value of the US Federal Reserve Note compared to other currencies. There is a tremendous adverse interplay of forces now acting on World economies. Currency movements that have been disconnected from economic fundamentals are now accelerating the economic collapse, and spreading its effects globally. Ultimately, this will lead to the absolute necessity to establish a currency that is NOT dependent on governments or banks, but one based on gold.

At this point it will be imperative to understand the true value of a currency... indeed the very essence of it. A currency is valuable because it allows for the division of labour in the economy. It provides a measuring stick to help determine the viability of a business. A currency assists in developing the most productive use of resources in the economy. It is not wealth, but only a means to assist in creating wealth - which is society's ability to produce food, goods, and services. Remember this when powerful interest groups push the value of gold, silver and diamonds to unrealistic levels in the future. It has been said that only a small group of people understand the process of reasoning, and has the ability to see to the core of the problem as opposed to passing an opinion on it. In this manner, irrational thinking is elevated to a high level of public consciousness. Manipulators can then play on this to undermine and distract the grasp of reality governing any situation. What we end up with is the absolutely inconsequential opinions of masses of people, molded by skilled manipulators that assume the position of scientific fact. Since the Babylonian times of Nimrod (Masonry) and Prophet Abraham (monotheism) four thousand years ago, the times of ancient Rome and Greece, the times of the Pharaohs and other Dynasties, the rulers and controllers have been devising and evolving systems to enslave the peasants mentally and physically for their financial benefits and elite comforts. Long ago in the dark unwritten pages of human history, powerful kings discovered how they could control other men by torture, magical practices, wars, politics, idolatrous religions and interest taking. These elite families designed strategies and tactics to perpetuate their occult practices. Layers upon layers of secrecy have hidden these families from the profane masses, but many an author has touched upon their existence.", over 4,000 years ago in the ancient Babylonian days of slavery for the masses by Nimrod. [Of course, without the electronic information.] Pharaoh ruled by dividing his subjects into casts and degrees like his predecessor Nimrod, the builder of the infamous tower of Babel. These ancient rulers would enslave some of their subjects and their supporters or enforcers or stooges would also benefit from the slavery. These ancient rulers would "enslave" their other subjects by imposing collections (taxes with no services) to expand their own wealth. Interestingly enough, these ancient rulers would not get involved in the business of "money lenders or changers" who would also be imposing a form of collection known as "interest". We have already discussed the meaning of money and the evils of interest in the previous sections. Remember that it's not until the 1850s that the serfs were freed in Europe and then later that the Africans slaves were freed in America. Let's go forward and review this history up to date.

The Biggest Problem on Earth \(once more\)

Sir Josiah Stamp, former President, Bank of England: "Bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money and control credit, and with a flick of a pen they will create enough to buy it back."

Money takes the form of whatever people or governments agree on to use for trade. Some forms of money are universally accepted and some are locally accepted. Some represent an existing asset such as gold or silver, some represent private debt and some in addition represent a national debt such as paper currency money. Money records the intermediary step during a trade, e.g. I sell my labor to someone and I get pieces of paper in return as a record. I haven't yet gotten a service or product in exchange for my labor, i.e. this is an incomplete trade represented by the paper notes that are waiting to be spent at some future date. Therefore, there is always an amount of liquid money in circulation waiting to be spent. Money created from nothing, i.e. without any asset in escrow to backup it, is called FIAT money. Fiat money is thus an "I owe U" and note that due to inflation (and taxes on inflation) money loses its value over time. We will explain about inflation later. In the case of the US$ fiat currency, it is issued by a private central bank, The private Federal Reserve, with no assets, issues this currency for the cost of printing, or the cost of a computer database entry, and it expects this to be repaid with interest, i.e. a gigantic fraud (see quotes from the Founding Fathers later). The Dollars created by the Fed represent a national debt owed to the private BankLords who own the Fed and issue the currency at no cost to themselves and with no liability to themselves because the Dollars are non-redeemable by the FED and must be redeemed for goods and services elsewhere. The rest of the World mostly accepts this system of fiat currency due to the power of the fraudulent Federal Reserve Act and the US military. Notice how Iraq was invaded after it decided to use the Euro€ instead of the US Dollar$ for their oil trade. Under occupation, Iraq was forced to resume trading oil for US$ (the price of oil went from $15 to $75 quintupling the $ purchase requirements, i.e. from over $600 million daily to over $3 billion daily).

Gold's value in terms of the basic goods it can buy has been steady for over 2000 years. However, the value of the dollar has always been dropping steadily; it's elastic and no longer fixed to a real commodity. Let's explore further. The dollar is no longer worth 1/20th of an ounce of gold and is no longer coined in gold. Today's paper or account dollars no longer represent a fixed commodity as per the above definition (even today's coins are not worth anywhere near their face value), but they are still referred to as "money", or more precisely, they are fiat money, i.e. money created from nothing which actually represents a debt, a bit like you creating paper tokens or rainchecks or coupons or promissory notes with no ties to an existing commodity that you own! i.e. fiat money has no commodity backing it except that most people accept it in exchange of goods through the force of legislation or military might. Note that the US$ Federal Reserve Note (FRN) no longer says that the Federal Reserve Bank will pay the bearer on demand the sum of the face value of the note in Dollars (the Bank of England notes still say this but it is meaningless). The US$ states only that the FRN is legal tender for all debt payments (see the history later on how Roosevelt forced all Americans to turn in their gold for a big loss). TODAY'S MONEY IS NOT WHAT IT USED TO BE. OUR FIAT MONEY IS A PROMISE TO PAY, i.e. A RAINCHECK TOKEN ISSUED BY PRIVATE BANKSTERS FOR ANYTHING IN AMERICA WHOSE REDEEMABLE VALUE CHANGES WITH TIME. IT IS A FRAUDY LEGISLATED WAY TO COMPARATELY MEASURE AND TRACK PRODUCTION BASED ON A PROMISE TO PAY!!!! Fiat money is workable as long as the government of the people, for the people and by the people issues fiat money for the benefit of the people only. But through bloody historical events which we will describe in this book, private banking dynasties have monopolized the issuance of money and have usurped this power from governments which they now control. In the US, the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank has the power to issue the fiat currency. If a private party issues the national currency, it has the power to create currency that can be redeemed for anyone's goods and services even though it was created from nothing by the issuer without the issuer being liable for any redemption, i.e. the private money is issued using us as collateral, a de-facto legalized privatized counterfeiting monopoly given by fraudulent legislation. The Fed owners make the rules for their benefit! And the rest of the World is accepting this fiat currency as their reserve under US military threat!! A BIG FRAUD ON ALL!!! REMEMBER, FIAT MONEY DOES NOT CREATE GOODS & SERVICES. WORK CREATES GOODS & SERVICES!!! IT'S IMPORTANT TO UNDERSTAND THIS WHEN WE DISCUSS INTEREST AND USURY LATER.

The biggest problem facing all human beings today is the creeping slavery created by the private monopoly on the issuance and creation of "fiat" money at no liability to themselves (money created from nothing by the stroke of a pen or keyboard) that the Illuminati Bankers who own the central and local banks have managed to usurp from the people at least since the creation of the private central Bank of Rome in 45 AC, the private central Bank of England in 1694, the private US Federal Reserve Banks in 1913 and so on! These Illuminati Banking Dynasties lend this "fiat" money to the people's Governments, corporations and individuals charging interest on this money which they created from nothing and also make gains by manipulating the issuance of money; the debt and the associated interest payments are inherited and grow from generation to generation forever and have enslaved past, present and future generations eternally!! The only way to momentarily stop this pyramid scheme from collapsing is for governments to keep borrowing more and more!!! Whenever this pyramid collapses, the Illuminati Banksters go on a buying spree for bargains while others suffer!!!! Another way to keep this pyramid going is to create wars & terror so that all sides have to borrow money from the Banksters!!!! Meanwhile, the number of enslaved peoples World-wide keeps growing begging for handouts at the mercy of the Illuminati Banksters whose wealth and power keep skyrocketing!!!! In order to keep their mafia cash cow or Golden Calf system going, the Illuminati Banksters use some of their immense wealth to buy influence and propaganda fronts to blame the Earth's problems on all other systems and religions thus diverting attention from themselves and the fact that they have usurped the power to create money from the people's sovereign governments. The money the BankLords create at no liability to themselves is redeemable for any goods or services produced by anyone willing to accept the private Federal Reserve dollar currency notes and cheques.

Thomas Jefferson: "I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance... If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered... The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the government to whom it properly belongs." "The modern theory of the perpetuation of debt has drenched the earth with blood, and crushed its inhabitants under burdens ever accumulating". ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809)

Illuminati (Globalists): "The Illuminati is a group that practices a form of faith known as "enlightenment". It is Luciferian (Satanic Idolatry or the Synagogue of Satan as referred to in the Bible), and teaches followers that their roots go back to the ancient mystery religions of Babylon, Egypt, and Celtic druidism. They have taken what they consider the "best" of each, the foundational practices, and joined them together into a strongly Occult discipline. Many groups at the local level worship a trinity of ancient deities such as "El", "Baal", and "Ashtarte", as well as "Isis and Osiris" and "Set".... "I do know that these people teach and practice evil." In the "The Dying God, The Hidden History of Western Civilization" Montreal historian David Livingstone shows that modern secular culture is really the product of an Occult tradition that can be traced back to ancient Babylon through Masons, Rosicrucians, Templars, Plato and the Cabalists". The Prophets of God invite us to be freed from this slavery of the Pharisees (the priest-bankers-usurers who worked from the Temple in Jerusalem) who mislead ordinary Jews. Note that the ancient elites created and perpetrated the Occult and Idolatry traditions to keep the masses occupied while they reap their wealth.

Background sign: "Israeli government: stop oppressing religious Jewry in the State of Israel." Jews Against Zionism protesting against Zionism in New York Feb 12, 2002.

Pharisee: "One of the members of a school or party among the ancient Jews noted for the strict formal observance of the rites and validity of traditions of the elders. Pharisee interpretation provided the standard of observation and belief for the great majority of the Jews from the 1st century A.C. Pharisaic, hypocritical, self righteous and censorious of others" -- Webster's New International Dictionary of the English Language, 2nd edition, 1950. PHARISEES ARE A SECRET ORDER WHO PRETEND TO BE ISRAELITES JUDEANS!

Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus-Issa had quite a verbal scathing for the Pharisees (the usurers who worked from the Temple in Jerusalem) in Matthew 23. Pharisaic law is reflected in the Babylonian Talmud, particularly in the book of Mishna—the original book of the Babylonian Talmud. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus called their teachings "the ways of men. Looking at "God - the Ultimate Paradox", David Ash tells us (p.69:) that in ancient times, Jews "had a governing body ... known as the 'Council of Elders" dominated by the Pharisees. In the 19th century this council "described itself as the learned Elders of Zion". We learn that there is a group within the Elders which infiltrates and creates secret societies - such as the Masons - known as 'The Brotherhood of the Snake ... In modern times this brotherhood has adopted the title of Illuminati" (p.74) and created Zionism. A lot more on this later.

Representative Wright Patman, former Chairman of a House Banking Committee said: "The Federal Reserve Banks create money out of thin air to buy Government bonds... The Federal Reserve Bank is a total money making machine." [Monopoly on counterfeiting money]

In 1913, before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, Mr. Alexander stated: "But the whole scheme of a Federal Reserve Bank with its commercial-paper basis is an impractical, cumbersome machinery, is simply a cover, to find a way to secure the privilege of issuing money and to evade payment of as much tax upon circulation as possible, and then control the issue and maintain, instead of reduce, interest rates. It is a system that, if inaugurated, will prove to the advantage of the few and the detriment of the people of the United States. It will mean continued shortage of actual money and further extension of credits; for when there is a lack of real money people have to borrow credit to their cost."

Former Federal Reserve Bank Chairman Eccles was asked by Patman, "Mr. Eccles, how did you get the money to buy these two billion dollars of government bonds." Mr. Eccles replied, "We create it." "Out of what?" Patman asked. "Out of the right to issue credit money", i.e. out of nothing. This right to create money out of thin air was given to the Private Federal Reserve Bank by a fraudulent act of Congress in 1913 known as the Federal Reserve Act, same fraud has been happening since the 17th century with the Private Bank of England and other banks. The FED issues Federal Reserve cheques redeemable as Federal Reserve Notes only with no liability to itself. The Fed is not subject to taxes and full audits. The local banks create credit money as well but not currency notes.

Money as detailed in the Introduction, if it's legitimate, is a Commodity Substitute. A commodity substitute is required to facilitate and speed up the exchange of goods and services. Money that is backed by an existing asset is real money. However, today's paper notes and credit balances are like IOUs or promissory notes, i.e. they are a promise to provide a commodity at some point in the future and are not really money. We are living in a system that is producing "fiat" or illusionary money. (<http://www.canadianactionparty.ca/MainPages/Comic.asp?Page=4&Language=English>). Real money is debt free and whether it is a coin or a real money note, it represents real value. Fiat money is a debt and whether it is a Federal Reserve Dollar Note (FRN) or a credit in a bank account, it represents an IOU from the Federal Reserve or local bank against (which no asset exist) to the holder of that account. The private issuer gets to place a demand against everyone else's assets or products and services without any liability to the private issuer, i.e. a big legalized fraud.

Why do We Need "Money"?

Money is a commodity substitute that facilitates trade. Why do we need money? Well, when we sell or buy some goods or services, in exchange, we can be given:

- a commodity (barter)
- real money (gold, silver or certificates of gold, silver)
- fiat money (a promise to pay such as Federal Reserve Notes known as US dollar notes) or
- other arrangements

The first Roman mint was built in or adjacent to the temple of a goddess named Juno Moneta in 289 B.C. originally producing bronze and later silver coins. Many of these coins were struck with the head of Juno Moneta on the face. Whether this was done in tribute or to identify the mint is not known, but moneta came to be the word for both coin and mint, and eventually the word money. But now we have paper notes:

Irving Fisher: "Thus, our national circulating medium is now at the mercy of loan transactions of banks, which lend, not money, but promises to supply money they do not possess."

Major L.L.B. Angas: "The modern Banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented. Banks can in fact inflate, mint, and un-mint the modern ledger-empty currency."

A quote from a 1924 edition of the American Banker's Association Digest sums up what is currently happening. Keep this in mind when you vote: "When, through the process of law, the common people lose their homes, they will become more docile and more easily governed through the strong arm of government applied by a central power of wealth under leading financiers. These truths are well known among our principal men who are now engaged in forming imperialism to govern the World. By dividing the voter through the political party system, we can get them to expend their energies in fighting for questions of no importance."

"No State shall...make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts." Article I, Section 10, United States' Constitution

"The Congress shall have power...to coin money (and) regulate the value thereof." Article I, Section 8, United States' Constitution.

Most people don't realize that now-a-days the issuing of money is essentially a private business, and that the privilege of issuing money has been a major bone of contention throughout history over which major wars have been and are being fought, over which major crimes have been and are being committed, and over which many nations were destroyed, Kings, Queens, Monarchs, Emperors, Tsars and families like the Kennedys and the Gandhis (in addition to not allowing foreign banks, Mahatma Gandhi said Nov. 26, 1938 "Let the Jews, who claim to be the chosen race, prove their title by choosing the way of non-violence for vindicating their position on earth"), Popes, judges, lawyers, politicians and six US Presidents were assassinated (William Henry Harrison, poisoned, in 1841, Zachary Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and John F. Kennedy 1963; 7 if you count FDR's poisoning)! Our current system of exchange was created with a profit motive aimed at capitalizing on people's need for currency. The Central Banking System (which produces the actual currency and loans it to governments at interest and sells it to high street banks at face value) was set up as a network of private businesses with official-sounding names, engineered to make a profit for their shareholders. These include the Bank of England (Graham Bannoc R.E. Baxter and Evan Davis, 'The Penguin Dictionary of Economics' page 34 also The Economic Organisation of Europe, 'Cambridge Economic History of Europe V' page 352), The Federal Reserve (Graham Bannoc R.E. Baxter and Evan Davis, 'The Penguin Dictionary of Economics' page 155) and all the other Central Banks throughout the World. Not one of them is democratic! All of them are masters of disguise. Even nationalization has not stopped Bank of England stock holders from receiving their dividends, nor stopped the bank from keeping 75% of its profit, while writing off the 25% it pays to the Treasury as corporation tax (Bank of England Act 1946).

Let's Go FORWARD and understand how the power to create money interest-free was usurped from the people by the "money changers" in the past and how now the Private Central Bankers' dynasties have grown so immensely that they are in almost full control of the people (they use names like Federal Reserve or Bank of England to hide the fact that these banks are really privately owned). In our exploration of the "Hidden History of Money" we will be exposing how seemingly respectable institutions that are bleeding the World dry have been set up, and how they maintain their air of respectability through clever use of legislation, hence the political dimension, and through clever use of distractions, hence the propaganda dimension. We will also be looking at how the privatization of the production of currency from nothing and then the charging of interest on this "fake" or "fiat" money has been turned into a means to make huge profits for a given few Illuminati Bankers at the expense of the rest of us. History will disclose how more positive economic plans were proven to work too well, and how they were forced to stop by the institutions their success threatened, sending prospering communities into ruin. Here we will look at what we inherited (and we will explore how we could change it to make it fairer for all in XAT3 link at the end of this section). Because money affects almost every aspect of our lives, how it works is something we should all be interested, however we are mostly discouraged from doing this by experts, who assure us the topic is much too complicated for most of us to grasp. Our accepting this leaves the whole subject largely unexplored, and allows those who do know to carry on unquestioned. As a result it is estimated that only one person in a thousand actually understands how money is created. Reading this will not make you a financial wizard, but it will make you a 'one in a thousand' and hopefully in time help to raise the odds in favor of a better World.

The use of money evolved out of deeply rooted customs as is shown by the study of primitive forms of money, e.g. cattle, cowrie shells, whales' teeth and manillas (ornamental jewellery). The clumsiness of barter was merely one factor in the development of money. Banking was invented before coins and reached a high level of sophistication in the Egypt of the Ptolomies. Military conquests, such as those of Alexander the Great, spread the use of coins which became the most convenient means of payment. From blood money payments in primitive societies to the military-industrial complex of the present day developments in warfare and finance have, unfortunately, been closely connected. Even the word to pay comes from a Latin word meaning to pacify. Warfare played an important part in the spread of the use of coinage and the invention of the national debt, while the adoption of debt-free paper money by the Colonies was both a cause of the American Revolution and a means of financing it against the private Bank of England's tyranny debt-based paper money. The British colonies in North America were chronically short of coins and were forced to use various substitutes including wampum, like the native inhabitants, and tobacco. The enthusiastic adoption of paper money and its suppression by the British was a factor in provoking the American Revolution. Ever since independence, banking has been the subject of political controversy and the US financial system may be in relative decline due to its take over by the privately owned Federal Reserve Bank issued debt-based money by creating it from nothing.

Understanding FIAT Money \(created from nothing: thus an I OWE U\)

Daniel Webster: "Of all the contrivances for cheating the laboring classes of mankind, none has been more effective than that which deludes them with paper money."

Commodity money is a physical thing, such as gold or silver. It takes work to create it. There are compelling reasons why gold has been the preferred commodity money since antiquity.

Fiat (arbitrary [paper]) money is money that is created out of nothing by banks or central banks and without any work at the cost of a penny per note. Because of material misrepresentations and nondisclosure regarding the fiat "dollar," it is prima facie fraudulent. Fiat money keeps losing its purchasing power. This type of money is actually stock whose value keeps decreasing due to dilution and corrupt issues. The dollar now is only a share counter with no fixed commodity value.

We don't realize until years later, when we attempt to exchange fiat money "savings" for real wealth (shelter, automobiles, food, clothing, etc.), that it takes many more "dollars" to pay for these things than the savers could possibly have anticipated at the start. They find that their money has "melted." A mysterious villain called "inflation" is cited as the cause of the loss of purchasing power. In fact, while people are saving potential claims on wealth, those who receive the interest and transaction fees for creating fiat "dollars" are spending them and consuming the real wealth those claims represent. It takes work to create wealth. "Dollars" are created without any work — how much more work is involved in printing a $100 bill as compared to a $1 bill? Not only are ordinary people in the United States being deceived, but foreigners who accept and save those "dollars" in exchange for their goods and services are also being cheated. And these are privately issued and controlled by the banksters! (and inflation is taxed!) If there were full disclosure about fiat "dollars", what elements would need to be included? At a minimum, the disclosure statement on each bill would have to state:

- "Dollars" are not redeemable into anything;
- "Dollars" have value because people believe that other people, both at home and abroad, will continue to accept them for their goods and services;
- In the US, people are forced by law to accept "dollars" for all debts public and private;
- "Dollars" are created out of nothing by the US banking system-mostly by commercial banks;
- If, in the judgment of the Federal Reserve, there needs to be additional "liquidity" in the system, then the Federal Reserve may create additional "dollars" in unlimited quantities. Generation of additional "dollars" will dilute the purchasing power of "dollars" that have been saved or promised for future payment, such as pensions;
- Creation of new "dollars" out of thin air has depreciated "dollar" purchasing power by more than 90 percent since 1950;
- "Dollars" are in no way obligations of the US government (the signatures of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Treasurer are gratuitous);
- "Dollars" are tokens, i.e., a paper tickets;

Janet Bush: "since the end of the Second World War, it has had the unique privilege of "owning" the World's reserve currency - the notes and coins used for trade and investment more than any other currency for 60 years. This confers unimaginable advantages. America is able to ignore the discipline of having to balance its books because, if it runs out of money and can't find anyone to bail it out, it can simply print dollars, inflating away the value of its debt and destroying the value of the assets held by its creditors. In other words, it can threaten financial blackmail."

Without the misrepresentation just described and with full disclosure about the nature of the US dollar, it may very well be that some US citizens might continue to use and save fiat "dollars.". But surely foreigners, who cannot be compelled by US legal tender laws to accept our fiat "dollar," would not save it, nor securities denominated in it, as they have been doing - to the tune of approximately $2 trillion. This non-disclosure of material facts contributes to the fiat money fraud. Why we are in danger from the fraudulent fiat monetary system: The problem with fiat money, the kind we have now, is that the temptation for its creators — bankers, central bankers and/or politicians — to manipulate it for their own benefit, fraudulently transferring the wealth of society to themselves by employing coercion, misrepresentation and nondisclosure-has been so overwhelming that they have never been able to resist that temptation. Fiat money is not wealth; it is merely a potential claim on wealth. As people realize that the real wealth on which the fiat money has a potential claim does not exist, the fiat money is said to "melt." When fiat money melts, interest rates increase, the purchasing power of savings, pensions, and all forms of future payments denominated in the fiat money are greatly reduced, and people lose their jobs — all through no fault of their own. The suffering of ordinary people becomes palpable. In the US, the massive creation of nearly $6 trillion in new "dollars" has already depreciated the purchasing power of the fiat "dollar" by more than ninety percent since 1950. Gold-as-money — honest monetary weights and measures — has competition: fiat money. The creators of fiat money, banks and central banks, despite their vastly inferior product, have succeeded because of coercion, misrepresentation and nondisclosure. It is significant that, historically, gold did not become money because some potentate or government designated it so. Gold (and silver) have been the choice of the people in open markets from antiquity.

The word "dollar" was used by Shakespeare and derives from "thaler" the name of a European German coin (central European thalers, Scandinavian dalers, the Spanish peso, the American dollar, and dollars used in Britain and the British Empire, and in China). Bank could be an old German word for bench, referring to the bench on which one sat while discussing loan arrangements and interest charges. Some say the word 'bank' originated from Chartres in 11th century France where money-changers stood at benches which their place of business; 'Bench' in French is 'banc', and so the money people became known as 'banquiers', or as we call them now, 'Bankers'. Yet, some others say that Italians were involved in the transfer of papal taxes from Scotland and the origin of the word bank is the 'banco' or bench used by the Italian merchants and money lenders. The money changers of Lombardia used to sit behind their wooden desks and, therefore, the place became known as Banco. And some others say that it was originated by released Crusaders who while being POWs under Muslim custody saw the Arabs conducting loan, exchange and issue of money on wooden tables or banco in Italian. All great republics throughout history cherished sound money. This meant that the monetary unit was a commodity of honest weight and purity. When money was sound, civilizations were found to be more prosperous and freedom thrived. The less free a society becomes, the greater the likelihood its money is being debased and the economic well-being of its citizens diminished unless it was temporarily boosted by empire building and exploitation of weaker nations. The Founding Fathers were well aware of the Biblical admonitions against dishonest weights and measures, debased silver, and watered-down wine (these admonitions can also be found in the Quran and some other religious and non-religious books). The issue of sound money throughout history has been as much a moral issue as an economic and political issue. Since the monetary unit measures every economic transaction, from wages to prices, taxes, and interest rates, it is vitally important that its value is honestly established without Illuminati Bankers, government, politicians, or the privately owned central banks manipulating its value to serve special interests.

President James Madison: "History records that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments by controlling money and its issuance."

Money, money, money, it's always just been there, right? Wrong. Obviously it's issued by the government to make it easy for us to exchange things. Wrong again!

Truth is most people don't realise that the issuing of money is essentially a private business, and that the privilege of issuing money has been a major bone of contention throughout history. Wars have been fought and depressions have been caused in the battle over who issues the money; however the majority of us are not aware of this, and this is largely due to the fact that the winning side became and increasingly continues to be a vital and respected member of our global society, having an influence over large aspects of our lives including our education, our media and our governments.

While we might feel powerless in trying to stop the manipulation of money for private profit at our expense, it is easy to forget that we collectively give money its value. We have been taught to believe printed pieces of paper have special value, and because we know others believe this too, we are willing to work all our lives to get what we are convinced others will want. An honest look at history will show us how our innocent trust has been misused and the power to create money has been usurped from the people. Remember that "money" is a commodity substitute that facilitates and speeds up the exchange of goods and services. Consider the American Indians using Wampum, West Africans trading in decorative metallic objects called Manillas and the Fijians economy based on whales teeth, some of which are still legal tender; add to that shells, amber, ivory, decorative feathers, cattle including oxen & pigs, a large number of stones including jade and quartz which have all been used for trade across the World, and we get a taste of the variety of accepted currency. There is something charming and dreamlike, imagining primitive societies, our ancestors, using all these colourful forms of money. As long as everyone concerned can agree on a value, this is a sensible thing for a community to do. After all, the person who has what you need might not need what you have to trade. Also, physical money made of gold or silver gets heavy and presents a logistics problem. Paper Money with real gold or silver backing solves these problems neatly. Real value with each exchange, and everyone gaining from the convenience. The idea is really intuitively inspired which might explain why so many diverse minds came up with it.

The US Dollar and World Enslavement

Edited and extracted from an article by Janet Bush in The New Statesman, Monday 4th October 2004. America's huge, fiat-dollar-based all-conquering economy is genuinely vulnerable and its fragility coincides with an expanding and expensive military exposure around the World. The US has bought the World's production and resources with a supply of fiat-dollars, i.e. a promise to pay or debt because all US dollars in cash or in bank accounts represent a debt. Although this debt is against the privately owned Federal Reserve, it is not redeemable from the FED (the outlook is always rosy for the owners of the FED), i.e. it is only redeemable by acquiring US products and services. As long as the holders of these fiat-dollars keep accepting them, the US gets away with buying for nothing. When these international holders of fiat-dollars decide to spend them to acquire US goods and services, a massive inflation will occur as the US will finally have to deliver on its promises to pay. The holders of these fiat-dollars will receive a lot less value than they expect, if any. The US can always change its mind about the foreign US dollar holdings and this has already been discussed in some government circles. To survive with a high standard of living, the US will have to conquer its lenders (before they dispose of their dollars or switch to the Euro) just like the Roman Empire did, thus avoiding repayment of its debt. US bestseller lists are stuffed with books agonizing about whether the American empire is finally coming to a close; uncanny parallels are drawn between the military and financial overstretch of imperial Rome and imperial Washington. George W Bush's pre-emptive doctrine in foreign policy is enormously costly; on top of billions of dollars' worth of tax cuts, largely for the rich, it is prohibitive. It is predicted that the federal budget deficit will reach $2.4 trillion over the next ten years. To finance that deficit, the US needs to persuade investors - more often than not from overseas - to lend it up to $4bn net every day.

Even without America's apparently infinite capacity for foreign military adventurism (how much would tackling Iran or North Korea cost?), its fiscal outlook seems dire. Two experts on the US budget position, Niall Ferguson and Laurence Kotlikoff, estimate that the country faces a $45 trillion gap between the money it has and the money it needs to finance existing social security, Medicare and pensions commitments ahead. It is not just the federal government that is in trouble. When adjusted for inflation, the wage for the average American male working full-time has fallen over the past 30 years; and, because of that, five times as many mothers - even those with young children - must now work to make a decent living wage. Not since the Depression have Americans saved so little and, at the same time as running down their rainy-day money, been so neck-deep in debt. By 2003, total debt had soared to $37 trillion; that's $128,560 for every man, woman and child in the country. Some of that debt has been racked up on mass retail therapy (Americans love to say "when the going gets tough, the tough go shopping"), but a lot of it has been the inevitable result of the Average American Joe struggling to make ends meet.

The richest nation on earth is living way beyond its means, and yet the Bush administration blithely continues to spend. It takes no steps to rein in the deficit - sometimes, indeed, it seems that the deeper the deficit, the more reckless the administration becomes. No other nation on earth can behave this way - in every other case, governments know that if their deficits run out of control, they will be "punished" by the market: investors will lose confidence, interest rates will have to be raised to attract capital, financing the deficit will become more expensive, and a vicious spiral will be in place. Why, then, can the US run a deficit of more than 5 per cent of its gross domestic product and still manage to attract $4bn a day at interest rates of only 1.75 per cent? The US has been running a bubble economy for decades; the recent dotcom boom and bust was a minor episode in a history of deficit-financing since the 1960s. Then, as now, the US borrowed with impunity; whereas other countries have always had to choose between guns and butter - foreign policy expansionism or domestic prosperity - the United States has spent profligately on both; George W Bush has emptied the coffers on tax cuts for the wealthy and Afghanistan and Iraq. There has never been a shortage of people willing to lend to the US; after all, as the richest nation on earth, it has to be good for the money, doesn't it? Even when investors have become nervous about its profligacy, there has been plenty of credit because the US economy is a crucial market for the World's producers. In living memory, the United States has been the sole engine powering the World economy: there has been no alternative to continually injecting it with fuel. But the US has a stick to add to the carrot: since the end of the Second World War, it has had the unique privilege of "owning" the World's reserve currency - the notes and coins used for trade and investment more than any other currency for 60 years. This confers unimaginable advantages. America is able to ignore the discipline of having to balance its books because, if it runs out of money and can't find anyone to bail it out, it can simply print dollars, inflating away the value of its debt and destroying the value of the assets held by its creditors. In other words, it can threaten financial blackmail.

In the 1970s, European and Asian governments started complaining about lending America the money to finance the Vietnam war; the US simply responded by engineering a catastrophic fall in the dollar, which erased its deficit over time but also crucified the economies of its trading partners in the process. Now, with the deficit soaring again to finance foreign wars, the US is repeating the trick. It has encouraged the dollar to fall; exporters to the US such as China and Japan have had no choice but to try to arrest that decline to protect their trade. How? By buying dollars, which they invest in US treasury bonds, thus financing the deficit. How very neat. But the United States cannot count in perpetuity on winning this game of financial chicken, based on the pre-eminence of the dollar. Its angriest political enemies have worked out the game and have been mulling over their counter-moves. A plan being pushed in particular by Mahathir Mohamed, former prime minister of Malaysia, for a new gold-backed Islamic currency - the dinar - is a rallying point. Rejection of the dollar is increasingly being used as an act of political aggression, and nowhere more acutely than in oil-producing countries. The trailblazer was none other than Saddam Hussein who, in 2000, announced that Iraq would henceforth make all its oil trades in euros, a decision that conspiracy theorists - and not a few eminent Middle Eastern experts - say triggered the US invasion. The United States derives substantial benefits from the dollar being the established currency of the oil industry. Because most countries import oil, they must maintain reserves in dollars to pay for it - two-thirds of the World's currency reserves are kept in dollars. This is a major factor upholding the dollar's position as the World's reserve currency; a switch out of dollars in the oil industry would be a major assault on the currency's pre-eminence (the price of oil went from $15 to $75 quintupling the $ purchase requirements, i.e. from over $600 million daily to over $3 billion daily).

In April 2003, Indonesia's state oil company, PERTAMINA, said it was considering using the Euro for its oil and gas trades. Even more significantly, in October last year President Vladimir Putin hinted that Russia, the World's second-largest oil exporter, might switch to euros. A Russian move would be enough to tip the balance for other major oil producers. As Arab disapproval of the US war in Iraq has mounted, so a consensus for switching out of dollars has been building; Opec has openly discussed the option and even Saudi Arabia, once America's staunchest Middle Eastern ally, is reported to be considering rejecting the dollar. For now, the Euro is the most viable alternative; in future, it could be the Islamic dinar or, far more likely, a new Asian currency. Western storytellers would relate the tale of the emperor, his new clothes and the little boy who saw his nakedness; perhaps Arab fablers might talk about desert mirages. America's economic dominance was once real; it is now a receding reality, a confidence trick. Washington might ponder that before scattering its dollars and daisy-cutter bombs next time around. Janet Bush is writing a book about the unraveling of the dollar hegemony. This article first appeared in the New Statesman www.newstatesman.com.

Usury in the Babylonian & Roman Empires

Sadly, perhaps in the depth of the forest within earshot of people naturally involved in fair trade, a leech of an idea was being hatched which would prey on every individual needing trade to survive. This idea and the enslaving process which it spawned was called usury (this is a precursor to the power of issuing currency without any asset to back it!); and despite being condemned Worldwide by great thinkers, major religious institutions, and many social reformers on moral, ethical, spiritual and legal grounds, the process continues World wide, today better known as the charging of interest on both tangible real and spontaneously created "fiat" money from nothing. It often helps us to understand something if we examine origins. Throughout recorded history the practice of usury, along with the practice of giving false measure, has been condemned. Aristotle and Plato in ancient Greece denounced it as well as prophets in the Old Testament and early Christians. Yeshua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus, it should be remembered, drove usurers out of the Temple in Jerusalem and this played a part in bringing about his apparent crucifixion by the Roman Pharisee King Pilate (Pilate). Buddhists have condemned it and the Quran does so as well (and probably other religious and non-religious books). While the old usurers at least lent their own money, the modern ones, the Bankers, are able to create it out of nothing. The moneylender, conceived in Babylon and Rome . . . gave birth to usury. The word usury comes from the Latin usus meaning "used" and the word usuria which means demanding in return for a loan a greater amount than was borrowed. Usury started in ancient Rome and is practiced by the Vatican. Here are some unexpected remarks by the Pope on usury (by the way, why did the Pope get shot in May 1981? Did he deviate from the Illuminati line or was there some internal disagreement among themselves? More on the Bank of Rome soon):

St. Thomas Aquinas, the leading theologian of the Catholic Church, argued charging of interest is wrong because it applies to "double charging", charging for both the thing and the use of the thing. Aquinas said that a lender charges for the loan by requiring the loan to be paid back, in other words, the payback for the loan is the charge for the loan. Any further charge is a charge for using the loan. Aquinas said this would morally wrong in the same way as if one sold a bottle of wine, charged for the bottle of wine, and then charged for the person using the wine to actually drink it (which is the de-facto transaction when you take the loan and buy something with it).

VATICAN CITY, NOV. 22, 2000 (ZENIT.org).- John Paul II made an urgent appeal this morning against the "worrying phenomenon of usury," and called for help for victims of "this spreading plague." At the end of the general audience, attended by 40,000 faithful, the Pope raised his voice and appealed for "generous commitment in the battle against this merciless abuse of others' need." Among the faithful were members of the Italian Association of Foundations Against Usury and delegates of several regional foundations. Addressing them, the Pope said: "Usury is a social plague that is spreading and it is totally necessary to go to the aid of all those who are trapped in this net of injustice and grave sufferings." "I sincerely hope that, in the context of the Jubilee Year, thanks to the contribution of all, concrete steps may be taken to eliminate this grave scourge," the Pope said. John Paul II has spoken on several occasions against this abuse and has exhorted banks to be inspired in the principles of cooperation and solidarity to combat this phenomenon. On Nov. 11, when he met with directors and employees of Bank of Rome, the Pontiff asked the credit institutions to commit themselves even more to the struggle against usury. He exhorted them to resolutely support people with financial problems, and not just seek the highest profit.

Usury is extensive in Italy, due, in part, to its banking system. A few days ago, the Supreme Court condemned some Italian banks for imposing interest rates on clients with overdrawn accounts that were "higher" than those of "usury." [Ed: In fact, usury is wrong, REGARDLESS of the interest charged. Usury is the imposition of any interest on an UNPRODUCTIVE loan. Belloc explains it very well -- and the WHOLE banking system is based on it]. Just why usury (and giving false measure) is a negative force was explained in a previous section in great detail. Lets again explain using a new analogy imagining our primitive tribe trading among themselves in an isolated community. As they trade using their accepted beads or stones, with each transaction both the buyer and seller benefit. Along comes an individual with a bit more of an acceptable currency which he offers to lend to the one who has less or to the one who cannot barter or who does not have the acceptable currency!, so long as the poorer member agrees to pay back all plus a bit more in a given time. Immediately the poorer member is now even poorer because has to pay back what he now holds plus a percentage of what he will hold and has yet to find. This transaction in itself will not have increased the overall produce of the community, yet now the lender owns a bit more of the overall wealth without having added anything to it. This action, far from having helped the poorer member has actually deprived everyone. One such transaction might not appear to make a huge difference, but multiply the effects and soon our lender will have a growing pile of currency which he has acquired while adding absolutely nothing to the community. If the community we imagine once consisted of individuals trading fairly to survive, now everyone who owes is working for the lender (see the Thomas Edison quote on usury). The lender might seem like the good guy and the borrower might be grateful for the loan, but in fact, the contract entered into is no favor and the lender is really only preying on the poor and giving nothing. One may argue that if the borrower succeeds in surviving another day or in producing something and selling it for a profit, then the borrower benefited. But he had to give away a part of his labor to pay interest to the lender and will be fighting with others to acquire the money to pay the interest. The lender earned another piece of gold by lending a piece of gold and making no apparent effort. This is known as the parasitic effect and cannot be considered fair trade. To illustrate, the word mort-gage word is derived from Latin 'mort' - death, and the Old Norman 'gage' – grip, i.e. "death-grip".

But what is this thing called excessive interest? (Latin usus meaning "used" and the word usuria which means demanding in return for a loan a greater amount than was borrowed)

Thomas Edison said: "People who will not turn a shovel-full of dirt on the project nor contribute a pound of materials will collect more money than will the people who will supply all the materials and do all the work."

Usury leaves a bad taste because it allows the rich to get richer while not actually producing anything new for the community and while taking advantage of those less fortunate by making them even poorer. Let's take this one step further into fractional banking. To understand Fractional Reserve Banking it's necessary to understand where bank notes came from: In the olden times, people deposited their silver and gold money at goldsmiths (where it was safely deposited in the goldsmiths' strongboxes). In return they received a note. Over time those notes got used in trade, as they were much more convenient to carry around than heavy metal money - thus paper money was born. As soon as bank notes were accepted as a means of payment, the goldsmiths/money lenders recognized that all the people who had their gold and silver money deposited at their place would never want it back at the same time (unless there is a "run on the bank"). Therefore they could lend "virtual" (and you thought cyber space was a recent invention!) money in the form of notes, keeping only a fraction of the "real" gold and silver money in reserve (usually around 10% of the amount lent out in note form, fractional reserve of 10%). Today, privately owned Central/National/Federal Reserve Banks usually have a nation/union-wide monopoly of issuing bank notes.

On January 24, 1939, Robert H. Hemphill, credit Manager of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta stated: "If all the bank loans were paid no one would have a bank deposit and there would not be a dollar of coin or currency in circulation. This is a staggering thought. We are completely dependent on the commercial banks. Someone has to borrow every dollar we have in circulation, cash or credit. If the banks create ample synthetic money we are prosperous: if not, we starve. We are absolutely without a permanent money system. When one gets a complete grasp of the picture the tragic absurdity of our hopeless position is almost incredible, but there it is. It (the banking problem) is the most important subject intelligent persons can investigate and reflect upon. It is so important that our present civilization may collapse unless it becomes widely understood and the defects remedied very soon." This usually ends up with depressions, bail-outs, bankruptcies, failures or countries and individuals selling their assets to the mega-banking dynasties at bargain basement prices, i.e. slavery. At first glance, fractional banking looks like a good deal for everyone. The banks get more profit. The people can get quicker and easier loans. More capital is available to engage in commerce. Production picks up. But, sooner or later, more and more people can not make their loan payments. An unseen by-product of fractional banking is: it makes some people rich, (about 250,000) and leaves many more people very poor (about 150 million). All the while, fractional banking creates compounding, unpayable public and private debt, which causes the cost of living to constantly go up for all Americans and others throughout the World.

More Details on Usury

In its broadest historic connotation, usury has meant unearned profit of any kind. This would apply to government profit above the true costs of government service. It would apply to government charges for unassented service. It would apply to charges attached to a currency which truly only represents the people's debts to each other. It would apply to any prejudice of trade which intervenes upon receipt of wealth equal to the production delivered in every attempt at equal trade. Usury exists then, wherever any party is deprived of receiving for their production, production of equal value. Usury exists wherever any person fails to realize prosperity equal to their doings. A narrower category of usury applies to charging interest for money. Usury is forbidden to Christianity. The Islamic equivalent is "Riba." Riba is forbidden to both the giver and taker. Judaism forbids usury among the Semitic, but preaches usury against the non-Semitic. Mayer Amschel Rothschild was prepared by his father to become a Rabbi. Ferociously, he deployed the teachings of unearned profit instead to multiply an embezzled fortune into the House of Rothschild — precursor to the modern, World-wide network of central banks. The money changers of Christ's famous episode at the over-run Temple practiced this ethic of unearned profit, and unfair trade. Fittingly, usury has been called, an abomination that makes desolation. Hence the great historic, social, and religious significance of usury. The economic instability, mal-distribution of production, and uncertainty of modern times, are solely the product of usury.

Without qualification, advocates of unearned profit suggest that "interest" is somehow not usury — that while "usurious" interest rates are indeed harmful, there are lower magnitudes of usury which are not. Whether interest is truly distinguishable from usury therefore, can be understood by examining the possible magnitudes of "interest." Unless our purpose is deception necessary itself to unearned profit, why and how establish an ostensibly "legal," ostensibly serviceable, ostensibly conducive, ostensibly undamaging rate of usury, called "interest"? Unless we can distinguish the consequences of some ostensible rate of "interest" from the consequences of usury, then introduction of the more recent term would serve no purpose whatsoever but to perpetrate usury upon an unapprehending public. Unearned profit is championed by modern "economics" — in every possible instance, solely at the cost of true producers. But is there a magnitude of interest which is not usurious? While this too is the preaching of the modern "economist," no "economist" in eternity has shown how. Where any part of the circulation whatsoever is subject to any magnitude of "interest" whatsoever, the circulation can only be maintained by re-borrowing payments against principal and interest, as subsequent debts, increased so much as periodic interest. No matter the magnitude of interest or usury, debt is multiplied in proportion to the circulation. The magnitude of interest or usury therefore only regulates the rate at which debt is multiplied in proportion to the commerce. As debt is multiplied in proportion to given commerce, ever less of a given circulation is available to sustain commerce, because ever more of the given circulation is subverted to delivering unearned profit in the form of interest on the multiplied debt. Eventually then, the costs of servicing debt exceed the capacity to sustain commerce; and thus, regardless of the ostensible magnitude of interest, any possible rate of interest likewise multiples debt into unconscionable, unearned profit, in the identical form of the maximum possible, affordable sum of interest, on some insoluble sum of debt. Just the same, interest ultimately renders collapse under insoluble debt. Interest is usury. Interest is usurious. Interest Multiplies Debt Into Insoluble Debt Any 'economy' subject to interest-bearing debt, ultimately terminates itself under insoluble debt. <http://www.perfecteconomy.com/pg-interest-multiplies-debt.html>

We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; that, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed... Thomas Jefferson, United States Declaration of Independence. Why however, would any society forego a currency consistent with free enterprise, for a currency subject to profit? As money is not given to circulation, it can only come into circulation as evidence of debt. Ideally, in order to accommodate commerce, new circulation is provided proportionate to new production, and withdrawn with the expiration of that production. The quantity of circulation required to sustain the respective commerce, is the value of the production. A debtor certifies the value, by assuming a debt of so much. The debtor thus assumes responsibility to pay for the production with an equal measure of their own work, if and only if, fulfilling the obligation of the debt requires an equal measure of production. Where the currency is solely an immutable medium of exchange, to repay the debt is to deliver so much production. If the rate of payment equals the rate of consumption, then in every such case, total circulation equals the current value of production, both as necessary to sustain trade, and as necessary to fulfill the obligations of debt. Where currency is introduced to circulation as a debt subject to interest however, then across the breadth of the system, and in every such case, not enough circulation exists to pay the full obligations of debt — which include interest.

In the payment of complete debt obligations, the circulation is necessarily depleted more so than exists. Merely to maintain a circulation, it is necessary to re-borrow payments against principal and interest as subsequent debts, increased so much as periodic interest. Where the circulation is subject to interest, debt perpetually increases then in proportion to the circulation or commerce which can be sustained by it. As the sum of debt grows beyond the circulation, a given rate of interest predicates ever greater periodic interest on debt. Thus, the further debt grows, and the further we progress through the potential lifespan of such a system, then until the brink of system-wide insoluble debt is reached, the greater the increments by which debt grows further. Given any such rate of growth of debt in proportion to commerce then, ultimately the costs of servicing debt exceed soluble continuation of commerce, and, under the ever more disproportionate profits of usury, the system collapses under insoluble debt. Any 'economy' subject to interest-bearing debt, ultimately terminates itself under insoluble debt. Mike Montagne — PEOPLE For Mathematically Perfected Economy™. To find the players in all the corruption of the World, "Follow the money." To find the captains of World corruption, "Follow the money all the way."

Fed monetary policy in the late 1970's led to double digit inflation and a prime rate that eventually reached 21.5% in 1981. This caused the collapse of the Savings and Loan Industry. Congress, accommodating the banking lobby, passed the Garn-St Germain Act to bail out the Savings and Loans. Stimulated by a rush of new money created by the Fed, attractive real estate tax laws, and the authority to directly invest in real estate deals, the Savings and Loans quickly created a speculative bubble of overvalued real estate. By 1990 the massive amount of bad real estate loans caused a banking crisis. The Resolution Trust Corp. was formed to market foreclosed real estate, and the biggest write down of real estate assets since the Great Depression began. Thus, in a period of 12 years, the Fed was obliged to bail out both the Savings and Loan and the banking industries as a direct result of its own monetary policy. Incredibly, the losses were absorbed, not by the Fed, but by the taxpayers and the shareholders of the local institutions that collapsed. Millions of Americans went bankrupt in the early 1990's and to this day don't understand what happened.

A vital respect of freedom itself, is freedom from USURY. <http://www.perfecteconomy.com/pg-quotes.html>

One of the most incredible marks of our time is the fact so few realize there is a vital death struggle between the proponents of the World's "central bank" "economies" and we ourselves — those to whom these systems comprise such incredible cost. The rectification of economy has been an objective of human development for millenia. The manifestations of systems imposed to multiply unearned profits to the modern usurer are many. But as all detriments manifest from "interest" multiplying debt, payment of debt so as production cannot be procured by trade of equal production, and restriction of the circulation, economy is perfected by the most basic mathematic processes. And so, a fact of mathematically perfected economy is inevitable.

Biblical: In you, men accept bribes to shed blood. You take usury, and make unjust gain from your neighbors by extortion. You have forgotten me. I will surely strike my hands together, disapproving the unjust gain you have made and the blood you have shed in the midst of it. Will your courage endure or your hands be strong in the day I deal with you? Take no usury (unearned/unjust profit) or interest; and fear your God, that your brother may live at peace with you. "It is from numberless diverse acts of courage and belief that human history is shaped. Each time a person stands up for an ideal, or acts to improve the lot of others, or strikes out against injustice, s/he sends forth a tiny ripple of hope, and crossing each other from a million different centers of energy and daring, those ripples build a current which can sweep down the mightiest walls of oppression."

The Jews forbade the practice of usury within their own community, while they permitted it to be practiced against outsiders. This is one of the many instances of the Pharisees having altered the revelations in open rebellion against God.

Robert F. Kennedy: "Are we disposed to be of the numbers of those who, having eyes, see not, and, having ears, hear not, the things which so nearly concern their temporal salvation? For my part, whatever anguish of spirit it may cost, I am willing to know the whole truth, to know the worst, and to provide for it."

Patriot Leader, Patrick Henry: "Those who would trade freedom for security deserve neither."

Benjamin Franklin: Representing the colonists to England, Benjamin Franklin explained the relatively perfected form of economy we had devised here. After elaborating on the full prosperity intrinsic to an economy sustained by an interest-free currency, and how to regulate such a currency, he then answers a challenge as to how government and taxation could be implemented in such a system. His arrogant foes had assumed he could not answer: "One day, as each township needs the services of the other township's mills, it is proposed to build a bridge across the river. A group of men agree to build the bridge to agreed standards, and when we agree on a fee to pay them for this service, likewise we simply create the necessary money on paper, and pay them." "As the increased commerce requires the increased circulation to sustain that much commerce, there likewise is no inflation; and we have provided in all ways to sustain the desired commerce." "To fund the proper services of government, such as the creation of this bridge, we have no need to levy taxes or subject our people to eternal multiplication of debt." The colonial economy of course, catapulted by freedom from the inherently and irreversibly multiplying costs of usury, flourished far beyond that of the mother country — suffering at the hand of the vast political corruption necessary to and never missing from the imposition of usury. The reaction of this corrupt government was immediate. British Parliament sent Franklin back to America with an order to give up their new economy. They ordered the colonists to give up their "Continental Colonial Scrip", and forced them instead to use as currency, notes issued by the Bank "Of England." For this imposed currency, they were charged near thirty-percent annual interest. The economy crashed. A revolution broke out. Due to the destruction of history since, few now realize this was the principal reason for the revolution.

Prior to the war with England, many colonists had strong ties with friends in Europe. The governments of Europe however were threatened by the colonial uprising, particularly as the principles and objectives of the revolution could have inspired similar challenges at home. Their reaction to those sympathetic to the American cause was persecution much like we would now endure in resisting unjust taxation, usury, and taking up every such still compelling cause. Almost no European citizens dared openly support the colonial efforts... and in many cases, association with the colonists, even former associations, substantially endangered European citizens to their authoritarian governments. Most associations with Americans therefore were broken at the onset of the Revolution. In repairing such a break, Franklin later explained the real cause of the American Revolution to friends in Europe: "We would have gladly borne the little tax on tea, and other matters, had it not been that they took from us our money, which created great unemployment and dissatisfaction. Within a year, the poor houses were filled. The hungry and homeless walked the streets everywhere." Mistake not the downplay of the role of "unjust taxation" — which itself in many instances indeed referred to usury itself. The effects of imposed taxations, just as today, were minuscule in comparison to the effects of a currency subject to interest. By revolution, the colonists set themselves free from the imposition of a usury "economy." But the struggle was not over. Immediately, these same bankers attempted to subvert the formative processes of the fledgling nation. Thomas Jefferson headed much of the resistance to these efforts, which nonetheless succeeded in establishing the first "national bank(s)" here. Each was terminated after a tumultuous history of instability and corruption which pales in contrast to that of the present "Federal Reserve." SEE also: PARABLE of Perfect Economy "It's quite simple. We have created our own currency."

Thomas Jefferson was a champion of the people: "I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. Already they have raised up a money aristocracy that has set the government at defiance... If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered... The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the government to whom it properly belongs." "The modern theory of the perpetuation of debt has drenched the earth with blood, and crushed its inhabitants under burdens ever accumulating". ~ Letter to the Secretary of the Treasury Albert Gallatin (1802) and later published in The Debate Over The Recharter Of The Bank Bill (1809)

"A democracy cannot be ignorant and free." "I sincerely believe that banking establishments are more dangerous than standing armies, and that the principle of spending money to be paid by posterity under the name of funding is but swindling futurity on a large scale." "In questions of power, let no more be heard of confidence in man, but bind him down from mischief by the chains of the Constitution." "I place economy among the first and most important virtues, and public debt as the greatest of dangers. To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt." "Only lay down true principles, and adhere to them inflexibly. Do not be frightened into their surrender by the alarms of the timid, or the croakings of wealthy against the ascendancy of the people. The true foundation of republican government is the equal right of every citizen, in his person and property, and in their management. Try by this, as a tally, every provision of our Constitution, and see if it hangs directly on the will of the people." "The incorporation of a bank and the powers assumed, have not, in my opinion, been delegated to the United States by the Constitution. They are not among the powers specially enumerated." "It has always been denied by the republican party in this country, that the Constitution had given the power of incorporation to Congress. On the establishment of the Bank of the United States, this was the great ground on which that establishment was combated; and the party prevailing supported it only on the argument of its being an incident to the power given them for raising money." "Instead of funding issues of paper on the hypothecation of specific redeeming taxes, we are trusting to tricks of jugglers on the cards, to the illusions of banking schemes for the resources of the war, and for the cure of colic, to inflations of more wind." "The Bank of the United States is one of the most deadly hostilities existing against the principles and form of our Constitution. An institution like this, penetrating by its branches every part of the Union, acting by command and in phalanx, may, in a critical moment, upset the government. I deem no government safe which is under the vassalage of any self-constituted authorities, or any other authority than that of the nation, or its regular functionaries. What an obstruction could not this bank of the United States, with all its branch banks, be in time of war? It might dictate to us the peace we should accept, or withdraw its aid. Ought we then to give further growth to an institution so powerful, so hostile?" "The system of banking is a blot left in all our Constitutions, which, if not covered, will end in their destruction. I sincerely believe that banking institutions are more dangerous than standing armies; and that the principle of spending money to be paid by posterity is but swindling futurity on a large scale." "The end of democracy and the defeat of the American Revolution will occur when government falls into the hands of the lending institutions and moneyed incorporations." "If we run into such debts as that we must be taxed in our meat and in our drink, in our necessities and our comforts, in our labors and our amusements, for our callings and our creeds, as the people of England are, our people, like them, must come to labor sixteen hours in the twenty-four, and give the earnings of fifteen of these to the government for their debts and daily expenses. "And the sixteenth being insufficient to afford us bread, we must live, as they do now, on oatmeal and potatoes, have no time to think, no means of calling the mismanagers to account; but be glad to obtain subsistence by hiring ourselves to rivet their chains around the necks of our fellow sufferers. "And this is the tendency of all human governments. A departure from principle in one instance becomes a precedent for a second, that second for a third, and so on 'til the bulk of the society is reduced to be mere automatons of misery, to have no sensibilities left but for sinning and suffering. "And the forehorse of this frightful team is public debt. Taxation follows that, and in its train wretchedness and oppression." "Leave no authority existing not responsible to the people." "You have rights antecedent to all earthly governments; rights that cannot be repealed or restrained by human laws; rights derived from the Great Legislator of the Universe."

Tenacious Patriot President, John Adams: Pulitzer Prize winning author David McCullough, about his exemplary book, "John Adams" says: The American Revolution was made by British subjects, individual men and women who, by our modern sense of proportions, were amazingly few in number. The war they fought was the most important in our history, and as too few today seem to understand, it very quickly became a World war. But the revolution began well before the war. As John Adams famously observed, 'The Revolution was in the minds and hearts of the people.' And it changed the World. There was no American nation, no army at the start, no sweeping popular support for rebellion, nor much promise of success. No rebelling people had ever broken free from the grip of colonial empire, and those we call patriots were also clearly traitors to the King. And so, as we must never forget, when they pledged 'their lives, their fortunes, their sacred honor,' it was not in a manner of speaking. We call them Founding Fathers, in tribute, but tend to see them as distant and a bit unreal, like figures in a costume pageant. Yet very real they were, real as all that stirred their 'hearts and minds,' and it has meaning in our time as never before. With change accelerating all around, more and more we need understanding and appreciation of those principles upon which the republic was founded. What were those 'self-evident' truths that so many risked all for, fought for, suffered and died for? What was the source of their courage? Who were those people? I don't think we can ever know enough about them. "History records that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible, to maintain their control over governments, by controlling money and its issuance."

President James Madison: "It is proper to take alarm at the first experiment on our liberties. We hold this prudent jealousy to be the first duty of citizens and one of the noblest characteristics of the late Revolution. The free men of America did not wait until usurped power had strengthened itself by exercise and entangled the question in precedents. They saw all the consequences in the principle, and they avoided the consequences by denying the principle." Popular and courageous war-hero of the Battle of New Orleans, President Andrew Jackson toppled yet another instrument of Congressional corruption, the second "Bank of the United States" — which, incredibly, was soon established without qualification, despite the consistently adverse affairs of every such bank in history. "If congress has the right under the Constitution to issue paper money, it was given them to use themselves, not to be delegated to individuals or corporations."

President Andrew Jackson: "I am one of those who do not believe that a national debt is a national blessing, but rather a curse to a republic; inasmuch as it is calculated to raise around the administration a monied aristocracy dangerous to the liberties of the country." Not long after Thomas Jefferson stood against the central bankers at the founding of the United States, Jackson waged a heroic battle to cast away the Second Bank of the United States — a central bank styled in the very same lines as the later, so-called 'Federal Reserve' — likewise adorned with a purposed name, certainly intended to deceive the people. Jackson told the bankers in 1832, "You are a den of vipers and thieves. I intend to rout you out. And by eternal God, I WILL rout you out." And he did. But banking and contemporary "financing" as we know it today were not extinguished entirely; and they continued to seek to multiply their wealth at the ever greater expense of the nation. A great clash would soon follow in the midst of the Civil War. The whole history of progress of human liberty shows that all concessions yet made to her august claims have been born of earnest struggle. If there is no struggle, there is no progress. Those who profess to favor freedom, and yet deprecate agitation, are men who want crops without plowing up the ground, they want rain without thunder and lightning, they want the ocean without the awful roar of its many waters. This struggle may be a moral one; or it may be a physical one; or it may be both moral and physical; but it must be a struggle. Power concedes nothing without a demand. It never did and it never will. Find out just what any people will quietly submit to and you have found the exact measure of injustice and wrong which will be imposed upon them, and these will continue until they are resisted.

Frederick Douglass: "Find out just what the people will submit to and you have found out the exact amount of injustice and wrong which will be imposed upon them; and these will continue until they are resisted with either words or blows, or both. The limits of tyrants are prescribed by the endurance of those whom they oppress." "The money powers prey upon the nation in times of peace and conspire against it in times of adversity. The banking powers are more despotic than a monarchy, more insolent than autocracy, more selfish than bureaucracy. They denounce as public enemies all who question their methods or throw light upon their crimes. I have two great enemies, the Southern Army in front of me and the bankers in the rear. Of the two, the one at my rear is my greatest foe. [As a most undesirable consequence of the war...] Corporations have been enthroned, and an era of corruption in high places will follow. The money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until the wealth is aggregated in the hands of a few, and the Republic is destroyed."

President Abraham Lincoln: "The Government should create, issue, and circulate all the currency and credits needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers. By the adoption of these principles, the taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest. Money will cease to be master and become the servant of humanity." "No duty is more imperative on the Government than the duty it owes the people to furnish them with a sound and uniform currency, and of regulating the circulation of the medium of exchange so that labor will be protected from a vicious currency, and commerce will be facilitated by cheap and safe exchanges." "The available supply of gold and silver being wholly inadequate to permit the issuance of coins of intrinsic value or paper currency convertible into coin in the volume required to serve the needs of the people, some other basis for the issue of currency must be developed, and some means other than that of convertibility into coin must be developed to prevent undue fluctuations in the value of paper currency or any other substitute for money of intrinsic value that may come into use." "The monetary needs of increasing numbers of people advancing toward higher standards of living can and should be met by the Government. Government has the power to regulate the currency and credit of the nation. "Government possessing the power to create and issue currency and credit as money and enjoying the right to withdraw both currency and credit from circulation by taxation and otherwise, need not and should not borrow capital at interest as the means of financing governmental work and public enterprise. "The privilege of creating and issuing money is not only the supreme prerogative of Government, but it is the Government's greatest creative opportunity." To my thinking, President Abraham Lincoln was perhaps the most illuminated, comprehensive theorist to his time on the proper nature of currency, and proper role of government in sustaining commerce. Mathematically perfected economy can be directly deduced from his prescriptions. Lincoln is strikingly clear on the proper and practical form and role of currency. President Andrew Jackson certainly also deserves tremendous credit for his courageous stance against the imposition of usury. President Abraham Lincoln prepared for his presidency by studying mathematics. Bankers harassed Lincoln to accept an unlimited loan to finance the North against the South in the Civil War. Pondering the costs of mere evidence of debt the country could have issued to itself without interest, President Abraham Lincoln too ventured the rectification of economics. Lincoln avoided the usurious national debt the country would have been subject to ever afterward had he instead accepted the mere paper or records of debt of the bankers. He printed the money himself. Bankers and "economists" have since denounced the currency he issued as "inflationary". It was of course no more inflationary than the currency the bankers would have created at virtually no cost whatever. Lincoln's currency lacked only the "interest" by which the bankers would have profited perpetually, until and if, ever the day arrived that debt was repaid. All so much ever-multiplying profit would have been delivered in units of real production of the people, while the bankers provided no real service whatever. Lincoln was soon assassinated — from the rear.

President Andrew Johnson would now, after the vital loss of Lincoln, have to address the national debt accumulated in the misbegotten "financing" of the war beyond the prescriptions of Lincoln: "We should look at the national debt just as it is — not as a national blessing, but as a heavy burden on the industry of the country, to be discharged without unnecessary delay." Andrew Johnson, Dec. 4, 1865: An astute comment from Dick Eastman, who posted a number of these quotes on the Internet: "The only President to be impeached in the first 200 years of U.S. history — now you have a clue to the real motive."

President Woodrow Wilson: "I am a most unhappy man. I have unwittingly ruined my country. A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation therefore, and all our activities, are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the civilized World — no longer a Government by free opinion, no longer a Government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a Government by the opinion and duress of a small group of dominant men." "Every effort has been made by the Federal Reserve Board to conceal its power. But the truth is, the Federal Reserve Board has usurped the government of the United States. It controls everything here; and it controls our foreign relations. It makes or breaks governments at will. No man, and no body of men, is more entrenched in power than the arrogant credit monopoly which operates the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Banks. These evil-doers have robbed this country of more than enough money to pay the national debt. What the National Government has permitted the Federal Reserve Board to steal from the people should now be restored to the people. The people have a valid claim against the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Banks. If that claim is enforced, Americans will not need to stand in bread lines. Homes will be saved. Families will be kept. What is needed here is a return to the Constitution of the United States. The old struggle that was fought out here in Jackson's day must be fought over again. The Federal Reserve Act should be repealed; and the Federal Reserve Banks — having violated their charters — should be liquidated immediately. Faithless government officers who have violated their oaths of office should be impeached and brought to trial. Unless this is done by us, I predict the American people — outraged, robbed, pillaged, insulted, and betrayed as they are in their own land — will rise in their wrath and send a President here who WILL sweep the money changers from the temple."

Congressman Louis T. McFadden before the House of Representatives, Congressional Record, June 15, 1934, in the midst of the Great Depression: At the present time the Soviet Union is in debt. From the date of Trotsky's return to Russia the course of Russian history has, indeed, been greatly affected by the operations of international bankers. They have acted through German and English institutions and have kept Russia in bondage to themselves. Their relatives in Germany have drawn immense sums of money from the United States and have in turn financed their agents in Russia at a handsome profit. The Soviet Government has been given United States Treasury funds by the Federal Reserve banks acting through the Chase Bank and the Guaranty Trust Co. and other banks in New York City. England, no less than Germany, has drawn money from us through the Federal Reserve banks and has re-lent it at high rates of interest to the Soviet Government or has used it to finance her sales to Soviet Russia and her engineering works within the Russian boundaries. The Dnieperstroy Dam was built with funds unlawfully taken from the United States Treasury by the corrupt and dishonest Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve banks. Mr. Speaker, an immense amount of United States money has been used abroad in preparations for war and in the acquisition and the manufacture of war supplies. Germany is said to be part owner of a large poison-gas factory at Troitsk on Russian soil. China is almost completely Sovietized, and in the Asiatic interior huge stocks of munitions are said to be stored awaiting the day when the war lords of the United States will ship United States troops to Asia. Mr. Speaker, the United States should look before it leaps into another war, especially a war in Asia. It should decide whether it is worthwhile to join hands with Russia and China in a war against Japan. For myself, I say and I have said it often that the United States should remember George Washington's advice. It should mind its own business and stay home. It should not permit the Jewish international bankers to drive it into another war so that they and their Gentile fronts and sycophants by way of Louis McHenry Howe, the graftmaster, may reap rich profits on everything an army needs from toilet kits to airplanes, submarines, tanks gas masks, poison gas, ammunition, bayonets, guns, and other paraphernalia and instruments of destruction.

"It is well enough that the people of this nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning." Automaker Henry Ford, during the Great Depression.

"Let me issue and control a nation's money and I care not who writes its laws." Mayer Amschel Rothschild, European founder of one of the most powerful networks of international banks of all time. This usurers' tenet eventually manifested in the descendant, so-called Federal Reserve System — and by that system, the Great Depression and the disappearance of our monetary gold to the munitions makers of Germany — even to pay the debts of the Japanese military buildup to Germany. So many such events eventually culminate in the present securities decline and World-wide brink of insolvent indebtedness. Every "economy" of the World is verging on collapse under debt — perpetually, inherently, and irreversibly multiplied by every such system, in proportion to commerce. NO such system has ever been authorized by the people. Indeed, no such system has ever even been explained in meaningful terms, to the people. Every such system can only multiply debt in proportion to commerce, as, merely to maintain a vital circulation, we are constantly forced to re-borrow payments against principal and interest as a new sum of debt, increased so much as periodic interest. Because every such system can only multiply debt in proportion to commerce, every such system perpetually and irreversibly increases the costs to us, of our own production, at the ever greater profit of the banking establishment — until the system ultimately renders system-wide insoluble debt. No intelligent society ever has approved, or ever will approve, such a system.

"When force is the standard, the murderer wins over the pickpocket, and then that society vanishes, in a spread of ruins and slaughter. Do you wish to know whether that day is coming? Watch Money. Money is a barometer of a society's virtue. When you see that trading is done, not by consent, but by compulsion — when you see that in order to produce, you need permission from men who produce nothing — when you see that money is flowing to those who deal, not in goods, but in favors — when you see men get richer by graft and pull than by work, and your laws don't protect you against them, but protect them against you — when you see corruption being rewarded and honesty becoming a self-sacrifice — you may know that our society is doomed. Money is so noble a medium that it does not compete with guns and it does not make terms with brutality. It will not permit a country to survive as half-property, half-loot. Whenever destroyers appear among men, they start by destroying money, for money is men's protection, and the base of a moral existence." Ayn Rand

"I care not what puppet is placed upon the throne of England to rule the Empire on which the sun never sets. The man that controls Britain's money supply controls the British Empire, and I control the British money supply." Baron Nathan Mayer Rothschild

"There is wisdom from which the human mind cannot hide and to which the mind must submit. That to which the thoughtless cling breeds ignorance and disdain for truth." Plato

"Beware of the leader who bangs of war in order to whip the citizenry into a patriotic fervor, for patriotism is indeed a double edged sword. It emboldens the blood, just as it narrows the mind. "When the drums of war have reached a fervor pitch, and the blood boils with hate and the mind is closed, the leader will have no need in seizing the rights of the citizenry. Rather, the citizenry, infused with fear and blinded by patriotism, will offer up all of their rights unto the leader, and do it gladly so. "How do I know? I know, for this is what I have done." Julius Caesar

"It is sad comment that the public is so uneducated, unconcerned and blinded to the TRUTH by the media, and that the Judiciary of our once great Nation has been allowed to sink to these depths. And while I say that the conditions that exist today can be laid at one doorstep, that of the Judiciary, I must ultimately say that the fault really lies at our feet, We the People, for it is We the People who have allowed the foxes to guard the henhouse." Supreme Court Justice nominee, Robert H. Bork

"All that it takes for the triumph of evil is that good men and women do nothing." Edmund Burke

"We are idiots, babe. It's a wonder we can even feed ourselves." Bob Dylan. California Senators Barbara Boxer and Dianne Feinstein denounced him for being a gun owner and Rock Star.

After telling the senators about his contributions to children's charities and scholarship foundations which have totaled more than $13.7 million in the previous 5 years, he answered... "I'm a Bad American? This pretty much sums it up for me. I like big trucks, big boats, big houses, and naturally, pretty women. I believe the money I make belongs to me and my family, not some midlevel governmental functionary with a bad comb-over who wants to give it away to crack addicts squirting out babies. I don't care about appearing compassionate. I think playing with toy guns doesn't make you a killer. I believe ignoring your kids and giving them Prozac might. Our soldiers did not go to some foreign country and risk their lives in vain defending our Constitution so decades later you can tell me it's a living document, ever changing and open to interpretation. The guys who wrote it were light years ahead of anyone today, and they meant what they said. Now leave the document alone, or there's going to be trouble." Ted Nugent

"Do not fear the enemy, for your enemy can only take your life. It is far better that you fear the media, for they will steal your HONOR. That awful power, the public opinion of a nation, is created in America by a horde of ignorant, self-complacent simpletons who failed at ditching and shoe making and fetched up in journalism on their way to the poor house." Mark Twain

During times of universal deceit, telling the truth becomes a revolutionary act. George Orwell

"It's amazing how much panic one honest man can spread among a multitude of hypocrites." Thomas Sowell

"It does not require a majority to prevail, but rather an irate, tireless minority keen to set brush fires in people's minds." Samuel Adams

"There are a thousand hacking at the branches of evil to one who is striking at the root." Henry David Thoreau

Today, we need a nation of Minutemen, who are not only prepared to take arms, but citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as the basic purpose of their daily lives, and who are willing to consciously work and sacrifice for that freedom. John Fitzgerald Kennedy

Answer to 1996 MSNBC question: Are political reporters politically biased? Unless there is an editor or reporter with a perfectly neutral work-focus and style of presentation, then ALL reporters and editors are politically biased. Bias however, is no sensitive issue where a mature audience is apt to detect bias and account for it. The damaging aspect of 'news' coverage is its non-focus on imperative issues and qualifiable solution; and that so many citizens of all countries of the World hold to so many irrelevant snippets as if they can be served by them. For some 20 years for instance, the prospect of a 'balanced budget' occasionally draws some focus. But, in the news, and in politics, never have we seen an exhaustive proof of whether it is even mathematically possible to balance the budget under current and ever-worsening conditions. If however, World politics will ever see the solution of ever-mounting debt, and a solution of the ever greater costs of ever mounting debt, inevitably this will be through the eyes of a mathematic expression equivalent to conclusive, mathematic proof. Do the people even want to see or hear this, or administer to issues in conclusive terms? Only their focus on such a scope will tell. But certainly no news-service offers the inevitable argument. In any event, the impertinence of the audience befits the impertinence of submitted material. If they had no equally impertinent audience... all impertinent material, and all impertinent politicians, would be equally vanished. Just something to consider, as we plunge ever deeper into insoluble debt. Mike Montagne

What does Forbes know about money? Good question. Forbes is constantly putting a positive spin on EVERY consequence of what they, too, falsely call "economy."

They are an exemplary propaganda machine. Rising prices (which are costs — and especially rising financed costs, a multiple of price) are presented as profit. All you can get for your $900,000 home built in 1963 for $35,000 is another $900,000 home built in 1963 for $35,000. What you've paid in some 40 years for that stupid asses' $35K home is something like $2,000,000. And this is to your advantage? THEN, when the "housing market" collapses, they spin it as "a buyer's market." AGAIN, they paint the OPPOSITE as an ostensible advantage. Like you can get on a crashing train for less than the guy in the front car, who was just killed by what hasn't reached you yet. Mike Montagne

It is vital to understand, as the World of the capitalist untouchables crushes ours, that it is not the collapse of a thousand Enrons which brought us down. It is the nature of this adverse system which your capitalist untouchables and the money whores in politics and the media, which they own, would never have you understand. Mike Montagne

Imposition of a central banking system owned by the local banks' owners and issuing debt-usury-based money created from nothing on peoples' true free enterprise runs quite the opposite course. It takes a free running engine, and irreversibly multiplies its debt until it can run no more. That it ran in the first place, that it ran for some time, and that it improved its production at times even faster than usury imposed ever greater oppression is no testament the subject commerce can sustain itself against the multiplying costs of debt forever. In fact commerce is finite; And a system which can only multiply debt in proportion to commerce certainly is bound at some time to exceed the capacity of finite commerce to support infinite, irreversible multiplication of debt. Mike Montagne

8000 B.C. Onwards

c. 8000s: Three dimensional clay tokens (Lat. calculi) were used as counters depicting objects and abstract numbers from present day Sudan to Iran.

c. 3500: In Sumer, pictographs of accounts written on clay tablets.

c. 3000-> 2000: Development of Banking in Mesopotamia Banking originates in Babylonia out of the activities of temples and palaces which provided safe places for the storage of valuables. Initially deposits of grain are accepted and later other goods including cattle, agricultural implements, and precious metals.

c. 2250-> 2150: Cappadocian rulers guarantee quality of silver ingots The state guarantee, probably of both the weight and the purity of her silver ingots, helps their wider acceptance as money.

c. 1792-1750: Priest King Hammurabi united all of Mesopotamia under his forty-three year reign of Babylon. Although Hammurabi's Code is not the first code of laws (the first records date four centuries earlier), it is the best preserved legal document reflecting the social structure of Babylon during Hammurabi's rule.

- c. 1200: Cowries used as money in China The Chinese character for "money" originally represented a cowrie shell. Cowries have been used as money in many different places at different periods. In parts of Africa they were used for this purpose as recently as the middle of the 20th century.
- c. 640 -> 630: The first true coins produced in Lydia The earliest coins made in Lydia, Asia Minor, consisted of electrum, a naturally occurring amalgam of gold and silver.
- c. 600s: Coinage began to be circulated in the Aegean; according to Herodotus it was the Kingdom of Lydia which minted the first coins. Pythius operates as a merchant banker in Asia Minor Pythius, who operates throughout western Asia Minor; first banker in the area of Greece and Asia Minor of whom we have records.
- c. 550: During the reign of Croesus the Lydians began to produce coins of pure metal (gold and silver coins) instead of electrum. This is the World's first bimetallic coinage.
- c. 546: Athenian Owls produced; these coins are first produced by the tyrant Peisistratus, using silver from the Laurion mines 25 miles south of Athens.
- c. 406 – 405: Athens issues bronze coins with a silver coating The Athenian public hoards silver coins which, as a result, quickly disappear from circulation, leaving only the inferior bronze ones.
- c. 400-300s: The earliest Chinese coins are small bronze hoes and knives, copies of the tools that previously had been used for barter. The knife coins (Tao) were about six inches (15 centimeters) long and some bore inscriptions naming the issuer and giving the value. Hoe coins bore similar inscriptions.
- c. 390: The Gauls attack Rome The cackling of geese in the capitol, where the city's reserves of money are kept, alerts the defenders. The grateful Romans build a shrine to Moneta, the goddess of warning, and from Moneta the words money and mint are derived.
- c. 330 – 323: Empire of the Ptolemies in Egypt. For long before Egypt came under Greek control grain had been used as a form of money in addition to precious metals, and state granaries functioned as banks. The Ptolemies transform the local warehouse deposit system into a fully integrated giro system with a central bank in Alexandria. Payments are made by transfer from one account to another without moneychanging hands.
- c. 221 : China; Round money with a hole in the center was issued about the mid-3rd century, but it was not until 221 BC that the reforming emperor Shih huang-ti (221-210/209 BC) superseded all other currencies by the issue of round coins (pan-liang) of half an ounce.
- c. 200: Delos becomes a prominent banking centre Delos, a barren Greek island, capitalises on its magnificent harbour and famous temple of Apollo to become a financial centre. Its rise is aided by the defeat of Carthage, one of its main rivals, by the Romans. Transactions are carried out by giro or credit transfer.
- c. 118: Leather money issued in China This consists of pieces of white deerskin, about one foot square, with a value of 40,000 cash. (The cash was the name of a base metal coin).
- 30 BC - 14 ACE: Reign of Augustus Caesar who reforms the Roman monetary and taxation systems issuing new, almost pure gold and silver coins, and new brass and copper ones, also introduces three new taxes: a general sales tax, a land tax, and a flat-rate poll tax. The Greek bankers or trapezitai derived their name from their tables just as the English word bank comes from the Italian banca for bench or counter.

Well, the ancient Pharisees (the priest-bankers-usurers who worked from the Temple in Jerusalem) who mislead ordinary Jews, Babylonians, Romans and Greeks had similar banking activities. At that time, the sacred temples, whether Jewish or Pagan Sun-god, were the most popular place of banking operations but did not monopolize it totally. The financial activities like accepting deposits giving loans, checking and exchanging money and making remittances between different cities, to minimize the risk of carrying money were being carried out during 4th Century B.C. The Romans served their apprenticeship in the art of banking under the Greeks and altogether changed the banking procedure in most of the ancient World along with the expansion of their influence. The earliest evidence of banking is found in Mesopotamia between 3000 and 2000 B.C. when temples were used to store grain and other valuables used in trade. Babylon is credited with the birth of banking and finance at a level of sophistication that rivals our own, with the exception of the timing advantages that modern communication has allowed. "In the centuries since the era of the Mesopotamian and Greek financiers, the financial World has become increasingly complex, but the fundamental principles and tools they discovered several millennia ago have remained the root of all investment contracts." (The Ancient Financial World Financing Civilization by William N. Goetzmann History of Interest). The first evidence of interest is linked to the city of Uruk and is probably tied to the development of writing. Most of the written records from this period are contracts and financial records. The word for interest in the Sumerian language (also ancient Greek) was the same as the word for calf and explains how the concept was "born". If a herd of cattle was lent to someone for a year, there was an expectation that there would be more cattle when the year had ended. It was understood that the surplus cattle should be shared between the owner and the person who had taken care of the herd during the time period. Our knowledge of the regulation of interest rates dates back to 1800 BC, when Hammurabi established the maximum rates or ceilings that could be charged for in-kind exchanges of grain (33 1/3% per annum), silver (20%), and other commodities. The penalty for charging more than the legal rate was cancellation of the debt. It's reasonable to conclude that a practice does in fact exist before there's a need to regulate it, so the charging of interest likely predates Hammurabi's Code, sparking the centuries-long debate on lending and the charging of interest.

Ancient Rome "Usury Capital of World" along with Babylon (Bank Of Rome established in 47 AC)

Since Ancient Roman and Babylonian times usury – the lending of wealth at interest – has been one of the main causes of war and empire building. Nations such as Persia and Rome became great due to their massive debts incurred by borrowing money from wealthy nations. Later, unable to return the wealth, but rich and with great armies funded by this borrowed wealth, they soon realised a need to conquer these lending nations in order to nullify their debts. This was also the reason for the introduction of taxes, a global system which is in use right up to today. Today, most of the taxes go to pay the interest to the privately owned central banks whose owners created money out of nothing to lend to the governments. The money-changing scam did not originate in Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus' day although Yashua-Joshua-Jesus' altercation with the Temple money-changers is the most famous single event (described in the next section). Two hundred years before Yashua-Joshua-Jesus, Rome was having trouble with its Money Changers. Two early Roman emperors had tried to diminish the power of the Money Changers by reforming usury laws and limiting land ownership to 500 acres. Both were assassinated. In 48 BC, Julius Caesar took back from the Money Changers the power to coin money and then minted coins for the benefit of all. With this new, plentiful supply of money, he built great public works. By making money plentiful, Caesar won the love of the common people. But the Money Changers hated him. Some believe this was an important factor in Caesar's assassination. One thing is for sure: with the death of Caesar came the demise of plentiful money in Rome. Taxes increased, as did corruption. Eventually the Roman money supply was reduced by 90 per cent. As a result, the common people lost their lands and homes-just as has happened and will happen again in America to the few who still own their own land and homes.

Baron de Montesquieu, The Laws of Nations: "As lending upon interest was forbidden by the Gabinian law between provincials and Roman citizens, and the latter at that time had all the money of the globe in their hands, there was a necessity for tempting them with the bait of extravagant interest, to the end that the avaricious might thus lose sight of the danger of losing their money. And as they were men of great power in Rome, who awed the magistrates and overruled the laws, they were emboldened to lend, and to extort great usury. Hence the provinces were successively ravaged by every one who had any credit in Rome: and as each governor, at entering upon his province, published his edict wherein he fixed the rate of interest in what manner he pleased, the legislature played into the hands of avarice, and the latter served the mean purposes of the legislator"..."As soon as lending upon interest was forbidden at Rome, they contrived all sort of means to elude the law; and as their allies, and the Latins, were not subject to the civil laws of the Romans, they employed a Latin, or an ally, to lend his name, and personate the creditor. The law, therefore, had only subjected the creditors to a matter of form, and the public were not relieved".

The "Bank" of Rome in Vatican City was founded in 45 A.C. by Simon Magnus "the (Pharisaic) Sorcerer" when he emigrated from Jerusalem to Rome after his rebuke by Peter whom Simon tried to bribe!! When he arrived in Rome during the reign of Emperor Claudius, that city was the USURY capital of the World. A few rich families controlled all the wealth, and just like the U.S. today, these super-rich monopoly capitalists (to the Illuminati, competition is a sin, that's why they like large centralized private banks and their other businesses) owned and controlled the government. Let's not forget that THEY implemented the law of tithing and it was not Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus or anyone else... the love of money is the root of all evil, and the Roman Elites have always loved their money. Simon beguiled the Romans as he beguiled the Samaritans. He was honoured as a god in Rome and a statue was erected in his honor. In other words, it is true that all the roads of money lead to Rome!!! Some of the Samaritans were fake "Jews." They met in synagogues, observed the Passover and the other Jewish feasts etc., etc., but they were really Babylonians and money lending, USURY and loan sharking was no problem for them. They disappear from history about 600 A.C. but by that time they had completely supplanted the real true Torah Jews. Going back to very ancient Rome, there emperors always had a problem with the money changers. Two early Roman Emperors tried to put a stop to their practices by passing usury laws, and limiting land ownership to 500 acres. They were both killed. Later, Julius Caesar returned to Rome the ability to coin its own money. This made Rome prosperous and also led to his death, by the "Money-Changers".

The Babylonian Woe: Slavery, Usury, Economic Darwinism

THE BABYLONIAN WOE, A Study of the Origin of Certain Banking Practices, and of their effect on the events of Ancient History, written in the light of the Present Day is a book by DAVID ASTLE. The entire 200 page book can be downloaded from here http://download.cxs2.info/the_babylonian_woe.pdf One of the most important points found in The Babylonian Woe, by David Astle, is that MONEY was originally a very sacred object, associated with the god or goddess of a city. THAT MONEY became mixed with profane, or secular, use. The loss of that money in foreign trade for goods engendered economic hardship locally.

Slavery existed far before usury, then usury came along to fulfill its function without the need to physically enslave people. Usury is certainly not the sole introductory drug to slavery. But the modern wage slave is the product of usury insofar as the means of production has been acquired with the air money or the semblance of non tangible cash the usury generates _ entries on a spreadsheet not paper money. The prophetic definition of usury is any interest on money and morphs to interest on bonds. This cash is like the artificial ramping up of stock prices or the value of real estate to establish artificial wealth or gaming the life support system through debt and trickery. Gaming life support needs like the electric rates in California by Enron et.al. The artificial wealth is used to acquire the means of production, the privatization of the commons, and the resources of the planet like water and minerals oil etc. and the citizens are then forced into artificial of forced labor situations _ wage slavery with constantly diminishing wages. This is the engine for destiny depravation and the poverty exacerbated by migrations.

Seignorage (usury) was NOT a privilege of private individuals. The very word "money" comes from Moneta -- the goddess: The European root of the word "money" is mens, the same root from which menses , or monthly cycle, is derived. The word "money" is also derived from the Latin moneta meaning mint or money. Moneta was originally the name of the goddess in whose temple in Rome money was coined. Helen Luke, author of The Way of Woman (1972), has observed: It is significant indeed that the goddess from whose temple, from whose womb, so to speak, sprang the coinage of our civilization has sunk into obscurity and is forgotten, while the money dedicated to her, [the goddess Moneta] has acquired an ever-increasing autonomous power and is worshipped unashamedly as an end in itself. It was certainly not by chance that the Romans set their mint in the temple of a goddess and not a god—for money is a symbolic means of exchange and therefore belongs to the feminine principle of relatedness. If, therefore, the 'goddess' is missing—that third transpersonal factor which gives meaning to every exchange between human beings, (whether physical, emotional, spiritual or financial)—then [we] are in acute danger. . . .

Ultimately, regarding a national monetary system, he seems to agree with the conclusions of Stephen Zarlenga. Though I haven't read Zarlenga's book, The Lost Science of Money (which incidentally is much longer), his extensive historical survey concludes that it is an error to believe that precious metal money is more "sound" (based on the idea of a commodity store of value). The key problem for all money is almost simply whether the native, national government is in control versus "private money creative power" as Astle puts it. A good national money is sovereign-issued/debt free, but not a commodity itself.

Extracts:

"No especially deep thought is required to see that everything we describe as civilization and indeed all of its works, is the derivative of Money Power and its creation as indeed by Sovereign Power or by the activities of an International criminal caste... Law No. 7 of Hammurabai that I quote on page 9 is evidence enough. Also the proscription by Manu of the Goldsmiths who used their trade to deceive ... "The most pernicious of all deceivers is a Goldsmith who commits frauds. The Maharajah shall order him to be cut to pieces with razors..." The principal fraud being that which has appeared and reappeared throughout history, the issuance of fraudulent receipts as against Gold supposedly on deposit ... This knowledge is written deep into the memory of your people for there cannot be much doubt that it was the destroyer of Sumer. If not, why then Hammurabai's Law, a repetition of similar Laws out of much more ancient codes yet again?"

"... the foundations of the power given to them from on High towards the maintenance of the right living and tranquil procession through life, of their peoples, were the laws of distribution of surpluses..."

"... the money accumulation mania ... will surely and speedily drag any people down to degeneracy and decay."

"... this madness concealed within the much talked about conception known as progress"

"History over these last three thousand years particularly, has largely been the interweaving of both a witting, and an unwitting distortion of the truth, with all the inevitable consequences which have been expected and now [[we]] are but a little way ahead."

"Through stealthy issue of precious metal commodity money into circulation amongst the peoples, replacing that money which represented the fiat or will of the god of the city and which was merely an order on the state warehouses through his scribes, this internationally minded group from the secrecy of their chambers were able to make a mockery of the faith and belief of simple people."

"The whole notion of the institution of precious metals by weight as common denominator of exchanges, internationally and nationally, cannot but have been disseminated by a conspiratorial organization fully aware of the extent of the power to which it would accede, could it but maintain control over bullion supplies and the mining which brought them into being in the first place. Clearly such notion had originally come into being during that historically distant period when first of all free silver began to be extensively used as a convenient and highly portable commodity in settlement of balances outstanding in foreign trade"

"... long before the time of the great Hammurabai once money had come to be more of an abstract unit of account based for its value in desirable goods and services, on the barter power of a certain weight of silver bullion related to the constant value of barley, it was no major advance for those who benefited most from this conception, namely the bullion brokers and their satellites, the money changers or barkers, to find a weak ..."

"Thus in the course of the 3rd millennium there grew up in Mesopotamia a regular money economy based on precious metals as standards of exchange, which stimulated private wealth and enterprise and led to real capitalist development ."

"During the Old Kingdom in Egypt and during the earliest years of the cities of Babylonia, when 'numberings' of all accepted as wealth and possession, were taken every two years, and therefore books kept, a most refined system of distribution of surpluses and therefore creation of exchanges, must have existed..."

"... the first and most important [[undermining step]] was the establishment of internal values in the exchanges within any state to the same standard as the value of silver in the international exchanges"

"There were two ways alone by which new supplies of precious metals became available to rejuvenate a monetary circulation withering, and even disappearing from wear and tear, exportation or hoarding, with the economic collapse that such condition could bring about: one was through mining using slave labour as mining with free labour was rarely profitable, and the other was through sack and plunder."

"... in a World where treasure had become totally equated in the peoples minds with 'Wealth,' as expressing relatively large sums of the monetary unit, no sooner had one power gathered all such treasure in a given area into its store houses and safe deposits, by conquest, plunder, and sack, than such treasure, temporarily creating boom, moved on again, as likely as not to form the base of those "credits" granted by international money power towards the purchase of arms and the best of mercenary soldiers by that next power destined to arise and be the new 'conqueror'."

"Cruel private monopolization of wealth and capital grew... "

"The very fact of the stress on weight shows that [[Solonian monetary]] reforms were designed for, and perhaps only really understood by, a group that was only concerned with silver by weight; in other words, large scale movements of bullion From henceforward it is clear, the issue was to be loans to industrial workers on the security of their wages. No longer would the banks or money lenders lend to the peasantry being that now they were forbidden to bind their persons as collateral security, and sell them into slavery across the seas, in the event of non-payment; or to alienate their lands."

"... the real significance of the monetary reforms of Solon was the separation of Athens from the financial hegemony of Babylonia and its nearer agencies From now on it was going to be forbidden to Athenian merchants to settle unfavourable trade balances with slaves, and almost profitless to settle such balances with silver, either as coin or bullion. Henceforth the bankers would have to serve Athenian interests and would have to derive their profits from local business, I.E., there would be much more money circulating in Athens, and therefore a healthier industry ; which history records as being exactly what transpired."

"The Laws of the Archon Solon, by making no provision for employment for the freed debt slaves, nor providing for redistribution of the land, gave the Athenian manufacturer that labour, which he most of all needed . The Solonian ordinance offering Athenian citizenship to any free man from the countryside who came to Athens and took up a trade, further improved the labour market... The monetary reforms of Solon reducing the export of coin or bullion, gave the Athenian manufacturers the money they also needed, for they remained the only market for the 'funds' of the bankers, native or Peloponnesian; the latter having had no option but to find new lands to 'conquer, as it were, after their virtual ejection by the laws enacted under the patronage of Lycurgus of Sparta.

"Finally, it might be said that the laws of the Archon Solon were the manifestation of the growth of the Athenian principle and the rejection, compulsory or otherwise, by all classes, of the Babylonian Money Power; including that growing class, who for the time being, seeing which way the wind lay, might now be called National Money Power..."

"The tyrants were often compelled to introduce the coin economy pattern into the area over which they ruled, or at least to promote its development officially, in order to gain the upper hand over their enemies... To stabilize the position of the peasantry on the land, and to expand and rebuild state economy, a central distribution of money and goods in kind partly directed towards mercenaries, bodyguards and various political friends, and partly indirectly to the masses of poor people in the form of wages paid for extensive building operations and improvements, is characteristic of tyrant

"The opportunities clearly were for those who assisted in the monetization of the city, and all its activities and possessions, and its population, man, woman, and child, and their possessions too, and thereby assisted in the firm establishment of the rule of bankers, trade, and traders...."

"No sooner did these precious metals [[from The New World]] arrive in Spain or Portugal than almost immediately they moved on to other parts in settlement of trade debit balances created largely by the Spanish wars in Europe, particularly in Italy.

"This superfluity of the precious metals in Northern Europe certainly was one of the instigative factors, in the growth of 'Banking'...."

"Cromwell's 'Bills of Public Faith', of which very little record remains, a true currency being intrinsically valueless, state issued, and inconvertible, must have been cause for grave misgivings on the part of the goldsmiths, and all concerned, as to whether they had done right in supporting the enemies of the king! It was not long after the return to the throne of England of the Stuart Line in the person of the amenable Charles II, in 1660, that these 'Bills of Public Faith,' the real key to sovereignty, were repudiated"

"Some writers dismiss the idea of a capitalism in antiquity, but accepting definition of capitalism as the condition of the unrestricted promotion of human activity through the instrument of the driving force of that power of creation, and loan against collateral, and at interest, of the unit of exchange, or of promises of the unit of exchange as denoted by Ledger Credit Page Entry, and which function as the same thing in exchanges between persons dealing with the same banker or interlocked system of banks, very little analysis of the circumstances that gave rise to the tyrants will show that a form of 'capitalism' did exist, even if more local in character, and restricted to the individual city, or state, as a rule. The tyrant was front man towards the total monetization of the state, the land and its labour, and towards the transfer of that independent labour formerly firmly placed in the Natural Order of God-Life, to a condition of dependence on a wage of money, directed towards being able to keep on living as with the notion of being a free man."

"[[Great land-holding families]] forgot that in the absolute analysis they themselves were but stewards of a higher power. Lacking understanding, above all, of the true nature of this money as being above all their own law towards the facilitation of the exchanges amongst themselves and their people, they had been lead astray from their duty. By conniving with the bankers and their protégées the new manufacturers, to drive their own people off the land into the cities, and into the industries rapidly speeding up from the new money economy, they forgot that in their capacity as rulers, the whole land was theirs in trust to their people, and that the people therefore were expectant of them to be their guides and shepherds.... [[and thus tyranny arose]]

"The folly of these rulers in equating possession with the master moneyers trifling pieces of gold and silver dated back to those grim Kings of the Homeric Sagas or before, who, being lain in their graves at Mycenae with all their riches, thus set off on their eternal journey with that small store of gold that the crafty Babylonian money-men had trained them to regard as wealth, as opposed to the real wealth of an organized state whose money was the benevolent law of the ruler in relation to surpluses, and directed towards the good and continuing life of the people and no more.. ."

"The evil about money derives in consequence from lack of understanding of its true nature, and particularly from the confusing of money and treasure. It is the persistent failure of mankind to realize that money is but the result of agreement being arrived at amongst a sovereign people through their ruler, to provide themselves with a system of numbers by which their exchanges might be facilitated, and so help them to live a better life..."

"During the first Millennium B.C., the ratio of silver to gold never went below 10:1, being usually 13:1 in Europe and the so-called Middle East. In farther Bactria, India and China, it was rarely more than 6:1 and in some parts as low as 1:1. Therefore, once precious metal coinage was spent, particularly silver coinage, and passed into the hands of merchants, contractors, etc., finally returning to the bankers or money changers, with that field for assured profit by settlement of oriental trade balances with coined silver or silver bullion such as clearly existed, as according to Gresham's law, its local circulating volume [[VR: and velocity]] might be assumed to decrease rapidly, and without a doubt did so decrease."

"... the agents of that money power centered in Mesopotamia, heir to the secrets, not only of the Sumerian priesthood, but of the priesthood of much more ancient times, selling as they went along the idea of the use of precious metal money."

"...undoubtedly [[Alexander]] appreciated the capacity of the Jews to absorb foreign culture, while rigidly maintaining their national identity thus making them an ideal vehicle for his civilizing enterprise."

"The origin of buying and selling began with exchange . Anciently money was unknown and there existed no terms by which merchandise could be precisely valued but everyone according to the times and circumstances, exchanged things useless to him against things which were useful; for it commonly happens that one is in need of what another has in excess. But as it seldom coincided in time that what one possessed, the other one wanted, or conversely, a device was chosen whose legal and permanent value remedied by its homogeneity the difficulties of barter. This device being officially promulgated, circulated, and maintained its purchasing power, not so much from its substance as from its quantity. Since that time only one consideration in an exchange was called merchandise, the other was called price."

"Whether those devices such as governed the exchanges of early Rome and Etruria were clay or leather or wood does not really matter. As such they were true money being intrinsically valueless, and only of value because of that law which ordered their acceptance in the exchanges and that they be of value as according to their scarcity or otherwise relative to the goods and services for sale ... What would above all matter would be the ease with which they could be counterfeited, no doubt the source of their ultimate failure, and whether they were loaned into circulation by private persons against so-called collateral, or paid into circulation as against government expenses, as were the Aes Grave at a later date."

"... the opinions of all the philosophers-scholars of antiquity, at least, those of whom record exists. Almost all of them wrote of numerical or fiduciary systems of money as being the only natural systems." [[which will seem inconsistent with the next quote, but is true as "natural" here approximates most closely the proper use of money power]]

"Numisma (Money) by itself is a mere device which has value only by law (Nomos) ... By virtue of voluntary convention, Nomisma has become the media of exchange. We call it Nomisma because its efficacy is due, not to nature but to Nomos (Law) and because it is always in our power to control it."

"Thus despite at least four hundred years of control of trade by the masters of precious metal bullion, the scholars still clearly understood the actuality of money and that it was an evincement of the law. They still understood it was but so many numbers injected into a circulation amongst the people relating value to value, and not in any way influenced by the material on which these numbers as laws were recorded."

"History has proven over and over again that a precious metal coinage will move one way or another to where it might realize the most profit either as coin or bullion."

" Those states previously mentioned, understanding therefore the evils of private emission of precious metal money, and that precious metal money must always be private money emission, except the state owns the mines, and takes absolutely total precaution to prevent the export of its metal except by its own decision as against its own needs, clearly, when all other states and princes were succumbing to the World drive of the international bankers, rejected banking as such, and the bullion brokers its founders. It was not until the 4th Century B.C. that they finally gave in,"

"... right from the start it is safe to say that silver functioned as a balancing factor in oral and written agreements of merchandise exchange in Greece, actually functioning as a circulating medium itself only after King Pheidon of Argos ."

" Once the power of monetary emission is yielded by a ruler or state to private or external interests, it is rare that it can be recovered except as the result of all consuming cataclysm . Immense monopolies and vastly unequal money fortunes are neither gained nor saved by lawful labour or trade . Of necessity they are the natural outcome of the exercise of the power to discriminate, the power to reject or prefer that follows as inevitable consequence, when, in any state, private persons are permitted to create and issue the unit of exchange, whether tangible or abstract ; and by whatever device of law such as may be needed to create appearance of legality."

"...it is clear that what Athens exported, and possible some other cities in Greece where such as Pasion had branches, was, after the 'Great' Peloponnesian war, privately created capital. \(43\) Perhaps an internationally functioning unit like the Euro-Dollar, originating from that form of ledger entry money known as the "swap" deposit.

While doing the World's business, relative to the work it does, it bears little relationship to the workings of the originating financial system. Such "swap" deposit money, although it will buy a loaf of bread or, at the other end of the scale, a ship, and therefore is money as much as any other kind of money, originates free of control of governments or central banks. Such Euro-currencies "can expand by the process of money creation without infusions from oil nations or payments deficits."

[[The above footnote barely explains the euro-currency market and is not an adequate or clear explanation. Note, also euro-dollars and euro-currencies (may be denominated in yen, DM, etc.) are totally unrelated to the more recent EU common currency denoted "euro". An important topic.]]

"Precious metal coinage was currency whose total circulation the state could in no way control because of the desirability of its material internationally. In the common money market of the silver bullion brokers it was material, which, whether minted into money by state authority or otherwise, produced a money always of value regardless of local convention. Its value was dictated by the arbitrary decision of that international fraternity who controlled its mining, and the slaves that mined it, and out of manipulation of that pyramid of abstract money they created thereon, controlled the political affairs of states...

"The money that had been established in Sparta was of value to Spartans alone.... The use of this national money was the force that gave Sparta the leadership of Hellas until the end of the Peloponnesian War, even if decline had commenced with the execution of the great General Pausanias"

"The Spartan, whether poor or whether rich (in land), in the days of the national currency had been the social equal of any other Spartan; however, as much as anything , the slow decay of the Spartan principle derived from a most outstanding omission in the constitution which was total lack of provision for the redistribution of wealth at certain definite intervals, and the cancellation of debt as in the Hebrew custom of the 49th year."

"[[The]] disappearance of the precious metals from the circulation Eastward seems to have been a factor inspiring the vehemence of Cicero in his Oration: Pro Flaccus. The indignation of Cicero as recorded in this Oration may be traced to the indifference of certain persons who lived close to the Aurelian steps, to the good of the Roman State wherein they lived and whose solidarity enabled them to arrange to have mobs intimidate the proceedings of the court which heard a person, probably a member of the banking family known as the Lollii, attempt to smear the reputation of Lucius Flaccus, who, as Praetor of Syria, had issued edict forbidding this movement of precious metals Eastward for deposit at the Temple in Jerusalem."

"Thus the principles of the total hegemony of private money creative power were as clearly understood by its masters yesterday, as much as they are today."

"... just as in today 95% of all money in circulation, is cheques and assignments in transit, often written against credits granted by bankers where no actual funds previously existed, but however without which the drive and turmoil of this civilization could not have come to be, so it was in Rome and in Greece."

"... it was not until the time of Cicero that evidence appears of private persons bringing bullion to the mints, significantly coincidental with the general collapse of the ancient manners, and the essential forces that had guided Rome, as is described by Sallust."

"Such matters of state finance seem to have been well understood during the middle commonwealth. However, as a result of the second Punic war and Trasimeno and Cannae and the desperate need to rearm quickly that followed these unfortunate battles, Rome clearly had been obliged to allow the whole currency system to become based on the international valuation of silver as common denominator of values. She also had been obliged to permit the reduction of the value of the aes coinage to the value of its weight as bronze bullion relative to the arbitrary value internationally of silver bullion.

"It follows that it was only after Rome had thus surrendered much of her sovereign prerogative in money matters to the international silver bullion brokers, reluctantly, as was shown by subsequent events, that growth of liberalism, and consequent undermining of the morale of the people and their government, finally gave rise to the warlords known as the Triumvirate and the beginning of rule which might best be described as complete negation of that which had been government by decree of the senate."

"That which seems to be clear out of the fragments of information existing, is that there was no such thing as a permanent interest bearing state indebtedness until the period which may mark the beginning of the decline of imperial Rome; the significance of which is that no Roman Government ever entirely lost control of that power so essential to the maintenance of its sovereignty, the power to directly inject the unit of exchange into circulation as according to its own needs."

"Of this period until the 3rd Century A.D. the most learned Professor Heichelheim wrote : '...There were regular lending associations while usury constituted quite an important item in the legal provisions of the Corpus Iuris and the Talmud. Only State Usury was rare, for the Roman State was still in a supreme position. At the most, autonomous areas were the only exceptions here. Large interest free loans advanced to the state by individual citizens or chance patrons for reward in the form of honours or other more indirect advantage, were quite frequent up to the 3rd Century A.D...' "

"However, it may reasonably be assumed that even during the period of the Commonwealth and the true greatness of the Roman people, though Roman Government had endeavored to monopolize all sources of the material of its tangible currency, and had prevented as much as possible the circulation of precious metal, which clearly would undermine the integrity of the state issued unit of exchange, the grandiose aes, it still could not prevent counterfeits from entering the circulation. It could not prevent the corrupt practices of oriental banking after the extensive reentry of silver into the circulation as a result, clearly, of concessions made to the international bullion traders during the 2nd Punic war, nor thereafter the functioning of Gresham's so-called law which such entailed. . . 'Bad money drives out the good'; which, of course, depends on what is bad and what is good! Nor, therefore, could it control the extent in absolute, right across the Roman Empire, of the activities of that underground that garnered the precious metal from the circulation for more profitable use elsewhere."

"As a consequence of the rejection by growing and powerful states such as Rome of the early and middle commonwealth of the claim of silver bullion interests that all tangible money should be founded on their product as base and common denominator of values, and the creation and paying into circulation of their own tangible money, with value deriving from its scarcity or otherwise, using largely copper or bronze as the material on which its numbers were recorded, as previously pointed out, much copper or bronze that came the way of the international bullion brokers would, undoubtedly have been used in what must have been an extensive industry devoted to counterfeiting of these fiduciary currencies. The product of this industry which would have been carried on abroad no doubt, while yielding handsome profit, through disturbance of that mass of abstract money based on the tangible currencies into which such products would have been injected, would also create instability of price in the states concerned."

Analysis of the remarks of Demosthenes: "...'In ancient days' says Demosthenes 'everything that belonged to the state was costly and splendid, and no individual distinguished himself from the multitude; and the proof of it is, that if any of you know the houses of Themistocles and Miltiades, and the famous men of that time, he will see that they are not more magnificent than those of other people; but the buildings and construction of the State were of such size and number, that it is not in the power of succeeding generations to surpass them--the Propylaea, the Docks, the Porticoes, the Piraeus, and other works with which you see the city adorned ! But now all who are concerned in the management of public affairs have a superfluity of riches, that some have built private houses more magnificent than many public edifices and some of them have purchased more land than all of you who are sitting in the court are together possessed of; but your public buildings and works, it is disgraceful to tell how scanty and contemptible they are. What indeed can be said of your works? What of the parapets we throw up? of the roads we construct and the fountains and trifles at which we labour?' ...Thus speaks the ardent enthusiast for the happiness and fame of his country; his speeches of admonition might with a few alterations be adapted to the present age, in which such vast sums have been squandered away without producing anything useful or durable."

"... via the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, otherwise designated 'The World Bank', knowing no master on this earth other than God or the Devil, as the case might be, and with advent of the settlement of international trade balances paper gold, as the final deceit, these secret classes behind it all, well might believe that the total of human activity, whether as towards War or Peace, depended on their instigation alone."

<http://raenergy.igc.org/slavery.html> From slavery to migratory labor to destiny deprivation... <http://raenergy.igc.org/migration.html>

Usury, as the tool of the money changers, is where they literally print money via debt and usury and call it banking. There is no intrinsic value in air money any more than trade beads. This system is propped up by the privately owned and operated central banks like the Federal Reserve. The usury or interest and dividends on invested currency is the down fall of civilization when the whole thing comes to Ponzi _ humanity is now left holding the bag and the core investor group has the means of production and the ownership of the planet simply because they were able to game the system better than others. Los Vegas for life support or even arm wrestling for each others possessions. When we switch to TIME, humanity is the winner _ win win for all on earth and the human race ceases to be a contest. We all have aright to be here _ getting a life only if we can afford it is a moot point.
<http://raenergy.igc.org/codices.html>

Economic Darwinism lends itself to the Economy of the money changers which is the agenda of wanabe slave owners. "The Economy" is the scoring system on the gaming of life support. <http://raenergy.igc.org/cachsl.html>

The Middle East Wars have a hidden agenda. The Muslims have a huge portion of the Earth's population under anti USURY laws. The Muslims are the last hold out against usury and the target of organized usury-money etc.. <http://raenergy.igc.org/1sttheinvestorsstupid.html> . The ongoing 4000 year exercise in the Middle East began with the Abrahamic experiment. The idea of a Text documenting the trials and tribulations of the descendants of the Abraham brothers Ishmel and Isaac _ Abraham and Isaac a command performance. It shows the fallacy of veering from the universal cosmic sense of coexistence _ transcending from what is to what ought. The experiment of curtailing usury via Jubilee are MEME's placed in the Tests or Bible to facilitate..... <http://raenergy.igc.org/globalpalistine.html> The redistribution of TIME becomes the universal currency for the children of the universe who like the trees and the stars have a right to be here. <http://raenergy.igc.org/universalcurrency.html> .The paradigm shift is from spirituality to how to build-retrofit cities.... <http://raenergy.igc.org/index2.html>

Babylon (Nimrodian)/Sumeria 3,000 Years Ago: City of Gold

Some may have read about Nimrod's (son of Cush) immense wealth and Prophet Abraham's encounters with Nimrod (Namrood) in the Bible and the Qur'aan. The concept of money and credit creation was developed in ancient Babylon. Before there was money, there was credit. Credit preceded the coining of money. Historical documents dating back to the Sumerian civilization, circa 3000 B.C., reveal that the ancient World had developed a formalized system of credit based on two major commodities, grain and silver. Before there were coins, metal loans were based on weight. Archaeologists have uncovered pieces of metal that were used in trade in Troy, Minoan and Mycenaean civilizations, Babylonia, Assyria, Egypt and Persia. Before money loans came into existence loans of grain and silver served to facilitate trade. Silver was used in town economies, while grain was used in the country. For nearly 2,500 years throughout Sumerian and Babylonian history, the rate of interest on grain and silver loans remained constant. The customary rate of interest on a barley loan was 33 1/3% and for a loan of silver it was 20%. Although interest rates would occasionally vary, the legal maxima embodied in the Code of Hammurabi, established 33 1/3% per annum on loans of grain and 20% on loans of silver. These rates lasted for more than 2,500 years.

SUMMARY OF MESOPOTAMIAN INTEREST RATES 3000 - 400 B.C.

| Dates B.C. | Normal Rates % | | Legal Maxima % | |
|-------------------------|----------------|-----------|----------------|-----------|
| | On grain | On silver | On grain | On silver |
| Sumer | | | | |
| 3000-1900 | 33 1/3 | 20 - 25 | | |
| Babylonia | | | | |
| 1900-732 | 20 - 33 1/3 | 10 - 25 | 33 1/3 | 20 |
| 732-625 | 20 - 33 1/3 | 10 - 20 | 33 1/3 | 20 |
| 625-539 | ? - 20 | 10 - 20 | 20 | 20 |
| Fifth-fourth centuries | | 40 (?) | | |
| Assyria | | | | |
| Ninth-seventh centuries | 30 - 50 | 20 - 40 | | |
| Persia | | | | |
| Sixth century | 40 | 40 | | |

Homer, Sidney & Sylla, Richard, A History of Interest Rates 3rd Ed. Revised, Rutgers University Press, New Brunswick, 1996, p31; Jim Puplava
www.financialsense.com

Once relative values were placed on commodities (like cattle, grains or craft), silver and gold became established as a store of values and a convenient means of exchange. In order to guarantee the safety of the wealth and treasure of his Babylonian citizens, Nimrod, the priest-king, offered the temple vaults and protection of the gods as security. Observing that the bulk of deposits remained in the vaults at any one time, he developed the lucrative concept of Fractional Reserve Banking. This device was the key to unparalleled prosperity and unbounded influence. Nimrod explained and franchised his scheme to certain illuminated Adepts, (today's bankers) who were licensed to take deposits and lend gold from the temple vaults at around 20% interest. Nimrod's next innovation (in addition to Masonry) was to issue clay tablet receipts in the value of the gold, and sealed with the high priest's signet as legal tender - precursor of today's paper money. Safer and easier to carry than bullion, it quickly gained acceptance and still has ancient Babylon's mark upon it.

Money was used by the ancient Babylonians (modern day Iraq). With the implementation of hard money and budding trade and commerce, Babylon became the center of World power and wealth – a city of gold. It's interesting that while Babylon attained prominence with a stable currency, it attained grandeur after it began to debase its money. King Nebuchadnezzar devised a scheme where he leveraged the kingdom's gold to create much greater wealth. He issued IOUs – loaning out at interest the great wealth from Babylon's treasury. The monetary stimulation doubled and then tripled the empire's wealth, producing the World's first economic boom. But as the debt swelled, so did the claims on Babylon's wealth. Foreign claims from imports rose as well as domestic claims, exceeding the treasury's gold. Still the IOUs circulated. After a time, the swollen volume of debt caused people to demand more currency for their goods and labor. Inflation was in full swing. Even as it took more money to buy the same goods, Babylon seemed to be economically stable. The treasury had lots of silver, and adroitly King Merodach-baladan extracted himself from the situation by declaring the value of silver equal to gold. For a period, Babylon advanced on a currency of silver equivalent to gold. But an uneasy feeling that this situation was not quite right caused people to demand silver faster than they had demanded gold. Soon there was no silver in the currency. So copper was proclaimed to have value equal to silver. This didn't work because copper was in far greater supply than silver. Money began losing its value, and confidence began to fall. Babylon's wealth had been the foundation for its society. The economic crisis led to a civil war which further debased the currency since war is unproductive unless it leads to the capture of more wealth which can then be used to uphold the value of the currency. The empire drowned beneath a tidal wave of debt.

Babylonian Brotherhood and The Commercial Maritime Laws

In chapters 17 &18 of Revelation in the Bible it is Revealed that a particular Religious Jurisdiction is recognizable as a "Great Prostitute" who "Rules over the Kings of the Earth" through the use of "Deception", "Magic", & "Merchants". This "Great Prostitute" who uses Deceptive Magic is clearly labeled therein as "BABYLON" and referred to as "The Synagogue of Satan" by Yashua-Jesus-Issa. The word Babylon translates as "confusion". With reference to such reputable modern textbooks as "Historical Jurisprudence" by Guy Carlton, Lee; of Johns Hopkins University in 1922; Babylon's Religious Priesthood is commonly recognized as the source of the modern so called "Laws of Commerce". These "Laws of Commerce" are shown to be a specific body of Codes which authorize the Administration of Compelling Force in Efforts to uphold Contracts, mostly for Payments of Debts. The ancient Babylonian Priests were involved because Contracts were deemed to be a form of "Oath" entered into by the contracting parties; & the approval of the ancient gods of idolatry were invoked so as to more effectively legitimize the entire process in the minds & the consciences of the contracting parties & all public witnesses.

These Babylonian Religious Codes recognized the ability to buy & sell contracts between merchants in "Commerce". They bought & sold "slaves & the souls of men". Under this system of Babylonian Codes, contracted-debtor-people were Forcibly Compelled to perform the contract regardless of conscientability, or who was the contract-creditor. This Babylonian Religious Commercial Code embodied a sub-codification which is modernly recognizable as "Master-Servant Relationships", which are also the source of modern Employer-Employee Codes. It is under the Babylonian Religious Code that "Temporary Slavery" is facilitated. People were not recognized as people thereunder were "items in Commerce". The Slave could be arrested for not showing up for work on time. Textbooks say that "The slave is not regarded or spoken of as a man, but as a thing, and is reckoned in the same way as cattle" ... "Of ... these Rome was ... possessed from the earliest period..." ("Historical Jurisprudence" - Lee). We can relate this to the Babylonian Talmudic philosophy, wherein the Talmudists are pictured as the masters and the gentiles as the slaves or cattle. History seems to tell that many Israelites had been captured into Slavery in Babylon, but by the time of Yashuah-Jesus-Issa, many had returned. The Babylonian Commercial Merchant Codes seemed to infect Israelite society led by the Pharisees whom Yashuah-Jesus-Issa denounced at the same time, and the Pharisees undermined greatly the Godly Principles of the Mosaic Law. Hence we have the True-Torah Jews today who denounce the Pharisaic Zionists who pretend to be Israelites Judeans. The Pharisees had schools in Babylon "from soon after 586 before the Christian era to the year 1040 after the Christian era - 1626 years."

Here J.H. Hertz (Chief Rabbi - 1934) reveals the source of the material which is Codified within their "Babylonian Talmud" <http://www.come-and-hear.com/talmud/>. This is that source-repository from which the modern Talmud draws its historical roots. J.H. Hertz (Chief Rabbi) & others of the same belief are all comfortable referring to it amongst themselves as the "Babylonian Talmud". He states: "The style of the Babylonian Talmud ... is at no time "easy reading".". As the name signifies, the "Babylonian Talmud" contains much of the Commercial Slave-Trading Mercantile Codifications of "Master-Servant Relationships" which originated in Babylon, and also known as Maritime laws. The "Babylonian Talmud" refers to those not of the Pharisaical Faith as "Goim" or "Gois", which translates to be "Human Cattle". This is just as the textbooks refer to the Babylonians considering their Slaves. Though direct citations are thin in eluding to Slavery itself, the "Babylonian Talmud" does set forth some such evidence showing clearly that non-Pharisees are to be treated with all of the "Contempt" of Slaves. "All things pertaining to the Goim are like desert, the first person to come along & take them can claim them for his own." Babha Bathra 45. It is permitted to deceive a goi." Babha Kama 113b. And though citations are not clear that this is directly from the Talmud, Pharisaical Literature at A. Rohl. Die Polem. P.20 states "TP.20 states "The Life of a Goi & all his physical powers belong to a Jew." And articles published by Henry Ford's newspaper, the Dearborn Independent in 1920 - 1922 discuss the "Kol Nidre" as a Pharisaical: "prayer, named from its opening words, "All vows", " (kol nidre). It is based on the declaration of the Talmud: "He who wishes that his vows & oaths shall have no value, stand up at the beginning of the year & say: 'All vows which I shall make during the year shall be of no value.'

The list goes on & on. Coke & others have defined these People who pretend to be Israelites Judeans as "Infidels", precisely because History has clearly shown to the more reputable men that the "Oath" of such others means nothing to them. They cannot be "Bound" by "Conscience", & they habitually "Lie" at every turn which may serve their own self-serving interests or those of their "Synagogue of Satan" as referred to by Yashua-Jesus-Issa at Revelation 2:9 & 3:9. This is the nature of their "Law", among these would-be Slave Masters. They cannot be expected to be bound to tell the truth to those other people whom they feel entitled by the Authority of their Evil god to control such unsuspecting other men as Slaves. Such "Infidels" were expelled from almost every country in Europe between the 13th & 15th centuries for this precise reason of their tenacious adherence to this Babylonian Master-Slave system of Human Conduct Codes, & their relentless lying & deceit. The Sadducees apparently stood strong against this corrupting influence, but their days were numbered, for after the destruction of the Temple by Rome in 70 AC, the religious belief system of the Sadducees had met genocide & extinction. The Pharisees (on the other hand) were conspicuously left in the position of authority over all Jews who did not profess Christianity. And you will note that the Pharisees have survived every war, amassing more and more wealth.

The Jewish Encyclopedia: (1905 Page 665) shows that the ancient Religion of the Pharisees have been in continuous total control of what is fashionably recognized as the "Jewish Religion", ever since the destruction of Solomon's Temple. "With the destruction of there Temple ...Henceforth, Jewish life was regulated by the teachings of the Pharisees ... Pharisaism shaped the character of Judaism & the life & thought of the Jew for all the future." In other words, the Pharisaic Babylonian Talmudists hijacked True-Torah Judaism. With the extinction of the Sadducees, the only Jewish entity which thereafter stood in opposition to the Pharisees & their Babylonian Codified Talmud were the Christians. The powers in Rome were Compromised by this influence. As revealed elsewhere, this Religion of the Pharisees continues to this day under their self-proclaimed banner of "Judaism" or "Jews". They are not true "Jews" but rather they are of the "Synagogue of Satan", precisely as Revelation 2:9 & 3:9 state. They merely proclaim such out of strategy to effect their purpose. Approximately 95% of them are not even of the "Semitic" bloodline, but rather are of European Russian/Northern Turkic Ashkenazi/Khazar background/race. They adopted the Pharisaical-Babylonian Talmudian Religion in about the year 350 or so, out of convenience. They know this but they scream "Anti-Semitic" with spine chilling fervor whenever it suits their evil agenda. Modern descendants of these same Pharisees look to the same "Babylonian Talmud" code of Master/Slave Laws as the principle source for written guidance as a Code of Conduct for their lives, and in fact are working to impose these laws completely throughout the World.

Textbooks show plainly that Rome is the source of English & American Civil Law. Civil Law is recognized in Black's Law Dictionary as synonymous with "Municipal Law". Rome is well recognizable as an Aggressively Warring & Conquering nation. Textbooks say that the conquered cities "were compelled to pay the war-tax" ... "a town thus treated was known as a muni-cipum or "burden-holder".". Many of the conquered peoples were reduced to Salves. The Roman merchants engaged in much Slave Trade. They established Slave-markets. Contracts exchanged hands among merchants for the delivery of Slaves. The Codes which governed these contracts for Slaves was based on the same Codes which the Babylonians had developed. "Of ... these Rome was ... possessed from the earliest period ... ". ("Historical Jurisprudence" - Lee). Such Babylonian Master/Slave so-called "Law" is modernly still recognizable under either term of "Civil" or "Municipal" Law. The majority of reputable Biblical Scholars recognize Rome to be the 6th head of the 7 headed "Beast" described in Revelation upon which the "Great Prostitute" sat & which was in existence at that time of Yashuah-Jesus-Issa, the Civil/Military government of Rome. The 7th head is similarly recognized as then prophesying of our modern Anglo-American Civil/Military government. The Norman Conquest over the Anglo-Saxon/Celtic people of England in 1066 is vastly under-rated in its significance to understanding modern considerations of good government. From Rome, it had the "Solemn Blessings of the Pope". The Pharisical system of "Babylonian Talmudian" based "Commercial Law" was at that time Forcibly Imposed over the Christian-Common Law English People. An article in "The Georgetown Law Journal" V. 71, P 1179 - 1200) "The Shetar's Effect on English Law" by Judith A. Shapiro sheds much light:

"The Pharisical Jews, whom the Normans brought to England ...brought a refined system of commercial law: their own form of commerce & a system of rules to facilitate and govern it. ... Several elements of historical Jewish legal practice have been integrated into the English legal system. Notable among these is the written credit agreement - shetar, or starr, as it appears in English documents. The basis of the shetar, or "Jewish Gage," was a lien on all property (including realty) that has been traced as a source of the modern mortgage. Under Jewish law, the shetar permitted a creditor to proceed against all the goods and land of the defaulting debtor. ... Jewish law that debts could be recovered against a loan secured by "all property, movable and immovable" was a weapon of socio-economic change that tore the fabric of feudal society and established the power of liquid wealth in place of land holding. ... Jewish Law, wherein personal debt superseded rights in real property had become the law of the land." Fooootnote 11: H.C. Richardson, The English Jewry Under Angevin Kings 94 (1960) (Jews liquidation of land obligations broke down rigidity of feudal land tenure and facilitated transfer of land to new capitalist class.). Footnote 15: CF. 1 F. Pollock & F.W. Maitland, supra note 3 at 469... (alien to English law for creditor not in possession of land to have rights in it)." The Pharisees worked with the Normans under the "Blessing of the Pope" of Rome & its Roman Civil Municipal Codes, all so as to establish this "weapon of socio-economic change that tore the fabric of the society of the Anglo-Saxon/Celtic peoples. These are words of Ms Shapiro as they appear in the Georgetown Law Journal. The aggressively warring nature of that Babylonian-Talmudian based Code of Pharisical Conduct is not in question among that circle of scholars. It is a body of Slave/Master Codes. It "tears at the fabric" of that society which it targets.

The "Shetar" is a corruption of the word "Star" & refers to the famous "Star Chamber Courts". "The name star chamber ... has been thought to be ... because the roof was originally studded with stars, because the Jewish covenants (called starrs or stars ...) were originally kept there." Boviers 1860. "Starr or starra. The old term for contract or obligation among the Jews, being a corruption from the Hebrew word "shetar", a covenant, ... & Blackstone conjectures that the room in which the chests were kept was thence called the "Star-Chamber"." "Star Chamber: A court which originally had jurisdiction in cases where the ordinary course of justice was so much obstructed by one party... that no inferior court would find its process obeyed. ... In the reign of Henry the 8th, & his successors, the jurisdiction of the court was illegally extended to such a degree (especially in punishing the kings' arbitrary proclamations) that it became odious to the nation, & was abolished." Blacks 5th: These courts of Pharisical Commercial Master/Slave Codes became heinous in part for their "Secret Proceedings" & their infliction of "Cruel & Unusual Punishments" that they were abolished. They were the essence of the so called Equity Jurisdiction. It was all run by Chancery Priests, & referred to in deceptively as "Courively as "Courts of Equity", the only thing being "Equal" about them is that all Conquered "Slaves" thereunder are treated more or less Equally. "Courts of Chancery" is a more honest name, as it was great "Chance" taken to go before such. "The whole of equity jurisprudence prevailing in England & the United States is mainly based on the civil law", so says Boviers Law Dictionary of 1868. "Civil Law" is from Rome. There was no "Equity Jurisprudence" in England prior to the Norman Conquest. The Norman Conquest had the "solemn approval of the Pope" of Rome according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Other sources conform the Roman Popes support & blessing.

The conclusion to Reasonable Men is that the Norman's "War of Aggression" was jointly backed by the Pharisees & the Pope of Rome, so as to Forcibly Impose the Roman Civil/Municipal Codes of Babylonian- -Talmudian based Master/Slave relations. These were mere Tools for Slave Control which was early imposed by Evil Men with great influence within the Pharisical & Catholic religious communities. Any Truly Godly Spirituality which may have existed within either of those religious organizations was most assuredly bound & gagged by the more powerful forces of Evil therein at the times of the Norman Conquest, and As at the Crusades, and As at the Inquisition, and as in all European wars, and as in today's wars. These entities have very bad track records. Evil men aggressively made Religious War against the Christian/Common-Law - Anglo-Saxon/Celtic Peoples of England in 1066. The "Babylonian-Talmud" was completed well before the Norman Conquest of 1066. It's all the same basic Master/Slave Commerce form of Code of Human Conduct. It all treats living breathing People as "Merchandise" in Commerce to be bought & sold as those "Slaves & the Souls of Men" as referred to in Revelation 18:13. This entire body of Codified Human Conduct is all so amorally lacking in fidelity to the Supreme Laws of "Love of Neighbor" from God-YHVH-Eloa-Allaha-Allah as taught by Yashua-Jesus-Issa as to be clearly a policy of the "Synagogue of Satan" as referred to at Revelation 2:9 & 3:9. It is easy to summarize that this is that precise same Code of Human Conduct of which the Pharisee "Money-Changers" were using to corrupt the Temple in Jerusalem, & of which Yashua-Jesus-Issa overturned their tables & drove them out. It is easy to summarize that this is the Code of Conduct upon which the Pharisees moved to whip up the mob into such a fervent state of Anarchy as to abort "Due Process of Law" & to have attempted to have Yashua-Jesus-Issa Lawlessly nailed to a cross.

This Code of Conduct embodied within the "Babylonian Talmud" is very large, but it contains specific portions which are designed to "Tear at the Fabric" of the society which is its target. These are the words of Ms Shapiro, as set forth in the Georgetown Law Journal. This is not the wording of "Anti-Semitic Right Wing Extremists". Ms Shapiro's term "Tear" is specifically used to denote that process which obliterated the "Fabric of ... Society", as it had existed prior to that War of Aggression. It would seem Reasonable to conclude that this is a Code of Human Conduct based on "Terrorism". Certainly the word "Tear" seems related to "Terrorism". Certainly the Anglo-Saxon/Celtic Christian People were greatly fear-traumatized by the forcible imposition of this "Babylonian Talmud" based Code of Human Conduct. The wording of Ms Shapiro reasonably seems to be an acknowledgment that "Terrorism" was used by the Normans & the Pharisees "who call themselves Judahites" as a matter of policy under that Code of Human Conduct known as the "Babylonian Talmud". This entire body of Roman Civil Law is based upon "Contracts", & it was early incorporated into what was known as English "Law Merchant", which many fine scholars have confused as being a true part of the English "Common-Law". Such happened only after corrupting influence of the Norman Conquest. Contracts are only enforceable in Courts of so-called "Equity". "Equity" jurisdiction was allowed to enter into American Jurisprudence by way of Article 3 Section 2-1 of the U.S. Constitution. Much Evil has worked its purpose in this land by way of that compromise of Godly Principles. However, Equity is purged from all of its authority to adjudicate anything if proper "Due Process of Law" is invoked; as such process is set forth in Beacon Theaters v Westover. This modern essence of "Law" allows Americans to free themselves by "Due Process of Law" from the Babylonian Master/Slave jurisdiction of so-called "Equity".

Abraham Tangles with Nimrod \(worshipped by Masons\) at Babylon circa 2000 BCE

Prophet Abraham confronted King and enslaver Nimrod at Babylon (near modern day Baghdad). Babylon is the place where secret societies arose and where the money-masters Pharisees later corrupted true-Torah Judaism into Babylonian Talmudism/Kabbalism.

Cabal. cabella, CABALA, as small group of persons joined in secret, often political intrigue, to join in a cabal; plot —Webster's New World Dictionary, Third College Edition

Cabal: (1) Powerful group of Ministers in the court of Charles II of England, known by their acronym (Clifford, Ashley, Buckingham, Arlington, Lauderdale), who were corrupt and endlessly plotting; (2) by analogy, any political intrigue group. This latter term was also influenced by the word "Cabala" with its implications of secrecy and magic. —Ultimate Science Fiction Web Guide

Cabalism. [Satanic] occult doctrine based on the Cabala; any occult doctrine —Webster's New World Dictionary, Third College Edition

Cabala. caballa, [Babylonian] kabala, received lore, tradition; an occult philosophy of certain [apostate Pharisee] Jewish rabbis [developed in Babylon], esp, in the Middle Ages, based on a mystical interpretation of the Scriptures; any esoteric or secret doctrine.

Prophet Abraham (Ibrahim) means "father of many". A descendant of Prophet Noah, Abraham is the ancestor to a number of Semitic (descendants of Shem-Sem Noah's first son, thus Sem-ites) Middle-Eastern and Eurasian (Arabs and Israelites, Hebrews and Judeans, and several others, but not to be confused with the European Khazars who converted to Talmudism/Cabbalism/Phariseeism or Fake-Judaism) and has religious significance for three major World religions (Judaism, Christianity, and Islam). After Prophet Noah's Flood, secret societies arose in Babylon through the knowledge transplanted by Ham (Noah's second son; other three sons were Sem, Yafith, and Yam-Kenaan who perished in the flood), whose son, Cush (also known as Hermes), claimed to be the interpreter of the gods. Cush was the original ring leader who led the people away from the one true God and as the "interpreter of the gods" enticed them to take another form of religion. Cush, was the father of the idolatrous-polytheistic and trinitarian systems, so when men were deified by men, he became Bel-Baal-Sun god whom the Romans called Janus and Chaos, the father of the gods. He is pictured as having two faces and he carried a club by which he confounded and "scattered" the people. Thus, four millennia ago, in Sumerian times after Noah's ancient flood in Mesopotamia, humanity again was stooped to polytheism and moral degeneration in the helm of material progress. Cush encouraged the masses to build the tower of Babel which his son Nimrod (Namrood) actually built later. This encouragement brought the confusion and division of men, so that he was both, "interpreter and confuser". The word "Babylon" translates as "confusion" in English.

Moses, the Israelites and their golden calf Apostasy circa1446 BCE

Hathor: Apis bull depicted in this Egyptian statuette (right) is likely to be the pattern used for the golden calf the Israelites made at Mount Sinai (Exo. 32), since they were undoubtedly quite familiar with it as a result of their long captivity in Egypt. In front of the sun disk and horns, which look virtually identical to some Catholic monstrances, there is the serpent poised to strike. In Scripture the serpent is symbolic of Satan. (Gen 3, Rev. 12:9)

The Prophet Moses confronted the Pharaoh of the time who had enslaved the Israelites (descendents of the Prophet Jacob, son of Isaac, son of Abraham). However, after the Israelites escaped their captivity, they were again swayed by the Babylonian Pharisees and reverted to worshipping idols and the golden calf after the Pharisees collected all the Israelites' gold. This event is known as the Apostasy of Israel and the Cherubim. "Thou shalt have no other gods before me. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth." "Ye shall not make with me gods of silver, neither shall ye make unto you gods of gold." (Ex.20: 2, 3, and 23).

Judaism Corrupted into Babylonian Talmudism circa 586 BCE

True-Torah Judaism was originally based on Moses' vision of God as a universal moral force. The Sadducees upheld this view but the Pharisees overthrew them in a civil war in 79 BC. The remnants of the Sadducees, "Torah Jews" still cling to Moses and the Old Testament but they are a minority (5%). Phariseeism is based on the Babylonian Talmud, which consists of the interpretations of "sages" during the Babylonian exile 586 BC to 1040 AC. Generally speaking, the Babylonian Talmudists contradict the spirit of Moses and take precedence over the Torah. They have been using the name of Judaism as a shield against their banking/money monopoly since ancient times. And as you will see later, the majority of Jews today are not Israelites, i.e. 90% are from Southern Russia/Northern Turkey and known as Ashkenazi/Khazar whose elite symbolically converted to Babylonian Talmudism in the 8th Century AC. More on this later.

Greece 2,500 Years Ago

Five hundred years later, the city-states of Greece were issuing metallic coins, the silver obol. After Sparta captured the Athenian silver mines around 400 B.C., Athens was faced with a grave shortage of coins. Over the next couple of decades, Athens issued bronze coins with a thin plating of silver. The shortage was made even worse as citizens hoarded the old coins and spent the new. It was the World's first experience of what has become known as Gresham's Law: Bad money drives out good money. Among the earliest and most popular of the Persian coins was a series known as archers because on the obverse they depicted the emperor armed with spear, bow and arrows. The mainland route from Asia to Greece lay through Thrace and Macedon, kingdoms of such minor importance that they were simply bought off by the Persian archers. Hence the boast of the Persian emperor "I will conquer Greece with my archers" was something of a pun - intentional or otherwise. The Persian boast was not fulfilled and part of the reason for this is that around 490 BC a particularly rich seam of silver was struck in the Laurion mines some 25 miles south of Athens and some of the proceeds from this were saved by the Athenians, after powerful persuasion from Themistocles, and used to build the fleet which destroyed the Persians under Xerxes at the battle of Salamis in 480 BC. Thus Greek civilization was saved from being strangled on the eve of its greatest triumphs. Later the Macedonians opened up a number of new mines and began minting coins on a large scale. Some of these commemorated the triumphs of their king, Philip, in the Olympics (an example of how coins were used in the ancient World as instruments of propaganda). The quantity of coins minted by Philip was far in excess of the normal requirements of the Greeks and Macedonians. Therefore, when Alexander the Great inherited the throne he had a large financial reserve to pay for the initial stages of his campaign against the Persians. By the time Alexander's army was fully engaged in Asia the cost was about 20 talents or half a ton of silver a day! This shows how important his father's preparations were to the success of his campaign. Later on Alexander captured immense quantities of Persian gold and silver, much of which was then turned into coins by the mints he also captured, and so his war became self-financing.

Ancient Greece and Rome 700 B.C.

The Romans made a point of keeping the commonly used money strictly worthless intrinsically – coins of bronze – a mixture of copper, tin, with a little lead. This was introduced by Rome's second king, suggestively called Numa (718-672 BC). In this way they were insulated from the influence of the Middle Eastern powers who coined gold and silver as their money.... Gold and silver could be traded in Rome as merchandise, but the ability of the eastern temples or merchants to control and disrupt Rome's money was greatly reduced by the Numa innovation. The fate of Greece was partly determined by the orientation of its money. Greece faced east; Rome faced west. It was only during the Punic Wars that the powerful defence thrown up by its bronze currency against foreign monetary intervention was sapped. J.W. Frazer's Golden Bough tells how in 204 BC, after enduring 16 years of Hannibal's rampage and 70 to 100 thousand dead, the war-weary and desperate Romans were seduced by a prophecy concocted from the Sibylline books: 'The foreign invader would be driven from Italy if the Oriental Goddess, the Phrygian "Mother of the Gods" were brought to Rome. The small black stone which embodied that mighty divinity (Kybele) was conveyed to Rome. In the very next year Hannibal embarked for Africa. The Phrygian Goddess' sanctuary was established on Palatine Hill. Some have argued that the cultic success in ridding Italy of Hannibal threw open the gates of Rome to a variety of Eastern cults. But the warfare had already helped bring down the money system and Roman justice with it.

"The 'commodification' of Rome's money system dramatically accelerated the emergence of a plutocracy – a ruling order based on wealth. 'By the time of the 2nd Punic War there were already significant accumulations of capital in the hands not only of the Roman Establishment, but of a non-Senatorial business class. This capital may have been the fruits of the profits made during the 1st Punic War. Contractors commanded sufficient reserves to make deliveries to the Government on credit from 215 BC onwards.

"Our hypothesis that silver was provided to the mint at a six-fold overvaluation can help explain where the money came from. And the timing also works. "For the loans were being repaid even before the war was over. Then immediately upon defeating Hannibal, there was a political thrust to start a new war with Macedon. Apparently those benefiting from warfare didn't want any interruption to their profiteering."

This eventually brought on a revolt on behalf of the small farmers led in turn by two aristocratic brothers, the Gracchi, inspired by Stoic philosophy. Both were martyred, and the era of Julius Caesar and his dictatorial successors took over. Each of these, while still striving for power, minted his own gold coins. This had a double purpose – financing their attempt to seize supreme power and advertising the extent of power already attained. Under Augustus the ratio of gold to silver was raised to 12:1, and an end was put to coining by patrician families. Julius Caesar had directed his conquest to gold sources, that amongst much else would allow him to handle his huge personal debt. With every new colony founded, a new coining was launched under the Roman stamp to take care of its monetary needs. Despite Rome's Eastern conquests gold and silver drained off to the east, largely because of the luxury imports by the high-living new rich of Rome. Slaves replaced free labourers on the vast latifundia that took over as usury ruined the small farmers. All this echoes strangely familiar in the claim of central banks to be independent of their government, no matter what their charters may say. That is notably the case even in Canada and the United Kingdom, where the central governments are in fact the sole shareholder of its central bank with the explicit ultimate responsibility for its basic policy. Moreover, the official goal of "zero inflation" is unrealizable in a pluralistic urbanized high-tech society, in which ever more indispensable infrastructures are provided by the state. The coining of gold was considered the ultimate sign of sovereignty. Strip government of that prerogative, and what is left is no longer a truly sovereign power.

For a later period, after the Roman Empire had declined, it worked like this: The gold/silver ratio in the West was kept high, ranging over millennia, between 9 and 16 to 1. However, the ratio in India and Asia was kept low – usually around 6 or 7 to 1. This meant that silver taken from Europe to India was exchanged for nearly twice as much gold in India as in Europe. The nexus of this trade was the land bridge above the Middle East. Whoever controlled that area usually controlled the trade.

"If it was controlled from the West, they got 100% more gold for their silver than the local value. It worked just as well from the East. If they controlled the trade they received 100% more silver for their gold. If control was shared, trade would probably have been at a 9 to 1 ratio, giving each establishment a profit on exchange. "The existence of this dichotomy and its significance is almost unknown (Jacobs, William, The Precious Metals, 1831, reprinted NY, A.M. Kelley, 1968). Alexander Del Mar also discovered it. While the mechanism is still [generally] unrecognized, we can identify its traces in the work of modern historians such as M. Rostovtzev's Social and Economic History of the Hellenistic World: 'The Ptolemies [Macedonian successors to Alexander the Great in Egypt] 'for reasons unknown to us but probably dictated by economics...separated themselves and their Kingdom from the rest of the Hellenized World. It seems to have been an accepted fact that they derived an enormous reserve of gold from the Arabian caravan trade. "Pliny [the Elder] wrote that 100 million Sesterces of silver, equivalent to one million gold Aurei, was annually exported to India and China from Rome. He had been appointed Procurator in Spain and entrusted with managing the Revenue. But the secrecy of the mechanism is underscored by the fact that its workings were not known to him, for he couldn't understand why his countrymen always demanded silver and not gold from conquered races."

Banking in the Ancient Roman World 318 BC

Banking and Business in the Roman WorldSeries: Key Themes in Ancient History by Jean Andreau Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales, Paris Translated by Janet Lloyd Hardback (ISBN-13: 9780521380317 | ISBN-10: 0521380316) DOI: 10.2277/0521380316 Published October 1999 . In the first century BC lending and borrowing by the senators was the talk of Rome and even provoked political crises. During this same period, the state tax-farmers were handling enormous sums and exploiting the provinces of the Empire. Until now no book has presented a synthetic view of Roman banking and financial life as a whole, from the time of the appearance of the first bankers' shops in the Forum between 318 and 310 BC down to the end of the Principle in AD 284. Professor Andreau writes of the business deals of the elite and the professional bankers and also of the interventions of the state. To what extent did the spirit of profit and enterprise predominate over the traditional values of the city of Rome? And what economic role did these financiers play?

Julius Caesar Strips Money Changers of Their Powers & is Murdered by Them \(48BC\)

In 48 BC, Julius Caesar took back from the Money Changers the power to coin money and then minted coins for the benefit of all. With this new, plentiful supply of money, he built great public works. By making money plentiful, Caesar won the love of the common people. But the Money Changers hated him. Some believe this was an important factor in Caesar's assassination. One thing is for sure: with the death of Caesar came the demise of plentiful money in Rome. Taxes increased, as did corruption. Eventually the Roman money supply was reduced by 90 per cent. As a result, the common people lost their lands and homes-just as has happened and will happen again in America to the few who still own their own land and homes.

Yashua-Joshua \(Jesus-Issa\) Flips \(Many Coins\) 33 A.C. Or So

"And Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus went into the temple and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money changers" – Bible, Book of Mark 11:15.

Let's continue our exploration of money at the ancient temple in Jerusalem during Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus-Issa's time two thousand years ago when the Pharisees money-changers used the Jewish and Sun-god temples to collect interest. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus was so upset by the sight of the money changers Pharisees in the temple, he waded in and started to tip over the tables and drive them out with a whip, this being the only time we ever hear of him using force during his entire ministry. Just who are these Money Changers to whom James Madison referred? The Bible tells us that, 2,000 years ago, Yashua-Joshua-Jesus Christ twice drove the Money Changers from the Temple in Jerusalem. Apart from when the Temple Guards were forced to the ground in the Garden of Gethsemane, these were the only times Yashua-Joshua-Jesus used physical violence. What were Money Changers doing in the Temple? What caused the ultimate pacifist to become so aggressive? When Jews came to Jerusalem to pay their Temple tax, they could only pay it with a special coin, the half-shekel. This was a half-ounce of pure silver, about the size of a quarter. It was the only coin at that time which was pure silver and of assured weight, without the image of a pagan Emperor. It was to them the only coin acceptable to God (actually to the Pharisees). But these coins were not plentiful. The Money Changers had cornered the market on them; then they raised the price – just as with any other monopolized commodity-to whatever the market would bear. Because there was only a limited numbers of these coins in circulation, the money changers were in a buyers market and like with anything else in short supply, they were able to raise the price to what the market would bear. In other words, the Money Changers were making exorbitant profits because they held a virtual monopoly on money. The Jews had to pay whatever they demanded. To Yashua-Joshua-Jesus, this injustice violated the sanctity of God's house. They made huge profits with their monopoly on these coins and turned this time of devotion into a mockery for profit. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus saw this as stealing from the people and proclaimed the whole setup to be "A den of thieves". Yashua-Joshua-Jesus' exposing of the money changers made him a target for them and their leader Caiaphas.

Once money is accepted as a form of exchange, those who produce, loan out and manipulate the quantity of money are obviously in a very strong position. They are the "Money Changers", modern day privately owned "central banks" and local banks to a lesser extent. REMEMBER, REAL OR FIAT MONEY DOES NOT CREATE GOODS & SERVICES. WORK CREATES GOODS & SERVICES!!! Yashua-Joshua-Jesus always warned people about the Pharisees. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus said (to the Pharisees / Priest-Rabbi Bankers), "Ye are of your father, the devil ... He was a murderer from the beginning ... he is a liar and the father of it." The central book in apostatic Judaism is the Babylonian Talmud (written after Yashua-Joshua-Jesus), which contains the teachings of the apostate Pharisees (note the resemblance to Pharaohs; Pharaoh ruled by dividing his subjects into casts and degrees like his predecessor Nimrod, the builder of the infamous tower of Babel and initiator of Masonry) -- those people on whom the New Testament spends so many words. The Babylonian Talmud teaches Rabbis to oppose and discredit the teachings of Yashua-Joshua-Jesus because he criticized the Pharisees. As previously stated, Pharisaic law is reflected in the Babylonian Talmud, particularly in the book of Mishna—the original book of the Babylonian Talmud. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus called their teachings "the ways of men," an abomination, and he condemned them; for doing so, Yashua-Joshua-Jesus was "crucified" or so it seemed crossed by the Roman Pharisee King Pilateos (Pilates) under the urgings of the Pharisees.

Pharisee: "One of the members of a school or party among the ancient Jews noted for the strict formal observance of the rites and validity of traditions of the elders. Pharisee interpretation provided the standard of observation and belief for the great majority of the Jews from the 1st century A.C. Pharisaic, hypocritical, self righteous and censorious of others" -- Webster's New International Dictionary of the English Language, 2nd edition, 1950. PHARISEES ARE A SECRET ORDER WHO PRETEND TO BE ISRAELITES JUDEANS! Yashua-Joshua-Jesus-Jesus-Issa had quite a verbal scathing for the Pharisees (the usurers who worked from the Temple in Jerusalem) in Matthew 23. Pharisaic law is reflected in the Babylonian Talmud, particularly in the book of Mishna—the original book of the Babylonian Talmud. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus called their teachings "the ways of men. Looking at "God - the Ultimate Paradox", David Ash tells us (p.69:) that in ancient times, Jews "had a governing body ... known as the 'Council of Elders" dominated by the Pharisees. In the 19th century this council "described itself as the learned Elders of Zion". We learn that there is a group within the Elders which infiltrates and creates secret societies - such as the Masons - known as 'The Brotherhood of the Snake ... In modern times this brotherhood has adopted the title of Illuminati" (p.74) and created Zionism. A lot more on this later.

In "The Pharisees--The Sociological Background of Their Faith," Rabbi Louis Finkelstein describes these self-styled "Jews" and their origins: "Phariseeism became Babylonian Talmudism, Babylonian Talmudism became Medieval Rabbinism, and Medieval Rabbinism became Modern Rabbinism. But throughout these changes in name...the spirit of the ancient Pharisee survives unaltered." "...rabbinic Judaism, the first-born child of Phariseeism, remains a unit until this day." (p.XXI of Forward to 1st Edition, "The Pharisees," Vol. 1, Philadelphia: The Jewish Publication Society of America, 1938 & Vol. 2, p. 622. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus had quite a verbal scathing for the Pharisees in Matthew 23. He exposed them for the sort of people they were: "Hypocrites," "sons of hell," "blind guides," "fools," "full of robbery and self-indulgence," "whitewashed tombs...full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness," "full of hypocrisy and lawlessness," "partners with them in shedding the blood of the prophets," and "serpents and brood of vipers." The noun Pharisee occurs at least 87 times in the New Testament, often said by Yashua-Joshua-Jesus. Yet any use of the word has all but been eliminated from the teachings and pulpits of America. WHY? Yashua-Joshua-Jesus confronted the Pharisees. No longer an exclusive Jewish term, Pharisaic influence is found in every church and Synagogue in America, busily reshaping Christianity in its image. Efforts are made to reshape all religions into the image the mega-banking dynasties find acceptable in order to maintain and expand their wealth.

The Pharisees were a secret order who outwardly appeared to be orthodox Jews but inwardly were of the mysteries of Babylon (Babylon means confusion). That is why Yashua-Joshua-Jesus exposed them as hypocrites; that is having two faces. For in those days a hypocrite was an actor who played different roles by putting on different clothes to cover up his true identity. It would have been totally out of character and wrong of Yashua-Joshua-Jesus to call them "serpents" and their father "the devil", if behind those religious robes they were not secret members of the Mystery Babylon kingdom of darkness also known as the dark clan. Now, it is one thing to be a sinner and another to be an actual sworn member to a satanic cult that makes members take a blood oath and adopt pagan satanic symbols to wear. These Pharisees sell their soul to the devil for wages, employment, business opportunity, political power, financial security, and lastly as a fraternity to cloak these schemes behind the tiled door, which in the secret mysteries is a substitute for the temples at Babylon and Jerusalem. What does the Masonry cult say about their ancestors the Pharisees? "The character of their organization is interesting to the Masonic student. They held a secret doctrine, ...they met in sodalities or societies, the members of which called themselves chabirim, fellows or associates; and they styled all who were outside of their mystical association, yum hararetz, or people of the land" (Encyclopedia of Masonry, Albert G. Mackey, 1921, pp 560,561).

The Bank Of Rome

The "Bank" of Rome Headquarters in Vatican City. It was founded in 45 A.C. by Simon the Sorcerer.

The "Bank" of Rome in Vatican City was founded in 45 A.C. by Simon Magnus the Sorcerer (distinct from the Church of Rome which was founded by the PAUL around 60 A.C.). Simon Magus (Simon the Sorcerer) tried to buy spiritual powers or the office of Apostle from Peter (Acts 8:9-24) and this led to the term "Simoney" which means the buying or selling of ecclesiastical pardons, offices, or emoluments. Peter said that Judas had a PART in the apostolic ministry and his successor Matthias was chosen by LOT. Peter told Simon that he had neither PART nor LOT in the Apostolic office. After his rebuke by Peter, Simon went to Rome!! When he arrived in Rome during the reign of Emperor Claudius, that city was the USURY capital of the World. A few rich families controlled all the wealth, and just like the U.S. today, these super-rich capitalists owned and controlled the government. Let's not forget that THEY implemented the law of tithing and it was not Yashua-Joshua-Jesus, Paul, or anyone else... the love of money is the root of all evil, and the Roman Elites have always loved their money. Simon beguiled the Romans as he beguiled the Samaritans. He was honoured as a god in Rome and a statue was erected in his honor: "Such was his procedure in the reign of Claudius Cæsar, by whom also he is said to have been honoured with a statue, on account of his magical power. This man, then, was glorified by many as if he were a god; and he taught that it was himself who appeared among the Jews as the Son, but descended in Samaria as the Father while he came to other nations in the character of the Holy Spirit. He represented himself, in a word, as being the loftiest of all powers, that is, the Being who is the Father over all, and he allowed himself to be called by whatsoever title men were pleased to address him"(Justin Martyr, The Apostolic Fathers). According to church historian Justin Martyr, Simon was the father of ALL heresies: "Now this Simon of Samaria, from whom all sorts of heresies derive their origin, formed his sect out of the following materials . . ." (Justin Martyr, The Apostolic Fathers). Acts 8:

9 Now for some time a man named Simon had practiced sorcery in the city and amazed all the people of Samaria. He boasted that he was someone great,

10 and all the people, both high and low, gave him their attention and exclaimed, "This man is the divine power known as the Great Power."

11 They followed him because he had amazed them for a long time with his magic.

12 But when they believed Philip as he preached the good news of the kingdom of God and the name of Yashua-Joshua-Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women.

13 Simon himself believed and was baptized. And he followed Philip everywhere, astonished by the great signs and miracles he saw.

14 When the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had accepted the word of God, they sent Peter and John to them.

15 When they arrived, they prayed for them that they might receive the Holy Spirit,

16 because the Holy Spirit had not yet come upon any of them; they had simply been baptized into[3] the name of the Lord Yashua-Joshua-Jesus.

17 Then Peter and John placed their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

18 When Simon saw that the Spirit was given at the laying on of the apostles' hands, he offered them money

19 and said, "Give me also this ability so that everyone on whom I lay my hands may receive the Holy Spirit."

20 Peter answered: "May your money perish with you, because you thought you could buy the gift of God with money!

21 You have no part or share in this ministry, because your heart is not right before God.

22 Repent of this wickedness and pray to the Lord. Perhaps he will forgive you for having such a thought in your heart.

23 For I see that you are full of bitterness and captive to sin."

24 Then Simon answered, "Pray to the Lord for me so that nothing you have said may happen to me."

25 When they had testified and proclaimed the word of the Lord, Peter and John returned to Jerusalem, preaching the gospel in many Samaritan villages. Josephus, the great Jewish historian mentions the Samaritans.

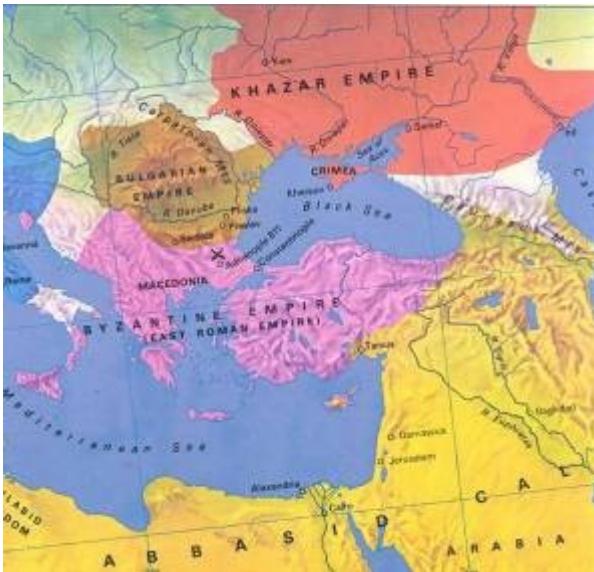

"When the Jews are in adversity they [the Samaritans] deny that they are kin to them, and THEN THEY CONFESS THE TRUTH; but when they perceive that some good fortune hath befallen them, they immediately PRETEND to have communion with them, saying, that they belong to them, and desire their genealogy from the posterity of Joseph, Ephraim, and Manasseh And when they see the Jews in prosperity, they PRETEND they are changed and allied to them, and call them kinsmen, as though they were derived from Joseph, and had by that means an original alliance with them; but when they see them falling into a low condition, they say that they are no way related to them, and that the Jews have no right to expect any kindness or marks of KINDRED from them, but they declare that they are sojourners, that come from OTHER countries" (Josephus, Antiquities, IX, 14, 3). When the Jewish wars began around 66 A.C., these Samaritans denied kinship with the real Jews and thus escaped from the Roman sword. The World did come to an end in 70 A.C. — for the Jewish nation. Roman General Titus besieged the city and over 1 million people were killed in the siege. The full account is given by the Jewish historian Josephus in his Wars of the Jews. The Jewish nation, beginning with Abraham, had its 2,000 year existence. To be a Jew you had to prove ancestry from Abraham or be married to someone who was thus descended. All the genealogical records were kept in the Temple which was completely destroyed. The Jews were scattered to the four winds. After the Fall of Rome, they and all the civilizations that comprised the Empire were swept away forever. Not all Samaritans were bad. Yashua-Joshua-Jesus spoke about a GOOD Samaritan and many of the Samaritans did become real Jews by believing in Yashua-Joshua-Jesus....Justin Martyr the famous church historian who wrote about Simon the Sorcerer was also a Samaritan. The moneylender was conceived in Rome . . . and gave birth to usury. The word usury comes from the Latin usus meaning "used" and the word usuria which means demanding in return for a loan a greater amount than was borrowed.

"As lending upon interest was forbidden by the Gabinian law between provincials and Roman citizens, and the latter at that time had all the money of the globe in their hands, there was a necessity for tempting them with the bait of extravagant interest, to the end that the avaricious might thus lose sight of the danger of losing their money. And as they were men of great power in Rome, who awed the magistrates and overruled the laws, they were emboldened to lend, and to extort great usury. Hence the provinces were successively ravaged by every one who had any credit in Rome: and as each governor, at entering upon his province, published his edict wherein he fixed the rate of interest in what manner he pleased, the legislature played into the hands of avarice, and the latter served the mean purposes of the legislator" (Baron de Montesquieu, The Laws of Nations:)

Right: Arch of Titus in Rome commemorating his victory over the Jewish nation.

Usury was outlawed by the Roman Republic but the rich around it as usual. The used surrogates or front men just "Jews" during the Dark Ages to lend at usury: "As soon as was forbidden at Rome, they contrived all sort of means to their allies, and the Latins, were not subject to the civil laws employed a Latin, or an ally, to lend his name, and The law, therefore, had only subjected the creditors to a public were not relieved" (Baron de Montesquieu, The Laws of Samaritans were fake "Jews." They met in synagogues, observed the Passover and the other Jewish feasts etc., etc., but they were really Babylonians and money lending, USURY and loan sharking was no problem for them. They disappear from history about 600 A.C. but by that time they had completely supplanted the real Torah Jews. Simon the Sorcerer failed to buy an Apostleship, but his successor Pope Constantine considered himself the 13th Apostle and was buried in Constantinople in a crypt surrounded by 12 coffins to represent the 12 apostles: "He (Constantine) accordingly caused twelve coffins to be set up in this church, like sacred pillars in honor and memory of the apostolic number, in the center of which his own was placed, having six of theirs on either side of it. Thus, as I said, he had provided with prudent foresight an honorable resting-place for his body after death, and, having long before secretly formed this resolution, he now consecrated this church to the apostles, believing that this tribute to their memory would be of no small advantage to his own soul" (Eusebius, Life of Constantine).

Romans found a way like they used the fake lending upon interest elude the law; and as of the Romans, they personate the creditor. matter of form, and the of Nations). Some of the AC 301: Diocletian attempted to stop inflation by imperial order, the so- called Edict on Prices. Taxes followed: The annona was a land-tax determined by the quality to the land and the manpower available to work it (capitatio-iugatio). b. The tax base was calculated periodically, eventually every fifteen years (the indictio). c. The tax was originally collected in kind (normally grain), but money payments were soon substituted. d. The new system allowed the preparation of annual budgets and put the financial system of the state on a relatively secure footing.

AC320s: Coinage reformed: Constantine's gold solidus (struck at 72 to the pound) became the World's standard coin for the next thousand years. Constantine adopts Christianity and following his conversion, he confiscates the enormous treasures amassed over the centuries in the pagan temples throughout the empire. Consequently, unlike Diocletian, he has easily enough bullion to replace the earlier debased gold coinage. However he continues to produce debased silver and copper coins. Thus the poor, unlike the rich, are left with an inflation-ridden currency.

AC 435: Coins cease to be used in Britain: As a result of the Anglo-Saxon invasions Britain, uniquely among the former Roman provinces, ceases to use coins as money for nearly 200 years. When they are re-introduced from the Continent they are used initially for ornament.

AC 561: Coins are minted again in England by Bishop Liudard

Arabia 7th Century A.C.

The gradual revelations of the Quran forbid usury and slavery. Many of the people who converted to Islam during the life of the Prophet Mohammed forgave the interest on outstanding loans (and in some cases forgave the debts) and emancipated slaves. Also, the Muslims repulsed attacks from the Roman Empire aimed at crushing the revival of the monotheistic faith and finally defeated the Romans by evicting them from Jerusalem in the 7th Century after the death of the Prophet Mohammed and under the caliphate of Umar Ibn Khattab. There is a lot of misinformation about the Prophet Muhammad (Praiseworthy) posted on the Internet or propagated through some news media or through calumniating cartoons, etc. Actually, false information about the ancient prophets was circulated by some elements since the time of Prophet Noah and many prophets including Abraham, Moses, Solomon, Yashuah (Issa), etc. had to endure being subjected to propaganda against them by the elite of their times. Some prophets like Ezekiel (Zakaria) and John (Yahya) were murdered and some like the Prophet Muhammad were subject to assassination attempts. From Karen Armstrong, "Muhammad A Biography of The Prophet", Harper Collins Publisher, USA, 1992, p.199 "... the Muslims were horrified to see the way Western Christians treated their women in the Crusader states, and Christian scholars denounced Islam for giving too much power to menials like slaves and women".

Khazaria 8th Century A.C. \(Part Phallic & Part Converted to Talmudism\)

Some writers refer to themselves as being "New Jews", or European Ashkenazi (title taken from the biblical tribe of Ashkenaz). Well, they really are of more recent origin than the older Sephardic Jews ('Sepher' in Hebrew means 'book', descendants of Isaac), whose ancestors were dispersed from ancient Palestine by the Romans in about 70 A.C., and moved to Spain via North Africa. These "New Jews" or "non-Israelite non-Semitic European Jews" comprise about 95% of people who claim to be Jewish Worldwide, however their ancestors did not come from Palestine as had the southern European Jews ("The Thirteenth Stone", p.504). "The Jewish Encyclopedia" 1925, Vol.5, p.41 says "they are actually Edomites" and "Edom means Red." (Emphasis added) These Edomites lived in ancient Byzantium near the Khazar Kingdom, which lay in the region between the Black Sea and the Caspian (Khazar) Sea. "This Khazar empire was infiltrated by large numbers of Byzantine Jews", who then began a "...process of inter-marriage..." with the locals. ("Behind Marxism" by Frank L. Britton, page 14).

As outlined in "The Thirteenth Tribe", by a Jewish scholar Arthur Koestler, the Khazars were "...people of Turkish stock..." (p.13) a fierce tribe of wily traders, whose "... main source of income was foreign trade ...slaves from the north" (p.47). They also relied on military power, tax collection (a 10% GST!), customs tariffs, arts and crafts, and skilled goldsmiths. In about 740 AD the King of Khazaria "...embraced the Talmudic Babylonian version of the Jewish faith which is not true-Torah Judaism, and Talmudic Judaism became the state religion" (p.15). His subjects quickly saw the benefit of this new religion. Around 965 AC, Khazaria was taken over by the Russians and then finally destroyed by Genghis Khan in the 1200s, with the remaining Khazar-Jews dispersing into Eastern Europe. Having been settling in Europe over the early part of the second millennium, the Khazar-Jews quickly set themselves up into "...Jew's streets or Jewries... (autonomous ghettos) (Valentine's Jewish Encyclopedia, 1938, p.589). The natural Khazar ability in trade (both legal and illegal) gave them easy entry into every country's commerce until "... every European country's economy was ... in their hands" ("Pawns in the Game" by William Guy Carr, 1958, p15).

This point in time (the Middle Ages) ushered in the birth of modern banking. ("God - the Ultimate Paradox" Dec. 1997), by Jewish author David Ash, describes the two basic competing banking systems (p.III):

- "The first system involved the bank investing money ... as a joint, profit-sharing enterprise or on the basis of charging fees for services rendered For example,... Bank of Amsterdam ..."
- "The second banking system involved the bank lending money at interest and holding the property of the borrower as collateral This system is called usury.
- "The first system brought prosperity...The second... ruin."

Promissory notes (receipts), a feature of early banking, were issued by a banker (moneylender) to his depositors for the safekeeping of the silver or gold lodged with him. Over time these became banknotes promising to pay the bearer a certain amount in a precious metal. However, not all depositors will withdraw all their holdings at once, so the bankers only kept a fraction of their receipts [promissory notes] as deposits. Modern banking uses nothing to back the banknotes issued. This deposit system, when combined with usury, allowed the bankers to create loans "out of thin air", enabling them to "...strip real wealth from the people, through interest paid on 'phantom money'. This has been an effective way for the bankers to rob nations and centralise their wealth." ("God - The Ultimate Paradox", p. 113) It was this second system which gave birth to the modern banking system - adopted by the "Jews" - which eliminated the first system described above. Jewish bankers began to loan large sums to royalty for wars - which became difficult to repay - with the victor usually being the king to whom they loaned the most and the vanquished saddled with huge debts of reparation. As bankers and tax collectors, these Ashkenazi European "Jews" became despised by the citizenry of various countries because of the debt which burdened them with taxes; so much so that even the placid Sephards were persecuted, especially by the harsh Spanish Inquisition. England was the last country to come under Khazar-Jewish influence and first to expel all Jews in 1290. "The Great Eviction", as it became known, occurred thus: France 1306, Saxony 1349, Hungary 1360, Belgium 1370, Slovakia 1380, Austria 1420, Netherlands 1444, Spain 1492, Lithuania 1495, Portugal 1498, Prussia 1510, Italy 1540, Bavaria 1551, Hungary 1582 ("Behind Marxism" pages 4-7). This period also marked the transition of Europe into the Renaissance - a rebirth of culture and learning which coincided with the wresting of commercial control from the money-lending Khazar descendants. These Jews had since retreated to a "Pale" area stretching from Poland to Turkey, regrouping into Kahats (or ghettos) in which they even had their own government and infrastructure. Such conditions put these mostly-Khazar Jewish people under the control of their wealthy money barons via the Rabbinic Elders (hence the phrase, "beyond the pale"). Looking at "God - The Ultimate Paradox", David Ash tells us (p.69:) that in ancient times, Jews "had a governing body ... known as the 'Council of Elders'". The Hebrew word for 'Elder' means "... 'in touch with God'. In the 19th century this council "described itself as the learned Elders of Zion". We learn that there is a group within the Elders which infiltrates and creates secret societies - such as the Masons - known as 'The Brotherhood of the Snake ... In modern times this brotherhood has adopted the title of Illuminati" (p.74).

AC 752: Pepin the Short of France starts minting the Denier This new silver coin serves as a model for the English penny

Fall of The Roman Empire

The Punic Wars between Rome and Carthage proved to be very expensive and at one stage Rome seems to have run out of money altogether and been forced to rely on credit. The expense of supporting the Roman army may be judged by the fact that the cost of maintaining just one legion (after the last Punic War) was about 1,500,000 denari a year. Therefore the main use of the annual production of silver coins was simply to pay the army. Because of this expense emperors were often tempted to try and make savings by debasing the coinage - a technique used in many countries for as long as coins were made from precious metals. (One typical method of debasement was to use metal with a lower grade of purity). However, debasement resulted in inflation which got steadily worse when in addition to their army the Romans had to maintain a large bureaucracy and also spent huge amounts on welfare payments. Various emperors introduced financial reforms to try and halt inflation but some of their attempts actually made matters worse. Aurelian simply raised the nominal value of his coins by two and a half times the value of similar ones with the result that the pace of inflation was no longer constrained by the rate at which hand-struck coins could be minted. Glyn Davies suggests that those who believe in the disinflationary magic of a gold currency should note that Aurelian proved conclusively that a "reformed" currency is perfectly compatible with an increase rather than a decrease in inflation. The most successful was Diocletian who introduced a whole series of measures including reforms of the currency, a system of annual budgets, and a prices and incomes policy. Thus there was a shift from a market economy in the direction of a controlled one. Diocletian's successor Constantine continued his reforms and also introduced new gold coins and ensured that there was a plentiful supply for the influential sections of Roman society. The measures undertaken by these two emperors did not eradicate inflation but they did enable Rome to live with it, ensuring the survival of the western empire until the 5th century and laying the foundations of the eastern or Byzantine empire. The army and the bureaucracy were kept happy while welfare payments helped to keep the poorest sections of society from causing trouble. Nevertheless Rome was seriously weakened by inflation before it fell.

As the small farming class which was the backbone of Rome fell into financial difficulties due to rising taxes and inflation, the rich began to buy up the land and create huge plantations for themselves. Slavery was already an institution but as the plantations grew in size, the need for a huge labor pool to work the plantations grew. Thus, slavery as an institution was gradually expanded. You could now become a slave four ways. If you were in debt, you could be seized as a slave to pay off your debts, if you broke laws, they would save money on prisons and police by simply sentencing you to slavery, if people somewhere in the empire rebelled, they would be crushed and enslaved, and finally, Romans occupied North Africa all the way down to Nubia in sub-Saharan Africa. African tribes kept slaves too. They would sell surplus slaves to the Romans. How did this hurt Rome? Eventually 20% of the populations were slaves. This meant that more slaves were doing the work of free men. Thus, jobs became scarcer and more unemployment resulted. The tax base shrank and Rome had to raise taxes on the people who were free to make up the difference and this led to more debt and more bankruptcies and more slaves and the problem grew.

It was the emperors of Rome who used hard money to build the greatest political and military dynasty the World had ever seen. Rome's wealth rose to glorious heights through conquest and little real commerce. In his book The History of Money, Jack Weatherford explains, "Rome's fame and glory came from the military and from conquest, and their riches, too, derived much more from the achievements of the army than from those of the merchants." As long as Rome's legions conquered new lands, the empire thrived. But each new occupation required ever-greater resources. In 130 B.C. Rome conquered the kingdom of Pergamum. In a few years, Rome's spending doubled from 25 million denarri (a Roman silver coin) to 50 million. By 63 B.C., the budget grew to 75 million denarri, and spending was beginning to spin out of control. Vast strategic ambitions and pork-barrel spending were beginning to sap the economic vitality from the Empire. By the time of Augustus, with Rome at its apex, spending rose to an astonishing 250 million denarri, or 10 times what it had been 60 years earlier. There were ever-growing ambitions and debt. But even Rome could not surmount the Law of Diminishing Returns. By the time the Empire reached the British Isles, the cost of its army vastly exceeded the booty it was repatriating. Yet spending continued to climb even as revenues declined. A string of emperors in succession pursued similar policies of currency debasement: collect coins in circulation and re-mint new coins with less silver content. During his reign, Nero reduced the silver content in the denarri by 90%! Two hundred years later, there was no longer silver in the coin at all. Rome almost spent its entire reserves to prop up the government. Confidence in the money began to disintegrate. The Roman Empire imploded, crushed beneath its weighty ambitions and a mountain of debt. In the book The Outline of History, H.G. Wells wrote, "Money was young in the human experience and wild. It fluctuated greatly. It was now abundant and now scarce. Men made sly and crude schemes to corner it, to hoard it, to send up prices by releasing hoarded metals." Wells wrote this in 1920, at a time when the World was enjoying remarkable monetary stability. The gold standard was proving to be an outstanding regulator of monetary expansion and inflation. Since money was backed by gold, money could only grow at a rate equaling new gold reserves. Typically this was less than 1% a year (although there were some booms in gold production that greatly exceeded this number). Gold was an instrument that took away the great powers' ability to devalue their currencies for political expediency. As the 20th century progressed, big governments with bold ambitions decided that the gold standard was unacceptable. That, of course, included the United States. After freeing itself from the gold "shackel" in 1972, the U.S. government was free to create as much money – and therefore debt – as it wanted. It is the modern "Roman Empire".

The effect of the fall of Rome was particularly marked in Britain where money virtually disappeared from use for a couple of centuries, the island reverting to barter. Later, after the Anglo-Saxon invaders started to mint coins (originally by copying those made in France) they had in their turn to face invaders from the east - the Vikings. This led to a immense increase in the minting of coins in England because of the demand for Danegeld to pay the invaders to go home, or heregeld, a tax to pay for the armies of those monarchs who chose to fight the Vikings. Huge quantities of English coins from this period have been found in Scandinavia. After Athelstan reconquered the Danelaw he passed the Statute of Greatley in 928 which established a single national currency for England and marked the start of the unbroken 1,000 year history of the pound sterling. Later monarchs relied more on their mints than their armies to defend the realm. Aethelred's 75 mints coined nearly 40 million silver pennies for the payment of Danegeld. One linguistic legacy of the Viking era is the phrase "to pay through the nose". This expression comes from the unfortunate habit of the Danes in Ireland in the 9th century who slit the noses of those unwilling or unable to pay the Danish poll tax. William the Conqueror financed the Norman invasion and conquest of England partly by debasing Norman currency. However, he resisted the temptation to do the same to the English coinage and instead raised revenue through the introduction of new taxes. The very detailed survey of the resources of his new kingdom, recorded in the Domesday Book, facilitated the imposition of these taxes. Furthermore, the tax collectors would naturally reject below-weight or impure coins and thus the system of taxation not only provided an alternative to debasement but also gave the rulers an incentive to maintain the quality of the coinage and so the value of English money remained remarkably stable for several centuries, in marked contrast to the situation on the Continent. In 395 AC, the former Roman World was formally divided into an Empire of the East and an Empire of the West. The eastern empire survived until the capture of Constantinople by the Turks in 1453 AC. In the west, Visigoths, Ostrogoths, Vandals, Franks, and Huns burst over the frontiers and the Jutes, Angles, and Saxons planted themselves in Britain. In 410 AC Alaric and his Goths sacked Rome. Then, in 476 AC, the last of the Caesars, Romulus Augustulus, was dethroned. The Germanic kingdoms took the place of the Imperium Romanum.

China 10th Century

AC 806-821: Reign of Emperor Hien Tsung and the development of paper money In China a severe shortage of copper for making coins causes the emperor to issue paper money notes

In China the issue of paper money became common from about AD 960 onwards but there had been occasional issues long before that. A motive for one such early issue, in the reign of Emperor Hien Tsung 806-821, was a shortage of copper for making coins. A drain of currency from China, partly to buy off potential invaders from the north, led to greater reliance on paper money with the result that by 1020 the quantity issued was excessive, causing inflation. In subsequent centuries there were several episodes of hyperinflation and after about 1455, after well over 500 years of using paper money, China abandoned it.

Medieval England (1000 - 1100 A.C.)

AC 978-1016: Reign of Aethelred II, the Unready Aethelred adopts a policy of trying to buy off the Vikings. His 75 mints produce nearly 40 million pennies to pay Danegeld.

AC 1086: Doomsday Book survey of land ownership in England

AC 1095-1270: The need to transfer large sums of money to finance the Crusades provides a stimulus to the re-emergence of banking in Western Europe.

There were a few times in history that nations used the power of creating an un-borrowed currency to eliminate their debts and bring their country into prosperity. However, when the nations stopped borrowing money from the World bankers, a furor was always created, not among the People but among the banking vultures. The bankers would use their vast sources of money and power to artificially engineer problems that they could blame on the un-borrowed currency! When Henry I became King of England in 1100 A.C., he found the treasury completely empty. England's entire supply of gold and silver had gone with the Crusaders to Palestine. Rather than borrow money from World banks, he issued into circulation England's own un-borrowed currency called "tallies". That was the richest time in England's history. There was no debt, no interest, and no inflation. For almost 700 years, England used this un-borrowed money created and issued by the King. This caused a prosperous utopia for the working people of England. This is the unprecedented period in the history of creative genius known as the Renaissance.

The death toll for the prosperous Renaissance era came in 1694 when King William of Orange granted a charter to William Paterson and his World banker associates to establish the Bank of England as a fractional reserve central bank. The Bank of England has had a direct bearing on banking in America. With the revival of banking in Western Europe, stimulated by the Crusades, written instructions in the form of bills of exchange, came to be used as a means of transferring large sums of money and the Masonic Knights Templars and Hospitallers functioned as bankers. Here we find goldsmith's offering to keep other people's gold and silver safe in their vaults, and in return people walking away with a receipt for what they have left there. We also find French Masonic Templars providing safe deposits in their reinforced Temples for the European Nobility, since traveling with gold was perilous. The Templars allowed its customers to deposit gold in their nearest Temple and then draw it from any other Temple Church across Europe with proper documentation and for a fee. You might say they were the original ATMs. The Temple Masters some claim held more influence than the 13th century Kings themselves. These paper receipts soon became popular for trade as they were less heavy to carry around than gold and silver coins. After a while, the goldsmith's must have noticed that only a small percentage of their depositor's ever came in to demand their gold at any one time. So cleverly the goldsmith's made out some receipts for gold which didn't even exist, and then they loaned it out to earn interest. A nod and a wink amongst themselves, they incorporated this practice into the banking system. They even gave it a name to make it seem more acceptable, christening the practice 'Fractional Reserve Banking' which translates to mean, lending out many times more money than you have assets on deposit. The Chinese were the first to use paper money, known as 'flying money' (a kind of banker's draft), in AC 618--907. In about AC 1000, private Chinese merchants in Sichuan province issued paper money known as jiao zi. Due to fraud, the right to issue paper money was taken over in 1024 by the Song dynasty, which then issued the first government paper money. About that same time, Money Changers-those who exchange, cumulate and manipulate the quantity of money-were active in medieval England. In fact, they were so active that, acting together, they could manipulate the English economy. These were not bankers per se. The Money Changers generally were the goldsmiths. They were the first bankers because they started to keep other people gold for safekeeping in their safe rooms, or vaults. The first 'paper' money in Western Europe was merely a receipt for gold left with the goldsmith, made from rag paper. As the ditty goes:

"Rags make paper; paper makes money; money makes banks; Banks make loans; loans make beggars; beggars make rags".

Paper money caught on because it was more convenient and safer to carry, than a lot of heavy gold and silver coins. As a convenience, to avoid unnecessary trips to the goldsmiths, depositors began endorsing these gold deposit receipts to others, by their signature. Over time, to simplify the process, the receipts were made to the bearer, rather than to the individual depositor, making it readily transferable without the need for a signature. This, however, broke the tie to any identifiable deposit of gold. Eventually, goldsmiths noticed that only a small fraction of depositors or bearers ever came in and demanded their gold at one time. Goldsmiths started cheating on the system. They begun secretly lending out some of the gold that had been given to them for safekeeping, and keeping the interest earned on lending. Then the goldsmiths discovered that they could issue more money (ie. paper gold-deposit certificates) than they had gold, and usually no one would be any the wiser. Next, they discovered they could lend out this extra paper money and keep interest on it. This was the birth of fractional reserve lending - that is, lending out more money than you have reserves deposit. Obviously, it was fraud, often specifically outlawed when understood. The goldsmiths began with relatively modest cheating, lending out in gold deposit certificates only two or three times the amount of gold than they actually had in their safe rooms. But they soon grew more confident and greedy, lending out four, five and even ten times more gold certificates than they had gold on deposit.

So, for example, if $1,000 in gold were deposited with them, they could lend out about $10,000 in paper money and charge interest on it, and no one would discover the deception. By this means, goldsmiths gradually accumulated more and more wealth and used this wealth to accumulate more and more gold. It was this abuse of trust-a fraud-which, after being accepted as standard practice, evolved into modern deposit banking. It is still a fraud, coupled with an unjust and unreasonable delegation of sovereign government function money creation-to private banks. Today, this practice of lending out more money than there are reserves is known as 'fractional reserve banking'. In other words, banks have on hand only a small fraction of the reserves needed to honour their obligations. Should all their account holders come in and demand cash, the banks would run out before even three percent had been paid. That is why banks always live in dreadful fear of 'bank runs'. This is the fundamental cause of the inherent instability in banking, stock markets and national economics. The banks in the United States are allowed to lend out at least ten times more money than they actually have. That's why they do so well on charging, let's say, 8 per cent interest. But it's not really 8 per cent per year that is their interest income on money the government issues; it's 80 per cent. That's why bank buildings are always the largest in town. Every bank is, de facto, a private mint (over 10,000 in the US), issuing money as loans, for nothing, at no cost to them except whatever interest they pay depositors. Rather than issue more gold certificates then they have gold, modern bankers simply make more loans than they have currency (cash). They do this by making book entries, creating loans to borrowers out of thin air (or, rather, ink).

To give a modern example, a $10,000 bond purchase by the Fed on the open market results in a $10,000 deposit to the bond-seller's bank account. Under a 10 per cent (ie. fractional) reserve requirement, the bank need keep only $1,000 in reserve and may lend out $9,000. This $9,000 is ordinarily deposited by the borrower in either the same bank or in other banks, which then must keep 10 per cent ($900) in reserve but may lend out the other $8,100. This $8,100 is in turn deposited in banks, which must keep 10 per cent ($810) in reserve but then may lend out $7,290, and so on. Carried to the theoretical limits, the initial $10,000 created by the Fed is deposited in numerous banks in the banking system, giving rise (in roughly 20 repeated stages) to an expansion of $90,000 in new loans in addition to the $1,000 in reserves. In other words, the banking system, collectively, multiplies the $10,000 created by the Fed by a factor of ten. However, less than one per cent of the banks create over 75 per cent of this money. In other words, a handful of the largest Wall Street banks create money as loans, literally by the hundred billion, charging interest on these loans and leaving crumbs for the rest of the banks to create. But because those crumbs represent billions, too, the lesser bankers rarely grumble. Rather, with rare exceptions, they, too, support this corrupt system. In actual practice, due to numerous exceptions to the 10 per cent reserve requirement, the banking system multiplies the Fed's money creation by several magnitudes over ten times (e.g., the Fed requires only three per cent reserves on deposits under approx. $50 million, and no reserves on Eurodollars and non-personal time deposits). To return to the goldsmiths... They also discovered that 'rowing' the economy between easy money and tight money could make extra profits. When they made money easier to borrow, then the amount of money in circulation expanded. Money was plentiful, and people took out more loans to expand their businesses. But then the goldsmiths would tighten the money supply and make loans more difficult to obtain. What would happen? Just what happens today. A certain percentage of people could not repay their previous loans and could not take out new loans to repay the old ones; therefore they went bankrupt and had to sell their assets to the goldsmiths or at auction for 'pennies on the dollar'. The same thing is still going on today, only now we call this up-and-down rowing of the economy, the 'business cycle', or, more recently in the stock markets, 'corrections'. Today banks are allowed to loan out at least ten times the amount they actually are holding, so while you wonder how they get rich charging you 11% interest, it's not 11% a year they make on that amount but actually 110% because they created the money from nothing!

The Masonic Knights Templars Become the International BankLords (Banksters-Gangsters)

The entire International Banking crowd roots are from the ancient pagan Temple system. The priests of Apollo, the priests of Diana, the priests of Zeus, The priests of Artemis, The Pharisees, etc. each individual priesthood controlled the finances. They in turn, in the years 400-1400 AD as Rome "fell", changed their names and became the old face with a new name. The priesthood of the Apollo Mysteries changed their name to Templars. KEEP THAT IN MIND the Templars pre-existed prior to them renaming themselves; their prior ORDER WAS THAT OF THE APOLLO MYSTERIES. The network of the Apollo Temples and private FRATERNITY club had branches throughout all Europe. The complete network preexisted; the only thing that happened was a corporate take over and a name change. For more info, see the book "SHEKINAH PROPHECY".

<http://www.terravista.pt/PortoSanto/1086/fighters.html>

<http://www.solomonstemple.com/modules.php?name=News&file=article&sid=1032>

Within a dozen years of the foundation of the Order, the Masonic order of the Templars had been given extensive plots of European land. They quickly had to establish an administrative structure to cope with it all. Accordingly, every region of Europe was divided into 'provinces', each with its own master, and a province was further divided into 'baillies'. The job of the Templar houses of Europe was to provide money and goods for the war in the east. One third of all income — in cash — was paid by these European houses to support the war effort. By the end of the 13th century there were several hundreds of Templar houses in Europe. The vast majority was in what is now modern France, but there were also strong clusters in Portugal and western Spain, and a fair sprinkling in England and Italy. As many as 9,000 Templar holdings stretched from the Atlantic coast to eastern Poland and from Scandinavia to Sicily. Before long the Templars found themselves in an unexpected role. They became the World's first international bankers. Money in these days was gold or silver and was simply worth its own weight, whether it be the Arab dinars or Italian solidi. Let's suppose you planned a journey from England to Italy. You would be reluctant to take hard cash with you. This would have been far too risky. But with their network of houses and castles, the Templars could give you a 'note' (the original bank note) as proof that you had deposited a certain amount of money at one of their centres in England. And on presenting this same note at a Templar house in Italy, you could draw that amount of money from there in exchange. Originally the Templars were less concerned with financial transactions within Europe than Europe and the Holy Land. They collected taxes in Outremer and ensured such taxes safely reached their destinations. In the 12th century they loaned money to both crusaders and kings. They also acted as agents for ransom payments and the safer transfer of funds to the Holy Land for wars. By the thirteenth century, the Templars owned a fleet in the Mediterranean. Originally, this was for the transport of pilgrims from Marseilles or La Rochelle to the Holy Land, but they also transported goods for sale or resale in the Middle East. And on the return journey they might bring slaves or other exotic eastern specialties back to Europe. The movement of money and the arranging of credit facilities must have grown out of this transport of pilgrims. It was precisely these pilgrims who needed their money safeguarded, and who would have taken advantage of credit arrangements in the Holy Land itself. They were much happier using the Templars for this than any of the rival banking houses that quickly sprang up in competition. The Templars could offer a better all around service. They could protect you as well as your money. And their vows of poverty made them totally trustworthy.

Kings and nobles all over Europe quickly took advantage of the Templar guarantee of safety and honesty. King Henry II of England deposited many of his valuable with the London Temple — the Templar convent in London, founded 1185 which still stands today, just off The Strand. In 1204-5 King John even left the Crown Jewels in their safekeeping, as did his successor Henry III in 1261 during the Barons' Revolt. They provided loans — for which interest was charged — to the royal houses. In England, the Crown Jewels themselves were used as collateral to secure one particularly large loan to King Henry. They were also the Pope's bankers in the Holy Land, and collected taxes on his behalf. In Spain the Order had a virtual monopoly on lending money. In France the Templars were the bankers to the royal family for well over a century, and in England they played a similar role during the reigns of John and Henry III. As England was particularly rich source of income Templars, it is no exaggeration to say that they laid the foundations of London to become the leading international money market that it is today. In many parts of Europe they were granted exemption from both local and national taxation, from tolls, from arbitrary demands by the local baron or king. It is impossible to put an exact figure on how rich the Templars actually were. But consider the fact that in the middle of the 13th century their income from their English estates alone was £5,200 — worth some £8-12 millions in today's terms. And remember, that's just from England. The vast majority of their estates were in France and elsewhere on the Continent. Their involvement in politics was a natural extension of their involvement in the financial affairs of the noble and royal houses of Europe. Since Templar knights tended to come from upper strata of society, they had a ready-made network of friends and relatives in high places. There are many examples of the influential roles they played in politics events. When King John died in 1216, his son Henry was nine years old. So for several years England was run by a committee. This committee included the Master of the Temple, and was chaired by his close personal friend. In 1259, the English Parliament used the London Temple as their meeting-place. And earlier, in 1164, the Templars' Master of England, Richard of Hastings, had attempted to use his influence to reconcile Henry II with his 'turbulent priest' Thomas Becket. Similar stories could be told from elsewhere in Europe. In Aragon (part of the modern Spain), when the child king James I came to the throne in 1213, the Aragonese nobles chose the local Master of the Temple to bring the child up in the safety of the Templar castle at Monzón. They remained his advisers throughout his reign. As well as providing financial and political services in Europe, members of the Order were also always available for the crusaders. Though the Holy War in the east had been lost, they played a major part in the on-going wars against the Moors in Spain. But role of the Templars in the west was always quite different from that in the east. In the west they were farmers, financiers and travel agents. In the east they were battle-scarred warriors.

